LillyStrong gains momentum as local businesses donate funds

El Ranchito waitress Lilly Machado is fighting for her life. She is in need of a new liver after being diagnosed with non-alcoholic cirrhosis. According to family friend Yesenia Curiel, Lilly was turned away by St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix because of the lack of funding needed. A GoFundMe page sponsored by Berenise Bowyer has now raised over $50,000 to go toward scheduling the surgery.

Businesses in Globe and Miami have been hard at work to save Lilly by raising money through various fundraisers. For a full list of fundraisers available visit Go Globe-Miami on Facebook.

'Critical Blood Shortage': Donors needed

Globe-Miami: Let's fill our next blood drive, Tuesday, Oct. 12 at the Globe Elks Lodge on Maple Street near Denny's. Your donation could save up to three lives; approximately 36,000 units of red blood cells are needed every day in the U.S., and only about 10 percent of eligible people donate blood in a year.

More than a dozen appointments remained open at press time, and you choose one online - or call. Yes, giving blood is both safe and healthy - facemasks are required and pre-arranged appointments are also required in order to help Red Cross staff and volunteers schedule the most efficient drive day possible. Sign up in advance and online, pick your choice from remaining appointment times at redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED-CROSS.

A "critical blood shortage" was recently announced: Arizona fell 4,000 donations short, with Type-O blood especially needed. Type-O is often used in trauma situations, especially Type-O negative, which can be transfused with any blood type. When the news was announced, most blood types had less than a four-day supply at their centers.

Appointments available Oct. 12 are for regular whole blood and also 'Power Red' donations; the latter allows you to safely donate two units of red blood cells during one donation. Blood is drawn from one arm by a machine that separates and collects two units of red cells, then safely returns the remaining blood components, along with some saline, back to you through the same arm - with just one needle jab required. A Power Red donation takes approximately 30 minutes longer than a whole blood donation, so plan on about Power Red Cross

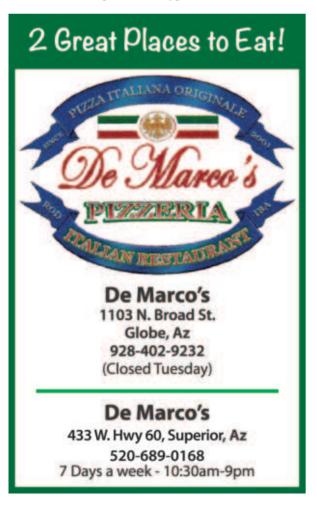

A Power Red donation is ideal for O-, O+, B- and A- donors.

Visit redcrossblood.org for more information.

35-45 minutes in the chair, and you're limited to donating approximately once every four months. New donors are welcome, and urgently needed. And if you're not available for the October blood drive, sign up now for the next one on Nov. 12.

United Fund: "Year of Yes" Program Updates

United Fund of Globe-Mian

Carol Broeder

How the "Year of Yes" Program Began

At United Fund's (UF) 2019 annual meeting in January, guest speaker Jon Ford, with Vitalyst Health Group, encouraged guests to plan for a big project in the future. True to form—the board of directors exceeded the challenge placed before it, said Executive Director Maryn Belling.

UF featured "Year of Yes" projects at its 55th Anniversary Gala, held August 2019. Three visionary projects connected existing resources and needs to serve the community's most important asset—people, Board President Linda Oddonetto said at the time.

In 2020, UF challenged its agencies to come up with their own programs and projects for a one-time collaborative grant application for $10,000 in funding.

Among the 2020 winners were "Helping Families Help Themselves" and "Shelter Buddies Reading Program."

This week, we reached out to see how their "Year of Yes" projects are progressing.

September 29, 2021

Shelter Виддіє Reading Program

It began as a six-month long pilot program, where Cobre Valley Youth Club (CVYC) kids read to High Desert Humane Society (HDHS) animals using Friends of the Globe Public Library (FGPL) books.

In their proposal, Thea Wilshire explained, "The children reading to dogs and cats will benefit by performing in front of a non-judgmental listener, improving their empathy and gentleness through interaction with animals and gaining self-esteem knowing they are helping animals in need get adopted."

For their part, the animals are "less lonely and learn people can be safe and nurturing, which will give them traits that make them more adoptable," Wilshire said. FGPL President Robin Wurst reports implementation was "moving along well" when COVID-19 hit, bringing everything to a halt.

In January 2020 with a planned March start date, they finally met again in late April 2021, after many leadership changes with all three program partners, she says. Nonetheless, "all were enthusiastic to be good stewards of the funding we received from United Fund of Globe-Miami and make the program a reality," Wurst says.

The project timeline was updated repeatedly for various reasons, including a COVID shutdown at CVYC; continued leadership changes; necessary vehicle repairs and fire/flood impacts on some partners, she explains.

Now, the weekly reading program on Fridays is set to begin Oct. 1.

When the pilot program ends April 2022, the partners plan to assess outcomes and decide whether the program should continue.

Wurst says the community has many passionate, talented and hard-working people in a variety of non-profit organizations, usually working independently to meet identified needs.

"The Year of Yes' grants encouraged those people and organizations to come together to collaborate and serve in novel ways to meet those needs," she says. "It's exciting to see the potential."

Helping Families Help Themselves

The program is a partnership of Arizona Youth Partnership; GILA (general interim living assistance) House; GILA House/Alderman Domestic Violence Safe Home and Starting Out Right (SOR).

The three partners provide services for families staying at GILA House or Alderman Safe House.

They include active parenting or childbirth classes, depending on the need, says Charlene Becker. She is a certified child birth educator, certified lactation educator and car seat technician, as well as a certified active parenting trainer.

A program for pregnant and parenting adolescents, SOR offers parenting classes and needed items, such as car seats; booster seats and pack and plays for safe sleep; etc., Becker says.

SOR clients are sometimes homeless and experience domestic violence, needing GILA House or Alderman Shelter.

Housing families is important, but they may need more than just housing, such as being "pointed in the right direction and guided," Becker and Gail Lenox said in their proposal. The project helps guide families, giving them the support needed to go out on their own. SOR also provides resources such as job searches, schooling, counseling and support.

With "Year of Yes" funds, Becker was able to buy a laptop and refurbish an older one for GILA House residents to take classes on Zoom.

"We want to help as much as possible to make them employable," says Becker, who is currently teaming up with Arizona@Work. "Our main focus right now is on employment."

How to help the agencies

Donations to United Fund can be made year-round through the Arizona Gives Day platform ("Give Now" button on UFGlobeMiami.com) or mailed to United Fund, P.O. Box 2160, Globe, AZ 85502.

Launching a New End-of-Life Care Training Program at UArizona Health Sciences

Faculty at UArizona Center on Aging, colleges and centers will use a David and Lura Lovell Foundation grant to enhance end-of-life care education.

It's an uncomfortable yet necessary part of being a health care professional knowing how to speak with patients and their families about a terminal condition. The University of Arizona Health Sciences will soon be preparing students for those conversations through a patient-centered educational program how to provide compassionate end-of-life

A $500,000 grant from the David and Lura Lovell Foundation is funding the creation of the new Interprofessional End-of-Life Care Training Program at the UArizona Center on Aging that will build on the current curriculum on the topic. Center Co-Director Mindy Fain, MD, is leading the development of the program to train students to use a multicultural, interdisciplinary approach to end-of-life conversations with patients and families.

"We are grateful for the opportunity to develop, implement and pilot a curriculum in end-of-life advanced illness care," said Dr. Fain, professor and chief of the Division of Geriatric. General Internal Medicine and Palliative Medicine at the UArizona College of Medicine - Tucson. "The unified curriculum we create can be tailored to the needs of students from every health care profession to allow them to better serve patients and their families." The program's goals are to:

Transform cultural attitudes among UArizona

and faculty about aging, serious illness, death and dying by developing, implementing, evaluating and sustaining an evidencebased. patient-centered education and training program to assure compassionate end-of-life care for patients and their families;

Ensure every graduating student will have basic competency in serious illness and end-of-life care;

Create a cadre of health care professionals who promote advance care planning.

Lisa O'Neill. DBH.

MPH, the Center on Aging's associate director of education and policy and a clinical assistant professor in the College of Medicine - Tucson, said the new UArizona Health Sciences program will address the needs of health care professionals who serve in diverse roles, from physicians and nurses to pharmacists and public health professionals. Students who complete the program will be well prepared to address ethnic, gender, LGBTQ+ and age issues related to terminal illness and death. she added.

National Hunting and Fishing Day celebrates contributions of hunters, anglers

Gov. Doug Ducey signs proclamation honoring "original conservationists"

PHOENIX — Whatever a person's interest in wildlife, hunters and anglers - the "original conservationists" - have made significant contributions over the decades to the conservation of fish and wildlife through sound, sciencebased management.

Even if a person doesn't actively participate in the time-honored traditions of hunting or angling, it's important to understand how those outdoor pursuits benefit wildlife, the impetus behind the creation of National Hunting and Fishing Day, celebrated every fourth Saturday in Septem-

According to the 2016 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting and Wildlife-Associated Recreation, 103 million Americans — an astonishing 40 percent of the U.S. population 16 years and older — participated in fishing, hunting or other wildlife-related recreation, such as birdwatching or outdoor photography.

In doing so, those participants kept cash registers humming to the tune of $156.9 billion spent on equipment, travel, licenses and fees. That figure represents almost 1 percent of the Gross Domestic Product, creating and supporting thousands of jobs and communities across the nation. This past year has seen even more Americans contributing to wildlife and conservation as they rediscover hunting and angling as healthy outdoor recreation consistent with the need to be physically distant during the pandemic.

Gov. Doug Ducey recently signed a proclamation celebrating National Hunting and Fishing Day on Saturday, as well as recognizing the role that Arizona's hunting angling community plays as an economic driver. In 2018, almost $60 million was generated through the American System of Conservation Funding to support the conservation efforts of the Arizona Game and Fish Department. The system is a "user payspublic benefits" approach that is widely recognized as the most successful model of fish and wildlife management in the world.

More than 786,000 Arizona hunters and anglers spend more than $1.2 billion annually and support 18,220 jobs, according to the latest report (2011) by the Congressional Sportsmen's Foundation. As a result, $132 million in state and local taxes, and another $155 million in federal taxes, are collected annually.

Since 1939, hunters and anglers nationally have generated more than $20 billion toward wildlife restoration through an excise tax imposed on the sale of hunting, angling and shooting-sports equipment. Those funds are administered by the federal Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration (WSFR) program, one of the most significant programs benefiting wildlife conservation and outdoor recreation.

WSFR funds, along with the sale of hunting and fishing licenses, provide a substantial portion of wildlife conservation funding for activities such as fish and wildlife population management, habitat management, research, surveys, land acquisition, hunter education, shooting and archery ranges, boating access, and more.

Who benefits? The general public gets better stewardship of natural resources. Hunters and anglers get more and better places to hunt and fish. State and federal agencies receive more funds to meet their conservation needs. To learn more, visit www.azgfd. gov/outdoorskills, or www. azgfd.gov/getoutside.

In one highway closure, ADOT completes multiple projects

While motorists who routinely travel between Superior and the Globe-Miami area may not know what's involved with maintaining and repairing the only highway between the communities, they've come to know even small projects can mean big travel delays.

So when the Arizona Department of Transportation planned the most disruptive local project in recent memory - a five-day closure of US 60 for a bridge replacement project - work crews planned ahead to take advantage of a nearly traffic-free road.

From the time the highway closed late Sept. 12 to when it reopened midday Sept. 17, ADOT maintenance crews based in Superior and Globe spread out across the roughly 15-mile closure to take on multiple maintenance and repair projects at the same time.

Nearly all the work along this two-lane highway, which cuts through rugged terrain and lacks shoulders in many areas, would have required lane restrictions and delays for the safety of work crews and the public. With the public off the roadway, crews could perform all kinds of work more quickly and more safely than when sharing the road with traffic.

Best of all, the work means ADOT - and drivers - will avoid multiple future projects that would require disruptive restrictions or even closures. ADOT crews performed work on and off the highway over five days. The most visible improvement was a chip seal project that started at Top-of-the-World and extended four miles to the east.

Other work included:

Repairing damage from this summer's Telegraph Fire, which burned along miles of US 60

Removing rocks at risk of falling onto the highway

Trimming and removing vegetation that was blocking sight lines, uprooting rocks or at risk of falling on the road

Cleaning drainage systems to prevent flood damage

Installing conduit in the Queen Creek Tunnel for a future fiber optic cable project

ADOT coordinated the work with Ames Construction, which required the highway closure as the contractor on the $22.7 million Pinto Creek Bridge replacement project. ADOT crews needed to ensure Ames had constant use of US 60 to access the project site, where crews realigned the highway to the newly completed bridge at Pinto Creek

While traffic began using the new bridge Sept. 17, the project will extend through 2021 as crews remove the old structure and restore the project site to its natural state. More information about the project is available at azdot.gov/PintoCreekBridge.

Tonto Forest, Pinto Valley Mining team up to protect Pinto Creek following Telegraph Fire

PHOENIX - A volunteer agreement between the Tonto National Forest and Pinto Valley Mining Corporation resulted in the September 10 completion of a project to stabilize soil at the reclaimed Blue Gate Mine within the Pinto Creek watershed.

Pinto Valley provided personnel, equipment and materials to perform maintenance on approximately one mile of Forest Road (FR) 349 in order to reach the project site. Workers installed 700 linear feet of straw wattles, which are man-made cylinders of compressed, weed-free straw (wheat or rice). Wattles are used to form a continuous barrier to intercept water running down a slope and can increase water infiltration and reduce soil erosion.

Pinto Valley personnel also removed the damaged fence and used windrows and debris from recent flooding to reestablish the toe of the Blue Gate reposi-

Concerns about post-fire flooding, runoff from the fire scar and resulting environmental impacts resulted in Pinto Valley initiating discussions with neighboring partners in the towns of Globe and Miami to determine ways they could assist the Tonto in the aftermath of the Telegraph Fire. Circumstances resulted in Pinto Valley being the lone company to provide manpower and purchase materials for the project.

Selection of the two mine sites for emergency stabilization stemmed from the Forest Service's Burned Area Emergency Response (BAER) assessment of the Telegraph Fire. The BAER team determined there was a high probability of loss or damage at the Blue Gate Mine and Ellis Vein Mine sites that are adjacent to Pinto Creek. A need for emergency site stabilization and erosion control was identified at both sites, including necessary road maintenance to reach the sites.

According to Tom Torres, deputy forest supervisor for the Tonto, close coordination and a willingness to work together to protect the previously reclaimed mine site resulted in the timely completion of an important

The Miami Junior High Vandals are on the march. They have played four games this season. Their victory on Tuesday, on the road versus the San Carlos Braves, gives them a .500 record at 2-2 for the season. The mighty Vandals play their next home game on October 5 at 6 p.m., hosting the Miners of San Manuel.

"There is something different about this team. I walked into a student council meeting during lunch, and noticed that four of our eighth-grade players were also part of their student government. It changes the culture of your team when your players strive for excellence academically, as well as on the field. They understand that this team is about more than just football; they are building a support system for themselves. Not to survive school, not even to thrive, although they will. They are molding themselves into the engine that will drive this school for the next four years," said Coach Stephen Palmer.

Great Job Miami Vandals Junior High Football Team!

Mercy

By Dr. DAN MORTON

Contributor

Mercy is more than being nice or doing a good deed. While these acts are the result of mercy the true meaning is much deeper. In the Old Testament we see mercy as a part of God's nature. In human beings, a lack of mercy is the more natural condition. It seems we want to "get even," or see that someone else "gets what they deserve," while being blind to the mercy we have received.

From experience we learn that God's mercy, unlike human mercy, cannot be exhausted. There may be times when He withholds mercy, but that does not mean it isn't there. Even in times of judgment and discipline, God's mercy can be hoped for. God is forever providing instruction and, like the nun with the ruler, we may need to be chastised rather than excused.

Isaiah 54:7: "For a small moment have I forsaken thee, but with great mercies will I gather thee. In a little wrath I hid my face from thee for a moment; but with everlasting kindness will I have mercy on thee, saith the Lord thy Redeemer."

Romans 9:18: "Therefore God has mercy on those whom he wants to have mercy, and he hardens those whom he wants to harden."

Titus 3:4: "But when the kindness and love of God our Savior appeared, he saved us, not because of righteous things we had done, but because of his mercy."

Though tested, may we develop mercy for others and for ourselves.

Evangelist to visit Globe Christian Center next week

Evangelist Patrick Johnson will be at the Globe Christian Center (on Maple Street by Globe High School) in revival October services 3-6. Sunday services are at 10:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Evening services will start at 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. Everyone is welcome.

Patrick Johnson was born in Jamaica and raised in a rough neighborhood in Florida. He stayed out of most trouble and loved all kinds of music, but his life felt empty and meaningless. He joined the US Army and was stationed in Texas. In the evenings, he sang in nightclubs and found a nice girlfriend, but something was still missing. A friend enthusiastically invited him to church, but Johnson figured it would be boring. Finally he went, and he's been excited about Jesus ever since.

Johnson has been a pastor both in the US and Asia, but has been an evangelist around the world for years. Popular first for his singing, he learned to preach sermons so dramatic that his audiences began to believe God has a miracle for them too.

A Prayer for the Overwhelmed

Lord, when my heart is overwhelmed, overwhelm me with Your peace. Lead me to You, my rock. Guide me to Your Word which gives me strength and refuge. Help me not to run to lesser things. Draw me to run to You first. Help me get into the habit of taking my "overwhelmed" and placing it under your will. Thank You, Lord. In Jesus' Name, Amen.

~ Jennifer Rothschild

A Prayer for Wisdom and Strength Daily

You are a miracle-working God. Give me a vision for what freedom looks like for me. Give me faith to believe You for my miracle. Show me what makes me tired. Show me what masters me and slows me down. Help me to lose my taste for that which weakens me, and acquire a taste for that which strengthens me. Heal me from the inside out! Help me to make the necessary changes. I want to participate with You in my healing process. Awaken fresh life in me! In Jesus' Name, Amen.

Why Self-control Is the Key to Freedom

We all have hopes and dreams for our lives—whether it's to buy a house, get in shape physically, have success at our job, grow spiritually, or any other goal that's in our heart.

However, if we want to make progress in life, it's going to require self-control. I realize this isn't a very popular topic, but self-control is one of the best friends we can ever have because it brings us freedom.

What does it really mean to be free? Many people think it means you should be able to do what you want, when you want, and never have to suffer any of the consequences. But God's Word tells us that we reap what we sow (see Galatians 6:7).

Sure, we can choose to do what we want; however, every choice we make is a seed that will produce a harvest in our lives—either for good or bad.

Freedom is not simply the liberty to do whatever we want. True freedom is having the ability and discipline not to do something if it means we will be happier with the results in the long run.

Self-control is one of the best gifts God has given us. It helps us say yes to what we truly want to say yes to...and it helps us say no when we want to say no.

For instance, my husband, Dave, and I ate at a restaurant that makes some of the best lobster bisque soup I have ever tasted; it's so smooth and creamy, and it has just the right amount of flavor. I instantly began thinking about going back the next day.

The truth is I could choose to eat that soup every night, but I know my body and what I need to do to maintain my weight. And while I want the soup, I want to stay in shape and remain healthy even more Galatians 5:17 says, "For the flesh desires what is contrary to the Spirit, and the Spirit what is contrary to the flesh. They are in conflict with each other..." (NIV).

The "flesh" represents the desires and cravings of our body and soul, apart from the Holy Spirit. Many times our flesh wants something that the Holy Spirit says is not good for us; however, as we learn to follow the direction of the Holy Spirit, that is when we become truly free.

Galatians 5:16 says, "walk by the Spirit, and you will not gratify the desires of the flesh" (NIV).

The Lord wants to help us make wise choices. I often say that wisdom is doing now what you will be happy with later. Even if a good decision isn't comfortable for our flesh in the moment, it will produce good results later on.

God has already provided everything we need to have a great life, but it's up to us to walk it out—and we do that by making good choices (2 Peter 1:3). Good decisions produce good results.

We make choices every day: how we think, what we're going to say, what attitude we take... We can choose to forgive someone when they don't treat us the way they should. Or we can choose to say something kind to someone when everything in us wants to say something mean.

Always remember, when you choose to do what is right—especially when you don't feel like it—that is when you will see good results!

I love 1 Corinthians 6:12. It says, "'I have the right to do anything,' you say—but not everything is beneficial. 'I have the right to do anything'—but I will not be mastered by anything" (NIV).

This scripture is saying we can choose to do whatever we want, but not everything is good for us. So, when we feel tempted by something that isn't good for us, we need to stop and think, If I do this now, how will it affect me later on?

I am so glad that I'm no longer controlled by a cookie or an overwhelming desire to have to buy every new outfit I see at the shopping mall. Operating in self-control and choosing to do what I really want is true freedom.

Wherever you are in life right now, God has a great plan for your future. And He not only wants to lead you and show you what to do, but He also wants to give you the grace to do it!

Ask the Holy Spirit for the guidance and strength to make good choices, then begin making decisions today that you will be happy with tomorrow. As you do, you'll be amazed at the results... and you will experience the wonderful freedom of self-control.

AmeriCorps Opportunities in Globe & Payson

Becoming an Ameri-Corps member opens you up to rewarding experiences in your community and gives you valuable skills employers look for. AmeriCorps member Kinsev Speer spent the last year working with 4-H programs, helping teach in-class lessons on science and agriculture to Payson and Miami students, and other tasks focused on youth outreach. A perfect match for her skills growing up in 4-H programs and graduating from Payson High School.

If you are at least 18 years old and looking to get involved in youth outreach in the Globe/Miami or Payson area, the University of Arizona Cooperative Extension in Gila County is looking for motivated individuals to fill positions just like Kinsey's. The full job posting is available at https://tinyurl. com/76d7dauw and you are welcome to contact Renee Carsten at (928) 978-8511 or Ben Downer (616) 502-8662 for more information.

"We are taking applications now for AmeriCorps members to work 15-20 hours per week and help expand 4-H programs throughout Gila County, especially our mentorship and Exploring 4-H programs," said Program Coordinator Ben Downer. "They will help coordinate after-school programs and give classroom lessons. strengthen our partnerships with local organizations committed to youth outreach, and support 4-H volunteers. AmeriCorps participants have their hands in a bit of everything, and these positions are a great introduction to what working for Cooperative Extension is like. There will also be opportunities to engage with AmeriCorps volunteers throughout the state, tapping into a much larger network."

Gila County 4-H is part of a nationwide network that connects youth to meaningful mentorship opportunities and activities that help them find new interests. Though 4-H encourages youth to raise animals and show livestock at the fair, Gila County 4-H has clubs that cover a wide range of activities to help every kid find their spark. Kayaking, sewing, engineering, technology, and agriculture are just a few of the activities youth can get involved in. "This year is a perfect time to give 4-H a try if you've never considered it before," said Gila County Cooperative Extension Director Renee Carstens. "We are waving registration fees for all youth, making it FREE to jump into this exciting experience! We are also covering the background check and registration costs of becoming a volunteer. Our goal is to make 4-H accessible to everyone in the community and share this valuable experience with more kids." Visit www. extension.arizona.edu/4h/ gila for the full list of clubs and how to register as a 4-H member or volunteer.

"Another way we are expanding 4-H opportunities in Gila County is by bringing the 4-H experience into the classroom with the Exploring 4-H program," said Program Coordinator Jon Hatch. "We brought in class lessons to Julia Randal Elementary and Lee Kornegay students in the spring and are excited to continue these opportunities this school year. We also work with Payson Community Kids to bring interactive activities to the youth they serve and make 4-H an opportunity that all kids can see themselves taking advantage of."

If you or someone you know is passionate about youth in their community or wants to give the 4-H experience they had to others, joining Cooperative Extension as an Ameri-Corps member is a great opportunity. Again, the full job posting is available at https://tinyurl.com/76d7dauw and you are welcome to contact Renee Carsten at (928) 978-8511.

Seneca Lake prescribed burn scheduled

From October 19-30, San Carlos Forest Resources will be conducting prescribed burning in the Seneca Lake area to clean up the forest floor and get rid of slash left behind from mechanical thinning. This will also help eliminate hazardous fuels which contribute to wildfire severity. The prescribed burn will be contained by fire line, road systems and natural barriers to keep fire within the project boundaries.

During the prescribed burn there will be fire traffic along Highway 60 and the roads going into Seneca Lake, so please use caution if you are planning to travel in the area. The area will be identified with prescribed burn signs on the side of the road in both directions. Safety for firefighters and the public is our number one priority; please be aware of fire engines and other fire vehicle traffic. These vehicles may also be coming through town.

The highway will be monitored for smoke and we will try to minimize impacts throughout the burning period. However, motorists should use caution while traveling through the area because visibility is likely to be reduced.

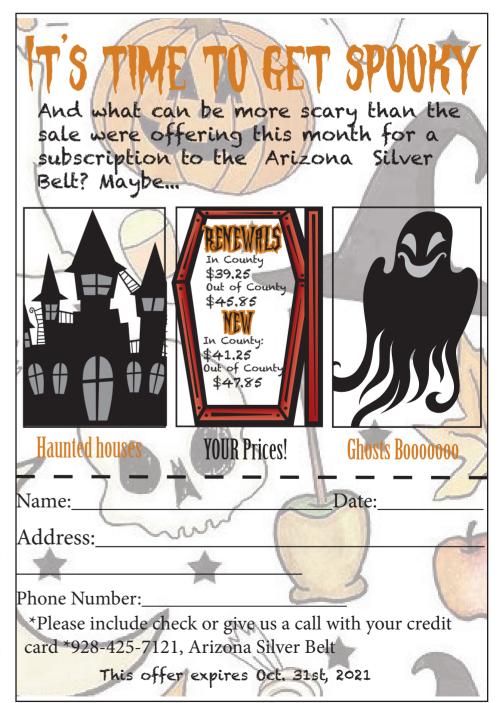

Updates will continue to be posted/ emailed, as well as being announced on KYAY 91.1.
