Luminaria Night at Tonto National Monument Dec. 9

Mark your calendar for Saturday night, December 9: admission to Tonto National Monument overlooking Roosevelt Lake is free on this special night, and the paved path up to the Lower Cliff Dwelling will be lit by luminarias for guests to celebrate a festive seasonal tradition. Luminaria Night runs from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., with the night's final hikers allowed up the trail at 8 p.m.

Volunteers from the Tucson Amateur Astronomy Association will also be there with several telescopes trained on the night sky to view planets, nebulae, galaxies, star clusters and more. As a courtesy to the astronomers and their telescopes, please cover your flashlight or headlamp with a red filter. Monument staff advise visitors to also carry along water, wear warm clothes appropriate for a winter night and closed-toed shoes to walk the paved path uphill, which can be narrow and has switchbacks.

Where is Tonto National Monument? Set your GPS for 26260 North AZ Highway 188, Lot 2, Roosevelt, AZ 85545. For updates about guided hikes, birdwalks, nature activities for kids and other events at Tonto National Monument, like and follow facebook.com/TontoNPS.

What do you say?

By DR. DAN MORTON
Contributor

The problem with saying something is it takes twice as many words to take back what should not have been said in the first place. Our pastor has been out of the pulpit for a couple of weeks, recuperating at home. He and his wife flew to London last month for a family birthday celebration. They came back with COVID.

The Sunday before they left, I slipped him a note asking him to call me during the coming week. He hasn't. No big deal. In talking to friends after church the other day, I made the comment that I had asked Joe to call me and I haven't heard from him since. The friends reminded me of his trip, illness, etc., and I then realized how bad my off-hand comment sounded.

A friend years ago threw in a swear word in almost every sentence. This was just his way of talking and you expected it from him. His daughter, a very nice young girl, enrolled in a speech class at the university. The first day, the professor asked each student to stand up and say their name, and which high school they graduated from. She then wanted them to say something they hear around the house.

Karen stood up, did as she was asked, turned red and stopped. She sat down. The professor asked her after class what happened. She said she couldn't think of a thing from home she could repeat in front of the class.

Bowman coming to Globe Christian Center

Evangelist Steve Bowman will speak at the Globe Christian Center Nov. 19-22. Sunday services start at 10:30 and 5:30. Weekday services Monday through Wednesday will start at 7 o'clock nightly. The church is at 509 E. Maple St., just north of Globe High School.

Steve Bowman once had a good job in the music industry, but then he felt the love of God and gave his life to Jesus. Sharing the gospel became his first priority. He became a pastor in the U.S. and then in Zambia, Africa. His African church was so successful in transforming lives that it caught national attention, but after seven years he left the church in capable African hands, and returned to the U.S.

"I was becoming a Zambian," he says. Culture shock was worse returning to the U.S. than leaving it.

Bowman began an evangelistic ministry across the U.S., attracting visitors to churches large and small. He has been popular in Globe for his warmth, humor and "moving in the gifts" of God's supernatural expression, but his messages on successful living reveal his pastor's heart.

Everyone is cordially invited to visit during this series of meetings.

Friday evening concert

Pianist Charles Clevenger will give a concert on Friday evening, Nov. 17, at Trinity Baptist Church, 1362 S. Hagen Rd., in Globe, Arizona. The program will include works by Bach, Chopin and Ravel, and concert arrangements of traditional hymns. The performance begins at 7 p.m.; admission is free and open to the public.
