CLINTON — U.S. Army veterans Charlie Carter, of Clinton, and Larry Clark, of Maroa, received an enthusiastic welcome home July 19 after participating in a Land of Lincoln Honor Flight to Washington D.C. Both men are veterans of the Vietnam War. Carter and Clark received an escort back to Clinton from Springfield Capital Airport and arrived just after midnight to the parking lot at Cedar Square. More than 100 friends, family and residents were there to greet them, waving flags and banners. Land of Lincoln Honor Flight Mission #61 took 96 veterans to visit the war memorials and other sites in Washington D.C. Of those 96 veterans, there was one World War II veteran, four Korean War veterans and 91 Vietnam veterans. There also were 82 guardians who traveled with the veterans. The veterans on the flight came from 65 Central Illinois towns plus one Missouri town and one Indiana town. Carter and Clark each made comments about how positive they felt about the Honor Flight and encouraged other veterans to participate in future flights. After their introduction to the crowd, they were given some items to show appreciation for their service. Jay Peterson, of Peterson Insurance, presented both veterans a solar night light with a soldier saluting. The following Battle Cross Crusaders members listed below presented both veterans tokens of appreciation for their service at the event:

- Mike Reynolds and Skip Armstrong, both U.S. Army Vietnam veterans, presented Carter and Clark the paperwork filled out to have their names placed on the Veterans Wall in Wapella for free.

SAFE-T likely increasing costs for courts, police

Legislation eliminates some fees, increases departmental costs through seven-day-a-week courts

Gordon Woods
gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON — New Illinois legislation, some of which already has taken effect, could place an extra burden on the DeWitt County legal system. States attorney Dan Markwell briefed the county board recently about the additional expense the county will incur because of the law.

The Illinois Safety, Accountability, Fairness and Equity-Today (SAFE-T) Act was passed by the Illinois General Assembly in 2021 and was intended as a sweeping reform of parts of the criminal justice system, including pre-arrest diversion, policing, pretrial, sentencing, and corrections. By-and-large, law enforcement agencies around the state have not been receptive of the changes, expressing frustration the Act sets severe limits on the ability of agencies to perform their jobs. The pretrial fairness portion of the act takes effect in January 2023. “It’s going to affect law enforcement greatly,” Markwell said last week. “But, it’s also going to affect the county financially.” Markwell said the county board likely would see increases in funding requests for several departments when the board begins budget planning later this year. The county no longer will be able to charge the $80 processing fee when subjects are booked into the jail. “We won’t be able to charge anything,” Markwell said. “So, that’s going to be a big hit.” The courts’ office will no longer receive 10 percent of cash bonds posted by subjects who are formally charged. This is because the Act also prohibits the use of cash bonds beginning Jan. 1. “We’re going to have to look at those former income streams and see. If you go back a few years and take the average, we can kind of calculate what our losses will be,” Markwell said.

CLINTON — Residents are encouraged to attend WCIA 3’s ‘Our Town, Clinton,’ today, Friday, July 29, from 4-7 p.m. at the C.H. Moore Homestead & DeWitt County Museum. See other ‘Our Town’ activities on page A5.

Special guests for Founders’ Day Aug. 21

CLINTON — Three special guests will visit Clinton on Sunday August 21 for the city’s Founders Day celebration, sponsored by the Celebrate Clinton Association. Festivities will open at 1 p.m. on Mr. Lincoln’s Square with remarks by Kelbey McMath, Clinton Junior High School social studies teacher, and City Commissioner John Wise. The Clinton High School band will perform a selection of patriotic favorites. On hand for the ceremony will be Jesse Fell, Clifton H. Moore and Abe Lincoln impersonators, three historical figures who each played a role in Clinton’s founding and growth as a city. Following the ceremony, three special guests will walk to the C.H. Moore Homestead and DeWitt County Museum. They will stop at the Prairie Passage on North Center Street, the site identified by Fell and James Allen as a good place to locate a town. Everyone is encouraged to join the three men on their walk. They will stop briefly at the North Center Street founding site, where Lincoln will have a memento for children.

The county also will see increased costs as a result of the Act. The Act shortens required times between arrest and bond hearings, 24 hours for Class A misdemeanors, 48 hours for felonies, and mandates that courts must be available on weekends and holidays to conduct those hearings. “Basically, seven days a week,” Markwell said. “So, we’re going to have to budget for, potentially, overtime for offices.” He said it would involve fulltime people available to work on weekends and holidays as well as employees who are on call. The courthouse will have to open, which will require officers to provide security. Court reporters also will be required for the extended, seven-day-a-week hours. No court reporters live in DeWitt County. “This could be a very costly thing,” Markwell said. “We don’t know what it’s going to be yet.” From the perspective of sheriff Mike Walker, the Act creates major obstacles for his office. Walker said Illinois legislators did not involve any of the state’s law enforcement associations in the drafting of the bill. “They did this without any input from those organizations,” Walker said. Some controversy surrounded the legislation when Democrats were accused of intentionally waiting until late at night to bring the bill up for a vote. “People who have never been in law enforcement, spent a minute in a squad car or arrested anybody . . . , Walker said.” As an example of Walker’s frustration, he said his deputies would no longer be able to arrest someone for trespassing but would be permitted only to issue a citation. “It’s going to be a mess; it’s what’s happening in New York,” Walker said. “These people are either going to be brought in to jail, processed and kicked out or just be given a citation.” Walker also said the elimination of some fees, such as the jail processing fee, would affect expenditures on such things as department vehicles. Some of the more extreme measures adopted in the SAFE-T Act stemmed, at least in part, from some high profile Illinois cases in which suspects arrested and jailed for non-violent offenses were unable to post their bonds and subsequently lost their jobs or, in some cases, their businesses.

Weldon ‘Little Free Library’

On July 20, the village of Weldon opened its own Little Free Library thanks to a donation from the Clinton Journal. Volunteers cleaned and repurposed an old newspaper box, and visitors can take a book and/or donate a book for others. The box is located across from the Weldon Library by the gravel parking lot.

Both veterans and their families, and The Battle Cross Crusaders, thanked the Clinton Police Department, DeWitt County Sheriff’s Department, Illinois State Police, Sangamon County Sheriff’s Department, Logan County Sheriff’s Department, Springfield Police Department, Clinton Fire, Kenney Fire,

Chest-nut Fire, Maroa Fire, Wapella Fire departments, and the Clinton EMS for their support and participation on the escort home, and the residents, who helped make this the largest local Honor Flight welcome home event to date. Battle Cross Crusaders offered a special thanks to volunteer Jeff Bowling. “Jeff plays a crucial role in the Battle Cross Crusaders program, and we appreciate all he does for our veterans,” said Jeff Morlock, DeWitt County Honor Flight liaison officer. “And, thank you Mr. Carter and Mr. Clark for your service to our country.” If any veteran would like to sign up for the Honor Flight, or the general public would like information on how to support the Honor Flight, contact Jeff Morlock, the DeWitt County Honor

Types of breads for sandwiches

Welcome to my little corner of culinary delights. You have heard about soup and sandwich shops, cafés, or restaurants. The words “soup and sandwich” seem to go together; almost poetic. And why not? Both are seen as a staple in this country and other countries.

Soup and sandwich luncheons are nice for church events. This is a combination that works well for restaurants. Is it as simple as slapping two pieces of bread together with something in between and opening cans of soup? Not if you wish serve a memorable luncheon or have repeat business.

With sandwiches, we normally begin with bread. But we have many kinds of bread with different thicknesses? Does this matter much? Most people seem to select standard sliced white bread to use for sandwiches. Others will even trim off the crust. This works fine for general use but not necessarily for proper results. Now comes the fun.

First, we need to look at the various types of slices. Your thick sliced bread is generally called “Texas bread”. It is usually toasted and buttered to be used along with a steak meal. I see no other practical use for it. Your standard slices are generally used as toasted buttered bread on the side. In the old days, they generally served this alongside a farm style breakfast to wipe up the egg yolk or have jam on it to eat along with the eggs and sausage. Untoasted, and unbuttered, this bread was often used to “slop-up” the gravy for the evening meal. At other times, dinner rolls might be used with butter on the side. Standard slice bread is commonly used for making quick lunches using luncheon meats, spreads or peanut butter. Such a wide range of uses naturally makes this thickness most used and thus standard.

The Culinary Corner
By Chef Roger Joss

I like the thin sliced breads best for meat sandwiches. If I am going to spend money for high priced meats, you better believe I want the flavor of that meat to not be covered up.

Thin sliced meats such as ham, turkey breast, pork and beef roasts, lightly seasoned, cooked as sweated are the types of meat suggestions for thin sliced breads. Rolls, hamburger buns, hot dog buns and sliders speak for themselves.

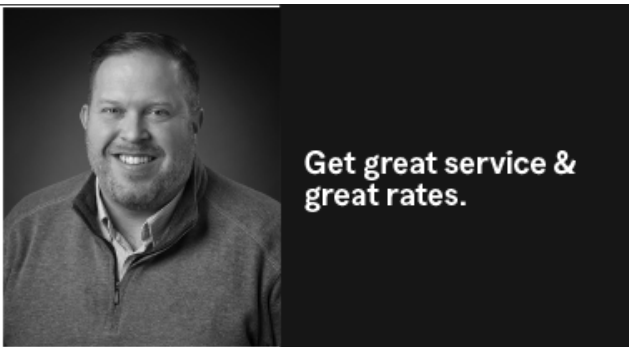

The make-up of the bread is very important. As stated above, white bread is mostly used on the side or for sandwiches by the average person. It takes a little more knowhow to deviate but well worth it. In most cases, I like using whole wheat bread. It seems to have a flavor that goes well with meats and spreads. There is also your sourdough, rye and many more. There are also different structured breads such as French bread as contrasted to baguettes, as contrasted to Italian breads, etc. French bread does not work well as sandwich bread for spreads. It generally has large pockets from the fermentation process. When sliced, you find holes.

Until next time, peace to all.

CLINTON — John M. Bingiel, Jr., 68, of Clinton, passed away at 2:03 p.m. on July 24, 2022, at Carle BroMenn Regional Medical Center, Normal, Ill.

A celebration of John's life will be held at a later date. Calvert Funeral Home, Clinton, assisted the family with cremation rites.

John was born on January 6, 1954, in Weirton, W.Va., the son of John M. and Audrea Jane (Brown) Bingiel, Sr. He married Marianne Kohring on March 17, 1984, at Funks Grove, McLean, County, Ill.

(Josh Gordon) Bingiel, Madison, Wis.; two sisters and two brothers. One niece and several nephews also survive.

John was preceded in death by his parents and one brother.

John was retired. He enjoyed watching football and baseball, especially the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Chicago Cubs. One of John's favorite pastimes was listening to NPR in the garage.

Gary Lee Ferguson

SANTA FE, N.M. — Gary Lee Ferguson, 83, passed away at his home in Santa Fe, N.M. on July 22, 2022, with his wife Patricia (nee Weretka) and daughters Janet and Karen Ferguson Fuson by his side.

Born on April 4, 1939, Gary spent the first years of his childhood in Argenta, Ill. with mother Lois and grandparents Lydia and Howard Mahoney, then in Weldon, on the Ferguson farm with parents Don and Lois Ferguson, sister Lynn, and brothers Mike and Dan.

His lifelong love of the outdoors began there, out of necessity, with his farming chores, including raising award-winning pigs, combined with no indoor plumbing, which led to many entertaining stories, no electricity and a daily hike to the one-room schoolhouse he attended.

He joined the U.S. Army after high school, which led him on many new adventures and work overseas, earning a degree in civil engineering at the University of Missouri at Rolla and then beginning his 39-year career with Caterpillar, Inc. He was a respected executive and leader and retired as the director of one of the company's engine divisions.

In 1964, due to a still-dubious story about a "wrong phone number," Gary met Patricia Weretka, which led to their marriage on July 3, 1966, and a loving 56-year marriage. Their partnership led them to Albuquerque, N.M., Peoria and Metamora, Ill., Sao Paulo, Brazil, and finally Santa Fe, N.M., where they have lived for 20 years.

They traveled the world after their retirement, including trips to Asia, Europe, South America, and many places in the United States.

Gary, sometimes known as Buck, Fergie or Buford, loved to fly fish in the Pecos River, golf wherever he could, and he won awards in the New Mexico Senior Olympics for his basketball prowess.

He worked in the couple's beautiful yard, which has been designated an official wildlife sanctuary. And, he created many beautiful pieces of woodwork, which furnish and adorn their home today.

Gary was a voracious reader, with Kurt Vonnegut and Mark Twain amongst his favorites. His family, therefore, found it fitting to include this Vonnegut quote from Slaughterhouse-Five: "... when a person dies, he only appears to die. He is still very much alive in the past, so it is silly for people to cry at his funeral. All moments, past, present and future, always have existed, always will exist."

Gary leaves behind his wife of 56 years, Patricia; daughter Janet; daughter Karen Ferguson Fuson and son-in-law Rick Fuson; his cherished grandchildren, Kaela and Kyle, who he adored and led on many adventures; brother Dan and his wife Lynn; brother Mike and his wife Jan.

Gary was preceded in death by his sister Lynn, who is survived by nephew Ron and his wife Angi.

The funeral will be a private military honors ceremony at Santa Fe National Ceremony. In lieu of flowers, please donate to the charity of your choice.

Phillip Dale Long

CLINTON — Phillip Dale "Doc" Long, 82, died at Liberty Village, in Clinton, on July 23, 2022.

Phillip was born in Cisco, Ill. on December 9, 1939, to Melvin "Pete" Long and Dorothy (Evey) Long.

He married Janice West on November 22, 1959, a marriage that lasted a few months shy of 63 years.

His parents and granddaughter, Brittney Long, proceeded him in death.

Phil leaves behind his wife, Janice; children-Rodney (Benny) Long and Lauri (Ed) Torbert; grandchildren, Tara Ptack, Alex and Andrew (Erin) Torbert; great-granddaughter, Wrenn Ptack; brother, Larry (Linda) Long and nephew Doug.

He was a devoted husband and father who always made time to attend his children's and grandchildren's activities. He enjoyed going to gospel sings, woodworking, fishing, collecting coins, the Chicago Cubs, and visiting with his wonderful neighbors. We will miss him dearly.

Phillip and Janice moved to Chicago after their marriage. They then relocated back to Clinton in 1966 to manage American Gasket, which they did for many years. Phillip then went to work at Marco Chemical until retirement.

The family is respecting his wishes not to have a service. We will gather at his graveside at a later date.

We would like to thank Liberty Village Bounce Back Rehabilitation and Kindred Hospice for their amazing care and compassion to him during the last stage of his life.

Memorials may be made to Kindred Hospice, 205 North Williamsburg Drive, Suite C, Bloomington, IL 61704.

Lynn LaRue Chenoweth

LANSING, Mich. — 3/5/1938 - 6/12/2022

In her own words: Having been blessed with the opportunity to experience the complete "Symphony of Life," Lynn sounded her final chord in June.

Lynn loved life in all its forms, devoting her life to plowing fields, planting seeds, encouraging growth, and sharing the harvest. Her childhood fantasies about life yielded to reality, but she never gave up the dream.

Lynn looked for and found the goodness and uniqueness in all mankind but grieved man's cruelty to man; she believed the critical elements of human relationships to be love and respect for one another's humanness and never asked for more.

The dissonance in her life mystified her but challenged her to seek new harmonies and write new songs. Lynn gave all that she had in the spring of her life to her parents, Dale and Hazel Chenoweth, and in the summer of her life to her husband and her children.

Drawing from her unique life experiences, personal growth, and love for music, Lynn shared the remaining autumn and winter of her life as a music therapist working with persons facing special challenges and enabling them to experience a higher quality of life.

Her family and the 23rd Psalm were Lynn's lifeline as she strove to appreciate her own uniqueness as much as she did that of others. She fully embraced the belief that "If you keep a green tree in your heart, a singing bird will come."

Lynn wishes to thank all who touched her life and gave it meaning. Life is a song to be sung in harmony. Celebrate Lynn's life with song and dance.

Lynn founded the nonprofit Aphasia

Community Friendship Center in 2009, a first of its kind life participation center for persons with aphasia, which she directed with great passion and joy until her passing.

A unique celebration of life in April meant more to her than you can imagine. Lynn is survived by her four children Darrilyn Fraser, Camela Diaz (Frank), Deron Albright (Chris), and Cory Albright (Beth) as well as five grandchildren Frankie Diaz, Jaspur Albright, Dashiell Albright, Finn Albright, and Gemma Albright. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Lynn's name to either of the following organizations:

Thank You

It is with heartfelt gratitude that we take time to thank everyone who reached out to us during Rodney's "home going."

To everyone who sent a text, a message on FB messenger, made a phone call, sent a card or letter, offered a memory, sent a floral arrangement or a plant, stopped by for a visit, dropped by food, sent memorials for Little Galilee Christian Assembly or came to Rodney's visitation and/or funeral, we want you to know how comforting it was. He was a man much loved, much admired and was blessed in life by so many.

We appreciate each and every gesture of love that was genuinely expressed. His greatest prayer, in life, was that others would hear the message of the gospel and that he would be able to "see you later"!

Free ride at taxpayer's expense

State's Attorney Dan Markwell gave the county board the real costs of the "Defund the Police" movement last Thursday.

Mr. Markwell's message was sobering. I believe the costs are even greater with what Springfield has enacted. As Dan well stated, Bail reform comes to Illinois on January 1. It will not be pretty.

There is no denying that those with money have had an easier time of posting bond than a person of lesser means. That is a given and the legislation sought to alleviate the disparity. Unfortunately, it is over kill. Bond will be gone except in the most serious of cases. For the police, it will simply be catch and release.

Realistically, most judges simply took the defendant's ability to post bond into their equation when setting bond. I've seen a lot of defendants given a personal recognizance bond on minor cases when they did not have the means to post a bond and were deemed likely to appear at the next court hearing.

Let's be honest, the court system is set up on a pay as you go standard.

You file a case, you pay a fee. You have a summons served by the sheriff, you pay a process fee to the sheriff's office. You commit a crime, you post a bond.

The circuit clerk takes 10 percent of that posted bond as a fee. You pay the sheriff a fee to process your bond in the jail.

Those fees amounted to user fees. Most of that will be gone after January 1. Who will pick up the tab? DeWitt County taxpayers.

The fees are only part of the equation. Most criminal cases will go to the catch and release model The problem is the state has mandated more "rights."

That bond hearing is now open court, meaning the courthouse will have to be staffed with a circuit clerk deputy, security at the door, security in the courtroom, and the physical appearance of someone from both the states attorney's office and the public defender.

What Springfield thought was a great idea to bring fairness to the courtroom may not even bring that, but it will bring costs. The taxpayers of DeWitt County and all jurisdictions throughout the state will have to dig deeper. The fees are going away.

The costs will simply increase with mandated hearings that could have easily been moved to the first business day, but that would have the defendant spending a few more hours in the county jail. Victims' rights and defendants' rights need to be in balance for true justice to occur. This bail reform, as I see it, has simply given all the rights to the defendants and all the costs to the taxpayers for no real benefit to the community.

To put is bluntly, the taxpayers are getting hosed again.

In a similar fashion, the civil courts have allowed for indigent parties to request a waiver of filing fees. Again, the concept is great, but the reality is that the court system can be abused.

In a family case, a

by Dave T. Phipps

party may claim they are indigent and the court grants that motion. The next step is if the parties cannot agree to custody issues for the children an attorney is appointed for the children. Usually, the parents split the fee and the court has oversight of the fees.

The way the statutes are written, one parent may well have to pay all of that fee, but what I am seeing is that the courts are now requiring the counties to pay that attorney fee to represent the children. Again, that is taxpayer dollars. I liken much of court fees to the toll roads. If I want to use them and save some time, I have to pay the toll. That's fair.

The justice system was not broken. Sure, it could use a tweak here and there, but it didn't need to have a major rebuild.

As always, Springfield knows what is best for us and sets the rules and then demands we pay for their ill thought-out plans. This rodeo is not going to be fun, and the Illinois taxpayers are once again being forced to pay for Springfield's meddling.

$240 million worth of fraud

The owner of several construction companies has been nailed for fraud. His crime: Defrauding the Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses (SDVOSB) program for the purpose of grabbing up government contracts that he wasn't eligible for.

The scam went on from 2004 to 2017 and netted the thieves $240 million in contracts over the years.

Unfortunately, one of the scammers was a veteran. He was talked into pretending that he, a service-disabled veteran, was the majority owner (at least 51%) of the company for the purposes of qualifying for the contracts.

The head criminal in this venture is going to have a good long time to think about it. Depending on how the sentencing turns out, he could be looking at 20 years for each of six counts of wire fraud, not to mention the $250,000 fine for each one.

One of the co-crooks pleaded guilty to his part in the long-running theft. He's since lost his money to bankruptcy and his wife to divorce.

The disabled veteran also has himself in a world of hurt. He lied about the company as well as everything else, even signing the documents stating that he was the majority owner. At least

by Freddy Groves

he manned up when they were caught and pleaded guilty, not bothering with a trial.

One thing that stands out for all three of the criminals: TITLE: None of them was lacking in skills or talent. One of them, for example, was a local shining star in developing low-cost housing out of defunct properties and was seemingly well regarded.

If you know of similar fraud that's happening, taking money away from legitimate small business veterans in the Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Business (SDVOSB) and/or Veteran-Owned Small Business (VOSB) programs, you can report it by calling the Veterans Affairs Office of Inspector General at 800-488-8244. For more information on reporting fraud, go online to www.va.gov/oig/hotline/default.asp. Click on the FAQ page to learn what types of complaints the OIG doesn't normally handle. You'll find a long directory of resources there.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

*But ask the animals, and they will teach you, or the birds in the sky, and they will tell you;
or speak to the earth, and it will teach you, or let the fish in the sea inform you. Which of all these does not know that the hand of the Lord has done this? In His hand is the life of every creature and the breath of all mankind.*

CLINTON — This year’s dodgeball tournament, hosted by Clinton High School, was sponsored by the Clinton Y, Decatur Park District, Macon County CASA, DeWitt County Mental Health Board, Hammer Fitness, Heritage Behavioral Health Services, and Pepsi. The Heritage “Knocking Out Stigma” Dodgeball Tournament was held on July 22 and had 14 teams signed up, each comprising at least six players or more. There were teams like the Krusty Krushers (took second place), the Crispy Fried Chickens, the Underdodgers (champions of the tournament), and the Last Recruits.

The Camp Osage team was the most resilient team, losing early but coming back through the losers’ bracket with 5-6 straight wins only to lose third place to Team Potts.

There also was a DJ present and several floor games to occupy participants between matches. And, there numerous free snacks and other memorabilia on hand.

Overwhelmed by garden produce?

Pickle it!

Mary Liz Wright
University of Illinois Extension

URBANA, Ill. — Sour, sweet, bread and butter, Kosher dills, spears, chips, or slices on a sandwich, or as a snack or side dish — pickles are everywhere. For home gardeners with an abundance of cucumbers and other produce, pickling is a great way to preserve your bounty.

While cucumbers are one of the most commonly pickled items, many foods can be pickled says Mary Liz Wright, University of Illinois Extension nutrition and wellness educator.

“Fruit, eggs, artichokes, mushrooms — you name it and it can probably be pickled,” Wright says.

Pickling is an ancient form of food preservation, dating back to 2030 BC when cucumbers from India were pickled in the Tigris Valley. The word “pickle” comes from the Dutch pèkel or northern German pòkel, meaning “salt” or “brine.”

The pickling process, for the most part, falls into two categories or methods: quick pickles and fermented pickles. Fresh pack or quick pickles are made with vinegar and salt solution or a vinegar and sugar solution. Fermented pickles require time and salt to do the preserving.

Every region of the world has its own form of pickling as a way to extend the life of fruits and vegetables before refrigeration. Eastern Europe has Kosher dills and lacto-fermented cabbage, known as sauerkraut. English sweet pickles are made with vinegar, sugar, and spices, while the French serve tiny, spiced cornichons or cucumbers. In the Middle East, pickled foods are served with every meal, from olives to lemons. Russians pickle tomatoes, and Koreans have spicy kimchi. The Japanese pickle plums and daikon radishes, and Italians pickle eggplants and peppers.

When selecting cucumbers for pickling, chose fresh and firm pickling cucumbers. Cut 1/16 inch off of the blossom end. Use these ingredients in recipes: canning or pickling salt, white granulated sugar or brown sugar, and vinegar with 5% acidity.

To learn more about how to pickle and to find recipes, visit Illinois Extension’s website go.illinois.edu/PicklingFoods. Wright also suggests exploring the National Center for Home Food Preservation at bit.ly/3LtK6sC. Or, connect with your local Illinois Extension county office at go.illinois.edu/ExtensionOffice.

Refrigerator Pickles
These easy pickles can be made in minutes and will keep in your refrigerator for 3 to 4 weeks.

Ingredients

Vegetables of your choice
3 Cups water
3 Cups white or apple cider vinegar (5% acidity)
Pickling salt
Sugar
Dry herbs/spices (optional): Bay leaves, celery seed, chili peppers, cumin seed, dill seed, mustard seed, pickling spice, peppercorns, turmeric.
Fresh herbs/spices (optional) jalapeno or habanero peppers, dill, garlic, oregano, shallot, horseradish.
Wash and chop your vegetables.
Select flavorings. Mix and match fresh or dried herbs and spices. Add up to 2 tablespoons per jar.
Pack the vegetables snugly into washed pint-sized canning jars or similar-sized glass or heatproof plastic containers with lids.
Make either a sweet or sour brine. Start with vinegar and water. For a sour brine add 3 Tbsp. canning/pickling salt and 2 Tbsp. sugar. For a sweet brine add 2 Tbsp. canning/pickling salt and 1 ½ cups sugar. Bring all the ingredients to a boil and let boil for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. This recipe yield 6 to 7 pints jars.
Carefully fill the jars with brine to within 1/2 inch of the top of the rim. Place the lids on the jars and refrigerate. Allow the flavor to develop for one to two days before serving.
