CVCA hosting holiday mixer, Festival of Trees

Hot spiced cider – and wine, music, appetizers – all are invited to a Thursday, Dec. 7, Christmastime mixer at the Cobre Valley Center for the Arts, co-sponsored with the Globe-Miami Chamber of Commerce. This festive evening of holiday cheer, from 5:30 - 7:30 p.m., is free and open to the public. Join chamber members and guests to network and mingle among holiday season decor and artwork housed in the Cobre Valley Center for the Arts – where December’s annual Festival of Trees features artistic trees decorated by local businesses, agencies, families and individuals. The evening features door prizes and a 50/50 raffle, too!

There’s still time to enter your unique Tannenbaum in the Festival of Trees, a holiday season exhibit which runs from traditional to creative – from classic green faux balsam fir trees covered with quilted ornaments by our local quilting guild to the fanciful, stylish trees built around dress forms by Bunney Kessler.

Questions about tree entries? Call Cobre Valley Center for the Arts staff or volunteers at (928) 425-0884, email info@cobrevalleyarts.com or visit in person at 101 N. Broad St

The annual Festival of Trees returns to Cobre Valley Center for the Arts in December.

Globe-Miami concert series presents The Diamonds

The first Globe-Miami Community Concert Association concert was a rousing success. You won't want to miss the second concert with The Diamonds on Dec. 7, 2023. The Diamonds take the classic rock and roll genre to a whole new level. They are truly ... a cut above!

They released their first song "Little Darlin'" in 1957 and have been going strong ever since. Throughout the years, they have learned one important lesson – classic rock and roll music is as much about the future as it is about the past. As a result, The Diamonds continue to expand their audience to this day, performing in a variety of venues and settings worldwide. These venues include symphony orchestras, performing arts theatres, major concert halls, cruise ships, casinos, county and state fairs, tours of England, Ireland, Brazil, Chile, Korea and Japan, benefit concerts, corporate conventions and nightclubs. "We've been pleased to find a growing audience among all age groups. They love songs they can understand, remember, and actually sing the words to – today, tomorrow, or even 20 years from now."

The Diamonds' many accomplishments over the years include three Gold Records ("Silhouettes,"

The Diamonds.

"The Stroll" and "Little Darlin'"), 33 appearances on "American Bandstand," the soundtracks of "American Graffiti" and "Happy Days,"

Vocal Group Hall of Fame and Doo-Wop Hall of Fame.

Make time for this renowned group. You won't regret it!

Future concerts include: Jason Lyle Black – Thurs., Jan. 11, 2023. Pianist Jason Black provides a fast-paced show of nearly 100 songs in numerous musical styles interwoven with comedic stories like "Songs Not to Play at People's Weddings and Funerals." www.jasonlyle-black.com

The Presidio Boys – Sat., Feb. 3, 2024. A true country-gospel quartet singing the music of the Oak Ridge Boys, Statler Brothers and more. <http://presidioboys.com/>

TAKE3 – Wed., March 6, 2024. This trio plays the gamut from Bach and Beethoven to Bieber and The Beach Boys. Expect top pop hits, Americana and exciting classical mashups. www.jeanschreibermanagement.com/take3

Clara Hurtado Lee, Issac Hurtado, Jeffry Price – Tues., April 9, 2024. This brother & sister duo are classically and operatically trained, accompanied by acclaimed pianist Price, showcasing all their musical talents.

All performances begin at 7 p.m. at the High Desert Middle School auditorium. For more information call Robin at 928-200-1757, email globemiamiconcerts@gmail.com, or check our website and Facebook: <https://globemiamiconcerts.wordpress.com/> and www.facebook.com/globemiamiconcerts.

Ask God

BY DR. DAN MORTON
Contributor

At the age of 17, I enrolled in Arizona State University and had absolutely no idea of "what I wanted to be when I grew up." The "menu" of courses was fascinating, and the choices were up to me. One course that seemed foundational was Business Law, and I enrolled.

Enrolled, bought the book, noted the time and was seated in class. The professor handed out the syllabus and was explaining he would assign a topic to develop for a 30-minute talk before the class. Being shy, I panicked and made a hasty decision. I went to Registration and withdrew from that class. Other classes were all papers, and I would not be in front of the class.

Business forced me to make presentations, and I enrolled in the Dale Carnegie Course in public speaking. The course was taught by two men who were great, and the class was finished without a problem.

My boss was teaching at the college and asked if I would teach his class the two nights he had to be out of town. I did so, felt more assured, and taught there for 23 years.

The call into the ministry came. I accepted, earned two advanced degrees and have been publicly speaking since. If I had asked God about what He wanted me to do, it could have been easier.

Proverbs 3:6: "In all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will make straight your paths."

A life without lack

The longer we follow Jesus, the more we discover that He is all we truly need.

"How much is enough?" a reporter once asked John D. Rockefeller, founder of Standard Oil and the first American billionaire. "Just a little bit more," Rockefeller said. While few of us have the resources of the super wealthy, we face the same question. Our world is obsessed with getting more, spending more, doing more. But at the root of an answer like Rockefeller's is a misunderstanding about who provides for us.

David understood that God was his provider. "I will not be in need," he wrote in verse 1 of Psalm 23. In other words, because he belonged to the Lord, he was able to experience a life without lack.

COURTESY PHOTO

We can think about this in two ways. First, we can expect God to give us everything we think we need. And when we don't get it, we look for someone—or someone—to blame. Or, as Jesus and His followers laid out, there's a second and better approach: Gratefully receive what God has provided and allow Him to change our heart. In that way, even our needs are governed by our submission to Him.

Reading the first verse of Psalm 23 should immediately remind us of John 10:11, where Jesus says, "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down His life for the sheep." The transforming truth of the gospel is that we have more than enough because Jesus gave us Himself.

Sign up as soon as possible for a creative new class series being launched in late November by University of Arizona's Gila County Cooperative Extension staff. Classes are free, and in an effort to make this as convenient as possible for working parents to attend a meal, refreshments and even childcare for younger kiddos will be provided every class, Tuesday and Thursday from 5:30 – 7:30 p.m., from November 28 through December 21. Need more incentive? The first 12 families to register – and complete all eight classes – will each receive $100 gift cards. Goals of the classes are to improve and strengthen family communication around challenging topics and improve problem-solving while learning how to build a plan together. UA staff have grown acutely aware of financing and parenting challenges that many families have faced in our communities and nationwide during recent years. This innovative new series offers a hybrid approach to teaching both financial literacy and parenting – while also inviting parents and teens to learn together. Blood drive at Globe Elks Lodge Dec. 8

If you missed last month's Red Cross blood drive, please sign up today for the next one. It's being held Friday, Dec. 8, at the Globe Elks Lodge near Denny's from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Every two seconds, someone in the U.S. needs blood, and the Red Cross needs Globe-Miami donors. If you have never given blood and are anxious about needles, please don't be – most blood donors compare the experience to a mild, split-second pinch. The entire process is safe and quickly over, and you'll leave knowing your donation potentially saved up to three people. Walk-ins are accepted, but it's better to call 800-RED-CROSS to reserve one of the available appointments today – ahead of time – and help fill the day's drive. Or pick your choice of times and schedule yourself conveniently online at redcrossblood.org.
