US lawmakers skeptical grocery merger will mean lower prices

By DEE-ANN DURBIN
AP Business Writer

U.S. senators from both parties expressed skepticism Tuesday that a proposed merger between grocery giants Kroger and Albertsons would result in lower prices for consumers.

"Fewer local options mean less competition to keep prices low," said Sen. Alex Padilla, a California Democrat, in a hearing before the antitrust subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Padilla said Kroger and Albertsons compete in many California cities.

But the CEOs of Kroger and Albertsons insisted there will still be competition, and said a merger will help them counter growing rivals like Walmart, Costco and Amazon.

Kroger CEO Rodney McMullen said the days of shoppers buying all their groceries at one store once a week are gone. Shoppers often get their groceries at five or six different locations, he said. "I just don't see less competition going forward," McMullen said. "It's easy for customers to take a left turn or a right turn."

Kroger announced its plan to acquire Albertsons for $20 billion in mid-October. Together, the companies would control about 13% of the U.S. grocery market. If it's approved by U.S. antitrust regulators, the deal is expected to close in early 2024.

Sen. Mike Lee, a Utah Republican, noted the subcommittee would have little say in whether the merger will go through. That will be a decision for the Federal Trade Commission and the Justice Department. But he said the hearing was an important opportunity for the public to understand a merger that could impact their lives.

Lee needed Kroger for approving a $1 billion stock buyback last year even as food prices were jumping and technology, providing students with up-to-date skills that lead to local employment in high-wage, high-demand fields.

for consumers. Lee said U.S. households paid an average of $110 more for food in October than they did a year ago.

“If Kroger wasn’t passing on savings to consumers when it was competing with Albertsons, then why would we think it would pass on savings after it eliminates competition?” he said.

But McMullen said Kroger has lowered prices after other mergers, like its 2013 acquisition of Harris Teeter.

“From a business standpoint, that is our commitment,” he said.

McMullen reiterated Kroger’s plan to spend $500 million reducing prices, $1.3 billion updating Albertsons stores and $1 billion on higher employee wages and improved benefits if the merger goes through.

Sen. Amy Klobuchar, a Minnesota Democrat, asked about the timeframe for that spending and wondered who would make sure the company met its commitments. McMullen said those investments would be spread over four years.

Others peppered the companies with questions about potential store closures or employee layoffs. Kroger and Albertsons have said they will sell or spin off up to 375 Albertsons stores in markets where they currently compete.

“The intent is not to close stores. The intent is to divest stores,” Albertsons President and CEO Vivek Sankaran said.

But that didn’t ease lawmakers’ concerns. Several noted that when Albertsons acquired Safeway in 2015 for $9.2 billion, the FTC required it to divest 168 stores. The largest buyer of those stores filed for bankruptcy protection nine months later and Albertsons wound up buying back some of the locations.

“When divested assets head into bankruptcy in less than a year, that remedy is an embarrassing failure,” Lee said.

Sankaran said the FTC approved the buyer in that merger. This time, he said, Albertsons - pending the FTC’s approval - may spin off stores into a separate company that would be led by experienced leaders.

Kroger, based in Cincinnati, Ohio, operates 2,800 stores in 35 states, including brands like Ralphs, Smith’s and Harris Teeter. Albertsons, based in Boise, Idaho, operates 2,273 stores in 34 states, including brands like Safeway, Jewel Osco and Shaw’s. Together the companies employ around 710,000 people.

Federal lawmakers aren’t the only ones scrutinizing the merger plan. Earlier this month, a bipartisan group of state attorneys general sued to block Albertsons from paying a $4 billion dividend to its shareholders until they have reviewed the merger.

That payout is temporarily on hold after a state judge in Washington said he needed more time to consider the matter.

COMMUNITY

Annual Read-On Express coming Dec. 10

The Copper Basin Coalition and its partner agencies will be hosting the Annual Read-On Express on Saturday, Dec. 10, 2022 from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the old train depot in downtown Globe. The goal of this event is to promote the importance of early literacy in our community. These skills include vocabulary, phonics, language and numeracy, to name a few. Early literacy gives students the foundation they need to learn and grow.

Free books and crafts will be provided at the event along with information from many resources in the community, an opportunity to have a story read to them, visit with Santa, ride a train around the property, receive milk and a cookie and many more fun things.

The Copper Basin Coalition is excited to host this event and is looking for community organizations, businesses, agencies and groups to participate. If you are interested in hosting a booth or participating, or if you have questions, please contact Julie Craig at Arizona Youth Partnership, JulieC@azyp.org or (928) 961-0426.

It is with great sadness that the family of Allen Mayo announces his passing on Tuesday, Nov. 22, 2022, at the age of 66. Allen was born in Dragerton, Utah to Wallace and Betty Mayo. They moved to Arizona when Allen was just 2 years old. Allen graduated Miami High School in 1974. As a young man he started working in the copper mines of the Globe-Miami area, which he did for 24 years. After some time, he realized his passion was helping others. That passion prompted him to become a volunteer firefighter with Central Heights Fire Department and Canyon Fire Department. He then decided to pursue becoming a paramedic.

Allen worked at Globe Fire Department as a firefighter-paramedic, a flight paramedic with Native Air and a paramedic at the Globe Community Hospital Emergency Room. Allen also served on the Rescue Diving Team. He was a hard, dedicated worker and was devoted to his profession. He has served his beloved community of Globe-Miami for many, many years. During his time off he enjoyed hunting, fishing, playing washers and poker, camping in the White Mountains and scuba diving in Jamaica. Allen also enjoyed playing fast-pitch softball and loved all sports, whether it was football, basketball, baseball or golf, but was devoted to his Arizona teams. Allen always came up with a nickname for everyone and thoroughly enjoyed teasing and giving everyone and anyone a hard time. Allen was a loving husband, father, son, brother, grandfather, uncle and friend.

Allen is survived by his loving wife of 29 years, Debbie; daughters Bernice Smith (James), Nicole Basford (Mike) and Brianna Ramirez; his mother, Betty Mayo, and siblings Leila Mott (Don), Annetta Thompson (Steve), Dennis Mayo and Ruth Lundquist (John); father- and mother-in-law, Richard and Lucy Casillas; sisters-in-law Lucy Gomez, Karen Gaona and Liz Mabbitt (Mike); and brother-in-law Richard Casillas. his father, Wallace Alton Mayo, and sisters-in-law Rose Casillas and Cathy Mayo.

Allen will be greatly missed and loved forever.

The stories and memories he leaves behind will live on in his remembrance.

The Dash, Poem by Linda Ellis

I read of a man who stood to speak

At the funeral of a friend
He referred to the dates on the tombstone

From the beginning...to the end

He noted that first came the date of birth

And spoke the following date with tears,

But he said what mattered most of all

Was the dash between those years

For that dash represents all the time

That they spent alive on earth.

And now only those who loved them

Know what that little line is worth

For it matters not, how much we own,

The cars...the house...the cash.

What matters is how we live and love

And how we spend our dash.

So, think about this long and hard.

Are there things you'd like to change?

For you never know how much time is left

That can still be rearranged.

If we could just slow down enough

To consider what's true and real

And always try to understand

The way other people feel.

And be less quick to anger

And show appreciation more

And love the people in our lives

Like we've never loved before.

If we treat each other with respect

And more often wear a smile,

Remembering this special dash

Might only last a little while

So, when your eulogy is being read

With your life's actions to rehash...

Would you be proud of the things they say

About how you spent YOUR dash?

The mind behind the Rubik's Cube celebrates a lasting puzzle

By MARK KENNEDY
AP Entertainment Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you've ever had trouble solving a Rubik's Cube, a good piece of advice is to break it down into steps. It's worth a shot: That advice is from the man who invented it.

"Problem solving is a very basic activity of the human mind and if a problem is complex you need to divide the problem into smaller elements," said Ernő Rubik, who invented the cube in 1974.

Rubik has seen his color-matching puzzle go from a classroom teaching tool in Cold War-era Hungary to a worldwide phenomenon with over 450 million cubes sold and a mini-empire of related toys.

"For me, the cube represents what freedom means. Freedom is never endless," he said during a recent visit to New York. "It lets you do what is necessary to achieve your goal."

The original 3x3 Rubik's has more than 43 quintillion — that's more than 43,000,000,000,000,000,000 — possible configurations, but the principles behind the cube have been refashioned for 2x2, 4x4 and 5x5 cubes, a board game called Rubik's Race, a pyramid, a tower and a Christmas tree, among others.

It even made the transition to electronic media with Rubik's Revolution and Rubik's Touch. Spin Master acquired the brand in 2021. Their latest brainteaser is called the Phantom, which takes the 3x3 original cube and adds a memory test: Using thermochromic technology, the multi-color tiles revert to black unless the heat of the user's hand keeps them visible.

"The principle of the cube is not limited," says Rubik. "The complexity of the task is to stimulate our mind and it makes it a much more enjoyable activity."

The goal of all Rubik puzzles is to start with some randomized and shuffled messy configuration and, by rotating faces or parts, transform each side into a single color or a pattern of colors.

Practiced cube-solvers can complete the Rubik's Cube in a matter of seconds, with the current world-record holder solving a cube in 3.47 seconds. There are also records at the World Cube Association for fastest solving while wearing a blindfold or using one hand.

It took 36 years after the invention of the toy for anyone to come up with an answer for the minimum number of moves to solve it. In 2010, a group of mathematicians and computer programmers proved that any Rubik's Cube can be solved in 20 moves.

Rubik was a budding artist who hoped to become a sculptor or a painter before he studied architecture, which he argues is art with a function: "Architecture is changing the environment according to our needs."

He got a degree in architecture at Budapest University of Technology and became a teacher in the interior design department at the Academy of Applied Arts and Crafts in Budapest.

Rubik regularly used physical models and materials to teach concepts in construction and design.

"As our body needs some kind of exercises, the brain needs that kind of exercise as well," he says. Thus was born an elegant teaching tool he named "The Magic Cube."

"I tried to make it as simple as possible because I thought the task itself is complicated enough," he says. "You don't need to complicate anymore."

The puzzle — which uses rounded elements for the center core — is easy to use, but also hard enough to solve that more than one cuber has thrown it across a room in frustration.

"One of the main keys of the cube is the contradiction between complexity and simplicity," Rubik says. "On one hand, the cube is a very simple form. And on the other hand, the potential of the variation of movement is so complicated."

The brain-bending elegance of the Rubik's Cube is part of the reason it has endured, while other faddish toys and games — Tamagotchi or Shopkins, anyone? — have not.

"Usually these kinds of crazes are ending very soon," Rubik says. "But the cube didn't die."

In 2014, it landed in the National Toy Hall of Fame, joining such childhood classics as Barbie, Hit Wheels, G.I. Joe and the hula hoop. The hall noted that the cube has caused its own medical condition, known as "cubex thumb" or "Rubik's wrist." The cube has also show up in TV shows and movies from "The Simpsons" to "The Pursuit of Happyness."

Rubik recalls the early days when some people were convinced the cube was impossible to solve. He knew it could be done and was asked to prove it.

"I tried to explain and show people it is possible and if something is possible for me, you can do it yourself," he says. "It's a very nice proof of the power of science."

OBITUARIES/COMMUNITY

Kurleen “Kay” Murray

Kurleen “Kay” Murray, age 75, of Globe, Arizona passed away on Friday, Nov. 18, 2022 at Heritage Healthcare Center in Globe.

Kay was born in Ainsworth, Nebraska on Sept. 9, 1947 to Dewey Schmicahel and Zetta (Halstead) Schmicahel.

When her high school sweetheart Michael got out of the Navy in 1966, they soon eloped and started a family together.

Kay did volunteer work with the Miami Unified School District, working with children and teaching them to read. Besides her volunteer work she was a stay-at-home mom to three children.

Kay had many hobbies and activities that she enjoyed. She and Mike always had a book in hand, and they watched old Westerns together. Kay was always crocheting and made many items for her children and grandchildren. They always had a lot of dogs which she complained about, but deep down I know she loved each one so much; she always had cute silly names for them. She was always writing letters to many family members out of state. Kay also loved to splurge on makeup and jewelry from Avon! If you knew Kay, you knew she was a huge fan of her sports! Her baseball team was the Arizona Diamondbacks of course, but she also liked the Cubs, Dodgers, and Boston Red Sox.

Words seem too small to express the sadness we feel about Kay's death.

How do we say goodbye to someone so very dear?

We remember all the precious moments shared and hold them close to our hearts. We thank our God for allowing their presence in our lives. We will miss them dearly but will cherish our memories forever. God be with you, Kay and Michael Murray; may you rest in peace together forever.

Kay is preceded in death by her husband Michael Roy Murray and her parents Dewey and Zetta Schmicahel.

She is survived by her children Larry Murray, Patrick “Pat” Murray and Shannon Murray of Globe, Arizona; her grandchildren Joshua, Jake and Shelby Wampole, and Kayla Williams (Chris); and three great-grandchildren.

She was a witty, strong-willed woman who will be dearly missed.

Memorial Services will be held at a later date.

Assisting the family; Lamont Mortuary of Globe.

Sparklight recommends consumers increase vigilance during online holiday shopping season

With online sales expected to reach $236 billion this holiday season, an increase of more than 15.5 % over the same period last year, there is good news for retailers; but this increase may also present more opportunities for cybercriminals. Sparklight encourages all consumers to be vigilant about their online safety when cybershopping this year.

“Given the pervasiveness of cybercrime, it’s always very important to be cautious when sharing any personal data online,” said Senior Vice President of Technology Services Ken Johnson. “However, with the expected significant increase in holiday purchases made via websites, apps and social media platforms this year, it’s more important than ever that shoppers use caution online during this holiday season.”

Think before you click

Scammers and hackers have multiple methods for obtaining shoppers’ financial and confidential information. Three of the most common methods used by cybercriminals to target online holiday shoppers include “phishing” emails, “smishing” text messages or “vishing” voice calls, all designed to appear to be from a trusted source and to collect confidential account information. Online shoppers should always look out for one—or more—of the most common warning signs of phishing or smishing attempts. Indicators of attempted criminal activity often include a suspicious address from the sender, or misspellings and grammatical errors in the email or text message. Requests for personal information, or to click on a link, are also signs that the message may not be legitimate.

Book Club at Globe Public Library

es of Moonshyne Manor” by Bianca Marais. Everyone should be able to pick up a book. If there are leftover books, they will be made available to those who did not make it to the Book Club.

Globe Public Library Karaoke Club

If you love karaoke but want to be able to do it somewhere without alcohol, here is your chance. Globe Public Library will be hosting a karaoke club for people 16 and up. This club will meet weekly on Thursday at 7 p.m. Come sing with us Thursday night.

Our Father loves us and has provided everything we need to live righteously.

When we trust in Christ, we become children of God. By using this language, Scripture indicates the nature of our relationship with Him: He is our Father, and we should respond as His children. This means we must learn to listen, obey, and love Him more and more.

The Father speaks clearly to us through Scripture. Many people claim they're interested in hearing from God yet struggle to find time to read His Word. Then there are those who say, "I don't understand it" and give up. But living within every child of God is the Holy Spirit, who helps to overcome any hindrances and brings correct interpretation of the Word. If you keep reading the Scriptures faithfully, He'll give you understanding.

Once a person is born into God's family, nothing can ever destroy that relationship—not even sin. However, disobedience grieves the Father and hinders fellowship and communication with Him. Restoration, which is essential for spiritual growth, comes through confession and repentance (1 John 1:9).

Today's Scripture passage gives characteristics of the children of God. Are you a member of His family? If so, your life should be characterized by obedience and righteousness.

Beacon

By DR. DAN MORTON

Contributor

When I was eight years old, we lived in Casper, Wyoming. Across a small valley was a hill that blocked our view except in the wintertime. I say that because about thirty miles beyond the hill was a beacon that served as a guide to aircraft, flashing a beam for miles, keeping airplanes in the air and on course. The reason we could see the light in the wintertime was that snowflakes in the atmosphere reflected the beam just as we do with a mirror and sunlight.

Years later my wife and I co-pastored the First Christian Church in Globe, Arizona. At the front of the building is a tower about thirty feet tall. On that tower is a powerful light and a cross. Together they provide light and safety for those passing by. To myself, I would think of this as the "Beacon on Broad Street."

The apostle Paul wrote of such guidance in his message to the Romans (15:4): "For everything that was written in the past was written to teach us, so that through endurance and the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope."

A beacon, whether by words or by light, can provide safety for each of us, but it requires action on our part. We must receive the signal, accept the message and respond appropriately. Our hope for safe travel, for right decisions, can be assured through the love of God and the ministry of his Son Jesus Christ.

Simple things to pray for during Advent

Pray for attentiveness to what truly matters, without being distracted by trivial things.

Pray for opportunities to learn something new regularly.

Pray for discernment of how God would like you to set your priorities and the ability to focus on them consistently to fulfill His purposes in your life.

Pray for the grace to be able to rest, become aware of God's presence, and enjoy it.

Pray for strong relationships with other people in the bond of a loving community.

Pray for peace in all situations, no matter what the circumstances.

Pray for an enlivened imagination that helps you contribute to the world in creative ways.

Pray for freedom from all that burdens you - past mistakes, fears, destructive habits, hurts other people have inflicted, and more.

Enduring satisfaction comes only from God.

King Solomon is traditionally considered the author of Ecclesiastes. According to Scripture, he was the wisest man who ever lived (1 Kings 3:12) and had wealth beyond imagination. What's more, he was blessed with the privilege of building God's temple. So we might expect that he'd have been content.

In searching for that deep fulfillment, Solomon explored all kinds of things. Ecclesiastes tells us that he indulged in the pleasures of the world, even dabbling in pursuits he knew were folly. But the satisfaction Solomon sought evaded him, so he tried another avenue. He undertook great projects, such as building houses, gardens and parks, and an extensive irrigation project (Eccl. 2:4-6). But in the end, he concluded it was all without meaning. The story has a familiar ring, doesn't it? Our culture pursues pleasure and does not accept limits on its passions.

Solomon had the wisdom and resources to accomplish whatever he chose to do. Yet the goals he pursued brought no lasting satisfaction. He concluded that the best course was to obey God (Ecclesiastes 12:13). True enjoyment comes when we align ourselves with His will. Any other way is meaningless.

Spaghetti is a versatile component in many meals

Spaghetti has been enjoyed around the world for centuries. While spaghetti is most often associated with Italy, pasta has deep ties to other Mediterranean nations like Greece, and several territories of the Middle East and Arabian Peninsula. In fact, centuries ago dry durable pasta was one of the main sources of nutrition for Arab traders, including those who landed in Sicily.

The flavor profile of spaghetti can change significantly depending on which ingredients are added. Cooks needn't feel beholden to the standard "spaghetti and meatballs" recipe. "Spaghetti with Shrimp, Feta and Dill," for example, may take its inspiration from Greek cooking. Enjoy this recipe, courtesy of "Real Simple Dinner Tonight: Done!" (Time Home Entertainment) from the editors of Real Simple.

Spaghetti with Shrimp, Feta and Dill

Serves 4

12 ounces spaghetti (3/4 box)

1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon olive oil

1 pound peeled and deveined large shrimp

Kosher salt and black pepper

2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

1 teaspoon grated lemon zest

3 ounces feta, crumbled (3/4 cup)

2 tablespoons coarsely chopped fresh dill

Cook the pasta according to the package directions, drain and return it to the pot.

Meanwhile, heat 1 tablespoon of the oil in a large skillet over medium-high heat. Season the shrimp with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper and cook, tossing occasionally, until opaque throughout, 3 to 4 minutes. Stir in the lemon juice and zest.

Add the shrimp mixture to the pasta, along with the feta, dill, the remaining 1/4 cup of oil, and 1/4 teaspoon each salt and pepper. Toss to combine.

Community Working Group meets Dec. 14

SUPERIOR – The next Community Working Group (CWG) meeting for the Resolution Copper mining project, located near Superior, Arizona, will be 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 14, 2022.

Monthly meetings of the group have been moved from the Superior Chamber of Commerce to Town of Superior Offices, Library Room at 199 N. Lobb Ave.

Vicky Peacey, chief of staff to the chief operating officer for Rio Tinto, will answer questions and discuss review comments made by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) about the Final Environment Impact Statement (FEIS) developed by the U.S. Forest Service for the proposed Resolution Copper project. In 2021 USDA directed the Forest Service to withdraw the Notice of Availability and rescind the FEIS and draft Record of Decision. USDA took this step to allow the agency to conduct a thorough review, to ensure regulatory compliance of environmental, cultural and archaeological analyses, and to provide time for the Forest Service to fully understand concerns raised by tribes and the public and the project's impact to these important resources.

About the Community Working Group

The CWG focuses on potential environmental impact issues, science and policy, economic development and growth, and the pros and cons of the proposed development of the Resolution Copper mine, which could become one of the world's largest copper mining ventures. Members include residents and stakeholders from the Town of Superior, Queen Valley and nearby communities.

Monthly meetings of the group are now held in the Town of Superior office complex library at 199 N. Lobb Ave. Topics include environmental stewardship, transportation, education, health, safety, natural resource issues, air quality, community investments, recreational changes and other related subjects.

The public is welcome and encouraged to attend these meetings. For more information on the CWG, please visit the CWG website at <http://SuperiorAZCWG.org/>. The site also posts summaries of all past meetings, presentations and other related articles.

About Resolution Copper

The Resolution Copper project is a proposed underground mine 60 miles east of Phoenix, Arizona, near the town of Superior. The project is a joint venture owned by Rio Tinto (55%) and BHP (45%). The ore deposit lies nearly 7,000 feet below the earth's surface. It represents one of the most significant untapped copper deposits today. The mine has the potential to supply nearly 25% of US copper demand.
