Arizona minimum wage rises to $13.85

Starting Jan. 1, 2023, the minimum wage in Arizona has been increased from $12.80 to $13.85 an hour. According to the Industrial Commission of Arizona, the $1.05 wage hike was based on increased inflation between August 2021 and August 2022. Posters on the minimum wage increase are to be displayed in places accessible to employees; these posters include information on exemptions, tips and gratuities, retaliation and more. For more information, please contact the ICA's Labor Division at (602) 542-4461 or visit the ICA Minimum Wage FAQs page.

PHOENIX – As the holiday travel season continues, drivers should be prepared for slick conditions on the state's highways, as winter storms bring rain and snow to Arizona.

The Arizona Department of Transportation advises drivers to avoid traveling during any severe winter storm conditions. Motorists should stay up to date on forecasts from the National Weather Service and plan their travel accordingly. Drivers in lower elevations should plan for possible rain and wet roadways at times.

Safer conditions will exist in the state's high country once ADOT snowplow crews have a chance to clear snow and ice from highways impacted by any winter storms. Here are some winter and wet weather safety recommendations:

Slow down and leave extra room: Adjust your speed to conditions. Slowing down and leaving space between your vehicle and vehicles ahead of you on icy or wet roads can prevent crashes or keep your vehicle from skidding when conditions are slippery.

Leave prepared: Dress for cold weather if traveling into the high country. Bring extra clothes and gloves as part of an emergency prep kit in case you need to stop along a highway. Be sure your cellphone is charged and pack extra drinking water, food and prescription medications (in case you encounter delays).

Other items for an emergency kit: Blankets, flashlight, ice scraper, small shovel, container with sand or kitty litter for tire traction if your vehicle is stuck in icy conditions. ADOT has a complete list of items at azdot.gov/KnowSnow (look for "Must haves for every vehicle").

Stay up to date: In addition to following National Weather Service forecasts, drivers can visit ADOT's Traveler Information site at az511.gov or call 511 for highway conditions. Pay attention to messages on ADOT's network of electronic signs. ADOT's Twitter feed (@ArizonaDOT) and Facebook page (facebook.com/AZDOT) also provide information and answers about highway conditions.

To assist travelers this winter, ADOT has partnered with the National Weather Service to create color-coded graphics of forecast storm severity. ADOT uses these graphics on its social media accounts to help drivers know the anticipated intensity of a snowstorm and make informed decisions about traveling.

New donation site for HDHS

Thanks to the generous support of our community, the High Desert Humane Society has outgrown our current donation center located inside the furniture store at 393 N. Broad St. We will be starting to take donations from behind the thrift store at 150 W. Mesquite St. in the first week of January. We are working towards a more permanent solution, but we are hopeful this will make both dropping off and receiving donations easier for everyone. Watch for new signs in the coming weeks.

Mary Bryant

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of our beloved Mary Alice Bryant. Mary was 86 years old at the time of her peaceful passing at her home in Globe, Arizona on the morning of Dec. 12, 2022.

Mary was born in Shady Point, Oklahoma on Jan. 12, 1936 to James Hollis Muncy (JH, Pa) and Dolly Bretta Green (Ma). At a young age, she and her large family traveled to California where her Pa worked in the shipyards during WW2. Mary also spoke of memories of picking fruit with her siblings and parents in California.

Mary and her family eventually made their way to Utah, where most of her family settled. Mary later made her way to San Manuel, Arizona as an adult, where she met and married the love of her life William Lee (Bill) Bryant. They settled for good in Globe after many years between Oracle and San Manuel.

She had a passion for buying and flipping houses.

She also had a blast going to casinos, where she had a lucky hand at the slot machines. She loved to work outside with her plants and landscaping. She had a love for quilting and the beauty behind the work that goes into quilting.

Most of Mary's fondest memories were of her siblings playing music at home and in their bands, with their banjos and fiddles. Her family's musical talents led to a complete passion for music and dancing.

One of her most absolute favorite things she looked forward to was her weekly drive with Bill to get a sandwich and a Coca-Cola. The most important thing to Mary was her family, and the love she had for her family is unmeasurable. Mary was known for her gentle heart and her generous spirit.

Mary is survived by her five children, Laura, Kelley, Eric, Allison and Marissa; daughter-in-law, Robin; nine grandchildren, Michael, Jennifer, Kyle, Sarah, Marissa, Krystle, David, Erica and Samantha; 16 great-grandchildren; one great-great-grandchild; and a host of nieces, nephews and cousins.

Mary is preceded in death by her husband, William Lee Bryant; parents, James Hollis Muncy and Dolly Bretta Green; and 10 siblings, Ernest, Louis (Shorty), Macy, Hollis Jr.,

Thomas, Flora, Louise, Ruby and the twins.

She would love to be remembered with funny, loving, silly stories that celebrate what was good and blessed in her life.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Dec. 27, 2022 at 11 a.m., at Mitchell Funeral Home, 233 E. Main St., Price, Utah. Interment was at Price City Cemetery. Arrangements were entrusted to Mitchell Funeral Home of Price and Huntington, where friends are always welcome daily and may share memories of Mary online at www.mitchellfuneralhome.net.

Assisting in Arizona; Bulman Miles Funeral Services, Globe.

We encourage people from all cultures and professions as well as all ethnic and educational backgrounds. Once accepted into the program, you will receive all necessary training in courtroom procedures, social services, the juvenile justice system and the special needs of abused and neglected children. Requirements include:

When we discover our God-given purpose, life becomes a fulfilling and joy-filled adventure.

When we place trust in Jesus, God doesn't take us straight to heaven. Instead, He leaves us here on earth and gives each of us a ministry to carry out with Christ's all-sufficient power.

God has specifically designed a place of service to fit our personality, gifts and abilities. He also equips and strengthens us to be able to meet the challenges of that calling. The believer's responsibility is to obey with joy.

Too many Christians approach ministry with stingy hearts, investing as few hours as possible so that they can return to work or personal pursuits. But our jobs don't own us; neither do we belong to ourselves. We are adopted sons and daughters of the Father God, and as such we honor Him first.

If people were here only to work a job, pay bills and have a few laughs, no one would ever enjoy long-term fulfillment. But believers find peace and joy in serving God every day according to His call. As today's passage says, "We are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works" (Ephesians 2:10). That is the only way to end well.

White Sale

BY DR. DAN MORTON

Contributor

Traditionally January has produced "White Sales" and my mother would take the advantage to buy new bed linens – sheets, pillowcases, etc. Then, with her skillful fingers, she would embroider at the bottom of each piece the date they were acquired. Usually, she would add a flower or perhaps an outline of Laramie Peak, one of my favorite central Wyoming landmarks.

White has always been associated with cleanliness and cleanliness with Godliness. Isaiah 1:18: "Though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be as white as snow." There is no challenge that God cannot meet and over which he will not be victorious.

I Corinthians 15:57: "But thanks be to God! He gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." It is a process through which all our past mistakes are forgiven, the slate is erased and we become a new person. I John 1:7: "But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus, his Son, purifies us from all sin." January can be more than the beginning of a new year; it can be the beginning of a new you.

Helen H. Lemmel wrote a very simple but powerful hymn: "Turn your eyes upon Jesus, look full in His wonderful face; and the things of earth will grow strangely dim in the light of His glory and grace."

Happy New Year!

WORSHIP

Out of the ashes, a welcome revelation

By CRYSTAL CORRAL
Contributor

Life sometimes brings us situations that are bigger than we are, for a purpose that is greater than we can imagine and in ways that confound the mind. I have been writing for as long as I can remember. In my younger years, it was an outlet for all that I felt, but I did not keep my writing contained and ended up with pieces and parts of my heart scored on and then scattered amongst years of old notepads, bills, sermon notes and tithing envelopes all collected in a 60-quart bin. It had gone through multiple moves of good intent into and out of the spare room before returning, untouched, to the garage. After eight years, it had finally settled into a corner that was perfectly sized to keep it hidden from sight. There it remained, out of mind until a fire turned its corner home, and mine, into a disaster zone. In the days following, as the rubble and debris was cleared, potentially salvageable items were set aside for my review. Traumatic experiences are unique in their effects. I do not remember who was there, what I was thinking or what happened afterwards, but when I stumbled over and looked at the heap to reach in, my old black and green notebook was all that I could see, and it called to me. I picked up the wet, smoke-damaged book and opened it to see the word 'Neighbor' written along the top of the page. I was immediately catapulted to the past.

One night in 2006, I was fighting to fall asleep. I had one line running through my head that would not stop. 'Day by day, one step at a time.' It would not quit.

Exasperated, I internally chided myself, 'Go to sleep, Crystal!' A moment of silence passed before it echoed again.

'Seriously? I cannot with you!', I silently scolded. 'I need sleep, the 4 a.m. alarm comes too quick and'- I was cut off by the still small voice within. 'Day by day, one step at a time, together we'll get through it, your hand in mine.' I knew I had lost the battle.

I had to get up and write - before I forgot the line I was just given. 'Day, by day, one step at a time, together we'll get through it, your hand in mine.' I kept it on repeat under my breath, frantically searching for a pen in the dim light of the hallway and trying not to wake the baby as I made my way to the kitchen table to write.

I spent about 15 minutes jotting down the verses as they came and was pleased with the final. Returning to my bed, I immediately fell asleep.

I had not looked at or thought about that poem since writing it. I could not stop the tears flowing down my cheeks as I read the message that demanded expression all those years ago.

Neighbor

Day by day, one step at a time; together we'll get through it, your hand in mine.

God is watching over us, He sees everything we do. Even the smallest actions show Him we are true.

The rough spots and the hard times are to teach us in the end. In order to keep from breaking, our spirit must learn to bend.

It's much easier said than done, as the hardship piles high, so please just hold me close, when all I can do is cry.

Remind me of God's greatness, so all glory will be to Him, be my strength when I am down, help me to stand again.

Hold me accountable for all I am, each thing I say and do. Be my spiritual warrior, so I can be the same for you.

God crossed our paths for a reason, in His plan divine; so good or bad, we'll get through it, with your hand in mine.

All at once, I was overwhelmed with emotion as the reality of the current experience, the memory of the internal struggle and the comfort of my Savior converged to envelop me in His healing love. I was not alone in all that I still had to face. He was with me then, helping me to write for the time that I would need it more than 10 years later.

It is possible to be surrounded by others and still be alone; alone in your insights, your view and understanding of all that is endured. God showed me that He was with me, He has me and that He would be the one I could lean on through all the trials of life.

I wish I could say that everything was fixed and turned out as right as I could have hoped, but that would be grossly inaccurate. The time since then has been tumultuously difficult, changing me in ways that only the circumcision of the heart can, and I know that He used the whole of that experience to expand Himself in my heart and mind. He enlarged Himself to the scope of my view, which kept my focus on how to be pleasing to Him through the worst of it.

In turning toward Jesus, I was never promised that my lifetime would be free of the trials of life, only that He would carry me through when the problems flood in. He has been true to that promise in every way, even when He has had to use me to get to me. I know I am never alone and Jesus is with me always. He is my comforter, my provider, my redeemer, the keeper of my soul and the greatest friend that I have ever known. Because of His grace, I can smile through trial, find the good in all things and love when it is easier not to.

I still struggle with letting go of the hurts at times, but I am eternally grateful for His goodness and will spend my lifetime dedicated to being as true to others as He has been to me. In all that you face, turn to Jesus knowing that a broken and contrite heart will never be despised by Him.
