2nd Friday in July at Bullion Plaza: Sheep ranchers and herders of Arizona

Sheep ranching has been greatly overlooked in the history of Arizona. While it will never compete with the 5 C's (copper, cattle, cotton, citrus and climate), sheep ranching added a great deal to the economic diversity of our state.

Barbara Jaquay will be the speaker Friday, July 14 starting at 6 p.m., at Bullion Plaza Cultural Center & Museum in Miami, for July's 2nd Friday program. These events are free and for the public. Many different ethnic groups settled here and raised sheep for a living, weathering the economic downturns as well as the prosperous years. They often weathered the storm better than cattlemen. These men and women raised their families on the frontier and left a lasting impact on the economic and ethnic diversity within the state. The story of the sheep industry is told through personal family memoirs collected over several years, including a photographic journey.

Activities for adults at Globe Public Library

Globe Public Library is hosting an after-hours game night for people 18 and up. These game nights will be held Wednesday evenings at 5 p.m. These are cooperative or competitive board games that use strategy. If you have a favorite you would like to share, bring it along. Invite your friends, bring a snack for yourself or to share, and enjoy a game night for adults.

If you love karaoke but want to be able to do it somewhere without alcohol, here is your chance. Globe Public Library is hosting a karaoke club for people 16 and up. This club meets weekly on Thursday at 7 p.m. Sing with us Thursday night.

All Together Now Adult Summer Reading Program is Fridays at 5 p.m. Each week we will meet to learn a new skill or just have fun with friends.

Spice of the Month is on Thursday, July 27 at 5 p.m. We will be featuring herbs de Provence. Each month we will be introducing a spice. Each spice will have basic information (description, origin, varieties, flavor profile and nutritional facts) and one or more recipes. We will have at least one dish to sample made using that spice. Everyone who comes will then be able to pick up two tablespoons of the spice to use at home in their cooking. We do not want you to bring back the spices; they are yours to keep. Two tablespoons will be given at circulation. There is a limit of one unit of spice per month. This will give you the ability to try a spice to see if you like it before you purchase it for yourself. Please share your experience with these spices with us. We would love to hear how it went.

Seed 2 Supper with AZ Health Zone is Fridays at 11 a.m. This is a six-week, two-hour program for adults that takes food from the garden to the table.

Saturday, July 29 at 2 p.m., the Book Club will be discussing "The Echo of Old Books" by Barbara Davis. The books for August will be available for pickup. If there are leftover books, they will be made available to those who did not make it to the Book Club.

All these programs are free and brought to you through partnerships with the Friends of the Globe Public Library and the United Fund of Globe-Miami.

Charles Stevens

Adrian Matthias Stevens and Ian Chas Stevens, and great-grandchildren Alan-tino John Garcia, Jr., Savannah Grace Edwards, Lozen Brielle Edwards, Wendslyn Lea Hooke, Jesse Albert Hooke, Jr., Coby Talkalai and Makir Jada Bones, and many nieces, nephews, cousins and relatives.

Charles Stevens graduated from Globe High School in 1962 where he excelled in track and field and was a leader among his peers. He went on to work in various capacities within the San Carlos Apache Tribe (SCAT) including the Forestry program, Job Corps and Keams Canyon Boarding School. He then joined the Arizona Department of Public Safety (AZ DPS) Highway Patrol where he was a patrol officer, recruiter and narcotics agent, where he retired. After he completed the academy training, he was first sent to the Arizona State Prison in Florence to assist in managing the unrest that was happening there at the time. He went on to be stationed in Coolidge, Whiteriver, Phoenix, San Carlos and Globe.

After retirement from AZ DPS he went on to work for the SCAT as an assistant prosecutor, juvenile probation officer, in-school suspension technician and various security roles including time at the Hondah Casino leading the security department.

Charles' father Jesse was a former Chairman of the SCAT and this drove him to enter tribal politics. Charles successfully served two consecutive terms as the Gilson Wash District (GWD) Councilman and was committed to serving the people of San Carlos.

He went above and beyond in providing for those most in need, including the children and the elderly. He gave coats and shoes to schoolchildren, took them swimming, delivered turkeys during the holidays and so much more. He was well respected and led by example, and would never have anyone do what he wouldn't do himself. He also expedited economic development opportunities for not only GWD but the tribe as a whole both locally and at the state and federal levels.

Charles lived life on his own terms and had many close friends. He had a great sense of humor and was always telling jokes and sharing stories. He had an exceptional amount of love for his family, his country and his tribe. He especially loved his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. He was a devout Catholic and committed to living an authentic life. He was very proud to be a part of the Stevens family and a San Carlos Apache. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

Visitation was held on Friday, June 23, 2023 at St. Charles Catholic Church in San Carlos, Arizona. Rosary was held on Friday, June 23, 2023 at St. Charles Catholic Church. Funeral Services were held on Saturday, June 24, 2023 at St. Charles Catholic Church. Interment followed at Mormon Hill Cemetery in San Carlos, Arizona. There was a meal after burial at the Gilson Wash Activity Center in San Carlos.

Assisting the family; Lamont Mortuary of Globe.

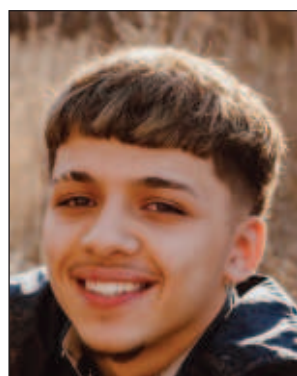

Charles Stevens, of Canyon Day, Arizona, formerly of San Carlos, Arizona, passed away peacefully on June 17, 2023, with his wife Berlinda by his side as family rushed to accompany her at Haven Health in Lakeside, Arizona.

Charlie was born May 5, 1943, in San Carlos to Jesse J. Stevens and Virginia Leah Sundust Stevens. He married Lea Marie LaRose and of this union had three children, Gina Theresa Stevens, Maria Elena Kitcheyan and Bart Stevens. They later divorced. Charlie then married Berlinda Bones Stevens.

Marcos brought an abundant amount of joy and happiness to everyone he came in contact with.

He always welcomed family and friends with a big hug and smile that would light up the whole room. On July 23, 2022 Marcos was blessed with a gorgeous baby girl, Brielle, whom he loved tremendously.

Marcos had just graduated from Rocky Ford High School in May. He was looking forward to attending Otero Junior College for welding. He had just started working at Lewis Bolt N Nut with one of his best friends, Tino Torres. In Marcos' short 19 years of life he lived it to the fullest. He was always the life of the party. He was well known for his boxing career. He loved fishing, being with family and friends, dancing with his sister Jammie on the weekends, going to the gym with his brother James and taking his dog "King" for a walk. He loved going to his sister Carol's house and spending time with her family, especially his niece Anjelica. The love and bond they had for each other was unbreakable. Marcos' love and care for his family and friends was genuine and never-ending.

Rabies, leukemia, microchipping? Mobile pet clinics July 9 and 23

Gila County Animal Care & Control reminds dog owners that an up-to-date rabies vaccine is required for your dog to be licensed - and that annual Gila County dog license is required by law. A license is also essential to prove ownership if your stray dog ends up at the shelter. Are your pets microchipped? If they aren't, consider this; only 22 percent of lost dogs without a microchip get reunited with the anxious owners who love them, and that number drops to just two percent for stray cats. Low-cost vaccines, preventative care, microchipping and even nail trimming are all available July 9 and again July 23 when PetVet mobile clinics visit Payson and set up outside the Tractor Supply store at 2260 W. Highway 60 in Miami on Sunday afternoons from 2:30 - 4 p.m. Mark your calendar for August 6, too.

Keep your dogs and cats protected and up to date on vaccines essential to guard against rabies, feline leukemia, bordatella and distemper. Did you know there's even a snakebite vaccine that can help dogs survive being bitten by a rattler? Pre-treatment with the snakebite vaccine also reduces your pet's pain and suffering - and dramatically reduces the overall cost of treatment if bitten, too. No appointments are needed, but call PetVet Mobile Clinic staff at 800-427-7973 or visit petvet.vippetcare.com/services-pricing if you have questions about specific services.

Restoring the land can feel a lot like fun

By RICK KNIGHT

Writers on the Range

Driving back to Colorado State University with a van full of students after a day of working to heal some beat-up land north of Fort Collins, I wondered: Could ecological restoration be a new form of outdoor recreation?

We'd spent the day building a sawbuck fence around a spring. From the spring, gravity would carry the water through a pipe to a stock tank in the middle of the pasture.

On this land protected by a conservation easement, cows would no longer drink, pee and poop while trampling the spring's vegetation. The spring could recover while the cattle drank clean water elsewhere.

My students had spent the day outdoors in the company of their classmates doing challenging physical work. At the moment, though, the young people were trying not to fall asleep as we neared town.

Yet all day I'd seen the light in their eyes, and I could tell they felt pride in learning and exercising skills they hadn't had before. They also clearly liked the idea of giving something back to land that would never be developed.

This kind of volunteer work — The Nature Conservancy got us involved — addresses many problems today that we've come to call crises: species extinction, climate change, soil loss, and the decline of both water quantity and quality. Fortunately, many nonprofit groups, along with some owners of private lands that are protected by conservation easements, offer people an opportunity to improve damaged lands.

In my home watershed of northern Colorado, we often work with the nonprofit Wildlands Restoration Volunteers, a state-wide grassroots group established in 1999. To date, it has completed over 1,000 projects on public lands assisted by more than 40,000 volunteers, who have contributed over $10 million in time and expertise.

Wildlands Restoration Volunteers includes people from both cities and rural areas who agree with what Wendell Berry wrote: "The care of the Earth is our most ancient and most worthy, and after all, our most pleasing responsibility. To cherish what remains of it and to foster its renewal is our only hope."

At the end of the 20th century, scientists from around the world got together to measure our planet's health. Shockingly, they reported that three out of every four acres of the Earth's surface were in a degraded state.

The urgent global need to restore our damaged lands and waters has also caused the United Nations to name this the Decade of Ecosystem Restoration (<https://www.decadeonrestoration.org/>). It's clear that we have yet to locate the sweet spot of a sustainable relationship with our world.

For humans to have a future on Earth, we need to reverse the erosion of soils, pollution of air and water, and weakening of the natural ecosystems that support us. Ecological restoration can attack those problems while also playing a critical role in the drawdown of atmospheric carbon dioxide, sending it back into the plants and soils where it belongs.

Although restoration and recreation have much in common, there is a major difference between the two. While outdoor recreation fulfills oneself, ecological restoration gives back to the land. Not that benefiting oneself is bad; one of the reasons we recreate is for the regenerative powers of spending time in nature.

But adding restoration into the domain of outdoor recreation could go a long way to enhance our time outdoors. I've found that when a group acts to restore the health of soil, land, plants and animals, the people involved always feel better about themselves.

As author Robin Wall Kimmerer put it in "Braiding Sweetgrass," "...as we care for the land, it can once again care for us." By restoring damaged lands and waters, we still find joy in the outdoors, but we also give back to the home planet that sustains us.

Let's seek out that work, turning it into something we do outdoors together, restoring lands and water while at the same re-creating ourselves.

Health and fitness activities at Globe Public Library

Globe Public Library wants to help keep you healthy. Here are the programs we have running during July.

Globe Public Library is collaborating with the AZ Health Zone through Gila County Health Department to have chair aerobics classes at Globe Public Library Tuesdays at noon.

Kids Yoga is at Globe Public Library Fridays at 10 a.m. We will be learning mindfulness and yoga. This is a program for children 3 and up; parents and caregivers are encouraged to come and participate.

Seed 2 Supper with AZ

Health Zone is Fridays at 11 a.m. This is a six-week, two-hour program for adults that takes food from the garden to the table. This program runs through July 21.

Globe Public Library Literary Journeys is the new name for the Walk/Run Club. We have a hybrid type of program. You can choose how you participate. We will meet in person on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays at 6 a.m. at the Globe Public Library, or you can participate independently and record online on the Globe Public Library Walk-Run Club

Facebook group. All participants must complete a waiver available from the circulation desk at the Globe Public Library or available for download on the Globe Public Library Walk-Run Club Facebook group. The club is for all ages and abilities; an adult must accompany minors. Dogs who are friendly and get along with others are invited to participate. This time we are starting a literary journey that will run through most if not all of this year. We are marching to Mordor. Who will join our fellowship as we take the one ring to the volcano in Mordor? Pick up your log and your ring from Globe Public Library. You can join us at any time. We welcome all at your current level of fitness. We have had one person finish the third leg of this journey.

The 50 Miles in 30 Days challenge is back. AZ Health Zone is joining with our Walk-Run club to meet in person Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays at 6 a.m. to walk, run or jog. Logs are available at the Gila County Health Department or Globe Public Library.

Spice of the Month is on Thursday, July 27, at 5 p.m. We will be featuring herbs de Provence. Each month we will be introducing a spice. Each spice will have basic information (description, origin, varieties, flavor profile and nutritional facts) and one or more recipes. We will have at least one dish to sample made using that spice. Everyone who comes will then be able to pick up two tablespoons of the spice to use at home in their cooking. We do not want you to bring back the spices; they are yours to keep. Two tablespoons will be given at circulation. There is a limit of one unit of spice per month. This will give you the ability to try a spice to see if you like it before you purchase it for yourself. Please share your experience with these spices with us. We would love to hear how it went.

All these programs are free and brought to you through partnerships with the Friends of the Globe Public Library, the United Fund of Globe-Miami and the AZ Health Zone through the Gila County Health Department.

At-home COVID test kits for people who have been exposed to or are experiencing symptoms of COVID are available at Globe Public Library. Call from the parking lot and we will bring them out to you.

We are also a distribution site for brown bag condoms and Naloxone through the Gila County Health Department.

Canyonlands holding July sports physical/well child clinic

On July 20, 2023, Canyonlands Healthcare will be doing a Sports Physical/Well Child Clinic from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. We will be taking appointments as well as walk-ins. We have three providers who will be performing the physicals. We will also be able to administer any immunizations that will bring your child up to date. These sports physicals/well child exams are 100% covered by insurance. You do not have to be a Canyonlands patient; this event is open to the public. Our address is 5860 S. If you grow your own cutting garden, you'll have beautiful flower bouquets all season long

By JESSICA DAMIANO

Associated Press

Every spring, I cut fragrant lilac stems from the two bushes flanking my front gate and set them in a vase indoors, where their fragrance perfumes the entire first floor better than any scented candle or diffuser could.

In summer, some of my hydrangeas and roses make it indoors too, their blossoms commanding attention in a vase on my dining room table.

Almost every flower can be cut and enjoyed indoors, but growing a proper cutting garden takes a bit of planning, and the first step is to consider your flowers as a crop to be harvested. Just as some tomato varieties are preferred for use in sauces, some flowers are better for cutting and arranging than others.

Those with short stems, for instance, don't lend themselves to a second act in a vase. Ditto those with fragile blossoms, which would wither indoors within a day.

Seed catalogs offer the greatest selections, and their descriptions often include whether flowers are appropriate for cutting and arranging.

Annuals and perennials both can be grown in the cutting garden. Annuals complete their entire life cycles in one year but typically produce a profusion of blooms throughout the season. To ensure a steady supply of flowers for cutting, employ "succession planting" by sowing or planting more seeds or seedlings every two weeks.

Perennial plants return year after year but often aren't as prolific as annuals. Some bloom for just two or three weeks; others rebloom repeatedly. Read plant descriptions carefully.

Keep in mind that although annuals will produce plenty of flowers in their one and only year, perennials grown from seed won't usually bloom until their second year, and sometimes not until their third.

Annuals well-suited for cutting include celosia, cosmos, globe amaranth, larkspur, sunflower varieties, Queen Anne's lace, annual salvia and zinnia.

Perennials to grow and cut include astilbe, bee balm, black-eyed Susan, chrysanthemum, coneflower, foxglove, garden phlox, gladiolus, lily, peony, ranunculus, rose, perennial salvia, Shasta daisy and yarrow.

Another category of plants, called tender perennials, are technically perennials because their life cycle does not complete in one year but they are usually grown as annuals because some don't return reliably and others can't survive winters outside their hardiness zones.

Tender perennials that are great for cutting include calendula (perennial in zones 9-11), California poppy (perennial in zones 8-10), snapdragon (perennial in zones 7-11), statice (perennial in zones 9-11) and strawflower (perennial in zones 9-11).

Bulb, tuber and corm plants like allium, daffodil, tulip and dahlias should be considered, too.

And don't forget fillers: fern, baby's breath, bells of Ireland, dusty Miller, flowering tobacco, oregano, pussy willow, silver dollar plant, and interesting twigs and branches will elevate your hand-picked bouquets to professional levels.

Both annuals and perennials can be grown in the ground, in raised beds or even in containers. If you have enough room, growing them in separate beds will simplify annual planting, but it's not necessary; if you're short on space, plant where you can, even if it means tucking flowers between vegetables or other garden plants.

Most flowers require fertile, well-draining soil, regular watering and at least six to eight hours of direct sunlight daily. You can use plants purchased from a nursery, start your own from seed indoors or sow seeds directly into the garden.

Add a generous helping of compost into planting holes to nourish plants. Or, if you're planning ahead, top the soil with 2-3 inches of compost in the fall, and the bed will be highly fertile by spring.

Beds should be no wider than 3 or 4 feet, which will keep your harvests within easy reach from all sides. When planting, place the tallest flowers at the rear of the bed, mid-size plants in the center and shorter varieties in front so that all are easily accessible.

Be sure to space plants according to the recommendations on their seed packet or plant tag to account for their mature sizes. Crowded plants often become diseased plants.

After planting, apply a balanced, slow-release fertilizer and 2-3 inches of mulch, then water well. If sowing seeds directly into the garden, fertilize and mulch when seedlings are 4 inches tall.

Beginning three weeks after planting, apply a liquid flower fertilizer low in nitrogen and high in phosphorus, such as one labeled 1-34-32, and repeat every two weeks.

Italian researchers reach the edge of space flying aboard Virgin Galactic's rocket-powered plane

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A team of Italian researchers reached the edge of space Thursday morning, flying aboard a rocket-powered plane piloted by Virgin Galactic as the space tourism company prepares for monthly commercial flights.

The flight launched from Spaceport America in the New Mexico desert, with two Italian Air Force officers and an engineer with the National Research Council of Italy focusing on a series of microgravity experiments during their few minutes of weightlessness.

One wore a special suit that measured biometric data and physiological responses while another conducted tests using sensors to track heart rate, brain function and other metrics while in microgravity. The third studied how certain liquids and solids mix in that very weak gravity.

Virgin Galactic livestreamed the flight on its website, showing the moment when the ship released from its carrier plane and the rocket was ignited. The entire trip — from lifting off at Spaceport America to gliding back down to the runway — took about 90 minutes. The space plane reached a peak altitude of more than 52 miles (85 kilometers).

In all, there were six aboard — two Virgin Galactic pilots, the three Italians and another Virgin Galactic employee who oversees training for passengers.

With the ship's pilot, it marked the most Italians in space at the same time. Col. Walter Villadei, a space engineer with the Italian Air Force, celebrated by unfolding an Italian flag while weightless.

For Villadei, it was even more historic as the Italian Air Force is marking its 100th year. He said he sees commercial flight as an opportunity for more researchers to access space and to foster the development of new technologies.

"It's a kind of changing of the mindset," he told The Associated Press in an interview. "We are sharing the risk, we are growing up together, we are learning (from) each other — the private (sector) from the institutions and the institutions from the private (sector). This is amazing to me."

Next up for Virgin Galactic will be the first of hundreds of ticket holders. Many have been waiting years for their chance at weightlessness and to see the curvature of the Earth. Those commercial flights are expected to begin in August and will be scheduled monthly, the company said.

Virgin Galactic has been working for years to send paying passengers on short space trips and in 2021 finally won the federal government's approval. The company completed its final test flight in May.

The Italian research flight was initially scheduled for the fall of 2021 but Virgin Galactic at the time said it was forced to push back its timeline due to a potential defect in a component used in its flight control system. Then the company spent months upgrading its rocket ship before resuming testing in early 2023.

After reaching a specific altitude, Virgin Galactic's space plane is released from a carrier aircraft and drops for a moment before igniting its rocket motor. The rocket shuts off once it reaches space, leaving passengers weightless before the ship then glides back to the runway at Spaceport America.

Virgin Galactic has sold about 800 tickets over the past decade, with the initial batch going for $200,000 each. Tickets now cost $450,000 per person.

The company said early fliers have already received their seat assignments.

Villadei said it was an honor to be among the first of Virgin Galactic's passengers, and while his focus was on running experiments, he did not miss the opportunity to look outside.

"The boundaries between the black of the sky and the colors of the Earth beneath us was amazing," he said, noting that his expectations were surpassed even though he has years of training under his belt.

Villadei and his colleagues collected blood and urine samples before and after the flight as part of their numerous experiments. He said it will take months to analyze the data and the results will help to formulate new experiments aimed at better understanding microgravity.

"The future is definitely something that is going to deal with space. Space is the new frontier," he said. "We are going to expand our knowledge and our capability to live and work and spend time in space."

Every day, prepared.

Wildfire preparation protects you, the community and first responders.

Providing you safe, reliable energy is our top priority. That's why we work year-round to prepare for wildfires. During elevated fire conditions, power outages may be extended until crews can perform visual inspections of lines and remove any potential hazards that could pose a fire risk. In the event of a wildfire, power lines may be temporarily taken out of service to protect your community and firefighters. Working together, we can be prepared. Here are some things you can do to be ready for wildfire season.

- Keep grass, weeds, trees and shrubs trimmed. Dispose of trimmings and trash properly.
- Get emergency alerts through local resources and visit ein.az.gov to create an emergency preparedness plan.
- We care about your safety and want to keep you informed with alerts if there's an outage in your area. You can help us by making sure your contact information is up to date. Learn more about managing your alert preferences at aps.com/alerts.

Jesus went to the cross and died in our place so that we could become children of God.

Our heavenly Father wants us to know how much He loves and cares for us. In fact, Romans 8:38-39 says that nothing can separate us from His love. He has made this clear through:

- Revelation of Himself. In Scripture, we learn that God made us in His image and has a purpose for us. Sin separated us from Him, but He has a solution to our problem.

- Provision of a Savior. We were trapped by our sinful nature and under a sentence of eternal death—separation from God forever. But because of our Father's great love for us, He sent His only Son to bear the penalty we deserved (Romans 6:23). Jesus rescued us from sin and reconciled us to the Father. What we could never do for ourselves, He did for us.

- Adoption of Believers. When we place trust in Jesus Christ as our Savior, we become children of God. The separation between us and Him is gone; instead of being enemies, we are family. The indwelling Holy Spirit serves as both evidence that we belong to God and assurance of His unending love.

The Father's care for us shines brightly through the cross—it was because of love that He sent Jesus to earth to die in our place (1 John 4:9-10). Once we accept the gift of salvation through Christ, nothing can separate us from God's love. What a comfort that is in times of need.

We can't even begin to comprehend the awesome majesty and power of our Lord.

When you think of God, what comes to mind? Often, we tend to view Him in the way that best fits our particular need or situation. For example, if we struggle with guilt we might focus on His forgiveness. The truth is, His character encompasses far more than we could ever comprehend or try to explain. Even if we had all the time in the world, we wouldn't be able to do more than scratch the surface of how awesome He is. But today, let's look at one attribute: His greatness.

Isaiah 40:12-26 tells us God is greater than creation (v. 12), for it was by His hands that everything we see came into being. He is higher than the nations or any idol fashioned by the finest craftsman (vv. 17-20). In fact, God is above the world and all mankind (vv. 22-23), surpassing even the heavens and galaxies.

Our Father's thoughts and ways are far grander than our own (Isaiah 55:9)—and lofty, compared with what we can understand. Psalm 93:1 says, "The Lord reigns, He is clothed with majesty; the Lord has clothed and encircled Himself with strength."

Consider the awesome God we serve. He truly is worthy of our praise. As we grasp even a fraction of His greatness, our response should be one of humble worship. After all, who are we that a God like this would desire our friendship—so much so that He sent His Son to die for our sins?

Today's Daily Prayer

Lord our God, we thank you for your Word, which is light and strength to us. We thank you for all you give us. We thank you that we may be counted among the simple-hearted, among the children. We do not want to be anything great in the world.
