Decommission plans submitted

Byron nuclear plant currently set to close in September

BYRON — Exelon Generation, owner and operator of the Byron and Dresden nuclear energy facilities, filed Post Shutdown Decommissioning Activity Reports (PSDARs) on July 28 with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, detailing long-term site restoration plans for both stations after they shut down this fall.

The filings are among the final steps in retiring the plants, which face revenue shortfalls in the hundreds of millions of dollars due to low energy prices and market policies that give fossil fuel plants an unfair competitive advantage. Absent a legislative solution, these same market inequities will force the company to close its Braidwood and LaSalle nuclear facilities sometime in the next few

RCH partners with park district

'What the REC is all about aligns with our wellness approach'

BY JEFF HELFRICH MANAGING EDITOR

ROCHELLE — The board of trustees at Rochelle Community Hospital announced a new partnership with the Flagg-Rochelle Community Park District in support of the new REC Center this week.

RCH committed $400,000 to a 20-year marketing sponsorship at The REC, which will be paid out to the park district over a period of seven years. The hospital will be the sole and exclusive healthcare provider advertising at The REC.

"RCH always strives to improve the health of our community and this partnership with the REC Center will support healthier lives throughout Rochelle," a press release RCHCEO Gregg Olson said after the development of The REC, the hospital thought it made sense to partner with the facility and park district.

"We obviously take care

"We're talking to them about certain programs at that location," Olson said. "It's a possibility. There's rules we have to abide by with hospital licensure and billing. It gets complicated. For example, aquatic therapy, that might be an opportunity to pursue. I think everything is on the table." Olson said the marketing sponsorship will yield an awareness campaign for the hospital and its services. He's excited about the opportunity and said "a lot of" other companies have opted to advertise at The REC.

Any time you can get your name out there in front of an audience, it's a good thing to do," Olson said. "And educating people on different services we offer here. A lot of times people don't know all that we do. It's making folks aware."

Syngenta Seeds breaks ground on new facility

Construction on research and development center to be completed next fall

ROCHELLE — Syngenta Seeds broke ground on a research and development innovation center earlier this summer on Illinois

38 between Creston and Malta, a press release said. Farmers and local officials participated in the ceremony and formally kicked off construction of the facility that will be 88-acres and nearly 100,000 square feet. The project was announced in August 2020 and will serve as the home base for Syngenta Seeds' U.S. research and development.

"Located in the heart of the U.S. Corn Belt, the center will strengthen Syngenta's connections and collaborations with farmers," a Syngenta press release said. "The DeKalb County location, about one hour west of Syngenta's global and North America Seeds headquarters in Downers Grove, will also facilitate collaborations with the broader agriculture industry."

According to Syngenta's site, its ambition is to help safely feed the world and take care of the planet and improve the sustainability, quality and safety of agriculture. It employs 28,000 people in more than 90 countries.

The facility will "supplement" the work of Syngenta's over 5,000 R&D employees. Construction is expected to be completed by fall 2022 and open by the end of 2022.

Syngenta said the site was selected for its location, soil type and accessibility, and will provide facilities for large-scale events and engagement with growers on corn and soybean technology and innovation.

"This new site will enable us to accelerate our innovation in Seeds R&D while strengthening our focus on delivering new capabilities through investments in breeding and digital technologies,' Trevor Hohls, Syngenta global head of seeds development, said in a press release. "This is a strong statement of our commitment to innovation and providing our scientists with the resources to bring the best products and technologies to solve the key problems that growers face." The facility will also spotlight how Syngenta

is transforming product development through onfarm collaboration with growers, a press release "I'm really excited about this strategic investment and how it will bring us even closer to the center of the US seeds market, as well as providing access to world-leading agriculture and digital talent in the Midwest," Justin Wolfe, Syngenta regional director of seeds North America, said in a press release. "We're committed to US farmers, and this site will allow us to collaborate even more with our cus-

Syngenta also has a global innovation center in Research Triangle Park, North Carolina and the company opened a new $30 million Trait Conversion Accelerator in Nampa, Idaho in recent years.

CHILDREN WILL BE CHILDREN

When families gather after a death, one characteristic seems to hold true: however somber the adults may be, young children, after a while, cannot resist the urge to scamper around, play and, in general, act like children.

Sometimes

That's because they are children, and their reactions to grief don't match those of adults. That doesn't mean children don't feel grief or know that something sad or final or tragic has occurred. Children are highly attuned to the emotions of the people around them, but they grieve in their own way, and its important that adults recognize a child's need for honesty, love, and reassurance when death occurs.

with preoccupation prevents them from seeing that a child;s reaction to death is just as deep as theirs – even though it may be expressed differently, depending on the child's age and stage of emotional development.

PLANT: Byron facility scheduled to close in September

In June, The Illinois Senate failed to come up with a Clean Energy Bill, with environmentalists and labor leaders far apart on the negotiations.

With just weeks to go before the first of the plants permanently closes, policymakers continue working on legislation that would preserve all four of the plants as part of a comprehensive plan to maintain and grow clean-energy jobs, keep energy bills affordable and achieve net-zero emissions by 2050.

Exelon Generation announced on Aug. 27, 2020 that it intends to retire its Byron Generating Station and Dresden Generating Station in fall 2021.

Byron will close in Sept.

2021. That would mean not only the loss of about 700 jobs, but it will also mean the loss of millions of dollars in taxes locally.

Paul Dempsey, communications manager of the Byron station, said that the station's 2017 tax bill was more than $38 million. The taxes went to a variety of taxing bodies, including the Byron School District, Ogle County and the Byron Museum and Library District

Gov. JB Pritzker has called for legislation that includes nearly $700 million in subsidies over five years for the nuclear plants.

With the PSDARs complete, Exelon Generation is now preparing to issue job reduction notifications to employees impacted by the plant shutdowns. Staffing at the plants will fall from nearly 1,500 employees when the plant retirements were announced last August, to just 30-40 employees over the next 10 years.

With just weeks to go

With just weeks to go before the first of the plants permanently closes, policymakers continue working on legislation that would preserve all four of the plants as part of a comprehensive plan to maintain and grow clean-energy jobs, keep energy bills affordable and achieve net-zero emissions by 2050.

The Chicago-area plants support 28,000 direct and indirect jobs and contribute $3.5 billion annually to Illinois' economy.

Closing the two plants will have the immediate environmental impact equivalent to putting 4.4 million additional cars on the road, emitting carbon and other harmful sources of air pollution.

"With no signs of a breakthrough on clean energy legislation in Spring"With no signs of a breakthrough on clean energy legislation in Springfield, we have no choice but to take these final steps in preparation for shutting down the plants."

Exelon Generation Chief Nuclear Officer Dave Rhoades

field, we have no choice but to take these final steps in preparation for shutting down the plants," Exelon Generation Chief Nuclear Officer Dave Rhoades said. "We will never stop fighting for policies to preserve Illinois'nuclearfleet, knowing that the minute these plants close our customers will experience dirtier air and higher energy costs. But with time running out, we must plan for the future and do everything we can to prepare our employees and the communities they serve for what lies ahead.'

As part of the decommissioning process, Exelon

Generation has up to 60 years to restore Byron and Dresden, which includes transporting the stations' used fuel to long-term storage, decontaminating and removing plant components and razing the remaining buildings.

PJM, the regional grid operator, has confirmed that both plants can retire without putting overall grid reliability at risk. However, the massive loss of in-state clean generation means Illinois will have to rely more on fossil energy located in environmental justice communities and in surrounding states to meet the needs of Illinois homes and businesses. Increased production from fossil plants will increase carbon and other harmful emissions and force Illinois consumers to support jobs in other states through their energy bills.

The PSDAR filing with the NRC is one of the few remaining regulatory milestones required before closing the plants. Byron is scheduled to shut down in September and Dresden in November.

Ready for the dog days of summer to end am ready for the dog days of summer to be over.

These are the hot, sultry days between July 3 and Aug. 11, according to several internet sources. And internet information is always correct, right?

These past few weeks have been a real strain. Heat and humidity, but not a lot of rain. Hopefully next week will be a bit better.

One thing to love about this time of year is sweet corn! Glad to see Seebach's and Rainwater's corn available again. There is another stand on Illinois Route 64 and Illinois Route 251 that is rumored to have excellent corn also.

Sweet corn is sort of bitter sweet. The appearance of this golden treat comes toward the end of July, meaning August and school, then September and fall.

Sadly, COVID-19 cases seem to be spiking, mainly in areas with many unvaccinated people. Now we have a candidate for governor saying people should not get vaccinated. I tend to go with the scientists and doctors in making lifealtering decisions, which is why I have been vaccinated, as has my family.

There was a cleanup at Page Park recently. Several youngsters from Focus House pulled weeds and picked up trash in the little downtown park. I am looking forward to all the construction being completed and the park a quiet refuge once again. Last weekend there was an event called Reconnecting in Rochelle at VFW

Park. About 100 people came to the event, which was a way for newer residents to meet other residents and become more familiar with their town. Police and fire personnel were there to talk to people, and the mayor said a few words.

Terry

Dickow

The group plans a fall get together and they hope for even more people to come together and get to know each other.

Country roads

I don't like driving on country roads at this time of year. Too many intersections become blind corners because of corn. I tend to slow down when I reach these corners, which probably frustrates anyone behind me. I'm sorry, but I just don't trust my fellow motorists.

Shop local

By the time you read this, the shop local utility rebate program will have changed a little. From now until the end of the year a household will be limited to three credits. Up until Aug. 1 it had been unlimited.

I think it is a great program that has helped local businesses and local utility customers, a win for everyone.

RIP Chicago Cubs.

Romantic relationships between reporters and sources read an obituary in the New York Times last week that dealt with an issue newspapers and other media outlets haven't yet fully come to terms with: romantic relationships between reporters and

The Times had this to say: "Laura Foreman, a reporter for The Philadelphia Inquirer in the 1970s, was surely not the first journalist to become romanticallyinvolved with a source. But she was among the first to have that romance, with a powerful politician, blow up into a public scandal."

By the time the affair was disclosed — and The Inquirer learned that the politician had given her more than $20,000 worth of gifts, including jewelry, furniture and a fur coat and helped her buy a 1964 Morgan sports car — she was working in the Washington bureau of The New York Times.

The Times fired her – for her conduct at her previous employer.

And her journalism career came to an end at the ripe age of 34.

Longtime Times editor Abe Rosenthal said of the matter he didn't care if his reporters were having sex with elephants — as long as they weren't covering the circus.

seen this scenario play out a lot of different ways. Ok, not the elephant sex – but reporters dating sources. I don't have an easy answer.

In my 33 years in journalism, I've

But I can tell you it's a subject that makes a lot of people in the business uncomfortable. "You really can't tell somebody they can't have a relationship - everyone has a right to a private life," Gary Sawyer, an assistant professor of journalism at Iowa State University said. His view was echoed by Jill Geisler, an expert in newsroom management at Loyola University in Chicago. "When this comes up, you have to move the reporter off of their beat," she said. "What you hope is that you have a transparent enough organization that the reporter will willingly come forward and have a clear-eyed perception of what this could mean for the news organization." Shortly after I left the Las Vegas

Sun in 1999, one of the best reporters I've ever worked with was fired after the editor received an anonymous letter claiming she was romantically involved with a source. (I don't believe the assertion, but the editor fired her claiming even an appearance of impropriety needed to be dealt with.)

Scott Reeder I can't help but wonder if a male reporter — or a senior member of management would be held to that nebulous standard.

On the other hand, many years ago when I was a reporter in Iowa the person covering courts pursued, dated, married -- and divorced - a prosecutor. And she covered his trials through each step of the relationship.

If I were a defendant on trial, I doubt that I'd be reassured that the watchdog was sleeping with the opposition.

"I think it's fair to tell a reporter who is dating a member of the county board that she won't be covering county board meetings," said Charles Wheeler III, an emeritus journalism professor at the University of Illinois-Springfield.

But longtime journalist and state government observer Mike Lawrence added with smaller news staffs it is more difficult today for reporters to recuse themselves from areas where they may have a potential conflict of interest.

Beginning in 1993, Springfield Associated Press Bureau Chief Terry Mutchler had a five-year same-sex romantic relationship with state Sen. Penny Severns, a rising star within the Democratic Party. Within six weeks of meeting, they were living

"What I did was unethical because it was a conflict of interest and it violated the trust readers place in those who report the news," she said. "In a perfect world, I should have disclosed the relationship to my superiors - but I couldn't," Mutchler said during a telephone interview on

She said part of the risk of being open about the conflict of interest with her superiors at the AP was that she would have been "outing" Severns and she feared her organization's leadership may have felt compelled to report it as news.

"In Central Illinois, during that era, it would have really hurt her politically. And it certainly would have hurt my journalism career as well," she said

After Severns died of breast cancer, Mutchler was referred to as a "family member" in news stories about the senator's death. The news stories were written by fellow statehouse reporter, which would indicate the romance was not as stealth as Mutchler and Severns thought.

That, of course, begs the question: Why was the relationship alluded to in news stories postmortem but not before? After all, if it was newsworthy after someone died wasn't it even more relevant when both parties were alive and the conflict of interest was immediate?

Mutchler said at times she pulled some punches when covering her "Sometimes I would write something that would really irritate Penny. Other times, I would try to cast her in a better light," she said. For example, when other journalists reported that Severns was "convalescing," Mutchler reported that she was "alert and answering questions." Lawrence said disclosure is the key. He said it's important for readers or viewers to be aware of potential conflicts. And for this reason, news organizations must strive for transparency. Wheeler added, "At the end of the day, an editor has to look at a journalist's work and see if they are being fair. Because people have work lives and private lives and some individuals are able to successfully separate the two."

RMU begins cross connection survey

ROCHELLE-The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) requires that all water systems in the State of Illinois have an effective cross connection control program.

Cross connections within the public water supply are a serious concern, as they can allow contaminants or pollutants to enter the public water system through what is called "backflow." Backflow occurs when a drop in water pressure causes your water to flow in the opposite direction.

This can allow contaminated or polluted water to flow back into your drinking water. Given IEPA regulations and the dangers that exist from unprotected cross connections, it is necessary to establish and maintain an effective cross connection control program to protect both the integrity of the City of Rochelle's water supply as well as protect the water customers.

One necessary component in this program is a survey of the water system to determine where cross connections exist. A survey is being included with all of the Rochelle Municipal Utilities December utility bills. RMU is requesting customers complete and submit the survey to Auman: 'We're trending in the wrong direction'

Schools without masks could be 'a perfect storm for a bad situation.'

BY JEFF HELFRICH MANAGING EDITOR

ROCHELLE—Ogle

County had eight new COVID-19 cases on Tuesday, July 27, the most it's seen in a single day over the last "several months," Ogle County Health Department Public Administrator Kyle Auman said.

The county was recently placed in the category of substantial community transmission by the CDC. More than half of the state is in substantial or high transmission. Ogle County saw a small increase in COVID-19 activity last week and Auman said another increase was seen this week.

"We're trending in the wrong direction,"Auman said. "Locally and in the state. The CDC suggests masks for all individuals when out in public when you're in that substantial transmission category. It's a little concerning. Especially with as well as we were doing. We're trying to communicate that all preventative measures should be taken to curb this."

The county sent out a press release Thursday "strongly recom-little concerning."

mending" everyone, regardless of vaccination status, wear a mask while indoors of areas of substantial or high COVID-19 transmission and recommended public places and employers require universal indoor masking.

The recommendation was based on increasing cases of 51 per 100,000, and an increasing positivity rate of 4.26 percent and declining ICU availability in the region.

"The pandemic is not over and we must continue to be vigilant in our individual behaviors and our collective behaviors as a community," the press release said.

Ogle County residents as a whole are just over 40 percent fully-vaccinated. Auman said other than vaccinations, the county has to use all the mitigations at its disposal to curb spread. That includes masking, which he called a "challenging and contentious" issue.

The OCHD is "certainly concerned" about the Delta variant locally, Auman said. He said while it may not be prevalent in the county, things "aren't looking good" in other states with the variant that is said to spread quicker.

"Demographics are changing to a younger population being hospitalized," Auman said. "It's unvaccinated people. The strength of that variant is causing hospitalizations. There's also been a lot of hospital activity locally recently."

Auman said the vaccination percentage in Ogle County is changing "ever so slowly." Appointments are still being offered three days a week at the OCHD and people can get vaccinated at Rochelle Community Hospital, KSB Hospital in Dixon, at Walmart and at pharmacies.

The OCHD is doing about 10-20 vaccinations three days a week, Auman said. The health department is still endeavoring to get vaccination messaging out.

"We're not seeing a large turnout currently," Auman said. "We need this to slow things down."

Auman believes there are still Ogle County residents on the fence about getting the COVID-19 vaccine. For the most part, he believes everyone who wants the vaccine has already received it.

Ogle County does have one of the highest youth vaccine rates in the state and is in the top 20 of all Illinois counties.

"We're making plans to go back into schools and do more vaccine clinics," Auman said. "That will help with the upcoming school year. We're waiting for vaccines to be approved for ages 6 and up and we hope that happens sometime this winter."

The OCHD is working with county schools to understand CDC and Illinois Department of Public Health COVID-19 guidance and providing its own. He said the three are "very closely aligned" and are recommending the same measures like masking, social distancing and staying home if sick.

Auman expressed concern about schools like Rochelle opting for optional or recommended masking for the upcoming school year.

"We understand that view, but schools doing that aren't necessarily following guidance," Auman said. "I think we'll see large rates of transmission if those things aren't followed. If masks are optional, there could be repercussions. High numbers of cases, potential hospitalizations and severe illness."

The uptick in county cases has Auman concerned with a return to school looming. He said the uptick was "earlier than expected."

OGLE COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Prevent • Promote • Protect

Schools were the number one source of transmission of COVID-19 locally and statewide last vear, Auman said.

"And that was with mitigations in place and not all of the kids in school," Auman said. "If we put them all back in without mitigations, it's a perfect storm for a bad situation."

School district superintendents have the "ultimate authority" when it comes to masking and mitigations in schools, Auman said. The OCHD can only make recommendations. If there were to be an outbreak, the OCHD would step in and work with the schools.

As far as a maskless return to school this fall, Auman said "we'll see what happens."

"I think they're in a tough spot," Auman said. "I don't know if I'd say they're flat out going against guidance, but they're trying to balance the thoughts of parents, kids and guidance. We only have one chance to get this right."

Auman said for the county as a whole, he doesn't want to see masks required in public again by the governor's office. That isn't the direction he wants the county and state trending in. But, he said it could be a possibility. It depends on how residents react to recent COVID-19 upticks and developments.

He has some concern about whether another mask mandate would be adhered to by the public.

"I think everyone is kind of burnt out by COVID-19, our health department included," Auman said. "We're worked around the clock for the last 18 months. We understand people are frustrated.

"Unfortunately, those people that don't want to do anything to prevent the spread will be the ones that drive the outcome of the pandemic."

ROCHELLE — Strength and conditioning has been a staple of the Rochelle Township High School football program for many years. On Tuesday, Hub fans, parents and members of the Rochelle community had a chance to watch RTHS student-athletes compete in a variety of weightlifting and performance tests in an outdoor setting while raising money for the Hub football program.

Freshmen through seniors racked up the weights on Tuesday, completing multiple lifts including the bench press, power clean and back squat. Student-athletes also ran the 40-yard dash and had their vertical leaps measured. Those in attendance had the chance to sponsor a student-athlete with a $1 donation per pound or a flat donation. Any of those in attendance who donated $25 or more were entered into a raffle drawing for numerous RTHS football prizes.

"A lot of our football families were able to come out and see our kids compete," Kissack said. "It was a great environment and we were thankful to have the opportunity to do that. Our strength and conditioning program has always been important and we've always maintained a high level of performance. A lot of that responsibility fell on the kids over the past school year, so I think this summer was important for getting our kids back in the weight room, especially those who were struggling, and our kids showed up ready to work and did a great job."

The Hubs are less than one month away from kicking off the 2021 football season at Woodstock on Friday, Aug. 27. Rochelle will look to build on its 2-4 record from the shortened 2020 spring season earlier this year. The Hubs are also seeking their first postseason bid since 2018.

"We've seen maximum effort from our kids all summer," Kissack said. "This summer was important for us and I'm happy with how our kids performed... We have such a supportive community for high school athletes. Our football families in this town have always supported Rochelle football and that's not only the parents who have kids in our program, but our alumni, our neighbors and other parents who don't have kids who are involved. We've always had wonderful support and we're thankful for that. Our kids are recipients of that support."

Postseason run concludes at Illinois Little League competition in Moline

MOLINE — The Rochelle Little League 11U Baseball All-Stars bowed out of the Illinois Little League State Championship tournament this past weekend, finishing 1-2 over three games.

Rochelle won over Bradley-Bourbonnais by forfeit before falling 4-0 against Western Springs in the second round. Rochelle battled Paris in the consolation bracket on Monday, losing 12-0.

Holden Liebhaber threw a complete game for Rochelle against Western Springs, striking out two batters and allowing only five hits. Brayden Harley doubled and Bo Lundquist singled for the team's lone two hits in the loss. Western Springs took a 1-0 lead after the first inning before adding one run in the fifth inning and two runs in the top of the sixth inning.

Paris exploded for eight runs in the first inning before compiling three runs in the second inning and one run in the third inning to eliminate Rochelle on Monday. Lundquist and Luke Chadwick each recorded singles for the Rochelle offense, while Elijah Schweitzer, Jace Spears and Liebhaber each drew walks. Schweitzer struck out three batters in three innings on the mound for Rochelle.

HOLLYWOOD — James Franco's reputation for working tirelessly on many projects was well-known. But that all halted in 2017, when two female students, in an acting class he taught, accused him of coercing them to perform explicit sex scenes on camera. A court awarded them and class-action members who filed against Franco $2,235,000. The two actresses divided $1,341,000, and a fund was started for the other class-action members.

While Franco paid, he hasn't formally admitted that anything inappropriate happened. "The Long Home," produced, directed and starring Franco, with Josh Hutcherson, Timothy Hutton, Courtney Love, Ashton Kutcher and Josh Harnett, has sat in limbo since 2017, presumably waiting for this verdict. Now Great Point Media, which owns the rights to the film, is desperately looking for a distributor.

Matt Damon has been quietly stacking films for release to theaters. The first, the crime-drama "Stillwater," with Abigail Breslin, arrives July 30; "The Last Duel," produced and directed by Ridley Scott, and written by Damon with Ben Affleck and Nicole Holofcener, stars Damon and Jodie Comer and is set for Oct. 25. He's currently working with Chris Hemsworth, Natalie Portman, Christian Bale and Chris Pratt in "Thor: Love and Thunder." Damon also is executive producer of "Green Beret's Guide to Surviving the Apocalypse," which he's wanted to do since volunteering in Haiti in 2009.

Now that patrons are returning to theaters, they'll be watching three top actresses from yesterday, today and tomorrow: Two-time Oscar winner Jane Fonda (for "Klute," 1971, and "Coming Home," 1978), at 83, is not slowing down. She's working with Lily Tomlin on the long-delayed seventh season of "Grace and Frankie" (shut down by the pandemic in January) and lending her voice with Whoopi Goldberg for the Apple TV 3D com-

Two-time Oscar winner

Two-time Oscar winner Cate Blanchett ("The Aviator," 2004, and "Blue Jasmine," 2014) is awaiting the release of director Guillermo del Toro's "Nightmare Alley," co-starring Bradley Cooper and Willem Dafoe, due Dec. 3, and the Netflix black-comedy "Don't Look Up," with Jennifer Lawrence, Leonardo DiCaprio, Meryl Streep and Timothee Chalamet. She's just wrapped the sci-fi comedy "Borderlands," with Kevin Hart, Jamie Lee Curtis and Jack Black, for Lionsgate.

And rising fast is Karen Gillan, who was Amy Pond in the "Doctor Who" series (2008 and 2010-2013). Fans know the 33-year-old native of Inverness, Scotland, as "Nebula" in "The Guardians of the Universe" franchise, "Jumanji: Welcome to the Jungle" (and its sequel), with Dwayne Johnson, Kevin Hart, Jack Black and Nick Jonas, and she gets top billing in the Judd Apatow Netflix comedy "The Bubble," above David Duchovny, Leslie Mann and Fred Armisen. CELEBRITY EXTR O:I've always been fascinated with the "Lost

tumn Reeser, Marc Blucas, @ (DVS)

City of Atlantis." Wasn't there a TV show back in the 1960s about it? My daughter thinks I'm remembering the show for kids with the frog people and dinosaurs, but I've assured her that's not it! -- H.B. A: This question is bringing back such greatchildhood memories. The Sleestaks were big-eyed humanoids featured in

"Land of the Lost," a Saturday morning children's show produced by Sid and Marty Krofft. It debuted in 1974 and starred Wesley Eure, Kathy Coleman

(the blond girl with Cindy Brady pigtails) and Spencer Milligan. Tell your daughter that the show you fondly remember is "Man From Atlantis." It ran from 1977-78 and starred Patrick Duffy (who later played Bobby Ewing on "Dallas") as the shirtless sole survivor of that legendary lost island.

You might be interested in a new documentary that just premiered on the Discovery Channel. "Hunting Atlantis," with expert Stel Pavlou and volcanologist Jess Phoenix, takes you on a journey across the world testing the theory that the Lost City of Atlantis is not as ancient as once believed. Their fascinating exploits take them to the Black Sea, a mysterious Greek island and unexplored archeological sites along Croatia.

Q: When will the new season of "The Witcher" be on Netflix? I'm assuming there's going to be a second season since it was so darn good. -- T.A.

A: You're in luck -- the sophomore season of "The Witcher," starring Henry Cavill and his long blond tresses, will premiere Dec. 21. Just as in the first, the second installment will feature just eight episodes about monster hunter Geralt of Rivia (Cavill). sorceress Yennefer (Anya Chalotra) and princess Ciri (Freya Allan). The plot will be based mostly on the third novel in The Witcher Saga titled "Blood of Elves," by author Andrzej Sapkowski. "The Witcher" isn't just limited Henry Cavill to one series. There's a popular video game series, an upcoming anime fea-virtual celebration called WitcherCon (visit WitcherCon.com). Q: Whatever happened to the much-younger woman that Jerry Seinfeld dated at the height of his sitcom fame? I forgot her name, but I believe she designed swimsuits? -- R.R.

A: In the early 1990s, 38-year-old comedian Jerry Seinfeld met 17-year-old Shoshanna Lonstein (now Shoshanna Gruss) in Central Park. They reportedly were just friends until Shoshanna turned 18 soon after. She says they eventually broke up because she was homesick and tired of being a tabloid target.

In 1998, she debuted her fashion line with a focus on dresses and later added swimwear to her collection. She's been extremely successful ever since. You can see for yourself at Shoshanna.com, which includes a list of stores that carry her womenswear. As for her personal life, Shoshanna is now 46 and has three children with her ex-spouse, Joshua Gruss. Jerry, who has been married to his wife, Jessica, since 1999, also has three children.
