Time for the Tonys: Broadway honors more of its best

By Jay Bobbin
TV Media

Whatever challenges might come its way, the New York theater community manages to meet them and put on really big shows, as the continuation of the Tony Awards affirms.

The 78th edition of Broadway's annual event, presented by The Broadway League and The American Theatre Wing, will be staged Sunday, June 8, at New York's iconic Radio City Music Hall. Again this year, CBS and Paramount+ carry the ceremony, to be marked as usual by performances of numbers from nominated musicals, and appearances by many stars of screen and theater as presenters. Three shows lead with 10 nominations each: "Buena Vista Social Club," "Death Becomes Her" and "Maybe Happy Ending."

This time, the Tonys get a first-time host who's no stranger to the ceremony: Cynthia Erivo, who won her own Tony Award in 2016 for the musical version of "The Color Purple," and she was nominated again in 2023 for the play "Fat Ham." Erivo also has a Grammy Award and a Daytime Emmy Award from her participation in "The Color Purple," and she was recently back on the award trail in a major way, with many nominations — including one for an Oscar — for her portrayal of Elphaba in the first movie to come from the musical "Wicked" (the second film will be released this coming holiday season).

Among the nominees are performers well known for their television or movie work (or both), such as George Clooney ("Good Night, and Good Luck"), Mia Farrow ("The Roommate"), Audra McDonald ("Gypsy" now makes her the most-nominated performer in Tony history with 11 bids, six of which she has won), Sarah Snook ("The Picture of Dorian Gray"), Daniel Dae Kim ("Yellow Face"), Nicole Scherzinger ("Sunset Blvd."), Sadie Sink ("John Proctor is the Villain"), Megan Hilty ("Death Becomes Her"), Darren Criss ("Maybe Happy Ending"), Harry Lennix ("Purpose"), Jeremy Jordan ("Floyd Collins"), Bob Odenkirk ("Glengarry Glen Ross") and Justina Machado ("Real Women Have Curves: The Musical").

A special Tony Award for lifetime achievement will go to Harvey Fierstein, the Broadway veteran who has made enduring marks as both a performer and a writer. He won competitive Tonys for both pursuits for "Torch Song Trilogy" in 1983, later earning two more of the honors for "La Cage aux Folles" (1984, for writing) and "Hairspray" (2003, for acting). "Kinky Boots," "Newsies" and "A

Audra McDonald is nominated at the 78th Annual Tony Awards

Catered Affair" are also among his stage writing credits, and he revised the book of "Funny Girl" for productions of that musical in recent years.

Special Tony honours also will be given to the performing-arts-centric PBS series "Great Performances," The New York Public Library for the Performing Arts, former Goodspeed Musicals executive director Michael Price, and the nonprofit New York theater-transforming organization New 42 (named for the city's 42nd Street, where the effort is centered). Actor-singer Celia Keenan-Bolger will receive the Isabelle Stevenson Tony Award for her arts-related advocacy work. And in what's sure to be a highlight of the special, the original Broadway cast of "Hamilton" will reunite for a 10th-anniversary performance.

'Raising Kanan' debuts key character in 'Power' universe

By Michelle Rose
TV Media

Enter Breeze: The fourth season of the Starz series "Power Book III: Raising Kanan" came to a shocking close just last month. While a gunshot in the finale's fade-to-black ending suggests one key cast member might not be returning, a new season regular is set to shake things up in Season 5, now confirmed to be the series' last.

Shameik Moore ("Dope," 2015), who briefly appeared in the Season 4 finale, is set to play a far bigger role next season as the often-mentioned but never-before-seen Branford "Breeze" Frady.

Shameik Moore joins "Power Book III: Raising Kanan"

In a statement about his casting, Moore, who is the voice of Miles Morales/Spider-Man in the 2018 animated film "Spider-Man: Into the Spider-Verse" and its 2023 sequel, acknowledged the importance of this mysterious character.

"The 'Power' Universe fans have been patiently anticipating this moment and I'm honored to step into the iconic role of Breeze," Moore stated. "I jumped into a story that is already alive with such strong characters, but it was a fun challenge to find Breeze's unique identity, and I can't wait for fans to see how Breeze will shift dynamics in the story. It's gonna be a wild ride."

First mentioned in the original "Power" series, Breeze is the drug kingpin who employed Kanan (originally played by Curtis "50 Cent" Jackson, "In da Club"), Ghost (Omari Hardwick, "American Skin," 2019) and Tommy (Joseph Sikora, "Ozark"). In the Season 4 finale of prequel series "Raising Kanan," a young Kanan (Mekai Curtis, "Milo Murphy's Law") was introduced to Breeze, effectively setting the stage for a tension-filled, character-defining season.
