Lee County Sheriff's Office announces distracted driving enforcement results

LEE COUNTY — The Lee County Sheriff's Office announced it issued 17 handsfree law violations, three speeding citations, one operating uninsured motor vehicle citations, one suspended drivers license citation and five other warnings during the April distracted driving enforcement period.

"We strongly enforce distracted driving laws for one reason — to save lives," said Sgt. Derek Ranken. "Choose to drive distracted, and you'll have a phone in one hand and a ticket in the other."

The Lee County Sheriff's Office joined forces with state and local law enforcement and highway safety partners for this enforcement effort.

Using your phone in anything other than handsfree mode in Illinois is not only dangerous, it is illegal. Break the cycle. Drop It and Drive.

The Illinois distracted driving campaign is funded with federal traffic safety funds administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Former Amboy resident brings rodeo back to Diamond G Ranch

BY ELLEN O'MALLEY
Special to the Amboy News

ROCHELLE — We may live smackdab in the center of the Midwest, but there is a glimpse of the true American West right under our noses. And it smells like the rodeo.

Diamond G Ranch, just five minutes outside Rochelle, has been here for nearly 50 years. Its history is rich in rodeos, cowboys and cowgirls, relationships and memories that never fade.

Those memories are continuing, thanks to Lane and Jenna Kreiser, who are bringing the property back to life after Lane bought the historic arena in 2017. Prior to the purchase, Lane knew it needed attention, but he also knew it would be a gem.

Lane grew up in Amboy, Jenna in Marseilles, but both grew up with the rodeo. Now their kids, 9-year-old Brailee and 8-month-old Rodee, will truly grow up on a ranch that hosts rodeos and events.

They're doing what they can to spruce things up. "I want it to look welcoming, we're trying to liven it up," Jenna said.

They recently hosted their first public event since

Covid-19 closed many venues throughout the country. The event was Jackpot Barrel Races all day and the public was more than welcome.

Admission was free, and a food vendor was on hand.

Not only are the spectators of all ages, so are the competitors. There are four divisions, Peewee is 10 and under; Youth is 18 and under; Adult is 19 and over; and Senior is 50 and older.

The event was sanctioned by the Illinois Barrel Racing Association.

But let's talk about how Diamond G and the Kreisers got to this point. The improvements and additions they've made are significant, but some undetectable, like the expense for new gutters on the entire indoor arena and building.

One thing most will notice, though, is the new announcer's box which went up this year. The two-story building at the north end of the arena was constructed by Lane and some friends. The Kreisers do much of the work themselves, with the help of friends and neighbors.

One major endeavor included shifting the entire outdoor arena to accommodate two natural gas pipelines that go through the property. That was tricky, but now there no longer are fears of interfering with the pipeline.

They plan to host more events including rodeos, bull riding, team sorting, team penning, roping and more barrel racing.

Jenna also is doing horse training, in her spare time. She trained her horse, Dallas, to sit on command in less than three months. She also has a bull that she boards in Wisconsin that is a showstopper and winner.

History

Diamond G Ranch wouldn't have happened without the vision and hard work of Milo and Dena Gitleson, who purchased the property in 1972 and turned it into rodeo central.

Illinois to enter Bridge Phase of Restore Illinois Plan on May 14

SPRINGFIELD — All of Illinois is set to enter the Bridge to Phase 5 on May 14 now that 70 percent of residents 65 and older are vaccinated and hospitalizations and deaths have remained stable.

The Bridge Phase is the Phase in the Restore Illinois Plan where the State begins lifting mitigations and increasing outdoor and indoor capacity limits and increased business operations. During this Bridge, public health experts will continue to monitor the situation and Statewide vaccination to assess for a safe move to Phase 5 where all capacity limits will be removed and we move to our new normal. To enter Phase 5, at least 50 percent of residents 16 and older must be vaccinated and COVID-19 metrics must be stable or declining during a 28 day monitoring period. During this period local jurisdictions may impose additional restrictions if metrics begin moving in the wrong direction.

The earliest Illinois can enter Phase 5, if metrics remain stable, will be June 11th.

Some Key Points from the Bridge to Phase 5:

Wear Masks indoors when with people that you do not live with and socially distance 6 feet.

Restaurant seating areas will still require Patrons to be ≥ 6 feet apart; and parties ≤ 10, however standing areas will increase to 30 percent capacity indoor and 50 percent capacity outdoors.

Indoor social events can be up to 250 people and outdoor events can have up to 500 people.

Meetings, conferences, and conventions may operate with the lesser of 1,000 people or 60 percent of the venue capacity.

Seated Spectator Events, Offices, Health and fitness centers, retail and services, amusement parks, museums, and zoos, will all have their capacity increased to 60 percent.

As a reminder, during this transitional period it remains important to continue to Get Vaccinated, Social Distance, and Mask especially when around individuals you do not live with, to isolate if you have tested positive, and to quarantine after exposure to COVID-19. Since it can take 2-14 days to show symptoms, the last day of quarantine would be 14 days from when you were last in contact with the person with COVID-19.

White encourages bicycle safety as May marks Bicycle Safety Month

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Secretary of State Jesse White encourages children to practice safe bike riding and to remember to follow the Bicycle Rules of the Road as May marks Bicycle Safety Month. White also reminded motorists to be aware of sharing the roads with bicyclists, especially children.

“As summer approaches I encourage families to enjoy riding their bicycles safely when sharing the road with vehicles,” said White. “Although bike riding is fun, it can also be dangerous. It is important to wear helmets properly, obey traffic signs and signals, and supervise children as they ride bikes. By following the Bicycle Rules of the Road which include safety guidelines for bike riding, we hope that bicyclists have a safe and enjoyable ride this summer.”

- Head injuries are the most serious type of injury and most common cause of death for bicyclists. Bicycle helmets have been proven to reduce the risk of head and brain injury when a crash occurs by as much as 85 percent.

- In 2020, 28 cyclists were killed in Illinois, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT).

- In 2019, of the 846 cyclists killed nationwide, children under 14 years old accounted for 5 percent of bicyclist fatalities, according to the most updated information from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

- In 2019, according to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, 78 percent of bicycle deaths occurred in urban areas, and 33 percent of bicycle deaths occurred in June, July and August.

White reminds Illinoisans that his office issues the Bicycle Rules of the Road to ensure safe bike travel. To download a copy of the Bicycle Rules of the Road, visit www.cyberdriveillinois.com.

Lee County COVID-19 Update: May 7, 2021

LEE COUNTY — Between May 4-7, the Lee County Health Department has reported a total of 31 new cases have been reported. Here are the ages that were reported: 4 under the age of 12, 2 in his or her teens, 8 in his or her 20s, 5 in his or her 30s, 3 in his or her 40s, 3 in his or her 50s, 3 in his or her 60s, 2 in his or her 70s, and 1 in his or her 80s.

This brings the total number of cases to 3,874 as of May 7. They also reported as of May 7, there are 5 residents being hospitalized and 70 residents have died.

The Lee County Health Department’s website has a COVID-19 section, including information for people who have tested positive. This provides guidance as you wait to hear from one of the health department’s contact tracers.

There is sometimes a delay between residents receiving their positive results and the report getting to the health department; additionally, they are experiencing a surge in cases and likely have a good number of people already on their list to be contacted in the order received. See www.LCHD.com/Covid19 for more.

Vaccine

As of May 7, according to IDPH 22,834 does of COVID-19 vaccine have been administered in Lee County, and a total of 10,990 people in Lee County have received both does of the vaccine. This amounts to 32.11 percent of the population.

To get scheduled for the vaccine, go to www.LCHD.com and click on the COVID-19 vaccination to self-schedule.

The Lee County Health Department is hosting two Moderna walk-in vaccine clinics this week. The first was on Tuesday, May 11, from 3-6 p.m., in the Amboy Depot parking lot, with the second shot being given on June 8.

The second is on Wednesday, May 12, from 2 – 5 p.m., at the Ashton’s Lion Center on Main Street next to Central Bank. The second shot is scheduled for June 9.

Lowry named May Student of the Month

AMBOY — Margaret Lowery has been named Amboy High School Student of the Month for May. She is the daughter of Barbara and Frank Lowery.

GPA: 3.42/4.0

Memberships and Involvement: “While in high school I participated in chorus all four years along with my participation in Amboy High School Theater for the past eight years. I am a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council, and Spanish Honor Society. I volunteer at Teen Turf in Amboy helping junior high and elementary students with their homework. Along with being a preschool teacher assistant intern at both St. Anne’s Elementary School in Dixon and Kiddie Kampus Preschool in Sterling.”

Awards and Honors: “I have been on the honor roll all four years of high school. I was also awarded Outstanding Underclassman in Choir in 2019.”

Best Memories of AHS: “Some of my favorite memories at AHS are the musicals I have participated in. During high school, I was a member of the Annie, Shrek, and Phantom of the Country Opera casts. Every year the musical cast becomes part of my family. Without the family we became, my high school experience would not have been the same.”

Future Plans: “I plan on continuing my education at Sauk Valley Community College after high school graduation to complete my associates degree and then transferring to a four year university that I have not made a final decision on yet. I will be majoring in Elementary Education and my dream is to be a third or fourth grade teacher.”

This Memorial Day, 'Click It or Ticket'

LEE COUNTY — Starting now through Memorial Day weekend, the Lee County Sheriff's Office is stepping up enforcement to remind motorists to "Click It or Ticket."

"We want the act of buckling up to become automatic to all drivers and passengers," said Sgt. Derek Ranken. "'Click It or Ticket' isn't about citations — it's about saving lives. Wearing a seat belt can reduce the risk of fatal injury by 45 percent. Seat belts save lives every day, but they're only effective if they're used."

Memorial Day weekend marks the unofficial start of summer, a popular time for traveling to visit family and friends.

Whether you are traveling down the block or across the country, make sure you buckle up every time.

While Illinois currently has a 94.6 percent seat belt use compliance rate, unbelted occupants still account for more than half of those killed in motor vehicle crashes. The simple click of a seat belt could save thousands of lives each year.

The "Click It or Ticket" campaign is administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation with federal highway safety funds.

Jenna said the same participants who made the rodeo a success nearly 50 years ago, come back now with their kids and grandkids and share stories of Diamond G Ranch. Back in the day it was nicknamed the "cow palace." Gittleson's daughters, Sandy and Donna still lease and operate the store.

One thing the Gittleson's started which the Kreislers have continued is the New Year's Eve bull riding competition. It's a huge hit in the indoor arena and, despite not being advertised, was a popular event this past year and they intend to continue in all the years to come.

They are planning another barrel racing event on Saturday, May 15.

It's a new day at Diamond G Ranch and, just like always, everyone is welcome ... whether you have memories from its past, are a competitor or you're a curious member of the cheering crowd.

Western attire is, of course, optional, but beware that the rodeo and Western culture are going to want you coming back for more.

And that's why we have Diamond G Ranch.

10 Minutes 38 Seconds

According to reputable research, our brain can be active for over ten minutes after our heart stops. The award-winning British-Turkish novelist Elif Shafak wondered what the brain thought in those moments. Her beautiful novel "10 Minutes 38 Seconds in This Strange World" is the story of Tequila Leila, a high-class sex worker who was brutally murdered and pitched into a dumpster.

The first chapter "The End" begins, "Her name was Leila. Tequila Leila, as she was known to her friends and her clients. Tequila Leila as she was called at home and at work, in that rosewood-coloured house on a cobblestoned cul-de-sac down by the wharf, nestled between a church and a synagogue, among lamp shops and kebab shops – the street that harboured the oldest licensed brothels in Istanbul."

Leila's brain is a magnificent storyteller, reaching all the way back to her birth in the city of Van in eastern Turkey. Her recollections in those ten minutes are stirred by her senses, the taste of a great variety of Turkish food, the smells on the wharf, Istanbul's crowded streets, and for her birth, by salt. The baby refused to cry, so the midwife asked for salt, lots of it. "The midwife made a hole in the pile, placed the baby in it and covered her fully with the white crystals; first her body, then her head." It worked.

Leila was six when her childhood was devastated by a handsome, beloved uncle who molested her until she left her father's home ten years later. Her father, a wealthy tailor, called her "Leyla Afife Kamile, full of virtue, high in merit. But years later, after she had turned up in Istanbul, alone and broke; after she had seen the sea for the first time, amazed at how that vast expanse of blue stretched to the horizon; after she had noticed that the curls in her hair turned to frizz in the humid air; after she had awoken one morning in a strange bed next to a man she had never seen before and her chest felt so heavy she thought she could never draw breath again ... long after all that, she would be known to her five dear friends, one eternal love and many clients as Tequila Leila."

Like Leila, her five friends are outcasts who make up her water family. Her blood family rejected Leila the moment she left home, and rejected her again at her death. Her corpse is taken to a real graveyard called the "Cemetery of the Companionless" on the outskirts of Istanbul, where people who have been shunned are buried without names, only a number on a short stake. In the comical finale, Leila's water family digs her up, evades the police, and gives her the burial she is due.

THE PASTOR'S PEN

Appreciate their sacrificial service for us

PASTOR JOHN KALEBAUGH

But he who is greatest among you shall be your servant." Matthew 23:11

This verse is just one of the many instances where our Lord Jesus Christ taught contrary to the existing culture of the day by elevating humble service to the level of greatness. Jesus personally exemplified this truth better than anyone who has ever lived. He is our role model, so to speak. He lived His life in humble, selfless service to His Heavenly Father and to all of humanity. And we are taught by Him to try and live our lives in the same way He did. Isn't it a blessing to have people in our lives who model this "servants' heart" for us. People like our moms, for instance.

I know that Mother's Day is already past at the printing of this column – but isn't it a good thing to honor and celebrate our mom's (including the women who function in this role in our lives) at any time of the year besides just this one day... Or is it limited to just one day? Certainly not. But to answer the question as to, "Why should we honor and celebrate our moms?" would be restating the obvious. It is embarrassing even to ask this question. Is it just because they gave birth to us? This alone would be reason enough... but the answer is vastly deeper than this (as we all know) and would require much more space than this column allows for. I realize every woman is a unique creation of God and not all are the same – even moms. For most of us, however, our moms seem to personally exemplify this Scripture reference from Matthew's Gospel. My mom sure did... and the one I'm married to does as well. Both served as good and godly examples to my daughters who in turn are good and godly mothers to their own children. We don't usually think of them in terms of their "greatness," but the Scriptures speak for itself.

I know that our moms have not necessarily "cornered the market" on servanthood – they just seem to be a little better at it than most of us. Grandmas are good at it too (they're a lot like moms... just older). But many of our dads are pretty good at it too! There are also other people in our lives who are as well... if we would just take the time to notice them. People that are in the habit of being "selfless" in order to serve others such as people in our churches, as well as in our community who "serve" ... like our First Responders (Law Enforcement personnel, Firefighters, EMT's, Nurses, Doctors etc....) These are people who often put their own personal agenda - and sometimes their own safety aside in order to "respond" to the needs of someone else... most of the time it is someone they don't even know.

Think of how nice it would be if we took a moment to consider all of these "servant people" in our lives – our moms, dads, First Responders etc.... or maybe someone else that you know who has modeled this lifestyle to you, and then let them know how much we appreciate their sacrificial service for us and our community.

May God bless you,
Pastor John.

Odds of approving a neutral, fair redistricting map are slim to none

Politicians lie to get elected. That's hardly startling. And in a state like Illinois, with its long and sordid history of corruption, that observation is about as newsworthy as: "the pyramids are old and big."

Still, one can't help but be disappointed when politicians back away from their word.

A case in point is Gov. JB Pritzker who ran for office on a platform of reforming the state's redistricting process.

During the last gubernatorial election, Springfield reporter Rich Miller surveyed every candidate seeking their party's respective nomination.

He asked each candidate if they would veto any redistricting measure not created by an independent commission.

Here is how Pritzker responded:

"Yes, I will pledge to veto. We should amend the constitution to create an independent commission to draw legislative maps, but in the meantime, I would urge Democrats and Republicans to agree to an independent commission to handle creating a new legislative map. That designated body should reflect the gender, racial, and geographic diversity of the state and look to preserve the Voting Rights Act decisions to ensure racial and language minorities are fully represented in the electoral process."

This wasn't one of those off-the-cuff remarks. Pritzker responded in writing to the question after having some time to think about it.

But today he is backtracking from that commitment.

Here is what he is saying now:

Guest Column

By Scott Reeder

"Well, as I said, I will veto an unfair map. I have also said that in order for us to have an independent commission, we needed to have a constitutional amendment, something that would actually change the way the process operates today in the Constitution. That did not happen. So now, as we reach the end of this session and I look to the legislature for their proposal for a redistricting map, I'll be looking to it for its fairness. And that's something that's vitally important for our state, as an effect on the next 10 years and representation throughout the state."

Baloney. The governor's original pledge wasn't predicated on a constitutional amendment. An independent commission can be formed by legislation or even a joint resolution.

And, hey, he sure hasn't been banging the drum for a constitutional amendment since he entered office. The voters were hoodwinked.

Instead, Pritzker is kowtowing to Democratic leaders in the Legislature. The current process allows lawmakers to choose their voters rather than voters choosing their lawmakers.

"I don't think he realized, when he made the statement, just how important this is to legislators," said longtime statehouse observer Mike Lawrence. "He wants to get his proposals through the legislature and that isn't going to happen if he angers them by vetoing their map."

Illinoisans became far too familiar with this sort of mendacity under governors Bruce Rauner and Rod Blagojevich. It's disappointing that Pritzker has joined their ranks.

Pritzker spokeswoman Jordan Abudayeh did not respond to requests seeking an explanation for the governor's change of heart.

Politicians distort and stretch their districts into strange shapes for two reasons: To get more seats for their political party and to get re-elected without having to run a substantial campaign.

Potential candidates don't run because they look at how a district has been drawn and know they can't possibly win.

Just consider: a 2014 study by Ballotpedia found that only 40 percent of Illinois lawmakers even had an opponent in the preceding election.

By comparison, during the same election cycle 100 percent of Michigan legislators had contested races. And California and Minnesota had competitive races in more than 90 percent of their legislative districts.

Worse yet, in at least half of the "contested" legislative races in Illinois, the incumbent only faces nominal opposition.

As for Pritzker's pledge to veto any "unfair" map approved by lawmakers, Lawrence said the odds of a partisan body such as the General Assembly approving a neutral, fair map are "slim to none."

House Republican Leader Jim Durkin was more blunt: "It will happen when hell freezes over."

That said, I have no doubt that if the Republicans controlled the process in Springfield they would be behaving in the same manner that Pritzker and Democrats in the legislature are.

Voters deserve to have choices when they vote and a governor who keeps his commitments.

Letters to the Editor

Urges motorists to slow down

Dear Editor,
Spring has sprung. The birds are singing. Our children are playing and riding bicycles. Abled and disabled citizens are walking their dogs and jogging for health. The sun is shining and warm.

And the speed limit on East Wasson Road from Highway 52 to Josiah Road is 30 miles per hour.

Not just the souped up pickups and hot rods with their extremely loud mufflers, which is another issue, but also for the hundreds of semis/dump trucks/non-local garbage trucks, and farmers going way too fast in their planters and combines. East Wasson Road has become a narrow, dangerous main speedway for vehicles taking the fast, short route to Highway 26. It needs to be monitored more closely and violators cited. In the interest of public safety, please slow down.

Peace,
Jamie Terra Hawk

May is Foster Parent Appreciation Month

CHICAGO—May is Foster Parent Appreciation Month in Illinois, a time to thank the thousands of foster families across the state who are providing temporary safe havens to youth and urge other residents to become licensed foster families.

Youth are placed in the temporary care of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) by local courts when it is determined that their families cannot safely care for them. DCFS works with the family to make the positive changes necessary to reunite with their children while foster families step up and provide homes where the children are protected, nurtured and loved. Today, there are just over 21,000 youth living in foster care in the state: 8,200 are living with foster families, 11,300 with relatives and 1,200 in group homes and institutions.

“By opening their hearts and homes, foster parents give vulnerable children the stability and connections to community, friends and family members they need to thrive,” said Illinois DCFS Acting Director Marc D. Smith. “They are an invaluable part of the child welfare team; and we could not do the work of keeping children safe without them.”

Currently, foster homes are needed for sibling groups, adolescents, African American and Latino youth, children with special medical needs, teenage mothers and their babies and LGBTQI (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, questioning, intersex) youth. To learn more about some of the youth in need of a foster family, visit the Heart Gallery of Illinois at <https://greenlightfamilyservices.org/heartgalleryofil/>.

Making the decision to become a foster parent is a serious commitment to a child who needs stability and love. DCFS and a network of private agency partners offer a range of supports to foster families, including a monthly stipend for the child’s basic needs, such as food, clothing and housing costs; a medical card; therapeutic, educational, recreational and crisis support services; and access to caseworkers, training programs and support groups to meet the child’s and family’s needs.

Foster families also become part of a team, working with DCFS and private agencies, birth families, counselors, physicians and the courts to reunite children with their families whenever possible.

The licensing process to become a foster parent can take up to six months. Prospective foster families are required to:

- Participate in a social assessment and home inspection;
- Complete a training on foster care and the needs of children who are in foster care;
- Complete a criminal background check of all household members;
- Be financially stable; and
- Complete a health screening.

Foster parents must be at least 21 years old and can be married, in a civil union, single, divorced or separated. They can work full- or part-time, go to school or be a stay at home parent; and rent or own their own home.

There are many types of foster care, including traditional care, emergency/shelter care, medical/therapeutic care, relative/kinship care, respite/short-term care and tribal care.

To learn more about becoming a licensed foster parent, fill out the online interest form on the DCFS website: <https://www2.illinois.gov/dcf/>.

gov/dcf/. Click on Loving Homes, then click on Become a Foster or Adoptive Parent.

Organizations wishing to schedule a virtual or in-person presentation to learn about waiting children, how to become licensed and the adoption process may contact the DCFS Communications Office at 312-814-6847.

About the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) Founded in 1964, DCFS is responsible for protecting children from abuse or neglect by responding to calls received on the Child Abuse Hotline, 1-800-25-ABUSE (1-800-252-2873). With the goal of keeping children safe, DCFS strengthens and supports families with wide range of services. When keeping a child safe means removing them from the home, DCFS makes every effort to reunite them with their family.

When the best interest of the child makes this impossible, DCFS is committed to pursuing adoption by loving families to provide children with a safe and permanent home. DCFS is also responsible for licensing and monitoring of all Illinois child welfare agencies.

Pritzker urges Illinois to ‘Start Seeing Motorcycles’

SPRINGFIELD – Gov. JB Pritzker has proclaimed May as Motorcycle Awareness Month in Illinois, joining the Illinois Department of Transportation, Illinois State Police and motorcycle safety advocates to remind all users of the road to Start Seeing Motorcycles.

“We want all riders and motorists, whether they’re traveling a short distance or long distance, to reach their destination safely,” said Acting Illinois Transportation Secretary Omer Osman. “Warmer temperatures mean that more motorcyclists will be on the road so remember to always be alert for motorcycles and share the road.”

The Start Seeing Motorcycles campaign is important because while motorcyclists represent only 3 percent of total vehicle registrations in Illinois, they account for 14 percent of traffic fatalities. There were 1,010 traffic fatalities in Illinois in 2019, – 137 were motorcyclists, and in 2020, there were 1,193 traffic fatalities – 153 were motorcyclists, an increase of 16 from 2019. (2020 data is provisional as of May 4, 2021)

“As drivers and riders, we all have a responsibility to each other as we share the road, especially when we operate our vehicles near highly vulnerable roadway users such as motorcyclists and pedestrians,” stated Illinois State Police Director Brendan F. Kelly. “Understanding these vulnerabilities and operating with an increased awareness of each other, combined with good choices behind the wheel and handlebars is good for everyone involved. We should all be doing our part to increase roadway safety. Whether our knees are in the breeze, or we are wrapped comfortably in our vehicles, we all want to return to our loved ones at the end of each and every trip.”

Motorists should always:

- Look twice before changing lanes or merging. Use your mirrors and look over your shoulder to be sure it is safe.
- Allow appropriate distance. Traffic, weather, and road conditions require motorcyclists to react and maneuver differently. Drivers should allow motorcyclists enough space to maneuver and enough time to adjust.

• Use care when driving near a group of motorcyclists. Sharing the road with organized motorcycle groups requires patience and communication. If a driver needs to change lanes or reach an exit, they should signal their intention and wait for the riders to create space. Do not merge in between groups or riders unless there is enough space to do so safely.

Riders are urged to take precautions:

- Wear DOT-compliant gear with bright colors and retro-reflective strips or decals, over-the-ankle boots, gloves, a protective jacket, pants and a properly fitted helmet with face shield or protective eyewear.
- Get regular maintenance and take advantage of IDOT’s free motorcycle safety courses. Visit startseeingmotorcycles.org for more information.
- Give yourself space and time to react. Allow space for emergency braking and for avoiding a crash. Make lane changes gradually and expect the unexpected.
- Ride Sober. Motorcycle riding, alcohol and cannabis don’t mix. They slow your reaction time, affect your balance, coordination and vision, and may increase your risk of crashing.

Start Seeing Motorcycles is made possible by the teamwork among IDOT, ISP, Gold Wing Road Riders Association, A Brotherhood Aimed Towards Education (ABATE) and other organizations that promote motorcycle education, awareness and safety.

During the riding season, Start Seeing Motorcycles banners and yard signs will be on display throughout the state, reminding the public to always stay alert for motorcycles.

Clippers open with two losses to Forreston

AMBOY — The Amboy Clippers opened the baseball season with a 17-1 loss to Forreston on May 4 at the Amboy field.

Forreston scored a pair of runs in the first and Amboy answered with one in the bottom of the inning, but that proved to be the only run of the game for the Clippers. Meanwhile, Forreston was far from through as it added four runs in the third and six more in the fourth to pull away.

Brady Jones paced the Clipper offense with two hits and Ian Eller added a safety.

Andrew Jones was the starting pitcher for Amboy and he took the loss.

The two teams met again on May 6 at Forreston and the result was a 12-0 victory for the home team.

Forreston sent 12 batters to the plate in the first inning and eight of them scored.

Andrew Jones collected a pair of hits for the Clippers.

Lena-Winslow scored early and often in taking down the Clippers, 20-8, on May 8 at the Amboy field.

The visitors held a 5-0 lead after their first two times at-bat before Amboy batted around and tied the score with five in the bottom of the second. Brian Murphy and Preston Henkel each had two-run singles, while Andrew Jones singled in the other run.

The Panthers broke the tie with a pair of runs in the top of the third, and then they tacked on three in the fifth, four in the sixth and six more in the seventh.

Amboy pushed across two runs in the fifth inning and one in the seventh.

The Clippers had 11 hits in the contest, with Murphy picking of three and Andrew Jones two.

Henkel got the start on the mound and was tagged with the loss.

Clipper Highlights: #36 Mark Kaleel

This highlight is one of the most special to date. We featured this highlight on the Facebook page to mark our 36th Clipper highlight. The 36th week just so happened to fall on Christmas Day this past year.

All of these highlights I hold very dear and in the highest of regard but this week I get to highlight a man I consider to be a hero.

It is a special highlight for not only me, but my whole family. When I realized Christmas fell on a Friday, marking the 36th Clipper Highlight, I knew exactly which Clipper we would feature. This week I have the great honor and am beyond proud to announce our Clipper, #36, Mark Kaleel.

Mark was a 1980 graduate of Amboy High School, two year Varsity starter, and 1979 State Runner-Up. In my own bias opinion, Mark is one of the most competitive Clippers our program has had. I would put his heart and passion for Clipper Football above anyone else in our program's history. For those on this page that know Mark you can still see his passion for Amboy Football exude through his stories, his sons' successes, and his continued commitment to Clipper Football.

Mark played Wingback and Defensive End his Junior season as the 1978 Clippers posted a 4-5 record.

"We went 4-5 that season but a lot of us Juniors played and got a lot of good experience that went with us our Senior year," Mark shared.

Going into his Senior season, Mark and the strong Senior leadership of the class of 1980 made sure every Clipper was bought-in to what would follow.

Mark stated, "It wasn't like today when coaches are the ones getting on kids for not getting in the weight room or showing up to workouts. It was us Seniors that got on ya if you weren't putting in the work and we didn't have to tell ya twice."

The weight room was never a burden for Mark as my cousins, brother, and I heard the infamous story of how, as a freshman, Mark entered the AHS weight room for the first time and benched the entire rack on the universal machine, 250 pounds. He is one of the most naturally strong men I know and that trait passed down to all three of his sons, Nick, Taylor, and Levi as they all had very little strain in the weight room.

The 1979 season pioneered a Playoff identity for our program as it put Amboy on the map as a 2A power. That season also set the sail to lead the Conference in the early to mid 1980's. We've highlighted several members of the 1979 Clippers on this page thus far and each offered an important role to that team, Mark is no different. If you recall our Week 6 highlight, Rick Considine, shared the triple option accounted for roughly 60-70 percent of the offensive play calls throughout the season. That statistic makes absolute sense when we think of the working parts: a supremely intelligent, athletic quarterback, three fast, gritty Running Backs (Schwamberger, Christopherson, and Morrissey), an Offensive Line that, no matter their size or size of their opponents, would kick your ass up and down the field for four quarters, and a hard nosed, tough as nails Fullback in Mark Kaleel that could not only get your "hard yardage" but break a long touchdown run at any given time.

Mark was nearly a 1,000 yard rusher for the Clippers during the 1979 season and contributed numerous touchdowns including a touchdown run against Forreston, a more than 50 yard touchdown run against Newman, and an opening play touchdown of more than 40 yards against Stockton in the second round, home, playoff game. Mark also had 22 carries for 129 yards in a 19-0 win against Riverdale. A Fullback like Mark added diversity to a position that is often seen, even at that time, as a decoy or just a blocker. Mark's abilities and contributions to the running game would make the FB Draw and 40/41 Trap offensive plays that would remain in our program for decades. One of the neatest things is how Mark got to see the evolution of that position when Taylor was running the same plays and even was relied on to catch passes off of play action.

Offensively, Mark may have been better, but he was just as effective and important to the 1979 Clippers on defense. Mark played next to All State Tackle, Mark "Griz" McCaffrey and even though most teams ran the opposite way, the duo made a lot of tackles.

"I had four interceptions my Senior year at Defensive End. One was right before halftime at Forreston and then Ricky went 59 yards for a touchdown to put us up 14-7 at half," Mark shared.

We all know, and wish it a different outcome, of the 1979 season. To finish just short of the ultimate goal as a High School Football player is something that always stays with you but for Mark and the class of 1980, they will always be looked at as pioneers of Clipper success and tradition. Mark ended the 1979 season earning Second Team All Conference honors and Honorable Mention All State honors at Fullback.

Former teammate and friend, Greg King remembers Mark's time as a Clipper and what he meant to the '79 team.

"Mark was a great leader. He made everything work as an under heralded, hard yardage back. He was 'tougher than a $2 steak.' He was an unsung hero that season for us," King said.

King also shared that he got the invite to come over to Grandma and Grandpa Kaleel's house after the loss to Decatur St. Theresa. King stated it was him, Dean Powers, Dennis McCoy, Ricky Considine, Mark, and possibly others. I speak for all my cousins, brother, and most of our friends in saying we all would have loved to have been a fly on the wall that night, to share a moment like that with some of the greatest Clippers to ever wear the name across their chest.

Lifelong friend and former Clipper Quarterback, Rick Considine, shared the following, "Mark is the most competitive person I have ever met. It's never mattered if it was football, darts, leg wrestling, or anything else, Mark was always going to give it everything he had. He was the perfect Fullback for our offense and reminded people of former Pittsburgh Steeler, Franco Harris. I don't know or haven't seen anyone since with more of a fire in his gut and the will to win than Mark. He lived it."

Considine concluded, "Mark has been one of my best friends since we were young and continues to be to this day."

Former teammate and other lifelong friend, Dennis McCoy shared, "Mark was a hard nosed, tough as nails back. He had one of his best games that year against Mendota. He would hit even the slightest hole and be downfield so fast. I remember against Mendota their tackle was almost on him and I came around as I was pulling and decleared the tackle. Mark came back to the huddle laughing telling me the tackle never saw me coming. He's been my best friend to this day and continues to be like a brother to me."

As special as this post is, it is only fitting to include a statement from each of Mark's sons who also went on to have great Clipper careers.

Nick(2006): "We all heard the stories growing up, about that season. The way dad tells them it's like he's back there in those moments. I remember the summer going into my Senior year I've never seen him more fired up for football. He was the first to bring it up no matter where we were. It was an expectation in my house for my brothers, sister, and I that we were going to work hard at anything we did. My dad loves Clipper football to this day and the memories still bring us all a lot of joy."

Taylor (2008): "When I told you before about losing never being an option, it mostly came from my dad. Growing up listening to him talk about the glory days and all the great times they had playing football, Being successful and playing the game hard like it's meant to be played. There were a lot of people I never wanted to let down on the football field but no one as much as dad. He instilled into all of us at a young age how important Amboy Football was to him and this town. It takes mentors like my dad to build a program that demands the most out of everyone who puts on that uniform. I'm forever grateful that he taught us how to play the game the way he did. Some of the best memories I'll ever have."

Levi (2010): "Just growing up listening to him tell the stories of his years of playing is really what gave me the drive to want to be like him and there team and make it down to state. He'd always come in before big games and give a pep talk and get the whole team fired up. Pretty sure the next county could hear him fired up. He always pushed us to hit the weights and to always leave everything we had on the field."

Mark's journey as a Clipper, like many, went from player, to fan, to Clipper dad. "I loved watching the success of all of you guys' teams," Mark shared.

Mark got to watch all three of his sons and several of his nephews play in the Clipper Red. What he may not know is it gave all of our teams extra motivation when we would see him in the stands at The Harbor wearing his old #36 red jersey. As if that wasn't motivation enough, he would always provide a good pep talk before you went into the locker room to change during the Fr/So game. I still remember his speech to my teammates and I before we played Newman both my Freshman year and again just hours before the game my Senior year. Now as it did then it gives me chills and great pride. One of the best moments of Mark as a Clipper dad had to be after Levi and the 2009 Clippers defeated #1 ranked Bureau Valley at home in the regular season. After the teams shook hands Mark was on the sideline congratulating ever Clipper on the victory. As Levi mentioned above, his excitement could be heard from under the scoreboard where I was standing.

Mark lived Amboy Football from the time Grandpa Kaleel took him to his first Clipper game to the last snap Levi took. Mark continues to show his pride in Amboy Football and will undoubtedly be just as excited and influential when his grandsons, Eli and Kain strap up to earn their sails.

So, to my Uncle, the only All Stater in our family, #36, Mark Kaleel, thank you for your contributions to Amboy Clipper Football. You not only were the reason your sons' pride for our program came at an early age but for my brother and I too. Above all, you taught Nick, Tay, Levi, Wes, myself, countless nephews, and our friends the will to win, the importance of hard work, and to do any job as best you can. Your lessons were applied not only on The Harbor but in all of our lives today. Sail On!

Spencer Morrissey, is a former resident of Amboy and 2009 graduate of Amboy High School. In April 2020, he created a private Facebook group specifically for Amboy Clipper Football Alumni. To have played Amboy football for any period of time, 1 year or all 4 years, is the only membership requirement. The group features photos, stories, and memories of past Clippers and Clipper teams. The best feature of the group is every Friday, he highlights a former player.
