“We’ve wanted to do this for about five years,” said Schmid, who added, in time, they may add more properties. For now, however, this trio of homes is manageable with their full-time work responsibilities.

“Everybody is very respectful of the properties,” Schmid of their guests. “We try not to meet our guests, just because we don’t want them to feel like we’re intruding, but every guest we’ve met has been great.”

“Our biggest stress is making sure we have toilet paper and laundry soap,” laughed Starkey, but he admitted sometimes the turnaround time when one group is leaving and another is arriving in the same day can be stressful.

The couple give a lot of credit to the cleaners from Weldon who help them. “They are great,” said Starkey, “especially in the busy months of June-July-August.”

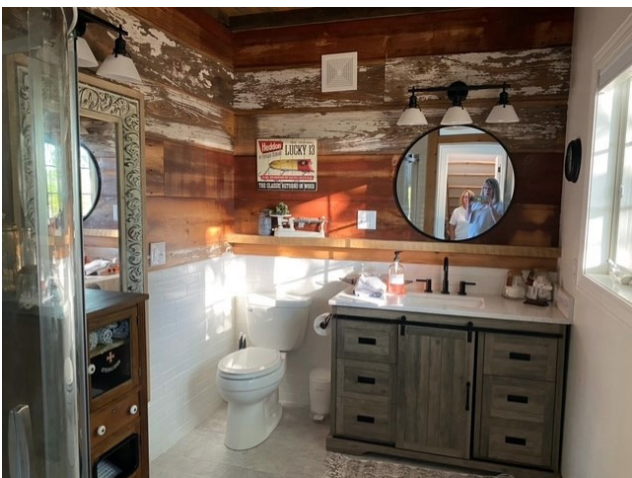

Apple ‘n Pork weekend is also a busy time for the properties with annual renters from Pennsylvania who have family in the area and always return for the festival, noting their properties would be booked for the 2023 festival the week following this year’s event.

Starkey said the properties are also popular due to their central location, making it convenient for visitors from neighboring states.

Businesses awarded for annual Homecoming window contest

CLINTON — The Junior M-Squad recently held its annual window decorating contest for homecoming.

Thirty-nine businesses participated in this year’s contest. Windows were decorated in maroon and gold for CHS homecoming. The windows were judged by Junior M-Squad dance moms.

In 3rd place was Harvest Mercantile, 2nd place was Dance Xtreme and 1st place was Two Doors Down.

The Junior M-Squad members thanked businesses for participating.

14th annual 'Rummage for the Cure' at Nazarene Church Oct. 7 & 8

CLINTON — The Clinton First Church of the Nazarene will host its 14th annual "Rummage for the Cure" rummage sale from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 7, and 8 a.m.-1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 8. All proceeds will go to the The Breast Cancer Research Foundation in memory of Judy Hendrick.

Extension for debt hardship relief period

If you owe benefit debts to the Department of Veterans Affairs, your hardship relief period, previously set to expire on Sept. 30, has been extended to Dec. 31. Those types of debts can include those for education, disability compensation and non-service pension, and you might have been approved for either a waiver, a compromise or an extended repayment plan, as well as the hardship suspension of debt. These debts impact half a million veterans and sometimes can be the result of a clerical error, the veteran not being able to understand the paperwork or a letter being lost in the mail. Worse is when the error occurred when the veteran didn't see the fine print and suddenly started receiving collection bills for debts he didn't know he owed. By now you might have received a letter from the VA, if you have been making payments. Don't be afraid to open that letter. It's likely extension information for you. Consider using it to apply for a hardship extension that will carry you to the end of the year.

If you ever received an overpayment and were told you have to pay it back, give them a call at 800-827-0648. If the money you owe results from either a pharmacy co-payment or medical care debt, instead call 866-400-1238 and talk to them. Get to the bottom of the actual source of the debt. Did a clerk make a mistake? Did you fail to verify dependents or write in a wrong number? Do you have the canceled checks to show that you actually paid? Find out what's wrong. The VA has taken a number of steps over the years to help veterans saddled with VA-related debt. They canceled co-pays from April 2020 to September 2021. They changed the income to qualify for relief. They took away the Financial Status Report for hardship eligibility. And, a big deal: They cut nearly all the reports to credit agencies for medical debt. That can have a big impact on your future credit score. (c) 2022 King Features Synd., Inc.

National Saving Day reminds us to plan for the future

Jack Myers
Social Security public affairs specialist

This year, October 12 is National Savings Day. This day serves as an important reminder to plan for your financial future. Social Security is a vital part of any financial plan. We have online tools to help you understand your potential Social Security benefits and how they fit into your financial future. You should periodically review your Social Security Statement using your personal my Social Security account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount. Your Statement is an easy-to-read summary of the estimated benefits you and your family could receive, including potential retirement, disability, and survivors benefits. Our Plan for Retirement tool in your personal my Social Security account allows you to check various benefit estimate scenarios. You can compare the effect of different future earnings and retirement benefit start dates have on your future benefit amount. Please let friends and family know they can take steps to improve their financial knowledge by signing in to their secure my Social Security account. If they don't have an account, they can easily create one at www.ssa.gov/myaccount.

Free college courses

In an attempt to keep brain cells active this winter, I have signed up for a college course. The good news is that it's all online and it's free. The other good news is that it's sponsored by a major university. It's called Open Courseware, and I found my class on the internet. Yale, Harvard, MIT, Stanford and many others have "massive open online courses," also known as MOOCs, and their main purpose is to provide learning opportunities. You have to appreciate MIT especially. They make course material for their 2,600 classes "available on the web, free of charge, to any user anywhere in the world." Most of these open courseware classes are self-paced (do them when you want after downloading the lecture). Most don't get you a certificate or a degree, but then most don't cost anything either. Beware, of course, scammers who'd like to take your personal information and charge you for a class that's actually free and doesn't require you to sign up. Your best bet, until you're familiar with open courseware, is to stick to the big-name universities.

SENIOR NEWS LINE

by Matilda Charles

For a three-minute video showing an explanation of MIT's open courseware, see www.youtube.com/watch?v=ICa\_4xUr8BA. Read the fine print on the website as you hunt for a class. Read the syllabus (description of the course) and the list of texts to be used. If you're required to read books, see if they're free to download online. (Some of the material downloads are huge.) Pay attention to the estimated time commitment for the course you want to take. If you definitely want to attend in-person college, but need financial help, see www.aseniorcitizenguideforcollege.com. Click on "Find Your State Tuition Waivers" and see if any in your state are covered. Some colleges will have a link to an application for a tuition waiver for seniors; some will just have a website and phone number to call for information. Note: The Great Courses (www.thegreatcourses.com) are not open courseware and will cost money. (c) 2022 King Features Synd., Inc.

HISTORY ALMANAC

1962 - James Meredith succeeded in registering at the University of Mississippi. It was his fourth attempt to register.

1963 - The Soviet Union publicly declared itself on the side of India in their dispute with Pakistan over Kashmir.

1966 - Albert Speer and Baldur von Schirach were released at midnight from Spandau prison after completing their 20-year sentences. Speer was the Nazi minister of armaments and von Schirach was the founder of Hitler Youth.

1971 - The Soviet Union and the United States signed pacts that were aimed at avoiding an accidental nuclear war.

1971 - A committee of nine people was organized to investigate the prison riot at Attica, NY. 10 hostages and 32 prisoners were killed when National Guardsmen stormed the prison on September 13, 1971.

1976 - California enacted the Natural Death Act of California. The law was the first example of right-to-die legislation in the U.S.

1982 - “Cheers” began an 11-year run on NBC-TV.

1984 - “Doonesbury” by Garry Trudeau returned. The comic strip had not been printed in nearly 20 months.

1986 - The U.S. released accused Soviet spy Gen-nadiy Zakharov, one day after the Nicholas Daniloff had been released by the Soviets.

1987 - Mikhail S. Gorbachev retired President Andrei A. Gromyko from the Politburo and fired other old-guard leaders in a shake-up at the Kremlin.

1989 - Thousands of East Germans began emigrating under an accord between the NATO nations and the Soviet Union.

1989 - Non-Communist Cambodian guerrillas claimed that they had captured 3 towns and 10 other positions from the residing government forces.

1991 - Haiti’s first freely elected president, Jean-Bertrand Aristide, was overthrown by Brigadier General Raoul Cedras. Aristide was later returned to power.

1992 - Moscow banks distributed privatization vouchers aimed at turning millions of Russians into capitalists.

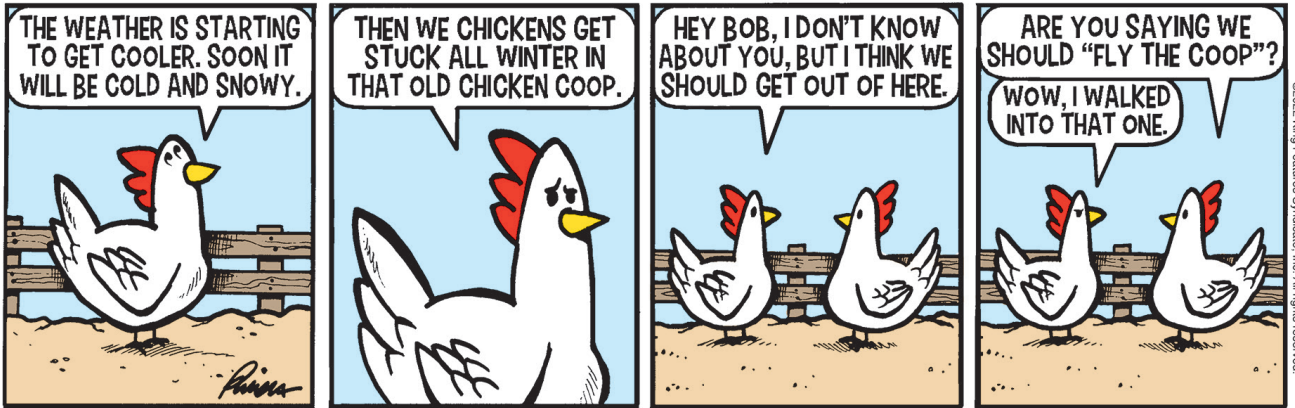

1994 - The space shuttle Endeavor took off on an 11-day mission. Part of the mission was to use a radar instrument to map remote areas of the Earth.

1997 - France’s Roman Catholic Church apologized for its silence during the persecution and deportation of Jews the pro-Nazi Vichy regime.

1999 - The San Francisco Giants played the Los Angeles Dodgers in the last baseball game to be played at Candlestick Park (3Com Park). The Dodgers won 9-4.

1999 - In Tokaimura, Japan, radiation escaped a nuclear facility after workers accidentally set off an uncontrolled nuclear chain reaction.

International stability

International relationships are built on common needs and goals, Nations and diplomats want to know who they are dealing with and what the parameters are. Most nations want a stable relationship with other nations they associated with.

They do not concern themselves so much with conservative or liberal ideology as they do with what is the working relationship between them. The bottom line is that most international relationships are based on economic interests and seldom on human rights.

Three major regimes have been in the international news the past few weeks. China, Iran and Russia are all essentially autocratic or dictatorship regimes. Russia is fighting a war in Ukraine. China is threatening armed conflict over Taiwan and Iran continues to stir turmoil in the Mideast. Simply by definition autocratic regimes are stable until they are not. Considering the impact all three have on international trade their stability is always a concern. Russia and China have immense nuclear weapons at their disposal and Iran probably has access to some of its own. All three nations are showing regime instability of recent date.

Russia’s forced annexation of Ukraine is not going well for Russia. It is so bad that Putin is now seeking to draft 300,000 reservists to fight in Ukraine. Putin’s hard right supporters are urging him to be much more aggressive in the war with Ukraine. His business partners are seeking an end to the conflict as they have been adversely impacted financially. More importantly, mothers and wives of conscripted recruits are now protesting the conflict in the streets of Russia. A dictatorship with riots is a dictatorship in trouble.

Iran has been an Islamic dictatorship for years. Women have been oppressed and little has improved their lot. A woman was arrested recently for wearing western clothing by the religious police. That woman died while in police custody. Her death has been the impetus for many Iranian women to lead public protests against the Iranian regime. The regime has not been able to quell the protests as it has with past protests. Again, if you get one-half of the population in opposition it does not bode well for the regime.

China has been rattling its sword if you will against Taiwan and claims of other Asian countries to certain islands for years. Asian papers have noted that Chinese President Xi Jinping has not been seen in public recently and suggested a coup has occurred by the military. While that appears doubtful the mere reporting of such an event implies there may be difficulties in the regime itself.

Should any of these regimes fall the question is what will be the response of the U. S. While we as Americans may want a different regime, what regime will we find. The new regime may well seek democracy. However, the new regime may be even more oppressive than the current regime.

Diplomacy is an art form, and I hope our leaders have been doing their playbooks for many different scenarios.

LETTERS

Thanks to Save-A-Lot, a quality local business

I felt the need to write about this subject for quite a while now. I truly feel we live in one of the best communities that there is.

Whether it’s due to great neighbors, supportive individuals in the community, great jobs, or the plethora of quality locally owned businesses, we live in a great community. And it’s one of those quality businesses that I have to talk about, because they do not get the amount of recognition that they deserve.

Our local Save-A-Lot is hands-down one of the best resources we have in our awesome community. If you are a patron of the store, you can see how great the store is as far as quality of the items sold, cleanliness in general of the inside and outside of the property, the friendliness of the staff, great pricing, and the list goes on and on.

But what I don’t think that most people know is how supportive to the community they are. The Kenney Fire Department has been doing an annual chicken fry every year for the past 40-plus years. We found ourselves in a major dilemma a few years back when the pandemic hit. Most of the items we got from all over the community were out of stock with no possible way of getting in time.

Many hours of brainstorming and lost sleep happened ...until we reached out to Save-A-Lot. They somehow got us EVERYTHING that we needed and at a generous price. Since then, they have been nothing short of amazing to us in helping get the needed items and showing their continued support.

Both Dave Jackson and Jon Groves came to us this year during set-up and cooking to make sure everything was up to our standards, and of course it was. Their generosity and support mean everything to us and we are truly grateful for them and the amazing business Dave runs.

There are so many great businesses in our community that show their support to nonprofit organizations like Kenney Fire Department, and we are truly blessed to live where we do. Of these great businesses, Save-A-Lot is second to none. Keep running a great business, WE APPRECIATE YOU!

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "I am about to fulfill my words against this city; words concerning disaster, not prosperity. At that time they will be fulfilled before your eyes. But I will rescue you on that day, declares the Lord; you will not be given into the hands of those you fear. I will save you; you will not fall by the sword but will escape with your life, because you trust in me, declares the Lord."

Temperature changes

Welcome to my little corner of culinary delights. I wish to cover more on your frozen assets.

You have heard the claim that one size fits all. When it comes to freezing, one temperature does not work for all frozen items. Because of our limited money and space, the average home cannot afford several freezers to satisfy various temperature levels. Now that the ice cube compartment is incorporated with the food freezer in the refrigerator, there is less control.

I am sure that the older generation recalls those metal ice cube trays that had dividers that operate with a lever to break free the individual cubes. You probably recall times that it seemed almost impossible to break those cubes free. Those who know me will have no problem believing that I still use such trays. I still shave with a straight razor. Those not knowing the principles of freezing have no idea of the problem temperature variations can cause.

Generally speaking, ice cubes should be kept under a temperature between 10°F to 25°F. At this temperature, the ice cubes break free more easily and evaporate less. However, frozen foods should never be stored for more than a week this way. Temperatures at 0°F or lower are best for frozen food storage. However, to be more specific, each item has its own optimum storage temperature. I will list a few of your more common items. If you wish more specifics, I would have to write a book. Therefore, I recommend you find

The Culinary Corner

By Chef Roger Joss

quality books on the subject.

Ice cream is most exacting. Even if the temperature is in the freezing range, the ice cream can be too soft or too hard if the temperatures are not within proper limits. I once made my own ice cream to serve at a church function. I stored it in their chest freezer. There was no thermometer to know the temperature. The ice cream froze so hard that I and two other men could barely dig any of it out to serve.

The amount of air incorporated into the ice cream is called "overrun". If half of the volume is air, that is 100% overrun; the legal limit. High quality is known as gelato. Its overrun is at 20% or lower. The greater the overrun, the easier it is to scoop out. The temperature range should be between 0°F to no more than -10°F. -5°F is ideal.

For temperature ranges compared to the length of time for storing your various kinds of meats, vegetables and fruits need to be gotten from a book on the subject of home freezing techniques. In many cases, your vegetables need to be blanched first. In other cases, other things are added for preserving flavor and/or color. In any case, you will need a book specializing in that study. Do not get cold feet over this.

Until next time, peace to all.

Maroons punished by Bulldogs in varsity and JV losses

Marc Rogers
jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON — The fall season is upon us and the Clinton Maroons football are, unfortunately, struggling with the cold and damp.

The “Friday Night Lights” were dimmed by a rain on September 23, which appeared to bog down the Maroons as they battled the Decatur St. Teresa Bulldogs.

On their second possession of the game, the Bulldogs ran 63 yards for a touchdown (TD) and made the extra point (EP) for a 7-0 lead. Then, with 3:29 left in the first quarter the “Dawgs” took over on downs and immediately scored a second time, both TD and EP for a 14-0 lead.

St. Teresa then pinned the Maroons on their own one yard line, where the Maroons make some gains but lost the ball on downs. The Bulldogs again took advantage of the opportunity and scored their third TD & EP for a 21-0 lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Maroons fumbled the ball, setting up another easy touchdown for the Bulldogs with 43 seconds left in the first half. The Maroons were able to to block the extra point kick, but with the score the “Dawgs” were ahead 27-0.

The second quarter was a battle in the rain-drenched trenches with St. Teresa coming away with the only points again on a field goal for a 30-0 lead at halftime.

By the third quarter, the rain had let up, but the Bulldogs did not. With 7:38 left in the quarter, the Bulldogs struck again with a TD, but the Maroons were able to block their extra point for a second time. Bulldogs 36-0.

The Maroons lost possession on downs. With 3:58 left in the quarter, the Bulldogs followed their pattern of the night and scored a TD and EP for a 43-0 lead.

The light began to shine on Clinton as they made a couple of first downs followed by a St. Teresa personal foul. Then, Keaton Graves (#9) ran the ball for a big gain to the 15 yard line, but the Maroons then fumbled the ball and St. Teresa recovered to start the final quarter.

The Bulldogs suddenly began to fall apart and lost the ball on downs. With 2:05 left in the game, Tristan Potts (#20) broke loose for a gain to the one-yard line. Then, at the 1:37 mark in the fourth quarter, the Maroons scored a TD and EP putting them on the board at 43-7.

The Bulldogs recovered from their earlier disorientation, taking the following kickoff and with 11 seconds left in the game to score their final TD (the extra point was blocked by the Maroons) to beat the home team 49-7.

On the Monday, the Bulldogs returned with their junior varsity team take on the JV Maroons. There was no more rain, but there was a cold, brisk wind out of the north to keep things tough for play.

Clinton chose to kickoff, and the Bulldogs took advantage, when, on the third play of the game they scored a touchdown and ran the ball in on the extra point for an 8-0 early lead.

The Bulldogs then tried an onside kick, which the Maroons gathered in to retain. However, the Maroons lost the ball on downs and St. Teresa took possession.

After a mix of downs, the Bulldogs got a 50-yard run and then punched the ball across the line with 4:37 left in the quarter. With the TD and 2-point conversion the score stood at 16-0 St. Teresa.

In the second quarter, the Bulldogs scored again with 5:36 left in the quarter, adding the 2-point conversion to take a 24-0 lead into halftime.

In the third quarter, activity picked up for the opposition. Clinton received the kickoff, then lost the ball on downs giving the Bulldogs another scoring opportunity. With 5:42 remaining in the quarter, St. Teresa scored again, including the 2-point conversion for a 32-0 lead.

On the following kickoff, the Bulldogs again tried an onside play which worked, and they had the ball again. With 4:05 left in the quarter, the Bulldogs scored another TD but were stopped on the extra point for a 38-0 lead.

Going into the fourth quarter, the Maroons turned the ball over on downs at the 31-yard line and the Bulldogs took the ball in for another TD with no EP for a 44-0 lead.

With 4:51 left in the game, the Bulldogs got another break when the Maroons fumbled the ball. True to form, St. Teresa scored and added a 2-point conversion for a 52-0 lead. With 2:32 left in the game, the Clinton Maroons took over for their final scoring effort.

At one minute left on the game clock, the Maroons managed their first score, adding a 2-point conversion but ending with a 52-8 loss.

CLINTON —On a recent warm, late summer afternoon, 11 high school teams emerged from their transports and moved toward the links for the Annual Clinton Invitational golf tournament.

Forty-nine golfers were in attendance, all hoping to garner a place in the winners’ circle. This year’s play ended in a tie between the Maroa/Forsyth Trojans and the Roanoke/Benson Rockets for first place. The tie- breaker brought in the scores of each team’s fifth player.

This gave first place to the Trojans by 6 strokes. The Rockets were then second, and the Clinton Maroon team took third place.

The top medalist was D. J. Norman of Roanoke/Benson with a 34, followed by Tyler Davis of Maroa/Forsyth in second with a score of 36 and Brooks Cluver of the Maroons in third place shooting a 37.

The Maroons now head to the Central Illinois Conference Championship.

BRIDGE BITES

	♠ 53 ♥ 3 ♦ 964 ♣ AQ98432
♠ AQJ962 ♥ JT2 ♦ K532 ♣	North West East  Declarer	♠ T87 ♥ 98764 ♦ T87 ♣ 76
	♠ K4 ♥ AKQ5 ♦ AQJ ♣ KJT5

Post Script: West might have thwarted the squeeze by coming down to ♠AQ and ♦K, but an astute Declarer will suspect that West has the ♠Q for his opening bid and will play to drop the ♦K instead of trying the Spade throw-in. A more thoughtful West will bare the ♦K early in his discards, and will also pitch away the ♠Q and ♠J, coming down to the fiendishly devious ♠A6 and ♦K! Nobody would fault Declarer for now assuming that West started life with 5=3=5=0 distribution, and for misguessing the end-game as a result. Wicked defense. Mr West!

“Unlike spring-blooming bulbs such as tulips and daffodils, these tropical plants will be killed by our cold winter temperatures if left outdoors,” says Ken Johnson,

One way to avoid damaging the bulbs is to begin digging several inches away from the plant.

Before storing bulbs inspect them again for any signs of disease or insects. Discard or treat

Dried bulbs can be stored in 2 to 3-inch layers of peat moss, sand, vermiculite, sawdust, or coconut coir in a well-ventilated container such as milk or bread crates or cardboard boxes. Try not to let bulbs touch one another while they are being stored. This will help prevent the spread of rot be-

Periodically check your bulbs throughout the winter and remove any that appear to be rotting. Also, check the moisture levels. If bulbs are beginning to shrink and become wrinkled, moisten the media they are being stored in with a spray bottle. Just make sure not to moisten them too much because that can lead to rot.

"So many of us love the trees in our lives, and it can be devastating to see one fail because of a weather event. Taking actions before and after a storm can help promote tree resilience and longevity," says Emily Swihart.

Tree species vary in site condition preferences and tolerances, so matching tree requirements to site conditions will promote its establishment and overall health. Assessing a tree's form and making proper pruning cuts when necessary can create a canopy that is well balanced, encourages a single leader, and has strong branch attachment angles. Providing supplemental water to young trees during times of drought encourages root system development. Strong root systems support healthy canopies by

Finally, trees provide a wide variety of services in our communities – from cooling homes to creating habitat for wildlife. If trees are lost, after clean-up has occurred, replanting is the final step in recovery. # Watkins Jewelry

Established 1890

When W.E Watkins opened his shop in 1890 in the town of Cropsey IL. he started something that would still be growing strong over 130 years later. W.E. also passed along not only a business but a skill for and the love of tinkering. Jerry Watkins (3rd generation) is the current owner of Watkins Jewelry on the square in Clinton IL. Jerry said his grandpa was a great tinkerer. He would fix anything. The store in Cropsey sold and repaired jewelry, watches, clocks and musical instruments as well as anything else people brought to him. When W.E. passed away in 1947 his son Mel (2nd generation) purchased the business after teaching mechanics in the army and moved to North Street in Normal IL. Upon Mel's death in 1966 Jerry and his wife, Marilyn, purchased Watkins Jewelry. They moved the store from Normal to Clinton in 1989 where the store is still run today. Jerry and Marilyn's son Steve (4th generation) also works in the shop repairing jewelry and clocks.

Understanding smart farm automation

(METRO) — Modern agriculture looks little like the early days of farming. All aspects of farming have been modified by the access farmers now have to technologies to meet the demands of their work and the pressure a growing population places on farmers to produce quality food.

Farm automation, precision farming and smart farming are strategies utilized by today's farmers. These technologies have become important ways for farmers to optimize the production of food and improve its quality. According to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, agricultural production must increase by 70 percent in order to meet global food demand by 2050, by which time the population could be 9.7 billion persons.

Smart farming can make raising livestock more accurate and controlled. While farm automation is a broad term, precision smart farming zeroes in on exact measurements between variations in land conditions and livestock, according to Techie Loops, a technology information website. Examples of farming automation technology include:

- autonomous vehicles and machines
- drones
- robotics

- GPS guidance
- micro-forecasting and weather forecasting
- soil sampling
- yield mapping
- use of artificial intelligence
- geomatics
- statistical processes, and more.

Farmers can employ these technologies to save time and also manage labor shortages. Robot-assisted irrigation systems, for example, can maximize efficiency of water distribution where it is needed the most. Weeding robots can use artificial intelligence and computer vision to target field areas and reduce use of pesticides. Driverless tractors can make labor cheaper for farmers by plotting the machine's route and letting it run the course automatically. Harvest robots also exist to grab crops gently (some with vacuum technology) and reduce reliance on field workers. Some harvesters can determine ripeness of fruit via

AI technology, according to Eastern Peak, a provider of custom hardware and software solutions for businesses.

Technology is changing farming in many ways. Innovations in automation can make operations more efficient and less costly.

Advancements in livestock technology

(METRO) — Consumer demand drives changes in industry, and the agricultural sector is no exception. Consumer demands for improved animal welfare have led to changes in the livestock sector, and various technologies have been developed and are in development to help this particular segment of the agricultural industry thrive.

According to the Animal AgTech Innovation Summit, various startups have developed technologies that can make the livestock industry more sustainable and efficient.

Treatment
The Israeli firm Armenta has developed a non-antibiotic treatment for bovine mastitis that utilizes acoustic pulse technology. The treatment has a 70 percent cure rate.

Another firm working to treat livestock is the United States-based General Probiotics. Animal AgTech reports that General Probiotics develops cellbots and antimicrobial probiotics that eliminate harmful pathogens in livestock. That can reduce dependency on antibiotics and make food production safer.

Welfare

Faromatics, a firm based in Spain, has combined robotics, artificial intelligence and big data to improve animal welfare and farm productivity. One Faromatics product utilizes a robot suspended from a ceiling to monitor certain variables, including equipment function and health and welfare, that affect broiler chickens.

The American firm Swinotech utilizes voice recognition and computer vision technology in its SmartGuard product to prevent piglet deaths from crushing and starvation. The product also makes it possible to track and facilitate obstetrical assistance.

Operations

Based in Uganda, Jaguza Tech has developed a livestock management system that utilizes sensors, data science and machine learning to improve the efficiency, productivity and sustainability of modern farm operations. Farmers can utilize Jaguza to perform a host of functions, including monitoring their animals' health and identifying their livestock.

The Netherlands-based H2Oalert is a water control management system that checks the quality and quantity of cattle drinking water in real time. The management system also checks for pollution and malfunctions in the water supply.

Livestock technology continues to advance, and firms across the globe are developing new products and platforms to help livestock farmers make their operations more efficient, sustainable and productive.

Notice is hereby given that I, Gloria Wills, Treasurer and Ex-Officio County Collector of DeWitt County in the State of Illinois, will apply to the Circuit Court of said County on Monday, October 17, 2022 at 9 a.m. for judgment against the lands, lots, and railroad property described in the foregoing list for taxes, interest, and costs due and unpaid thereon for the year 2021 and or any part thereof, and also for forfeitures for prior years. Said lands, lots, and railroad property being situated in the County of DeWitt in the State of Illinois, as set forth in the foregoing list. Simultaneously, I will apply for an order to sell taxes on same lands, lots, and railroad property for the satisfaction thereof, and for judgment fixing the correct amount of any tax objections or paid under protest.

AND NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN: That on the 1st Wednesday succeeding application for judgment, said date being October 17, 2022, the taxes on all lands, lots, and railroad property in the foregoing list against which judgment shall have been made will be exposed for public sale at the County Building, Clinton, Illinois. The amount of sale being taxes, interest, and costs thereon. Said sale will commence at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, October 19, 2022. All prospective bidders must be registered to bid with the County Treasurer no later than Monday, October 3, 2022 (Ten working days prior to sale).
