RTHS sees rise in referrals

Handbook changes aimed at lowering numbers

BY JEFF HELFRICH MANAGING EDITOR

ROCHELLE—At its monthly meeting Monday, the Rochelle Township High School Board of Education heard a presentation and held a first reading about student handbook changes and updates. RTHS Dean of Students Brett Zick made the presentation and has spent time surveying all parents and meeting with the parent/teacher advisory committee about recommended changes and additions. Changes recommended Monday will be voted on at July's meeting. Zick and District Superintendent Jason Harper walked the board through difficulties that were seen last year coming out of remote learning and the COVID-19 pandemic.

A rise in disciplinary referrals was seen in the 2021-2022 school year when comparing it to the last full year in school, 2018-2019. About 3,000 disciplinary referrals were seen last year and in 2018-2019 around 2,200 were seen. 226 truancy-based offenses were seen in

At its monthly meeting Monday, the Rochelle Township High School Board of Education heard a presentation from Brett Zick, dean of students, and held a first reading about student handbook changes and updates.

2018-2019 and 869 were seen this past year. RTHS saw 195 cell phone-based offenses in 2018-2019 and 198 in this past year. It saw 822 occurrences of students being late to school in 2018-2019 and 1,140 in this past year.

"Obviously we came out of remote learning,"

Zick said. "We've had some concerns with social and emotional learning as well as academic learning. That did prove to be true. We did see a rise in referrals but it's kind of what we anticipated this year. There were some issues with attendance and they remote learning. You take students away from school for a year and a half and ask them to come back in. There's the possibility for issues in making sure they're there all the time, on-time and staying in class and not skipping.'

Park District Superintendent of Administration & Finance Maureen Stevens and Superintendent of Recreation & Fitness TC Hager filled in at the meeting for Executive Director Jackee Ohlinger and told the board that about 200 people attended Spring Lake on opening weekend and numbers have been "pretty good" as far as daily visits with the recent warmer weather.

ROCHELLE — Rochelle Police Department Sgt. Chet Smith is a patrol supervisor currently on day shift. He's been with RPD for 20 years.

Smith's responsibilities in his position include supervision of patrol operations on shift as well as investigating the calls he gets dispatched to.

After high school, Smith said he worked jobs "here and there" including for a local company for seven or eight years. He was then hired by the Illinois Department of Corrections as a correctional officer, where he worked for a few years until he was hired by RPD in 2002.

The main reason Smith became a police officer was his father, who served in the Navy in the late 60s and early 70s before becoming a DeKalb Police Department officer.

"I remember he was a K9 officer and we had the dog living with us, who was just our pet and part of the family," Smith said. "That I remember, but he

Smith met his wife of 25 years in high school and has two adult children now in their 20s. The

Safety book provides information to protect children

ROCHELLE — For the past four years, Rochelle Community Hospital, the Rochelle Fire Department and the Rochelle Police Department have joined forces to provide safety information to area children. RCH introduced this safe initiative 20 years ago this year. Local businesses have supported efforts in providing a personal safety book to every third grader in the area.

RCH, RFD and RPD, in partnership with Community Safety NetTM, have presented the "Personal Safety – Smart choices for LIFE" family resource booklet to educate and protect our youth.

This initiative provides young people in our service area with effective tools to stay safe and injury-free. The personal safety book offers parents practical ideas on protecting their children as well as an app. The book's content includes seven different sections for children including safety at home, school, play, away from home, vital safety topics and emergencies and first aid.

Another section contains information for parents including: drugs, sexual abuse, bullying, vehicle safety and other topics, street proofing your kids and safety tips for parents. The book concludes with fun learning quizzes, a diploma and a chance for kids to win their very own tablet from Community Safety NetTM.

The hospital, fire department and police department would like to thank all of the following businesses who supported this effort for the 2021-22 school year: Class partners - Central Bank Illinois and Rochelle Waste Disposal. Half class partners -Anderson Plumbing & Heating, CHS Elburn and Prescott Brothers Ford. One third class partners - Berg-Johnson Electric Contractors, Inc., Edward Jones-Will McLachlan, Family Healthcare Clinic, Midwest Dental Rochelle, Rochelle Community Hospital, Rochelle Gardens Care Center and Rochelle Rehabilitation & Health Care Center. Supporting partners - Central Illinois Loans, Edward Jones Office of Anthony Rowley and

Gardner Products Inc. Local businesses will be contacted this fall by Community Safety Net with sponsorship opportunities. If you have any questions about this safety initiative for the 2022-23 school year, please feel free to contact: Janet Stewart, marketing coordinator at RCH, 815-561-3113; Lt. RTHS: Board approves lunch price changes for 2022-23

Last year in school due to the pandemic, students were allowed to have their cell phones more often in more areas of the building. Zick said the same amount of cell phone offenses is not necessarily a success, as cell phone offenses should have gone down in theory.

While truancy offenses are up, Zick says the school isn't far off from where it usually is as far as the amount of students that are having issues.

"I think for most of our students, RTHS is what RTHS has always been," Zick said. "And then we have a group of students we need to develop more and continue to work with both academically and socially and emotionally."

Apresentation slide with RTHS referral numbers in years past showed the number in 2008-2009 as around 3,000, as it was this past year.

"We don't like that number being up near 3,000," Zick said. "That's not good. But in 2008-2009 in a normal year we were around that number too. We've been here before and got the numbers back down. We'll be able to get that number down again. I think we knew students were going to have a lot of academic and social emotional needs this year and it proved to be true."

Harper called 2021-2022 an "anomaly of a year" while staff worked to get children used to being back in the building. The school is "dedicated" and wants to get back to kids understanding where they're supposed to be in terms of behavior expectations and hold them accountable.

Zick said disciplinary referrals were seen most with freshmen, which he attributed to that group being in remote learning for "crucial years of development."

Areas of focus next year to curb referrals include attendance, sensors in bathrooms for vapes, going back to pre-pandemic cell phone and locker use rules, no earbuds unless a teacher wants them used for classwork, a possible tiered approach for in-school suspension, water bottles being allowed in class and being "consistent across the board" with the dress code, Zick said.

percent increase in food and direct costs as well as minimum wage adjustments.

Arbor Management provided two options for consideration with projected results and the board made changes and came to an agreement "somewhere in the middle." RTHS has not changed prices in four of the past six years. The plan wasapprovedataprojected deficit of $6,537.

"We want to ease into these price jumps for our students as best we can," Harper said. "We went through and itemized where increases would be.

We tried to not drop dollar and 75-cent increases on every single student. The plate lunch, which is our most basic but well-rounded option, hasn't increased that much. It will be $3.25. Students that qualify for free and reduced lunch will not be impacted by this when they get that plate

The board held a public hearing for and unanimously approved an amended 2021-2022 budget at the meeting. Anticipated revenue for the education fund is $10,667,983 and the operation fund anticipated revenue is $1,214,400. On the expenditure side, the anticipated numbers for education funds are $11,241,694 and $1,267,950 for operations, District Business Manager Kevin Dale said.

Employment

The board unanimously approved the resignations of Shaun Schaefers (band and marching band director), John Dobbs (assistant track coach) and Kevin Hunt (assistant softball coach) along with the hirings of Ashley Lawrenz (school nurse), Calla Stroh (assistant girls basketball coach), Tracuy Drobick (library aide/paraprofessional), Anna Birsa (Spanish teacher), Rachel Plock (math teacher) and Marshall Basler (athletic trainer).

Sheila Herrmann was unanimously approved to transfer from bus driver to transportation director and will temporarily work alongside current Transportation Director Sherri Smith until the latter retires at the end of the year.

Rochelle development part of housing grant program

CHICAGO–Governor JB Pritzker and the Illinois Housing Development Authority (IHDA) Board recently announced conditional awards using $75 million in federal funds to provide gap financing and complete underwriting for affordable housing developments that may have otherwise not been built due to financial challenges brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic. Funded through the COVID-19 Affordable Housing Grant Program (CAHGP), IHDA is providing grants to 19 affordable developments across Illinois that will create or preserve 1,023 units of affordable housing. The program is the state's latest effort to ensure the construction and rehabilitation of affordable housing continues to move forward during a time of unprecedented need among low-and moderate-income households.

"Doubling down on supply is a key component of bringing affordable housing to everyone, and I'm proud of this $75 million investment that will build more than 1,000 new units for residents across Illinois," said Pritzker. "This funding will help close the gap between construction and completion for more than a dozen new developments, which will in turn serve as the home base for Illinois families to build their lives."

The Grove Apartments, which is a future development planned for the south side of Rochelle, is part of the COVID-19 Affordable Housing Grant program.

The Grove Apartments will be a two-story, 30-unit rental residence providing family-sized two- and three-bedroom apartments for those earning at-or-below 60 percent area median income for Ogle County. The New Directions Housing Corporation is sponsoring the development, which will feature a fitness and game room, residential garden plots and patio seating.

SMITH: RPD officer reflects on 20-year career in Rochelle

"We have taken numerous vacations together all over the United States but our favorite places to visit are our National Parks," Smith said. "I think we have visited almost 20 National Parks.'

Smith has had "numerous" memorable experiences on the job over his 'heartbreaking" bad ones. He recalls others that were out of the ordinary.

"I have repaired leaky pipes, investigated footsteps heard in the middle of the night when nobody should be home and the caller thought it was a ghost, I have investigated UFOs being seen floating through the woods of the golf course in town and I have shoveled driveways," Smith said.

Smith has also seen a Rochelle Police Officer get elected Ogle County Sheriff in Brian VanVickle. He's spoken to parents about troubles they are having with their children. He's saved people who have wanted to harm themselves or worse.

"And then I've seen them months later in town off-duty and received a big hug from them telling me they appreciate what I did for them and what I 20 years, including a lot had said to them that made of good ones and a lot of them realize how wrong they were for thinking that way," Smith said.

2022 will be Smith's last year with RPD, as he will be retiring in a few months. The main thing he wants the community to know about the department is that it has "some of the most professional, kind, respectful and compassionate" police officers.

What our words are worth

NE hardship with being human is the fragile nature of what goes on in our brain. In striving to relieve this we have invented technologies which record our emotions and ideas. The earliest cave paintings discovered date back over 30,000 years when humans made surprisingly detailed drawings of animals. Humans have a deep need to preserve what we find good, or beautiful, or otherwise important, and we have persistently developed more and more tools to somehow capture and communicate these thoughts.

Early systems of printing started with hand-printed shapes and then developed into printing machines. Cuneiform is an ancient writing system first used around 3400 BC in the Ancient Near East. In 868 A.D. Budhhist monks in China created the oldest known printed book, the Diamond Sutra. Interestingly, the authors included the message, "for universal free distribution" at the end. The monks who wrote it wanted their ideas about how to live a good life to be shared rather than restricted. Wooden moveable type used in the late 13th century in China created the world's first mass produced book. Johannes Gutenberg invented a working printing press around 1450 and in 1452 printed about 250 copies of the Gutenberg Bible. You may already know that the Bible is the most widely-printed book in history with over 5 billion copies printed.

The spread of the printing press throughout the world encouraged the spread of ideas which served to move cultures forward as old ideas gave way to new religious interpretations, breakthrough scientific theories, and cultural happenings. In 1605, the first official newspaper, Relation, was printed and distributed in Germany. Newspapers were printed throughout Europe leading to literacy growth, education, and the availability of common printed ideas for more and more people. Imagine how much faster ideas could spread and shape the world back then! A single edition of a newspaper or book containing the exact same printed content could reach hundreds, or even thousands of people in a matter of days or weeks. This power to influence was so recognized that "...freedom of speech, or of the press..." is one of the basic rights the first amendment of the U.S. Constitution protects.

Experiences involving newspapers have been part of my entire life. As a kid, I remember our "paper boy" delivered The Daily Pantagraph each afternoon to our front porch step. Often I'd sit and wait so I could enjoy that feeling of getting a "fresh" paper to read, although the comics section was my favorite. I knew even then, that the entertaining part of the paper was found in a totally separate section of the paper. The important news was on the front page, and the less important entertainment was to be found in back. And learning to read the comic text and images – with their subtle or obvious humor, or innuendo, or sarcasm – was an important part of my education.

When I was older I delivered newspapers when either substituting for the delivery kid who had gone on vacation, or when my younger brother needed help with his route. I'd easily walk a few miles each day, so the job provided me with early lessons in healthy exercise. Folding newspapers just right taught me attention to detail, as well as how the thick Sunday papers were nearly impossible to fold. Learning where each customer wanted their paper delivered taught me basic lessons for customer satisfaction. And accounting for each delivered paper made arithmetic necessary and sensible – there was nothing worse than finding out I was either short or had too many papers when I had finished the route. My Grandpa clipped and mailed me color comics from the Sunday Tribune. He called them "the funnies," and I loved receiving color versions of comics that our local newspaper didn't carry. So many ideas for my young mind! As a father and adult, printed news continued to be a part of life. My children worked delivering both the Rochelle News-Leader and the weekly shopper. My mother still regularly clips news articles to post on her bulletin board, and she regularly sends out clippings to me, our family, and friends.

But printed word and electronic media are more than just history or activities which provide life lessons. They continue as a powerful force impacting our daily life and culture. Nowadays, printed and electronic media bring us news stories from around our nation and the world, provide accountability by permanently documenting activity – whether good or bad or even criminal – of public officials, private companies and individuals bringing well-deserved attention or embarrassing exposure to those involved. Famous and infamous political leaders, movie stars, sports heroes and other "influencers" can blast their thoughts whenever they like. Goods and services advertisement enjoy a wide, public marketplace. All of this can happen in a fraction of the time required in the past, and can reach thousands, millions, even billions of people in seconds.

Because of this speed, printed and electronic words continue to carry a responsibility that goes along with the freedoms and power they offer. Online news, as well as social media, all enjoy the power of the printed word. I believe that "the pen is mightier than the sword", and that a fundamental responsibility of our freedom of speech is for us to use words, rather than violence, to express our human emotions and ideas. And our words need to regulate the swords, so that swords do not become mightier than our words. One of my mother's quotable words of wisdom for me as a child was (and I bet you've heard it too) is, "sticks and stones can break your bones but words may never hurt you". I hope that we all continue to value the freedom power of our words, as well as the responsibility that is needed express opinion thoughtfully and with reason.

Collaborating during summer field days

THE heat and humidity may be cranked up during the summer, but Illinois farmers are still hard at work making management decisions on their farms.

With corn and soybeans planted across the state each spring, many farmers take time in the hotter months of the year to learn about new, innovative ways they can maximize crop yields while protecting the environment. Illinois Farm Bureau (IFB) supports these efforts through a series of Nutrient Stewardship Field Days each year.

Farmers care about conserving our natural resources. Preserving the soil and water quality on Illinois farms minimizes costly inputs and maximizes crop yields. Balancing production costs allows us to grow the food American families rely on, while also creating opportunities for future generations to return to the family farm.

IFB's 2022 Nutrient Stewardship Field Days are funded through the organization's Nutrient Stewardship Grant Program. The program, now in its seventh year, committed more than $150,000 to 2022 projects and is working with 25 counties on 21 projects, including field days, throughout the state. To date, IFB has partnered with County Farm Bureaus and others on more than 100 projects across 70 Illinois counties.

So, what happens during these field days?

Field day events offer farmers the chance to share environmentally friendly tools that work well on their farms. Through research shared with their peers, researchers, universities, ag retailers and industry professionals, different types of on-farm projects can be developed to test the use of cover crops, livestock manure management, woodchip bioreactors and other technologies that improve the land. These efforts benefit surrounding communities and ultimately support our state's Nutrient Loss Reduction Strategy (NLRS)

The Illinois NLRS, which was released by the Illinois Department of Agriculture and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in July 2015, calls for wastewater treatment plants, urban areas and agricultural areas to reduce the state's phosphorous load by 25% and its nitrate-nitrogen load by 15% by 2025. The eventual target is a 45% reduction in the loss of these nutrients to the Mississippi River.

Field days, on-farm research and collaborative projects are all integral parts of Illinois agriculture's role in working toward the state's NLRS. IFB supports these voluntary farmer efforts by focusing on education and outreach, supporting research and implementation of best management practices, and reporting progress as it's made.

I am proud of our farmers' efforts to minimize environmental impacts in Illinois. You can learn more about the progress Illinois farmers continue to make toward NLRS goals and see a full list of 2022 Nutrient Stewardship Field Days at www.ilfb.org/FieldDays.

Have you tried meal kid delivery services like HelloFresh and Blue Apron? If so, what have you thought?

"There is nothing fresh about HelloFresh. I had them for three months and have enough 'credits' for another three months because the veggies were spoiled when we got them. That's all I have to say about that."

Matt Bolhous

"I am way too picky to order from them."

Alfano shines at Illinois High School Shrine Game

BY RUSSELL HODGES

SPORTS EDITOR

EFENSIVE lineman Braden Alfano earned one more chance to represent the Rochelle Hub football team over the weekend, when Alfano and the best high school players from around the state united at Illinois Wesleyan University for the 48th Annual Illinois High School Shrine Game.

Alfano took the field on defense and special teams, totaling three tackles as he and the Red Team defeated the Blue Team 11-7. An All-Conference First Team selection in the Interstate 8/Kishwaukee River Blue Division during his senior season, Alfano relished the opportunity to wear the Rochelle Township High School helmet and represent his school one last time.

"It was an awesome experience that I'll remember for the rest of my life," Alfano said. "What I enjoyed most was how my teammates and I became close so quickly. It felt like we had been teammates for years. It was definitely sad to play my final football game, but I'm very glad that I received the opportunity and I'll miss the brotherhood that football brought into my life."

The Shrine Game events kicked off with player check-ins, media availability and team practices on Tuesday. While players were unable to visit the Shriners Hospitals for Children in Chicago, which had been customary before the COVID-19 pandemic, players still partook in special events throughout the week. On Thursday, players participated in the Central Illinois Miracle League Baseball Game and joined members of the Shriners of Illinois for a cookout.

"The Miracle League game was one of the most fun events I've ever been a part of," said Alfano, who will continue his academics and his baseball career at North Central College in the fall. "It was so cool to see the faces of the kids light up when they got a hit or scored a run."

Over 100 players from across the state competed in the Shrine Game, which took place at Tucci Stadium on Saturday. A fouryear member of the Rochelle Hub football program, Alfano spent three seasons on the varsity team. Alfano was also a four-year member of the baseball program, playing two seasons on the varsity team and earning All-Conference honors once.

"I'm looking forward to having the opportunity to compete at North Central for four more years," Alfano said.

"It was an awesome experience that I'll remember for the rest of my life. What I enjoyed most was how my teammates and I became close so quickly. It felt like we had been teammates for years. It was definitely sad to play my final football game, but I'm very glad that I received the opportunity and I'll miss the brotherhood that football brought into my life."

Hubs suit up for one-week lineman camp Returning and incoming football players share team bonding experience

BY RUSSELL HODGES

SPORTS EDITOR

ROCHELLE — Offensive and defensive linemen shared the spotlight this past week, when the Rochelle Hub football team held its one-week lineman camp for new and returning players. The camp allowed players to improve their skills in the trenches as well as their team chemistry.

"We run our skills camp during the morning, but the lineman camp is an opportunity for these guys to come out here and bond," coach Erick Olson said. "It's important that we have this camp and reward these guys for all of the hard work they'll be putting in this season. They don't score touchdowns or catch passes because we run the football as much as we can. Being a lineman for the Rochelle Hub football team isn't an easy task because it's smash-mouth football."

Offensive and defensive lineman, as well as tight ends, worked through blocking and formation drills during the four-day camp this past week, which kicked off on Monday before concluding on Thursday. Thursday's session concluded with a cookout

ers. Olson said the focuses for linemen on both sides of the ball included physicality and proper technique.

"We're a power-running football team so we have to be able to block and keep our pads down," Olson said.

"We have to be physical. We break down more passrushing techniques and we focus on our hips and our footwork. Getting good reps in with our pads on is important and we want to continue to build from there. Building that team bond is really important for our linemen on both sides of the ball."
