Prepare for flooding; fill sandbags at Gila County Public Works

Here's another way local residents can help prepare for the aftermath of the Telegraph Fire: half-fill sandbags over at Gila County Public Works. County staff and volunteers half-filled (yes, "half-filled;" more on that below) thousands of sandbags over the past two weeks, stacking them on pallets and delivering pallets around Miami, Globe, and Dripping Springs for canyon residents below the foothills of the Pinal Mountains. Canyon neighborhoods are predicted to flood when summer rains scour mountain hillsides above that were reduced to ash by wild-fire. Shovels are available for those who want to half-fill sandbags on their own, at their own pace -- without calling ahead to RSVP. And yes, sandbags should be half-filled, not packed to-the-brim with sand.

Filling sandbags half-full at Gila County Public Works is a way to prepare for the onset of future floods.

Half-full bags stack well; full sandbags are too round and don't stack. Gila County's sandbag station is at the Public Works building near the Russell Gulch Landfill turnoff, at the crossroads of Russell Road and Besich Boulevard. Can you muster a team of young, strong volunteers ready to work in the summer heat, tie and stack 35-40-pound sandbags? If yes, please make sure to pre-arrange a scheduled group volun-

Looking to the future not the past

Dear Editor:

We all understand this is a complicated issue, and we all agree we need a pool. However, rushing to fix the disaster of a pool that currently sits at the Globe Community Center is not the right solution.

Spending over $1 million on what boils down to a bathtub is the easy solution but not the right solution for our communities. We need the benefits of a full aquatic center with amenities like Olympic swim lanes, splash pad, slides and zero entry.

During the council meeting on Tuesday the number one rebuttal to the Aquatic Center was the price tag, which is around $6 million, at this time but let's look at the math. The city is looking to raise/spend at least $1.1 million to fix the current pool. They have received grant funds with $100,000 set for a splash pad to be installed somewhere in town. At the same time the Cobre Valley Regional Medical Center has generously put up $1.5 million as a match grant. So now we are at $2.7 million, nearly half way to the $6 million price tag. We are much closer to a full aquatic center than many people believe. When asked by Councilman Shipley, the representative from the contracting company admitted he would not design a pool like this and that his own family would prefer a pool with the slides and equipment. We also need to look at the fact that this $1.1 million is only for the pool. It does not include the needed work to the children's pool area, the bathrooms or structures around the pool enclosure.

The City Council needs to make the investment and work with all available stakeholders to fund and operate a full aquatic center. We deserve to have an aquatic center that serves the needs of our entire community.

Whether you fill on your own or muster a team, please heed this advice from Gila County Public Works staff who have filled and distributed more than 10,000 sandbags: "It's hot, so plan ahead. Make sure to bring water, wear sunscreen, a hat and work gloves. Drink that water, stay hydrated!

And please don't overfill the bags. Sandbags should only be half-full, so they can flatten and stack well to build solid barriers against flooding."

Community Working Group to again meet in person

The Superior Community Working Group (CWG) will meet on Wednesday, July 14 at the Superior Chamber of Commerce from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The community is welcome to attend and time is reserved on the agenda for public comments, questions, and discussion. For more than a year the CWG has met virtually by video conference due to pandemic safety protocols; this will be the first face to face meeting in 2021.

The group will be discussing the Telegraph wild-fire status, consequences and recovery efforts.

The group includes organization representatives, interested residents, officials and other stakeholders from the Town of Superior, Queen Valley, Hewitt Station, Globe, Kearny, Winkelman, Hayden, Top-of-the-World and elsewhere around the area.

The CWG was formed in 2013 to engage people from the communities potentially affected by this prospective project. The intent of the group is to provide an avenue for people to learn the facts and myths, discuss, debate and better determine the truth by considering information and data from mine officials as well as other independent expert sources.

The CWG deals with social and environmental impacts, health, safety, natural resources, engineering, water quantity and quality, geology, economics, air quality, community investments, recreational changes and other related subjects.

More information about the CWG as well as past agendas, meeting summaries, and presentations are available for public review online at <http://SuperiorAZCWG.org/>

Donors needed for blood drive

Come on Globe-Miami, lets fill our next blood drive on Friday, July 16 at the Globe Elks Lodge on Maple Street near Denny's. Yes, giving blood is both safe and healthy. Face-masks are required, and pre-arranged appointments are also required in order to schedule the most efficient day possible. Sign up in advance and online, pick your choice from remaining appointment times at redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED-CROSS.

A "critical blood shortage" was announced last month: Arizona fell 4,000 donations short during May, and with Type-O blood especially needed. Type-O is often used in trauma situations, especially Type-O negative, which can be transfused with any blood type. When the news was announced, most blood types had less than a four-day supply at their centers.

Appointments available July 16 are for regular whole blood and also 'Power Red' donations; the latter allows you to safely donate two units of red blood cells during one donation. Blood is drawn from one arm by a machine that separates and collects two units of red blood cells, then safely returns

1.) Your donation could save up to 3 lives

2.) In the US, someone needs blood every 2 seconds the remaining blood components, along with some saline, back to you through the same arm -- and just one needle jab is required. A Power Red donation takes approximately 30 minutes longer than a whole blood donation, so plan on about 35-45 minutes in the chair. You're limited to donating approximately once every four months. New donors are welcome and urgently needed. Questions about giving blood, or a Power Red donation? Read more at redcrossblood.org.

Roman Hernandez, 87

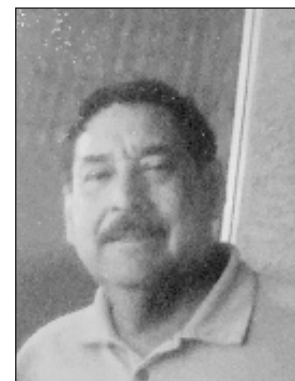

press Mine until he retired. Roman also helped build the Besh Ba Gowah ruins when he worked for the City of Globe. He was an employee at Walmart for a short time and has worked countless removals and funeral services for Lamont Mortuary for 20 years. He served his dues with the Elks Lodge as well as the American Legion for many years. Roman had known his late wife, Rachel Mariscal, since she was a little girl; they used to go horseback riding together by the stockyards. They were both longtime friends. As the years went by, in 1987, Rachel moved in with him as a friend. A few years later they became a couple. After 29 years being together, Roman and Rachel were married on Aug. 15, 2016. They were married for three short years but spent a lifetime together totaling 32 years. Roman adopted Rae-Ann Casillas in 1992 when she was 4 years old. Rae-Ann spent a lot of his retirement days with him on the many travels with Rachel. Before Roman lost his wife in 2019, they would hop in the truck and go wherever the road would take them. They hiked the back roads, looking for old rocks as well as aluminum cans that they could sell. Roman and Rachel would pop in and out of different casinos trying to get that extra dollar. Not to mention Roman loved his scratch tickets and Powerball tickets, trying to win that big jackpot. He loved to be on the move and travel the world if he could. When Roman was at home, he always kept himself busy doing things around the house. He would always keep the house clean daily, because he never knew who would come to visit. Roman would always keep an abundance of food and different things in the house so no one would be without. He loved tending to his garden in the backyard when he had it, as well as sitting in the front yard, watering his flowers. By the end of the day, Roman would kick back enjoying an ice cream cone and watch a little TV. He loved watching Tiger Woods, Old Western movies and Ancient Aliens. Not to mention he also enjoyed watching The Price is Right every morning while sipping on his coffee and eating his cherry sweet croissant. Roman was a whole lot of stubborn in his old ways but had the biggest heart, helping anyone in need. He was wise, a patriot and a true man's man; he was our hero.

Anyone that knew Morty knew that he believed that riches came from all that God provided. From the sunrise to the sunset, the beautiful pastures he saddled up and rode in every day or even all those events he spent dallying the rope with the best of his friends; it was something that he felt was much more precious than diamonds and gold. It was the simplest of abundance that made Morty a rich man. He loved his wife, children, family, grandchildren, ranching family, roping family, horse and cats. Morty was a well-respected cowboy and rancher, a man of his word, a man of God and a fantastic roper. Morty spent several years serving as a Deacon at the Maranatha Baptist Church and Leader in the children's AWANA Group.

Letter

By DR. DAN MORTON

Contributor

It always amazes me when a movie comes to an end and there is a very lengthy list of those who made it happen. In reading the writings of the apostle Paul, he includes many people who have been of help to him.

Romans was written as an introduction of Christianity to the people of Rome. Having provided a background of this new faith and the benefits to be received by accepting and pursuing it, he begins the list. At the top of the list is the one whom he entrusted to deliver this letter.

Romans 16:1: "I commend to you our sister Phoebe, a servant of the church in Cenchrea. I ask you to receive her in the Lord in a way worthy of the saints and to give her any help she may need from you, for she has been a great help to many people, including me."

The writing of a letter in Bible times was not as simple as putting words on paper as a handwritten note, but in Paul's case, usually required the services of a scribe. He admits to writing in large letters as his eyesight was poor. Having produced the letter, it was then necessary to send it and this was usually hand carried by an individual chosen by the writer.

Paul wrote many and we are fortunate that they survived, for there was no carbon paper or copy machines to keep duplicates.

Worship

Are you prepared for that day?

By PASTOR NICK JONES
Maranatha Baptist Church

Preparation is important. Whether you are talking about being prepared for a class, a job, or even to cook a meal, you must have all of the books, tools, or ingredients necessary to be successful in the task. However, what if you are not prepared? Obviously, unpreparedness does not help you succeed. In some instances, unpreparedness actually causes you to completely fail in your task. Or as we like to say in my family, "If you fail to plan, you plan to fail."

What about death? How are you preparing to die? Now at first, that may seem like a strange question. "How can anyone prepare to die?" On the other hand, there are a number of ways to prepare for death. You can make sure that you have an end-of-life plan, a will, and an executor. Some people even visit funeral homes while they are alive to pick out their own coffin. However, that's not the kind of preparation that I have in mind. I'm asking if you are prepared for the actual moment of death, the moment when you leave this world and stand before your Creator.

As a pastor, I have the privilege of walking with people through some of the most important parts of their lives. I get to visit newborn babies in the hospital, step into the waters of baptism with those who are professing their faith in Christ, and witness the first moments of a marriage as I proudly pronounce the happy couple man and wife. These are only a few of the great joys of the pastorate. However, I also must walk with people through sickness, despair, and even to that moment of death.

Last week was rough. A member of my church family left this world and entered into the next. Morty Van Haren has been a member of Maranatha Baptist Church for over 30 years. He has been a friend, mentor, teacher, role model, and is my brother in Christ. While many people will miss him, one thing I know for certain is that although that day caught me off guard, Morty was prepared.

You see, death is something we all know is coming one day. It could be today, tomorrow, or years from now. However, you can be certain that one day you will die. Yes, it's not a thought we usually like to linger on, but I truly believe we should. I believe we should consider our own death because we can be prepared for the moment. How? Only through faith in Christ.

If death is merely an ending, then there would be nothing for which you must prepare. Yet death is not just an ending, but a beginning of a new kind of existence. Even the most irreligious or apathetic person tends to believe that something comes after death. The problem is, most people simply make something up, some idea of an afterlife that they believe would be happy for them. I don't know about you, but I don't want to gamble on something as important as my existence after my physical death. I would prefer to have a more stable footing in reality. This is why the truth of the Christian faith is so immensely comforting as we prepare for death. I can know what is to come because I know one who has gone before me.

I don't do well with roller coasters. I never really have. My wife, on the other hand, loves roller coasters. Standing in line, I may calm my fears by asking those who are getting off the ride, "How was it?" They went before me so I can learn from their experience. If I can get some sense of what is to come, I feel better about the unknown.

One of the central claims of the Christian faith is the death and resurrection of Christ. He really died and He really rose from the grave three days later. Now these amazing facts have so many implications in terms of the redemption and justification of God's people; however, the point I want to focus on is that Christ went before us. Therefore, He can know what is to come. What then is to come? God's Word tells us, "each of us will give an account of himself to God" (Romans 14:12).

Are you prepared to give an account of your entire life to God? How do you think that'll go? Have you been good enough? Do you think you deserve heaven? I often hear two common responses to these types of questions. First, an irreligious person, those who simply don't have time or concern for things of God, tend to think that God will simply overlook sins. "I mean... God is love, right? Does He really care about sins?" Or "religious" people, quasi-Christian or otherwise, tend to think they've done enough good to deserve heaven. "I've done so much work, so many good things that I'll definitely earn heaven." Folks, both of these sentiments, and those of similar stripes, are simply wrong.

No, God will not simply overlook sin. God is good and just, He will make sure justice is served. Even the words we speak will be judged (Matthew 12:36). No, you will never be good enough to earn heaven. "All have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23). Then how can anyone be prepared for death? By faith alone in Christ alone.

God knows that we will fail in our own strength. This is why He did something about it! One of the most well-known Bible passages states, "For God so loved the world, that He gave his only Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life" (John 3:16). How do we prepare for death? By believing in Christ. Believe that Christ, God in the flesh, came to Earth, lived a perfect life, and died a sacrificial death for your sins. Believe that He rose from the grave and defeated sin and death once and for all. Believe He has called you to live your life for His glory as you serve and worship together with His body, the church. Believe that He has given us His perfect, inspired Word, the Bible, so that we can have everything we need for life and godliness. This is how you prepare for the life to come.

I will miss my friend Morty. But I am thankful that I will get to see him again as we gather around God's throne. Morty was prepared for that day. I am preparing for that day. Are you prepared for that day?

July memorial and reminder: Turn around, don't drown

On July 22, 2019, Cathy (Sanchez) Cañez was tragically swept away when flash flood water roared down Irene's Wash, right here in Globe. She was a beloved teacher, daughter, sister, mom and friend -- a special education teacher who spent most of her life working with students in the Globe/Miami area. Friends and family turned their grief into action in her memory, with roadside 'Turn Around, Don't Drown' signs and awareness of the deadly danger of flash floods. Monsoon season has arrived; never underestimate the power of water during a flash flood.

Beloved Miami teacher Cathy (Sanchez) Cañez tragically lost her life in a flash flood in July of 2019. Her friends and family have turned their grief into action and are reminding area residents about the dangers of flash floods with the onset of Arizona's monsoon season.

Tell your kids that it only takes six inches of water to sweep a person off their feet, and remind every driver in your family that just 12-18 inches of fast-moving water can carry off a small car, truck or SUV. Be aware of weather conditions and sign up for emergency alerts. In the event of a flash flood, do not attempt to drive, swim or walk through it. Seek higher ground - it could be the difference between life and death.

Find safe shelter right away, or higher ground.

Do not walk, swim or drive through flood waters. Turn Around, Don't Drown!

Miami Outdoor Music: Silver Creek, Norteno with Los Implikados

Miami Genesis and the Globe-Miami Community Concert Association are co-sponsoring another evening of live music Saturday, July 10 from 7 – 10, with Silver Creek. Then mark your calendar and practice your most robust “grito” for a festive night of Musica Norteno; on July 24, Los Implikados will serenade Miami with three hours of guitar-driven ballads and corridos. Preview the band - check out a few videos at facebook.com/Los Implikados.

Summer music is outdoors and free, but bring cash for snack bar options including bean and red chile burros, nachos, soda, candy, popcorn and cotton candy. Saturday night summer music alternates between Miami and Globe each week. On July 17 showtime begins at 6:30, with DJ Big John (rock, classic hits, oldies, country, Latin, R & B, top 40) at City Hall Park in downtown Globe; and on July 31 the Cover-Ups are at City Hall Park at 6:30 p.m. Neto & Imagine return to Miami August 7. August events will be announced at facebook.com/globemiami-concerts.

How can you help support these summer concerts? Donate to the Globe-Miami Community Concert Association, by sending a check or money order to P.O. Box 1222, Claypool, AZ 85532. For information, call Peggy at (928) 812-1696 or email globemiamiconcerts@gmail.com
