At a crossroads: Past choices lead down new paths in "The Last of Us" Season 2

By Joshua Amy
TV Media

Eventually, we all make choices that come to define us. When that happens, we must decide which path forward we will take and be willing to face the consequences for that action — no matter what they may be. Faced with the question of survival for those you love, would you hang on to your morals or do everything you can to protect them? Would they forgive you? These are questions at the heart of "The Last of Us" Season 2, which premieres Sunday, April 13, on HBO and Max.

The return of HBO's acclaimed post-apocalyptic drama reunites audiences with Joel (Pedro Pascal, "The Mandalorian") and Ellie (Bella Ramsey, "Game of Thrones") five years after the events of Season 1's pulse-pounding finale. Now, the hardened smuggler and smart-mouthed teen have settled down into a life nearly resembling a time before the fungal plague turned billions into horrifying creatures. The surrogate father-daughter duo has found community in Jackson, Wyoming with Joel's brother, Tommy (Gabriel Luna, "Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D."), and his partner, Maria (Rutina Wesley, "Queen Sugar"), as well as new friends Dina (Isabela Merced, "Alien: Romulus," 2024) and Jesse (Young Mazino, "Beef"). But behind the fortified walls of their safe haven, all is not well.

Decisions made in Season 1 — those spoiler-heavy, life-changing decisions made in order to protect loved ones — have forged a major rift between Joel and Ellie. The second season's tagline, "Every path has a price," acts as an ominous reminder that Joel's earlier actions will have consequences that could drive away the very person he fights hardest to protect. And as paths tend to do, our duo's paths have branched apart, leading Ellie on a new journey west.

Ellie won't be flying solo, however, as she'll be accompanied by her friend-recently-turned-girlfriend Dina. The character is more than just a romantic lead, as Dina is a very capable survivor in her own right. Speaking to Empire, Merced touched on how her character brings important levity to an otherwise dark story: "In the middle of an apocalypse, I would be the first one cracking jokes in the most inappropriate times."

Backing up their co-star, Ramsey says, "She brought such a light and energy and silliness to the show in such a brilliant way."

In Seattle, now 25 years post-outbreak and ruled by an iron-fisted paramilitary organization, this season introduces viewers to Abby (Kaitlyn Dever, "Dopesick"). As a skilled member of the Washington Liberation Front, Abby faces her own tough choices to make as the WLF fights for control of the city — but her own deeply ingrained sense of right and wrong fuel her own expedition. With Ellie headed her way, their paths are certain to meet, for better or worse.

The wedge between Joel and Ellie at the heart of this season is sure to get fans talking given their journey so far. The first season sees Joel, closed off after losing his daughter (Nico Parker, "Bridget Jones: Mad About the Boy," 2025) in the outbreak, charged with smuggling Ellie cross-country to a resistance group hoping to use her immunity to develop a cure for the infection. Over this journey, the two develop a strong emotional bond as they face both the horrors of the infected and the desperate lengths people take to survive.

In an interview with Variety, Pascal and Ramsey both note that they, too, felt the pain of Season 2's estrangement. "This season was much more of an isolated one for Ellie. It was a lonelier experience, but I don't say that in a negative way," Ramsey states. Pascal mirrors this sentiment, noting that "to not have them near me for every part of Season 2 felt like a cruel separation."

"The Last of Us" is based on the acclaimed video game series of the same name. While Season 1 followed the events of the first game extremely faithfully — including frame-by-frame visuals familiar to fans of the game — its co-showrunners Craig Mazin ("Chernobyl") and the game's co-creator Neil Druckmann weren't content with just retelling the same story. "The Last of Us" takes the opportunity to expand on the games, whether introducing new characters such as the ruthless Kansas City revolutionary Kathleen (Melanie Lynskey, "Yellowjackets") or exploring existing characters such as Frank (Murray Bartlett, "The White Lotus") and Bill (Nick Offerman, "Parks and Recreation") — a pursuit that paid off with an Emmy win for Offerman.

Season 2 appears to be continuing this trend with the addition of Catherine O'Hara ("Schitt's Creek") to the cast as Gail, a therapist working with Joel in Jackson. "Therapy is a fantastic mirror to not just 'What are you really thinking?' but what people are refusing to talk about," Mazin told Variety.

"Godfather of Harlem" - Season 4 (April 14)

This season, the story's origin begins to unfold as infamous crime boss Ellsworth "Bumpy" Johnson (Forest Whitaker), still embroiled in his battle for control of Harlem, must grapple with the arrival of gangster Frank Lucas (Rome Flynn). Meanwhile, Bumpy's daughter Elise (Antoinette Crowe-Legacy) has become involved with the Black Panthers in the wake of Malcolm X's (Jason Alan Carvell) assassination. Available via MGM+.

"#1 Happy Family USA" - Season 1 (April 17)

From creator Ramy Youssef comes this adult animated series following the maniacally upbeat Husseins — the most patriotic, most peaceful and most definitely-not-suspicious Muslim family in America. With satire and absurdity, it redefines finding humor in hardship as they navigate the early 2000s under the watchful eyes of their terrified neighbors. Youssef, Alia Shawkat, Mandy Moore, Timothy Olyphant, Kieran Culkin, Salma Hayek, Randa Jarrar, Chris Redd, Akaash Singh, Paul Elia and Whitmer Thomas voice star.

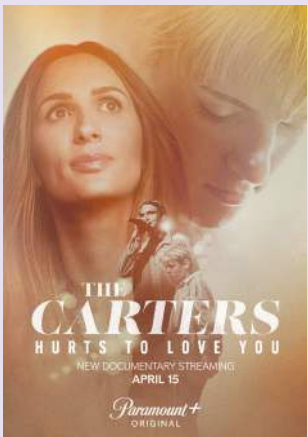

"No Man's Land" - Season 2 (April 16)

Delving deep into the complexities of the Syrian war, Season 2 of this dramatic thriller focuses on the experiences of women in various roles: as victims, survivors, fighters, and even a villain. Central to the narrative is a young Syrian girl on a quest to find her kidnapped mother.

"The Stolen Girl" - Season 1 (April 17)

A seemingly ordinary decision turns the world of Elisa (Denise Gough), mum to two young kids, upside down in this tense thriller. When her daughter excitedly asks to go on an overnight playdate with her new best friend, Elisa agrees after meeting the girl's mother, Rebecca (Holliday Grainger). But, when she says goodnight to her daughter, Elisa has no idea that she is about to be thrust into every parent's worst nightmare.

"The Carters: Hurts to Love You" (Paramount+ — April 15, Documentary Premiere)

Exploring the story of one of the '90s and early aughts' most famous celebrity families, this two-part documentary tells the story of the Carter family through Angel Carter Conrad. With Nick Carter rocketing to fame as a member of the Backstreet Boys and Aaron Carter reaching teen heartthrob status as a solo singer, the Carter family experienced a paradigm shifting transformation of their lives as fame and fortune came their way.

"Agatha Christie's Towards Zero" (BritBox — April 16, Limited Series Premiere)

Based on the work by author Agatha Christie, this limited series follows along as, after a scandalous divorce, a tennis star, his ex-wife, and a volatile mix of guests converge on a coastal estate, where a troubled detective wrestles with his own despair. Anjelica Huston, Matthew Rhys, Oliver Jackson-Cohen, Ella Lily Hyland, Mimi Keene and Clarke Peters star.

"Superkitties" - Season 2, New Episodes (April 16)

Adorable and packed with adventure, this animated series follows four fierce and furry superhero kittens — Ginny, Sparks, Buddy and Bitsy — who are on a mission to make their town of Kittydale a more caring and “pawesome” place. Geared to kids ages 2-7 and their families, each episode features two 11-minute stories that highlight the SuperKitties as they receive a “SuperKitty Call” from one of their animal friends with a problem that only the SuperKitties can help with.

"Big City Greens" - Season 4, New Episodes (April 16)

This animated comedy-adventure series follows the offbeat adventures of 10-year-old Cricket Green, a mischievous and optimistic country boy who moves to the big city with his wildly out of place family — older sister Tilly, father Bill and Gramma Alice. Cricket's natural curiosity and enthusiasm lead him and his family on epic journeys and into the hearts of his new neighbors.

"To Catch a Smuggler"
- Season 8 (Available Now)

Customs and Border Protection and Homeland Security Investigations intensify their efforts to combat the various drugs entering the U.S. in large amounts. Both agencies fight the fentanyl crisis by arresting smugglers while focusing on consumers. Millions in cocaine are seized, and CBP sees an uptick in inbound and outbound marijuana. Border Patrol stays busy with a surge in human smuggling.
