Gail Noggle, President/CEO of the Economic Development Partnership of Bolivar and Polk County, is announcing her retirement. She has more than 25 years of experience in community and economic development, as well as chamber of commerce and convention and visitor's bureau leadership in Springfield. Noggle also owned a financial investment firm in the past.

Gail Noggle

Noggle presented her formal retirement notice to the Board of Directors for the Economic Development Partnership on Feb. 23 and to the City of Bolivar's board of aldermen on March 28, 2023. Her anticipated last day is June 16.

In her letter, Noggle stated the following:

"I wanted to take this opportunity to thank you for all your support and leadership. Bolivar and Polk County has been my home away from home these past seven years and will always hold a special place in my heart. I have genuinely enjoyed my employment in this great community and will miss you all when my retirement day arrives."

Noggle served as the Executive Director of the Economic Development

Alliance for Bolivar and Polk County from 2016 to June 2022 when her efforts to establish a stand-alone economic development organization in Polk County came to fruition. The newly recognized nonprofit, the Economic Development Partnership of Bolivar and Polk County (EDP), received its Certificate of Incorporation June 23, 2022, and its 501(c)(3) status on Jan. 5, 2023.

Over the last seven years, Noggle has worked closely with companies in the planning and development stages prior to opening their respective facilities in Bolivar and Polk County.

She has offered assistance in qualifying companies for state and local incentives, in addition to assistance with workforce development. Some of the businesses assisted were Phoenix Décor, Missouri Prime Beef, Tracker/White River Marine, Mercy Clinic, Citizens Memorial Hospital, RevHoney, and Creator Designs. Most recent recruitment efforts resulted in the opening of Flat Creek Restaurant.

In 2017, Noggle recruited Tractor Supply Co. to Bolivar Business Park, which was named a Missouri Certified Site that year under her leadership. The industrial park was re-certified in 2020.

The following year, she was also instrumental in getting two of Bolivar's Census tracts qualified as an Opportunity Zone, a funding mechanism for developers.

In July 2020, Noggle was selected by regional peers to serve as a district director for the Missouri Economic Development Council (MEDC). MEDC is a statewide, nonprofit association of economic development professionals and community leaders.

Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, Noggle stayed abreast of national and state legislation and policies that established financial resources

After over 40 years of serving the community, brothers Reggie and Lindsay Taylor have both officially retired from Bill Roberts Chevrolet as car salesmen. Throughout the years, local car shoppers, in search for their desired vehicle, have relied on the Taylor brothers' expertise.

Before the Taylors' time at the Bill Roberts Chevrolet, they worked at their brother-in-law Charles' gas station in Fair

She is a proponent for humane treatment in livestock handling and is the author of numerous scientific papers. Her presentation last year provided personal insight into the different learning styles employed by autistic individuals such as herself.

Grandin's appearance will be bookended with presentations by Ray Archuleta on Monday, May 8, and the NextGen Beef Economics Team on Wednesday, May 10. All presentations will take place at 7:00 p.m. each night in Mabee Chapel on the campus of Southwest Baptist University in Bolivar.

T-Mobile Opens First Store in Bolivar

T-Mobile just announced its newest retail location in Missouri and its first retail store in Bolivar. The store opened for business on Monday, April 10, and is located on South Springfield Avenue and East San Martin Street in a plaza between Subway and Happy Nail Spa.

Customers and wireless shoppers in the area will now have convenient access to a local T-Mobile store where they can choose service plans, smartphones, tablets, and accessories that best meet their wireless needs. It's the first store to support Polk County. The company expects to open 5 retail locations across the state this year.

The store will be open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and Sunday 12 to 5 p.m. The Bolivar location is part of T-Mobile's efforts to expand its retail footprint with the addition of new stores in small towns and rural communities across the country.

A new T-Mobile store opened its doors to the Bolivar community this week. CONTRIBUTED PHOTO

"The Bolivar Area Chamber of Commerce is proud to welcome T-Mobile to the chamber and the community. We are always glad to see our business community grow," said Jacob Wilson, President of the Bolivar Area Chamber of Commerce.

"T-Mobile retail stores offer customers the ease of connecting in-person with our Team of Experts for personalized solutions and the convenience of exploring hands-on with our products and services," said Jon Freier, President of T-Mobile's Consumer Group. "That's why we continue to expand our retail footprint in both new and existing markets across the U.S. Our retail, care and network teams are excited and ready to serve the great people of Polk County."

T-Mobile customers get an extra $225 in included benefits every month on the Magenta MAX plan with two or more lines. For Americans concerned about inflation, having Apple TV+, Netflix, in-flight Wi-Fi, texting and data in 215+ destinations, a year of AAA and Scam Shield protection all included can mean some serious savings. While others are raising prices, T-Mobile has your back with Price Lock, guaranteeing that we won't raise the price of your talk, text and data.

In addition to the company's 4G LTE network, T-Mobile is building out the largest, fastest and most awarded 5G network, covering over 98% of Americans with 5G coverage across all 50 states, all while delivering super-fast 5G speeds to more customers than any other provider.

As part of T-Mobile's commitment to help small towns and rural communities thrive, the company launched its T-Mobile Hometown Grants program in early 2021 – a $25 million, five-year initiative that provides grants to 100 small towns each year to use towards city beautification projects, public improvements and more. To date, the T-Mobile Hometown Grants program has provided $294,000 in funding across seven cities in Missouri, including:

- Sept. 2021: Dixon and Pineville
- Dec. 2021: Chillicothe and Pineville
- June 2022: Nixa and Poplar Bluff
- Sept. 2022: Excelsior Springs

• March 2023: Holden Towns with populations less than 50,000 are eligible and encouraged to apply. For full details, visit <https://www.t-mobile.com/brand/hometown-grants>.

T-Mobile is located at 2230 S. Springfield Ave and can be reached by phone at 417-727-0207.

Dian Hofmeister, RN named winner of February CMH DAISY Award

Dian Hofmeister, a registered nurse with Citizens Memorial Hospital's Home Care Services, was named the February 2023 CMH DAISY Award for Extraordinary Nurses winner.

Hofmeister earned her nursing degree in 2005 from Pikes Peak State College, Colorado Springs, Colorado. She has been a registered nurse for 18 years and worked at various health care organizations before joining CMH Home Care Services in September 2022. She was nominated for the DAISY Award by a patient's family member for the extraordinary and compassionate care Hofmeister showed their mother.

The nomination read, "She went above and beyond to handle an incident with our mother that was not her responsibility. She stepped up to the plate to handle what our mom needed and was more than happy to do it in the wee hours of the morning."

The family continued to praise Hofmeister for the compassionate care she showed their mother, even after she has passed away. "Her compassion for patients is so needed and very much appreciated," said the family.

When asked how it feels to receive this award, Hofmeister said "It's unexpected, and a great affirmation of the hard work that I do every day.

It shows how much the patients appreciate the efforts [CMH Home Care] gives...and how much it means for them to have us in their lives at a time when they need us most."

Hofmeister also spoke about how she enjoys working at CMH Home Care, and how she hopes to finish out her nursing career there.

About the DAISY Award

DAISY is an acronym for Diseases Attacking the Immune System. The DAISY Award was established by the DAISY Foundation in memory of J. Patrick Barnes who died at 33 of Idiopathic Thrombocytopenia Purpura (ITP), an auto-immune disease.

The Barnes Family was awestruck by the clinical skills, caring and compassion of the nurses who cared for Barnes, so they created this international award to say thank you to nurses everywhere.

CMH implemented the DAISY Award program in January 2019 to recognize their own extraordinary nurses. Each month a CMH or Citizens Memorial Health Care Foundation nurse will be presented with this recognition.

If you or someone you know would like to submit a CMH DAISY Award nomination, go to: <http://bit.ly/2vwPyGw>. For more information about the DAISY Award and Foundation, visit www.daisy-foundation.org.

RBW Welcomes Massey Ferguson Dealership

Massey Ferguson tractors and Hesston by Massey Ferguson hay equipment are now available at RBW Agricultural LLC.

RBW, on Highway 32 just a half mile west of Highway 13 in Bolivar, is now a dealer for Massey Ferguson, a worldwide brand of AGCO.

"Massey Ferguson is consistently in the top three to five tractor brands sold in the United States," RBW owner Raymond Winfrey said. "We will be selling tractors from 22 horsepower to 125 horsepower. As with most of our equipment, the goal is to be fully stocked and have the equipment a farmer needs at the time he needs it."

Producing farm machinery since 1847, Massey Ferguson is rooted in innovation. RBW owners and staff are excited to offer products from a company with a rich history paired with cutting edge technology, according to RBW owner Britta Winfrey.

"We sought Massey

Ferguson in order to fill a need in this area," Britta Winfrey said. "Since starting to sell used equipment almost five years ago, we've experienced the Bolivar area as needing more options for equipment and parts. We were sort of amazed this area didn't already have a Massey dealer, and have worked for the last nine months on getting this accomplished."

The RBW parts department is nearly finished with the construction process, Britta

Winfrey said. Sales, service, and now parts customers should continue to enter the dealership through the existing north or east doors, she added.

People can view Massey Ferguson equipment at RBW Agricultural by visiting the dealership in person at 956 Highway 32, Bolivar or online at rbwag.com. The sales team can be reached by phone at 417-422-4521. Business hours are Monday to Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Give blood at SBU on April 19 to receive free voucher for attractions

By BH-FP news staff
news@bolivarmonews.com

Community Blood Center of the Ozarks (CBCO) will hold a blood drive at Southwest Baptist University's McClelland Dining Hall from 12 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Wednesday, April 19.

Successful donors will receive a voucher, which they can redeem for two free tickets (valued at $74.00) to one of the following attractions: The Discovery Center in Springfield, Beyond the Lens! in Branson, or The Scott Family Amazeum in Bentonville, AR.

"Donors give the gift of life and the opportunity for patients to spend more time with their family creating memories," CBCO Media Relations Representative Michelle Teter said in a press release. "And this fun promotion offers our lifesavers the opportunity to create memories with their friends and families, as well. We hand-picked these exciting attractions because they have so much to offer, and we can't wait for our donors to experience it for themselves."

Blood donors should prepare the day before and the morning of their donation by drinking plenty of water or juice and eating a well-balanced meal.

Donations help preserve and save the lives of local patients. CBCO provides all the blood for patients at Citizens Memorial Hospital, and is the sole supplier of blood, platelets, and plasma to patients at 44 area healthcare facilities, the release said.

A photo ID is required upon donating. Walk-ins are welcome, but the appointments are strongly encouraged in order to reduce wait times.

Find out more about the attractions at <https://www.cbco.org/spring-fun/>. To schedule an appointment, call 417-227-5006 or go to www.cbco.org/donate-blood.

TAYLORS

Chevrolet dealership. Having been somewhat acquainted with the Roberts family through his work at the gas station, he says that it was actually Bill Roberts Sr.'s wife who invited Reggie to discuss the available job as a car salesman, leading her to hire him that same day.

"As far as selling cars when I first started, that wasn't really what I thought was going to be my lifetime dream, but it turned out that it was, I guess, because I was with them for 48 years," Reggie Taylor says.

In 1981, Lindsay Taylor was also invited to work at the dealership.

With no prior experience in sales and no formal training, the brothers jumped in feet first and learned the job by watching other salesmen's interactions with the customers.

"Every day was a new adventure," remarks Lindsay, who says that the job is all about "taking care of your customer" and listening to them. "There was a reason they were there. You had to kind of listen and help them through some of the other departments if they chose to come to you."

Not only were their customers great, but working together as siblings turned out to be a beneficial experience for the Taylor men.

"We've always got along fine. It was one of those things, you know, that he had his kind of clientele of people, and I had my clientele of people. And people would come in and know both of us. And sometimes they'd go to Lindsay, and sometimes they'd come to me. But we never had a falling out that I can recall. We never had a falling out," says Reggie.

Lindsay agrees, explaining that working together actually allowed them to look after each other and fill in for their brother as necessary.

According to the brothers, attitude is everything when selling a car, as salesmen must maintain a positive experience for the customer.

"Have a smile. When people walk in, treat them with a smile. [Like it's] always good to see them. Because they are the one who's helping you. Put the customers first. You want to make them feel comfortable," states Reggie, noting that "a smile can go a long way."

"Be friendly. Don't be too personal; just listen to them," Lindsay adds.

Before the Internet came along, both Reggie and Lindsay Taylor would each sell about 30 to 40 cars per month.

"Back years ago, they would send people to us, and those people would wait. It was nothing for us to work three or four people at the same time. And today it would be hard to do," Lindsay says.

As time passed, car sales began to change. The emergence of the Internet caused a change in the way customers shopped for and bought cars.

On the positive side of this change, the Taylor brothers noticed that the customers were more educated about cars. The Internet also made the shopping process more convenient for customers, as drivers could find what they needed without leaving their homes.

There's something to be said, though, for the experience of buying a new car, looking in the car lots, test driving, and taking in the new car smell.

Reggie says that, in today's world, the car dealers have to adapt, allowing the customers to purchase online and delivering the cars to them.

"That's changed so much since the early days, I should say, of us selling cars, and so we had to change with it," Reggie said.

While most of the changes that came with the Internet were positive, the Taylors said that they missed the one-on-one, personal experience with the customer, and due to that relational aspect of the job, their passion became about the people they served.

"We had good customers. We took care of them, and they took care of us," says Reggie.

However, their long-standing careers as car salesmen finally came to an end, and the two men are looking toward a future of possibility.

"I didn't know what I was going to retire to. And I still don't know what I'm going to do, to be honest with you. I want to take some time for myself. It was time. After 48 years, it's time," Reggie says.

While Reggie retired only a few months ago, Lindsay has already grown well-accustomed to life away from working at the dealership, having retired two years ago in the midst of the pandemic. In his retirement, Lindsay says he enjoys spending his extra time with family and hopes to travel more.

As salesmen, the brothers were never bored, but now that they aren't working six days a week, they have gotten used to the change of pace.

"We always had something to do, and then we would always be prospecting for customers in our minds who we could sell a car to. Now you don't think that once you retire," says Reggie.

However, because the pair have spent most of their lives seeking prospects of car shoppers, they still find it difficult at times to "just shut it off after all these years," and they still find themselves filled with joy after seeing a car that they sold to someone they know.

"If we didn't have good customers, we wouldn't have been there. Friends...good friends and customers," says Lindsay.

Reggie and Lindsay say that they tip their hats to the employees at the dealership for putting in the work to make the car ready to sell and to deliver it to the customer.

"The dealership itself, the employees at the dealership, have been very good to us," Reggie explains. "We sell a car, but there's a lot behind-the-scenes...somebody's got to service the car, clean the car, get the car ready for us to sell, because we as salespeople didn't do that."

Overall, the brothers are grateful to Bolivar and the surrounding community for supporting them through the decades during their work at Bill Roberts Chevrolet.

Juanita Ann Hobson
Aug. 6, 1946-April 5, 2023

Juanita Ann Hobson, 76, known to many as GiGi, passed away unexpectedly on Wednesday, April 5, 2023, at Cox Hospital. She leaves behind her husband of 60 years, Larry Hobson.

Juanita was born on August 6, 1946, in Polk County to Dale and Louise Gile.

She worked for several years at Dr. Crippin's Chiropractic clinic in Bolivar. Prior to that she managed at P.N. Hirsch (later becoming Dollar General) for 20-plus years. She loved baseball, the Kansas City Chiefs, quilting, bowling, genealogy, her life on the farm, and spoiling her grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Juanita grew up working from a young age, which included helping raise her brothers, Bill, Roger and Richard. She met Larry in her late teens while she was working at The Penguin in Bolivar. They were married in July of 1962, which was the start of a 60-plus year marriage.

That life started quickly with two strong-willed and vivacious daughters, Brenda and Pamela. The four of them enjoyed countless hours at the Hobson farm, lake days at Pomme de Terre, trail rides at Chadwick Motorcycle and ATV Use Area, and cross country trips to California for family visits and off-road riding in the Mojave desert. One of Juanita's favorite pastimes on the lake was watching Larry slalom ski while she drove the boat. She also enjoyed weekends away with Cheech in their highly competitive bowling tournaments across the country.

Juanita started her role as grandparent in 1984 with Anastasia, then soon after had Cheri, Kamron, and Tyler. She didn't stop there though. She became a grandma to several other children when they needed her, including Emily and Timothy Kirklin. In the second part of grandparenting life, she also had Ana join the bunch. Her life became ball games, camping trips, teaching the grandkids to sew, pitch a ball, bowling like a professional, and baking pies. She was a specialist on Grandparents Day at school, stepping in for any student who didn't have a grandparent to celebrate with. She was always there with open arms to be a grandma to anybody.

After years of practice, she took on the title of great-grandma in 2005. This was also when she was upgraded to be GiGi. She gave even more love to Cash, Jackson, Juan, JB, Joyce, Brock, Teagan, and even more over the last 18 years. Her open arms and doors remained welcoming to many other children who would come see her as their GiGi as well.

The farm and quilting were Juanita's oasis. Her dogs, her cows, the deer, the hummingbirds, and her flowers were where she wanted to be, unless the Chiefs were on, then you would find her in red watching the game. Her quilting space is full of what ifs, let's try this, and beautiful accidents. Her creative outlet had no boundaries. Whether she was inside or outside at the farm, she was able to do something she loved. She and Larry built their joy there together.

She was preceded in death by her mother and father, Dale and Louise Gile; brother, Richard Gile; several aunts and uncles; and granddaughter, Anastasia Brewer.

She leaves her husband, Larry Hobson; her children, Brenda Nunn and Greg Cooper, and Pamela and Mark Hood; her grandchildren, Cheri and Brian Fisher, Kamron Hood and Kasey Bayer, Tyler Scheller, Ana Hood; her great-grandchildren, Cash, Jackson, Juan, JB, Joyce, Brock, Teagan; and many cousins and relatives.

Juanita taught love, strength, and a little sass to all in this family and to any who were a part of her world. She will be greatly missed by all.

A private family life celebration will be held at a later date. In lieu of flowers or gifts, cards can be sent to Pam Hood, 805 E. 390 Road, Dunegan, MO 65640.

Karolyn Murray Degraffenreid
Sept. 3, 1951-April 8, 2023

Karolyn Murray Degraffenreid departed this life early Saturday morning, April 8, 2023, at her home surrounded by her family after a valiant fight against breast cancer. Karolyn was born on Sept. 3, 1951, to Delbert and Eva Dewitt Murray in Springfield. She attended Bolivar schools where she graduated in 1969.

In 1969, she married Kenny Degraffenreid, and to this union were born her pride and joys – her seven children – all starting with the letter “K” of course. You could find Karolyn at every school party, assembly, concert, and sporting event that her kids were involved in. In later years, that involvement carried into the lives of her 16 grandchildren, to whom she was lovingly known as Nana.

Karolyn was a worker all of her life. She spent years working on the family farm, worked at Polk County Bank, gave several years working in nursing facilities, and opened her home to watch hundreds of children. She was a mom and nana to everyone she met and made sure anyone who crossed her path felt loved. Even as her sickness progressed, she worried about everyone else being taken care of, and wanted to be sure her loved ones were happy. She was an avid baker and the very best cook. No one made cookies and breakfast casseroles like Miss Karolyn, and she passed her love for being in the kitchen on to her kids and grandkids. Karolyn loved the St. Louis Cardinals, and one of her last outings was to a game. But, of course, her favorite teams were those her kids and grandkids were part of. She loved to be outside camping and mowing her grass, even when it wasn't ready to cut. She sewed and crocheted many beautiful gifts that hundreds of families around Bolivar still have. Her love language was to give to others, and with every talent she had, that's what she did.

Karolyn was a member of the First Christian Church in Bolivar. But she would attend anywhere her family wanted to go. There was nothing more important to her than spending time with her family, and she lived that every day. Karolyn is survived by her seven children, Kendra (Bill) Cusick of Kansas City, Krista (Scott) Sherman of Dardenne Prairie, Kasey (Dan) Bourk of Prairie Village, Kansas, Corey (Kayla) of Bolivar, Kody (Lindsey) of Bolivar, Kandace (Robert) Tosh of Bolivar, and Kaleigh (Lyle) Dietrich of Bolivar. She is also survived by 15 grandkids, Finn Cusick, Hannah Grace Sherman, Lane Taylor, Maddison and Drake Durham, Gunner Degraffenreid, Kaden, Kanyon, and Laynie Degraffenreid, Shelbea, Raelea, Brylea, and Rigin Tosh, Hendrix Dietrich, and Cyrus Dietrich, and one great-grandchild, Madden. She is also survived by her brother Ken (Tanafra) Murray, and a sister, Kathy Drake. She also had numerous nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her parents; a brother-in-law, Larry Drake; and a dear lifelong friend, Dorothy Isdell.

Karolyn will be missed by everyone who knew her. To know her was to love her, and she made an impact on each person she met. There is peace in knowing she is no longer in pain and resting in the arms of Jesus. We know we will see her again someday, and she will be waiting with open arms to welcome us to her new home, just like she always welcomed everyone to her earthly home. No doubt she will be waiting with her baked goods, burnt Chex mix, and breakfast casserole, and watching Cardinals baseball until we get there, enjoying being outside every moment of every day. Karolyn loved with every ounce of her being, and that will live on in the generations behind.

Lorene Wrinkle
Oct. 16, 1930-April 9, 2023

Lorene Wrinkle, age 92, of Bolivar passed away Easter Sunday, April 9, 2023, at Citizens Memorial Hospital Bolivar. She was born Oct. 16, 1930, in Halfway, to Floyd and Verda Viles Lejeune. She graduated from Halfway High School in 1946. She attended Southwest Baptist College and received a two-year degree in 1948. She was united in marriage to Morgan Wrinkle on Sept. 11, 1948, and to this union two sons were born.

Lorene was saved at Schofield Missionary Baptist Church in her early teens. She later became a member of True Hope Missionary Baptist Church, then she and Morgan were charter members of Freedom Missionary Baptist Church and moved they're membership to Schofield when they retired.

Lorene spent her adult life working in and around the medical field, having worked with many local doctors. She enjoyed helping people and always saw the glass as “half full.” She was a member of the Eastern Star for many years and liked attending meetings and events. Following retirement, she liked going antiquing with her “girlfriends,” so she could bring home treasures to polish up and display.

While working for Fantastic Caverns, Morgan would deliver maps and brochures, this allowed him and Lorene to travel and see all the Branson Shows, which they truly loved.

She was preceded in death by her parents; a brother Wendell Lejeune; a grandson Chris Wrinkle; and a nephew Mark Lejeune.

Lorene is survived by her husband of 74 years Morgan, of the home; two sons, Dean Wrinkle and wife Janice, and Rick Wrinkle and wife Cindy all of Springfield; two grandchildren, Sterling Jones (Earlisha) of Fair Grove, and Natascha Jones of California; five great-grandchildren, Kasen, Karsen, Riley, Evyn, and Jack; a sister-in-law Grace Lejeune of Springfield; a nephew Michael Lejeune of Atlanta, Georgia; as well as many nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Visitation will be from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday, April 12, at Pitts Chapel, Bolivar. Funeral services will follow at 2 p.m. in the funeral home with Bro. Donnie Lane officiating. Burial will take place at Greenwood Cemetery Bolivar. Online condolences may be made at greenlawfuneralhome.com. Memorial contributions may be made to the American Diabetes Foundation. Arrangements have been entrusted to Pitts Chapel, Bolivar.

About those peepers and politicians

A politician friend justifiably took me to task last week about my comments on politicians on April 5. I went back to that previously written column and concluded he was absolutely right. Without going into some contrived excuse, I'll simply concede I sometimes don't live up to my own standards of fairness and thus humbly offer my genuine apologies. I'm not sure when first I penned those unflattering lines on public servants, or what I was thinking; obviously, I wasn't. Thank you, sir. Crow does not make for a tasty meal, but in this case quite a healthy one.

AT THE MOVIES

“The Super Mario Bros. Movie”

By Bob Garver
Movie Reviewer

I wrote in my review of “Dungeons & Dragons: Honor Among Thieves” that I wasn't really familiar with the “Dungeons & Dragons” game, and that may have affected my enjoyment of the movie. There will be no such disclaimer for “The Super Mario Bros. Movie.” My brother and I were introduced to video games through “Super Mario Bros.” and “Donkey Kong Country.” I even tried playing the games myself sometimes, in between watching my brother play and actually win. So, while I'm not saying that I picked up on every Nintendo Easter Egg in this movie, there wasn't much that caught me off-guard. And that's kind of the problem, nothing here surprised me.

Brothers Mario (Chris Pratt) and Luigi (Charlie Day) aren't having much luck with their plumbing business in Brooklyn, but their fortunes could change if they can stop a massive flood. They follow the sewer system to a mysterious pipe, which they enter, only to be whisked away to the world of the Mushroom Kingdom, where they get split up. On top of being lost, stranded, and separated from his brother, Mario is trapped in a world that centers around his least-favorite pizza topping.

Mario makes fast friends with scrappy Mushroom Kingdom resident Toad (Keegan-Michael Key), who suggests they go to get help from Princess Peach (Anya Taylor-Joy). She's dealing with a problem of her own: an impending invasion by the evil Bowser (Jack Black) and his army of Koopas. Bowser has taken Luigi hostage, so Mario and Peach have a shared interest in his defeat. Mario and Toad accompany Peach on a mission to recruit the Kong army to combat the Koopas. King Cranky Kong (Fred Armisen) agrees to loan Peach his army if Mario can defeat his son Donkey Kong (Seth Rogen) in an arena battle. An alliance is soon formed, but Bowser isn't far off.

Bowser, for his part, is probably the funniest character in the movie, thanks to three words: Jack Black singing. He has a diabolical plan to marry Peach, which he plans to do by force, but he also wants to do it the right way, with romance and attentiveness. “Adventure Time” had a storyline like this, and arguably, so did “Beauty and the Beast.” But this is the first one to throw in a Jack Black piano ballad. Black's performance is one of the few memorable things about this movie, the rest is pretty much disposable. Every time the movie gives us a funny joke or action beat, a lame one will come along to even it out, and vice versa. Very little falls above (or below, to be fair) the level of “mildling.” I'll say this: it was a good idea to make this movie animated. You just don't get this brand of bright colors and bouncy movements in real life. Plus, I've seen portions of the yucky 1993 live-action movie. I haven't seen it all the way through, but I think it's safe to say that this is better.

By the time you read this, “The Super Mario Bros. Movie” will probably be the #1 movie of the year at the domestic box office, after a killer opening over Easter weekend. I'm glad that something is taking down the MCU mush that was “Ant-Man and the Wasp: Quantumania,” especially given the whole MODOK fiasco. But I'd also like to see this movie taken down by something that I can actually recommend. This movie comes close to breaking the streak of the world never getting a single decent video game movie, it really does, but the jokes and action, not to mention some stiff voice performances (Taylor-Joy could have used a few more takes, so could Black when he's delivering straight lines) just barely make this movie an underwater level.

Grade: C

“The Super Mario Bros. Movie” is rated PG for action and mild violence. Its running time is 92 minutes.

CONSERVING THOUGHTS

The success story of wood ducks

For many waterfowl hunters and nature viewers, the wood duck is Missouri's – and, to a larger extent, North America's – forgotten conservation success story.

Much media attention has been given to the comeback of this region's deer and turkey populations from near extinction to their present levels of abundance. In non-hunting circles, the population resurgences of eye-catching creatures like bald eagles and bluebirds have garnered many headlines. Granted, this attention has been well-deserved because these events are examples of great conservation successes. The wood duck's comeback is a lesser-known conservation success story. This bird's return to prosperity is well-documented, but over the decades, it has gradually slipped into the realm of obscurity.

Wood ducks are North America's most attractive duck species – hands down. The green-headed male mallard may be the most familiar wild duck to most people, but you would get little argument from biologists and nature viewers if you said the male wood duck is the prettiest duck. As with most bird species, males are more colorful than females. The head of a male wood duck in spring courtship colors is iridescent green, blue and purple. Two white lines run parallel to each other from the base of the bill to the back of the head. The male's strikingly colored head is complemented by a white chin and throat, red eyes, red at the base of the bill, a deep, rust-colored chest, bronze sides and a black back and tail. Some of these colorful body feathers are accentuated by additional white striping.

From a population standpoint, it's easy to understand why the wood duck's comeback

Dear Editor,

HB1169 is a bill that is being considered in Jefferson City designed to protect Missourians against unknown gene therapy. If passed, this bill would require any company to label all food that uses gene therapy products in their animals that are sold for food to the public. This would make the businesses be transparent in what they are putting in our food. I believe we, the people, have a right to know what is put in our food. They should not be able to force-feed anyone this gene therapy

This is what Dr. Peter McCullough MD, MPH world renowned cardiologist says about putting this gene therapy into our food. “This is a serious problem and must be shut down. mRNA in the food supply is a real threat and will need exhaustive research to find appropriate application of such technology. Vaccination of COVID-19 is not one of them — should be banned immediately.” In the bill, it states “gene therapy products,” any product with any capacity to alter, interfere with, or otherwise act in any manner similar or equivalent to genes; “products” any product that is:

1. A food, cosmetic, or other substance intended to be ingested, introduced into, or applied to induce into, or applied to the human body or intended to induce physiological effects; and
2. Made available for sale in the states to the general public at retail

I urge you to look up this bill and read it for yourselves. There is a lot more to it. Go to Missouri HB1169.

FRANCIS SKALICKY
MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

story has slipped out of the spotlight. Wood ducks are common nesters throughout the state. Wood ducks are year-round residents of Missouri, but in winter, visiting ducks from colder areas in the north swell southern Missouri's wood duck numbers to greater abundance. Wood ducks aren't just doing well in Missouri: This creature's population is considered to be secure throughout much of its range in the eastern and central U.S.

Because of this abundance, wood ducks are classified as a gamebird and are one of the species included in Missouri's waterfowl seasons. In duck hunting circles, wood ducks are known for providing tasty table fare. Their colorful feathers are also valued by fly-fishing enthusiasts who like to tie their own lures.

The wood duck's story hasn't always been a tale of abundance. At the outset of the 20th century, a number of the country's bird experts were alarmed at the bird's dwindling numbers. In 1901, the U.S. Biological Survey stated that the wood duck was facing extinction. Noted turn-of-the-century naturalist W.W. Cooke wrote: “... The wood duck is constantly diminishing in numbers and soon is likely to be known only from books or by tradition.”

Another well-known nature name from this era, historian and naturalist George Bird Grinnell, also was pessimistic. He wrote:

“They (wood ducks) are becoming scarce and are likely to be exterminated before too long.”

Unregulated hunting was partly to blame. Not only were wood ducks relentlessly pursued by market hunters for meat; plume hunters killed wood ducks for their colorful feathers which were used in women's hats and for a variety of other decorative clothing purposes.

Over-hunting wasn't the only culprit in the wood duck's decline, though. Changing habitat conditions were also a factor. The disappearance of bottomland forests and timbered areas along streams deprived wood ducks of nesting habitat. Unlike most other ducks, wood ducks nest in cavities in tree trunks. That's where they get their name, because their nests are in the wood of trees. (They're also called “tree ducks,” another appropriate moniker.) It's presumed the disappearance of this nesting habitat had as much to do with sending North America's wood duck population into a tailspin as unregulated hunting did.

The creation of federal laws to regulate the hunting of migratory bird species in the early 1900s helped the plight of wood ducks and other migratory birds. Better forestry management practices improved habitat for wood ducks and other birds.

In addition to these broad-stroke measures, another effort focused specifically on wood ducks has helped to bring this colorful waterfowl species back from the brink of extinction – the installation of wood duck nesting boxes. Studies showed that wood ducks would readily nest and raise broods in man-made nesting boxes that are built to specifications preferred by nesting females and located at habitat-appropriate sites. As early as 1912, mention is made of nesting boxes being a cure for the wood duck's woes. It's thought the installation and monitoring of wood duck nesting boxes by government wildlife agencies and citizen conservation groups throughout the eastern and central U.S. over the past century has played a major role in the resurgence of the wood duck population.

The wood duck's comeback is another example of what can happen when citizens care about conservation.

The availability of good nesting habitat is just as important today as it was 100 years ago, which means wood duck nesting boxes still play an important role in maintaining this species' population. If you're interested in learning about wood ducks and in building a wood duck box as a family conservation project, information can be found at mdc.mo.gov.

Message to current Bolivar United Methodist Members

Important General Council changes are coming. Congregations as close as Springfield, Missouri have filed to leave, the UMC, as well as other large congregations in Oklahoma, Arkansas, North Carolina, Georgia, Texas, etc. Many are leaving monthly. Why?

For the most part, these congregations are not desiring to disaffiliate, but, feel that the United Methodist Church is leaving them, by departing from traditional values. At least 2000 congregations are electing to leave the United Methodist Church (founded in 1968). The denomination has allowed those who are anticipating the probable official changes in church doctrine and policy a window to exit this year, just prior to the General Council's convening in May of 2024.

The two issues which are likely to be overturned are as follows:

Regarding the ministry of the ordained 304.3: The practice of homosexuality is incompatible with Christian teaching. Therefore self-avowed practicing homosexuals are not to be certified as candidates, ordained as ministers, or appointed to serve in The United Methodist Church. 341.6: Ceremonies that celebrate homosexual unions shall not be conducted by our ministers and shall not be conducted in our churches. (UMC Book of Discipline which is church policy).

While proposed General Council changes would not initially effect the Bolivar church, the trend is not going to return to the past.

For information. Re. an informational meeting, or to further discuss contact schismethodist@gmail.com

AGRI CULTURE is everywhere!

FARM ANIMALS

Missouri farm animals provide us protein from eggs, milk and meat. They also give us fiber such as wool and leather for clothing.

Horses

Before power equipment such as tractors and combines was invented, horses were used to plant and harvest crops.

Horses belong to a group called "equine." They were used to cultivate the soil for crops and to harvest in the early part of the 20th century. Tractors and combines now provide that horsepower so farmers can farm more acres than in the past. Horses are still used by some farmers to check on their livestock and fences. Police in cities sometimes use horses for safety. People also ride horses for fun and many enter competitions such as horse shows, rodeos and races.

Sports equipment such as baseball gloves, shoes and balls come from animals. Animal fat is an important ingredient in soaps, cleaners, cosmetics, paints and much more.

Beef Cattle

Beef cattle provide us with meat and many other products. These animals use the grains and grasses they eat to produce meat. A 1,000-pound cow will produce 475 pounds of beef.

Many parts of the animals provide uses beyond food. Tires contain stearic acid made from cattle to help hold their shape. Beef byproducts are found in adhesives, ink, leather, fine china, candles, brushes, school supplies, medicines and sporting items.

ACTIVITY

Research the connections to agriculture for things you find in your backpack and for ads for products in the newspaper.

Working in the area of animal production, disease control and animal nutrition is an Animal Scientist.

Veterinarians help prevent disease in animals.

Marshmallows contain gelatin from cattle.

This special Newspaper In Education feature is brought to you by Missouri Farm Bureau, Missouri Press Foundation and your newspaper.

Citizens Memorial Health Care Foundation recently accepted a check for $3,875 from Humansville High School Student Council for patients at the Carrie J. Babb Cancer Center at CMH. The students raised money through their Pink Out basketball game in January.

Area cancer patients may have barriers to treatment, including dental care, fuel, groceries, nutritional supplements and meals. Donations to the cancer center help fund those programs to support the needs of cancer patients.

Dance Fever

By Linda Simmons
news@bolivarmoneews.com

Another fun and exciting evening was on tap at Bolivar High School, Saturday, April 8. The 7th Annual Dancing With The Stars provided a full evening of entertainment to a sold out crowd.

The event is held as a fundraiser for all classes at BHS. The proceeds are divided between each class to help with their prom and project graduation. This year the event raised $100,000 overall. Jennifer Carr, organizer of the event, wishes to thank everyone for their hard work — dancers, coaches, judges, volunteers, businesses and individuals that all donated food, cash, time and more — the event is a spectacular evening because of the community and their love for their school and students. Mark your calendars for Dancing With The Stars 2024 – Saturday, April 6. Several new teams already are signed up.

Taking home the mirror ball this year were dancers Cody Mackey and Lakyn Breesawitz.

Mark and Susie Stephens took home a mirror ball of appreciation for all the years of taking pictures of and supporting Dancing With The Stars. STAFF PHOTOS/LINDA SIMMONS
