Police honor Mooney for help in missing person case

CLINTON — During the Clinton school board meeting on Oct. 18, special recognition was given to Clinton Elementary School assistant principal Ben Mooney by Clinton Police Chief Ben Lowers. Lowers sent a letter to Superintendent Curt Nettles commending Mooney for his “selfless contribution” in reviewing the school’s video security footage with law enforcement personnel in their search for a missing local resident this past summer.

“We are proud of Mr. Mooney for his efforts and for continuing to push our mission which is that we will be a dynamic community partner in all ways that we can,” said Nettles.

In a separate matter, the board briefly discussed the idea of naming the high school basketball court after Clinton native Gene Vance. Vance played basketball for the University of Illinois as well as in the NBA. He served as the athletic director at the University of Illinois from 1967 to 1972. Vance passed away in 2012 at age 88.

No vote was taken on the matter because the item was not on the agenda, but the board directed Nettles to reach out to Vance’s family.

In other matters, the board:

Heard presentations from Beth Wickenahuser, principal of both Lincoln and Douglas schools, and Clinton Junior High Principal Jim Peck.

Approved the change in dates of the next board meeting from Nov. 15 to Nov. 22 due to scheduling conflicts.

Approved the following employments or appointments: Holly Farrell, CJHS aide; Cody Blades, CHS aide; Steve Meade, van driver; Amy Mason, monitor; and Kristen Rhoades as a bus and van driver pending completion of testing.

Report gives Illinois’ finances an ‘F’ grade

Kevin Bessler

GLENCOE, Ill. — Illinois ranks near the bottom of a new analysis of state finances across the U.S.

Truth in Accounting’s 13th annual Financial State of the States ranked Illinois 48th in the country, the same rank as last year. Only two other states, New Jersey and Connecticut, graded worse than Illinois for fiscal health. The review is of the states’ fiscal year that ended June 30, 2021.

The report notes that Illinois had about $39 billion available to pay nearly $250 billion worth of bills, a shortfall that breaks down to a burden of $49,500 per taxpayer. As a result, the state receives an “F” grade for its state finances.

Truth in Accounting noted that Illinois was extremely tardy when releasing its annual financial report. Illinois released its report more than 356 days after the end of the fiscal year, when the standard for timeliness is 180 days.

The report says Illinois’ financial problems stem mostly from unfunded public employee retirement obligations. Christine Kuglin, director of the Truth in Accounting Project at The University of Denver, said 2021 was beneficial for pension returns, but things have taken a turn for the worse.

“Those are subject to the same types of market fluctuations that we who have our own private pension funds, the governments are the exact same,” Kuglin said.

Although pension liabilities decreased by $12.1 billion in 2021 due to the increase in investment value, the report said much of the value increase is only on paper. Until the pension investments are sold, these liability decreases are not real.

New alert system will replace county sirens

System is more advanced and will save several thousand dollars per year

Gordon Woods
gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON — The county is moving toward a plan that would replace tornado warning alerts that go out from the countywide siren system with emergency messages sent to land line phones and electronic devices, such as cellphones.

Representatives of Constellation and county Emergency Management Agency (EMA) director Micah Gallardo briefed the county board last week about the plan.

Gallardo said the goal was to upgrade public emergency warning systems. The plan also would save tens of thousands of dollars a year in siren maintenance costs. DeWitt County has about 40 sirens, which cost about $2,000 a year each in maintenance.

“Some benefits we’re going to see with this; we’re going to use more modern-day technologies, and it’s going to reach the transient population that travels through the county,” Gallardo said.

The system will send alerts out based on a distance range, and anyone traveling within that range will receive the alert.

Gallardo also cited the cost savings by removing the sirens.

The county’s CenCom system has access to technology similar to that used in “Amber Alerts.”

“So, that will be the primary system,” Gallardo said.

The county will use a back-up system that uses pre-scripted templates for emergency alerts.

“We’ll be able to take it (the alert) and send it directly to phones,” Gallardo said. “And, also, it will be geo-coded, so it will be connected to any number associated with a house.”

Residents will be able to opt-in to a feature that sends alerts to additional devices through emails and phone numbers. Users also will be able to select a preferred language.

Gallardo said the plan was to begin immediately to educate the public about the new system.

Land line phone users also will receive the alerts automatically. Monthly tests will be conducted with the new system as they are with the warning sirens.

The county and municipalities will have the option to take over ownership of the sirens from Constellation. But, CenCom administrator

Tony Harris pointed out the goal was to move to a higher level of technology. And, Harris also cited the high cost of annual maintenance for the sirens.

“There’s that option, but it’s not going to be cheap,” Harris said.

Harris supports the change to the new system. CenCom activates the sirens during tornado warnings.

“This also will take a load off us because it’s going to be so automated,” Harris said.

Harris mentioned, too, part of the change-over would include replacing the current Hyper-Reach system used locally with a new system called EverBridge. This change would save about $4,500 a year.

“I’m in total support of this; I just think we need to get ahead of it and let the public know,” Harris said.

New assessment districts set to start in 2026

Gordon Woods
gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON — The county recently approved the township and multi-township districts that will begin for the election year 2025. The periodic establishment of the districts is required by the Illinois Department of Revenue. They affect only property assessment and will be in place for 10 years.

“Every 10 years following a census, there has to be a new multi-township district formed if the multi-township district falls below 1,000 population,” said county supervisor of assessments Sandy Schlosser.

Schlosser said it had not been necessary in DeWitt County since the 1990s.

“Creek and Nixon (townships) squeaked by the past 10 years,” she said. “I had to write a letter to the department of revenue because they fell to 998. The department of revenue allowed them to stay a district.”

For the district beginning in 2026. Creek and Nixon will be merged with a larger district that includes Wilson, Rutledge, Harp and DeWitt townships.

“The county board has the final say, and when it’s done, I’ll send it over to the department of revenue,” Schlosser said.

She emphasized multi-township districts were only for assessing purposes.

Questions & Answers

General

Question:

Is it illegal to laminate your Social Security card?

Answer:

No, it is not illegal, but we discourage it. It’s best not to laminate your card. Laminated cards make it difficult — sometimes even impossible — to detect important security features and an employer may refuse to accept them. The Social Security Act requires the Commissioner of Social Security to issue cards that cannot be counterfeited. We incorporate many features that protect the card’s integrity. They include highly specialized paper and printing techniques, some of which are invisible to the naked eye. Keep your Social Security card in a safe place with your other important papers. Do not carry it with you. Learn more at www.ssa.gov.

Question:

How can I get proof of my benefits to apply for a loan?

Answer:

If you need proof you get Social Security benefits, Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and/or Medicare, you can request a benefit verification letter online through your personal my Social Security account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount. This letter is sometimes called a “budget letter,” a “benefits letter,” a “proof of income letter,” or a “proof of award letter.” You even can select the information you want included in your online benefit verification letter.

Retirement

Question:

I know that Social Security’s full retirement age is gradually rising to 67. But does this mean the “early” retirement age will also go up by two years, from age 62 to 64?

Answer:

No. While it is true that under current law the full retirement age is gradually rising from 65 to 67, the “early” retirement age remains at 62. Keep in mind, however, that taking early retirement reduces your benefit amount. For more information about Social Security benefits, visit www.ssa.gov/planners/retire.

Question:

I worked the first part of the year, but plan to retire this month. Will Social Security count the amount I earn for this year when I retire?

Answer:

Yes. If you retire mid-year, we count your earnings for the entire year. We have a special “earnings test” rule we apply to annual earnings, usually in the first year of retirement. Under this rule, you get a full payment for any whole month we consider you retired regardless of your yearly earnings. We consider you retired during any month your earnings are below the monthly earnings limit, or if you have not performed substantial services in self-employment. We do not consider income earned, beginning with the month you reach full retirement age. Learn more about the earnings test rule at www.ssa.gov/retire2/rule.htm.

Disability

Question:

I have been getting Social Security disability benefits for many years. I’m about to hit my full retirement age. What will happen to my disability benefits?

Answer:

When you reach “full retirement age,” we will switch you from disability to retirement benefits. But you won’t even notice the change because your benefit amount will stay the same. It’s just that when you reach retirement age, we consider you to be a “retiree” and not a disability beneficiary. To learn more, visit www.ssa.gov.

Amber Waves

Country living

I grew up on a farm in very rural Iroquois County. Our nearest neighbors were over a half-mile away. There were the barns, corn cribs and hen house associated with a family farm.

The garden was huge and all the trees were mature and available for a young boy to climb. The night sky was clear and you could see the stars without the glare of streetlights. The feeling of freedom and independence was simply part of life. Were there some down sides? Sure.

If it snowed too hard we might have to wait a day or two for the township road grader to bust through the snow drifts. If the power went off, it was no major problem. We had kerosene lamps. The coal furnace was forced air, but it was large and if the fans didn’t work, it was not a major problem. Heat rises from the basement and the house was warm.

We had artesian wells for the livestock and if worse came to be, we could always carry water from the well. Life was good.

I moved off of that farm over 50 years ago, but in many ways always wanted to go back to living the country while living in town. Several years ago we had the opportunity to buy a newer brick home on five acres of land in DeWitt County. Country living has become a little more complex than in my youth. My mailing address is Farmer City, but the DeWitt Post Office is only a mile away. The school system is Clinton. Go figure. It is country living.

The mature trees are still there as is the clear night sky. The water for the house comes from a 180-foot-deep well in the Mahomet Aquifer. The crystal clear water of my youth now needs some massive treatment. Our basement is a water treatment plant. We have a water filter with a chlorinator that also removes the methane gas. We then have the dual water softener. That equipment costs us well over $100 month. But who cares? This is country living.

We had a power outage on Sunday that lasted over 6 hours. Today we have Ivy’s 90-plus-year-old parents living with us. They take a large amount of time and need some extra care. Power outages are no fun. If we had had 20 below temps on Sunday it could have presented a very difficult situation.

Ivy and I had been talking about getting a generator for the house, but hadn’t pulled the trigger. Sunday was a crude and rude, but very effective eye opener. On Monday morning I was pricing whole house generators and calling an electrician. This is country living.

Lastly, the driveway needs some rock. What’s another $1,000? The joy of country living.

Reading this one might get the impression that I no longer like living in the country. Nothing could be further from the truth. While I enjoyed talking with my neighbors in town on the alleys and fence lines, the privacy of having your nearest neighbor a half-mile away is something that I deeply cherish.

Yes, we may have to pay for some things that those in town take for granted. But the deer are in my yard on a nightly basis. The possum walks the tree line believing that no one is watching. Even the turkeys believe that they are safe from Thanksgiving dinner, and they are. The sky is still clear and the stars are bright as they are the only light at night.

We enjoy the peace and solitude of DeWitt County on a daily basis. This is country living at its best.

Changes for VA small businesses

If you hope to set up a business as a service-disabled veteran-owned small business (SDVOSB) or a veteran-owned small business (VOSB), your verification will no longer be done by the Department of Veterans Affairs. Instead, as of the beginning of 2023, the Small Business Administration (SBA) will be in charge.

No new applications will be accepted after Oct. 24, 2022, for either verification or reverification, due to the transition to the Small Business Administration. If you currently have a business and wonder about your next steps, go to vetbiz.va.gov and click on “See frequently asked questions concerning this change.”

The Vets First Verification Program, using the Center for Verification and Evaluation (CVE), will be your go-to for all types of assistance, including working through the initial steps: Intake, Assessment, Federal Review and Decision.

The benefits are worth the trouble to become VA-verified, if only for the set asides that are at the heart of how the VA helps small businesses -- competition is limited, which helps veterans compete for federal contracts. At least 3 percent of those contracts are held for service-disabled veterans

by Freddy Groves

who own their businesses.

To be a SDVOSB or VOSB, a business must be owned 51 percent or more by a veteran who did not receive a bad conduct or dishonorable discharge, and be controlled on a daily basis by a veteran who has the managerial experience to run the business. In addition, the veteran has to be the highest paid person in the company, working full time and holding the highest position in the company. To qualify as a service-disabled business, the veteran must meet all of the above qualifications and also have a disability rating letter from the VA confirming a service-connected disability.

If you’re ready to start a business, check out www.va.gov/osdbu/verification/index.asp and scroll to the guides and forms.

If you’re still at the thinking stage and need direction and help in becoming an entrepreneur, go to www.va.gov/OSDBU/entrepreneur/index.asp for information on finding financial backing, growing your business or doing business with federal agencies and more.

I got grilled

Welcome to my little corner of culinary delights. The culinary instructor whom I admired could be fun but in a serious way. He was flexible regarding suggestions but firm in what he knew to be a correct procedure. He hovered over his students in the kitchen to observe their techniques and correct them. Very little escaped his attention.

One day, he and I were casually talking. He asked for my views on cooking. He does this to better know what is needed in the student to become better. I did not know this of him at the time. I told him that I do not care for grilling.

Yes, I know this is considered the thing for men to do in their back yards. But it never appealed to me. I prefer not having smoke blowing in my face or stoking the fire until it is just right. Another problem with me was in knowing when the meat and/or vegetables were adequately cooked. I know it is silly of me to think this, but with my luck, a bird could fly overhead and make its own contribution toward my efforts.

After that discussion, Chef Tucker saw to it that I would be the grill chef during events. There was even a close-up picture of me in the newspaper grilling chicken breasts at one of those events. Two hundred chicken breasts were needed for the event. Only about 20 or 30 chicken breast can be grilled at any one time. He would walk by to observe my progress. Eventually, I got to be very good at grilling. For another event, I had to grill pork chops. I have even grilled patties made of polenta (course ground cornmeal). I will give brief instructions according to what I learned.

There are two sections to the grill; the hot section and not so hot section. The hot section is for searing your meat as you would in a skillet or sauté pan. After both sides are seared, the meat is transferred to the other section for slow cooking.

To determine the doneness, you push down on the meat with your finger. My instructor taught me a trick to determine the doneness with the muscle tissue between your thumb and index finger. I do not care to detail that in this article.

Before grilling, it is advisable to drag cooking oil across the cooking grates using a basting mop. This helps to prevent the meat from sticking to the grates. It is recommended to produce a diamond design to the meat. This is easily done by starting the searing with the meat at an angle. Once the blackened lines appear, rotate the meat 30 to 40 degrees for the second set of lines. Then do the same for the other side. Be careful not to overcook the food.

Until next time, peace to all.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

These people are blemishes at your love feasts, eating with you without the slightest qualm, shepherds who feed only themselves. They are clouds without rain, blown along by the wind; autumn trees, without fruit and uprooted, twice dead.

JUDE 1:12

Grade / from page A1

The report notes that Illinois had only set aside 45 cents for every dollar of promised pension benefits and one cent for every dollar of promised retiree health care benefits. If benefits and funding are not changed, future taxpayers will be burdened with paying the under-funded retirement promises.

Most governments have very little money to pay promised pension benefits because they follow a pay-as-you-go approach, the report said, paying an amount each year equal to the benefits distributed or claimed in that year. The pay-as-you-go approach pushes current compensation costs and liabilities onto future taxpayers.

The Illinois Teachers' Retirement System this week said the fund's long-term funded ratio has improved, racing nearly 44 percent at the end of fiscal year 2022, despite shaky investment markets and uncertainty in the global economy. The TRS Board of Trustees gave preliminary approval to a $6.04 billion state government contribution for the System in fiscal year 2024. That's a 2.5 percent increase from the $5.89 billion for the fiscal year that ends June 30, 2023.

Lady Maroons vs Lady Bulldogs on 'Senior Night'

Marc Rogers
resqmph7@myfrontiermail.com

CLINTON — In another showdown with conference foe Decatur St. Teresa, the Clinton Lady Maroons were pumped to play well for the seniors who would be honored this night.

First on the evening's agenda was the junior varsity (JV) match with the Lady Bulldogs. The first set was dead even from four all until the tying was broken at 19 all with the Lady Maroons pulling away with six straight points to win the set 25-19.

The second set was clearly controlled by the "Dawgs" as they began with a 4-point run that the home team never recovered from. The Lady Maroons were unable to put together any sustained volleys, while their opponents had several to win the second set 25-15. Not wanting to disappoint their senior friends the JV home team came to the third set with the carburetors full-on and put together volley runs of 4, 6, and 7 points to outdistance the Lady Bulldogs for a 25-12 win in sets 2-1 and take the match.

Between matches there was a ceremony to recognize the two seniors on the volleyball team in Alayna Earle (#11) and Alaina Soberalski (#8). They were presented to the fans and there were cheers all around.

After the senior presentation there was a surprise presentation to Denise Hickman for her 34 years teaching and many years coaching. Denise will retire after this season.

Finally, we arrived at the varsity match between two strong teams. The battlefield in the end was littered with spikes, kill shots, digs, and misses. Unfortunately for the Lady Maroons there were not enough of the first three and to many of the later as they lost in two straight sets 22-25. The Lady Bulldogs took a 2-0 match win.

LSA Lady Lions take 1st place in Clinton tourney

Marc Rogers
resqmph7@myfrontiermail.com

CLINTON — It was a brisk, fall Saturday morning when the Clinton High School (CHS) Lady Maroons hosted a small tournament or round robin volleyball event.

The opposition would be the Calvary Christian Academy (CCA) Lady Knights and the Decatur Lutheran Association (LSA) Lady Lions. The first match of the morning pitted the Lady Maroons against the Lady Knights.

This was an easy run for the Lady Maroons to warm up on before meeting the Lady Lions. The home team won in two straight sets of 25-11 each.

The middle match was between the Lady Knights and the Lady Lions. This match should have been a warning shot to the Lady Maroons.

The Lady Knights were barely on the court when the first set ended 25-8 in favor of the Lady Lions. The second set of the match also went to the Lady Lions, who were on a roll. They took the second set 25-5.

This ended the day for the CCA Lady Knights with an 0-2 record.

The Lady Lions were still fired up from their shellacking of the Lady Knights and although the Lady Maroons battled hard, the Lady Lions took the first set 25-18.

The second set was a true spectacle as neither team could get the upper hand and the scored flipped and flopped with great team volleys built in.

After a grueling time the Lady Maroons came out on top 28-26. This set up the deciding set, and it was another tough set of volleys with the opposition coming out on top 25-19.

This gave the Lady Lions bragging rights for the day at 2-0, with the home team taking second at 1-1 for the day.

CJHS Lady Maroons show Lady Hawks no mercy

Marc Rogers
resqmp7@myfrontiermail.com

CLINTON — Three days after falling to the tough Tri-Valley teams, the Lady Maroons, of Clinton Junior High School (CJHS), hit the hardwood at home against the Sullivan Lady Redskins.

The Sullivan team appeared to be out of place as the Lady Maroons played havoc with the opposition's offense and defense. The 7th graders decimated the opposition with a 31-17 win. The 8th grade team also ran rampant with a 28-8 win. Eighteen of the points in the second game came from Averie Fatheree (#2).

After a weekend, break the Lady Maroons took to the court to defend against the Meridian Lady Hawks. The Lady Hawks are always a strong opponent.

The taming of the Lady Hawks began with the 7th grade game. The home team was up 20-2 at half-time and never looked back.

The opposition hardly made a show until the 4th quarter, when they out-scored the home team 6-4. Too little, to late as the Lady Maroons won the game 32-10.

The home team was led by Karlie Bless (#1) and Delaney Dempsey (#24), each scoring 10 points.

Next up were the 8th graders, and the Lady Maroons showed no mercy to the Lady Hawks in the blowout. The home team was up 13-0 after the first quarter and 29-0 at half-time.

The game carried on as the Lady Maroons racked up a 35-0 lead after three quarters. Again, the Lady Hawks awoke in the 4th quarter but just enough to put some numbers on the board.

The Lady Maroons won 41-4.

Kearington Hardwick (#11) pulls down the rebound for the Maroons (8th grade).
