Dominion Cutting Co. celebrates expansion

Tonto National Forest releases Draft Environmental Impact Statement for Pinto Valley Mine project

PHOENIX —The USDA Forest Service released the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DE-IS) for the Pinto Valley Mine project for public review and comment. The mining plan of operations submitted by Pinto Valley Mining Corp. proposes to expand existing open pit copper and molybdenum mining operations from private lands onto National Forest System lands. The proposal would extend the mine life to 2039 and consolidate prior authorizations that are reasonably incident to mining and processing of mineral resources. Expansion is estimated to produce 2.4 billion pounds of copper and 23.7 million pounds of molybdenum from 2020 to 2039. Copper is heavily used in industrial, agricultural and energy applications and is a common component of electronics. The proposed expansion would extend about 700 jobs during mining operations. Expansion also would result in about 1,011 acres of new disturbance, including 245 acres on National Forest System lands and 766 acres on private land owned by Pinto Valley Mining Corp. Existing surface disturbance associated with Pinto Valley Mine facilities encompasses an estimated 3,845 acres, of which 3,389 acres are on private and 456 acres are on National Forest System lands. "The Forest Service's multiple use mission results in balancing demand for economic productivity with our commitment to environmental stewardship and sustainability," said Tonto National Forest Supervisor Neil Bosworth. "The Forest Service is required to consider proposed plans of operations for mining. If the plans of operation meet environmental regulations and other requirements, we're required to approve them under the General Mining Law of 1872." A Notice of Availability also was released in the Federal Register today and begins a 45-day public comment period from Dec. 14, 2019, through Jan. 27, 2020. The DEIS, along with ways to comment, are available at: <http://www.pintovalleymineeis.us/>.

Volunteer for the Annual Homeless Count Jan. 21

GILA COUNTY — January brings the annual nationwide census of homeless people, and volunteers are needed for the Jan. 21-26 tally. An accurate count is particularly important this year, supporting efforts such as the Gila County Task Force on Homelessness by providing up-to-date numbers of our homeless population: statistical information that will prove increasingly crucial during 2020 and 2021 to obtain state and federal funding for local programs that can help lift people from the cycles of poverty and homelessness.

To volunteer, or to share helpful and specific information about places where homeless people can reliably be found or camped call Community Action Program Case Manager Allison Torres at 928-402-8699 or email atorres@gilacountyaz.gov.

Volunteers are partnered with experienced outreach workers or service providers to work as survey teams. Volunteers must be at least 18 years old, but no experience is required — volunteers will be trained on the survey process as well as strategies for engaging with people. An accurate count is essential for Gila County, updated numbers help social service workers plan ahead for seasonal needs of the homeless population - plus statistical backup when applying for grant money.

If your church, organization or business has contact with homeless people who should be counted, Torres also has surveys available and will provide them if you call her at 928-402-8699.

Old Dominion Mine Park topic at Wednesday Hardscrabble

MIAMI — Old Dominion Historic Mine Park, situated on the grounds of the Old Dominion Mine, is a wonderful place that draws kids, hikers, and those interested in Arizona mining history. The park offers a picnic pavilion, walking trails, and a truly wonderful mining themed kids' playground. But this jewel in our community didn't come easy... or cheap... It took an idea by a small group of locals who were tenacious to see a dream come true.

For the first Wednesday Hardscrabble program in the new year at Bullion Plaza Cultural Center and Museum in Miami, come hear one of those "dreamers," Dr. Thea Wilshire, starting at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 15. This event is free to the public.

Twenty years in the making, and hundreds of volunteers donating thousands of hours, almost $750,000 has gone into the development of the Old Dominion Mine Park. Come to the Hardscrabble lecture to hear more about the community effort and unique public-private partnerships that facilitated the creation of the park, as well as ongoing plans for park development.

Wednesday Hardscrabble programs are co-hosted by Gila County Historical Museum in Globe and Bullion Plaza Cultural Center and Museum in Miami.

Ramon R. Gonzales known to many as Monchie or Uncle Moo went to meet his maker on Jan. 5, 2020 at the age of 89, short five weeks of his 90th birthday which he was anxiously awaiting to celebrate.

Ramon was born to Trinidad and Refugia Gonzales on Feb. 11, 1930. As a young boy, he used to pair up with his brother Jesus and sing all the time. They called the duet «compadres». He also enjoyed collecting old bicycle parts and putting them together for his younger brothers.

When he graduated from high school he went to work at the 7Up Bottling Co where he would make the different flavored sodas and then deliver the cases to different merchants.

When the company closed down he worked at a local merchandise warehouse and later went to Phoenix where he worked at another fruit and vegetable warehouse as a delivery man. His last job when he retired was at Magma Copper.

Even though he never had children of his own, he had many nieces and nephews whom he loved dearly. He especially liked babies as he liked pinching their chubby cheeks.

Everyone who had the pleasure of meeting Monchie knew him to be a gentle generous man. He will best be remembered by his kindness and extraordinary sense of humor.

He was preceded in death by his lifelong partner, Dorothy Smith, his siblings; Jose Saenz.

Public Comments Open for Highway Tank Project

SAN CARLOS — The San Carlos Tribal Fire Use and RTRL Programs, in cooperation with other Tribal Interdisciplinary Team members, are proposing to implement a number of vegetation restoration projects in the northwest corner of the Reservation, approximately 108,000 acres. These projects focus on increasing grasses and reducing fire hazard in woodlands and grasslands. Treated areas will have increased forage for cattle and wildlife, less soil erosion, and provide economic opportunities to Tribal members for harvesting and collecting firewood. Some boundary projects may be completed in a collaboration with the Tonto National Forest.

A draft Environmental Assessment for this proposal is available for review and comment for the next 30 days. Contact Alan Rose, RTRL Planner, at 928-475-2326, or by email at arose@forestry.scot.nsn.gov for a copy of this Assessment.

Superior Home Tour Jan. 25 and 26

SUPERIOR — On Jan. 25 and 26, the quaint Town of Superior will open her doors to all who enjoy watching a small, once struggling Town make an amazing comeback. Once a mining Town, Superior is now a Town that will soon have a World Class mine. Copper is King in this part of Arizona and will continue to be for many years as more and more uses of this precious commodity are discovered.

Several older, refurbished homes are being shown at the 12th Annual Home and Building Tour, including an old adobe home, of which there were many “back in the day”. Superior is famous for its re-purposing of things and this adobe is no exception. One of the historic red brick “mine houses” will be shown this year. Solid as can be, this block long row of houses, with majestic views, are sought after by many.

Back by popular demand is the magnificent, historic Hotel Magma, circa 1913, whose doors were open to the public in early 2019. The beauty and detail of the hotel and tea room are a “must see”, along with the small jail tucked behind the building.

The Magma Club, a community center for Magma Mine employees that hosted dinners, dancing and boxing matches, will house the annual Antique Show, with quality antiques that are sure to please and bring memories to attendees. Relax and listen to live music on the veranda of this historical building.

Interested in more History about Superior? Listen to fascinating stories of the past, including Wyatt Earp, presenting a short play “Life on the Frontier”. Mattie Earp, the common law wife of the legendary Wyatt Earp, is buried in Superior.

You’re in for a great treat if you haven’t seen the exquisite, handmade pottery from the village of Mata Ortiz in Mexico.

The artists themselves will be bringing a load of this beautiful ware to the event.

Weather permitting, pieces will be fired in an open fire during demonstrations. It’s hard to admire it and not take a piece home.

Two great days for just $13 prepaid, $15 at the door.

Bonus: tickets also include a two for one pass to the Boyce Thompson Arboretum and a two for one pass to the Renaissance Festival. Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Superior Chamber of Commerce, 165 W. Main St., Superior AZ. 85173. Superiorarizonachamber.org. 520-689-0200.

Mining Law of 1872 to be the topic at Community Working Group Jan. 22

SUPERIOR — The Superior Community Working Group (CWG) will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 22 to learn about and discuss the Mining Law of 1872 with noted retired attorney Roger Ferland. Primarily representing businesses, Ferland has been labeled ‘Arizona’s first environmental lawyer’. He was recognized by the international Who’s Who of Environmental Lawyers and named the Best Lawyers environmental lawyer of the year. He was also named Outstanding Disabled Veteran of the Year in 2014. The CWG meeting will be held at the Superior Chamber of Commerce from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The public is welcome, and time is reserved on the agenda for everyone’s comments, questions, and discussion. The CWG includes residents and stakeholders from the Town of Superior, Queen Valley, Hewitt Station, Globe, Kearny, Winkelman, Hayden, the San Carlos Community and around the area. The group deals with the social and environmental issues, science and policy, and the pros and cons of the proposed Resolution Copper Project. Topics include environmental impacts, health, safety, natural resource issues, engineering, water quantity and quality, geology, economics, air quality, community investments, recreational changes and other related subjects. More information about the CWG as well as agendas, meeting summaries, and past presentations are available for public review at the Superior Chamber of Commerce offices and at the Superior Public Library at 99 North Kellner Avenue, as well as online at <http://SuperiorAZCWG.org/>.

Conversation

By DR. DAN MORTON

Contributor

I was working at a Christian retreat center in Connecticut when we hosted 10 teenage young men from Kazakhstan, the second largest of the republics of the USSR. Their country had sponsored them to come to the United States to choose a college or university which they would like to attend.

One morning they were lined up in the lobby, waiting for a bus to take them to Boston to visit MIT, Harvard, and other schools in the area. Not a word was spoken as they each had their own palm devices and were busy texting. I noticed the lack of conversation and what is taking place in this modern generation. Then I saw one had a slinky in his hand and quietly I said, "Yes. There is still some child left!"

Sitting in the waiting room of a local garage, a local old-time cowboy sat down beside me. I struck up a conversation with him and learned he was born on a ranch a short distance away. He had grown up on the same ranch where he now lives. He answered my questions and shared history of the area. I found it most interesting and all too quickly the time had passed and my car was ready.

Today children are taught not to speak to strangers, but good conversation can teach so much. The Apostle Paul instructed us, "Let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ." (Philippians 1:27) Say something good to one another.

Augustine: A Servant of God

By PASTOR NICK JONES
Maranatha Baptist Church

Considered to be a towering figure in church history, Augustine of Hippo has been noted as being one of the primary influencers on the western church and society since his public ministry in the late fourth and early fifth centuries. His theological and philosophical influence is still seen today in both Roman Catholic and Protestant churches. The spread and influence of Augustine can be partially attributed to his prolific work as a writer. French Philosopher Nourrisson comments, "If St. Augustine had left nothing but his Confessions and the City of God, one could readily understand the respectful sympathy that surrounds his memory."

Augustine was born on Nov. 13, 354 AD in a small town in the North African country of Numidia, known today as Algeria. Augustine's mother, Monica, was a committed follower of Christ, while his father, Patricius, was not. Augustine received a Christian education early in life. However, studying grammar and literature in his teen years,

In creation, God made light and recognized that it was good. Light from the sun gives life to everything on the earth. Without it the plants would perish and without plants the animals

Augustine became more interested in philosophy rather than theology.

His craving for philosophical satisfaction came to fruition when his move to Carthage to study rhetoric brought him in contact with Cicero's Hortensius. Augustine writes in his famed Confessions, "In Greek the love of wisdom is called 'philosophy', with which that book inflamed me." Later in his life, Augustine would recognize that Hortensius was a tool that God was using to providentially soften his heart and point him to the reality that there is hope but it cannot be found in self. He comments, "This book, in truth, changed my affections, and turned my prayers to Thyself, O Lord, and made me have other hopes and desires."

Eventually, he was appointed professor of rhetoric in Milan where he would come hear the most famous orator of the day, Bishop Ambrose. While Augustine was not originally interested in Ambrose's Christian message, he was delighted at his skilled preaching. After hearing Ambrose preach, Augustine became more willing to reinvestiwould perish and without both humans would perish. Heat and light are essential to life itself.

But the Bible talks of those who choose to walk in darkness. They choose to do their evil deeds where no one can see them. This is not from above. God wants us gate the faith of his childhood. Everett Ferguson explains, "From [Ambrose], Augustine heard a much more intellectually respectable interpretation of the Scriptures than he had heard growing up in North Africa."

Writing of Augustine's conversion experiences, historian Philip Schaff comments, "If ever there was a thorough and fruitful conversion, next to that of Paul on the way to Damascus, it was that of Augustine." While sitting in his garden and struggling in his heart and mind over his own sin, Augustine heard a child sing out "pick up and read." He saw a copy of Paul's letters nearby and read the words of Romans 13:13-14. The admonition to "put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh" struck him and changed his life forever. Through these words, God Himself was speaking to the troubled heart of Augustine. He was then baptized by Ambrose on Easter Sunday in 387.

Augustine spent time living a monastic lifestyle before being called upon to serve the church as the bishop of Hippo. Augustine to understand and to know and to do what is right so that we may be happy and safe. II Corinthians 4:6 reads -- For it is the God who commanded light to shine out of darkness, who has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus was given important pastoral duties; however, his role in combating controversy is one of the reasons he is so well-known today. Augustine's role in the Donatist and Pelagian controversies sealed his status as a defender of orthodoxy.

The Donatists believed that the church had become corrupted through sinful bishops and church members and therefore no longer had a true baptism or right to the Lord's Supper. Augustine argued against the Donatists' claim of perfectionism in the church and that only God truly knew the hearts of baptized individuals. Roger Olsen writes, "Augustine accused the Donatists of a sin worse than condoning impurity: dividing the church." Augustine's arguments against the Donatists became the Roman Catholic Church's standard response for any schismatic or reform group to come.

Christ.

Ephesians 5: 8-10 shows -- For you were once darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Walk as children of light ⁹ (for the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness, righteousness, and truth), ¹⁰ finding out what is acceptable to the Lord. True understanding

The Pelagian debates, however, brought forth important soteriological issues to the forefront of the church. Pelagius was a British monk who came to North Africa teaching that sin was not inherited through Adam and that mankind had the autonomous ability to live righteously or sinfully. Contrary to these beliefs, Augustine held to the notion of original sin, that mankind was in bondage to sin until the gracious workings of God. This controversy brought out great zeal in Augustine as he was fighting for, as he believed, the very truth of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Olsen explains, "Augustine was more outraged by Pelagius than by any other rival." Augustine's vigorous opposition to Pelagius is clearly seen in his numerous anti-Pelagian writings. These works were written between 412 and 429 and are some of his most influconsists of finding out what is acceptable to the Lord.

I talk with so many who reject the concept of the existence of God and laugh at the moral code God has given. They are such angry people with such a louche view of life and the world

Forgiveness and accepential and valuable works for the church. Schaff comments, "In them Augustine, in his intellectual and spiritual prime, develops his system of anthropology and soteriology, and most nearly approaches the position of evangelical Protestantism."

Augustine's most difficult moment as a pastor came during the fall of Rome. As refugees from Rome began to flood into Hippo, Augustine addressed the issue in his important City of God. In the book, Augustine argued that God's ultimate purpose was to build His Kingdom, His heavenly city. As followers of Christ, we are not to look to the cities of this world for our hope and comfort; rather we should desire to be a part of what God is doing in all of redemptive history to bring about His purposes.

Augustine of Hippo was a man that God used mightily at just the right time in history. He was a man who, as his Confessions show, was well aware of his sin and need of Christ. However, he also was a man that fought fiercely for the truth of the Gospel of Christ and who continues to influence believers today.

tance is in Christ. To be forgiven and accepted brings peace that these fold can never have. I John 1:7 says it all -- But if we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanses us from all sin.

Annual Home Tour cancelled

Dear Editor:

I know that for many of you, Home Tour is a beloved annual event put on by the Chamber, which is why I write this with a heavy heart - Home Tour has been cancelled this year. As attendance rates have declined, it simply does not make sense to continue moving forward as we previously have.

With the support of my Board of Directors, we believe that holding off until next year will give us a sufficient amount of time to revive Home Tour. Not only will we be able to offer more next year, but we'll also be able to advertise it more thoroughly to ensure we have a great turnout.

Remember, Home Tour isn't going away. We're excited to bring it back bigger and better next year! We'll see you at the Globe Historic Home and Building Tour in Spring of 2021!

It makes me sad to share our decision but I know that next year Home Tour will be awesome and we're very much looking forward to it. Thank you for helping us get the word out.

Superintendent Sandoval: "Thanks, BHP for Supporting Student Science Fair!"

Dear Editor:

How's this for a stocking-stuffer? Just before Christmas the Gila County School Superintendent's Office and Gila County Education Service Agency received a donation of $5,000 from BHP Billiton. Even though this globe-spanning copper company is based in Australia, BHP continues to demonstrate commitment right here in Globe-Miami.

December is sometimes called 'the season of giving,' and what a wonderful expression of BHP's support for our students in Gila County! In particular, this donation will help sponsor the annual Gila County Regional Science Fair in March, an event which engages schools from Hayden-Winkelman all the way up to Pine-Strawberry; including the San Carlos Apache and Tonto Apache school systems. This letter is a sincere 'Thank You' to BHP, and also an invitation that I hope the mining company's local chemists and engineers will accept:

to come meet participating students at the Science Fair on March 5. In fact, we'd be honored to have their expertise as judges for the morning competition, which will be held at the Gila County Fairgrounds exhibit hall. If you love science and support education, please mark that date on your 2020 calendar. If you'd like to help judge our event, please call Vanessa at 928-402-8788.

Want three compelling reasons to visit on event day? For one, our science fair is well-organized and free. Secondly, you're virtually guaranteed to learn 10 surprising new things, and thirdly, I guarantee you'll be entertained. Last year a few of the more creatively titled exhibit entries were 'Human Battery Life' and 'The Curviness of Rollerblading.'

BHP's generous donation also offers a chance for our students to learn about a local company which continues to make Gila County a place where our graduates can put their education, and their college degrees, to work. Did you know BHP continues to maintain and improve the iconic headframe and other venerable structures at the Old Dominion Park, where the company partnered with the City of Globe, the Chamber of Commerce, and many volunteers, all working together to create trails and exhibits that teach kids today about Territorial Era copper mining here in Globe-Miami? Old Dominion Park is the most visible example of BHP's commitment to our community. A few more examples include preserving the 'Miami Entrance Bridge' over Bloody Tanks Wash between Claypool and Miami, stabilizing the wash last year, and removing asbestos piping alongside the wash. BHP is truly a corporate partner helping to make a future as bright and shiny as coiled copper for our students!

County Superintendent

CASA of Gila County Celebrates National Mentoring Month

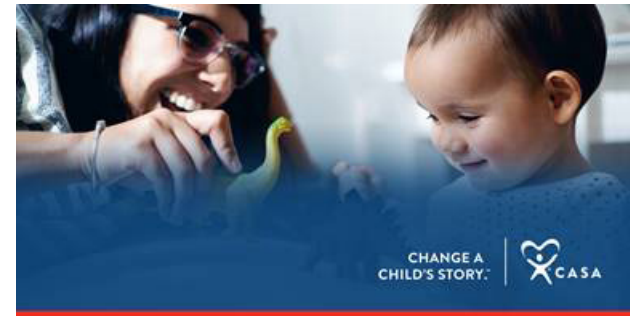

Gila County — January is National Mentoring Month, and this year Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Gila County is aiming to recruit quality volunteers to connect more of our community's youth in foster care with caring adults.

National Mentoring Month is the time of year where engagement from community members interested in becoming a mentor is highest. With the support of the mentoring community, we are encouraging the public to go beyond just digital engagement — and become involved in real life.

"Caring, consistent adult mentors can mean the difference between success and struggle for children and young adults," said Emily Nader, CASA Coordinator in Gila County. "They need to know there are adults who are going to stay with them throughout their journey in the foster care system and help them cope with what is happening."

Studies have shown that a child in foster care that is assigned a CASA volunteer is more likely to succeed in school, more likely to find a safe, permanent home, and half as likely to re-enter the foster care system.

Research shows that mentors play a powerful role in providing young people with the tools to strive and thrive, to attend and engage in school, and to reduce or avoid risky behavior like drug use. In turn, these young people are:

55 percent more likely to be enrolled in college

81 percent more likely to report participating regularly in sports or extracurricular activities

78 percent more likely to volunteer regularly in their communities.

More than twice as likely to say they held a leadership position in a club or sports team.

Yet, only one in six Arizona children in foster care have a CASA volunteer. Today, there are over 14,000 children in Arizona who have been removed from their homes due to abuse and/or neglect.

At the same time, research shows that 44 percent of adults are not yet mentoring but are willing to consider it.

"We are so grateful for each person who takes on the role of a mentor. It is needed. It is important," said Nader.

Each year since National Mentoring Month's launch by MENTOR in 2002, it has enjoyed the strong support of the President and the United States Congress.

Other prominent individuals who have participated in the campaign include: Maya Angelou, former President Bill Clinton, Clint Eastwood, Quincy Jones, Cal Ripken Jr., Bill Russell, and Usher.

Become a CASA volunteer today. Court Appointed Special Advocates are everyday community members who donate their time to be the voice for a child. CASA volunteers visit with the children regularly, filling that mentor role. They follow the progress of the child's court case, interview important people in the child's life, and report their observations back to the court so the judge can make informed decisions on behalf of the child.

No specific background or training is needed to become a CASA volunteer. Anyone 21 years of age or older, who can pass a thorough background check and complete 30 hours of free training, is encouraged to apply.

In the southern region of India, many individuals are skilled at making a dish known as "dosa." Uttappam is a type of dosa that can be flavored with tomatoes, onions or grated cheese. This dosa recipe for "Semolina Pancake with Onion and Cilantro (Rava Uttappam)" courtesy of "India's Vegetarian Cooking" (Kyle Cathie Limited) by Monisha Bharadwaj, gets its punch from onion and cilantro and can be enjoyed hot right from the pan.

Semolina Pancake with Onion and Cilantro (Rava Uttappam) Serves 4

1 medium onion, finely chopped

1 heaping cup coarse semolina

Pinch of turmeric

Salt, to taste

Handful of cilantro leaves, finely chopped

2 fresh green chiles, finely chopped
Sunflower oil for shallow frying

Combine the onion, semolina, turmeric, salt, cilantro, and chiles in a mixing bowl. Pour in enough cold water to make a batter of pouring consistency, almost like thick custard.

Heat 1 tablespoon of oil in a large pan. Pour a ladleful of the batter into the center and spread it in quick circles to form a flattish disc about 4 inches in diameter. Cover the pan and let the pancake cook in its steam.

Flip the pancake over when the underside has turned gold and spotted. Cook the other side by dotting the edges with some oil and covering the pan. Keep warm.

Make all the pancakes similarly and serve hot with chutney.
