LOCAL NEWS

TEEN TURF

Summer Camp

Let's play video games will be our theme for six weeks. It will begin, June 12 and end July 17th for pre-k to fourth grade. Pre-K and K will be on Mondays, 1st and 2nd are on Tuesdays, and third and fourth will be on Wednesdays. Information packets are in our 24/7 hallway and were sent to Amboy Central School to distribute. In addition, for those kids going into fifth grade, sixth, seventh, eighth, and high school, we are accepting applications for the all day community program and that program started on June 5 and goes to July 26. You can sign up. If you have any questions, please call Teen Turf building at 815-857-4800. Let's have a great summer. Check out our pictures on Facebook.

Thank You's

We are always grateful to those that help us in our endeavor to help the community:

Peach Bonnell for the exercise equipment; The family of Marilyn Braida for the money the donated in her memory; Dixon Elks Club for the food and Katey Dickinson for delivering it; Chris Noble for the clothes; Colleen and Glenn Robison for the items; George Delores and Jan Mason for the treats; Shirley Reese for the paper goods; Michele Cheshire and family for the items; Sparkler man for the treats; Katey Dickinson for pies; Lori Erbes for monetary donation and John Jacobs for monetary donation.

Final Note

As we prepare to watch the graduates walk across the stage to receive a diploma, we want to take a moment to thank You for keeping them safe and guiding them to this point.

Lord, touch them now with wisdom to be able to handle the next stage of their lives in a way that will be pleasing to You, and that will set them on a path of living a life that will be a blessing to others. Amen

At the District Track and Field Meet at Ottawa, Tim Oester set another school record by winning the high hurdles in 14.9. He will compete in the State Meet this Friday in Champaign. Tim is the first from Amboy High School to compete in track at the state level in 10 years.

Excessively high winds damaged several buildings on the Ed Mead farm. A storage shed was lifted from its foundation and smashed against a large machine shed.

25 Years Ago
May 21, 1998

Amboy School District 272 Board President Joe Flessner announced that the Board has selected a candidate for the Office of Superintendent. The contract is being reviewed by the candidate's lawyer and it is hoped that formal action can be taken at the next meeting. The new Superintendent would begin work on July 1, filling the vacancy of retiring Superintendent Terry Salem.

Mrs. Schnaiter's third grade class had a special guest last week to help them learn what it is like to live in Mexico. Mr. Joe Arteaga from Sublette visited the room and shared how living in Mexico for over 20 years was different than living in the United States. Mr. Arteaga had schoolbooks from Mexico, pictures and many experiences to share with the class. He also gave each student a coupon for a free child's dinner at his restaurant in Sublette.

Lee County Sheriff Tim Bivins announced that three separate search warrants were executed by Lee County Deputies on Thursday, May 14, as part of an ongoing investigation into a drive-by shooting that occurred at the David Johnston residence on February 15 of this year. The home sustained extensive damage as a result of being struck by numerous bullets. The Johnstons were home at the time of the shooting but no one was injured. The search warrants were executed in the Sterling and Rock Falls areas.

On Wednesday, April 22, one of Sublette's landmark buildings was razed. The Sublette Armory had stood on Main Street since 1879. It was originally built to house the Lee County Guards.

Pastor Jack Briggs from the First Congregational Church will provide us with an inspiring reflection of the day's service. The "Reading of the Honor Roll," approximately 167 names of veterans from Woodside Cemetery and Inlet Cemetery, will be completed by two guest speakers. We will be joined by a very special guest speaker, Mrs. Betty McMahon, who will talk about the first flag raising on Mt. Suribachi during the battle at Iwo Jima. Her father, PFC James Michels was personally involved in that first flag raising.

An offering will be collected and all donations will be given to the Amboy American Legion Post #453 to help fund their community projects.

Special thanks are extended to Janice White, Cindy Boyenga and Sandy Wittenauer for volunteering to place flags on all the Veterans' graves in this cemetery and to the family of Howard Schnell for the flag that is flown at the cemetery for his years of service in the Army. A hearty thank you is also extended to all the cemetery groundskeepers who keep it looking nice throughout the growing season. Please bring your own lawn chairs and in case of rain the ceremony will be held at the Lee Center Congregational Church in Lee Center.

COUNCIL continued from page A1

Under Old Business, there was no movement or anything to report about the Biogas-Amerseso project except that plans are being made to purchase the property for development. Klein spoke of the continuing windmill ordinance and said that the city will prohibit any structures within a mile to a mile and a half of the city including annex and around the land fill.

City Clerk Melissa Eisenberg presided over the swearing in of Alderman who was re-appointed to another 4 year term including Klein, Greg Noble, and Frank Stenzel. Newly elected Peter Rood joined the group.

New Business wrapped up paperwork for IDOT 2021 Motor Fuel Tax of $27,662.52 as a result of a project overbid.

The council approved the Lee County 911 Dispatch International Agreement that comes up for review every 6 years. Under the Building Inspector Report, Don Clayton said that there were, 5 roof, 1 siding, and 1 fence permit.

Schamberger ended the meeting by inviting everyone to the Long Branch Saloon on June 3, to salute his mother Joyce who is retiring after 39 years as an educator, and is currently the Elementary School Principal.

"It's very, very important that the schools get more censors. It's a tool that the school can use and it also helps the police department," said Chief Smith, who has been in law enforcement for almost 37 years, has been with the APD for 30 years. "I can't tell you how many times we've been to the school for vaping because one week we are over there a couple of times and there are some weeks that we're not there at all. One person doing it, it's not good for themselves. We would like to stop it at an early age if we can."

"Vaping has really taken off over the last three or four years at the underage level. That's why the school invested in the censors. Ever since the school installed the censors, it has slowed it down. The censors haven't stopped the problem, but it has slowed it down."

The school is also investing in censors because vaping is illegal for every student in Amboy Junior High and Amboy High School.

And vaping is prohibited in all public buildings at any age.

"It's not legal for them until they turn 21. I don't have any student in my building that vaping is legal," Crownhart said. "It would be the same thing if they brought a bottle of vodka to school. Vodka isn't legal until you're 21. If you brought a bottle into school, you know you're breaking the law. The smoking law is now set at 21, so you're breaking the law."

"It doesn't matter how old you are, you can't smoke a vape in a school building. It is prohibited (110 ILCS/ Smoke Free Campus Act in Illinois General Assembly). You're not allowed to smoke in restaurants, court houses, or in any public buildings. Not only are the students not of age, but you're also not allowed to do it in a school building even if you were of age."

With censors in place this year, Crownhart and the Amboy school staff have seen that they do work and help detract school smokers. However, there are only four.

For each of the school's bathrooms to have enough censors, 16 more would have to be purchased and installed.

The price of a single censor is $995. Although the price seems steep, Crownhart was able to talk to the censor company and have the annual $120 fee per censor waived.

The Last Alarm donated funds to help the schools purchase the first four, but now AJH and AHS may need additional help riding illegal vapors in the bathroom.

"We decided to try out the vape censorship with four censors. We felt like that was a good number to start with. We knew we needed more, but we weren't going to spend $20,000 upfront last year, no knowing if they were going to work."

"We're happy with how they're working. We have the opportunity and the means to get the next set ordered. It makes the most sense to get rocking on this and get censors in the rest of the school's restrooms. It doesn't take the kids very long to figure out which bathrooms have censors and which don't."

Not only does the school want to add more censors to stop an illegal act from happening inside its walls, but also for protection.

"Let's face it, no one really knows what vaping is going to do you in the future as far as your lungs and lung capacity," Crownhart said. "When previous generations were in high school, they talked a lot about cigarettes and presented what your lungs look like if you smoked cigarettes. Now, they've marketed vaping as being better for you than smoking. Well, is it? Do we know that it is? You're still putting something into your lungs that is not supposed to be there."

"It's just like anything else when the kids are getting away with it. It's not necessarily the kids that are doing it at home for the parents saying, 'My kids are not vaping because I'm not finding a vape in their room.' Like I said, they're passing them around."

"We'll have one vape that we're pretty sure that 5-6 kids have passed between them. It might not be that their kid has it at home, but their kid might be involved at school. If you don't know that your kid is vaping or telling you that they're not, I feel like I'd rather know about it early so we can nix it before it turns into something bigger."

If you'd like to make a donation to help Amboy Junior High and Amboy High School purchase more vape censors, call AHS at 815-857-3632 and ask for principal Janet Crownhart.

"We did investigation with the county roll. We also went to the museum in Amboy and other museums in the county to find everyone we could. We found 98 people from Lee County that lost their lives in the war."

A lot of factors swirled together to produce the Ultimate Sacrifice.

It was the quote. The partnership of two lifelong friends in Mead and Dempsey.

It was Veterans Day.

The fact that a generation or two knew nothing about their ancestors who fought in the biggest war the world has ever seen.

And it was Army Second Lieutenant John Joseph Fanelli, No. O-696844.

"We also got this idea because of John Joseph Fanelli. He is the first reported death at D-Day because of a glider crash," Mead said. "He was our catalyst to really get going on the book. I'm glad we did it. It's been great having the stories in the Amboy News. I hope it's successful because it was a lot of hard work."

"All the stories vary. Many died very heroic deaths, but there were some strange stories also. One guy came home on leave and drowned in the Rock River. Another guy on the older side, was working as a mechanic and died of a heart attack. They were involved in the war. There is an index in the back to help you find the exact page for every veteran."

The stories the two Amboy natives found and wrote for both articles in the Amboy News and for their book were sometimes hard to come by.

They know they don't have every World War II hero from Lee County or from Amboy in the book as they couldn't find records, information, or family members, and some names may be left off national lists made in 1946 after the war had ended in September 1945.

"We found 82 soldiers from Amboy that died in the war. The stories of those 82 are in this book, but we could have missed some," said Dempsey, who was born and raised in Amboy, lived in Chicago for a few decades, and lived in Boston for the last three years before moving to New York City recently. "If we couldn't locate their records or get much information about them, and there could be some, I'd hope someone would contact us if they know a name that isn't in the book."

"I would hope this book is really important. Generations have passed since World War II and people forget easily. I think our intent with the book is to keep these memories alive. I hope this book allows the community to know about these guys and remember them."

Dempsey had some of his own kin in World War II as his Aunt Katie Reilly was an Army Air Force nurse and his Uncle Tom was in the Army in the South Pacific.

Mead and Dempsey worked together during every step of the creation of the book.

Dempsey said Mead wrote a great introduction and did the Ultimate Sacrifice's narration, while Mead accredited Mead for the publication and the book's layout.

Both of them did research and wrote the veteran stories.

"We decided on the format we went with because we could get the books done comparatively cheaper than hardcover," Mead said. "Binding is really expensive. It cost us approximately $14 to make one book. We ordered 100 to start with so we can see how they sell. We are going to sell them for $20 each. That'll give us a little bit of profit and it doesn't break the bank for anyone who wants to buy the book."

"The book brings the stories back to the surface again. The story of the veteran may have stayed relevant for a generation, but then it is forgotten. The stories in the newspaper and this book bring the veterans back to mind. Now, people can say, 'That's my uncle' or 'This is my cousin'."

The Ultimate Sacrifice: Lee County Soldiers Who Gave Their Lives in World War II will be sold for $20 a copy and can be found at Vaessen Brothers Chevrolet in Sublette, Amboy City Hall, and at the Dixon First National Bank's north facility.

The book's artwork is a

Although the book took about a year to come together, both Dempsey and Mead said they enjoyed doing the hard work.

In fact, they want to do it three more times as they intend to publish similar books for World War I, the Korean War, and Vietnam.

SOCIAL NEWS

Local nature and history

By Jim "Mazie" Long

Cedar Waxwings love berries and hanging out together. Unlike most birds, they politely eat in shifts. Image source: Library of Congress

The bird has social skills We can all learn from the Cedar Waxwing

It is a brown bird with a light-colored body. If you examine it with binoculars, you will see a very sleek bird that appears to be carved from wax. There is a band of yellow on the tip of the tail and a crest on the head. It also has black and white patches on its face. If you look closely, you will see drops of secreted red wax on the tips of the front wing feathers.

This elegant bird is called a Cedar Waxwing.

A remarkable way of life

Waxwings have an unusual manner and way of life. Their favorite foods are berries and fruits of all kinds. Lee County is a paradise for Waxwings in September and October. Along many of our country roads, they can find cherries, grapes, Virginia creeper berries, green briar berries, honeysuckle berries, and many others. In some areas there is an abundance of cedar berries. In town, their favorite foods are cherries and mountain ash fruits.

The Cedar Waxwings travel in flocks of 50 to 100 birds. When you meet with a flock of Waxwings, watch and you will soon see what attracted them. It is sometimes a cedar tree whose berries are especially delicious that day, or an equally ripe patch of honeysuckle. The Waxwings keep an eye on every fruit tree for miles around. They only eat the ripest fruit.

Wine, dine and romance

Cedar Waxwings swallow berries whole. On occasion, they swallow overripe berries that have begun to ferment. Topsy birds are not a common sight, but it happens. With or without the aid of alcohol, courtship starts with a male performing a dance and offering a gift to a potential mate. Often it is a whole berry. If the female is impressed, she will pass the gift back and forth with the male several times before eating it. -- Editor

Socially responsible

Even when not courting, the Waxwings have the highest concern for each other. It has often been observed how one bird will pass a berry from his beak to the beak of his neighbor. There is no scrambling for food like many other birds. We should all have the manners of the Cedar Waxwing.

Editor's Note: James Brady Long was born in Amboy on June 12, 1926. Known by many as "Mazie", he grew up in Amboy, served in the army during World War II, then studied forestry at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology. His studies in botany and forest protection continued as he ventured into farming here. A beloved story-teller, his farm became a place of learning and adventure for relatives and friends. In his later years, he contributed a series of local nature articles to The Amboy News. Upon his death in 2000, his many hand-written drafts were gathered and initially curated by Brenda Boyle. The present, renewed series draws from those drafts, both unpublished and previously published.

THE PASTOR'S PEN

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS...

BY PASTOR JOHN KALEBAUGH

The Refuge Church @ Mendota Hills Campground

The Gospel of Mark tells the story of how a woman came to Jesus while He was eating a meal with a group of men. She broke a small jar of perfume and poured it all on His head. This perfume was very expensive – worth about a year's wage at the time and everyone in the room criticized her for "wasting" such an expensive thing on Jesus instead of selling it and giving the money to the poor. Everyone except for Jesus. He defended her by saying, "Leave her alone..." "Why are you bothering her? She has done a beautiful thing to Me. ... She did what she could. She poured perfume on my body beforehand to prepare for My burial." v. 14:6-7.

This is an amazing story. And beautiful. Could this woman have somehow understood the importance of the moment she was in... realizing that Jesus, the Messiah, would soon be crucified and quickly buried before the normal and customary preparation was done for Him? Jesus certainly knew this... but did she? Whether she realized the true significance of her action or not, one thing is certain, she was performing an extravagant, sacrificial, and selfless act of worship unto Jesus simply out of her love and appreciation for Him. And it was, as Jesus stated... "a beautiful thing." In fact, her offering of love and devotion so touched Jesus that He prophetically declared, "Truly I tell you, wherever the gospel is preached throughout the world, what she has done will also be told, in memory of her." v 9. And so it still is even today, some 2000 years later. I love the fact that this perfume was probably in a small container, while holding something of great value because it's the "little things" in life which often have the greatest value or make the biggest impact.

This reminds me of an experience I had last July when four of us from The Refuge Church took a mission trip to the Door of Faith Orphanage in La Mission, Mexico. Our group spent the mornings putting fresh paint on bathroom and bunkhouse walls, and the afternoons ministering in various ways to the children. The trip was a very meaningful blessing to all of us who went... and the children of the orphanage as well, I think.

But there was something about the whole trip that I honestly struggled with. It was the travel expense of the trip, which was partially covered through a fundraiser and donations. It wasn't the amount of money that I questioned... but the way it was used. I remember thinking literally, "Could not the same money it cost for us to get us here and back home, have been better spent by just donating it to the orphanage and missionaries who were already on site?" I struggled with this until the last day of our trip when we had a conversation with the missionary woman (and her husband) that we had known from the United States. She shared how in the entire time she served at the mission – no one from back home outside of a few family members had ever come to visit her or the orphanage. And how meaningful it had been to her... that we came! I learned in that moment that the value of our trip probably wasn't anything we did for the orphanage or the children... but for this woman who had given years of her life serving there. I am so thankful that God opened my eyes to see His purpose in sending us there was much greater than mine.

I hope this is a lesson for all of us. Never underestimate anything we do as an act of service and worship for Jesus. Of course, the Proverbs tell us to use wisdom and discretion in all things we do. But let's not be so quick to use earthly standards to put a price tag on something that has heavenly value. No matter how small or big, or how cheap or costly, or how average or extravagant something may be. I cannot even begin to number how many times I was struggling in life with discouragement... and then I received a phone call, text message, a card in the mail... A "little thing," which gave me the hope and encouragement I needed at the time.

Remember, even if no one else sees or values the "little thing," you do for someone... Jesus does. And He will honor your gift.

EXHUMING THE BODIES

In 2016, social anthropologist Alexa Hagerty spent 18 months doing fieldwork in Argentina and Guatemala. She went to learn forensic exhumation at mass graves and in forensic labs. She learned that “Forensic exhumation is practiced at the crossroads of two ways of thinking about the dead body: as a scientific object to be analyzed for evidence of crimes against humanity, and as a subject, an individual, someone loved and mourned.” Published in March, Hagerty’s outstanding book, “Still Life with Bones: Genocide, Forensics, and What Remains,” is the story of her journey. We accompany her when she meets the forensics teams that will teach her what it means to exhume the skeletons and bone fragments from mass graves; we share her anxiety when she comes face to face with the enormity of such evil. “A scapula is marked with lines that I’ve learned are from machete blows. The telltale cuts are found on many bones, including femurs, tibias, and low on the fibula because, with a severed Achilles tendon, people can’t run away.” The numbers are staggering. Over 200,000 people were killed in the Guatemalan Civil War. 83% of victims were indigenous (half the population is Maya). Some 93% of civilian executions were carried out by government forces. In Argentina’s “Dirty War,” 30,000 people were forcibly disappeared between 1976 and 1983 by the military dictatorship. They are the “desaparecidos.” “During the dictatorship, the military relied extensively on the practice of disappearance to terrorize the population. Tens of thousands of people were abducted, tortured in secret prisons, and murdered. Their fate was unknown; bodies were hidden, most often buried in clandestine mass graves.” As a social anthropologist, Hagerty needed to conduct interviews with the surviving families. She worried she’d be too intrusive. But then a local woman asked a room full of survivors of the Guatemala genocide, “Who would like to share their testimonio with the North American anthropologist?” They were eager to tell their stories. “What I had imagined as a private interview has turned into a testimonio...a form of public witnessing about experiences of violence and oppression that sets the story straight.” Hagerty concludes, “In the Pozo (a massive industrial well holding innumerable bones) and in the lab, the dead whisper to me that it didn’t have to be this way. The massacres, secret prisons, and hidden graves, all the terror and loss. Another world is possible. My work among the dead has taught me that even in the face of violence and terror and breakdown, even at the bottom of the well, there is something – a movement of life....It moves in us, through us, and between us, as we surface between those who came before and those who will come after, as we float together in this vanishing moment – in the fragile possibility of remaking the world.”

Four Clippers extend season to state track meet

EDGINGTON – Four members of the Amboy-LaMoille boys' track team extended their season by another week after they competed in the Rockridge Class 1A Boys' Sectional Track Meet on May 19 at Edgington. Lena-Winslow won the sectional team title with 75 points, while the Clippers were 13th with 15.75 points.

The Clippers will send their 4x400-meter relay squad to the state meet after it ran under the state qualifying time in the sectional. The foursome of Joel Billhorn, Zane Murphy, Caleb Yanos and Kyler McNinch finished in sixth place, but their time of 3:32.73 was below the state qualifying mark of 3:35.17.

"We were able to get one state advancement with one of our relays," said Clipper coach Jeramey Wittenauer.

"We had some individuals that were close that just weren't able to pull it off. In my opinion, we were at the toughest sectional in the state for Class 1A.

"We started the relay with Joel Billhorn, who used to live in LaMoille but moved to Amboy this year, Zane Murphy, third leg is Caleb Yanos, and Kyler McNinch is our anchor. We started with the same four early on in relay teams, but not necessarily in this order. Periodically, we put this order for certain meets and thought we may have some potential. Some nights that we had this order together, we had inclement weather and times were just not going to be good.

"We didn't really get a gauge on whether we had something with this order until the Northwest Upstate Illini Conference Meet," added Wittenauer. "We had a great night of weather, we put this order together, and we felt that this would be a possibility for us. Their time at the conference meet was about 3 1/2 seconds from the state qualifying time so we knew we had something going here."

McNinch and Murphy are seniors and Billhorn and Yanos are juniors. This will be the first trip to the state meet in their high school careers.

"Kyler has had a great career as a distance runner for Amboy. He just missed state in cross country this year. The weather conditions (Friday) were not horrible, but they were windy and did affect his time for the 1,600- and 3,200-meter runs. He just missed out.

"It was really nice for him to help this relay advance and for him to finally have a chance to get to Charleston and have a state series experience."

McNinch actually had the highest finish on the day for the Clippers as he took third place in the 3200-meter run with a time of 10:19.12. Unless they run under the state qualifying standard, only the top two in each event earn a trip to state.

The Clipper relay team will compete in the IHSA State Track Meet to be held May 25-27 in the campus of Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

Clippers season comes to end in Regional play

STERLING – The Amboy Clippers saw their baseball season come to an end after dropping an 8-4 decision to Sterling Newman in the Newman Class 1A Regional on May 18 at Sterling.

The Comets jumped out to a 7-0 lead after three innings. Amboy did all of its scoring in the fifth inning. Brody Christoffersen and Dillon Merriman had hits in the inning, in which the Clippers sent all nine batters to the plate.

The Clippers loaded the bases in the sixth but could not score.

Newman wrapped up the scoring with a tally in the bottom of the sixth.

Amboy concluded the season with a 12-11 record.

Clippers earn top spot in Northwest Upstate Illinois Conference Freshman-Sophomore meet

The Clippers scored 102 points for the top spot over second-place Milledgeville, which had 94 points.

Amboy-LaMoille had three individual first-place finishes. Caleb Yanos broke the tape in the 100-meter dash with a time of 11.72 and Joel Billhorn beat the competition to the finish line in the 400-meter dash with a time of 53.23. Edy Fry also claimed first place in the high jump with a measurement of 5-10.

The other top finish for A-L was in the 4x400-meter relay. Fry, Brayden Klein, Atticus Horner and Billhorn ran a winning time of 3:48.54.

The Lady Clippers finished in seventh place with 52 points. Milledgeville won the girls' meet with 89 points.

Samantha Nauman turned in a first-place performance in the 300-meter hurdles with a time of 54.29. Grabbing second place were Bella Yanos in the 200-meter dash (28.02) and Jillian Anderson in the high jump (4-8).
