

DeWitt County on virus warning list

Gordon Woods
gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON — As COVID-19 cases surge, primarily among unvaccinated people, the CDC and Illinois Department of Public Health currently lists DeWitt and Piatt counties as “high transmission” areas, and DeWitt County is on the state COVID warning list.

In fact, according to the CDC COVID Tracker, nearly every part of the country is currently listed as areas of high COVID transmission.

For the period Aug. 23-29, Public Health Administrator David Remmert reported DeWitt County currently had 53 active COVID cases. Piatt County reported 45.

His update report issued on Monday included 32 new cases in DeWitt County for Aug. 23-29, which included 10 new cases in Clinton for the period.

One DeWitt County death from COVID was reported, a woman in her 70s.

DeWitt County has had a total of 1,818 COVID cases reported with 1,781 in Piatt County with 31 deaths in DeWitt County, 14 deaths in Piatt County.

Vaccinations are still available through the health department by calling (217) 935-3427 ext. 214. Walgreen’s and state-sponsored clinics also offer vaccinations.

The CDC recommends people with moderately to severely compromised immune systems get an additional dose of vaccine at least 28 days after their second dose of Pfizer-BioNTech or Moderna COVID-19 vaccines, the health department reported.

“CDC does not recommend additional doses or booster shots for any other population at this time,” Remmert also reported this week.

Currently, 79.64 percent of DeWitt County residents age 65-over are vaccinated. But, only 40.8 percent of all DeWitt County residents are fully vaccinated, according to the CDC and IDPH.

As of Monday this week, 13,098 doses of COVID-19 vaccines have been administered.

"Case numbers are rising substantially in both (DeWitt and Piatt) counties," Remmert reported this week. "DeWitt County is on the state warning list for COVID-19."

Remmert said, while concern has grown about the spread of the Delta strain of the COVID virus," We do not have adequate data at this time to determine if any of the active cases are from this strain." He did add the Delta variant had been detected in the Bi-County Health jurisdiction.

"Vaccination remains the best option to protect oneself against COVID-19, including the Delta variant," Remmert said.

On our wishlist: Basketballs

The recreation center is open again! While they tried to do a “soft opening,” word traveled quickly.

Going to the rec center won’t be as it was before, of course. There used to be classes in the middle of the gym, which is surrounded by a long indoor track. Scattered around the interior were basketball hoops and exercise mats. Now, we’re told, we’ll check in at the front door for a specified timeslot (one hour) on the track. At the end of our time period, the center will be emptied and the next group let in. There will be no classes, no use of mats, no basketball ... but we’ll have indoor walking.

This is the best news we’ve had around here in a very long time. Indoor walking, while not urgently needed right now, will be most welcome when cold weather arrives. Icy sidewalks send many of us to the rec center, which was closed last year, to walk in winter. But, we’re told, we won’t be able to buddy up and walk with a friend, chatting as we do laps. We’ll walk alone in the right lane, passing in the left lane if we should overtake the person in front of us.

No, we won’t be able to use the mats for pre-walk stretching (they’re stacked in the storeroom), and no, the guys won’t be able to play basketball (the balls also are in the storeroom).

So, why, if there are so many restrictions about using the rec center, are we happy? We’re happy because it’s one small sign that maybe, just maybe, things are inching back to normal.

How will we know for sure? We’ll know, said one wit, if we walk into the rec center and the basketballs are on their racks at the center of the courts. That’s going to be our barometer: basketballs.

Failure in Afghanistan

This article is written before President Biden addresses the nation with a Tuesday speech. I doubt if the President's address will change this column, but in fairness that disclosure needs to be made.

On Monday, the press showed the last U. S. military plane leaving Afghanistan. Both the military and State Department are saying that there is no longer an official United States presence in Afghanistan.

Last week in an interview with George Stephanopoulos of ABC News, President Biden assured the American public that all U. S. citizens who wanted out of Afghanistan by August 31 would be transported out of the country. The President intimated that if the U. S. military was needed for extraction of Americans and our allies, our troops would stay beyond the August 31 withdrawal deadline.

By all accounts there are still U. S. citizens in Afghanistan who wanted to leave. Add to those citizens, our allies who we promised to evacuate and then left behind in Afghanistan. Members of both political parties have described our withdrawal process as a failure. A failure that has cost American lives and will cost more before it is over.

A few weeks ago the U. S. military literally abandoned Bagram air base in Afghanistan in the middle of the night. We didn't even tell the Afghans we were leaving. We just left. That base had military troops and a very defensible position. The military could easily control ingress and egress to the base, which was designed as an airfield.

The Biden administration chose to believe that there would be no problem using the public airport at Kabul to evacuate American citizens and our allies. That choice cost 13 service personnel their lives to a suicide bomber at the airport.

The U. S. gave up its position of strength and played catch up to the chaos that happened in Afghanistan. The problem with catchup is that it cost American lives. Yes, President Biden tried to show some strength by ordering drone attacks. That effort was too little, too late.

Afghanistan is now home to the Taliban once again. The only thing the Taliban seem to respect and fear is power. The U. S. ceded its power to the Taliban by its withdrawal process from Afghanistan. A terrorist group literally dictated to a world power the terms of withdrawal. That action in and of itself creates a tremendous national security problem.

Our allies, especially Britain and Germany, are very disturbed by our actions. We have pledged our support to Japan and Taiwan. What are they thinking today? They are deeply disturbed by what they see. Meanwhile, China feels empowered as the great American power has lost face.

We then look at North Korea, which by news accounts has restarted its power plant to produce nuclear grade uranium/plutonium for weapons. Was this a simple coincidence? Perhaps,

by Dave T. Phipps

but Kim Jong-un seems to always press buttons when he sees an advantage for North Korea. At the moment, Kim is pushing a lot of buttons. Dictators always push when they see weakness. That thought is troubling from a national security point of view.

At home, the U. S. is combatting a pandemic, a flux of illegal immigrants on its southern border and a budget crisis in Washington. We appear to the world as a nation without a plan, a ship without a rudder tossed around by all the political variants that are present.

America doesn't need a nice guy as President. America needs a leader. Former President Teddy Roosevelt best described a leader: "Talk softly and carry a big stick." We have seen the soft talk from President Biden. We have yet to see leadership when that big stick is needed.

Unless the President develops some backbone in the near future, it is going to be a rough term for Joe Biden. Americans may not always agree with their President's action, but Americans want to see leadership from the President. I am hoping.

own personal ATM. But instead of going to the authorities, the accountant let himself be silenced by a threatening confidentiality agreement and a check for payment in full for his services.

Despite the short sentences the two men received, there is one thing that does make me smile. The head criminal, the woman who received a sentence of 47 years plus three years supervised release, is 74 years old.

(c) 2021 King Features Synd., Inc.

Guardians stole from helpless veterans

Most of the time, a scammer of veterans will be given a prison sentence that is less than satisfactory to those of us who are following the story. A few years here or there, a monetary fine ... it's not enough.

But now and then, a sentence will come along that just feels right. This happened in a recent fraud case against a group of four criminals. One of the males received a sentence of 15 years. His stepson got almost six years. One of the female criminals got 20 years. But the last one, another woman, received a sentence of 47 years for her part in the crimes.

The group, calling itself a nonprofit corporation, acted as guardians, conservators and financial managers to those with special needs, including veterans. The 33-count indictment included money laundering, mail fraud, conspiracy and aggravated identity theft.

The criminals would either use a company credit card to make their purchases, knowing the company would pay it back out of client money, or write checks to themselves out of the account. Among the take were RVs, vacations, cars, cruises and more, to the tune of $11 million in client money ... clients who suffered when they didn't have enough money for expenses, care and food, and were sometimes left homeless.

What's galling is that it could have been stopped as far back as 2012. The company's tax accountant raised flags with their attorney, saying one of the women was using the client funds as her

Professor potato

Welcome to my little corner of culinary delights. A friend told me once that I make a good teacher. Naturally, I felt flattered since she is a teacher. However, she was taken back by my reply. I told her that even a potato can teach culinary. This was by no means an insult. Far from it. My intentions are often misunderstood. What the potato can teach is often overlooked or underestimated. More to the point, a potato is most useful in teaching culinary methods and procedures. I shall now outline my hypothesis.

The potato is a most interesting food item. Although it is basic and its structure is simple, its use can become complexed. Its complexity is seen in how it reacts to hot oils, boiling water, to the frying pan, how various cuts affect its cooking/ frying properties, how its starches affect viscosity and how its internal moisture can react to heat. Even the different types of potatoes can teach us much. Getting off track a bit; did you know that a potato can actually produce electricity? As you can see, the potato can be a good teacher. Let's begin our venture.

Starting with the structure. We have slices of raw potato as well as a baked potato, American fried potatoes, French fries of various thicknesses, mashed potatoes, seasoned potato skins, potato chips, potato soufflé, potato waffle or gaufrette, potato patty, potato au gratin, tortilla española, potato salad, potato soup and a potato casserole. Now take a taste of each and discover how different they are to each other. And it all deals with potatoes but prepared in different ways. It is in cooking techniques that potatoes can teach us. I can think of no single food item that enlists most all, if not all, cooking and preparation techniques. Other techniques that can be learned is drying and grinding the potato for making potato flour. The starch can be rendered out for making a slurry.

The Culinary Corner

By Chef Roger Joss

Using potatoes is a cheap way of teaching cooking techniques. If you do not get the oil properly heated, the potato will tell you at once. If you do not properly mash the potato, lumps will tell you. Potato salad will tell you if you used the correct type of potato and if you cooked it properly. In short, the potato is quick to identify any mistakes. It also teaches the importance of size, cut, type, temperature and timing. Once a potato is done with you, you have learned important techniques and procedures. Did I not tell you it is a good teacher?

What I wish to do next is to walk you through a few examples. In this way, I can center upon how potatoes teach techniques. I think you will have fun with this one. I know I did and still do. Have you tried making a potato pie? I have even made some potato wine in the past. But I will skip that one.

Until next time, peace to all.

Weather History

September 3
2002: A prolonged summer drought in southern Illinois gradually worsened, becoming severe by early September. Many parts of southern Illinois received little measurable rainfall since July. The main effect of the drought was on agriculture. Crop loss estimates totaled around $53 million. The corn crop, which was especially susceptible to the combined effects of heat and drought, took the biggest hit. A few outdoor fires broke out, including a 20-acre blaze in Saline County, several miles west of Eldorado. The remnants of Tropical Storm Isidore provided much-needed heavy rainfall late in September. One to three inches of rain fell over most of southern Illinois, which greatly eased the drought.

CJHS Lady Maroons softball hosts annual 3D Tournament

jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON — On Friday and Saturday, August 20 and 21, the Clinton Junior High School (CJHS) Lady Maroon softball team hosted its annual 3D (three diamonds) Softball Tournament.

This year, the tournament had nine other central Illinois teams competing along with the Lady Maroons. There were two “pools” (groups) of five teams each, as usual, with each team playing against every other team in their respective group. At the end of the tournament, the top two teams played for the championship and the next two teams played for third place.

In the first round of play, the Lady Maroons drew the Lady Comets of Champaign Edison Middle School as their opponent. The Lady Comets struck first in the initial inning with one run on one hit and two walks and some slick base running.

Then, in the third inning, the opposition garnered another run on an error by the Lady Maroons and followed by a double. The Lady Maroons answered in the fourth inning with one run on two hits. The home team then loaded the bases in each of the last two innings, but could not get another run across the plate. Thus the Lady Comets took the win 2-1. Aliviyah Haynes (#9) pitched a complete game for the Lady Maroons.

The Lady Maroons drew the Lady Hornets of Heyworth for their second opponent of the tournament and this match-up was more to the home fans liking.

The home team began by holding the opposition to no runs in the game and started off with 3 runs in the first inning. The Lady Maroons then added three more runs in the third inning and capped off their onslaught with their last run in the fourth. The Lady Maroons easily took the 7-0 win in this game. The Clinton pitcher was Anelise Thompson (#19) for the complete game shut-out win.

Next up for the home team was a game with the Normal Chiddix Lady Chargers. The Lady Maroons were now on a roll and drew first blood in the bottom of the first inning with 2 runs. The Lady Chargers answered with a run in the top of the second inning which was followed by two more runs in the bottom of the inning by the home team.

The top of the third inning saw the Chiddix team add another run. Their scoring stopped there, but the Lady Maroons would not settle for a 4-2 win, adding 5 runs in the 4th inning and another in the fifth inning to take the 10-2 win. Anelise Thompson (#19) again threw a complete game win for the Lady Maroons.

The Lady Maroons fourth and final game of pool play was against the Hartsburg/Emden (Hartem) Lady Stags. The Lady Stags led off the scoring in this game with one run in the top of the first inning. This is where they would remain as the home teams pitching knuckled down, and the defense and offense took a hold on the game. The Lady Maroons exploded for 4 runs in the third inning, three more in the 4th inning and two additional runs in the sixth for a total of nine runs. The win went to Mylie Alwood (#20) with a complete game pitched. Clinton’s scoring came on six hits and seven walks.

Clinton High School cross country hosts ‘Light it Up Invite’

With three wins and one loss, the Lady Maroons were in one more game for third place in the tournament. (The Champaign Edison Lady Chargers won all of their games and took the championship.) In this final game the home team faced the Williamsville Lady Bee Bee’s (or Bee’s as they now like to be called).

The Lady Maroons were able to score first in the battle with two runs in the third inning, followed by two more runs in the fourth inning. This seemed to be a good cushion until the Lady Bee’s scored two runs in the fifth inning. At this point there was a pitching change for the home team and the defense dug in and held the opposition scoreless in the final two innings to win third place 4-2.

Mylie Alwood (#20) pitched well as starter and was relieved by Anelise Thompson (#19). Clinton’s pitching was good throughout the tournament as was the defensive play behind them.

CLINTON — On Saturday night, August 28, the Clinton High School cross country teams sponsored their annual “Under the Lights” competition.

This year, the theme was the “Light It Up Invite”

with 20 teams competing.

The evening began with the coed open run (all runs were an approximate 5K or three miles) for all junior varsity competitors.

Then up was the boys run with Normal University High winning the team standings with Clinton 4th.

Clinton’s Drew Moser took 13th as the top Maroon finisher.

The final run was the girls and it was won by ALAH (Arthur/Lovington/Atwood/Hammond).

Top finishers for the Lady Maroons were Clare Holland in 13th place and MaKayla Koeppel in 16th place. The Lady Maroons placed fifth as a team.

Baum Chevrolet selects YMCA’s Camp Osage as car show beneficiary

CLINTON — Camp Osage at the Clinton YMCA will be the beneficiary of the 15th Annual Scott’s Charity Car Show, scheduled for Sept. 26, in Clinton.

Baum Chevrolet Buick organizes the event, which is held on the dealership grounds at 810 W. Van Buren.

A committee of employees selected Camp Osage because it was a cause important to David Torbert, former employee and Baum family member who passed away in February, 2021.

Torbert was committed to helping the young people of DeWitt County through YMCA sports and activities. At the time of his death, he was camp director. The camp helps area kids build confidence, gain new skills, and find untapped talent through summer projects and activities. The YMCA is a nonprofit organization.

COVID-19 precautions. The cancellation was a difficult decision, organizers said, but owner Scott Baum is confident the event’s 2021 return will be an exciting reunion.

“We were so looking forward to 2020 being our 15th year that it was hard to cancel,” Baum said. “But we are looking forward to seeing everyone after our brief hiatus and we know customers and exhibitors will be looking for ways to get out and about and show off their vehicles.”

Registration for the event begins at 9 a.m., and an opening ceremony will begin at 12 noon. Awards will be presented at 2:30 p.m. There are eight stock classes, four modified classes, race car, rat rod, truck and motorcycle classes.

Registration for the event is $10 per vehicle and admission for spectators is free. Food and entertainment will be available on the dealership grounds. A free shuttle to the Apple and Pork Festival is provided.

In the past, the show has fundraised for beneficiaries such as the Central Illinois Alzheimer’s Association, Guardians of the Children and The Vault.

In addition to the show, fundraising activities include a raffle for an EZ GO Golf Cart, Traeger grill, or $200 cash. Tickets are $10 for 1 or $100 for 10, and can be purchased in advance at the dealership in Clinton and Baum Motor Company in Farmer City.

Questions regarding the event can be directed to Baum Chevrolet Buick at 217-935-3156.
