zona College (EAC) to provide educational services as required by the state. Therefore, GCPCCD students residing in Gila County and attending classes through the Gila Pueblo (Globe) and Payson Campuses receive their degree or certificate from EAC.

"The Board is very excited to have Dr. Lawhorn at the helm as we look toward the future," said Governing Board President Dr. Jan Brocker. "While our long-standing partnership with EAC continues to be both positive and productive, we are excited to begin the process of becoming an independent, fully organized district. Gila County taxpayers have been extremely supportive of the District's educational endeavors, and we will continue to represent their best interests as we move forward. While the journey may be lengthy and at times daunting, we are confident that Dr. Lawhorn is the leader we need to ensure attainment of this very important goal."

"We are happy that GCPCCD is contracting with Dr. Lawhorn as its Interim College President," said EAC President Todd Haynie. "I have worked with Janice for many years and am confident she will provide the necessary leadership for the District to take the next step toward an independent future. Until then, EAC continues to be grateful for the opportunity to be the provider of higher education to the residents of Gila County."

Dr. Lawhorn expressed her appreciation for the Board's support and indicated she is thrilled about accepting the challenge. "It has been a true pleasure to work with the wonderful people in Gila County. I am passionate and dedicated to this goal."

Farmers Market final five Saturdays: Fruits and veggies “from A-to-Z”

Apples are ripe, zucchini too – and you’ll find fresh fruits and locally-grown veggies and herbs “from A-to-Z” at the Globe-Miami Farmers Market. The market is open from 8 – 11 a.m. each Saturday through Sept. 24, beneath shady trees and ramadas at Veterans Park outside Globe City Hall at 150 N. Pine St.

Do you have an overabundance of apples, peaches or figs, or veggies from your garden? Do you make jams, jellies and salsas? New vendors are always welcome to set up and sell at the weekly Saturday morning market. “If you’ve got seedlings, starts or other plants to sell, please call me about being a vendor,” said market manager Holly Brantley. “Crafters are welcome, and baked goods as well! Buy or sell local - right here, at our Globe-Miami Farmers Market outdoors at Veterans Memorial Park.” Bring the kiddos or grandkids to play on the brand new slides, swings and other playground equipment in the newly renovated park, too.

Check out market offerings from last week, see photos and connect with Holly and a growing community of more than 1,000 greenthumbed gardeners, craft vendors and others at facebook.com/gmfm2011. Photos posted last week showed potted plants, ground chilt-e-pin powder (that’s Arizona’s one and only native hot pepper!), jalapeno-cheddar bread and more fresh-baked goods from the Coco Tiki Bread Company, goat milk soap, fresh kale and green onions, sunflower arrangements, fresh eggs, yellow crookneck squash, green Bell peppers and more.

Questions about items you’d like to sell, or how to apply to be a vendor? Call Holly at (928) 701-3097.

The danger of bitterness

Many are hurt when we give in to negative emotions.

Have you ever seen a person overtaken by bitterness? It is very sad to watch someone consumed by that type of darkness. None of us intend to end up in that condition, but unless we guard against it malice can take hold of us.

That's what happened to King Saul. He began his reign with great blessings—God's anointing, the prophet Samuel's guidance and the applause of the people. Yet he died a bitter man because he allowed jealousy, anger and fear to dominate his life.

Instead of rejoicing that God had raised up someone to slay the giant Goliath, Saul became jealous and resented the fact that David received more praise than he did. Soon the king became suspicious and fearful because he knew he'd lost the Lord's favor, which was now being shown to David instead. In desperation, Saul plotted to kill him.

Although the details of your life differ from Saul's, the steps to bitterness and ruin are the same. Has jealousy poisoned your mind? Have you allowed unresolved anger to fester? Whom do you avoid because of ill will? If any of these things apply to you, confess them to God. Then ask Him to reprogram your mind and emotions so the bitterness can be removed.

Penny Postcards

People of Globe take pride in the 1916 railroad depot on a main street in the center of town. It is a beautiful building with an interesting history and has been part of local events for more than one hundred years. My wife and I had the honor of conducting a wedding on one of the last passenger runs on those same rails.

When thinking about that history, I recall a similar depot in Guernsey, Wyoming, my hometown. My Dad would take me the few blocks to the depot to deposit outgoing mail. When the train would come in, we would find the "mail car" and he would hold me up to make the deposit in the slot at the side of the car and we would declare the letter or card had been "sent."

As with everything, times have changed, especially postal rates. I can remember "penny postcards," for that was their rate and you could buy postcards with the green stamp printed on the face. Letters were three cents and air mail cost six cents. Recently I sent a package to my grandson and the postage was more than what I had spent on the gift.

This is not a complaint but merely a comment on rising costs. What is important is that we don't stop writing letters and sending gifts. E-mails and phone calls may be a means of speedy communications, but a written note will be kept for years.

Maranatha Bible Clubs 2022-2023

Sunday, Aug. 21, 2022, will be the first meeting of Maranatha Bible Clubs. We have classes for boys and girls 3 years old (potty trained) through sixth grade on Sundays.

Each age group has three segments; a time for memorization of Bible verses, singing, and a Bible lesson and game time. All clubs meet from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Mark your calendars to be there for a great time of learning God's word. Registration begins at 3:30 p.m. We hope to see you at Maranatha Baptist Church, 1320 Saguaro Dr., Globe, Az., for another year of fun, learning and memorizing!

Bible clubs have been teaching children for 45 years here in Globe. We want to continue sharing God's word. Clubs meet every Sunday in August through the end of March. There are some holidays we don't meet. You will get your schedule when you register. If you have any questions or need transportation, please call the church office at 928-425-4198 or Mary Toner at 928-473-4384.

The danger of disobedience

We may be tempted to think that disobedience in a small matter really won't affect us too much. Surely God isn't going to be bothered by something so inconsequential, especially if our motives are good. But in reality, we never have good motives for any act of disobedience, and the consequences aren't lessened by our attempt to diminish its size.

King Saul didn't want to go to battle until Samuel was there to offer the burnt sacrifice. But when the prophet didn't arrive on time and the army was beginning to desert, fear made Saul impatient. So he handled the offering himself, attempting to get God's blessing by disobediently usurping the role of the priest. When confronted by Samuel, the king tried to justify his actions.

What Saul saw as a small, necessary disobedience, God viewed as a serious act of rebellion. As a result, Saul's kingdom would end and the Lord would one day appoint someone else to Israel's throne.

Are there any "small disobediences" in your life that you're trying to justify? It could be something you've done or perhaps something you've refused to do. The only solution for any act of disobedience is to confess and repent.

Florence Gonzales

She leaves behind one step-sister, Lena Maria Gallegos, and one step-brother, Paul Rey Gallegos, both of Penasco, New Mexico. She had a total of six children, with three surviving children; Tonie (John) Brownstead, Richard (Socorro) Gonzales and her daughter and full-time caretaker Susie (Armando Jr.) Delgado, all of Tucson. She also leaves behind 13 grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, two great-great-grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews.

She is preceded in death by her father and mother Roman and Tomacita Gallegos; her step-mom Maria Gallegos; her siblings Gene Gallegos, Tobias Gallegos and Margaret Cordero; her husband of 45 years Amador A. Gonzales Sr.; her children Arthur, Frances and Amador Gonzales Jr.; and her one and only godson, Gilbert Barela.

She will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved her.

A viewing was held at 9 a.m. on Aug. 20, 2022, at OLBS in Miami, followed by a Rosary at 9:30 a.m. and Mass at 10 a.m. Interment was held in the Central Heights cemetery.

She would iron clothes that were military style, ready for anyone to wear to look their best. However, her favorite thing to do was cook for her family. She could cook for an army. She loved eating her hot green or red chili. Her beans, Spanish rice and tortillas were everyone's favorite. For dessert let us not forget her famous rice pudding. She loved feeding her stray cats from the neighborhood.

The most important thing Mom/Nana leaves us with is her faithfulness to our Lord. She has never doubted or strayed from her faith. When she dealt with life's challenges, she always just prayed that much harder. She prayed vocally until she could no longer speak. However, her body remained reverent until her last breath.

Her words were "Dios es muy grande."

Florence Gonzales, 95, of Tucson, Arizona, passed away on Aug. 14, 2022, in Tucson.

She was born on July 8, 1927, in Mora, New Mexico. She was the daughter of Roman and Tomacita Gallegos.

Florence was a long-time resident of the Globe-Miami area before moving to Tucson, Arizona 11 years ago to live with her daughter Susie.

Florence moved to the Globe-Miami area in the late 1940s with Amador Sr. to make a life for themselves. They would raise their family in the Miami area. Florence spent her life cooking for her family and the neighborhood. If you went to visit Florence, she was always ready to feed you. She was always cooking a home cooked meal and you better be ready to sit down and eat whether you were hungry or not.

Florence worked as a homemaker for most of her life. In addition, she worked for a brief time in the kitchen at El Rey in Globe. She took pride in cleaning and having a clean house. She loved doing laundry for her family. She loved sewing, especially sewing buttons on shirts.

San Carlos Apache Traditional Games Project receives funding

The San Carlos Apache Tribe Culture Center Museum has received funding to work on bringing back and re-introducing Traditional Apache Games that were once played by Apache tribes in Arizona and New Mexico. There is a list of at least 19 Apache Games that were played by Apache tribal members. One of the Apache elders said the last game was probably played in the early 1960s between White Mountain and San Carlos Apaches.

ect and work with Apache Traditionalist to select, develop and implement the games. The games will be played with and among the Camp Verde Apaches, Tonto Apaches of Payson, White Mountain Apaches, San Carlos Apaches and Mescalero Apaches of New Mexico. This is a 15-month project; the games will be played throughout the year and travel to other Apache reservations will be scheduled. These games are still played on the Navajo reservation, and visits and consultations will be made with that tribe. At the end or near the end of the project, an Apache Olympic games will be held with the Apache tribes.

If you have questions, or would like to know more about the project, please call Beedona Cracium or Victoria Long at 928-475-2894.

Colorado homeowner emptied pistol to kill bear that broke in

By JESSE BEDAYN
The Associated Press/Report for America

DENVER (AP) — Ken Mauldin was jolted awake last weekend with his wife screaming incessantly in their split level home in Colorado's mountain town of Steamboat Springs where their three children were sleeping one floor below. Then she yelled: "There's a bear in the house!"

Kelly Mauldin had just been awakened by the couple's barking dogs that didn't wake up her husband before dawn on Saturday. She walked to the door of the couple's bedroom and found herself staring at a male black bear weighing about 400 pounds (181 kilograms) — about 10 feet (3 meters) away in the dining room.

In an interview, Ken Mauldin said he grabbed his 40-caliber pistol, took his wife's place at the door and shot once, aiming for the center of the bear's body. He thinks the first shot hit the bear and it charged him as Mauldin continued firing.

As he was shooting, the bear got as close as 5 feet (1.5 meters) from Mauldin and then turned toward the stairs leading to the home's front door. The bear crashed through a bannister as Mauldin emptied the gun and slid down the stairs, mortally wounded.

The couple didn't know it at the time, but officials believe the bear got inside their home by flipping down the lever of their unlocked front door handle and pushing the door.

After it was shot, the bear lay breathing and heaving between Mauldin and his three sons on the home's lower floor, but he didn't think the bear would get back up. He called 911 and one of his sons called him on his cellphone and Mauldin told the son to stay put in his room.

"My only thought was protecting my family and putting that bear down," said Mauldin.

The bear had moved an unopened bag of dog food across the dining room. Police and state wildlife officers arrived a short time later and determined that the bear was dead.

They used a winch to pull it into a truck and were impressed by its size, said Justin Pollock, a Colorado Parks and Wildlife officer for 21 years.

"I deal with bears a lot and I'd say this was a big bear," he said.

Colorado has about 12,000 bears and break-ins aren't uncommon in Rocky Mountain towns, but homeowners shooting bears in their homes is rare, said Rachael Gonzales, spokesperson for Colorado Parks and Wildlife. State law allows people to shoot bears if the people feel threatened, she said.

The lush mountain area where the Mauldin family lives is home to many bears because of its habitat, which includes oak brush that they use to hide, a river and vegetation that they eat.

In the days before the bear opened the door to the Mauldins home, neighbors had talked about a bear getting into their garages and other homeowners had reported bear break-ins. Mauldin said the family always does a nightly check to close windows and lock doors, but that night the front door had been left unlocked.

Gonzales said there's no way of knowing if the same bear seeking food at other homes broke into the Mauldin family's home. Black bears avoid humans but once they realize food is behind a window or stuffed inside a bird feeder, they will return, Pollock said.

"Bears are very smart," Gonzales said. "Once they learn that it's easy to access food in a certain area, they are going to keep doing it."

The bear's hide and meat will be donated to people who have signed up on a list to receive them and its head will go up for auction, Pollock said.

Mauldin hopes the break-in at his home sparks greater awareness to prompt "something good from something so terrible that happened."

"We are in a situation now where we have town bears that have lost all of their natural fear of humans," Mauldin said. "In my mind that's what we have to address."

State launches third annual essay contest

AZ529, Arizona's Education Savings Plan, and the Arizona State Treasurer's Office are asking Arizona fifth graders: "What Is Your Dream Job and How Do You Plan on Achieving It in the Future?" That is the theme for this year's third annual essay writing contest, which launched on August 22 and is open to fifth-grade students across Arizona.

A total of 20 winners will be selected across the state and receive $529 towards opening a new or existing AZ529 Education Savings Plan. One winner will be selected from each of Arizona's 15 counties and at least one winner each representing a district, charter, private, tribal school and homeschool will be selected. Up to five additional winners will be awarded in Maricopa and Pima Counties, based on higher population.

More than $10,500 will be distributed to 20 students to assist in saving for their educational plans beyond high school. Parents or guardians of the winners will be responsible for setting up an AZ529 account if an account does not already exist. All entries must be submitted starting August 22, either online to az529.gov/essay-contest or through direct mail to:
