Sheriff's Reserve Posse receives funding for new radios

By David Sowders
Assistant Editor

Last Tuesday, Gila County Sheriff's Reserve Posse Commander Guy Peterson accepted a $16,000 check from the Gila County Board of Supervisors to purchase new 800 MHz radios for the Reserve Posse and Gila County Search and Rescue.

In an Aug. 5, 2024 letter to County Supervisor Tim Humphrey, Peterson wrote that, since the Gila County Sheriff's Office, Globe Police Department and Globe Fire Department have switched over to new 800 MHz radios, the Reserve

Last Tuesday, the Gila County Sheriff's Reserve Posse and Search and Rescue received $16,000 from the County Board of Supervisors to purchase new 800 MHz radios. Pictured, from left, are County Supervisor Woody Cline, Sheriff's Reserve Posse Commander Guy Peterson and County Supervisor Tim Humphrey.

Posse and Search and Rescue would need to update their own communication systems.

The funds will be used to buy 16 Kenwood NX-5400K2 800 MHz analog/multi-protocol digital portable radios, along with programming and system activations. Peterson wrote that they would allow both organizations to "obtain the most current information for any scenario they are assisting with." He told the Copper Country News that the radios "are above a lot of scanners."

Posse members aid in evacuations during natural disasters, conduct patrol operations for community events, and provide security at high-risk jury trials and such events as the Gila County Fair and Globe's First Friday. Search and Rescue works with law enforcement and emergency responders to find those who are lost or injured in the wilderness or have wandered away from home.

In 2022, the Reserve Posse conducted 1,523 missions totaling 7,059 man-hours; Search and Rescue conducted six missions for a total of 2,155 man-hours. There are now a dozen Search and Rescue members. Their missions can range down to Winkelman, over to San Carlos and as far north as Young, though they have also assisted with operations in the Four Peaks area.

Peterson, a native of Globe, told the Copper Country News he puts in around 1,000 volunteer hours a year. "I like doing it. I do it because it's somebody waiting for help."

A retired firefighter – he was there, with Canyon Fire District, when the Dominion Hotel in Globe burned down – Peterson also knows every Forest Service road number by heart. It's knowledge that comes in handy not only for rescues, but sometimes for lighter situations. That was the case when, by phone, he helped a delivery driver in northern Gila County find the address where they were delivering flowers on Valentine's Day.

In other cases, the outcome is much grimmer. Peterson said they have recovered the bodies of people who fell down mine shafts, and he was part of last year's search for a missing hiker at Round Mountain Park, who was found deceased.

Peterson also said he likes tracking lost people, especially by night using a flashlight. He recalled one successful rescue where he tracked a lost woman by only an emblem in the tread of her slippers.

In his letter to Humphrey, Peterson noted that the Sheriff's Reserve Posse and Search and Rescue are primarily funded through providing security at private or community events and donations from a variety of organizations.

It's Your Problems That Make You Worth Knowing

By Pastor Greg S. Baker
First Baptist Church of Miami

Imagine what it would be like with no problems, no difficulties, and no troubles. You're probably thinking of how peaceful and easy your life would be. Sounds great, doesn't it? But there is a negative side to such bliss. The rest of us would see a weak person with nothing to offer, nothing of substance, and nothing of interest.

The things we hold most valuable in people are born out of adversity, not ease. Imagine watching a movie that only detailed how easy everyone had it, with nothing to overcome, nothing to triumph over, and nothing to strive for. You would be bored stiff, because if nothing ever bad happened to the good guys, if they didn't have to struggle, if they didn't have to overcome anything, you would not be interested.

Imagine a novel where there were no antagonists—bad guys—and no problems for anyone. What would be the point of reading it? What would the book offer you? Nothing.

The same is true for you. What makes you worth knowing is the strength, experience, and hope you gained from all those problems and difficulties you have had to overcome. Our problems define us, because they show our strengths, our weaknesses, our achievements, and our experiences. Thus, these experiences are what we bring to the table in a relationship.

When people need help, it's interesting how they seek out those who have faced similar experiences and trials. When a man loses his wife, he finds more comfort in someone else who has lost his or her spouse. They understand him. They can bring something to the table that no one else can.

So many of you have gone through horrific circumstances and situations. As a pastor, I ache for you and the burden that you carry. If I am aware of it, I will pray for you. But know this: these same horrific experiences have given you great depth to your character. They have added flavor, interest, and intrigue to your personality. They have made you the unique person you are, and they have made you a person worth knowing.

God Understands Your Problems

God understands this. Many times, people run to God in the hopes that God will sprinkle some magical spoofoal dust on them and—shazam! Take away all the problems. However, God won't. God knows that going through the problem is what will add interesting dimensions and needed strength to your life.

Proverbs 24:10 – If thou faint in the day of adversity, thy strength is small.

Instead, God wants this reaction from you:

James 1:2-4 – My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

That perfection, or completeness, only comes through those trials. It is the difficulties that you go through that make you valuable to others, to God, and to yourself.

The stories we most enjoy joy from the Bible are those of individuals who went through great trials and those who suffered greatly. Not because we enjoy seeing others suffer, but because we admire their strength, their courage, their character, and their determination. It is qualities like those that we find intriguing and interesting in others.

 The strongest marriages I know are from those that have suffered through great difficulties. Therefore, the strongest relationships I have are born out of struggles. This includes my relationship with Jesus Christ.
1 Peter 4:1 – For as much then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin;
