Notwithstanding that she is a woman: Territorial women miners and entrepreneurs

Of the 21 women Stephanie Brown found working in the mining industry in territorial Arizona, 18 of them lived in Globe! The Second Friday presentation at Bullion Plaza Cultural Center & Museum in Miami is "Women Miners & Entrepreneurs in Arizona." Doors open for this free program at 6pm, and starts at 6:30pm.

Women in Arizona's territorial times played many important roles in multiple ways in the formation of our state. Opportunities were available in both work for wages and in the ability to thrive by owning mine property, despite the way women were often excluded from good paying

OBITUARIES

Kevin Wayne Ashford

Kevin Wayne Ashford passed away peacefully on February 9, 2025 at his residence in Globe, Arizona. He was born on June 20, 1970 to Marilyn (Thraen/Ashford) Brewer and Robert Ashford in Miami, Arizona.

Kevin attended Miami Schools and was a National Honor Society graduate of Miami High School, class of 1988. In 1993 he received his BA in Criminal Justice from Arizona State University.

Kevin was an amazing person and a true believer in God. He had an unwavering sense of Faith, Trust, and confidence in God knowing He was leading him in his journey. He had such a love for life! He was an incredibly intelligent, compassionate, loving and caring man who approached life with thoughtfulness and kindness for everyone he encountered. He had a young-at-heart attitude and knack for making people laugh, whether it was at him or with him. He was often dubbed the “mayor” for his outgoing and witty personality, no one was a stranger. An early riser, Kevin joyfully and energetically looked forward to every new day with gratitude in his heart.

In 1995 Kevin met the love of his life, Carol. Kevin was not shy about proclaiming his love and was always looking for ways to express his love. No task for his family was ever a chore, he willingly and happily met every need, big or small. Kevin happily became “Pops” to Eddie, Marcos, AdamRay and Deziree. He took immense pride in his role and together they had an amazing family, viewing challenges as opportunities to strengthen their bond. “Pops” was firm yet supportive and steady with advice. Kevin later embraced the title of “Papa,” finding great joy in his 13 grandchildren, and 3 great-grandchildren. As an active “Papa” he coached youth basketball and baseball.

Kevin was always encouraging, cheering, and praising their efforts. “Papa” was their biggest fan! You could always find Kevin seated in the stands, or at the baseball fields, visiting with locals and watching his kids or grandkids participating. His enthusiasm for coaching and guiding young athletes was a testament to his belief in the importance of teamwork and perseverance.

Kevin absolutely loved spending time with all his family including his wife, kids, grandkids, mother, sisters, brothers, nephews, nieces, and cousins. Holidays with and phone calls from family were very special to him. To Kevin family was family and he wouldn’t tolerate any “half-this” or “step-that”.

Kevin was passionate about sports and was a devoted fan of the Arizona teams: ASU Sun Devils, Diamondbacks, Suns and Cardinals. He not only enjoyed watching the events, he enjoyed the camaraderie with his brothers and friends. Kevin was always up for any game and attending live sports, being a true “Bud” man drinking beer and having laughs.

He took pleasure in the simple things in life such as music playing, an evening walk, great conversation, and funny videos on his phone. Kevin’s favorite place to be was outdoors. He especially loved being in the pines and enjoying the beauty of Greer, Arizona. Kevin’s knowledge of hunting, fishing, and camping was instilled and made a part of his children’s and grandchildren’s lives. The memories of those special outings will be forever cherished.

Kevin dedicated his career to Hensley Beverage where he served as Sales Team Leader. He loved his work and cherished the relationships he built with both colleagues and clients. Known for his honesty, integrity and strong values, Kevin was well liked by all who knew him. His positive energy, uplifting spirit, and infectious sense of humor brought joy to everyone around him.

Kevin’s legacy of being such an incredible person, helpful to anyone, his kindness, and laughter will live on in our hearts. He was a definite Angel amongst us!

Kevin will be missed tremendously but we know he is rejoicing with God in Heaven. We find comfort in knowing Kevin is with our Savior and in the company of those that have passed who love him as much as we do. God heard our prayers, healed him and made him whole.

Kevin is survived by his wife, Carol; children, Marcos (Charlene), AdamRay (Brittney), Deziree, and Kim Verdugo; grandchildren, Hilary (Ricardo) Trevizo; Nathaniel (Shireen) Cruz; Jayde and Elyce Verdugo; Andre (Jazlyn), Aaliyah, Amani, and Alexander Hayes; Damen, Miela and Leila Verdugo; Andrew Villalobos; and Rayven Verdugo; great grandchildren, RJ, Gianna and Gabriella Trevizo; his mother, Marilyn Brewer (Michael Martin); his mom, JoAnn Ashford; his sisters, Elea (Barry) Lutz; Mikey Flores; Suzanne (Eddie) Cordova, and Amber (Jerry) Yniguez; brothers, Chris Couture, Brian Campbell, and Manuel, Mike (Sylvia), Steve (Connie), Andy, and Rocky (Shawna) Gonzales; nephews, Michael and Mathew Lutz; cousin Trena (Allan Walpole) Grantham, and dear friend Kris (Estelle) Belarde. Kevin also leaves so many others including special aunts, uncles, nephews, nieces, cousins, friends, and neighbors. He will be missed immensely by all who had the privilege of knowing him.

Kevin is preceded in death by his son, Eddie Verdugo, father, Robert S. Ashford, sister, Debby Valtierra, Grandma, Virginia (Trethewey) Thraen, and Nanny, Ruby (Pirtle) Ashford.

Teddy Roosevelt in 1907, the park protects two cliff dwellings built and occupied between 1300 and 1450. Built into alcoves in the Superstition Mountains, these remarkable structures are among the finest examples of the Salado phenomenon. Using materials within walking distance, the people of that period hand-built walls of rock, adobe, and wood from the riparian area of the park. The people who occupied these dwellings produced exquisite polychrome pottery and weavings using local natural resources and items obtained through trade in the Tonto Basin.

This outstanding example of resiliency and adaptability to the Sonoran Desert is echoed in the use of the natural resources available to the people who lived here from 1300 to 1450. Evidence of corn cobs, squash stems, beans, and Agave quids was found within the cliff dwellings. Trade with local communities was evident from the seashells and turquoise adornments discovered when excavating the park. It all spoke to a rich culture connected to the land and the people who occupied the Tonto Basin.

Celebrate Arizona Archeology and Heritage Awareness Month at Tonto National Monument by visiting these amazing archeological sites. Experience the cliff dwellings and surrounding biodiversity once part of a thriving community. Stroll the half-mile hike to the lower cliff dwelling, open 7 days a week from 8 am to 5 pm. The visitors center includes a gift shop and park films. Access to the trail lower cliff dwelling closes at 4 pm, giving visitors plenty of time to hike and enjoy it. March weather offers spring conditions with warm days in the 70s and the start of spring blossoms. It is the perfect time to plan your visit to Tonto National Monument.

Your Words Speak Louder Than Your Actions

By Greg S. Baker
Pastor of First Baptist Church of Miami.

Normally, we hear that our actions speak louder than our words, that we need to put our money where our mouth is, so to speak. But the reality might be exactly the opposite. Our actions are important, but the reason they are important is that our actions are psychologically used to judge the truth of our words, and judging the truth of our words is an act of judging who you are as a person. Be careful what you say.

Take a parent who says, "Do what I say and not what I do." A child looks at the action, realizes that the words are empty and vain, and doesn't listen to what you say. Interestingly, the child will hold the words against you more than the contradictory action. Most people point out the hypocrisy of the words much more than the action. Words are important. They define us in the eyes of people more so, sometimes, than our actions.

People, even God, will use your words as a benchmark to measure your character and personality (Matthew 15:17-20; Matthew 12:36-37; Proverbs 23:7). While Jesus was being judged, it was not His deeds that they used to ultimately condemn Him. It was His words (Matthew 26:60-61; Matthew 26:65).

The words you speak define who you are — even lying. Lies tell a lot about the character and personality of a person. The willingness to lie about an action is something that will be held against you, once found out, more than the action itself. Just ask any politician caught in a lie.

When our deeds and our words contradict, people usually believe that our actions are closer to the truth than the words we say, but people will judge you more on the words you used, words used to either cover up an action, to change people's perception of an action, to flat-out lie about an action, or to be honest about the action. The words you allow to come out of your mouth define you in the eyes of people more than the action.

Your words give validity to the action. If a person hauls off and hits a guy and turns around and walks away, no one knows why. No one understands. But if, after punching the guy, he declares, "You ever look at my ten-year old girl again, I'll do worse!" Suddenly, the action makes sense to people. He is cheered. The words define the person.

Politicians fall into this trap all the time. Many political figures can live down a mistake, but they rarely live down a lie. The very fact that you try to deceive with your mouth tells volumes about you. So yes, it is more the words you say than the deeds you perform that define you in the minds of people.

Naturally, if your words are true, you ought to let your actions verify them. That's the kicker. Our actions serve to verify our words, and our words serve to define our actions, and in so doing, we define ourselves to people. Words don't verify our actions — it is the action that verifies our words. Our words, however, define the action. So ultimately, it is the words we speak that define us.

WORSHIP

Trusting God When You Don't Understand

Joyce Meyer

Can you think of a time when you felt like, "What in the world is going on in my life? Why did that happen to me? When will I finally get what I've wanted for so long? Why, God, why? When, God, when?" If you've been alive very long, you've probably had an experience like this at some point.

The truth is God loves us and He has good plans for our lives, but that doesn't mean life is always easy. We all go through difficult times and things happen that aren't fair.

In fact, Jesus tells us in John 16:33 (AMPC), "In the world you have tribulation and trials and distress and frustration." It's so important for us to understand this so we won't be confused and lose our faith in Him when life is hard.

Thankfully, Jesus goes on to say, "But be of good cheer [take courage; be confident, certain, undaunted]! For I have overcome the world. [I have deprived it of power to harm you and have conquered it for you]." This is amazing assurance that if we trust in Him, everything is going to work out the way it should in the end.

I know what it's like to hurt so much you're not sure you can stand it any longer. And there have been times when I didn't understand how God could allow me to go through some of the things I've been through. My father sexually abused me from the time I was about three until I left home at 18, and I remember praying many times for God to rescue me from that situation. Then, years later, I was diagnosed with breast cancer and had to have surgery to get rid of it.

I like to figure out how to fix problems, so it was difficult for me when I couldn't understand why God allowed me to go through those circumstances. But I can say now that God did a lot of good things in me through those hard times. And He can use me to help others because of it.

In order to receive healing and restoration from the devastating things I endured, I had to learn how to trust Him when I didn't understand and how to release my faith during trials.

There are many scriptures about faith in the Bible. Hebrews 11:1 says faith is the substance of things we hope for and the evidence of what we can't see. Verse 6 says it's impossible for us to please God without faith and He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him. Romans 12:3 says God gives each person a measure of faith, and in John 20:29, Jesus says, "Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed" (NKJV).

God wants us to come to a place in our relationship with Him where we trust that He's in control and He has our best interest at heart even when our situation doesn't seem fair. He wants us to be able to rest in Him and have His peace that surpasses our understanding in every circumstance we face. Because then we will be stable mentally and emotionally, and we won't be driven by our feelings and make bad decisions that can make the situation even worse.

So how do we practically live by faith? We do it by what we pray, say and the actions we take. It's vital for us to agree with God and His Word to effectively release our faith in Him. So we need to study the Word to know what God's will is and the many promises He's made to us.

Pray according to His will, say what you believe He's promised you, and take God-inspired action, doing what you know to do in every situation. Choose to believe what the Bible says more than you believe what you feel, think, and what other people say. And remember that God is pleased by your faith, He's on your side, and He wants to help you.

Psalm 89:14 (AMP) says, "Righteousness and justice are the foundation of Your throne...." God is a God of justice and He makes wrong things right. But many times we have to go through painful circumstances we don't understand while He's working on our behalf to bring justice in our lives.

Faith in God is the key to trusting Him in every circumstance. Walking by faith means when there are unanswered questions, we can be okay with that because God is in control and we're determined to trust Him no matter what.

God is so good and so awesome that He can take anything that is harmful or painful and turn it around for our good, and the good of a lot of other people, too. So, whatever you're going through today, take a step of faith and pray, "God, I know You love me. I trust You. My times are in Your hands, and I know all things in my life will work together for good because I love You and I'm called according to Your purpose!"

Advice to wives whose husbands don't think they have a hearing problem -- by a wife

I wish I had a nickel for every time my husband said to me, "What'd they say?" At church, at movies, at family reunions and ball games. . . what'd they say – what'd they say – what'd they say.

So annoying!

When he's not wearing his hearing aids, it's like he's not paying attention to things and totally relies on me to be the designated listener for everything! What really gripes me most is when I am trying to pay attention to a conversation and because I am keeping him up to date with what's going on...

I miss things myself.

He tries to be a good example for all of you, and I love him. . . but before he got his hearing aids, I got so sick of raising my voice and repeating myself and filling in the gaps of everything he missed.

Then it hit me like a ton of bricks. If I keep doing what I'm doing – why would he ever feel he needs to do something about his loss. I was enabling him to just keep doing what he was doing. So one day I just quit, cold turkey.

As soon as he knew for sure that I was done being his personal interpreter - and that I was serious ... lo and behold he did something about it.

Truthfully, life still is not a bowl of pitted cherries because he doesn't always use his hearing aids, but he's getting better.

I mean he's over the top studying and learning about hearing loss to help everybody else. That guy needs to heed his own advice. You know, the stuff he tells you everytime you go in to see him.

J. Hope [wife of Stephen Hope]

HOROSCOPE

Week of
March 2 to 8, 2025

ARIES

You'll come up with great ideas and innovative proposals this week. Your plans may change a few times based on your mood. This could irritate some people around you.

TAURUS

Amid a chaotic situation, brilliant ideas often emerge. If you're feeling overwhelmed, a second cup of coffee might be just the boost of energy you need to accomplish great things.

GEMINI

After a particularly stressful period, taking a step back and indulging in some well-deserved rest is important. This break will help you recharge your batteries and feel refreshed.

CANCER

You'll put in a considerable amount of overtime at work this week. You'll also enjoy relaxing moments with family and friends and participate in enriching activities together.

LEO

A trip or a romantic getaway will lift your spirits. You'll fully embrace this blissful experience. The idea of moving abroad or going on an adventure will take shape in your mind.

VIRGO

Change will come naturally to you this week. Choose your friends wisely to reduce stress in your life. You'll take a more spiritual approach to life, which will improve your well-being and help you feel more aligned with your deepest desires.

LIBRA

You'll have strong emotions this week. Be mindful about putting yourself in a position where you're forced to make a big decision all alone. This could lead to tough criticism that may be hard to handle.

SCORPIO

You'll use your strong sense of determination to carve out your own place in the professional world. This approach could open the door to exciting opportunities for travel and cultural experiences.

SAGITTARIUS

You'll stand out among your friends and colleagues. These individuals will be ready to support the big changes you're making, including those in your personal life.

CAPRICORN

For some people, spring break means relaxation. However, if a crowd of visitors arrives at your home, they may take liberties and leave you feeling solely responsible for putting things back in order. Fortunately, you'll still have a great time.

AQUARIUS

Trust your instincts—they're your best guide! Don't let yourself be influenced by those who think they know everything. Believe in your own abilities. Someone close to you might inadvertently hold you back.

PISCES

Your work will provide you with stability, financial independence and travel opportunities. Be careful not to exceed the speed limit when driving this week.

The luckiest signs this week:
CANCER, LEO AND VIRGO

GILAHISTORICALMUSEUM.ORG

GLOBE, AZ – Cobre Valley Regional Medical Center (CVRMC) is excited to announce the future opening of its much-anticipated “Highway 60 Clinic,” a walk-in clinic located near Cal Ranch and Walmart. This new facility is set to provide essential healthcare services to the community, offering a convenient option for those seeking immediate medical attention without the need for an appointment.

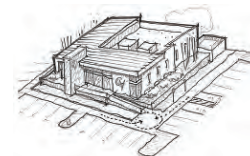

The journey to establish the Highway 60 Clinic has not been without challenges. The initial plans for the clinic encountered an unexpected delay when it was discovered that the proposed location fell within a designated floodway.

Determined to bring this vital service to the community, CVRMC worked with local and federal agencies to reassess the flood maps that impacted the clinic's location. Through extensive modeling, updated maps were drawn to better reflect the actual conditions of the area. CVRMC then submitted a request for a Letter of Map Revision (LOMR) to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), requesting an official change to the flood designation.

On July 29, FEMA issued a LOMR, paving the way for the new clinic. The new facility will offer extend hours to walk-in patients, providing a convenient, affordable option for healthcare services. While the specific timeline for construction and opening is still being finalized, the team is working diligently to bring the project to completion as swiftly as possible.

CVRMC is committed to keeping the community informed as progress continues. Updates on the clinic's development will be shared regularly, with a focus on ensuring that residents are aware of the new healthcare options that will soon be available.

The opening of the Highway 60 Clinic represents a significant step forward in CVRMC's mission to provide comprehensive, accessible healthcare to the region. The medical center looks forward to welcoming patients to this new facility and continuing its tradition of high-quality care for the community.
