4-H launches new Gila Monster League

Dog training and agility, woodworking, archery, marksmanship, farm-to-table cuisine, agriculture – just when you thought our local 4-H already has something for all interests comes the announcement of a new Gila Monster League. You're not required to possess an actual Gila monster – in fact, you can't: Arizona's famous native venomous lizard is protected by state law and it's illegal to own a Gila monster or even touch one in the wild.

However, this new 4-H club is for members interested in reptiles or amphibians, especially if you already own one – but owning a turtle, snake, frog or other slithery critter is not a requirement. The first club meeting will be Oct. 10; participants will learn about these fascinating and often-misunderstood animals and how to care for them, while also learning about Arizona's native reptiles and amphibians. Did you know Arizona has 52 species of snakes, 49 species of lizards and six species of turtles? And that National Reptile Awareness Day returns Oct. 21, when you can knowingly tell friends that Arizona boasts 13 species of rattlesnakes – which is one-third of the world's total number of rattlesnake species?

Learn more by joining the new 4-H Gila Monster League; meetings will be Tuesday evenings at 5:30 p.m. in Miami, and members plan to attend the upcoming reptile expo scheduled for November. For details about this new club, contact Karen Donaldson via the group facebook.com/groups/GilaCounty4.H. Find links to all the different southern Gila County 4-H clubs and leaders at extension.arizona.edu/4h/gila.

ornaments for friends and family. She made it a point to send the new bundles of joy their first personalized photo album. Rosa Lee was very grounded in her faith. She loved her church (Roosevelt Baptist Church) and was very active in serving as a Sunday School teacher, V.B.S. teacher, member of the choir and active congregant.

Cliff and Rosa lived in San Bernardino, California, for the first years of marriage, moved to L.A. for a year and then moved to Central Heights in Globe, Arizona. Rosa Lee began teaching kindergarten in the Miami School District. Rosa Lee loved and always remembered all the students she taught through the 27 years. Everywhere she went people would say, "Do you remember me? I was one of your kindergarten students." She almost always could remember their name and if they were a handful or a helper. Rosa Lee loved to hear students say, "You are the reason I became a teacher."

Cliff and Rosa enjoyed fishing, camping and backyard barbeques. They loved the Roosevelt area and purchased a home to enjoy retirement. If you knew Rosa Lee, you knew her love for family, crafts, baking and sewing. At one point in time, she had made over 120 Christmas

Cliff and Rosa Lee knew the importance of family and had opened their home to many family members to live. Rosa and Cliff provided a warm welcome to Paula and Kristen when they joined the family. They spent many weekends together in Roosevelt. Rosa Lee was in her element having two new students to teach baking, crafting, scrapbooking and sewing. Rosa Lee soon became Grandma Rosa to the family, and then the great-grandchild came, and she received the loving name RoRo. Rosa Lee enjoyed being with family and celebrating the holidays. The best teachers teach from the heart not from the book.

Family and friends are invited to join in Rosa Lee's celebration of life on Oct. 7 at 1 p.m. at Roosevelt Baptist Church. In lieu of flowers, please donate to Roosevelt Baptist Church or your favorite school district.

Over the years, Diane was an active member of the Cobre Valley Women's Club, the Gila County Historical Society, the Cobre Valley Center for the Arts, the Cobre Valley Players, St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the Tops Club. She loved to sing, paint and create "unique" gifts for her family. She will be remembered for her quickness to share a smile and a friendly "Hello" to everyone she encountered.

A Memorial Service will be held Thursday, October 5, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church beginning at 11 a.m. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made in her memory to Women of Worship ministry at St. Paul's.

Halloween Candy Exchange at the Globe Public Library Nov. 2 & 4

Halloween can be spooky, especially for your children's teeth!

All that sugary candy can cause a lot of damage to the health of your child's teeth, leading to cavities and pain.

It's estimated that during Halloween kids eat approximately 3 cups worth of sugar, which also comes out to about 7,000 calories - just from candy.

Of course, we want our kids to have a happy and safe Halloween, so what can we do to help reduce the amount of sugar our kids are eating from their candy haul and prevent cavities?

Participate in our first-ever Candy Exchange, put on by the Gila County Health Department Oral Health Team in partnership with Zona Ice.

We will be collecting Halloween candy from children ages 2-12 in exchange for a voucher to be used at Zona Ice for a free small nacho and cheese snack.

It's a great way to help you encourage your children to exchange their leftover candy, decrease the amount of sugar they are consuming and have fun in the process.

The Health Department will be setting up a booth on Thursday, Nov 2, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 4 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Globe Public Library. You and your child can stop by to participate in the exchange.

We look forward to seeing you and have a safe and healthy Halloween!

Really? Every Night!

BY DR. DAN MORTON

Contributor

The young boy was being as good as he knew how to be but was still learning. He was caught a little off guard when his pastor asked if he said his prayers every night. Wanting to be correct, he admitted, "Some nights, I don't say them." Not content to let the matter go away, the pastor asked why he didn't ask on those nights. His answer was simple enough: "I don't need something every night."

Most of us learn to recite our prayers beside our bed, on our knees and when very sleepy. The bedtime litany grows until it gets unwieldy. It is probably easy to slip up. But this is a chance to teach the rest of the story.

"Thank you, God" should be at the top of a list for my days, for God has been with me on each one. "God, when that car almost hit me on Brown Street; and when that kid chased after the ball and didn't see me; and then there was that stranger who pumped up my tire so I could ride safely home."

How about setting aside a specific time – Monday evening at 7:00 – and make an appointment to discuss meaningful issues with each child and with God. Make it important to each one of them and start your list for next week. Don't let it slip by. Like anything, it will improve with practice – the greatest investment you can make.

Trials and joy

Suffering becomes easier to bear when we consider the good gifts God provides through it

Today's passage [James 1:2-4, 12] says, "Consider it all joy, my brothers and sisters, when you encounter various trials" (v. 2). What a preposterous statement! Do you know anyone who thinks joy and trials fit together? But James is presenting God's perspective—not a human one. Suffering has some surprising benefits that aren't readily apparent to most people.

It's important to realize these verses are not telling us to be happy in our pain but rather to rejoice in the blessings that accompany suffering. The word consider means "to regard." When we look at hardships from God's perspective, we can rejoice in the beneficial outcome, even while experiencing pain.

For many, understanding the purpose of trials makes rejoicing easier. The Lord wants adversity to test our faith and produce endurance and spiritual maturity. In every hardship, He has hidden a beautiful and precious reward, but whether we receive it depends upon our response. Those who really want to be transformed into the image of Christ can rejoice in the good that will result from hard circumstances.

Does your hunger to know the Lord and be transformed by Him exceed your dread of distress? None of us want to experience pain, but since it's an unavoidable reality in this fallen world, why not respond in a way that produces eternal benefit? Let's not waste our suffering.

Globe Public Library celebrates Banned Books Week

Globe Public Library is joining thousands of libraries across the United States to celebrate our freedom to read. We will have new trivia questions each day. Challenge your knowledge on this topic. We also have a book display that is constantly changing. Challenged books fill the display. Some may even surprise you. Help us celebrate our freedom to read.

LeVar Burton to lead 2023 Banned Books Week as honorary chair

Beloved reading advocate, writer and television and film star LeVar Burton will lead this year's Banned Books Week, which takes place October 1-7, 2023. Burton is the first actor to serve as honorary chair of Banned Books Week, an annual weeklong event that highlights the value of free and open access to information and brings together the entire book community in shared support of the freedom to seek and to express ideas.

Recognizable for his groundbreaking roles in the landmark television series Roots and the Star Trek franchise, Burton's work as a literacy advocate has inspired generations. Many in the book community can trace their love of reading and advocacy for the right to read to Burton's treasured PBS children's series, Reading Rainbow. Burton has continued to inspire readers with the enormously popular LeVar Burton Reads podcast. A long-time champion for reading and access to books, Burton executive produced The Right to Read. This award-winning 2023 documentary film positions the literacy crisis in America as a civil rights issue.

"Books bring us together. They teach us about the world and each other. The ability to read and access books is a fundamental right and a necessity for life-long success," said Burton. "But books are under attack. They're being removed from libraries and schools. Shelves have been emptied because of a small number of people and their misguided efforts toward censorship. Public advocacy campaigns like Banned Books Week are essential to helping people understand the scope of book censorship and what they can do to fight it. I'm honored to lead Banned Books Week 2023."

Burton will headline a live virtual conversation with Banned Books Week Youth Honorary Chair Da'Taeveyon Daniels about censorship and advocacy at 8 p.m. ET on Wednesday, October 4. The event will stream live on Instagram (@banned_books_week). Visit BannedBooksWeek.org for more details.

The American Library Association's (ALA) Office for Intellectual Freedom

documented an unparalleled increase in attempts to remove books and other materials from libraries and schools in 2022: 1,269 demands to censor library books and resources, the highest number of attempted book bans since ALA began compiling censorship data more than 20 years ago. These demands targeted 2,571 unique titles, a 38% increase over the previous year.

Since it was founded in 1982, Banned Books Week has drawn attention to the attempts to remove books and other materials from libraries, schools and bookstores. The 2023 Banned Books Week theme "Let Freedom Read" is a call to action about the urgent need to defend the right to read and to support the community of readers, library staff, educators, authors, publishers and booksellers.

Saturday, October 7 will mark Let Freedom Read Day, a day of action against censorship. From calling decision-makers to checking out or buying banned books to writing letters and more, everyone is encouraged to do at least one thing to defend the right to read and to speak on behalf of those who ensure access to information. For information about ways to participate and resources, visit bannedbooksweek.org/let-freedom-read-day/.

Visit BannedBooksWeek.org for information about Burton's event and other programs, ways to participate, and promotional materials. Follow Banned Books Week on social media (@BannedBooksWeek on X and Facebook, @banned_books_week on Instagram) for the latest updates.
