Demolition begins 'We can't forget what [Hickory Grove] provided'

BY JEFF HELFRICH

MANAGING EDITOR

ROCHELLE — On Wednesday morning, the City of Rochelle hosted a commencement ceremony for its Hickory Grove demolition project.

Afterwards, the city turned the 1127 N. 7th St. site back over to its contractor, McDonagh Demolition, which had spent the past week doing site preparation and even started some teardown before the commencement. The work is ahead of schedule, as demolition was originally slated to start Jan. 24.

"The sooner we get the project going, the quicker it finishes," City Manager JeffFiegenschuh said. "It's really been about site preparation and getting all of their equipment here and staged. They started Tuesday. They got the front facade pulled off and the retaining wall in the back pulled down. They've moved very quickly. Hopefully the project progresses and we don't have any problems. It will be done hopefully at the end of March or early April, they expect."

The city assumed ownership of the deteriorating building in early 2020 for $1 with the intention of demolishing it and developing the property. The building was previously owned by the Ogle County Civic Center Authority (OCCCA) board, which was under the Ogle County Board umbrella.

The city decided to purchase the site so it could control it and likely would've had to deal with it later if it was abandoned due to OCCCA being in financial trouble.

The demolition work is contracted for $361,900. The project will be funded by a Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity Rebuild Illinois grant reimbursement up to $365,750.

City officials and staff members attended the commencement ceremony. Mayor John Bearrows spoke and detailed the building and site's history and said it was a bittersweet day.

Hickory Grove's history

BY JEFF HELFRICH MANAGING EDITOR

ROCHELLE—In the 1960s and 1970s, the site on which Hickory Grove and the Comfort Inn currently sit was called the Vagabond Inn.

"It was quite the place and resort," Former Rochelle Mayor Chet Olson said. "Busloads of people from the city would go there from Chicago to enjoy it. For a town of 10,000, it was a big resort."

John W. Tilton purchased the 5-acre property for $80,000 earlier in 1954 when it was a motel and a separate restaurant. Tilton constructed a building over the two to connect them, but in 1970 a fire destroyed the restaurant. In 1982, the building had another fire, which started in the attic area that quickly spread through the roof and ceilings. "Long story short, the owner went bankrupt and it was dormant for years," Olson said.

COVID-19 cases increasing at RTHS

New guidance with reduced quarantine days adopted

ROCHELLE — At

Tuesday's Rochelle Township High School Board meeting, Superintendent Jason Harper said COV-ID-19 cases have increased at the school recently as the rest of the community has seen a surge.

Harper said the number of COVID-19 positive students is in "the low 40s," accounting for below five percent of RTHS students.

"Coming off a long weekend, it's hard to get an exact number," Harper said. "We have several who are waiting on test results and those types of things. Our numbers are up. We're sending out notices every Friday about where our numbers are. One of the silver linings is that there continues to be little to no evidence that the spread is occurring at school."

Numbers were also up after the school returned from winter break earlier this month, and were after Thanksgiving break as well, Harper said. The superintendent said the school district remains "100 percent" committed to continuing full-day, inperson learning for as long as it can be done safely. Harper also told the board that the district has fully adopted recent guidance from the Illinois Department of Public Health and Illinois State Board of Education that includes shortening isolation/quarantine time for students and staff with COVID-19 to five days. That guidance was received Jan. 11 and adopted immediately. Harper said the past week has been spent adapting to the guidance and changing procedures.

"There's been a lot of times where guidance has been tweaked or changed in minor ways," Harper said. "This guidance was more of an overhaul. This was one of the 3-5 times where we've had a larger overhaul. We continue to work through that. Of course the Ogle County Health Department is now playing a much smaller, to almost no role in contact tracing. So, the guidance ing and employment of is that we have to do that going forward."

The board also unanimously approved the hir-

Robin Blunt as school nurse.

Board President Tom Huddleston and Board Member Jacky Aguilera were absent from the meeting.

HISTORY: Local residents recall Hickory Grove's past

"The bankers that were invested took over the hotel part. For the Hickory Grove section, a group was created to develop a civic center in March 1984.

Olson was added to that group and it started raising money. It applied for a $2.5 million grant, but the City of Rochelle wasn't large enough for the board to accept the grant through. It was able to accept the grant through Ogle County, a larger governing body. That grant made the board able to renovate the Hickory Grove building into what it is today.

In Feb. 1986, the board was certified for the grant, the money for which came from state race track revenues. The facility was renovated and the board oversaw the project. The county created the Ogle County Civic Center Authority board after that, which would oversee the Hickory Grove building until the city bought it for demolition in 2020.

Olsen continued as part of the OCCCA board. The OCCCA board had no taxing authority and its volunteer board members got tenants for the building to bring in revenue. The building was named Hickory Grove after a previous name the City of Rochelle went by.

Different tenants came and went from the facility. For a time, the hotel operators next door ran the health club, restaurant and Hickory Grove. After that, a company called Southpoint ran it for 10 years. The Flagg-Rochelle Community Park District ran the health club for a time after Southpoint and Abraham's Bar & Grill came into the facility as a tenant until Hickory Grove closed.

Robin Baldwin Gounaris started managing the Hickory Grove facility in March 2005. In her time, it included three floors with four banquet rooms, a dance room, wine bar, a regular bar, kitchen and restaurant plus a tiki bar.

With the building's deterioration, Baldwin Gounaris dealt with issues including plumbing, appliances, heating and air conditioning and leaks from the roof. The only money that OCCCA (the landlord) received came from the rent she paid. Every penny the board received went back in to try and improve Hickory Grove.

Olson said there was "just never enough" money to keep up with the building's problems. Grant money dried up and the OCCCA board applied for, but never got more.

Baldwin said her "entire focus" in 2010 became how to save Hickory Grove.

"I voiced my opinion quite a bit," Baldwin Gounaris said. "The town thought that I owned the building because it had become my home. My blood and tears are on those walls, as I went after everything I could think of. I was the first bar in town to carry slot machines, as I knew it would help financially. It was hard trying to make people understand that I was inside a building that no one wanted."

After spending 15 years trying to save Hickory Grove, Baldwin Gounaris couldn't keep up with the costs of the deteriorating building. When the city stepped in to buy the building to demolish it, she knew it was time to say goodbye.

"I do not miss the issues I dealt with on a daily basis but I do miss the people of this town," Baldwin Gounaris said. "I'd like to remember Hickory Grove as a place where I met a lot of amazing people who I now call friends. I will apologize to Hickory Grove when she is brought down, but I did my best to save her and will toast to a new future in her spot."

Around the time the city purchased Hickory Grove, it had an engineer come in and look at what it would take to save the building. It would have cost between $4 million and $5 million to get everything back in shape to be open for another 20 years or so, Olson said.

"We weren't able to raise that kind of money," Olson said. "It could've been saved if somebody wanted to step in and pay all that. But it just needed so much work."

Despite Hickory Grove

being a "tough project to keep afloat," Olson said putting in his time over the years on the building was "very enjoyable." He thanked all of the tenants over the years like Baldwin Gounaris for their efforts and treating it like a home. The OCCCA board held on to the building as long as it could, the former mayor

Olson will remember Hickory Grove as a focal point in Rochelle. Before places like The REC Center, the facility was the only place with an indoor pool and health club not just in town, but in the nearby area. Olson thanked the city for what it's doing now with the ongoing demolition,

"It will be a sad day when it comes down," Olson said. "There's a lot of sweat, tears and money in that facility. It's time. It's a building that aged out."

"It's mixed emotions being here today," Bearrows said. "We see a building coming down. This building represents a lot of things for Rochelle. I want to publicly thank the Ogle County Civic Center Authority board, who worked for so many years to maintain this facility and tried to keep it alive. It's a melancholy truth that the day we're born, we begin to die. It's the same with a building, they have a useful life. This building met its useful life. But we can't forget what it provided for our community."

Bearrows talked about the life of John W. Tilton, who was involved with the site in the past. He thanked Tilton for providing a recreation space and workspace for the community.

Bearrows also thanked the state for providing the grant funding and talked about businesses that operated inside Hickory Grove, including Abraham's Bar & Grill and Gentry's Western Store. He wished safety for the contractor as the project goes on and thanked city staff members for their work on Hickory Grove up until this point.

After his speech, Bearrows took the controls of an excavator and tore a column off of the front facade of the building, symbolically beginning the project.

Engineering firm Willett, Hofmann & Associates was hired by the city to oversee the demolition. It will have an onsite employee every day to make sure everything goes to plan. The building has some eccentricities including being connected to the hotel next door, shared utilities and an indoor inground pool.

"I've said from the beginning since it's taken so long to get to this point because there's shared utilities and all the different components of that building that nobody knows about, my concern has been that we're going to find something," Fiegenschuh said. "So far it's been going great. We have every hope and indication that they'll be done by the project deadline.'

The city plans to wait until the project is closer to full demolition before it solicits requests for information for development projects on the site, Fiegenschuh said. The city has already had solicitations from potential developers, and the city manager believes there's definite interest in the site.

The most important component of any future development is getting the site down and prepped, Fiegenschuh said.

"After that point, hopefully we get something that the mayor and council and the community are proud of that can locate there," Fiegenschuh said. "We're not going to send anything out until the facility is pretty much completely demolished. I want to make sure there's no issues there. The number one issue right now isn't what's going to go there. It's getting the building down. And then we'll focus on what goes there in its place."

After two years of work, Fiegenschuh said it felt good to kick off demolition on Wednesday. He wished more people involved with the project and the building's history were able to attend. The cold weather and short notice due to the contractor's work moving along prevented that.

The city manager praised the OCCCA board for its many years of work overseeing the disadvantaged facility. He wished some of them would have been able to attend Wednesday.

"My sincere thanks to Former Mayor Chet Olson and the OCCCA board because they worked for years to keep that facility open," Fiegenschuh said. "That board didn't have any taxing authority. The only revenue they had to keep that facility open was leasing space and events. When I was hired and started going to their meetings, it became apparent that they didn't have the resources to keep it open long-term. A lot of credit goes to them for working so hard for so many years. I think people didn't see that and I want to make sure they receive the accolades that they deserve. They really did a fantastic job."

RTHS: Board hears budget update, approves policy updates

In Huddleston's absence, Board Member Jeff Tilton led the meeting.

Board policy

The board unanimously approved board policy updates provided by the Illinois Association of School Boards, Press Plus that are based on legislative changes that happened last spring.

Harper said there were "100-something" bills that impacted schools that have now found their way to local board policy changes. The update to board policy included no recommendation to change the school's health class title, standards or curriculum and new mandated graduation requirements that include modifying the lab science requirement in 2024-2025 and a two-year foreign language requirement in 2028-2029.

"I'm personally not in favor of adding more requirements," Harper said. "It may seem counterintuitive, but things like Kishwaukee Education Consortium and real world opportunities for students have a tendency to get bumped when more requirements come on. That being said, for our diplomas to be accredited and for our students to walk away with a high school diploma from RTHS when we get to those years, those will be the requirements. But it's still a ways off in the future."

Budget

District Business Manager Kevin Dale presented a budget update to the board at the meeting with the school year halfway Dale said the district has collected 54.7 percent of its total revenue so far, as the district gets the rest of its revenue in early June for this fiscal year and rolls it over to the next. For expenditures, the district has spent 45.7 percent of its total budget across all funds so far for the year.

"Everything is looking like we're right on track where we should be to hopefully come in with good numbers and a balanced budget," Dale said.

Early gradsRTHS Principal Chris Lewis said during the meeting that the school had 18 students graduate in December. Last year, the school had 23 December graduates and had nine the year before. Usually it's between 20 and 30, Lewis said.

"There's a lot of reasons why kids might graduate early," Lewis said. "Some might take summer school to get ahead. They can put themselves in that situation when it comes to that second semester and they say they're ready for Kishwaukee College or the military or a two or four-year school. Some kids might just need the extra time and they're in their fifth year."

Mixed emotions about Hickory Grove

Terry

have mixed emotions about Hickory Grove coming down. Work started this week on removing the complex, and complex

The restaurant business is hard, and having a restaurant on the second floor of a building with no street exposure is a double whammy. To me, it seemed the building was designed to fail. But I am still sad.

It served Rochelle well. Hickory Grove provided a place for weddings, birthday parties, meetings, plays, dinner theater, dances, banquets....yet it just never seemed to be designed right for any of those Hopefully the next developer can come up with a plan that includes a restaurant, meeting spaces, and a banquet area. The building could become a destination spot.

But please don't put the restaurant on the second floor.

Interesting to read about the street department getting ready for the snow. We will get snow eventually. I didnot realize how long it took to fully plow streets in town or how many miles are plowed, 160 miles....that's about to Springfield or La Crosse, Wisconsin!

These folks are out in cold weather, with poor visibility, at all hours of the day or night trying to make our lives safer.

Yes, driveways will get snow, but it has to go somewhere.

We have been fortunate so far this winter, but we will get hit by a storm. When it happens, give a shout out to the crews making your life safer.

Garbage

Rochelle residents will be getting garbage cans. The official cans will be the only ones picked up by the disposal service. I was driving through DeKalb and Sycamore recently and noticed they all have the same cans.

The new cans will keep garbage from being blown around, or from animals getting into the bags. It should also make it easier to collect.

I know some people are upset because they just bought a garbage can, spending good money on something that won't be used. That is irritating. It would have been nice to give residents five or six months notice, or telling new residents not to buy an expensive can.

I live outside the city limits, so this does not affect me. Yet. I assume folks like me will eventually get the same cans. My current can has a couple of holes in it, a cracked side, and who knows where the lid has gone, but I am not about to replace it.

Bitcoin: Money in the ether

Internet currency that was invented by a person or persons with the alias, Statoshi Nakamoto in 2009.

Bitcoin is controlled by a network of users, no one entity, and has developed into a form of currency that is used on the Internet as a means of payment for goods and services without control by banks or government agencies. There are many other crypto-currencies such at Dogecoin, Ethereum, Cardano, USD Coin, Terra, etc., but Bitcoin was the first and most widely known. A cryptocurrency is internet money that is secured by cryptography, making it very difficult to counterfeit. To get a Bitcoin you either have to mine it or get it through a broker. Bitcoinminingisacomputational process of solving puzzles.

The first miner to solve a particular puzzle is rewarded with Bitcoin. In the early days, one could use a desktop computer to solve the puzzle and be rewarded with Bitcoin. Now, with the high value assigned to a Bitcoin (around $45,000), the mining has become very sophisticated with dedicated super computers costing thousands of dollars and large groups of miners participating.

The puzzles have become more complex and the amount of Bitcoin rewarded is reduced. In a nutshell, it is now impractical for a single person to mine and get Bitcoin unless this person joins a group of miners (mining ITCOIN is a form of pool) and shares in the rewards. A more practical way to obtain Bitcoin is to purchase it through a crypto-currency exchange using recognized currency such as dollars. If you do this, you must get a Bitcoin wallet for your Bitcoin. There are two types, a hot wallet and a cold wallet. A hot wallet is connected to the internet and is always Chuck available for Bitcoin transactions, although less secure than a cold wallet. A cold wallet is some physical device that stores the Bitcoin, such as a jump drive, that is only connected to the Internet when a transaction is desired, which is more secure, but less convenient to use.

Roberts

Sowhataretheadvantagesand disadvantages in using Bitcoin?

Let's start with the advantages of Bitcoin. Transactions are anonymous and not trackable in the same way that bank related transactions are. You, as the buyer, send payment directly to the seller, regardless of the amount. One can use Bitcoin as payment to anyone in the world without restriction. The fees are very low or no fee at all for most transactions. If a person wants the transaction to occur at a high speed, there is an additional minimal fee. Government can't tax Bitcoin transactions (as of now) since the government has no control over Bitcoin, other than banning it. However, the IRS is now requiring that you disclose the amount you spend on crypto-currency trades which means taxes are inevitable. Your personalinformation is secure and not divulged, unlike that in credit card transactions. Bitcoin is inflation proof. As the government increases its debt, it merely prints more money, resulting in inflation. The upper limit on Bitcoin is 21 million Bitcoins, which is well known. This limitation suggests that after this level of Bitcoin is reached, there are no more Bitcoins and inflation should not occur. Currently about 2 million Bitcoins have been mined.

On the flip side, there are disadvantages. Many are not familiar with Bitcoin, which limits the market for Bitcoin transactions. As of 2020 approximately 36 percent of small and medium size businesses accept Bitcoin. Bitcoin price is volatile and is considered risky. Consequently, many investors avoid investing in Bitcoin. The government could dictate that Bitcoin companies and wallets be shut down, making access to wallets difficult. There is a possibility that major speculators may end up owning a significant number of Bitcoin, which may hinder the activities of a free market. If you lose your Bitcoin wallet or password, you are out of luck. There is no credit card company, FDIC or bank to call to bail you out. One person's hot wallet got hacked and he lost all his Bitcoin. Bitcoin appears to be increasing in usage. Some sell and buy homes using Bitcoin. It appears that Bitcoin may be developing into a currency of the future.

Society slowly losing a link to the past called the bank last week to inquire about a check I had written.

When I asked the person on the phone if he could look it up on his system, he read back the correct amount of the check. But I had several checks written for similar amounts, so I double checked by asking him who the check was made out to.

The young man said he had never been taught to read cursive. So, he couldn't tell

I was completely flummoxed.

I've been writing and reading cursive since I was eight. I thought perhaps this 20-something is just an outlier. Then I inquired of friends and was told that no this is a common predicament.

A friend who teaches high school in LaSalle County said she often has to read aloud her comments written on students' papers because they can't read cursive.

My cousin, Steve, took a test at work and had it handed back to him because the millennial administering the test only knew how to read block letters.

In a world increasingly consisting of typed electronic communication, it seems young professionals are seeing fewer loops and curly cues on their letters.

My three daughters ages 11 to 16 were taught cursive and can read it well. But a school secretary said sometimes other students will bring her lists of spelling words written by a parent and ask for her to translate them into block letters. I understand language evolves.

But there is something sad about a youngster being unable to read a birthday card from Grandma or the Declaration of Independence in Thomas Jefferson's hand.

What kind of school system doesn't teach basic penmanshin?

Well, back in 2017, an Illinois state representative by the name of Chris Welch, D-Hillside, successfully sponsored legislation to require Illinois schools to teach cursive. Today, Welch is speaker of the House and even his webpage has his name in script.

There is something evocative about seeing someone's handwriting. After all, every signature is distinctive and says a little bit about the person who penned it.

I was thinking about this awhile back when I was opening up a road atlas in my truck and two loose sheets of paper fell out with my father's handwriting scrawled across them. Dad has been gone seven years now, but seeing his handwriting brought tears to my eyes.

The sheets of paper were just directions he had written on how to get from one place to another. But to me they were a roadmap back in time.

There was nothing pretty or neat about my Dad's script. It scrawled across the page without any uniformity. It reflected his personality. Always thinking big, leaving the Scott Reeder details to figure out later. (My mother insisted that my father and Ihad nearly identical handwriting.)

> On the other hand, I came across an envelope in my desk drawer with my name written in my mother's hand. The script is precise, flawless. I imagined when she was a nurse, doctors enjoyed reading her charts in her ever-perfect handwriting.

> Stuck in the envelope was a $2 bill issued in 1976 on the day the U.S. government allowed the note to first be circulated. I was 11 at the time. I remember my mom getting the $2 bill at the bank and then sticking it in an envelope for safekeeping until I was older and could appreciate it.

Today, I treasure the envelope with my name in her hand, far more than the unique greenback inside. Some see cursive as an obsolete form of communication. I see it as a language linking the present with the past.

My college professors wrote in cursive on blackboards. I can still picture some of the wisdom they shared in their distinctive handwriting.

Ilove to thumb through the family Bibles I inherited from my parents and grandparents and see their distinctive handwriting in the margins. They're like inadvertent messages to future generations of what deep thoughts they pondered as they read

So, is there a future for cursive? I really can't tell you. But it seems to be viewed as an anachronism by younger generations.

If nothing else, someday in the distant future in nursing homes we'll be able to pass notes among ourselves without worrying about the staff having any idea what we are saying. It will be like reading hieroglyphics from another era.

COVID numbers 'some of the highest we've seen'

OCHD's Auman updates county board on current case statistics

BY BRAD JENNINGS

OGLE COUNTY LIFE EDITOR

OREGON—The Ogle County Board heard at its Jan. 18 meeting that not only are COVID-19 cases soaring in the county, but deaths from the disease are Kyle Auman, Ogle County Health Department administrator, told the board during a Zoom meeting that the county is at a 22.58 percent positivity rate for COVID-19. That is up from 14.18 percent last

"As you all may have heard, we are experiencing ... some of the highest numbers we have seen," he told the board during the call.

In fact, the last two board meetings have been held on Zoom and not in person because of the increase in COVID cases.

Auman told the board there have been 120 deaths from COVID in the county, with a "significant" number coming more recently. He said there were 17 deaths from COVID in December and eight so far in January.

"We went many months in the fall without very many deaths," he said.

Ogle County has had 12,073 cases overall and have 2,510 active now. He said that regional ICU bed availability is also "something we are still keeping a close eye on." Auman said federal resources are coming to Rockford to help area hospitals with the influx of cases.

He said that the Omicron variant has been identified in the county, but most cases are still the Delta variant.

And school are still the top exposure location, he said. The county has identified 1,600 cases from schools.

Auman said that longterm care facilities are also seeing many cases, with some in "outbreak" status. He said workers are not only caring for residents but are also dealing with a high number of COVID cases and staff shortages.

RVC Center for Learning in Retirement recognized for technology innovation

ROCKFORD—Rock Valley College's Center for Learning in Retirement (CLR) was recently awarded the Illinois Council for Continuing Education and Training (ICCET) 2021 Innovation award.

The award is a result of the collaborative efforts between RVC, McHenry County College, Harper College, and College of DuPage. "Resulting from the pandemic and seeing how it was negatively impacting older adult programs, [the colleges] reached out to each other, brainstormed, shared resources, and created a profitable and sustainable model supporting older adults across four community college districts,"

In the fall of 2020, program directors from the four community colleges came together to collaborate on programming for older adult programs. The COVID-related cancel-

ICCET President Jessie

McClusky said in her award letter to the colleges.

lations and challenges of transitioning to online learning had put stress on programs and reduced enrollment numbers. The colleges needed to be innovative to shift programmatic offerings in order to attract participants.

"We came together to combine our resources allowing students from all four colleges to participate in a set number of shared courses allowing students to participate from anywhere via Zoom," explained Tammy Lewis, RVC Center for Learning in Retirement program director. "The collaboration has been a great success."

The collaboration helped to fill the enrollment and program gaps each college was facing. The collaboration launched in the spring of 2021, breaking down location-specific boundaries community colleges have traditionally operated within.

The technology innovation of CLR was not limited to collaboration. CLR volunteer instructor and Zoom trainer Bob Bertolasi was presented with the City of Rockford Challenge Coin award. Rockford Mayor Tom McNamara and the Rockford City Council present this award to recipients for going above and beyond to move the city forward.

According to Lewis, "Bob has been committed to getting hundreds of seniors in northern Illinois connected and comfortable with taking online classes via platforms like Zoom."

Bertolasi has conducted dozens of training sessions, been willing to help people one-on-one if needed, and been present for most CLR Zoom classes to offer his expert advice and assistance. In addition to this support, he teaches several CLR courses each semester.

To learn more about the innovative programming that is a part of RVC's CLR program, visit www.rockvalleycollege.edu/CLR or call (815) 921-3931.

RTHS grad Payton reflects on experience with Central Michigan football team

BY RUSSELL HODGES

SPORTS EDITOR

OCHELLE area residents who watched the Central Michigan University football team take on Washington State in the 2021 Sun Bowl on New Year's Eve may have seen a familiar face working the sideline.

Former Rochelle Lady Hub student-athlete Christina Payton was among the athletic trainers on the Central Michigan sideline as the Chippewas outlasted the Cougars 24-21 at the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas. Payton, who earned her bachelor's degree in athletic training from Northern Illinois University, was hired on as a graduate assistant this past year and has been working with the Central Michigan football team ever since. With nearly 35,000 fans in attendance at the Sun Bowl, Payton said the experience was unforgettable.

"It was an amazing experience because it was my first time working a bowl game as a certified athletic trainer," Payton said. "It was definitely a memory that I'll cherish forever able to do for our team. We went out there and showed them what the MAC Conference is all about. It was an experience unlike any other and I thought we played one of our best games of the season. My mom even caught a video of me jumping up and down on the sidelines and I lost my voice during the game as well."

Payton's passion for athletic training was sparked during her years as a student-athlete at RTHS. Payton, who spent four years with the Lady Hub basketball and softball programs, suffered a concussion during her freshman basketball season before suffering a serious knee injury during her junior season. As she worked to recover from both of her injuries, Payton formed a strong relationship with RTHS head athletic trainer Mark Lovell, who she said became a role model for her throughout her time as a student-athlete.

"Dr. Lovell was always there for me when I was injured," Payton said. "He explained everything to me and I spent a lot of time with him. He's an amazing sarcastic and funny. Even when I was stressed out or upset that I couldn't play, he brightened my spirits every time I went in to see him. It was frustrating that I couldn't catch a break, but step of the way to explain things to me and teach me things that allowed me to understand what exactly my body was going through."

Motivated to learn more about athletic training,

Hubs lose last-second heartbreaker against Kaneland

Knight senior Harrison hits buzzer-beating 3-pointer as Rochelle falls 71-70

BY RUSSELL HODGES

SPORTS EDITOR

ROCHELLE — The Rochelle Hub varsity basketball team looked primed for its seventh consecutive victory Wednesday evening. Leading the Kaneland Knights 66-51 with roughly five minutes remaining in the fourth quarter, Rochelle had full control of the game and its eyes on an Interstate 8 Conference season sweep.

But the Hubs struggled down the stretch, with the Knights knocking down crucial 3-pointers and forcing critical turnovers to bring Rochelle within two points with under 10 seconds remaining in regulation. After another Rochelle turnover on an errant fullcourt pass allowed the Knights to take possession and call timeout in the final seconds, Kaneland ran one final offensive set for senior guard Jacob Harrison, who drilled a 3-point shot at the top of the arc as time expired to give the Knights a stunning 71-70 win over

"They made some big 3-point shots during that stretch and I thought we were really tentative on offense," head coach Tim Thompson said. "We needed to make sure we were cutting harder, but we were becoming tighter in how we were moving the ball and executing our offense. We didn't make any easy layups down the stretch and we had too many passes deflected and too many balls thrown away. We were too lax down the stretch and when we're in those situations, we have to be much crisper in everything we do."

Rochelle (11-9, 6-2 Interstate 8) stormed out of the gate in the first quarter, frustrating the Knights with their full-court press defense and forcing multiple Kaneland turnovers that led to easy layups at the basket. Senior guards Ryan Simmons and Adam Kemp led the charge for the Hubs, combining for 15 points on seven made field goals in the first quarter to help give Rochelle a 25-12 lead over the Knights.

"I loved our energy and effort in the first quarter," Thompson said. "We were deflecting passes and we were making the extra passes. It's everything we've ever wanted all season. But I thought Kaneland made a run during the second quarter and we weren't running good offense. We weren't getting many 50-50 balls and they were outrebounding us. Those were what allowed them to get back into the game."

The Knights slowed Rochelle down in the second quarter, limiting the Hubs to only seven points and making it a 32-27 game at halftime. Looking to reignite the Rochelle offense, Simmons took command of the basketball, driving to the basket and converting four layups while going 4-for-4 from the free-throw line after drawing fouls at the rim. Kemp also caught fire for the Hubs, hitting his second triple of the night in the third quarter before drilling three triples in the fourth quarter. Kemp and Simmons each scored 22 points.

"It was awesome to see how comfortable Adam looks at the wing right now," Thompson said. "His shot looks good right now and Ryan was taking it to the hole effectively. I felt really good about how they were playing in the second half. Unfortunately, we made too many mistakes down the stretch."

PAYTON: RTHS alum pursing master's degree at CMU

While on campus, Payton earned experience working with the Huskie football and women's basketball programs.

"NIU was close to home and I loved the atmosphere that Rochelle, Creston and DeKalb brought," Payton said. "One of their students talked to me when I was in high school and he told me about his experiences working with high school programs and NIU programs. I knew I could stay close to home while working toward as many opportunities as I could to grow as a young professional and a student. My teachers and mentors made me feel welcome and I learned a lot of valuable skills throughout my experience."

Payton traveled around the country during her time at Northern Illinois University, but her most notable experience was her senior internship with the University of Michigan men's lacrosse program. Payton, who grew up watching Michigan athletics along with her father, couldn't have imagined leaving her home to move over five hours away. But after settling in, Payton thrived with the resources at her

"My dad and I are huge Michigan fans and we watch all of their football and basketball games," Payton said. "I never had the guts to email them because I didn't want to get my hopes up, but when I learned they had an opening and I went through the interview process, I was in awe of the resources they had. Moving five and a half hours away was a big culture shock and Ann Arbor is a big city so it definitely took some time to adjust, but I quickly felt at home and I reached out to my peers and mentors so I could stay on track." Payton earned her bachelor's degree from Northern Illinois University this past year before enrolling at Central Michigan University to begin her two-year graduate program in sport management. Although the football season has concluded, Payton has continued working with the team as the Chippewas prepare for spring practices. Payton has also begun working with the women's field hockey team. Despite the challenges of balancing athletics and academics, Payton has thoroughly enjoyed her graduate experience.

Former Rochelle Lady Hub student-athlete Christina Payton (left) works on an injured player during the 2021 Sun Bowl between Central Michigan and Washington State on Dec. 31. Payton began her two-year graduate program in sport management this past fall and hopes to continue working in collegiate athletics.

"I learned that CMU was going to have a graduate assistant opening so I reached out for an interview and I was able to get the position," Payton said. "Being a graduate assistant is really difficult. It's a beast in and of itself and there's a lot of work to do with summer conditioning, workouts and fall camp. It's tough to balance all of that with school, but I've had a lot of help and the other graduate assistants have been really helpful. I wouldn't trade any day with the program for anything. We've all been through so much together."

Payton said her goal is to complete her master's degree next year and continue working in collegiate athletics. For student-athletes looking to pursue athletic training after high school, Payton offered one important piece of advice based on all of her experiences as both a student-athlete and a college student.

"Never give up," Payton said. "I've been through a lot of struggles and everybody has their own struggles. It can be hard and sometimes it can feel overwhelming or like you're drowning, but it's always important to remember what your end goals are and remember that there are people who have been through similar struggles. Being able to reach out to those people and share what you're going through is what helped me the most and I received great advice from all of the people I've met throughout my experiences."

HOLLYWOOD — Testosterone gone wild! Don't mess with "The Rock," even if you're Vin Diesel! Dwayne Johnson's not returning for "The Fast & The Furious 10," which is supposed to end the franchise. The Rock recently explained why: "This past June when Vin and I actually connected, not over social media, I told him directly and privately I would not be returning to the franchise. I was firm yet cordial saying I'd always be supportive of the cast and root for the franchise to be successful, but there was no chance I'd return. Vin's public post was an example of his manipulation. I didn't like that he used his children (in reference to me), in the post as well as Paul Walker's death. We'd spoken months ago about this and I thought we came to a clear understanding. It's unfortunate this public dialogue has muddied the waters." Diesel revealed, over the summer, the bad blood between them was due to his using "tough love" while producing Johnson in "The Fast & The Furious 8." He told Men's Health magazine he used the approach "to assist in getting that performance where it needed to be." Dwayne Johnson's one of the busiest and highest paid actors in the world. Small wonder he objected to anyone, even Diesel, assuming he couldn't cut it. With or without "The Rock" this is not the end for the F&F universe — there are plans for additional spin-offs and TV shows.

The still beautiful Jane Fonda, one of the last four living stars from the Golden Age of Hollywood, has completed the last 12 episodes of "Grace & Frankie." The show was shut down due to the pandemic after four episodes, which aired already, with the remaining episodes to air via Netflix soon. While waiting for "Grace & Frankie," she completed "Luck The Dragon," a computer animated comedy co-starring Whoopi Goldberg dropping on Apple TV Feb. 18. At 84 Jane shows no signs of slowing down — happily, because we're all still "Fonda" Jane.

CELEBRITY EXTRA O: Is "Grev's Anatomy" returning for I think he used to be on "Justified." but he says

"A Winter Princess" (2019, Romance) Natalie Hall, Chris McNally. @ (DVS)

another season, or will the current one be the no, but he also can't figure out where we've last? How many years has it been on? I haven't seen him before. Can you help? - G.B. watched it in a long while, but I definitely want to catch the finale. -- J.K.

(11:00) "Don't Forget I Love You"

A: According to TVLine.com, the long-running medical drama "Grey's Anatomy" has been renewed for a whopping 19th season. It was rumored recently that star Ellen Pompeo was ready to hang up her scrubs, telling "Insider": "I've been trying to focus on convincing everybody that it should end ... what's the story going to be, what story are we going to tell? ... And everyone's like, 'Who cares, Ellen? It makes a gazillion dollars."

Pompeo somehow found her inspiration, because shortly after that story, she inked a one-year deal for another season of "Grey's." She's also earned a co-executive producer title along with showrunner Krista Vernoff, which should allow her to influence the outcome of the show's stories during its expected final year, an issue that has long been important to Pompeo.

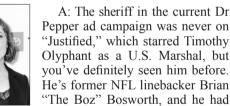

Shonda Rhimes, who created the series, says she has the final say of when and how "Grey's" will end. She told "Variety" this past November that she has unofficially written the ending -- whether just in her mind or on her laptop -- a "good eight times," but that she is the person who will decide when it's over. "Grey's Anatomy" will return Feb. 24 with new episodes on ABC at 9 p.m. ET.

Mayim Bialik

Picture him with bleached blonde hair and you might recognize him. After his football career ended in the late '80s, he starred in action flicks like "Stone Cold," "One Man's Justice," and "Midnight Heat." The new episodic Dr Pepper campaign titled "Fansville" stars Bosworth and former NFL running back Eddie George as "Sheriff"

a brief career as an action movie star after his pro sports retirement.

Q: Is Mayim Bialik still doing her sitcom, or will she become the full-time host of "Jeopardy?" I think she does the best job since Alex Trebek. - R.V.

and "Doctor," respectively.

A: Yes, I believe that as long as Bialik enjoys acting in comedies, "Jeopardy" will just have to be a part-time gig for her. Season two of her sitcom "Call Me Kat" just kicked off on Fox. She juggles her busy schedule by also hosting the syndicated game show "Jeopardy!" with Ken Jennings. Both are committed to sharing these duties through the current season, which concludes July 29 of this year.

Twain's response: "Finding a spider is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our newspaper to see which merchant was not advertising, so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed/ peace ever afterward.'
