learned, but there is one unanswered question: Who took the cowboys' picture?

The young town had its share of photographers, including men like Charles Farciot and Cicero Grime. Both are stories in their own right, but neither was in Globe in 1883. Grime was in Yuma Territorial Prison, doing time for his part in an 1882 robbery-murder; Farciot was even farther away, in Alaska. There is another possibility, though: a photographer who was definitely in town that year, J.C. Burge. "Burge...has some of the best views of Arizona scenery ever taken," the Silver Belt declared on April 14, 1883. In May, the paper called his studio "the neatest little gallery in Arizona." Whether or not he took the cowboys' group photo – that has yet to be established – Burge offered "a great diversity of stereoscopic views of a highly interesting character (Arizona Silver Belt, Sept. 1, 1883)."

Joseph Campbell Burge, born in Virginia in 1838, captured several images of Apache scouts in the area. He also, according to the Silver Belt, went north to photograph the Arizona Mineral Belt Railroad and Tonto Natural Bridge. [Burge was listed under Photographers, doing business in Globe, in the 1884-85 Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming and Arizona Gazetteer and Business Directory.] Burge left Globe for Flagstaff in April 1884, the Silver Belt reported. He eventually set up shop in Southern New Mexico. Later, while in El Paso, Texas, he photographed the body of John Wesley Hardin after the latter was shot by John Selman in 1895.

Defining unconditional love

By Greg S. Baker
Pastor of First Baptist Church of Miami, AZ

The common definition of unconditional love is to love someone no matter what they do, but that is not true. To love someone unconditionally means you cannot look to the person to define your love for them. Most of us look at the object of our love to define our love based on them instead of what is in us.

The wrong unconditional love

Ask the average person why they love their spouse, boyfriend, or girlfriend, and they'll say "Because they are pretty, smart, a good listener, a hard worker...they make me feel special, and so forth and so on." This automatically puts conditions on love, defining it based on what the other person is or is not. If those things change, so will the love.

This is why it is so easy to "fall in love" and then out of it. This is not unconditional love.

Most people, when they speak of unconditional love, mean "I'll love you no matter what life brings our way." This is noble and honorable and something I hope is true. But it is not unconditional love, because they are still defining it based on who the other person is or is not.

The correct unconditional love

God gives us a hint when He said in the Bible, "God is love." This teaches us what true unconditional love is. God loves us because He is love. It has nothing to do with who we are, what we do, or what we don't do.

Your unconditional love is based on you, not the person you love. If you love someone because you have such love in your heart, it won't matter if the other person is smart, makes you feel good, is good-looking, or is a hard worker. It won't matter if they hurt you, disappoint you, betray you, or refuse to return your love. You'll love that person because your heart is filled with love. This is true unconditional love.

Do you have unconditional love?

Take a long look at yourself. Do you have unconditional love? Can you love the unlovable? Can you love someone when they hurt or betray you? Can you love your enemies? That is the true test. God told us to love our enemies (Matthew 5:22), but you can only do that if you have love in you. If you define unconditional love based on who you are, you'll come much closer to what it is than if you base it on who the other person is or is not.

For the unconditional to be unconditional, there must be no conditions on which you base your love. The only way to do that is to define it based on the love you possess already. It isn't based on how you feel about someone. Feelings are conditional, products of outside stimuli. You won't always feel love, but you can always love because it is who you are.

Indeed, God loves you because that is who He is. It has nothing to do with you. His love is truly unconditional. Is yours?

Meringue Ghosts recipe

You won't be able to resist these sweet, light and crispy ghosts. Decorate them yourself or with someone you love.

Ingredients

Yield: 16

- 3 egg whites
- 3/4 cup white sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 tube of black or brown gel icing

Directions

Preheat the oven to 200F and prepare a parchment-lined baking sheet.

Pour about a cup of water into a saucepan and bring to a boil.

In a large metal bowl, whisk together the egg whites, sugar and cream of tartar. Place the bowl over the pot of boiling water to create a double boiler. Make sure the bowl doesn't touch the water. Heat the mixture, constantly whisking, until the sugar is dissolved. Remove the bowl from the saucepan and whip with an electric mixer until stiff peaks form. Carefully pour the mixture into a pastry bag or resealable plastic bag with a cut corner.

Pipe 16 ghost shapes.

Masons' Clothe a Child

Saturday, Dec. 14, 2024 at 8 a.m., White Mountain Lodge #3 F & AM will hold the annual Dave Johnson Clothe a Child at Bealls Outlet west of WalMart in Miami, Arizona. We will buy clothes for approximately twenty-four children 5 to 10 years old. We will seek the assistance of Destiny and Globe school teachers to select 12 children from Globe and 12 children from Destiny. In addition to clothes each child will be given a sack of goodies and a card for a Breakfast Box at Taco Bell Miami.

This program has been held every year for over 58 years. Dave Johnson was a longtime supporter and upon his passing asked that donations be made to Clothe a Child. The program operates on donations, and any are appreciated. Make donation to White Mountain Lodge #3, which is a tax exempt 501(c)(10).

Bealls Outlet assists the program by opening the store one hour before normal business and gives discounts on purchases.

Volunteers help the children select clothes and more volunteers are always welcome.

Breakfast will be served for all volunteers at the Masonic Temple, 180 N. Broad St., third floor.

For more information contact James Rasmussen at (928) 701-3646 or any Mason.

Take hot chocolate to the next level

People tend to think of sipping ice cream floats in the middle of summer when temperatures are soaring. Ice cream floating in a bubbling base of cola or root beer can be a welcome treat on a hot day. However, floats can be just as delicious when the weather chills, particularly when ice cream enhances rich and decadent hot chocolate.

For this "Hot Chocolate Float" from "Chocolate: Over 100 Temptingly-Tasty Dishes" (Love Food) by the Love Food editors, coconut- and chocolate-flavored scoops of ice cream bob and melt in creamy hot chocolate. Feel free to use your favorite flavors of ice cream to make this recipe your own, and you can even make this drink a boozy version with the inclusion of a shot of flavored vodka.

Hot Chocolate Float

Serves 4

- 2 cups milk
- 8 ounces semisweet chocolate
- 2 tablespoons superfine sugar
- 8 scoops coconut ice cream
- 8 scoops semisweet chocolate ice cream

Whipped cream, to decorate

Pour the milk into a saucepan. Break the chocolate into pieces and add to the saucepan with the sugar. Stir over low heat until the chocolate has melted, the sugar has dissolved and the mixture is smooth. Remove the saucepan from the heat.

Put 1 scoop of coconut ice cream into each of 4 heatproof glasses, top with a scoop of chocolate ice cream, then repeat the layers.

Pour the chocolate flavored milk into the glasses, top with whipped cream, and serve immediately.

GLOBE, AZ – Cobre Valley Regional Medical Center (CVRMC) is excited to announce the future opening of its much-anticipated "Highway 60 Clinic," a walk-in clinic located near Cal Ranch and Walmart. This new facility is set to provide essential healthcare services to the community, offering a convenient option for those seeking immediate medical attention without the need for an appointment.

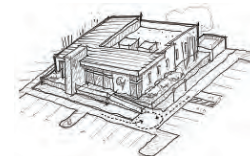

The journey to establish the Highway 60 Clinic has not been without challenges. The initial plans for the clinic encountered an unexpected delay when it was discovered that the proposed location fell within a designated floodway.

Determined to bring this vital service to the community, CVRMC worked with local and federal agencies to reassess the flood maps that impacted the clinic's location. Through extensive modeling, updated maps were drawn to better reflect the actual conditions of the area. CVRMC then submitted a request for a Letter of Map Revision (LOMR) to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), requesting an official change to the flood designation.

On July 29, FEMA issued a LOMR, paving the way for the new clinic. The new facility will offer extend hours to walk-in patients, providing a convenient, affordable option for healthcare services. While the specific timeline for construction and opening is still being finalized, the team is working diligently to bring the project to completion as swiftly as possible.

CVRMC is committed to keeping the community informed as progress continues. Updates on the clinic's development will be shared regularly, with a focus on ensuring that residents are aware of the new healthcare options that will soon be available.

The opening of the Highway 60 Clinic represents a significant step forward in CVRMC's mission to provide comprehensive, accessible healthcare to the region. The medical center looks forward to welcoming patients to this new facility and continuing its tradition of high-quality care for the community.

Tips to carve the perfect jack-o'-lantern

Jack-o'-lanterns are one of many indelible symbols of Halloween. It's hard to pinpoint the precise origins of jack-o'-lanterns, but many historians trace the tradition to 19th century Ireland. In fact, this instantly recognizable staple of Halloween decor actually gets its name from an Irish folktale character named "Stingy Jack."

Jack-o'-lanterns are ubiquitous in October, but a refresher course on carving one can help those who haven't dusted off their carving skills since last fall.

- Don't carve too early. Though it can be tempting and fun to carve a jack-o'-lantern once the calendar turns to October, it's unlikely the finished product will make it all the way to October 31. Horticulturists indicate that jack-o'-lanterns have a shelf life of roughly five to 10 days, though an especially cold October could shorten that life expectancy even further. If you want your jack-o'-lantern to greet trick-or-treaters on Halloween, wait to carve it until a few days before the big day.

- Use a dry-erase marker to outline the design. It's easy to make mistakes when carving a jack-o'-lantern, especially if this is your first time using a carving knife since last year. Use a dry-erase marker to trace the design onto the pumpkin before you make a cut.

- Avoid severing the stem. When many people envision jack-o'-lanterns, the image in their minds is one in which the top of the pumpkin is removed so candles or lights can be effortlessly placed inside. However, the custom pumpkin carving experts at New York-based Maniac Pumpkin Carvers note that removing the top cuts off the vine, which supplies the pumpkin with nutrients and moisture, even after it's been cut. A whole in the back of the pumpkin can provide easy access when placing candles or lights inside, and cutting here won't cut off the nutrient and moisture supply a pumpkin needs to avoid drying out.

- Scoop everything out. The interior of a pumpkin will be loaded with seeds, which can be removed and later roasted to make a savory snack. In addition to removing the seeds, be sure to get all of the pulp out. Pulp left in the pumpkin will soon get moldy and that can shorten the lifespan of the jack-o'-lantern. In addition, when removing the interior, try scraping the front inner wall of the pumpkin thin, which may make it easier to carve.

- Avoid candles when lighting the interior of the jack-o'-lantern. Candles might seem like the most authentic and even spooky way to light the interior of the pumpkin, but the heat produced by a burning candle can shorten the life expectancy of the jack-o'-lantern. An LED light won't give off much heat and will provide ample illumination.

A few simple tips can help Halloween celebrants ensure their jack-o'-lanterns make it all the way to the big day at the end of October. TF21A381

Safe trick-or-treating tips

Halloween is enjoyed by people of all ages, but few get a bigger kick out of the holiday than children. There are costumes to be worn, time spent with friends and the opportunity to collect free candy and other treats.

Although Halloween can be a fun time, the Children's Safety Network warns that it's also a time when accidents can happen. According to the CSN, the most dangerous day for child pedestrians is Halloween, with two times as many child pedestrians dying on Halloween compared to other days. It is essential to prioritize safety on Halloween, and following these guidelines can help.

- Make sure costumes are short. Costumes that drag on the floor are tripping hazards, which can lead to injury. Be sure that costumes do not cover the feet or drag on the ground.

- Trick-or-treat in groups. Children are safer in numbers due to the increased visibility of a crowd and because, if something happens, others can call for help. Parents can use their discretion on what age they feel is mature enough to let children go out alone. Until then, children should be accompanied by adults.

- Improve visibility. It's important to be seen while trick-or-treating, and that can be achieved by making sure costumes and trick-or-treat bags feature reflective tape. Trick-or-treaters also can carry flashlights or glow sticks to improve visibility, and stick to areas with streetlights if going out after dark.

- Stay on sidewalks. Whenever possible, trick-or-treaters should stick to the sidewalks and avoid walking on the roads. This may not always be possible in neighborhoods without sidewalks, where parents and youngsters must be especially careful.

- Eat before trick-or-treating. A meal or snack before trick-or-treating can reduce the tendency to fill up on candy while out and about. All candy and other treats should be inspected by an adult before it is eaten.

- Keep pets locked away. Animals can become skittish when there are many people loitering outside of homes or ringing doorbells. Keep pets in a quiet room away from the action to prevent them from getting loose, injured or scared enough to bite or scratch someone.

- Avoid masks that obstruct vision. It can be hard to see peripherally with a mask on, so avoid costumes with masks that compromise vision.

- Test out makeup beforehand. All makeup used for costumes should be tested for allergic reactions prior to use. Heed the warnings on packaging and avoid putting makeup too close to the eyes or lips.

These are some safety strategies designed to keep Halloween fun and incident-free this year.
