Students must mask up

Mandate leaves schools with no choice, officials say

By Brad Jennings Editor

When students go back to school across Ogle County, they will be required to wear masks.

Illinois Gov. JB Pritzker announced on Wednesday, Aug. 4, that students at all K-12 schools in the state – public and private – will be required to wear a mask.

That leaves area schools with really no other option, area district officials said.

The night after Pritzker's announcement, the mask said they will follow the mandate.

"While I know I personally and many Board members agreed with their perspective on parent choice, local control, and a mask-recommended instead of mandated school year, I recommended that we follow the governor's Executive Order," he said. "While this clearly disappointed many in the audience ... I felt it was the only prudent thing to do for our district."

The Oregon School District will also comply mandate.

"The consequence includes increased liability, loss of insurance coverage, and loss of school recognition which is tied to state funding," the letter stated.

He said that he called law firms that represent the district, and they both recommended the district follow the order as to not expose, "the district to liability for acting in a way that would be considered wanton and willful."

The school insurer also told the district that it would

"the loss of the school district's recognition status. If the state chose to pursue this path, it could lead to the loss of state revenue."

"Essentially the new executive order eliminates the authority of school boards to adopt 'mask optional' plans for the start of the 2021-2022 school term," the letter said. "Additionally, I was informed that the Governor's Executive Orders have been challenged in court 69 times since the beginning of the pandemic. In all 69 cases the orders stood."

issue was discussed at the Meridian School Board meeting. While many parents argued for no masks, Superintendent PJ Caposey with the mandate, in a letter to parents, Superintendent Tom Mahoney said that there could be consequences for not complying with the be "prudent" to follow the governor's order.

Finally, the letter noted that the Illinois State Board of Education has threatened, Caposey pointed to these "threats" as a reason to follow the order.

MASK: There is no remote learning option

"Since this is obviously unprecedented, we do not know if any and/or all would happen should we choose to not follow the mandate," he said.

He said two-thirds of teachers in the district were in favor of a mask-optional approach, but they have been. "overwhelmingly supportive of the process we have to follow." "As for parents, I just hope that they continue to help us promote a great learning environment and realize that we are on the same team," he said. "Transparently, every protest or act of civil disobedience we have to deal with at the school level distracts us from the primary purpose of serving kids and we hope to work together to advocate for local control instead of working against each other. I have had meetings all weekend and all day Monday to prepare for protests and disorderly behavior instead of figuring out how to best welcome back students. It is just a tough situation." As for remote learning, it will only be offered for quarantined students, Caposey said. He said the ISBE did not authorize remote learning as a choice this school year.

LOCAL NEWS Ogle County Board honors Maggie Nye

By Brad Jennings Editor

OREGON – It is clear that Marguerite Nye, known as Maggie, made an impact on Ogle County.

She served on the Ogle County Board from 1982-92 and from 2008-18 and is believed to be the first elected woman to have served on the board. She was a champion for many, giving her time to the CASA Board, Village of Progress Board, Focus House and many others. At its July meeting, the Ogle County Board honored the memory of Nye, who died in December 2019, with a photograph and plaque that will hang in the Ogle County Courthouse.

At the meeting were Nye's husband, Phil; daughter Maggie Conboy of Denver, Colo.; son Mose of Park Ridge; and close friend Tim Knoerzer and his daughter Cassidy, of Califon, N.J.

"I met Maggie through her brother, Kevin Glynn, who was my roommate at Northwestern and she came to Rochelle after we were married in 1964," Phil said. "Maggie grew up Irish on Chicago's south side and was as Irish as 'Paddy's pig.' She was up to her ears in politics and loved to campaign and follow local and state politics. She ran and was elected to the Ogle Board after she was rejected for a vacancy the previous year by an appointment for a vacancy. She ran first on the ticket in 1982, and served a little over 20 years holding numerous chairmanships and appointments."

According to the resolution adopted by the board, during her time of service with the county, she served as chair of the Juvenile and Probation Committee, chair of the Health Education and Welfare Committee and chair of the Courthouse Restoration Committee.

"She was truly a Renaissance gal whose interests ran from oil painting, taking tap dancing lessons in her 70s and practicing on the garage floor, working with Serenity Hospice, playing the piano, serving on local community Boards such as Village of Progress, Hope, Shining Star, Drug Advisory, and CASA, dancing at every opportunity and World travel," Phil said.

Maggie was employed for many years as a hospice worker at Serenity Hospice and Home.

She died after battling multiple myeloma for more than 17 years.

"I never heard her make a single complaint about her illness during the entire time.," Phil said.

Chicago tribute band hits Jamboree

MOUNT MORRIS – The Mt. Morris Jamboree is pleased to announce the return of Chicago Tribute Anthology to our band shell stage for a free twohour concert on Aug. 20, from 7-9 p.m.

In April of 1969, a new rock 'n roll band burst onto the scene garnering nationwide attention. Born in the midwest and infused with elements of jazz, blues, and latin influences, the first album by "Chicago Transit Authority", or CTA as they were commonly known, went double platinum. Such hits as "Beginnings," "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is?," and "Question 67 & 68" propelled the band to popularity.

CTA brings to life the 'Golden Age' of Chicago by meticulously recreating many of the great songs from the first 11 albums. Members include Tom Anderson, Paul Bata, Terry Geraci, Paul Mabin, Chuck Parrish, Reed Pauley, Dan Peters and John Springbrunn.

Concessions for the evening will be provided by the Mt. Morris Senior Center, serving pulled pork sandwiches, baked beans, chips, soda, water and baked goods starting at 6 p.m.

The Campus will be extra festive that evening as the 6th Annual National Strawsculpting Competition continues, with new sculptures on display all around the south end of the Campus until Aug. 29.

Local small business vendors will often be joining us on the Campus with fresh produce and crafts as well as Grandpa's Ice Cream truck.

In the event of inclement weather, our rain location will be Pinecrest Grove Community Center, 500 Evergreen Lane, 7 blocks south of Rt. 64 off McKendrie St.

LSSI prevention programs ready for the school year

During the COVID-19 pandemic, Lutheran Social Services of Illinois (LSSI) has continued to services within local communities.

The LSSI Prevention Team grew and made adjustments to ensure the health of our youth, community members, and within our own families. As a new school year begins, staff in LSSI's Prevention programs, Youth WORKS (Wellness, Opportunities and Resources for Key Services), and Project LEAD (Leader Encouraging Abstinence from Drugs) are eager to jump back into serving at-risk youth within the Ogle County community.

The Youth WORKS program is a grant funded Illinois Department of Health Services (DHS) program and was established with LSSI in 2017. Since then, the program has worked tirelessly to provide youth violence prevention services to parents, teachers, youth ,and community members. The program began in Lee and Ogle Counties and recently expanded into Carroll and Whiteside Counties.

Project LEAD provides prevention services with community youth related to substance abuse. The program has grown over the past several years, expanding to include a variety of middle schools within the area. LEAD plans to follow any accommodations that the schools implement within this upcoming school year. Staff will provide the "Too Good for Drugs" curriculum to the students.

The past 16 months have thrown a curve ball at not only LSSI's prevention programs, but many other community entities. The COVID-19 pandemic changed the way LSSI provided prevention services. Staff often had to think outside of the box, as they lost physical access to the youth and the community as a whole. Program staffbegan utilizing Zoom for meetings and recorded the prevention-based curriculum, "Too Good For Violence" and "Too Good for Drugs" as a means to further its reach during this time of limited contact. Staff worked to maintain current relationships and build new connections.

The Youth WORKS and Project LEAD team are excited to get back into the community and schools. These services and resources are critical and needed in the community. Staff have begun reaching out to local schools and agencies to reconnect and work toward future collaborations. This coming year will continue to be full of challenges for communities, both familiar and new. LSSI's prevention team is eager to get to work, bringing the community together to serve its youth and shape a brighter future for all.

lumbus Tootsie Roll drive in Oregon and Mt. Morris will be held September 10 and 11.

Last year there was no collection in front of stores or at the intersections in this area, but we raised $2,060 with help of a few businesses and from Knight families and friends. We also had support from eight area businesses that helped with the purchase of candy. to support the Knights of Columbus programs in Illinois, such as Special Olympics. Local organizations who also split $1,682 were: Village of Progress, Oregon School district special education program, and Stouffer Terrace.

I want to thank to people in Oregon and Mt. Morris for their generous support again this year.

Thank You We want to thank everyone for cards, calls, visits, flowers, and memorials all was greatly appreciated.

Ray Wisnosky

MOUNT MORRIS

 Mt. Morris resident Lawrence Ray Wisnosky, age 73, died on Monday Aug. 9, 2021in his home from natural causes.

Known to his friends as Larry, he was born on Feb. 3, 1948, in Marshfield, Wis. His parents were Ray Lawrence Wisnosky and Doris Elizabeth (Doyle) Gilbert. After his parents divorced, his mother remarried, and Ferol A. Gilbert of Mt. Morris became his stepfather.

His parents, grandparents, all of his aunts and uncles, and an infant granddaughter preceded him in death.

He graduated from Mt. Morris High School in 1966 and immediately joined the Army, inspired by President Kennedy's famous speech: "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country." He served in Vietnam as a door gunner with the 1st Aviation Brigade, and he bore witness to the 1968 Tet Offensive. After his release from active duty, he enrolled at Western Illinois University. While in college, he married Nancy Dickson, an MMHS '66 classmate. He graduated in 1973 with a degree in political science and immediately took a job at the VA Regional Office in Chicago.

His career in VA's Veterans Benefits Administration moved his young family all over the country: to North Dakota, Nevada, and twice to Virginia, where he was a program analyst at VA Central Office, located on the north side of Lafayette Park. He loved that assignment; the view of the White House is spectacular.

He finally moved his family to Ankeny, Iowa, and served as a division chief at VA's Des Moines Regional Office, where he retired from federal service. He had a life-long, enduring love of flying machines, and he became an instrument-rated private pilot. While in high school, he had dreamt of a career as a concert pianist. To the great relief of his passengers, he was a better pilot than he was a pianist.

His survivors include his children: Elizabeth Wisnosky of Iowa City, and David Wisnosky of College Park, Md., two granddaughters who live with their mother in Iowa City, Grace Wisnosky and Faye Wisnosky; and 11 cousins.

He was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church in Mt. Morris, the VFW, the American Legion, and the Vietnam Helicopter Crewmember's Association.

Memorial service will be held on Saturday, Aug. 21, 2021 at 10 a.m. in Finch Funeral Home, 405 East Hitt, Mt. Morris, with Rev. Josh Ehrler officiating. Burial will be in Silver Creek Cemetery. Visitation will be held on Saturday Aug 21, 2021 from 9 a.m. until service time in Finch Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers, memorial expressions may be directed to the Mount Morris Community Library Foundation.

Oregon pool shutdown for repairs continues

OREGON – Nash Recreation Center is beginning Week 3 of the pool shutdown and change continues every day.

The Park District has received many questions regarding the pool shutdown. The most common question is why now and why not when we were shut down during COVID?

Each year the district typically shuts down in the last two weeks of August for pool maintenance, painting, cleaning, and any other mechanical repairs that are needed. August was chosen because attendance typically drops after the first week of August with preparations for back to school, school beginning and patrons enjoying the last of summer. It is also preferred to shut down when it is warmer to give patrons an outside alternative for exercise.

While shutting down an entire month isn't ideal, the scope of projects is immense and have been in the capital improvement plan for 4 years slated for 2021. The Oregon Park District Capital Improvement Plan is a document that allows for budgeting and planning to ensure facility and property is properly maintained and gives a roadmap to accomplish the district's goals. COVID took everyone by surprise in March of 2020. Capital improvements dollars for 2020 were already allocated that included the gymnasium floor renovation. The current pool project costs are $216,435. While several small remodeling projects were completed while the facility was closed, bringing outside contractors in wasn't an option during shutdown and the funds weren't available for a large-scale project.

The current project involves the coordination of three different contractors. Bids for the project were awarded in May and June with the stipulation of the project being completed in August.

The original pool was constructed in 1986. The first major remodel was completed in 2013 and consisted of new translucent panels, replacement of panels with new windows, shade structures and full repainting of the interior walls and pool.

Several layers of paint were removed during the repainting in 2013, but it was discovered that over the years many different layers had been added. Some adhered and some didn't in areas. This caused areas that needed plaster repair. Paint continues to peel and after several recommendations since 2013, sandblasting and returning to the original was the only option. Painting was just a band aid that needed to be completed every two years. Sandblasting the pool to the original shell oc curred in the first two weeks of construction and it was discovered th paint was 1 inch thick of the walls and even thicke on the floor from all th painting over the years Sandblasting took two weeks; painting will tak one week and then pair will need to cure for te days. Once cured, th 186-thousand-gallon poc will take 4 days to fill, the chemicals will be added and everything will nee to be regulated.

The locker rooms ha the original tile and se verely dated the facility Tile was removed from the walls and sande down to the original sur face. This took place in th first two weeks. Tile will be laid during week thre then extensive clean-u will occur as well wit staff replacing plumb ing fixtures, new benc fixtures and reinstallin bathroom partitions.

The spa will be retile and have a fresh new look Tile was deterioratin and the sand from th grout was routinely i the water from the year of chemicals used to kee everything sanitary. In addition to the cos metic changes, the main tenance staff is equall excited about the me chanical updates. Ove $30,000 was invested in pool pump and valv updates to convert t electronic controls vs manual to keep the poo running efficiently. Staf was excited to replac many old valves that ha outlived their usefulnes before they failed causin a premature pool shut down.

MOMENTS IN TIME

* On Sept. 2, 31 B.C., at the Battle of Actium, Roman leader Octavian wins a decisive victory against the forces of Mark Antony and Cleopatra, queen of Egypt. Antony and Cleopatra broke through the enemy lines and fled to Egypt, where they would later commit suicide.

* On Sept. 5, 1666, firefighters in London begin blowing up homes in a desperate attempt to halt the spread of a great fire in the city. By the time the fire was finally extinguished, more than 100,000 people had been left homeless.

* On Sept. 3, 1935, a new landspeed record is set by Britain's Sir Malcolm Campbell on the Bonneville Salt Flats of Utah. Campbell and his 2,500-horsepower Bluebird motor car made two runs over a 1-mile course at speeds averaging over 301 mph.

*OnAug. 31, 1959, Brooklyn Dodgers left-hander Sandy Koufax strikes out 18 batters, setting a new National League record for most strikeouts in a single game.

* On Aug. 30, 1963, a "hot line" between Moscow and Washington goes into effect to speed communication between U.S. and the Soviet Union and help prevent the possibility of an accidental war. Although never used, it did provide a useful prop for movies about nuclear disaster, such as "Fail Safe" and "Dr. Strangelove."

* On Sept. 4, 1972, U.S. swimmer Mark Spitz wins his seventh gold medal at the 1972 Summer Olympics in Munich in the 400-meter medley relay. He set world records in every event. Spitz's record would stand until Michael Phelps took home eight gold medals at the 2008 Beijing Games.

We are living in a disaster movie

I love a good disaster movie, and always have.

I remember my mom taking me to see the movie "Earthquake" when it came out in 1974. I was 11 at the time, and a huge fan of the movie's star, Charlton Heston. The best part, however, is that the movie was shown in something called Sensurround, which made it feel and sound like the moviegoer was in an actual earthquake.

It was quite the thrill, I can tell you that. I don't remember much about the movie except it was loud and the destruction was total.

There were a lot of disaster movies in the 1970s – "The Towering Inferno," The Poseidon Adventure," "Airport." Something about going to a crammed theater and watching people in peril must have really resonated with people in the age of Watergate and gas shortages.

Living the Life

movie and still enjoy a big special effects driven movie. One that I really liked, and still watch when it comes on TV, is "The Day After Tomorrow."

When the movie came out in 2004, a buddy and I went to the theater to watch it and it didn't disappoint. It was basically about the disruption of the current in the north Atlantic Ocean brought on by climate change. That current shift brought dramatic changes in the weather that basically ushered in a new ice age. It happened quickly and with deadly consequences for many in the movie. While politicians argued in Washington that climate change wasn't real, people were dying.

Yes, it was just a movie, but boy did it make me think. Was such a thing possible?

Turns out that yes, such a thing is possible. Now, the effects might not be as quick or dramatic as shown in a disaster movie meant to entertain and shock, but it is still a real thing.

The bad news is that a recent study published in Nature Climate Change says that the current change is happening.

This is affecting the Atlantic Meridional Overturning Circulation. That, apparently, helps balance the energy in the Atlantic Ocean. The system includes the Gulf Stream that carries was water from the tropics north and colder water from the north Atlantic south.

If that fails, scientists say it will lead to elevated ocean levels and much colder weather for Europe and the northern United States. If you think you hate winter now, you will really hate this.

We are doing this to our planet, of course, and we don't even seem that concerned about it. When it is 40 below zero in September, it will be too late.

Climate change is real and it is having a real impact all over the globe. All you have to do is read the news. But things like this are not, sadly, just plots of blockbuster movies.

I am not going to stay up nights worrying about the impact on me. But I will stay up nights worrying about the impact on my children and their children, this could be catastrophic.

If I had my choice, I would rather not have to live in a disaster movie.

We win with open debate, government in light

Dear Editor,

Lowell Harp's Opinion piece on 'Conspiracies real and imagined' seemed incomplete. Although the words 'conspiracy theories' is repeated, the real subject becomes 'what is truth." The article covered several cognitive biases that we need to be aware of as critical thinkers. Having good measuring tools is another useful standard.

The Bible has many good moral courts - state or federal. When measuring tools, from love the Lord election commissions do not answer and love of your neighbor (that enand fight legislative subpoena's they compasses the 10 Commandments) oppose the will of the people. These issues are being addressed today and to simple Mosaic laws of the Old may not change what has occurred, Testament. On those principles societies developed. Another tool is but it changes how we move forward. the Declaration of Independence that When things seem awry, they openly stated that men are endowed need to be examined and the truth by their creator with unalienable exposed for what it is. The gaterights. The Constitution for the keepers of our information flow American Republic of States is the need to be vetted too. The omission ol that accomplishes what was and distortion of fact by major news declared, a form of government that We the People are in charge of to secure those rights.

A stolen election is called the Big Lie on what authority? I will simply use the tools at my disposal to see if there is the possibility. Hmmm, state legislatures shall establish the rules of elections. Not governors, not secretaries of states, not local election commissions, not supreme ought to alert our senses and cause examination of who we trust. The crucible of open debate can't get hot when facts, right or wrong, are not openly debated. Where is ivermectin and hydroxychloroquine in open fair discussion? What is a Covid Death? Why are PCR tests for Covid cycle counted at 40 or more causing high positive numbers when the inventor of the process states the process should not be used as a tool for the diagnosis of infectious disease? Where is informed choice championed instead of Jab Shaming?

All citizens lost in the last election. All win with open debate and government in the open light. Some will trust CNN, Washington Post, or Fox News. I will trust my reason and the measuring tools of my liberty -The Bible, The Declaration, and the Constitution.

Oregon board has the power to do right thing with DLR

Dear Editor,

To the board members and the citizens of Oregon School District:

The Advisory Committee has presented new information to the Oregon School Board that was made available only after the Consultant study and the Superintendents proposal to close DLR was finalized, the most important is the substantial increase in the EAVs of the district. These have been verified by the Ogle County Tax Assessor for the Tax Year 2021 and show continued increases in future years due to residential properties selling above their assessed values.

Most of the past discussions have been about the operating budget, which has been balanced in recent years. The debt level will be about 20 million dollars after the recent addition of $11.6 million. It would be nice as a taxpayer if debt was $5 million less as $5 million of the projects on Oregon campus buildings were not required. The principal payments on the new debt are being delayed until 2028, it will limit options for many years in the future due to your debt limit of 28 million dollars. The Oregon School District is not in a position to throw away the valuable asset of DLR.

In the 70's, Oregon High School had about 600 students. This was before all of the mandates for special education, as well as there are considerably more discipline problems today requiring additional space. There might not be as much room in other buildings for these reasons plus continuing increases in preschool education. The Committee is concerned with overcrowding in the high school.

Some of you say that this will not affect students living in Oregon. Wait until these students and their parents complain about having lunch in the middle of the morning or afternoon or when they are told they have no room for band, chorus, or other activities.

The mayors and citizen groups in both Mount Morris and Oregon have been working hard to attract new businesses to the area. I hope these are successful. This will not happen if the school district doesn't have a quality education system that has the flexibility to adapt to changing situations including enrollment growth.

I think the required improvement to DLR can be done along with little, if any, new bond debt. The citizens and voters of Mount Morris will be happy with a school, even if it has a few cracks in the parking lot.

There have several other items uncovered about why this is a terrible idea. I will ask one last question that I have been asked many times by people in and outside this district. Why is this school board being asked to vote on something that will destroy all the goodwill that has been built over the last 25 plus years. There is a solution looking at them straight in the face. Spend the extra money left over from the $11.6 million bond for the required improvements to DLR of $400,000. They could use this and a portion of the 3.3 million Cares fund to finish another 1.5 million on DLR and this issue would go away for many years. The board has this power, use it for the good of this school district and the good of our community.

Mike Anderson, Mount Morris

OREGON – Local talent Lynn Kaufman loves cooking.

Her interest in cooking began in college taking food classes, working on her dietetic degree, and helping her mom prepare holiday meals. For 17 years she taught high school students the basics of food preparation. Now she has her own food blog, bakes, and sells homegrown items at the Rivers' Edge Market and she is still teaching today and offering some fun classes through the Oregon Park District.

Learn to make a Ratatouille Skillet from Lynn on Wednesday, Aug. 25. This evening class is offered at Cork & Tap. Sign up today as the registration deadline is Aug. 18. You will enjoy preparing this beautiful French vegetable dish.

If French food isn't your thing, how about the classic American Apple Pie? The Apple Pie Class is a couple's class on Friday, Sept. 24, also at Cork & Tap.

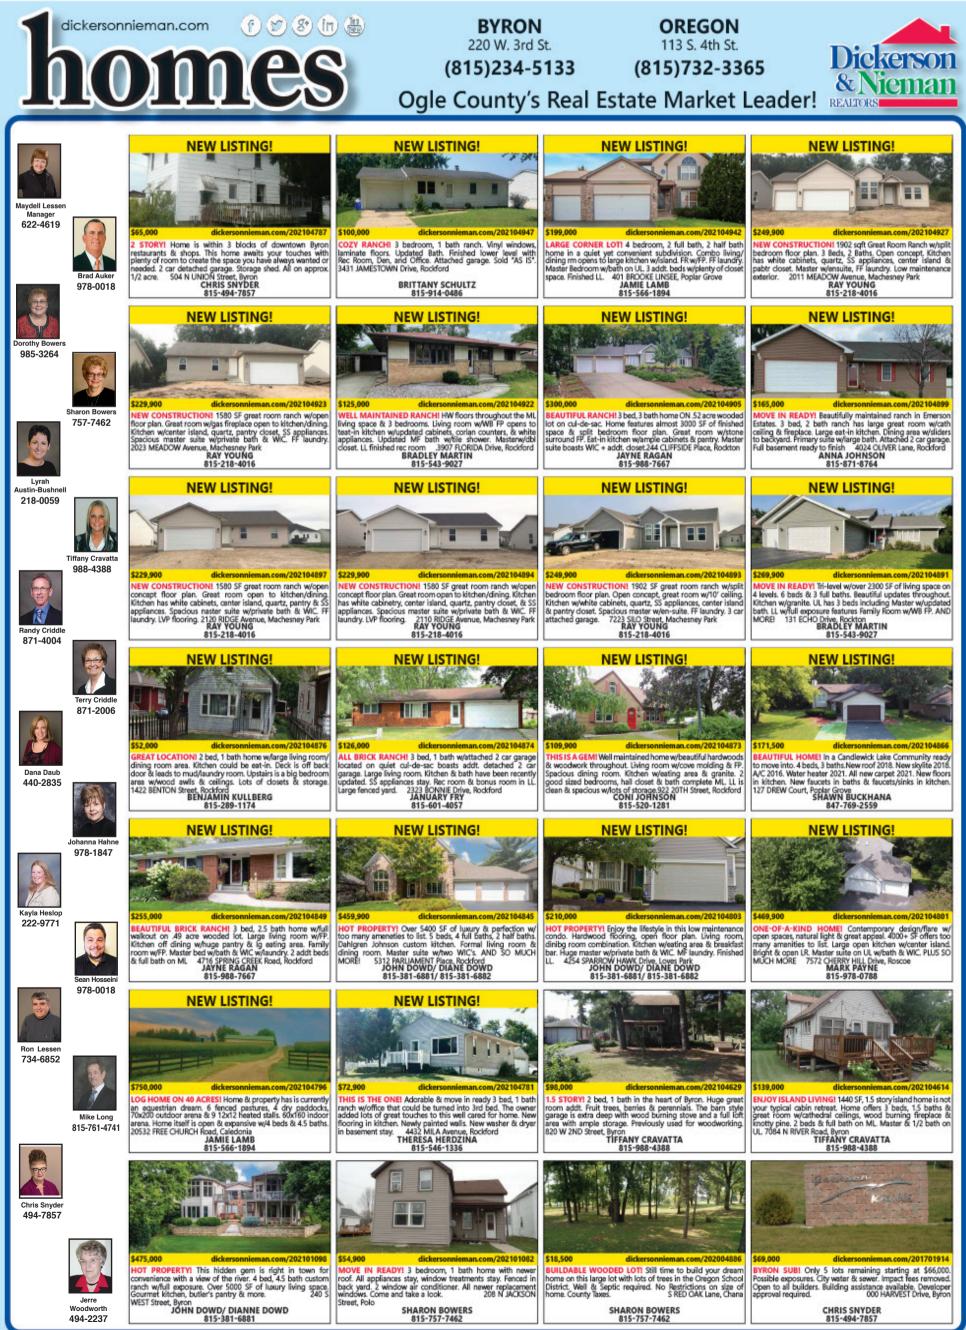

Bring your special someone to class, or it's perfect for Mother's and daughters to learn the pie tricks of the trade together. Friends will also enjoy this night out, but only 1 pie will be made per couple. Lynn will teach participants how to make the perfect flaky, buttery homemade pie crust filled with fresh apples and topped with a crunchy cinnamon topping or a 2-crust pie. Bake the pie at home after the workshop or freeze for the upcoming holidays!

The Whistle Stop Canteen – Saturday, Aug.28 at 1 p.m

After Pearl Harbor was attacked, American troops started traveling across the U.S. for recruitment, induction, training, and deployment. Most servicemen had never been far away from home and certainly not on an over-crowded troop train, destination unknown. You may have heard of the Stage Door Canteen or Hollywood Canteen, where celebrities offered food, dancing, and entertainment to our servicemen. But the real surprise came at train stations all across the country, such as North Platte, NE, Dennison, OH, Reno, NV, and Connellsville, PA, where local women, children, and senior citizens sacrificed their own food and ration stamps to provide a morale boost to hungry, homesick, and frightened soldiers. Come learn about how the Greatest Generation pulled together to help our troops. Author Barb Warner Deane will have copies of all four of her books for purchase and signing. Registration required (815) 732-2724

Senior Lifestyles

Enjoy senior discounts

Despite the efforts of Juan Ponce de Leon, there is no magical Fountain of Youth. Getting older is inevitable and it is important to see the silver lining of aging.

Among the various perks that come with age, including increased knowledge and experience, are a whole host of discounts for the aging population. Men and women who have reached a certain age are entitled to key discounts if they know where to look.

The ages at which discounts are available vary. Auto insurance companies may provide a senior discount to drivers who are over 50. Certain restaurants offer these discounts for those over the age of 55. Retailers may begin offering discounts to customers who are over the age of 60. Many discounts can be used for recreational activities.

• Dining out: Why pay full price for a meal if you don't have to? A meal out with friends and loved ones becomes a bit more affordable thanks to the senior discounts available through many different restaurants, whether it's chains or independently owned eateries.

• Hotels: Seniors booking their stays through select hotel chains may be eligible to reduce their costs by 10 percent or more. When making the reservation, check to see if you qualify for an age-related discount. Some may be affiliated with memberships in organizations like AARP.

• Theme parks: Before buying entry tickets or season passes, check with the membership office regarding senior discounts. Certain items also may be discounted throughout the parks.

• Movies: Movie theaters may offer special viewing days or times that are discounted.

• Flights/cruises: Discounted senior fares are available on select flights for Delta Airlines and American Airlines. British Airways offers up to $200 off flights and packages when booked online through British Airways' AARP page. Seniors can enjoy discounts on select cruises through Carnival. Rental car companies also offer discounts for senior customers.

• Clothing: Looking your best for a night out may mean shopping for new clothing. Kohl's offers a 15 percent discount for customers ages 55 and over every Wednesday and Ross offers 10 percent off on Tuesdays when signing up for the Every Tuesday Club.

• Gym memberships: Individuals who are eligible for Medicare also may be entitled to a free SilverSneakers membership, which provides access to more than 13,000 participating fitness centers

• Park admission: Seniors age 62 and older can purchase a Senior Pass for $10 that's good for more than 2,000 federal recreational sites and national parks in the United States. The pass is good for a lifetime.

Recreational activities become a little more affordable when seniors take advantage of age-related discounts.

Simple ways that you can maintain memory as you age

Adults confront various age-related side effects as they transition from middle age to their golden years. Skin may begin to wrinkle and hair may turn gray, but those are just the visible side effects of aging. Many additional effects are unseen, but those changes can have a profound effect on adults' quality of life.

According to the Mayo Clinic, various parts of the body are affected by aging. For example, the cardiovascular system changes as people grow older. Blood vessels and arteries stiffen as adults age, forcing the heart to work harder to pump blood through them.

Though many changes are linked to aging, other changes commonly associated with aging, such as a decline in memory, reasoning and other thinking skills, are not natural. The Alzheimer's Association® notes that dementia is not a normal part of aging. There are many different types of dementia, including Alzheimer's disease, and these are the result of damage to brain cells that affect a person's ability to communicate. That damage is not inevitable, even if it's commonly associated with aging.

The Harvard Medical

School notes that fleeting memory problems experienced with aging often reflect normal changes in the structure and function of the brain. But it's important that those changes not be mistaken for dementia, and it's equally important that adults recognize there are many ways they can protect and sharpen their minds as they age.

age. The reasons for that are unknown, but experts theorize that advanced education compels people to remain mentally active, which in turn helps them maintain a strong memory. Even aging men and women who are still working in challenging fields can benefit from pursuing a new hobby or learning a new skill.

• Use the tools at your disposal. It may seem counterintuitive to suggest that organizational tools like planners, maps and lists can help people maintain their memories. However, HMS notes that expending mental energy on finding car keys or trying to remember what to buy at the store makes it harder to learn new and important things.

• Let all your senses play a role. HMS reports that the more senses a person uses to learn something, the more his or her brain is involved in retaining a memory. HMS cites one study in which adults were shown a series of emotionally neutral images that were each presented along with a smell. Participants were not asked to recall what they saw, but were later shown a set of images and asked to indicate which they had previously seen. Participants had excellent recall for the odor-paired images, and researchers believe that's because additional parts of the brain were activated when peoplewere asked to use more than one sense.

Memory loss is not an inevitable side effect of aging, especially for adults who take steps to maintain their memories as they age.

Health screenings men should get

Routine doctor visits are a vital component of a healthy lifestyle. As noted by the U.S. National Library of Medicine, even men who feel healthy and live active lifestyles must make routine visits to their healthcare providers. Such visits can assess risk for future medical problems and offer men the opportunity to update vaccinations. Routine health checkups also give doctors a chance to screen for medical issues.

Doctors consider a man's age and other risk factors to determine when and how frequently he will need certain medical screenings. For example, while men between the ages of 40 and 64 are often advised to get blood pressure screenings at least once per year, those with diabetes, heart disease, kidney problems, and other conditions may need more frequent screenings.

No two men have the same medical histories, which only highlights the need for men of all ages to schedule annual physical exams with their physicians. Such exams can reveal potential problems and also make for great opportunities to discuss more specific medical screenings with their physicians. The following are some general screening tests and guidelines recommended for all men between the ages of 40 and 64, courtesy of the USNLM.

Prostate cancer

The USNLM notes that most men age 50 or older should discuss screening for prostate cancer with their physicians. Ethnicity and family history are some of the recognized risk factors for prostate cancer. As a result, African American men and men with a family history of prostate cancer in a first degree relative younger than 65 should discuss screenings beginning at age 45. There are pros and cons to prostate cancer screenings, and these should be part of men's discussions with their physicians.

Colorectal cancer

All men between the ages of 50 and 75 should be screened for colorectal cancer. Physicians may recommend colorectal screening for men under age 50 with a family history of colon cancer or polyps. In addition, physicians may consider screenings for men under 50 who have a history of inflammatory bowel disease.

Cholesterol

The USNLM advises men to have their cholesterol levels checked every five years. Men with certain conditions, such as diabetes and heart disease, may need to be checked more often.

Diabetes

Diabetes screenings are recommended every three years for men age 45 and older. Men who are overweight and younger than 45 should ask their physicians if they should be screened before they reach 45.

Osteoporosis Women are more likely to develop osteoporosis than men, but that doesn't mean men are immune to this condition marked by a weakening of the bones due to tissue loss. Fractures after age 50, heavy alcohol use, smoking, and low body weight are some risk factors that can make men vulnerable to osteoporosis.

Health screenings can catch diseases and other conditions in their early stages when they're most treatable. Such screenings should be a vital part of men's health routines.

Senior Lifestyles

There are many effective exercises for seniors

Losing interest in an exercise regimen is a situation many fitness enthusiasts have confronted at one point or another. Overcoming a stale workout routine can be simple for young athletes, whose bodies can typically handle a wide range of physical activities. That flexibility allows younger athletes the chance to pursue any number of physical activities when their existing fitness regimens grow stale. But what about seniors who have grown tired of their workouts?

Even seniors who have lived active lifestyles since they were youngsters are likely to encounter certain physical limitations associated with aging. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the likelihood of dealing with one or more physical limitations increases with age. CDC data indicates that 8 percent of adults between the ages of 50 and 59 have three or more physical limitations. That figure rises to 27 percent among adults age 80 and over.

Physical limitations may be a part of aging for many people, but such obstacles need not limit seniors looking to banish boredom from their workout routines. In fact, many seniors can successfully engage in a variety of exercises that benefit their bodies and are unlikely to grow stale.

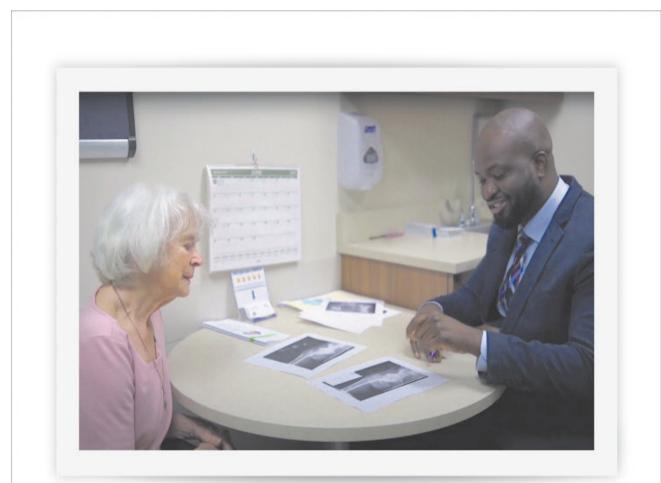

•Water aerobics: Sometimes referred to as "aqua aerobics," water aerobics may involve jogging in the water, leg lifts, arm curls, and other activities that can safely be performed in a pool. The YMCA notes that water aerobics exercises are low impact, which can make them ideal for seniors with bone and joint issues like arthritis.

• Resistance band workouts: Resistance band workouts can be especially useful for seniors who spend a lot of time at home. Resistance bands are inexpensive and don't take up a lot of space, making them ideal for people who like to exercise at home but don't have much space. Resistance bands can be used to strengthen muscles in various parts of the body, including the legs, arms and back. Resistance bands can be pulled or pushed in any direction, which allows for more versatility in a workout than weight machines and dumbbells. That versatility allows seniors to spice up their workout regimens when things get a little stale.

• Pilates: Pilates is another low-impact exercise that can be ideal for seniors with bone and joint issues. According to SilverSneakers®, a community fitness program for seniors that promotes living through physical and social engagement, Pilates can help seniors build overall strength, stability and coordination. SilverSneakers® even notes that seniors can experience improvements in strength and stability by committing to as little as 10 to 15 minutes of daily Pilates exercises.

• Strength training: Seniors on the lookout for something more challenging than a daily walk around the neighborhood should not overlook the benefits of strength training. The CDC notes that seniors who participate in strength training can stimulate the growth of muscle and bone, thereby reducing their risk for osteoporosis and frailty. In fact, the CDC notes that people with health concerns like arthritis or heart disease often benefit the most from exercise regimens that include lifting weights a few times each week.

Physical limitations are a part of aging. But seniors need not let such limitations relegate them to repetitive, boring workouts.
