❑ MHS doing its best to provide education through remote methods

By BONNIE MORRIS
Editor

MENDOTA – When Illinois schools closed their doors last month due to the COVID-19 pandemic, in some ways Mendota High School was fortunate. Being a one-on-one school, all MHS students are routinely issued Chromebook computers at the beginning of the school year and they have become accustomed to doing at least some class assignments online. In addition, this year the state allowed schools to have a process for “e-learning days” in which students would do assignments from home when schools had to close due to weather.

One thing no one planned for, however, was a statewide “stay-at-home” order and the indefinite closing of all schools due to a deadly virus outbreak. Over the past four weeks, school administrators, teachers, students and parents have scrambled to keep providing education through remote learning and to offer some semblance of a routine.

For MHS Superintendent Jeff Prusator, the current remote learning effort could more aptly be called “crisis learning.” Although Prusator and MHS Principal Denise Aughenbaugh agreed that students are handling it well for the most part and teachers are doing their best, in this instance everyone is having to learn for the first time how to best manage the situation.

“We’ve never been trained for this – no one has – students, parents, teachers,” Aughenbaugh said. “I thank the students and parents because they have handled this extremely well. Are they frustrated? Yes. It’s stressful for everyone.”

Teachers are using various methods to provide instruction including Zoom, YouTube videos and Google classroom, which many teachers had already been using and is the most frequently used program. Prusator noted that additional security was purchased for use with Zoom, so the high school does not have to worry about problems with hacking that has been reported in the news. For students who do not have internet or who have internet that is unreliable, hard packets are provided.

Aughenbaugh said they initially surveyed students on whether they had internet access at home, expecting the number to be over 20 percent.

With increased farm activity, motorists should use caution

❑ Illinois Dept. of Labor urges drivers and farmers to practice safety

SPRINGFIELD – COVID-19 has hit the pause button for millions of people in Illinois – but that does not include the state’s farmers.

The warming spring weather means an onslaught of activity in farm fields across Illinois. This means a lot more farm vehicular traffic on Illinois’ roadways over the next few weeks. While the state’s stay-at-home mandate has reduced vehicular traffic overall, it doesn’t change the fact that spring planting season is one of the most dangerous times for farmers – both on the roads and in the fields.

“Farmers are the backbone of our state’s economy, and I know how hard they work this time of the year. But in the rush to get the 2020 crop in, we urge them to use caution while sharing the road,” said Michael Kleinik, director of the Illinois Department of Labor. “We all want farmers to head home to their families safe and sound at the end of each day.”

Vehicle safety is an especially important focus this time of year. Tractor overturns are the leading cause of fatalities in the agriculture industry, according to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. These accidents result in about 130 deaths each year nationwide.

While tractor roll-over accidents most often occur on the farm, roadways also pose a major safety hazard. Too often a vehicle attempting to pass causes a collision before the tractor or farm implement can finish a left-hand turn. Such collisions occur simply because the driver fails to

State of Illinois making grants available for non-essential businesses

❑ Grant applications must be made through participating local governments

MENDOTA – The State of Illinois has developed the Downstate Small Business Stabilization Program for Non-Essential Businesses in wake of the shutdown of non-essential businesses due to the COVID-19 crisis.

To demonstrate, businesses must have been operating continuously with the same ownership since January 1, 2017 (at a minimum) and provide documentation on the financial health of the business in 2017, 2018, 2019 and currently. This documentation will be available to the public as part of the application process and is subject to FOIA. Benefiting businesses should have solid commitments to remain open or reopen, and retain or re-employ permanent jobs.

All applications must be made through a unit of local government recognized by the Illinois Constitution and able to support economic development activities on a sufficient scale; this includes cities, villages, and counties. Grant funds are granted to communities to be provided as financial assistance to an eligible business, which must document the need for grant assistance. Businesses cannot apply directly to DCEO for assistance and grant awards will not be made directly to the business.

The Economic Development Downstate Small Business Stabilization component has been established to provide working capital funds to communities’ businesses economically impacted by the COVID-19 virus. The program component makes funds available for 60 days of verifiable working capital up to a grant ceiling of $25,000.

CDBG Economic Development Downstate Small Business Stabilization funds may be used to assist private for-profit small businesses considered non-essential by the Governor’s Executive Order without the ability for employees to work remotely. Businesses must have at least one full-time equivalent (FTE) employee other than the owner(s) but must not exceed 50 employees (total number of people employed) including the business owner(s).

The following businesses are specifically ineligible for assistance:

- Businesses that have both essential and non-essential activities.
- Not-for-profit businesses.
- Independent contractors.
- Franchises or chain businesses.
- As this grant is federally funded, businesses that involve the use of cannabis for medical and/or recreational purposes are not eligible to apply.
- Private club or business that limits membership for reasons other than capacity.
- A business that derives at least 33% of its gross annual revenue from legal gambling activities, unless, subject to

Local blood drive surpasses goal

MENDOTA - The American Red Cross held a very successful blood drive at the Mendota Moose Family Center on April 7. The goal for the day of 65 was far surpassed with 79 good units collected. This included 60 whole blood donations and 19 double red cell donations.

Reaching donation milestones were Ronald Henkel, who hit the 16-gallon mark, and Cheryl Bird who reached six gallons.

There were also several first-time donors including Amy Kofoed, Michael Riley, Lori Smith, Steven Schoeph, Marie Barnickel, Christina Barnickel, Erin McCoy, Jennifer Pappas, Sean Pappas and Madison Pappas. (Apologies if anyone was inadvertently omitted.)

To help keep donors and volunteers safe, Red Cross employees wore masks and gloves and took donors' temperatures before they registered. No walk ins were allowed, so the number of people waiting to donate was down. In addition, the chairs and beds were adequately spaced apart to maintain safe social distancing.

Local volunteers who helped the day run smoothly included Sandy Schroeder, Peg Mathesius-Cerveney, Kristi Carroll and Lori Simonton. Mendota Subway again donated sandwiches for the donor luncheon and Black Bros. donated sandwiches and chips to the drive.

"We had a great turnout, considering these uncertain times," Simonton said. "Your time and donation are greatly appreciated."

The next bloodmobile will be held on Tuesday, June 2 at the Mendota Moose Family Center. Anyone who would like to make an appointment or who has questions, please call Lori at (815) 866-3582.

LaSalle Co. has 22 confirmed COVID-19 cases

♦ County reports seven individuals have recovered, one has died

OTTAWA - The LaSalle County Health Department (LCHD) has confirmed a total of 22 COVID-19 cases in LaSalle County as of April 13. Of those, the total number of recovered individuals for the county is seven and one individual has died. The total number of negative test results in LaSalle County is 276.

Among the positive cases over the past week are a female in her 20's, a female in her 30's, two males in their 40's, a female in her 60's and two males in their 70's. The individuals are in isolation.

adhere to all of the required precautions necessary to protect their families and the community, to slow the spread of COVID-19.

The LaSalle County Health Department encourages residents to stay informed on the evolving situation. ## Extension offers virtual 'Help Desk' for horticulture/gardening questions

MENDOTA - Spring has arrived, and many people are thinking about gardening. This is the time of year when your local University of Illinois Extension offices receive many phone calls, e-mails and face-to-face visits hoping to get answers to questions related to gardening and horticulture.

Although all U of I Extension offices are currently closed for the foreseeable future due to the global COVID-19 pandemic, Master Gardener volunteers are still available to answer any questions you may have.

Are you curious about the best way to care for tomatoes? Do your plants look sick and need some help? Do you need information on seed starting? These and many other questions can be addressed by our seasoned University of Illinois Extension Master Gardener volunteers from Bureau, LaSalle, Marshall and Putnam counties.

If you have any questions you would like help with, please send them by e-mail to meo@illinois.edu with "Gardening Question" in the subject box.

You may also call the Extension office headquarters at (309) 224-0889. Please leave both an e-mail address (if you have one) and a phone number so volunteers can get in touch with you.

Many of the common questions they receive will also be published in local newspapers including The Mendota Reporter on a bi-weekly basis.

New guidance about COVID-19 economic impact payments for Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) beneficiaries

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The Treasury Department launched a new web tool allowing quick registration for Economic Impact Payments for eligible individuals who do not normally file a tax return. For some people receiving benefits from the Social Security Administration – specifically those who have dependent children under the age of 17 – it is to their advantage to go to this portal to ensure they get the $500 per dependent Economic Impact Payment.

Social Security commissioner Andrew Saul explained, "People who receive Social Security retirement, survivors, or disability insurance benefits and who did not file a tax return for 2018 or 2019 and who have qualifying children under age 17 should now go to the IRS's webpage at www.irs.gov/coronavirus/economic-impact-payments to enter their information instead of waiting for their automatic $1,200 Economic Impact Payment. By taking proactive steps to enter information on the IRS website about them and their qualifying children, they will also receive the $500 per dependent child payment in addition to their $1,200 individual payment. If Social Security beneficiaries in this group do not provide their information to the IRS soon, they will have to wait to receive their $500 per qualifying child.

"The same new guidance also applies to SSI recipients, especially those who have qualifying children under age 17. To receive the full amount of the Economic Impact Payments you and your family are eligible for, go to the IRS's Non-Filers: Enter Payment Info page at www.irs.gov/coronavirus/economic-impact-payments and provide information about yourself and your qualifying children.

"Additionally, any new beneficiaries since Jan. 1, 2020, of either Social Security or SSI benefits, who did not file a tax return for 2018 or 2019, will also need to go to the IRS's Non-Filers website to enter their information.

"Lastly, for Social Security retirement, survivors, or disability beneficiaries who do not have qualifying children under age 17, you do not need to take any action with the IRS. You will automatically receive your $1,200 economic impact payment directly from the IRS as long as you received an SSA-1099 for 2019.

"For SSI recipients who do not have qualifying children under age 17, we continue to work closely with Treasury in our efforts to make these payments automatically. Please note that we will not consider Economic Impact Payments as income for SSI recipients, and the payments are excluded from resources for 12 months.

"The eligibility requirements and other information about the Economic Impact Payments can be found here: www.irs.gov/coronavirus/economic-impact-payment-information-center. In addition, please continue to visit the IRS at www.irs.gov/coronavirus for the latest information.

"We will continue to update Social Security's COVID-19 web page at www.socialsecurity.gov/coronavirus as further details become available."

Kenneth G. Kurth

MENDOTA - Kenneth G. Kurth, 84, of Mendota passed peacefully at his home on April 10, 2020 with family by his side following a year of battling pancreatic cancer.

Burial with military honors will be at Resurrection Cemetery in Madison, Wis. Due to the pandemic, the family will announce at a later date a memorial Mass at Holy Cross Church, Mendota. Merritt Funeral Home, Mendota is handling arrangements.

Ken was born in Madison, Wis. in 1935 to Peter and Cecilia (Kuehn) Kurth, the eighth of nine children. He married Margaret A. Regan of Rickardsville, Iowa on Feb. 4, 1967 at St. Bernard's Parish in Madison, Wis.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Gregory (Robyn) of Arlington Heights and Timothy (Christine) of Alexandria, Va.; four grandchildren, Alexander and Moselle of Arlington Heights and Canon and Christian of Alexandria, Va.; and two sisters, Janet Jewell and Donna Lindauer of Madison, Wis.

He was preceded in death by his parents; three brothers, Harold, Russell and Gerald; and two sisters, Aline and Veronica. His brother, Ronald died on the same day, April 10, in Atlantic Beach, Fla.

Ken graduated from Madison East High School in 1954. After completing Quartermaster School in the U.S. Army, he served in the U.S. Army from 1956 to 1958 in Hanau, Germany. In 1973, he joined First State Bank of Mendota as a commercial lending officer. Recognizing his experience and expertise, the bank later promoted him to head its trust department, an apt role for someone everyone trusted. He retired from the First State Bank in 1999.

Ken was a pillar of his adopted community of Mendota and his civic record included service to the Kiwanis Club, the Elks Club, the Graves-Hume Public Library Board, the Mendota Lutheran Home, Holy Cross Church, and Boy Scout Troup 102. Recognizing his generosity and service, the Kiwanis Club honored Ken with the George F. Hixson Fellowship Award. As president of the then-Graves Public Library Board, Ken elicited help from his friend and philanthropist Horace Hume to fund the construction of a new library. In an interview with The Mendota Reporter, Hume credited Ken for inspiring him to build the library as a lasting tribute to Hume's late son James. Horace Hume also knew Ken had put his heart and soul into the effort, and therefore specified the grounds nearby be recognized as Kurth Park. In April of 1993, The Chicago Tribune highlighted Mendota's successful library campaign with an article called "Does Santa live in Mendota?"

Ken and Margaret were married for over 53 years and have fond memories of celebrating their 40th and 50th anniversaries with relatives and friends. Given his disdain of flying, Ken and Margaret experienced memorable car trips with their sons in the 70s and 80s. In retirement, he and Margaret traveled by car, bus, train, or cruise to Alaska, California, New England, Seattle, New Orleans and Canada, as well as countless trips to Florida and Washington, D.C. to visit their children and grandchildren. Inspired by the honorable service of three of his brothers in World War II, Ken was an avid reader and aficionado of World War II history - always ensuring visits to notable museums and historic sites. Friends who were Chicago Bears and Chicago Cubs fans will recall limitless razzing back and forth with him, given Ken was an unwavering advocate for the Green Bay Packers and Milwaukee Brewers.

Memorials may be directed to Graves-Hume Public Library Trust or Holy Cross Catholic School.

Burial will follow at St. Mary's Cemetery. A memorial Mass at Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Sublette will be announced at a later date. Merritt Funeral Home, Mendota is handling arrangements.

Henry was born Dec. 18, 1940 in Chicago to Henry and Eleanor Antosiak. He and Judy were married on Nov. 7, 1959 at St. Sylvester in Chicago.

He will be dearly missed by his wife of over 60 years, Judy; two children, Steve (Jackie) and Scott (Yesenia); his one beloved granddaughter, Christina; and two brothers, Robert (Mary Ann) and Mark (Julia).

After World War II, Henry was raised by his father and his beloved grandmother, Florence. While in grade school, he always loved Busia's cooking and company. He graduated from Lane Tech High School in 1959 and later attended Wright Junior College where he studied engineering and joined the track and field team. In the late 1950s he met Judy and after their marriage, they lived in Chicago, Hanover Park, Algonquin and Sublette and vacationed at the campgrounds in Woodhaven Lakes. Henry worked as a senior design engineer and then as an engineering business owner until his retirement in 2000 when the couple moved to Sublette.

In his earlier years, Henry had a skillful passion of building scale models to the utmost precision. He loved World War II aviation and maritime. Through the years, he constructed finely detailed models including RC airplanes, fine scaled wooden ship models, and numerous World War II airplane dioramas. In addition, he devoted much time for his sons in numerous sports and later in supporting their hobbies. Being a Chicago Cubs fan, he was a baseball coach for seven years for Steve and Scott. He was an avid fisherman, who took trips to the north woods even spending time fishing in the Arctic. He was always there for family functions including many events for his granddaughter. During his 20 years in Sublette, he was an usher for Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church. He and Judy ran the church hall duties for many events held there. He was also a member of the Amboy Knights of Columbus for over four years.

State extends expiration dates for DLs, IDs and vehicle registrations

SPRINGFIELD - Illinois Secretary of State Jesse White's office has filed emergency rules extending expiration dates for driver's licenses, identification cards, vehicle registrations and other transactions and document filings for at least 90 days after Driver Services facilities reopen. The previous extension was for 30 days. "Extending expiration dates by at least 90 days will ensure driver's licenses, ID cards and vehicle registrations remain valid during this pandemic and will help alleviate the rush of customers visiting facilities once they reopen," said White.

Driver services facilities are closed to the public through April 30, but White encourages residents to go to www.cyberdriveillinois.com to take advantage of online services. This will further help reduce the number of face-to-face transactions at Driver Services facilities once they reopen.

Services include:

- renew a vehicle registration;
- apply for a vehicle title and registration;
- obtain a duplicate driver's license or ID card;
- obtain a driving record abstract;
- renew a standard driver's license with the Safe Driver Renewal program.

"My commitment is to do everything we can to help protect the health and safety of our residents, while still providing services to the people of Illinois," said White. "This will, and must, continue to be the guiding principle of our decision making."

Learning

Some students who did not have internet have since been able to connect using the Wi-Fi on their phone, so the number without access dropped below 10 percent. “But all connections are not good,” she noted. “Students in some of the rural areas have a hard time being able to connect for a whole class.”

Prusator also pointed out that when students are at school, they are all exposed to the same instruction and same environment but at home, that is not the case. “So, this type of education is not fair for all students,” he said.

To help with internet access, MHS has purchased three Wi-Fi hotspots, which can be used by students who have no internet at all. In addition, the high school is working on turning the activity bus into a Wi-Fi hot spot. Prusator said the bus will travel to rural areas throughout the district, but he noted that the bus will provide a signal only to MHS Chromebooks.

To communicate with students and parents on a wide scale, MHS uses the Remind app. The app allows messages to be e-mailed, sent by text or by phone call to students and parents and can be used as reminders of class assignments or other information or to ask questions. “The good thing about it is safety,” Prusator said. “Teachers can send messages without using their personal phone numbers. The messages go to everyone and they are monitored, so it’s all transparent.”

All correspondence to parents is also posted on the school website and on social media.

Aughenbaugh said for now, the school’s number one goal is the health and safety of students and staff. “We cannot replace our face-to-face classroom instruction in this situation,” she explained. “When you don’t have access to consistent Wi-Fi (teachers and students) and limited time, the remote learning engagement focuses on teaching state standards and the fundamental content curriculum.”

Even when students are in school, there is no guarantee they are mentally engaged, she continued. “When we are not together at school, it is an even greater problem to measure mental engagement. We really have to remember to be kind with one another because we are all struggling with different family, financial and educational stressors right now. We are all doing the best we can.”

“We’re all learning how to do this together. All we ask is to do your best and don’t get frustrated.”

—Superintendent Jeff Prusator

Teachers are trying to design activities/assignments that require problem-solving to engage students. However, Aughenbaugh acknowledged that it is very stressful for teachers, as well as parents and students, to feel like they are teaching and learning in total isolation. “We are trying to host weekly virtual meetings with faculty and engage in almost daily Remind messaging with parents and students to help battle the isolation. We are all in this together!” she said.

As for grades, students now receive a “pass” or an “incomplete.” Prusator said the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) decided that giving letter grades at this time would amount to “grading on privilege” because some students simply do not have internet access or the same living circumstances as others. “This is a more equitable, fair way to grade and we’re following the guidance of ISBE,” he said. “The main thing is, we don’t want kids to ‘check out.’ Engagement and effort is the main thing we’re looking for during this time and I thank our teachers for everything they’ve done.”

During the school closure, sack lunches and breakfasts have been provided to students, which Prusator said has gone very well. “We’ve been preparing meals for about 105 students per day, so that’s 210 meals each day,” Prusator said. “I commend the cafeteria ladies for all the work they’ve done.”

Looking ahead

Illinois schools are scheduled to reopen on May 1 but the state could extend that to the end of the school year if necessary. Prusator said 17 states have already postponed school until the end of the year, and he would not be surprised to see that happen here. Regardless of what the state decides, the school year will end a week early on May 13 because students were in session during spring break. “So, even if schools stay closed, there is only one month left of remote learning,” he said.

As for other end-of-year activities, so far only two have been canceled or postponed. The first was the school musical in March, which had to be canceled, and the second is postponement of prom, which was scheduled for May 2. As for graduation, Aughenbaugh said a decision has not yet been made.

“When deciding on these activities, we want to honor our students but we also want to make sure kids stay at home and maintain social distancing. We don’t want to do anything to encourage large groups of people gathering,” she explained.

Prusator agreed, saying he has not received any negative feedback as far as the schools being closed. “When you see the news and the number of deaths, we need to take this seriously,” he said.

Looking ahead to summer school, MHS expects the focus to be on students who get incompletes as well as drivers ed, which will have to be done over the summer and fall.

Prusator said every household is different, so their main request of families and students right now is to just do the best they can under the circumstances. “We’re all learning how to do this together. All we ask is to do your best and don’t get frustrated,” he said. “The pandemic is a very stressful, unique situation so don’t let remote learning add to the frustration. We have to remember that in some families, parents are working all day, sometimes double shifts, so they come home tired and aren’t ready to spend hours going over assignments with their kids.”

Prusator also emphasized that any parent or student who is struggling should feel free to send an e-mail to their teacher, the principal or the superintendent, or they can call the school at (815) 539-7446 from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. five days a week. “We’re here to help and assist.”

IVCC offering two online options for summer; graduation suspended

OGLESBY — Illinois Valley Community College will offer students two online options for eight-week summer courses, Vice President for Academic Affairs Deborah Anderson announced recently.

The first summer session runs May 18 to July 8; the second June 10 through Aug. 6.

“All classes, with a few exceptions primarily in career and technical education fields that require hands-on instruction, will be offered online. In addition, a three-week online session for specific health courses will be offered,” Anderson said. “We are responding to strong encouragement from the state to provide summer courses online.”

Summer and fall registration begins Thursday, April 16.

In other news, IVCC will forgo its traditional May 16 commencement, Vice President for Student Services Mark Grzybowski announced.

“We’ve recently made the difficult decision to suspend May commencement as the in-person event it traditionally is due to the COVID-19 outbreak. However, we are planning to do something new to honor graduates that we think will be well received,” Grzybowski said.

Director of Learning Resources Patrice Hess said despite the college and Ottawa Center being temporarily closed to students, there is still ample academic, technical and personal support available.

“Student help desk at (815) 224-0318 is here to help with student technology,” Hess said. “We cannot stress how important IVCC email is. Check your account daily.

“Tutoring, writing consultation, and library services are still available at ivcc.edu/learningresources. We are still here for you; we want to be a part of your IVCC success story.”

IVCC counselors are available at (815) 224-0360 or by emailing counseling@ivcc.edu. Financial aid can be reached at (815) 224-0438 or financialaid@ivcc.edu.

IVCC President Jerry Corcoran closed a recent video message to students at ivcc.edu/covid19 saying, “We are thinking of you and your loved ones every day. We very much look forward to welcoming you back to campus one day soon. Until then, thank you for staying patient, strong and informed. We are here for you. We believe in you. We care about you.”

the Department’s approval, the business is a restaurant with gaming terminals.

- Business engaged in manufacturing or selling at wholesale, tobacco products, vaping, liquor or sexually explicit materials or in the business of manufacturing or selling firearms at wholesale or retail.

- Liquor store, an adult bookstore, non-therapeutic massage parlor, strip club or nightclub.

- Pawn shops.
- Storage facility, trailer-storage yard or junk yard.

- A business in which a majority owner or member of the immediate family is an elected official of the unit of local government making the application and receiving the grant.

- An establishment similar to any enumerated above; or
- Any other business subsequently deemed ineligible by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

For additional information on essential and non-essential businesses, see: <https://www2.illinois.gov/dceo/Documents/Essential%20Business%20FAQ-Flowchart.pdf> Some exceptions to the essential business requirement may be made if other social-distancing directives make it impossible for the business to continue and that situation is satisfactorily demonstrated in the application. Exceptions will be made on a case-by-case basis; all decisions are final.

Funds are available to all eligible applicants meeting program component requirements until all funds allocated to this component have been distributed. All awards in this category are predicated upon a demonstrated need for funds. This will include a review of all sources and uses of funds, an analysis of the recipient’s ability to comply with the terms of the program, and a determination that CDBG participation is appropriate.

Businesses must enter into a financial assistance agreement, referred to as the “Participation Agreement,” at agreed upon terms with the local government making the application and receiving the grant award. The Department has provided a boilerplate of the agreement in the application forms. The agreement language can be altered but if so, must be pre-approved prior to the application.

The City of Mendota has packets available for those businesses that wish to apply. They must complete their parts of the applications and return them as soon as possible. Since all applications must have a Public Hearing, and those hearings must be publicized at least seven days prior to the date of the hearing, it is imperative to get the applications filled out and returned as soon as possible.

Applicants can email Mendota city clerk Emily McConville for packets. She will email, mail or otherwise provide a packet for those interested. ## Safety reduce speed for the slower moving farm implement.

Impatience and speed are a deadly combination on rural roads this time of year. Visibility is also a key to road safety. All agricultural vehicles using the public roadways must display the fluorescent orange Slow Moving Vehicle triangle. Additionally, tractors and other self-powered farm vehicles must have proper lighting. According to Illinois law:

- Lighting is required from 30 minutes before sunset to 30 minutes after sunrise.

- There should be two white lamps on the front of the vehicle, visible from at least 1000 feet to the front of the vehicle.

- There should be two red lamps on the rear of the vehicle, visible from at least 1000 feet to the rear of the vehicle.

- There should be at least one flashing amber signal lamp on the rear of the vehicle, mounted as high as possible and visible from at least 500 feet, which can be used during daylight as well.

Drivers should remember that farm vehicle operators have limited visibility to the rear. Anyone passing such a vehicle needs to use extreme caution.

Modern farm equipment provides effective safety devices if they are used properly. Death and serious injury from tractor roll overs can be prevented by roll-over protective structures — a roll bar or cage designed to provide a safe space around the driver.

Too often workers fail to use a vital part of this safety device—a safety belt. Always buckle up.

Modern farm equipment can also invite farmers to push their limits. No one is as safe as they should be when they are tired, hungry or thirsty. Rest. Nutrition. Hydration. Tractors aren’t the only things that need maintenance and fuel to function properly.

Be an organ donor

(Editor's note: As we endure the coronavirus lockdown, it's important to remember the most vulnerable to being infected: the elderly, cancer patients, those with HIV and those who have undergone an organ transplant. April is organ donor month in Illinois. Columnist Scott Reeder tells of his family's experience with an organ transplant.)

By Scott Reeder

SPRINGFIELD – Ever found yourself hoping someone will die so someone you love can live?

Sixteen years ago, I found myself in that unenviable position.

My brother Danny was dying. For years he had suffered from a rare liver disease — primary sclerosing cholangitis. Finally, his liver was giving out. Death was near.

For months, he had teetered atop the Mayo Clinic's transplant list waiting for a liver.

Someone had to die for him to survive. His prospects grew dimmer as he waited.

Each day, 20 Americans die waiting to have an organ transplant. And according to the Health Resources and Science Administration there are more than 116,000 Americans on the national transplant list.

Not enough people have signed up to be organ donors.

For my brother, his situation was more dire than most. Not only did physicians need to find a good genetic match but also someone who had never had Mononucleosis.

Danny had never had mono. Our mother, a registered nurse, drilled in us the importance of good hygiene. We never shared cups, lollipops or dishes with friends. And mono, a common infection, never came our way.

But this careful attention to cleanliness became a detriment. If Danny received an organ from someone who had been infected anytime in their life, he could have life-threatening complications.

So, the potential donor pool was small. And all we could do was wait and pray.

I was at an investigative reporting conference in Atlanta when I received the early morning call.

It was my mother and she was crying.

Mom didn't weep easily.

But that day her tears were happy ones.

A donor liver had come through.

A middle-aged woman in Rochester, Minn., died of a brain aneurysm. Sometime earlier, she'd signed an organ donor card. That small act saved my brother's life.

On Father's Day 2004, he began his path to recovery.

With the gift of a new liver his yellowing skin returned to a healthy peach color. His weakened body regained energy.

But this isn't an "and they lived happily ever after" story. I wish it were. Cancer began to grow in his transplanted liver and by December 2005, he was dead.

Still, some woman, whose name we will never know, gave him a year and a half that he never would have had.

My brother was not a man prone to much introspection. He was a farmer. Most things were black and white: crop yields, commodity prices, hog weights.

But when it came to the unknown woman who gave a part of herself to him, he became quiet and contemplative.

"I wonder what she was like. Did she have kids?" he said shortly before he died.

I wondered if her family missed her as much as I would miss Danny.

We do know this much about the woman: she cared enough to give.

April is organ donor month in Illinois.

Please consider being an organ donor.

Medical groups applaud Pritzker

Dear Editor:

Illinois physicians and hospitals commend Governor J.B. Pritzker for his steadfast leadership during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Every day he faces tough choices and he is clearly making decisions with the interests of Illinoisans in mind. Our Governor is also taking the time to listen to the experts.

A good example was his recent Executive Order extending civil liability protection to health professionals and hospitals during this crisis. The Illinois State Medical Society and the Illinois Health and Hospital Association jointly asked his office to issue this order. It did not take long for our conversations with the Governor's office to lead to much-needed protections for frontline health care workers. We thank the Governor for his leadership.

Increasing COVID-19 testing statewide, the incredible momentum to turn McCormick Place into an alternative care site and engaging the Army Corps of Engineers to open shuttered facilities are significant accomplishments. The Executive Order from a few weeks ago requiring health insurer payment of telemedicine is another decisive action that cleared the way for non-COVID-19 patients to maintain treatment with physicians and health systems.

Governor Pritzker's daily battles to obtain personal protective equipment, ventilators and other critical resources are very much appreciated as we near a surge of expected COVID-19 hospitalizations.

The days and weeks ahead will be difficult, but decisiveness and ability to make hard choices is critical right now. We applaud Governor Pritzker for doing what is right to protect the wellness and safety of us all.

Pandemic shows why borders exist

By Rich Lowry

When President Donald Trump announced a restriction on travel from Europe in a mid-March Oval Office address, European Union officials erupted in outrage.

The president of the European Commission, Ursula von der Leyen, issued a joint statement with the president of the European Council, thundering, "The coronavirus is a global crisis, not limited to any continent, and it requires cooperation rather than unilateral action."

Just a few days later, von der Leyen advanced her own proposal to ban nonessential travel into the EU.

We are all restrictionists now. In the coronavirus crisis, everyone realizes the importance of borders, even the people who not long ago were ideologically hostile toward them.

Borders mark off the sovereign territory of one people from another. They are a means -- if they can be enforced and defended -- for a sovereign state to protect its people from invaders, and unwelcome immigrants and goods. They are a tool almost every nation has used to try to keep the coronavirus from gaining a foothold in its population, and to try to keep it from spreading further.

The lyrics of the treacly John Lennon classic "Imagine" -- recently performed by celebrities organized by actress Gal Gadot as a balm in this time of distress -- have never been so absurdly inapt. If there were really no countries and the world were as one, we'd be even more vulnerable to whatever threat arises in a city in central China, or anywhere else on the globe.

Of course, travel restrictions haven't prevented the spread of the disease -- there's no such thing as an airtight seal. But restrictions at least bought governments some additional time, and openness to foreign travel from China has been an accelerant on its spread.

Such restrictions are the least of it. Italy has had trouble importing masks because European counties have been working to hold on to medical supplies, indeed to hold on to food. According to the Wall Street Journal, "German officials said their restrictions were partly designed to safeguard supplies at German supermarkets from French shoppers."

So much for a new era of European solidarity dissolving historic, centuries-old political and cultural divisions.

In a crisis, everyone realizes their foremost obligation is to their own.

Of course, Trump is naturally inclined to this view. He imposed travel restrictions even before he was truly seized with the seriousness of this crisis. The pandemic gives new credibility to his dim view of our commercial entanglement with China and, before this is all over, there will probably be bipartisan legislation to minimize our dependence on Chinese-manufactured pharmaceuticals and medical equipment.

None of this means that we shouldn't wish other countries well, help them if we can, and share research and technologies. But borders exist for a reason. All peoples have their own governments that, if they are doing their jobs, put the health, safety and welfare of their own people first.

The coronavirus has acted as a solvent on a decade or more of clichés about the arrival of a globalized world where old lines drawn on a map no longer matter. In a crisis, everyone turns to borders as a first line of defense.

Q: When will “Grey’s Anatomy’s” season be over now that the coronavirus crisis has shut down production of all the TV shows that were filming when it spread to the U.S.? Will it air new episodes over the summer? -- E.T.

A: While I don’t have any definitive answers on “Grey’s Anatomy,” which stars Ellen Pompeo as Meredith Grey, I can tell you what we know so far. With production being cut short, “Grey’s” is able to air only 21 of its planned 25-episode current season. According to Deadline.com, the status of the remaining four episodes of season 16 is being determined, but I would imagine they’ll be broadcast either later in the summer or as part of season 17 next fall.

Deadline also stated that neither ABC’s “Station 19” nor “How to Get Away With Murder” (which will air its series finale May 14) are being affected by the “Grey’s” programming changes.

Q: What happened to the TV show “Madam Secretary”? Is it finished? I knew this was to be the last season, but it seems to be incomplete. Is it in hiatus? It was a great show that we loved! -- A.W.

A: “Madam Secretary,” starring Tea Leoni as the U.S. secretary of state who tries to balance her high-profile job with her family life, aired on CBS for six seasons, ending in December 2019. I won’t give away the final episode in case you missed it, but it aired Dec. 8 and involved a whistle-stop tour.

The show was created by Barbara Hall, who had written some episodes of another well-regarded political drama, “Homeland,” starring Claire Danes, and previously helped create the hit show “Judging Amy,” starring Amy Brenneman. Hall has signed a deal with CBS to develop a new series, “Clues,” which is about a private investigator who goes missing, and his wife who teams up with his ex-partner to try to find him. No word yet on who has been cast in the lead roles. Hall also is developing a show for a streaming service based on James Patterson’s new biographical book, “The House of Kennedy.”

Q: Whatever happened to Victoria Justice? My grandkids used to watch the Nickelodeon show “Victoria” when they would visit, but I haven’t seen her in anything since then. -- G.G.

A: The show you’re thinking of was actually called “Victorious,” and the cast recently recognized its 10-year anniversary with a virtual reunion through the Internet.

“Victorious” starred Victoria Justice as Hollywood Arts High School student Tori Vega, but the show’s most noteworthy alum to emerge was singer Ariana Grande, who played Cat. As for Justice, she’s actually released a few hit singles of her own, and she starred in the MTV series “Eye Candy,” which aired for just one season. She’s since gone on to guest-star on numerous prime-time shows, including “American Housewife.”

According to E! News, the cast remain tight-knit and have talked about another reunion in the form of a movie.

Hollywood

By Tony Rizzo

(Editor’s Note: With the paucity of news due to the coronavirus, Tony Rizzo takes a look back at The Golden Age of Hollywood. This is the second of three parts.)

HOLLYWOOD – The decline of the major Hollywood studios began in 1948, when a Supreme Court ruling sought to cut their power by separating production from distribution. But the studios found ways to continue making great films with their rosters of big stars under contract until 1954, when free television came along to steal a large segment of their paying audience.

It was actually multimillionaire Howard Hughes who triggered the charge to destroy the studio system. Hughes bought RKO Pictures, but it was not able to compete with the bigger studios. He hit upon a plan to divide and conquer by splitting RKO into two companies, RKO Pictures Corp. and RKO Theater Corp. He also assisted the federal government in breaking up the big studios’ stronghold on films. Eventually the major studios went back to business as usual, finding ways to stay in power for two more decades. When faced with the challenge of television, the studios simply started producing shows and series for television. If you can’t beat ‘em ... join ‘em.

Scene from

In 1954, RKO was no more, and Howard Hughes’ karma caught up with him for his shady dealing, as he sold off RKO and its library of films part and parcel. Little by little the studios whittled down their contract players to a precious few. Actors were tired of seven-year studio contracts that gave them no control and allowed the studios an option to drop or keep every six months. At first, movie stars wouldn’t do television, but TV producers made the casting of a big star an event, and the actors soon changed their minds.

In the ‘70s, businessman Kirk Kerkorian bought MGM. Like Hughes, he began by first selling off the backlot, which became a housing development, then the studio itself to Sony pictures in 1989. He then sold the entire MGM library of classic films to Ted Turner, who used it to create the cable movie channel TCM. He eventually sold the library to Warner Brothers, who now own, among other classics, “Gone With the Wind” and “The Wizard of Oz.”

Kerkorian then built and opened the MGM Grand in Las Vegas and considered MGM a hotel from then on. The moviemaking arm of MGM made films from an office building across the street from the original studio, but today it exists only in a Century City skyscraper.

Couch Theater

“Little Women” (PG) – This treasured classic tale of the March sisters has been brought back again by director Greta Gerwig (“Ladybird”), adapted from Louisa May Alcott’s novel and writings. It’s a simple coming-of-age tale, from the perspective of Jo (Saoirse Ronan), the family writer, who chronicles her and her sisters’ journey to independence. Florence Pugh plays Amy, the youngest, an artist and rival for the attentions of young neighbor Laurie (Timothée Chalamet). Emma Watson, Eliza Scanlan and Meryl Streep round out as Meg, Beth and Aunt March, respectively, all delivering performances that keep this Civil War-set tale as relevant and endearing as ever.

“Doolittle” (PG) – Robert Downey Jr. headlines as Dr. Doolittle, the man who can talk to animals. He is joined by an exhaustive list of big-name celebrities who voice an entire menagerie of animals, from Rami Malek as a gorilla to Craig Robinson as a mouse. Even Tom Holland managed to make an appearance as a dog. The story goes that the doctor, cloistered with his animals after the death of his wife, is brought out for a brand new mission to assist a poisoned young queen. During the mission, he must outrun his rival and face new challenges to find a cure. It didn’t go over well, and Downey effects a strange accent that is a little off-putting, but I found it to be watchable -- mostly for young kids.

“Cats” (PG) – A young recently abandoned cat is introduced to life on the streets and a gang of cats called the Jellicles. Feline personalities vie for the crown of the Jellicle Ball and its reward: a trip to the Heaviside Layer and a better life. The thing about “Cats” is that it’s not just a musical; it’s a concept stage-play musical, and that spectacle doesn’t always translate -- even with CGI and big-name voices. At least part of the uniquely special value of a stage play comes from the immersion in the experience. Absurdity makes sense on a stage, but on the screen, I’m distracted rather than buying in (although Jennifer Hudson’s rendition of “Memory” as Grizelda is worth watching).

“Escape From Pretoria” (PG-13) – A jailbreak drama out of 1979 South Africa stars Daniel Radcliffe as Tim Jenkin and Daniel Webber as Stephen Lee, real-life apartheid activists who were jailed in Pretoria Central Prison and who staged an escape along with a handful of other prisoners. It’s based on Jenkin’s book, “Inside Out: Escape from Pretoria Prison.” The political prisoners hatch a plot to escape that becomes a race against time to execute. I thought it was a good mix of action and tension, with an especially nuanced performance by Radcliffe.

* American alligator blood contains a serum that is so effective at combating bacteria and viruses, even alligators that lose limbs in mucky swamps often avoid infection.

* Irish author James Joyce was a great fan of Norwegian dramatist Henrik Ibsen’s plays. How great? He learned basic Norwegian just to send Ibsen a fan letter.

* The term “deadline” dates to the American Civil War. Lines in the dirt would be drawn around prisoners. If they crossed one, they would be executed by their guards. Not surprisingly, both prisoners and guards soon took to calling such a line the “deadline.”

Another 200,000 Illinoisans file for unemployment claims

By PETER HANCOCK
Capital News Illinois

SPRINGFIELD — More than half a million Illinois workers have filed first-time unemployment claims in the four weeks since the COVID-19 outbreak first hit the labor market.

Economists at the University of Illinois are now forecasting a major economic downturn that could last months, or even years, depending on the local severity of the pandemic.

The unemployment claims account for nearly 8 percent of the state's civilian labor force, and they are just part of the estimated 17 million workers nationwide who have lost their jobs over the past month.

The Illinois Department of Employment Security said that during the week that ended April 2, 201,041 Illinoisans filed initial claims, surpassing the previous record of 178,421 that was set just one week earlier.

The most recent estimates from the Washington-based Economic Policy Institute, dated April 1, suggest that as many as 779,000 people in Illinois could be out of work by July, which would boost the state's unemployment rate to 15.6 percent.

That would be higher than the historic record rate of 13.1 percent set in February 1983, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In February, just before the COVID-19 outbreak hit, Illinois actually recorded a record low unemployment rate of just 3.4 percent.

On the same day the new numbers came out, the Institute of Government and Public Affairs at the University of Illinois issued a report suggesting the economic downturn could have a devastating impact on the state's economy, and on state revenues in Illinois, depending on how severe the outbreak is and how long it takes the state's economy to recover.

Economically, the researchers said, a low-severity pandemic would likely push growth in gross domestic product this year to 0 percent. That would sink to about -3 percent growth under a moderately-severe pandemic, and -6 percent under a severe pandemic.

All of those scenarios assume the economy would recover quickly once the pandemic ends and that GDP growth would return to its normal rate of about 2 percent by 2023.

State revenues are also expected to take a major hit, but the extent of the losses would depend both on the severity of the economic downturn and how long it takes the economy to recover.

Under the most optimistic scenario — a low-severity pandemic followed by a quick recovery — the state could expect to see a decline of about $4.3 billion across calendar years 2020 and

Under a worst-case scenario — a severe pandemic followed by a slow, protracted recovery — the researchers estimate the state could see a loss of revenue totaling $28.4 billion through calendar year 2023.

“It is important to recognize the high level of uncertainty about the crisis' economic effects,” the researchers cautioned. “The uncertainty stems from a lack of clarity about the epidemiological and health consequences of the virus, as well as from uncertainty about government monetary and fiscal policies to combat the economic consequences of the health crisis.”

The researchers also noted that the full impact on the state and its economy could be lessened, depending on the kind of economic recovery measures are enacted at the federal level.

Veterans scholarship established at IVCC to memorialize soldier

OGLESBY – A scholarship has been established to memorialize a soldier from Streator who fought bravely in the Middle East only to succumb to war-related injury and illness six years after returning home.

The Tyler Derossett Memorial Veterans Award has been created by his former wife Lani Derossett, son Jhase and parents Tina Derossett of Streator and Larry Derossett of Brentwood, Tenn.

Tyler enlisted in the U.S. Army immediately following his 2007 graduation from Streator High School. In six years of service he did combat tours in Iraq and Afghanistan.

"Tyler came home in 2013 with Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) and Posttraumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and struggled with civilian life," Lani said.

He became a father in 2014 when Jhase was born and enjoyed time outdoors fishing and camping. However, after five more years struggling to adapt to life back home, he took his own life July 24, 2019.

In Tyler's obituary, his mother Tina said, "22 veterans commit suicide every day. Today it felt like 23."

Lani Derossett is hopeful the award shows other veterans there is significant support available to them at IVCC.

"Our family created this scholarship to help other veterans feel the support of a 'community' by attending IVCC," said Lani, herself a recent IVCC graduate and Foundation scholarship recipient.

The $500 scholarship will be awarded for the first time this fall to a veteran of the armed forces.

"I really truly hope this can make a difference to someone who needs it," Lani said.

DISTRACTED DRIVING AND SAFETY AWARENESS

• Distracted Driving

Illinois law prohibits the use of handheld cellphones, texting or using other electronic communications while operating a motor vehicle. Hands-free devices or Bluetooth technology is allowed for persons age 19 and older.

Illinois law prohibits the use of headsets while driving. Headsets are defined as any device, other than a hearing aid, that allows a person to hear or receive electronic communications. The use of a single-sided headset or earpiece with a wireless/cellphone device is permitted while driving. Motorcycle, motor-driven cycle and moped operators may use intercom helmets, which permit a driver and/or passengers to speak to one another.

Using hands-free technology such as a headset or voice activated controls is considered a distraction while driving and can be dangerous. If a driver must make a phone call, even with hands-free technology, it is recommended the driver pull off to the side of the road before making the call. Using a cellphone while holding the device and utilizing the speaker phone is not considered hands free and is a violation of Illinois law.

The only time an Illinois driver can use a cellphone that is not hands free is:

- To report an emergency situation.
- While parked on the shoulder of a roadway.
- While stopped due to normal traffic being obstructed and the vehicle is in neutral or park.

• Scott's Law, the Move Over Law

Scott's Law, named after Lieutenant Scott Gillen of the Chicago Fire Department who was struck and killed while assisting at a crash on the Dan Ryan Expressway, requires that, when approaching any emergency vehicle stopped along the roadway (including construction vehicles and equipment), you must reduce your speed, change lanes if possible, and proceed with caution.

• Safety Belt Law, Child Passenger Protection Act

Safety belts save thousands of lives each year. Illinois law requires all drivers and passengers to buckle up, regardless of where they sit in a vehicle.

The Child Passenger Protection Act requires all children under age 8 be properly secured in an appropriate child safety restraint system. This includes the use of booster seats, which must only be used with a lap/shoulder safety belt. If the back seat of the vehicle is not equipped with lap/shoulder type safety belts, a child weighing more than 40 pounds may be transported in the back seat without a booster seat, secured with a lap belt only. Effective January 1, 2019, Illinois law requires children to be properly secured in a rear-facing child restraint system until age 2 unless they weigh more than 40 pounds or are more than 40 inches tall.

• Don't Drink and Drive

Alcohol is a factor in nearly half of all fatal motor vehicle crashes. If you plan to drink, designate a driver who won't drink.

Avoid impaired drivers. If you notice a vehicle straddling the center line, weaving, making wide turns, stopping abruptly or responding slowly to traffic signals, the driver may be impaired. Steer clear of the vehicle by pulling off the side of the road or exiting at the nearest intersection or exit. If it appears that an oncoming vehicle is crossing into your lane, pull over, sound your horn and flash your lights. If you encounter a suspected impaired driver, safely pull off to the side of the road and contact police immediately.

For more information on traffic safety tips and laws, please consult the Illinois Rules of the Road booklet at www.cyberdriveillinois.com.

The sponsors on this page urge you to follow the rules of the road. By being a responsible, defensive driver you will do your part to improve traffic safety and safe driving.

Area 4-H members make masks

4-H members all across Marshall and Putnam counties were given a challenge while staying at home during the COVID-19 crisis. The members were offered the chance to take part in a community service project by making masks to support essential workers.

“Service is a big part of being a 4-H member and this is a good time to utilize their skills or learn new ones to benefit others,” stated Anne Scheel, 4-H & Youth Development Program Coordinator for University of Illinois Extension, Marshall-Putnam counties.

Each youth who rose to the challenge was provided with materials to make two masks. They were asked to have their parents share them with members of our communities that go to work every day so the rest of us have essentials like food, medicine, and gas. The youth were also encouraged to find material at home to make more if they could.

“I am very proud of how our 4-H leaders and members have taken part in this community service project,” stated Anne Scheel. Visit their Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/blmp4H/> for ideas and activities.

Sublette FD will provide birthday visits

SUBLETTE – The Sublette Fire Department has joined the trend of fire departments making road side visits for children’s birthdays. This is a way of making a child’s birthday special during these distancing times.

A fire truck will come to the child’s home with lights and sirens and park along the street or road to allow the family to take photos in front of the truck. The driver will remain in the truck. The visits are available from Monday to Friday at 6 p.m. or Saturday at 1 p.m. Children must be 12 or under and must live in the Sublette Fire District.

Blood drive in Princeton, April 21

PRINCETON - The Princeton Public Library will host a blood drive in the Matson Meeting Room on Tuesday, April 21 from 1-5 p.m. Please note: The library will not be open for business, but the Matson Meeting Room will be made available for this important public service. The need for blood donors is great now.

Appointments are required to insure safety protocols. The number of people who can be in the room at one time will be limited to keep everyone 6 feet apart for safety. Donors should sign up early to get their preferred time slot.

To make an appointment, go to the blood center website at www.bloodcenter.org or call (800) 747-5401.

On the day of the blood drive, donors can save 10-15 minutes by answering the questions at home on their cell phone. This cuts down time at the donation site. Text EarlyQ to answer these questions. This must be done the day of the donation (April 21).

Remember to cancel your appointment if you are not feeling well, have a cough, or are in contact with someone who is sick with a cough or fever.

Kish donates to local organizations during COVID-19 pandemic

MALTA - Kishwaukee College has donated supplies to numerous local organizations in support of those in need and those on the frontlines during COVID-19. Multiple healthcare facilities, a food pantry and a domestic violence organization all received donations from the college in late March following the college’s decision to go fully remote.

“We are grateful to be able to help our community in such at time of need,” said Angie Delmont, Kish’s director of nursing. “Many of our students and clinical adjuncts are working in these facilities right now. It’s important that we contribute and assist as we can.”

The college’s automotive, basic nursing assisting, dental assistant, nursing, phlebotomy and vet assistant programs along with the biology and chemistry departments pooled resources together to give.

Supplies donated included over 50 goggles, 14 cases of isolation gowns, approximately 230 boxes of gloves, 43 boxes of face masks including single use and N95 respirator masks and over 150 bottles of individual-sized hand sanitizers. Donations were made to Bethany Health Care Nursing Home and Rehabilitation Center, Center for Family Health, Northwestern Medicine Kishwaukee Hospital and Rochelle

Food from the College’s food pantry, Kody’s Cupboard, and the Kish Café was given to local organizations. Instead of allowing food pantry items to

Professor points out 13 behaviors to adapt as society battles COVID-19

MUNCIE, Ind. – As society digs into its battle against COVID-19, a health researcher at Ball State University recommends behaviors that to adapt as soon as possible to help avoid illness.

“Our society is more diverse than ever, and we have developed a tolerance for a variety of behaviors due to greater amalgamation of cultures, traditions, etiquettes, and norms,” said Jagdish Khubchandani, a health science professor. “In general, we tend to ignore unhealthy and unsanitary behaviors in the guise of other peoples’ choice, personality type, family habits, or culture.

“During and after the current pandemic crisis, we need greater awareness, collective action, and common civic behaviors driven by scientific evidence on transmission of emerging infectious disease agents such as coronaviruses. We must also not hesitate from educating or questioning family members, colleagues, and the general public on behaviors that pose danger to self and the society.”

Given the current evidence on mechanisms of transmission and action of COVID-19, Khubchandani offers up 13 behaviors and habits to be embraced:

- Take regular showers. While people are sheltering in place, some may neglect daily routines, but showering is a must because COVID-19 can live on surfaces for days.
- Keep your clothes clean. Don’t wear the same clothes for many days. Do laundry frequently.
- Stop nail biting, thumb sucking, and rubbing eyes.
- Stop scratching your head, face, or body.
- Wash fruits and vegetables, and avoid eating them immediately in aisles, stores, or car.

- Don’t litter the inside and around your house. This could increase risk for household members, and littering in the community can burden sanitation workers. Recent instances of people throwing used masks and gloves in public places will increase risk for waste management workers and trash pickers.

- Clean your car. Dispose of leftovers and edibles, trash, masks, and gloves.

- Maintain hygiene while growing your hair, beard, or nails or using hair and face accessories.

- Cover your face when you sneeze or cough.

- Wash your hands after using restrooms, coming back from public places, after grocery shopping, pumping gas, using elevators, or using high traffic door knobs or electric switches.

- Clean your desk space, cell phone, and computer devices.

- Don’t rely on carryout or delivery as your sole source of food for every meal every day, and be sure to eat enough and consume healthy foods.

- Don’t reuse wipes, masks, gloves, and personal care devices without cleaning them.

Kish opens registration for summer and fall classes

MALTA - Kishwaukee College has opened registration for summer and fall classes, however changes have been made to ensure the college remains accessible during the pandemic. Summer courses will be primarily online courses due to the current COVID-19 recommendations. Kish is planning to be fully operational this fall, with both online and face-to-face course offerings. The summer semester begins May 26 and the fall semester begins Aug. 17.

Kish has taken numerous proactive measures to ensure all students have access to an education this summer. The tuition due date for summer 2020 classes has been extended to July 1, and students will not be dropped for non-payment. Students who register for summer classes and do not drop within the refund period will be responsible for tuition and fees. The college is waiving the $25 fee for students who enroll in a payment plan for both summer and fall. Additionally, Kish is exploring other options to ensure that college remains affordable throughout the COVID-19 pandemic.

Online courses can help students earn their degree and achieve their academic goal. Along with a variety of course selections this summer, Kish offers a completely online associate degree. Summer courses can help students get closer to transfer, graduate in less time or explore a field. New students must complete a student information form before registering.

To learn more about online learning at Kish, visit www.kish.edu/online.

For more information about enrollment, visit www.kish.edu/getstarted or contact Student Services at onestop@kish.edu.

EARTH DAY

How Earth Day and environmental consciousness have evolved in 50 years

Reduce, reuse, recycle is a mantra for many people. It's difficult to imagine that just 50 years ago awareness of the state of the environment was not part of the collective consciousness.

An emerging public consciousness about the planet began amid environmental issues like increased air pollution and massive consumption of fossil fuels in the 1960s. The bestselling book "Silent Spring" by Rachel Carson also raised public concern for living organisms and the links between pollution and public health. The push for environmental reform gained even more momentum on April 22, 1970, when the first Earth Day was celebrated.

Then-Senator Gaylord Nelson from Wisconsin put Earth Day on the national stage following a large oil spill that struck off the coast of Santa Barbara, Calif. Before this disaster, recycling was not a word in the popular lexicon. But when the disaster struck, people began to reason that changes would have to be made to save the planet.

Since the first Earth Day 50 years ago, many strides have been made in the environmental movement. This grassroots initiative gave rise to the establishment of the Environmental Protection Agency, the Clean Air Act and the Clean Water Act. Environmental awareness has become much more mainstream and is a less polarizing issue than it was in the 1970s, although there are still debates about the reality of climate change and other risk factors. Public demand for environmental safeguards grew in the second half of the twentieth century, and those demands have grown stronger in recent years. Legislation is continually evolving to protect the air, land and water. Sustainability has joined the buzzwords of the movement, and most industries now have a vested interest in changes that can minimize risk to human health and the environment.

Mitigating or avoiding environmental effects, proper waste disposal, reduction in water discharge, and emphasis on reducing, reusing and recycling have become important components of environmental wellness. And people are being educated at earlier stages on the importance of environmental mindfulness. For example, core subjects of the environmental movement are increasingly covered in elementary schools.

Twenty million people turned out for the first Earth Day in the United States. Today, more than 190 countries are engaged and more than one billion individuals are mobilized for action every Earth Day, advises the Earth Day Network. To mark the 50th anniversary, the most pressing topic for the year is climate change. Climate Action is the 2020 Earth Day theme to engage the global public. There is still work to be done, but great progress has been made since 1970.

Are your 'recyclable' products actually recyclable?

(StatePoint) If you're like many people, you feel good when you are able to toss items into the recycling bin instead of the trash. But a new report suggests that many of those "recyclable" labels on your products may be misleading, and that much of what you believe will be processed and used again is actually sent to a landfill or incinerator.

The survey, conducted by Greenpeace, is based on conditions from October 2019 to January 2020, however, experts warn that the economics of collecting, sorting and reprocessing plastic products is likely to only worsen in the coming years. Part of the problem is that due to global trade factors limiting the amount of plastic materials China imports from the U.S., America's municipal recycling collection systems have been significantly impacted and are recycling far less materials than they once did. The other problem? A lack of truth in advertising.

The full report, available at greenpeace.org/usa/plastic\_recycling revealed that despite labels stating otherwise, many recycling facilities only accept two types of post-consumer plastic items -- PET #1 and HDPE #2 bottles and jugs, while plastics #3-7 are rarely recycled even if they are accepted in recycling programs due to their low value and the lack of a market for those materials. Additionally, many full body shrink sleeves that are added to PET #1 and HDPE

A new report suggests that many of those "recyclable" labels on your products may be misleading, and that much of what you believe will be processed and used again is actually sent to a landfill or incinerator.

#2 bottles and jugs make those products non-recyclable as well. Unfortunately, when items end up at a facility that cannot process them, they can contaminate otherwise recyclable batches of materials.

"Retailers and consumer goods companies across the country are misleading the public and harming America's recycling systems in the process," says John Hocevar, Greenpeace USA oceans campaign director.

According to Hocevar, accurate recyclable claims and labels serve three valuable functions: truthful advertising to consumers, prevention of harmful contamination in America's recycling system, and identification of products for elimination or redesign to reduce waste and plastic pollution.

While plans to increase the pressure are underway for companies that don't correct their labels, Greenpeace experts say the real solution is for companies to get serious about reducing plastic use, and for the public to do their part by urging consumer goods companies and retailers to end their reliance on single-use plastics.

"Instead of getting serious about moving away from single-use plastic, corporations are hiding behind the pretense that their throwaway packaging is recyclable. The jig is up," says Hocevar. "It's time to stop pretending that the trillions of throwaway plastic items produced each year will be recycled or composted and to stop producing so many of them in the first place by investing in reusable, refillable, and package-free approaches."

Films to be broadcast on 50th anniversary of Earth Day

Fifty years ago, millions of Americans took to the streets in protest of environmental inaction. This collective action, known as Earth Day, launched the current environmental movement, raising awareness for conservation and leading to a cascade of environmental legislation.

Earth Day has since become a globally recognized day of action and teaching. To celebrate half a century of action toward environmental change, Turner Classic Movies is presenting a selection of films on April 22 — the 50th anniversary of Earth Day — that highlights the environmental cause.

The Plow That Broke the Plains (1936)

The Plow That Broke the Plains is a short documentary written and directed by Pare Lorentz that shows how uncontrolled agricultural farming in the Great Plains region of the U.S. and Canada led to the Dust Bowl. This period of severe dust storms damaged the ecology of the prairies of the 1930s. The film, sponsored by the U.S. government, is narrated by American actor Thomas Chalmers and features a score by Virgil Thomson that is influenced by hymns and folk songs.

The River (1938)

The River, another short Depression-era documentary by Lorentz, focuses on the Mississippi River and the farming and timber methods that caused topsoil to be swept downstream into the Gulf of Mexico. These practices led to catastrophic floods and the impoverishment of farmers. This film was also sponsored by the U.S. government and, like The Plow That Broke the Plains, has a distinctly American score by Virgil Thomson that has been played by orchestras as a concert suite. Thomas Chalmers again narrates.

The Sea Around Us (1953)

The Sea Around Us is a feature-length documentary from producer/writer/director Irwin Allen that is based on the 1951 book of the same title by Rachel L. Carson. The film, which won an Academy Award for Best Documentary Feature, explores undersea life ranging from sharks, whales and octopuses to microscopic creatures. Don Forbes and Theodore von Eltz narrate, and the score is by Paul Sawtell.

Koyaanisqatsi (1982)

Koyaanisqatsi, with its title taken from a Hopi Indian word meaning

"unbalanced life," is an experimental film by Godfrey Reggio, featuring slow-motion and time-lapse photography of cities and natural landscapes in the U.S. The stunning cinematography is by Ron Fricke and its minimalist score is by Philip Glass. Koyaanisqatsi has developed a cult following and is part of Reggio's Qatsi trilogy, which also includes Powaqatsi (1988) and Naqoyqatsi (2002). The filmmaker has said that these films are "intended to simply create an experience" and that it is up to the viewer to determine what they mean.

An Inconvenient Truth (2006)

An Inconvenient Truth is a concert/documentary film directed by Davis Guggenheim that focuses on former U.S. Vice President Al Gore's campaign to educate people about the dangers of global warming. It is built around a slide show that Gore has presented many times to worldwide audiences. The film was a commercial success and won two Oscars, for Best Documentary Feature and Original Song (Melissa Etheridge's "I Need to Wake Up"). A sequel, An Inconvenient Sequel: Truth to Power, was released in 2017.

Shrink your carbon pawprint with eco-friendly pet care

For many people, making efforts to reduce their environmental impact is important, but some pet owners may find that making this lifestyle change can be a complicated process because of the additional supplies needed to care for their animals.

Emerald Rodriguez and Kristy Yu, two veterinary students at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences (CVM) and members of the Green Vets student organization, advise pet owners on what steps they can take to keep their furry friend happy while being more environmentally conscious.

Oftentimes, pet owners may be able to swap out their usual products for more Earth-friendly versions. For example, Rodriguez and Yu recommend that owners seek out compostable cat litter, biodegradable waste bags, and pet toys and accessories made from recycled or plant-based materials.

When pet care essentials are not offered in more sustainable options, owners can still be proactive in disposing of packaging waste responsibly.

"Pet owners can recycle empty and clean items such as aluminum cans for wet pet food and cat litter containers," Yu said. "There are also recycling programs for certain brands of pet food bags."

Owners may also reduce waste by donating items that their pet no longer needs. This not only keeps trash out of landfills, but also reduces the number of items that must be produced. Donating old pet supplies to charitable organizations has the added benefit of supporting valuable causes.

"Rescues and shelters may accept donations of gently used pet items, including dog beds, toys, pet carriers, crates, exercise pens, collars, leashes, and bowls," Yu said. "They might also accept household items, including newspapers, towels, and blankets. Contact your local animal shelter to learn what gently used items they will accept."

In addition to supporting shelters and rescues by donating supplies, owners can also adopt pets from these agencies to reduce overcrowding, and spaying and neutering pets can benefit the environment by preventing overpopulation, says Rodriguez.

One significant but preventable environmental issue is large populations of feral cats and the disruptions they introduce to an environment. When pet cats are allowed outdoors, they will sometimes breed and generate populations of stray cats that disrupt local ecosystems by hunting wild birds. For this reason, pet cats allowed outdoors should be spayed or neutered and should have a bell on their collar to help lessen their success when hunting.

Although some aspects of pet care generate unavoidable waste, there are also areas in which owners can make adjustments to care for their furry friends in an eco-friendly manner. There is no reason why pet owners can't take care of their pet and the Earth at the same time!

Know your enemy, win the war

The Bible teaches us about spiritual warfare and that we have an enemy, the devil. 1 Peter 5:9 say to resist the devil and stand firm in our faith in God. And Ephesians 6 tells us about the armor of God that helps us overcome our struggle “against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms” (v. 12 NIV).

Some people deny the existence of the devil and of hell. They don’t believe a loving God would really send anyone to a place of eternal torment. But the Bible teaches us that we do have an enemy and there is a place called hell, so we’re deceiving ourselves if we refuse to believe it.

The Bible also says that God is patient, “not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance” (2 Peter 3:9). And John 3:16 says, “For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life.”

The Truth About Our Enemy

An effective strategy to gain victory over any enemy is to know who he is and how he operates. The Bible has a lot to say about the devil.

John 8:44 (NIV) says,

“He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies.” And 1 Peter 5:8 tells us to “be alert and of sober mind. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour.”

Deception is the devil’s primary strategy to keep us from growing spiritually and fulfilling God’s purposes for our lives. To be deceived simply means you believe a lie. This is dangerous because if you believe a lie, then it will become your reality even though it isn’t true. For example, you can believe someone doesn’t like you and be upset about being rejected when the truth is they haven’t thought one bad thing about you.

Everyone is affected to some degree by lies they believe. I used to believe I would be able to have a second-rate life because my father had sexually abused me and I was “damaged goods.” If I hadn’t come to know the truth about God’s love for me and how He could heal and restore my soul, my life would be much different than it is today. I seriously doubt I ever would have become a Bible teacher who is helping others discover how they can know God and become everything He has created them to be in Christ.

We need to pray for God to reveal any deception in our minds because every lie we believe represents something the devil is stealing from us that God wants us to have. I’m talking about real peace and joy, freedom from constantly feeling guilty about something you’ve done, the ability to have healthy relationships, or any of the other promises God gives us in His Word.

Be Liberated by the Truth

Our thoughts are so important, and that’s why I teach about the “battlefield of the mind.” We need to be more diligent to think about what we’re thinking about and choose on purpose to think in ways that line up with God’s Word. Jesus said, “If you abide in My word...you are truly My disciples. And you will know the truth...and the truth will set you free” (John 8:31-32 AMP).

The key here is to “abide” in God’s Word. To abide means to live and remain in it. As we spend time each day meditating on Scripture, rolling it over and over in our minds, we will gain freedom from wrong mindsets and beliefs.

Here’s a practical way to apply this principle. The next time you’re feeling discouraged or having a pity party, ask yourself, “What have I been thinking about?” You’ve likely been mulling over thoughts about what people don’t do for you, what you don’t like about yourself, what you don’t have...and on and on.

The solution to turning your attitude around is by thinking about God and what He says about you.

• Romans 5:8 says God loves you unconditionally and that while you were still a sinner, Christ died for you.

• Psalm 139:14 says that God created you by His own hand in your mother’s womb and you are wonderful.

• Ephesians 2:10 says you are “God’s handiwork, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance” for you to do.

• And Romans 8:37-39 says you are more than a conqueror through Christ, and there is nothing that can separate you from God’s love.

I want to encourage you to spend time studying these scriptures, praying for God to help you get these truths rooted in your heart. You can also get more encouraging teaching or submit a prayer request by contacting our ministry at www.joycemeyer.org. We love you and want to help you gain victory over the enemy in every area of your life!
