Dodge County Dairy Princess Among Finalists

This year celebrates the 70th Princess Kay of the Milky Way, the pageant for the dairy industry representatives. Each year young women with dairy farm backgrounds are chosen in each county to be spokespersons for the products. Dodge County has four dairy princesses this year, Gabi Espinoza, Alita Rinehart, Makenzie Alberts and Ellie Sauder. Some of them will take the opportunity to advance to the state competition.

A two-day leadership event held in early May in Minneapolis was an educational session where about sixty of the county princesses met for workshops to learn how to better promote the dairy farmers, industry and products in the state. At this meeting many were interviewed and ten finalists were selected to compete for the Princess Kay title later in August.

Makenzie Alberts was one of the ten finalists chosen for the honor. Makenzie is the daughter of Eric and Angie Alberts of Pine Island and a seventh-generation dairy farmer. The family milks about five hundred Holsteins at the Pine Shelter Farms.

Makenzie is a sophomore at South Dakota State University where she is pursuing a dual major in agricultural communication and leadership and a minor in dairy industry.

She is a 2022 Pine Island graduate and this is her first year as a dairy princess. She has been active in 4-H and FFA and just finished her position as Minnesota state FFA secretary.

Walking a Mile in Our Neighbor's Shoes

By Peter Moen,
pastor at Concord Church of Christ

Walk a mile in your neighbor's shoes
You'll understand them better if you do
See the world through your neighbor's eyes
So many things you'll realize
Live a day in the neighborhood
You will understand them better if you could

The above lyrics are from a choral piece written by Pepper Choplin and is appropriately named "Walk a Mile" (a great song to look up on YouTube!). I remember singing it in choir and the message of the song was easy enough: You need to put yourself in someone else's position before you can truly understand where they are coming from.

At first glance this cheery song seemingly carries a superficial message, but when we think about it a little more it is quite profound! It is especially profound in our present moment where social media actually keeps us farther away from each other. It is just that much more difficult to walk a mile in our neighbor's shoes when we separate ourselves by phones, tablets, and computer screens.

To see the world through our neighbor's eyes, to put ourselves in their position, is to start to understand how we ought to treat them. When we start to think in these terms, we start to understand what Jesus meant when he said in the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew 7:12, saying, "So whatever you wish that others would do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets."

We quickly recognize this statement as the Golden Rule. At the core of the Golden Rule is the practice of empathy. By putting ourselves in someone else's shoes, we gain a deeper understanding of their experiences, emotions, and needs. When we treat others as we would like to be treated, we acknowledge their inherent worth and dignity, creating a sense of connection and mutual respect. This empathetic approach allows us to break down barriers and bridge divides, fostering positive interactions and nurturing healthy relationships.

And for Jesus, there is no equivocation on this matter. Notice the word "whatever" at the beginning of the Golden Rule. In other English versions of the Bible, it says "So in everything..." or "In all things..." Whatever means there are no ifs, ands, or buts when it comes to following this rule. There is no equivocation about how another person treats us or in what situation it is okay to treat a person differently than how we want to be treated.

It also means we still must abide the Golden Rule when others treat us poorly. We cannot wait for the other person to speak first, for the other person to forgive first, for the other person to respect us first, for the other person to love us first. Instead, we must be proactive in our forgiveness, in our respect, in our promises, in our love for the other.

In every situation the Golden Rule challenges us to think about how WE would want to be treated, then we will know how to treat the other person. May we carry this very simple but very difficult Golden Rule into every relationship. May we, in our carrying out this Golden Rule, exemplify the love of Christ who first loved us. And may we, in our carrying out this Golden Rule, live peaceably in the Kingdom of God.

The Almighty, Gentle God

He tends his flock like a shepherd: He gathers the lambs in his arms and carries them close to his heart; he gently leads those that have young. — Isaiah 40:11

Isaiah 40 speaks of the power and might of God with amazing clarity. Estimates hold that the observable universe is 45 billion light years across, and yet, according to Isaiah, that is only like the breadth of God's hand. Ultimately, though, comparing the infinite God to the finiteness of this universe—as expansive as it is—would be futile.

Even so, when we consider that the almighty God scoops up his people in his arms and carries them like lambs, close to his heart, we are moved to marvel at his gentle love. Knowing that God has written our names on the palms of his hands (Isaiah 49:16) and that he sings over us (Zephaniah 3:17) as he carries us along is comforting beyond words.

Today some of us need to experience the comfort of our gentle God. Reading of his gentle loving care is a good start. However, God's gentleness is experienced in an incarnational way (in the flesh) when we treat others with the gentleness that God has shown us.

In what ways can you show gentleness to everyone around you today?
Father, you are infinite and almighty. We are small and weak. You pick us up in your arms, and you love us and bless us. May we find shelter in your love today, and may we be shelter for people who are hurting. In Jesus, Amen.

Dolores June Kautz

Dolores June Kautz, 98, of Hayfield, MN, formerly of West Concord, MN passed away on Thursday, May 25, 2023, at Fieldcrest Care Center in Hayfield, MN.

Dolores was born on October 18, 1924, to William and Isabel (Johnson) DeFlieger in Frankfort Township near Grand Meadow, MN. She attended school through 8th grade in Dexter and Elkton. The family later moved to West Concord where she met her husband, Armond Kautz. They were married on June 17, 1943, in Dodge Center, MN. Dolores and Armond farmed in rural West Concord until 1965, when they moved into West Concord. In addition to being a farmer's wife and stay at home mom when they moved into town, she also worked for the local grocery store and was an aide at the nursing home/board and care facility in West Concord.

Dolores was a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Dodge Center and their sister church Zion in West Concord until its closing. She was also involved in the ladies' aid group at the church. Her faith was very important to her. She was a collector of purses, frogs, and solar bobble heads. She loved to snack on gummy worms and circus peanuts. She enjoyed playing bingo, word search books, and embroidery until she could no longer see well. She had a love of chickens and raised many on their farm over the years. Her and Armond enjoyed their Sunday drives together around the countryside.

Dolores is survived by her daughters, Carol Hoffman of Stewartville, MN and Cheryl (Brian) Ashelin of Kasson, MN; grandchildren, John (Tabitha) Hoffman, Mike (Christina) Hoffman, Linda (Matt) Deo, Amy (Rob) Rice, Mickey (Ashley) Ashelin, Breanna (Jesse) Reding; 13 great-grandchildren; and 3 great-great grandchildren with 2 more expected this year. She is also survived by her nieces and nephews including two very special nieces - Shirley (Kerry) Koestler and Karen (Jay) Deones who always made time to visit mom and keep her in their thoughts and prayers all these years. Their visits meant a lot to her.

She was preceded in death by her parents, William and Isabel DeFlieger; husband, Armond Kautz; brothers and sister-in-law's, Donald and Arline DeFlieger and Richard and Betty DeFlieger; son-in-law, Marvin Hoffman; and great-grandson, Glenn VanSabben.

A funeral service was held at 11:00 a.m. Monday, June 5, 2023, at Grace Lutheran Church, 404 Central Ave N Dodge Center, MN. Reverend Elliott Malm officiated. A visitation was one hour prior to the service at the church. Interment was in Concord Cemetery in Concord, MN.

Roger Leo Papenfus

Rocky Papenfus passed away of natural causes at his home in Rochester on Friday, May 12, 2023. Roger Leo Papenfus, known to everyone as Rocky, was born February 28, 1952, to Charles and Marge (Aulwes) Papenfus in Austin, Minnesota.

Rocky graduated from Dodge Center High School with the Class of 1970. He enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and spent time in California and overseas in Okinawa during the Vietnam war. Rocky was very proud of his military service and was honorably discharged. He returned to Minnesota, was married and had a son Nicholas. Later he married Pam (Simcox) Bakken and had a daughter Nicole.

Rocky loved spending time with family and also using his talents working with his hands to create art from leather hides and deer antlers. He loved to go metal detecting whenever he had the chance and almost always had a motorcycle, or 'chopper' and loved riding. Other "entrepreneurial ventures" included Rocky's Custom Knives, and Rocky's Roofing along with his plans to invent and patent the 100-year shingle. Rocky was a long-time friend of Bill W. and enjoyed the fellowship and support amongst his many friends and acquaintances in and around Rochester.

Rocky was preceded in death by his father, Charles Papenfus, his mother Marge Matthiesen, stepdad David Matthiesen, brother Ronnie and several aunts and uncles including special uncle Bill. The loss of his son Nicholas in 1999 forever left a piece of Rocky's heart missing and they are now reunited as father and son, raising hell in Heaven.

Rocky is survived by his daughter, Nicole (Nick) Schamp; grandsons, Noah and Nolan of Claremont and granddaughter, Mia Cain of West Concord. Surviving siblings are brother, Ric (Deb) Papenfus of Dodge Center, and sisters, Laurie Reynolds of Eagan, Linda (Keith) Cooper of Laporte, Judy (Ken) Sein of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio and Jenny (Dean) Blowers of Dodge Center. He is also survived by many nieces and nephews.

There will be a graveside service with military honors, Preston Veterans Cemetery, Friday, June 30th at 3pm. The family will host a celebration of Rocky's life Saturday, July 1st starting at 2pm at Sakers Event Center, Kasson MN.

If you desire to honor Rocky with a monetary gift, please direct donations to Paws and Claws Humane Society, Rochester. <https://www.pawsandclaws.org/wpweb/donate/>

From Hot Rods to Real Estate

By Cheri Roshon

It always amazes me how life works out when you get out of your own way, and trust that things are working out the way they should.

Tim Gangl is a classic example of letting life work out as it should. He has always had an interest in land sales. Earlier in life while between carriers, he took courses in property appraisal to get a feel for real estate, but life had other plans.

Tim had an interest in cars from a very young age but started out as a heavy truck mechanic, then he drove semi-truck, then managed and ultimately owned a small trucking company. After he sold his trucking business, with the support of his wife Patti, Tim began selling hot rod parts at car shows to people who were building hot rods.

He became a distributor for several manufacturers of these parts and attended shows around the Midwest where car enthusiasts would look for and buy custom parts for their classic cars. After attending about 20 shows a year, Tim and Patti eventually built a building in West Concord, and this is where Hot Rod Hardware is located today.

In the mid-2000's Tim began building hot rods for other people, but with a limited number of technicians available to do that type of work, he decided to stick to the parts business and move to the auto collision business in his shop. Around that time while visiting with a friend who also happened to be a hot rod parts customer, his friend asked if he wanted to "Day Cab" (cut off the sleeper) some semi-trucks he had. Tim and his technicians got trained and started day cabbng trucks for customers all across the country as they still do today. West Concord Collision is located in the same building as Hot Rod Hardware in West Concord.

As his two sons got older, they began working with Tim, learning the business from the ground up. Jonathon manages parts and sales at Hot Rod Hardware, and Joel is lead man at West Concord Collision. Together as a team, they still attend 2 car shows a year but most of their parts sales are from of their website at hotrodhardware.com. Tim is still the first one at the shop every morning, but as the boys have become more adept at running the shop, Tim thought maybe he should give his boys some room to grow in the business and it was time to pursue his long-time desire to become a land REALTOR®.

After getting further educated and licensed in real estate, Tim met with Kirk Swenson, owner and President of 1 Stop Realty, and Wendy Forthun the company's Vice President. 1 Stop Realty specializes in farmland listings, buildable acreages, farm building sites, and recreational land as well as farmland management. 1 Stop Realty celebrates it's 50th year this year, managing farmland and completing farmland transactions. Kirk's father Warren Swenson had started 1 Stop Realty in 1973, and Wendy Forthun ALC (Accredited Land Consultant), has been with the company 20 years. After meeting with Tim, they felt he was a good fit to add as a land agent, so Tim joined the team in early 2020.

I asked Tim what it was about land sales that intrigued him. He and Patti own an 80-acre farm just north of Mantorville, they have been renting out their farmland to a local farmer. Owning that farmland heightened his interest in farmland and land real estate.

As a farmland manager, Tim develops agreements between farmland owners and farmers and then goes on to manage the farmland, ensuring that it is properly cared for, and the landowner receives current market rents. He determines a fair price by considering soil quality, drain tile, topography, tillable acres, location, and demand. Tim then tracks chemicals and fertilizers the farmer uses, as well as crop yields and makes sure the soils are tested at regular intervals. This is to be certain that the nutrients in the soils on the farm are not used up over time and the landowner's farm maintains its value.

But that's not all he does! He handles many sales transactions of land all over southeast Minnesota for landowners, farmers, and investors. It might be a rural site ready for a new owner to build their country home, a 250-acre farm ready to be sold to someone in the next generation, or a site ready for commercial development outside of a small town.

1 Stop Realty uses many methods to sell land from a traditional listing to auctions or sealed bids. They use their years of expertise to recommend the right method to the landowner and work together with them to come up with the way that best fits their needs.

Tim chose 1 Stop Realty because they are a trustworthy firm with the most land experience in the area. They have been in business for 50 years this year and have sold more farmland in Dodge County than any other brokerage firm through both listings and auc-

Congratulations to them for their endeavors!

Are you looking for a farmland manager? Are you ready to sell some land you own? Do you want someone to represent and work for you in a land purchase? Do you need a Broker's Price Opinion (BPO) to find out what your land is worth? Tim is your man! Give him a call at (507) 254-1976, or email him at tim@farmlandsales.com. Let him help you to make the next step in your journey. You'll be glad you did!

Klobuchar, Smith Announce Federal Funding for Dodge Center Airport Infrastructure Improvements

WASHINGTON – U.S. Senators Amy Klobuchar (D-MN) and Tina Smith (D-MN) announced $150,000 in federal funding to make upgrades to the Dodge Center Airport. The investment is made possible through the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, which both Klobuchar and Smith helped pass.

“Investments in our airport infrastructure serve as a down payment on the long-term economic well-being of our state,” said Klobuchar. “By enabling upgrades, this federal funding will help boost efficiency and improve safety for travelers at Dodge Center Airport.”

“The Dodge Center Airport is a key transportation hub and economic driver for Dodge Center and its neighboring communities,” said Smith. “The Infrastructure Law helped make investments like these possible, and will make our airport more safe and efficient. I’m excited to see this law making an impact in our state and will keep looking for opportunities to improve our infrastructure.”

The funding will be used to update the Airport Master Plan, which is critical to the safe and efficient operation of the airport.

Makenzie started showing calves as a novice in 4-H and grew to love showing cattle at the fair. In high school she joined FFA and continued to be involved in agricultural activities. She fed calves on the family farm, helped with herd management, takes turns at one of the three times a day 7-hour milking shifts and drives tractor hauling forage in from the fields during harvest. He mother was on the Dodge County Dairy board and she remembers wanting to be a dairy princess since she was a young girl.

This summer she will be working on the family farm and taking part in representing the dairy industry at events like Breakfast on the Farm and the Dodge County Fair. The week before the Minnesota State Fair will be the most exciting time when one of the ten finalists will vie to be chosen as the 2023 Princess Kay of the Milky Way.

Her favorite memories were growing up on the close-knit family farm with her cousins and doing fun things like sliding down the bunker plastic as kids. Now she helps to fill the bunker and throw tires on the plastic.

After college she plans to follow a career in a company involved in the dairy industry and help educate the public about how dairy products get to the table.

Lyme Disease in Dogs: Symptoms, Tests, Treatment, and Prevention

Lyme disease, also known as Lyme borreliosis, is a bacterial illness that can be transmitted to humans, dogs, and other animals by certain species of ticks. It is caused by the spiral-shaped bacterium Borrelia burgdorferi, which is carried inside a tick and gets into a dog or person's bloodstream through a tick bite. Once in the bloodstream, the bacteria can travel to different parts of the body and cause problems in specific organs or locations, such as joints, as well as overall illness.

Given the seriousness of Lyme disease, it's important to be aware of tick prevention and treatment for dogs.

The ticks that carry Lyme disease are especially likely to be found in tall grasses, thick brush, marshes, and woods — waiting to latch onto your dog when they pass by. A tick can transmit the disease once it has been attached to a dog for 24 to 48 hours.

First named when a number of cases occurred in Lyme, Connecticut, in 1975, the disease can be hard to detect and can cause serious, ongoing health problems in both dogs and people.

Lyme disease happens in every state, but infection risks vary. Over 95% of cases are from the Northeast, the Upper Midwest, and the Pacific Coast, although with recent changes in deforestation, migrating deer, and bird populations, percentage rates in these areas are constantly changing.

A small number of cases crop up each year along the West Coast, especially in Northern California. In Canada, Lyme-positive dogs are found mostly in southern Ontario and southern Manitoba. A smaller number of cases are reported each year in southern Quebec and the Maritime Provinces.

Ticks don't jump or fly—they can only crawl. They get onto their host by waiting at the tips of vegetation. When a dog or person brushes against a bush, for example, the tick quickly grabs on and then crawls to find a place to bite.

Lyme disease is, unfortunately, a fairly common canine disease. Typical symptoms in dogs include:

Fever

Loss of appetite

Reduced energy

Lameness (can be shifting, intermittent, and recurring)

Generalized stiffness, discomfort, or pain

Swelling of joints

Symptoms can progress to kidney failure in dogs, which can be fatal. Serious cardiac and neurological effects can also occur.

The primary carrier of Lyme disease is the black-legged tick (Ixodes scapularis), also called the "deer tick" or "bear tick." The tick acquires the Lyme disease bacterium when it feeds on an animal that has been infected, such as a mouse, deer, or another mammal, and then transmits the bacterium to the next animal it feeds on. Image: CDC

Diagnosis is made by a combination of history, physical signs, and diagnostics. For dogs, the two blood tests for diagnosing Lyme disease are called the C6 Test and Quant C6 test. Veterinarians perform both.

The C6 test detects antibodies against a protein called "C6." Presence of the antibodies suggests an active Lyme infection. The C6 antibodies can be detected three to five weeks after an infected tick bites a dog and may be found in the bloodstream, even before the dog shows signs of illness.

The next step is to do a Quant C6 test. This, along with urinalysis, will help determine if antibiotic treatment is necessary.

Treatment includes antibiotics, usually for at least 30 days. This often resolves symptoms quickly, but in some cases, the infection will persist and prolonged medication may be needed. Treatment can also include other therapies aimed at resolving or relieving specific symptoms.

Dogs are not a direct source of infection for people. Lyme disease can't be transmitted from one pet to another, nor from pets to humans, except through tick bites. However, a carrier tick could come into your house on your dog's fur and get on you.

If your dog is diagnosed with Lyme disease, you and any other pets have probably been in the same outdoor environment and may also be at risk. So it is a good idea to consult with your physician and veterinarian to see whether you should test other pets or family members.

Other less common—but serious—bacterial tick-borne diseases in dogs include anaplasmosis and babesiosis.

Anaplasmosis can involve symptoms similar to those of Lyme disease. Babesiosis can present with a wide range of symptoms, from sudden and severe shock, high fever, and dark urine to a slowly progressing infection with more subtle clinical signs. Diagnosis of both diseases includes blood tests similar to those used to check for Lyme disease.

Sometimes, dogs and people can become sick with "co-infection" of multiple tick-borne diseases, where more than one type of disease-causing bacteria is transmitted through a tick bite. This situation can make diagnosis and treatment even more challenging and difficult.

Recommendations on preventing ticks include these from Dr. Jerry Klein, Chief Veterinary Officer for the AKC:

Inspect your dogs and yourself daily for ticks. After walks through the woods or grassy settings, check yourself and your dog for ticks. When inspecting your dog for ticks, look especially on the feet (and between toes), on lips, around eyes, ears (and inside ears), near the anus, and under the tail.

Remove ticks immediately. The quicker you find them, the less likely your dog will be to contract a secondary illness related to tick bites. Learn the proper method of removing ticks from dogs. Invest in a pair of fine tweezers designed to remove ticks. If you are unable to do so, consult with a veterinarian.

Ask your veterinarian to conduct a tick check at each exam. They'll be able to find any you may have missed.

Use one of the veterinary-approved flea and tick preparations to prevent ticks from jumping on your dog. Speak to your veterinarian to find the product that's most appropriate for your dog.

Keep grass mowed as short as possible. Avoid walking into grassy patches in areas where ticks are common if you can.

Get your dog vaccinated. Vaccination could prevent your dog from getting Lyme disease. They may not be appropriate for some dogs, so discuss this with your vet.

Ellingson Crew Recognized for Exemplifying Core Values in Life-Saving Act of Good Samaritanism

West Concord, MN - Ellingson, a leading company in underground construction, proudly acknowledges and honors a remarkable crew that recently displayed exceptional bravery and adherence to the company's core values. On the morning of May 5th, in the Minnesota metro-area, a group of Ellingson employees demonstrated integrity and grit when they acted as Good Samaritans during a life-threatening incident.

While commuting from their motel, the crew witnessed a vehicle approaching the roadway at high speeds, exhibiting erratic behavior. As the vehicle entered the roadway, it became evident that the driver may have been experiencing a medical emergency. The situation quickly escalated, with the vehicle careening into the sound barrier and becoming lodged.

Without hesitation, the Ellingson crew pulled over safely and immediately sprang

into action to assist the driver until emergency medical services arrived at the scene. Under the leadership of Nick Diffendorfer, the crew assessed the situation and observed smoke inside the vehicle's cabin. Reacting swiftly, a crew member retrieved a fire extinguisher while others entered the vehicle by breaking a window. Inside, they made contact with the unresponsive but breathing individual and diligently monitored their condition until the arrival of EMS.

"I felt like I needed to stop and help," said Diffendorfer. "We did what anyone would do."

This remarkable act of courage and selflessness demonstrated the embodiment of two Ellingson Core Values:

Integrity: The crew exemplified the essence of doing the right thing, even when no one is watching. Their unwavering commitment to assisting a stranger in need, regardless of the potential risks involved, speaks volumes about their character and their dedication to upholding the highest ethical standards.

Grit: In the face of a potentially dangerous situation, the crew members consciously considered the risks to themselves and the driver of the vehicle. Despite the potential hazards, they displayed remarkable grit by choosing to take immediate action, ultimately ensuring the safety and well-being of the individual in-involved.

"Responding to a collision incident or being first on scene presents many risks and challenges for everyone involved," says Blake Lawrence, Environmental Health & Safety Manager. "The crew handled the situation flawlessly and prepared for additional risk as they processed the scene, while maintaining a sense of urgency. While we do not know the injured 3rd parties' condition or results of the incident, I strongly feel they aided a stranger and gave them the best chance for survival. I truly appreciate their courageous act and I am glad to have them on the team."

Ellingson extends its sincerest appreciation and recognition to the crew for their heroic actions and their embodiment of the company's core values. Such exemplary behavior serves as an inspiration to the entire Ellingson team and reaffirms the company's commitment to fostering a culture of integrity, safety, and family values.

We Recognize the Hardworking Dairy Farmers this Month

Our local dairy farmers work hard every day to nourish our nation with delicious and nutritious dairy products. Over the years, their ongoing dedication and commitment to quality has helped us grow up healthy and strong. But the dairy industry is more than just an important part of our lives and our children's lives, it's an integral part of our local economy too.

Our library was able to participate in an "Empathy Book Club." New York Life Foundation provided funding of $400 to purchase books from First Book. Titles that we chose to purchase had to be about relationships and caring.

The book club (with EMPATICO as a partner) was designed to help students develop empathy, respect and understanding through reading and connecting to other students. Mrs. Olevson's class connected with a 2nd grade class in Villa Rica, GA. We were able to meet once over ZOOM and send them a package with letters, questions and COBRA stickers. It was a great experience and we were able to get free books!

TRITON COMMUNITY ED YOUTH ENRICHMENT 507-418-7550

Triton Community Ed in partnership with K-M Community Ed has launched the Dolly Parton Imagination Library for the entire Dodge County community!

Dolly Parton's Imagination Library has come to Dodge County. This very powerful program supports Early Childhood Literacy by mailing one FREE, high quality, age-appropriate book each month to children under the age of five, for a full year. It has been shown that reading to children early is a significant indicator of future academic success, and Dolly Parton's Imagination Library has been contributing to early literacy in communities all over the world since 1995.

If your child lives in Dodge County and you are interested in enrolling, use the QR Code to get started!

We'd like to thank the following donors who have generously donated money to make this opportunity available to all qualifying children in Dodge County!

- K-M Care & Share • Welsh Equipment • KMTelecom
- In Loving Memory of Scott Hodgman •

- Ruth Donaldson • Energy Economics Inc • McNeilus Steel •

Youth Enrichment League Summer Dance Camp

Junior Dance Camp
Grades entering K-5 Fall 2023

Glissade, pirouette and chasse' your way across the floor as you learn fundamental dance repertoire while preparing for the end of session recital. Each {YEL!}

- Practice It!... Students practice those fundamentals as a group and individually.
- Move It!... They implement what they've learned into across-the-floor and bar routines.
- Dance It!... Finally, students put it all together in a choreographed routine in preparation for the recital.

Sign up today to THINK, LEARN and PLAY WELL with {YEL!}.

For more details about {YEL!} Dance classes, visit YouthEnrichmentLeague.com.

PARENTS: Ballet or jazz dance shoes are recommended, but not required. Please dress your child for movement.

RECITAL: Will take place the last 30 minutes of the last class. Ask your dance instructor for details.

Min 8/Max 16 participants

Cost: $78

History and Adventure in Wisconsin- a 2-day trip!

Kristy Faber, Tour Leader

We'll go back in time on this 2 Day, 1 night getaway to Wisconsin. On our first day, we will travel to Fort Atkinson Wisconsin, stopping in Tomah for lunch. Next, we will check into our overnight accommodation at the Fort Atkinson Country Inn and Suites where we will be greeted with cookies and a punch reception. This evening we will have a beautiful experience at the Fireside Dinner Theatre. Where we will eat at the Signature Buffet featuring: Salad topped with Papaya Chutney Dressing and served with Freshly Baked Breads. On the Buffet, you will choose from these Fireside favorites: Barbecued Pork Back Ribs, Chicken Tenderloin Tempura with Brandied Apricot Sauce, Beer Batter Fried Cod, Shrimp and Scallops Fusilli with Tomato Butter Sauce, Fresh Atlantic Salmon, Chicken Marsala, Penne Pasta with Alfredo Sauce, Beef Tenderloin and Roast Turkey from the Carving Station, Sweet Potato Soufflé, Whipped Idaho Potatoes and Steamed Farm Fresh Vegetables. Crème Brûlée for Dessert. Coffee, Tea, and Milk are included. Next, we will see TITANIC, the 1997 Broadway Musical, won five Tony Awards including Best Musical. Soaring songs, grand staging, and a set awash in glorious costumes makes this historic musical a must-see event; a great show made even better in the intimacy of The Fireside's theatre-in-the-round. The show focuses on the lives of all the varied strata of people uniquely united on that fateful journey, with the central character being the Titanic herself. This human drama explores and reveals individual strength, love, faith, and especially the triumph of human dignity.

We will return to our hotel for a great night's sleep. We will enjoy a complimentary breakfast at the hotel, and then depart for the Wisconsin Dells. While there, we will stop at the cheese mart, have lunch, and experience the World War II Duck

Tour.

In 1946, the world's first Duck tour was launched. While other Duck rides have come and gone, only ORIGINAL WISCONSIN DUCKS® has been delivering FUN and ADVENTURE on LAND and WATER, NON-STOP, ever since! The CLASSIC DUCK TOUR splashes into the WISCONSIN RIVER and LAKE DELTON, climbs over SAND BARS, traverses over four miles of EXCLUSIVE SCENIC WILDERNESS TRAILS, and has been thrilling passengers for 75 YEARS and counting, ride THE ORIGINAL! Journey on an amphibious vehicle used during World War II. These restored ducks travel by land and water on trails tucked away among the natural beauty of Wisconsin Dells. Squeeze through the narrow walls of Red Bird Gorge. Coast around the exhilarating curves of Roller Coaster Hill. Plunge into the Wisconsin River. Experience 8 1/2 miles of breathtaking views from towering sandstone cliffs to scenic wilderness trails. Take a one-hour tour aboard a green and white duck.

September 28 and 29, 2023

Total Trip: Limit 30 people
 Double Queen: $340 (2 people in the room--please specify roommate on registration)
 Single Queen: $385 (if staying alone)
 Cost includes, coach bus, dinner and show at the Fireside, hotel stay and WW II Ducks Tour. Note: lunch on the way there and back will be the individual's responsibility.

Best Over-the-Counter Hearing Aids for Older Adults

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you recommend some good over-the-counter hearing aids for seniors on a budget? I'm not sure what to get or where to buy them.
--Hard of Hearing

Dear Hard,

The new FDA approved over-the-counter (OTC) hearing aids that hit the market last October have become a very attractive alternative to millions of older Americans with hearing impairment.

These new hearing aids can be purchased at pharmacies, consumer electronics stores or online without a hearing exam, prescription, or appointment with an audiologist. And the savings are significant. The average cost of an OTC hearing aid is about $1,600 per pair, which is about $3,000 less than the average price of a prescription hearing aid.

But sorting through all the different options and styles can be confusing. Here are some tips along with a reliable resource that can help you choose the right aid for you.

Check Your Hearing

Your first step to getting a hearing aid is to get your hearing tested. Be aware that OTC hearing aids are designed only for people with mild to moderate hearing loss (signs include trouble hearing speech in noisy places, in groups, and during phone calls).

The best place to get your hearing tested is through a hearing care provider like an audiologist. These in-person tests are usually covered by private medical insurance, and as of this year, Medicare will pay for general hearing evaluations without a doctor's referral.

You can also assess your hearing at home with a good app-based hearing test like Mimi (mimi.health) or SonicCloud (soniccloud.com).

If you find through your test that you have severe hearing loss (signs include being unable to hear spoken words even in a quiet room or trouble hearing loud music or power tools) then OTC aids aren't the right solution for you. You'll probably need a prescription hearing aid, which you must get through an audiologist or hearing instrument specialist.

Choosing an OTC Aid

If you decide that an OTC hearing aid may work for you, here are a couple pointers to help you choose.

First, you need to know that OTC hearing aids come in two types: self-fitting and preset. Self-fitting aids typically use a smartphone app to setup and adjust the device to suit your specific hearing needs, which makes them better suited for seniors who are technologically inclined. While preset hearing aids are much simpler devices that come with a number of set programs for different levels of hearing loss, and the controls are directly on the hearing aid.

Also, because OTC hearing aids have a learning curve, it's very important to know the level of customer support you'll have access to. So, before you buy, find out how long the company provides support after your purchase, and what sorts of experts will be providing the support.

You also need to find out about the company's return policy. It can take weeks to get accustomed to wearing hearing aids and figure out whether they're really working for you or not. So, make sure to choose a brand that offers a minimum 30-day free trial period, or money back return policy.

Best OTC Hearing Aids

To help you cut through all the different options the National Council on Aging (NCOA), which is a national nonprofit organization that advocates for older Americans, recently assembled a review team who collectively spent more than 5,000 hours researching, testing and interviewing customers about OTC hearing aids.

They came up with a list of nine winners based on such criteria as affordability, style and fit. Their best OTC hearing aids for 2023 in their nine categories include:

- Best for Seniors: Jabra Enhance (jabraenhance.com)
- Best Invisible Fit: Eargo (eargo.com)
- Most User-Friendly: Lexie (lexiehearing.com)
- Most Affordable: Audien (audienhearing.com)
- Most Financing Options: Audicus (audicus.com)
- Best Remote Customer Service: MDHearing (mdhearingaid.com)
- Best Rechargeable for the Money: Go Hearing (gohearing.com)
- Best Variety: Lucid (lucidhearing.com)
- Best Earbud-Style: Sony (electronics.sony.com)

Your Family Farm Can Benefit Southern Minnesota's Future

Tim Penny
So. MN Initiative Foundation

to donate a section of their property, SMIF can accommodate that preference, as well.

As the name suggests, the Acres for Good program is also a way to do good things for your community. The net income stream from the land can be used to support southern Minnesota communities well into the future. Farmers can choose how they want to allocate their gift of land through this program. There are several options.

For example, the benefit can go toward one of SMIF's 31 Community Foundations (Pine Island and Lonsdale are our newest foundations) which invest in their communities through grants and programs.

Or, for a region-wide reach, farmers can allocate their gift toward SMIF's general endowment, or SMIF's specific funds which support youth and entrepreneurs in the region.

Another option could be setting up a Donor Advised Fund to allocate resources to the donor's specific interests such as a place of worship, an alma mater or a local charity. Whichever avenue, these are all ways to leave a legacy that will make a huge difference in the future of southern Minnesota – and doing it all without having your family farm sold.

Acres for Good is an incredibly unique way to donate and preserve farmland while also creating an ongoing stream of charitable funds to help out your local community or a cause that is dear to your heart. SMIF is here to help you create your ongoing legacy.

To learn more about the Acres for Good program visit smifoundation.org/acresforgood or contact Alissa Oeltjenbruns, Philanthropy Officer, at 507-214-7023 or alissao@smifoundation.org.

As always, I welcome your comments and questions. You can reach me at timp@smifoundation.org or 507-455-3215.

Five Ways to Increase Diversity on Your Land

By Kourtney Hammerschmidt

With spring here, I have been thinking about all the birds, bees, and other wildlife and insects that all seem to reappear once again. They all work together to help improve and create the ecosystems that we are all a part of.

With that in mind, I have been coming up with things that I can do to help increase the amount of diversity around my house. I want all of these beneficial insects, pollinators, and other wildlife to stick around and have plenty of good food for them to last through the year.

What are some ways that we can increase the diversity around us? Here are a few things that I have thought of:

1. Plant a diverse mix of pollinator-loving plants in and around your yard to attract pollinators and add diversity to your landscape. Make sure you add some species that bloom throughout the year. Early blooming plants and late blooming plants are especially important as a food source for pollinator-loving insects, as they are migrating to and from our area during those times.

2. Add native grasses to your pollinator garden. While grasses are not as showy as other wildflowers, they are extremely important for a variety of butterfly and bee species. The larvae of some butterflies and moths will eat the leaves of many grass species, while some native bees depend on these grasses for their nesting sites.

3. Plant a tree or shrub on your property. Trees and shrubs provide important food and shelter for wildlife and pollinators throughout the seasons. It can also help ensure that all the tree and shrub species can succeed. If there are a limited amount of tree and shrub species in an area, some diseases can become prevalent and threaten the livelihood of those populations.

4. Plant pollinator strips in your farm fields. If you own agricultural land, consider planting pollinator strips in or around your fields. Not only does it provide amazing habitat for pollinators and other beneficial insects, but can also improve local water quality.

5. Implement cover crops into your crop rotation. There are many benefits to utilizing cover crops. These benefits can include decreased erosion issues, reduced nutrient runoff, improve water quality and increase organic matter content. Planting cover crops can also result in an increase of beneficial insects in your fields. When diverse mixes are used, it can increase the number of these beneficial insects, which might be natural predators to some pests in your fields.

Why should we want to increase the diversity of our landscapes? It can help bring a wide variety of insects and wildlife back into that area. With an increase in the number of species, the risk of diseases can also decrease. They will help increase resiliency, build corridors for a wide variety of insects and animals, and it will help support all the species that will utilize the vegetation. All of the plant species, insects, and wildlife can come together to help create a sustainable, healthy environment.

Changes in Latitudes, Changes in Attitudes Spring is in the Air

By Terry Campbell

This column is written by Messenger editor and Minnesota native Terry Campbell. Terry now splits his time between Minnesota when it's warm here and Tennessee when it's cold here.

The other night I walked outside and smelled spring in the air. It was actually the odor of a cow manure lagoon being pumped out, but on the farm that can be synonymous. It brought back memories of pumping the pit each spring. I was so happy to get liquid manure storage on the farm in the 1980's. It was so much better than hauling manure in the cold every day. Frozen manure spreaders, fighting snow drifts in the fields with chains on tractors and trying to get the barn cleaner to work on a sub-zero morning in January. But there were some unforgettable experiences with pumping pits as well.

One just got used to the smell on the farm. It was part of livestock farmer's life. Our hog barn had a pit underneath it. Convenient but stinky. One day I was getting ready to pump the pit and that required removing the exhaust fan in the pump out port. A little while later I realized I was missing my cell phone. After retracing my steps all over the farm I thought I would look down the opening where the agitator was going to go. There on a thin crust of hog poop sat my Nokia. I found a piece of flashing and bent the end to retrieve my phone. It was dry and perfectly functional.

Another time I became aware that the water line coming up from the floor of the pit was leaking. When the pit was pumped as empty as I could get it I inspected and found the plastic nipple on the top side of the valve was spraying water. Wearing a pair of cutoff shorts and disposable tennis shoes I climbed down and installed a new brass fitting. When I climbed out, I discarded the shoes and shorts in the garbage and commenced a deodorizing regimen. Hog manure is just about as bad as a skunk.

We had hauled liquid manure with a 3,300 gallon tank for years before purchasing a pump and traveling gun. This was cutting edge. Except for the labor of laying out 4,000 feet of 6" aluminum pipe to reach the field. There was a 660 foot hose attached to a unit that would spray a perfect arc over 100 feet, as it slowly rotated 360 degrees. You would sit out there and watch it operate and then move the assembly ahead with a cable hooked to a tractor. Nothing but the sound of shh, shh, shh as the liquid fertilizer sprayed in endless circles.

Take down would mean rolling the hose up on a hose reel behind the tractor before moving across the field. One day when I was pumping the neighbors pit, I was rolling up the hose while an open station tractor powered the pto driven hose reel and pulled itself along squeezing the liquid out of the hose and through the nozzle on the traveling gun. I didn't pay attention that the nozzle was pointed directly at me and that the hose became twisted. The reel squeezed the contents of the hose into a state of high pressure and suddenly the force untwisted the hose. I could only watch the manure make it's escape out the nozzle and arc towards me. I turned my back to it and was blasted with the full force of the flying poop.

My last memorable experience with the manure lagoon happened while I was agitating my neighbor's pit. There was a large propeller at the end of a 20' boom mounted on the three-point hitch of the tractor. I was backed down over the edge of the pit with the prop running at full rpm to break up the crust on top of the lagoon. When I determined it was completed, I climbed on the tractor and throttled the engine down. What I hadn't factored into the equation was that even though the rear ties were on a slippery slope, the force of the propeller, just like a ship, was holding the tractor on the bank. According to my science teacher the force of the propeller was equal to the weight of the tractor and it stayed put until I cut the power. I suddenly found myself sliding down into a full manure lagoon on what was soon to become a John Deere submarine. I cut the power and climbed on the hood of the tractor hoping the lagoon was not deeper than the tractor hood. To my relief the tractor came to a rest before it was submerged and after assessing the situation I climbed back into the seat, started the diesel back to life and brought the propeller up to full speed. Then drove the tractor right up the bank and onto level ground.

My neighbor Phil was a witness to the last two incidents and we laughed quite hard afterwards about the whole thing. It is much funnier in retrospect.

A Minnesotan: Construction Season

By RosaLin Alcoser

First off, a special thanks to Bill and Marla Adams from Dodge Center, who sent me some lovely stories about geese in response to my last column. It is always nice to hear about braver souls than I, who were able to stand up to the gaggle of geese that reside in Silver Lake Park in Rochester—a place I ran from many times as a child.

Secondly, it has come around to that time of year again, now that we've soldiered through winter, first winter, second winter, and wondered why it is still winter. When the weather gets warmer and the days get longer, that's right—it is once again construction season in Minnesota.

As we all know, construction season means they start doing the serious road work again, not just patching up the potholes created by nearly six months of winter. Even though up in the Twin Cities where I currently reside, the filling of some of said potholes probably could count as major road work.

Quite recently, I was driving through the construction they are doing on Highway 52 between the cities and Rochester. If you have recently driven that route, you know it means going through two different construction sites that merge down to two lanes. However, these two lanes are placed extremely differently than they were last year or the year before when they worked on a different part of the highway.

Which brings me to the question: Am I the only one who feels like the Highway 52 project has been going on for over a decade now? I know that there were two different projects, with about a six-year gap between the current 52 project and the one that finished in 2015 (not to be confused with the one they did in the mid-2000s), bringing us to a grand total of three Highway 52 projects in this century.

While the many Highway 52 projects, like many highway projects in existence, seem like an ongoing never-ending story, they are not. At least we will always have something reliable to look forward to every construction season, as once this project is over, they will probably start another one in just a few years.

2023 Dodge County Dairy Princesses

During June Dairy Month, we celebrate all that you bring to the table. From fresh products that nourish our bodies to the jobs and revenue generated for our communities, dairy farms are essential in keeping our community healthy and strong.
