SBU, others debate future of governance in court

By Jill Way

jillw@bolivarmonews.com

With the shadow of an upcoming Higher Learning Commission review looming on the horizon, Southwest Baptist University finds itself embroiled in a civil legal battle over its governing documents.

Both concerns come in the midst of an ongoing saga regarding the university's treatment of faculty, tenure and academic freedom.

On Friday, Feb. 12, the university and three members of its board of trustees — chair Eddie Bumpers, vice-chair Kyle Lee and board secretary Cheryl Mayfield — filed a civil petition in Polk County Circuit Court to amend SBU's articles of association.

Soon thereafter, two parties — one a Bolivar layman, the other an anonymous faculty member and an anonymous student — filed their own motions to intervene in an effort to stop the approval of the new governing documents.

SBU's articles of association were last amended in 1994.

The recent amended articles were adopted by SBU's board of trustees in September 2020 and by the Missouri Baptist Convention the following month, per the document.

The document addresses multiple issues, including the election of trustees by the MBC and the board's duties.

The articles also name the convention as the sole corporate member, further describing MBC as having a relationship of "oversight and accountability with SBU."

Per the articles, SBU and its trustees also have a "fiduciary relationship to the Missouri Baptist Convention" in perpetuity.

"Nothing in this section or these articles or the university bylaws or the governing documents of the MBC shall be construed to mean that the Missouri Baptist Convention shall have the right to make unilateral changes to the governing documents of Southwest Baptist University without approval by

Tracker expansion adds 250 jobs

By David Talley

davidt@bolivarmonews.com

Craig Bach said he's proud of where he works.

Bach, the vice president of plant operations at Tracker Boats, said in a company news release there's a spirit of pride that runs through every plant, including Tracker's recent expansion in Bolivar.

The company announced last November it would "significantly" expand its plant in Bolivar. The new facility doubles the square footage of its manufacturing capabilities and will add 250 full-time new manufacturing jobs to the region when it reaches full production this summer.

The new 210,000-square-foot facility was previously home to the Teters Floral Products warehouse behind Smith's Restaurant near Mo. 13 and Rt. U.

It's about 4 miles from Tracker's plant on South Killingsworth Avenue, which first opened its doors in 1988.

"This expansion speaks to the high quality of our boats and the ongoing pursuit of excellence from our entire team," Bach said.

According to the release, the first Bass Buggy 16 pontoon boat rolled off the assembly line at the new facility earlier this month.

Tracker did not respond to multiple attempts by the BH-FP to set up an interview.

"It's exciting to see these incredible boats and know they will bring families so many smiles and years of happy memories," Scott Ernest, president of White River Marine Group, the marine manufacturing division of Bass Pro Shops, said in the release. "Our founder, Johnny Morris, revolutionized the boating industry in 1978 by introducing the world's first professionally rigged and nationally marketed boat, motor and trailer packages. Forty three years later, it's exciting to see this proud legacy carry on with this amazing new plant."

Gail Noggle, executive director of Polk County's Economic Development Alliance, previously told the BH-FP the expansion is positive news for the community. It's important to remember 80% of new job creation comes from existing businesses, she said.

Noggle did not return a request for comment about the plant's opening.

Celebrating a century

Last week, Mary Garretson Engleman found turning 100 was worthy of lots of celebration and love, shown in many ways. On Saturday, March 20, with the sun shining and temperatures warm, the birthday girl sat outside and enjoyed a 17 car drive-thru birthday party at Butterfield Residential Care Center in Bolivar. Loved ones, numbering close to 50, from Arkansas, St. Louis and Kansas City, as well as local friends, family and a Garretson Trash truck, were on hand to make Engleman feel special. Pictured here, Engleman enjoys both the sunshine and warm wishes from her loved ones.

the SBU board," the articles state. "... MBC shall not have unilateral authority to transfer assets of the university, nor to dissolve the university."

'Hostile takeover'

While SBU argues in court documents the amended articles include simple changes, some consider the new governing documents as part of a hostile takeover of the university by the MBC.

Ten days after SBU filed its amended articles, Bolivar resident Donald R. Jump, an SBU alumni and former trustee, filed a motion to intervene through St. Louis attorney Russell Jackson, also an SBU alum and outspoken critic of the university's recent actions.

The motion states Jump "has a legitimate interest in the reputation of SBU and its continued status as an accredited liberal arts university."

Jump "has been an annual donor to SBU at the five-figure level" and has worked to raise funds for the university's Polk County Scholarship Fund, it adds.

In the motion, Jump states SBU's amended articles are "not lawful and do not contribute to the public usefulness of the institution." He also raises concerns about SBU's continued accreditation under the HLC.

Jump states the trustees breached their fiduciary duties to preserve the university's assets and "the duty of loyalty to place the interests of SBU above all others." He says by making the MBC the university's "sole corporate member," SBU is giving the convention control of its assets and sealing the convention's ability to nominate and elect board members.

He says the board is largely made up of "MBC-imposed trustees" following what he calls a hostile takeover of the board.

Jump also says board members voted in favor of the amended articles "under duress — specifically under implicit or explicit threats of losing their seats on SBU's board if they opposed the takeover documents," per the motion.

Through these and other actions, Jump states the MBC "threatens irreparable harm to SBU and its various stakeholders," the motion states.

On Friday, March 5, another motion to intervene was filed by Springfield attorney Derek Ankrom on behalf of an anonymous faculty member and student.

The motion called SBU "a stalwart pillar in the community."

Echoing Jump's motion, the faculty member and student say the amended

Trustees select presidential search firm

Executive search firm CarterBaldwin will assist SBU trustees with the search and selection process for the university's 26th president.

"CarterBaldwin is ranked among the Top 40 executive search firms in the United States and has been recognized on multiple occasions as one of the country's best recruiting firms," the Rev. David Brown, SBU Presidential Search Committee chair, said in a news release. "They specialize in academic and educational searches and are also evangelical and understand the dynamics of what we will be looking for in our next president."

The search committee has scheduled forums with SBU faculty, staff and students to provide an update on the presidential search process, the release added.

"As we conduct this nationwide search for the next leader of SBU, we appreciate the prayers of faculty, staff, students, alumni, donors and Missouri Baptists," Brown said. "The Lord is answering your prayers and helping us through this process."

articles represent "an unlawful effort by the Missouri Baptist Convention to seize absolute control over all assets of SBU — including the campus itself, much of which was purchased for SBU by the Bolivar community," per the motion.

The motion states MBC and SBU "have engaged in a pattern of harassing, oppressive and retaliatory conduct adverse to those who have opposed their viewpoints and desires," namely through the termination or denial of tenure for SBU professors, the suspension or expulsion of students and the removal of qualified corporation officers and trustees.

The convention cannot lawfully be the sole corporate member, because under Missouri statute, a corporation must include at least three parties, the motion states.

The faculty member and student state the amended articles threaten SBU's usefulness by potentially "causing loss of the corporations' status as a benevolent corporation ... , causing loss of the corporations' accreditation as a university, causing loss of the fundamental character of the corporation, and causing loss of academic and educational freedom," per the motion.

SBU responds in court

In further court documents, SBU's attorney Daniel Wooten argues against the motions to intervene, stating SBU is a "nonprofit corporation created for benevolent purposes," which would allow the university to amend its charter through the circuit court and by following required proceedings.

Wooten states Missouri state statute "does not call for public review of the petition, nor does it invite public comments."

One document calls into question Jump's legal standing, stating his "sole basis for asserting intervention as a matter of right is that he is a former alumnus of Southwest Baptist University and a former board member."

"Such an allegation falls short of identifying a claim or interest to property of a particular transaction at hand, the transaction here being a simple amendment to the articles of a benevolent corporation," the document states.

Similarly, another document filed on behalf of SBU states the anonymous faculty member and student do not have the right to intervene and have no standing.

The document states the two are raising religious disputes that are not subject to court involvement.

"Intervenors' attempts to inject their religious opinions in opposition to the proposed charter is not a controversy in which the court should be entangled," it adds.

Questions on accreditation

While the case, presided over by 30th Circuit Judge Michael O'Brien Hendrickson, remains ongoing, the HLC is set to perform a focused visit at the university Monday, May 3, per the commission's website. The commission determines SBU's accreditation status.

As previously reported by the BH-FP, the commission's website said the organization "accepted the staff recommendation that a focused visit be scheduled to occur no later than June 1, 2021, to review the impact of recent changes in corporate governance" in December.

The Higher Learning Commission defines a focused visit as "a team visit that occurs between comprehensive evaluations to examine specific aspects of an institution as a form of special monitoring," the website states.

As of press time, SBU has maintained its full accreditation with the HLC.

John Yeats, executive director of the MBC, told the Demonstrators gather outside Southwest Baptist University's front gates Friday, Feb. 26, to protest recent decisions by the university's board of trustees.

Vote of no confidence?

After alumni and students created a petition and held a rally calling for SBU trustees to reverse recent decisions regarding faculty tenure and employment, the university announced the board reversed some of its previous decisions, as previously reported in the BH-FP.

The university's Educational Policies and Personnel Committee reviewed the promotions of four faculty members and the tenure of eight faculty members and made recommendations to the full board on Tuesday, Jan. 12, according to a news release.

The full board ultimately awarded tenure to six faculty and promotions to three faculty, according to the release.

SBU also released a subsequent statement on behalf of Bumpers expressing support "for the Division of Behavioral Sciences and the vital degree programs housed within this division."

However, in light of the recent controversy, some online media outlets reported SBU's faculty held a vote of no confidence on Friday, March 12.

SBU faculty member Tom Sneed, who chairs the university's faculty senate, said "there was no official vote of no confidence due to a procedural error wherein the issue was not referred to the faculty assembly by the faculty senate."

"Therefore, no official vote should or could have been taken," he said.

He declined to comment on other questions.

BH-FP the recent events at SBU are part of an ongoing process "involving a board of trustees elected by Missouri Baptists, the SBU administration and other parties like the Higher Learning Commission."

"Missouri Baptists have entrusted this process to their elected board, which is carrying out its duties faithfully during a challenging time," Yeats said. "We believe in the mission of SBU's faculty and staff to prepare the next generation of Christ-followers for their mission fields in the context of their chosen field of study."

Yeats said members of the MBC "pray for the continued success of the university and its global ministries."

"And we trust all Missouri Baptists to continue to be prayerful, faithful and discerning in their support of this great university," he said.

'Resilience beyond measure'

While SBU declined to comment on the ongoing litigation, Bumpers, as the board of trustees chair, released a statement to the BH-FP.

Bumpers called the pending litigation, as well as other issues facing SBU, "unfolding situations," adding the board would not comment on those matters.

However, Bumpers was eager to comment on what he considers SBU's successes.

"While we continue to work through these matters, Southwest Baptist University remains committed to her mission of being a Christ-centered, caring academic community preparing students to be servant leaders in a global society," Bumpers said.

He said the university's faculty navigated the COVID-19 pandemic "superbly" over the past year.

"First, they quickly pivoted classes to fully online," he said. "Then they adapted to new health and safety protocols for in-person classes during the current academic year. Their flexibility and dedication to our students is an amazing testimony of their commitment to the SBU mission and the Kingdom work happening at SBU."

Bumpers said SBU's students continue to demonstrate "resilience beyond measure."

"They have adapted to the protocols necessary for in-person instruction," he said. "They have adjusted to a campus experience that is a little bit different, yet still as impactful."

He said the university's students inspire the board of trustees with their achievements.

"Our Speaking Bearcats just finished a stellar performance at the Pi Kappa Delta National Tournament," Bumpers said. "Our student-athletes in nearly every sport are competing right now, with many seasons delayed from fall to spring due to the pandemic. Our track and field athletes have received national accolades. Students served on mission trips during spring break — some of them changing their missions from international locations to new missions within the U.S. Nursing students have volunteered at COVID-19 vaccination clinics in our local communities. This is just a small sampling of the many accomplishments by our outstanding Bearcats."

Bumpers also commended SBU's staff members, who he said "admirably work behind-the-scenes to support our faculty and students each and every day."

"Their tireless efforts in areas all across campus made in-person instruction possible during this school year," he said.

Bumpers also described Bolivar community members as "essential partners with SBU."

"You welcome students to Bolivar, offer them jobs and internships, and mentor them," he said. "A vibrant and healthy SBU also is an integral economic driver within the community. We look forward to a bright future in Bolivar and the other communities we serve in southwest Missouri for many years to come."

"Bolivar and Polk County are fortunate to have such a dynamic organization investing in our community," Noggle previously said. "It's all about jobs that pay a livable wage — that sustains a community."

According to the release, the new complex features a warehouse converted into a state-of-the-art manufacturing plant, where Tracker's award-winning Sun Tracker Pontoon Boats, including the Bass Buggy 16, Bass Buggy 18 and Party Barge 18, will be produced.

The expansion comes in the wake of new popularity and strong demand for the Bass Buggy line, the release stated.

"We are thrilled to be able to continue to showcase the skill and craftsmanship of our amazing team members right here in the Ozarks — America's heartland," Bass Pro Shops founder Johnny Morris said in the release.

New construction is expected to be complete by the summer, the release said.

Tracking the past and future

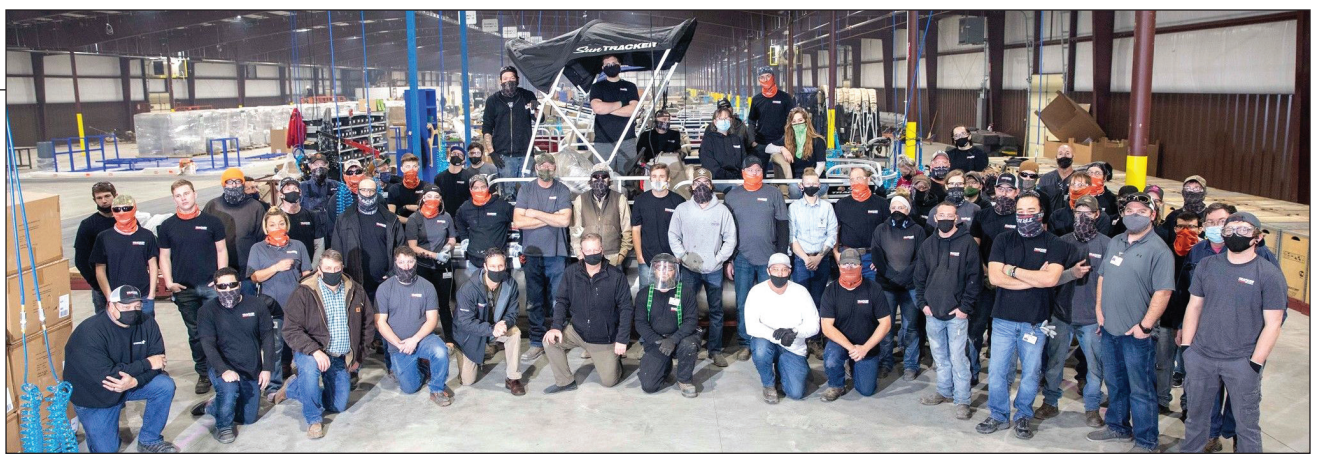

As previously reported by the BH-FP, Tracker stopped manufacturing and closed the plant's doors in January 2009 due to an economic downturn.

It reopened in April 2018, promising at the time to bring 130 new jobs to Bolivar.

A year later, production manager Stephen Skopec told the BH-FP the Tracker plant exceeded expectations and had employed around 190 people.

Spaying and neutering saves lives!

Spaying and neutering are simple, safe surgeries that provide permanent, completely effective birth control for dogs and cats. These procedures are important in reducing the large number of stray animals who end up in shelters or have to be euthanized. Spaying and neutering also reduces or eliminates the risk of certain types of cancer in your pet, and can help eliminate undesirable behaviors like fighting, spraying or roaming. To find out more about these safe, simple and affordable procedures, call today.

Could the next 'Ozark' be filmed in the Ozarks? Lawmakers hope to lure filmmakers

By Jonathan Jain

Missouri News Network

JEFFERSON CITY — A proposed bill would incentivize movie crews to film in Missouri. Senate Bill 367 would establish the Show Missouri Film and Digital Media Act and reauthorize the tax credits for film production projects that expired in 2013. Lawmakers tried in vain to resurrect the tax credit two years ago.

Sen. Denny Hoskins, R-Warrensburg, is the sponsor of the bill. He listed popular movies that were filmed in Missouri before 2013, like Gone Girl and Up in the Air.

"How has Missouri fared since the sunset of the film tax credit in 2013?" Hoskins asked. "Not very well. Missouri has not had any significant movies filmed in our state since the sunset of the film tax credit."

Since 2013, shows with settings in Missouri, like "Ozark," "Sharp Objects" and "Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri," have been filmed in other states. Thirty-five states, including five of Missouri's surrounding states, have incentives for film production projects.

"Film industry is on the rise," Hoskins said, adding that Missouri is home to more than 16 film festivals and has 38 colleges and universities that offer film and digital programs. "Unfortunately, these students will have to find jobs outside of Missouri once they graduate."

Joni Tackette, a board member and former president of the Missouri Motion Media Association, testified in support of SB367.

Tackette said Missouri is not competitive in luring the film industry, but that the state has the infrastructure, talent, landscapes and cities to support the industry.

"Since 2013, there's never been more content, TV shows and films, being created, which means there's never been more money being spent on creating that content," Tackette said. "I hope you figure out a way to have a program that will keep us competitive and is right for Missouri."

The Missouri Department of Economic Development would approve projects that get the tax credit and would conduct a full audit of expenditures before production companies receive tax credits.

The bill would provide a 25% tax credit for in-state expenses and 10% of qualifying out-of-state expenses. If at least half of the project is filmed in Missouri, an additional 5% of expenses would be awarded. Additionally, another 5% can be awarded if the Department of Economic Development decides the production positively markets Missouri. The bill requires all recipients of the tax credits to include a logo in the film credits to indicate the project was filmed in Missouri. The total amount of credits in any year would be capped at $4.5 million.

After the hearing, Tackette explained that productions will film for a couple of days in Missouri to get exterior shots and then leave for a state with better incentive programs.

While Missouri would be among the lowest of states with incentive programs, Tackette said the bill is needed to attract more projects, and Missouri would be able to compete with 12 other states that have incentive programs under $10 million. She said it would take more incentives to bring shows like "Ozark" to Missouri, but SB367 could likely attract films with up to $15 million budgets.

"It would mean that we could compete for those type of projects, because, right now, we have no incentive on the books," Tackette said.

This report is written by Missouri School of Journalism students and editors for publication by MPA member newspapers in print and online.

Libs win home tournament

By David Talley

davidt@bolivarnews.com

Bolivar High School baseball is the champion of its home tournament.

The Liberators claimed a pair of wins to open their 2021 season, beating Clinton 8-3 in game one and Stockton 11-1 in a five-inning game two at the Bolivar Tournament on Saturday, March 20.

"It was a beautiful day to start the season on," Liberator coach Brad Roweton said. "We had a big crowd the entire day. Our stands were full for both games. You could tell everyone was ready to get outside and watch some baseball."

Roweton said, despite the scores, both games were exciting and felt closer than the scoreboard would show.

"We had a couple of big innings in both games that broke tight games open in the mid-to-late innings," he said. "All three teams battled all day long to provide several exciting moments for the crowd that had come out to watch some baseball."

Against Clinton, neither team scored until the fourth inning, when Bolivar broke open the stalemate to score seven runs.

Liberator pitcher Luke Goforth held down the mound for six innings, throwing 16 strikeouts, one hit and one run allowed.

Goforth clocked zero earned runs.

Bolivar recorded just two errors, Roweton said.

"We played pretty well considering it being the first game of the year," he said. "Heads up defensive play by (right fielder) Luke Meents kept a hard hit ball from being a hit."

On offense, Bolivar's Ryan Hadank led his team with two hits with a double.

Jacob Anderson had a stolen base and reached base twice.

Against Stockton, Bolivar leapt out to a lead with a four-run first inning. The Liberators scored seven in the fifth to end the game early.

Cooper Cribbs pitched five innings in the near-shutout, throwing 11 strikeouts. Stockton had zero earned runs.

"Cribbs continued to pitch well, and we were able to get out of a few jams," Roweton said.

Bolivar had four defensive errors, but also had several high points, Roweton said, including a heads up defensive play by second baseman Anderson that kept a hard hit ball from being a hit.

"We definitely did not play as clean as we wanted to, but two of those errors were tough opportunities and one of them was a throw we didn't handle," he said.

On offense, Anderson had a hit and reached base three times. Ryan Hadank had three hits with a double. Liberator Kaden Degraffenreid had two hits with a double and a homerun.

The Liberators next play Fair Grove at 4:30 p.m. Monday, March 29, in Fair Grove.

Lady Libs down Monett 8-0

By David Talley

davidt@bolivarmonews.com

Lady Liberator soccer struggled in its season opener but bounced back to take a decisive win the next week.

Bolivar fell 1-0 to Camdenon on Friday, March 19. The Lady Liberators beat Monett 8-0 on Monday, March 22.

Bolivar faced Fair Grove on Friday, March 26. The score wasn't available by press time Friday.

Coach Steve Fast said Bolivar came out strong from the opening whistle and never backed off against Monett.

Sahara Adams scored with an assist from Lexi Berry. Berry then assisted Claire Giglio with a score. Berry herself had three goals in the game, including one with an assist by Ellie Thomas and two unassisted. London Wilson scored unassisted, then later assisted Mollie Stimpson with a goal. Adams also assisted Stimpson with a goal.

"We did not let an aggressive Monett team gain any confidence, and we did a great job passing and keeping the ball away from them," Fast said.

The team was also able to create several scoring chances with dynamic build-up of passes and crosses," Fast said.

"Our girls did a solid job of putting their shots on goal and getting those shots past an aggressive keeper," he said.

Goalkeeper Allison Butler had two saves. Riley Ross had one.

"Defensively, we were quick to the ball and played really strong out of the back to get the ball back up the field to our offense," he said.

Against Camdenon, Bolivar found itself mired in a defensive battle, unable to generate many chances at the goal, Fast said.

Butler had two goals. Both teams were only able to get two shots, he said.

The mostly back-and-forth game was contested in the midfield, Fast said, and the lone goal came when a Camdenon's center broke free and fired a 30-yard shot that sailed high and into the goal.

"Our girls played hard and never gave up, we just could not get the equalizing goal," he said.

Bolivar ropers win $118,500

Bolivar's Chris Pomeroy, 44, and Cody Stutenkemper, 34, caught four steers in 31.70 seconds to place in two rounds and win the main roping at the #11.5 Businessman's Roping on March 15 at Wrangler BFI Week, presented by Yeti in Guthrie, Oklahoma.

According to a news release from the event, the two have been friends for years and both own their own businesses.

"The only thing he said to me beforehand is that he wanted to win a buckle for his daughter," Pomeroy said of his partner in the release.

In addition to the cash payout, the duo also received Cactus saddles, Gist buckles, Yeti coolers, Resistol hats, Heel-O-Matic training aids and other prizes.

Stutenkemper, who rope-burned his arm dallying on their final steer, said in the release that he fought through the pain.

"It doesn't pay anything if you don't catch," he said in the release.
