

Childcare to help healthcare workers, first responders

Clinton YMCA beginning program to accept up to 10 children, based on state mandate

Gordon Woods

gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON - Clinton Community YMCA offering has begun childcare services to local healthcare and essential workers and first responders during the COVID-19 crisis.

YMCA executive director Rennie Cluver posted guidelines and registration forms late Monday on the facility's Web site.

The Clinton Y is exempt from licensing under the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS). But, when Gov. Pritzkers mandate went out allowing childcare centers to remain open for essential workers, it did not include those exempted from licensing by the state.

"I was in the process of applying for us to stay open, when the mandate was revised," Cluver said. That cleared the way for Clinton Y to be ready to accept children. There is a limit, though, of 10 children. That's the maximum currently allowed in childcare facilities, in line with the current order limiting the size of public gatherings. Cluver has moved quickly, though, to begin taking applications from qualified parents. He said he had already had an inquiry from a local healthcare worker.

The Y is using a childcare model for school-aged children that also will maintain health and safety standards and the social distancing directives from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and recommendations from the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH).

The program will operate from 7 a.m.- 6 p.m., Mon.-Fri. at the Y.

Details of the program and registration forms are available at www. clintoncommymca.org. The program will continue until schools resume inclass attendance or until the state resumes its 50 or fewer people in an area mandate.

DECATUR — Rep. Dan Caulkins (R-Decatur) over the weekend supported the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act. (CARES). The U.S. Senate passed the bill on Wednesday; the House passed it on Friday.

"Congress just passed the ...Act that provides needed relief for the many Central Illinois small business, restaurants, hotels, music venues, bars and others suffering through the government-mandated social distancing period," Caulkins said. "We need to make sure workers in the 101st House District have jobs to return to once we defeat coronavirus."

Caulkins said there was good reason for federal, state and local authorities promote social distancing to contain the spread of the virus, but, unfortunately, this was hurting businesses.

"The just-passed CARES Act provides that relief," he said.

Caulkins said he had concerns about the complexity, scope, and what he characterized as "pork" in the bill. He said the infusion of capital to

Vespasian Warner Public Library goes digital

Warner Library providing patrons services during COVID-19 closure

CLINTON The physical library building may be closed due to the COVID-19 outbreak, but community members can still access a variety of library services from home.

In response to the Stay at Home Order issued by Governor Pritzker, staff at the Vespasian Warner Public Library District in Clinton are working to continually add digital resources and services to the existing collection. All services, including those listed below, are free of charge for library patrons. • The Digital Library: Access thousands of audiobooks, ebooks, movies, music albums and more with Hoopla and Overdrive. Visit www. vwarner.org/ebooks for details.

• Wi-Fi Internet Access: The library's free Wi-Fi signal is now available 24/7 and can be accessed from inside a vehicle parking in the library's parking lot.

• Virtual Storytime: Gather the kids and listen to library staff read stories, sing songs, and more on the library's Facebook page.

• Genealogy and Family Research: Start searching billions of records and discover your family's story with ancestry.com. Patrons can request the password for this service by emailing library@ vwarner.org.

• Local History Archives: View digital versions of items housed in the library's archive. A variety of artifacts ranging from the Civil War to local school yearbooks is available at www.vwarner. org/local-history.

• AtoZ World Food & AtoZ Food America Databases: Running out of ideas and inspiration for home-cooked meals? Discover new recipes, learn about other cultures, and explore the history of food.

As a reminder, the Vespasian Warner Public Library District has been fine-free for 10 years. This means that no overdue fines, fees, or bills will be issued during this time. The book drops are closed and patrons are encouraged to hold onto the items they have checked-out until the library opens again.

A library card is required to access some of the above services.

Temporary library cards will be granted to those living within the Vespasian Warner Public Library District boundaries. To apply for a temporary card, please visit www.vwarner.org and click the Temporary Card link to complete the free registration process. Patrons who do not know their library card number or PIN can email library@ vwarner.org for assistance. Patrons who do not have computer or internet access can call (217) 935-5174 and leave a message. A staff member will return calls within 48 hours.

For additional updates, visit the library's Web site at www.vwarner. org or Facebook page, @ VespasianWarner.

More about cleavers

elcome to my little corner of culinary delights. I have a few more cutting remarks to make about cleavers.

When using the cleaver, respect must be shown. If you become reckless with it, you could loose a finger or even a hand. I own a metal mesh glove to wear as protection. It looks something like the chain mail worn in medieval days for combat. However, in my view, it gives a false sense of security. When that formidable chunk of metal comes smashing down, there is no turning back. If it can crush animal bone, that glove is not going to help much. My 10 inch cleaver weighs 31/2 pounds. With the inertia behind it when it strikes, it is equivalent to 30 pounds or more striking force.

I like cracking open ham bones for stock to allow that wonderful marrow to cook out into the stock. One would need a very strong surface. I mostly work in my up-stairs kitchen. I have a full-size butcher's block on the ground floor kitchen. That butcher's block is most adequate. Not wanting to go down stairs just to crack a bone, I have devised a method that can be used on any sturdy home cutting board.

For small bones, such as from rabbits, chickens and turkeys, I simply strike the bone sharply with one of my smaller cleavers.

When it comes to larger bones, such as the type you get from sheep, pigs, and cattle, I use a small kitchen handsaw. I cut one third to one half of the distance through. Turning the bone to the opposite side, I give it a firm tap with the cleaver. If that does not work, use a harder tap.

How does one sharpen a large cleaver? You may laugh but I use the curbstone outside. Curbstones are made of sandstone. After conditioning it with another stone and cleaning it, I tried using it. I find it to be great for course sharpening. I put the finishing touches on the cleaver with a course flat stone. Flat stones are bought at a local hardware store. I suggest this only for cleavers. Never use this method for your regular kitchen knives!

A friend watched how I mince onions with my Chef's knife. She informed me that I should not scrape sideways on the board with my knife; it dulls the blade. She got this from the internet. It is a habit of mine to mince this way, but she is absolutely correct. However, this does not damage the edge. It turns the edge under. This is easily remedied with a few swipes on the steel. That is why you see butchers constantly using a steel when cutting meat. Therefore, I lack concern in scraping my knife sideways on the board when mincing.

Even if you do not have a cleaver or care to use one, I hope this satisfies your curiosity about them.

Until next time, peace to all.

'Financial Literacy Month,' A perfect time to plan for your future

Elaine Popejoy

Social Security district manager, Bloomington

April is Financial Literacy Month, a month focused on educating people about the importance of planning for a secure financial future. Social Security is a vital part of any financial plan, and we have online tools to help you understand your potential Social Security benefits and how they fit into your financial plans.

You should periodically review your Social Security Statement through your personal my Social Security account at www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount. Your Statement is an easy-to-read record of your earnings that determine your future benefits. You'll want to verify that your recorded earnings are correct as they affect the amount you could receive. Your Statement also provides a summary of the estimated benefits you and your family could receive, including potential retirement, disability, and survivors benefits. The online Statement is paired with an interactive Retirement Calculator that allows you to run additional benefit estimate scenarios comparing how different future earnings and retirement benefit start dates affect your benefit amount.

Start focusing on your financial literacy today.

Government needs to spend or do whatever it takes

Countries have experienced economic depressions before, but not usually as a matter of choice.

The nationwide coronavirus shutdowns over the past three weeks have ground parts of the country to a halt. We have probably never before in our history seen so much economic activity vaporize so quickly -- within days or even hours. The Great Depression and the panics of the 19th century are the only possible analogues.

Goldman Sachs is forecasting a 24% drop in quarterly GDP. Morgan Stanley is anticipating a 30% decline.

These are the top-line numbers of a vastation that will throw millions out of work, stress families and blight personal lives, destroy the dreams of small-business owners and bankrupt industries. This is a tale of human misery, not just of declines in the stock market and in GDP.

The federal government can alleviate some of the damage, but even the biggest, best-designed stimulus bill is no substitute for shuttered storefronts and factories. And how many times can Washington pass $2 trillion bills?

No, this is not sustainable, nor will people stand for it except as a temporary expedient. President Donald Trump is already expressing impatience with his own guidance against gatherings of more than 10 people for the next 15 days.

If that sentiment is understandable, it'd be foolish to give up on the lockdowns before they have much of a chance to, in the cliche of the hour, flatten the curve.

If the disease had been left unchecked, it would have exacted an enormous price, in lives of the infected, in the breakdown of the hospital system, in the follow-on effects on people ill with conditions that would have gone untreated. No matter how bad today's lockdowns are, imagine if we decided to undertake them at a time when the U.S. already had a million cases and the health care system was in deep crisis.

Our aim should be to shift from the blunderbuss solution of mass shutdowns rifle-shot to remedies, on the model of what South Korea has done with its widespread testing (although it has much more favorable conditions as a smaller, more cohesive country with an outbreak centered on one church).

We should focus on the production of tests, ventilators, masks and other protective gear on an industrial scale. Whatever the government has to spend or do to get it done should happen -- just as if we were on a wartime footing.

The first priority should obviously be backstopping the hospital system and protecting front-line medical workers. But, as economists Paul Romer and Alan M. Garber argue, we need to widen out from there to create a system of population-wide testing and the distribution of protective gear to workers interacting with the public to protect against the spread, while allowing for ordinary work.

This regimen would depend on innovation -- cheaper, faster tests, etc. -- but that is surely within our power with enough will and resources.

Then, we could begin to return to normal with much less risk, even if vulnerable populations and metropolitan hot spots still require extraordinary precautions.

Whatever path we take will be costly and have its downsides. All we can know with certainty is that the current path is untenable.

Clinton High School names new head basketball coach

Marc Rogers jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON — Clinton High School announced Tuesday it has a new head basketball coach.

Dan Luketich has been an assistant in basketball programs in Chicago, two programs in Arizona, and one program in New Jersey. He has worked at various basketball camps around the U.S. and with a prestigious European team from Croatia.

Luketich said he is looking forward to becoming the Maroons' head basketball coach and said he was grateful for the opportunity and also looks forward to becoming part of the Clinton community.

Illinois Department of Public Health Director Dr. Ngozi Ezike said the number of confirmed cases, which have grown by hundreds daily since the state upped its testing output, tell only part of the story. She also said increased deaths and confirmed cases are expected to continue to increase, although the true number of cases in the community is unknown due to lack of available testing nationwide.

"But I do want to put these numbers in perspective and remind you that the majority of those that get infected do not suffer severe illness, do not require hospitalization," she said, adding that up to 80 percent of those infected will not need critical care. "What we do need to pay attention to with these numbers is what they mean for our health care capacity."

Pritzker said just 41 percent of adult intensive care beds were available as of Monday – that's 2 percent less than a week ago – while 68 percent of ventilators were available, a 4 percent weekly drop.

About 35 percent of total intensive care beds and 24 percent of total ventilators are being used by COVID-19 patients, he added. He said the state is working every day to increase medical capacity in those areas. Pritzker said when the stay-at-home order is lifted will depend on when the disease "peaks," meaning the number of added cases each day hits a maximum and then starts to decline. "What we're seeing in places like New York is that the peak may last for several days or more," he said. Ezike said extending the stay-at-home order will help "flatten the curve," or decrease the number of cases when the disease does peak, in turn limiting strain on the medical system.

"So that's even further evidence that we need to stay home. You can't eyeball someone and think you know if they're sick or not," she said. "Let's continue to do what we've been telling ourselves to do - washing our hands, staying home, covering cleaning our cough, frequently touched surfaces. Let's do it all for ourselves, for our family and for our community."

The extension of the stayat-home order Wednesday will be accompanied by a 30-day extension of the disaster proclamation that gives Pritzker the authority to make such an order. The decision was based on what Pritzker said were "top medical experts, scientists, public health researchers, epidemiologists, mathematicians and modelers from the greatest institutions in the world."

"But from all the modeling that we've seen, our greatest risk of hitting capacity isn't right now, but weeks from now. The virus' is spread is growing. So are its risks. We must not let up now," he said.

Still, he said, "there's no perfect model that you can look at" when trying to figure when the disease people the opportunity to do that," he said.

But, he said, that's a decision that would have to be made by the General Assembly, and it is uncertain when the body will meet to discuss such legislation as an operating budget and other mustpass measures.

"We have to find a way to get the Legislature together. That's going to be a decision that gets made by the legislative leaders, along with our public health professionals, to determine how you get 177 General Assembly members in the similar area and vote on things," he said.

Pritzker also addressed an outbreak of COVID-19 at Stateville Correctional Center in Crest Hill, noting the Illinois Department of Corrections is "reviewing the case files of as many low-risk offenders as possible for early release during this crisis, with nearly 300 more released," as of 1 p.m. Tuesday.

There are 32 positive cases of COVID-19 at Stateville with more tests pending, he said.

"We're using every mechanism available to us to prevent and contain the virus is spread in our department of corrections facilities, including standing up temporary facilities for an on-site medical mission with our National Guard," he said. He said any inmate falling ill enough to need one would receive a hospital bed and ventilator, and he noted hospitals refusing care to inmates "will be called out by name. And those that refuse to operate in accordance to their oath can and will be compelled to do so by law." For health questions about COVID-19, call the hotline at 1-800-889-3931 or email dph.sick@ illinois.gov. The state has also called on licensed health care workers from any field to sign up for the fight against COVID-19 visiting https:// by illinoishelps.net/. What's in a mascot?

Marc Rogers jmarre@frontier.com

What seems to be years ago, during a lull in sporting activities, this writer began writing about team mascots, especially "weird" ones.

There were bunnies, pretzels, orphans, the caxy (the sound a frog makes I'm told) and others.

In this time of "shelter-inplace" and only essential happenings, many are lost in the duldrums of sitting at home watching drastic news reports and reruns from years ago and need a lift.

Here goes the return of those pesky "weird" mascots. The original mascots were from Illinois high schools (believe it or not). So, we'll continue with more of those.

First to appear are the teams from Argo, Ill. For some reason schools look to ancient history, or fiction, when naming teams.

This time, Greek mythology takes a hand; there were ancient heroes who sailed in a ship called the "Argo" searching for a golden fleece. These mythological heroes were called the "Argonauts." Thus, the teams from Argo, ever in search of the next win, however elusive, were named the Argonauts.

Next we come upon a controversial team mascot and name for the athletes from Freeburg, Ill.

In the early 1900s the basketball team was very successful, although not tall in stature. The moniker can be blamed on a sports reorter, of all things.

After one unbelievable win over a much taller team, the sports reporter called the exceptionally talented team the "Midgets" because no one on the team was taller than 5-foot 10-inches. As for the controversy, the school board has been approached various times, first by the Little People of America requesting the name be changed.

However, many from the community spoke in favor of the name, feeling the name promoted citizenship, responsibility and school spirit and had been part of the community for over 100 years. At last check, the name still stands.

Another name from out of the past is that of the athletic teams of Polo, Ill.

Despite the similarity of the team's name to the childhood swimming pool game "Marco Polo," the school has no swimming teams or even a pool to swim in. They are named for the early Italian explorer Marco Polo. Again, another team taking to the pages of history for its teams mascot/nickname, the Polo Marcos.

For the final entry in this episode of our query into mascots, we approach a team closer to home.

An eternal foe of our local teams are the teams from Monticello.

The city is named for the estate of one Thomas Jefferson, early American statesman and president. Mr. Jefferson was known as the "Sage of Monticello," thus, the school board and residents decided on "Sages" for the team nickname with an owl, supposed to be wiseor a sage, as the mascot.

She said the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently shared new guidance that "we should be concerned about people transmitting the virus even 24 or 48 hours will peak, so decisions will have to be made when more information become available.

The 26 new deaths related to the virus represent the largest single day spike in that category. They include 17 Cook County residents between age 50 and 90; two DuPage County females in their 70s; a Kane County male in his 80s; a Lake County female in her 60s; a McLean County male in his 70s; a Morgan County male in his 80s; a St. Clair county female in her 30s; and a Will County male and female in their 80s.

Later at the briefing, Pritzker addressed questions about voting in the November general election.

"I do think that we're going to have to look at, for the general election, the idea that we may have to move to significant amount or maybe all mailin ballots or at least giving

WEATHER

Weather History

April 3

1974: The most violent tornado outbreak in U.S. history began on this date and continued into the early morning hours of April 4. A total of 148 tornadoes were noted in 13 states in the central and eastern U.S., including 12 in Illinois. This outbreak killed 307 people and produced $600 million in damage. In central Illinois, the strongest tornado of this outbreak moved across Macon County, affecting the west and north sides of Decatur in the early afternoon. This tornado killed one person and produced $3.4 million damage, destroyed 52 homes and severely damaged 110 others. Tornadoes were also reported in Logan, McLean, Champaign, Vermilion, Ford, and Edgar Counties.

A message from Illinois hospitals and health systems during the COVID-19 pandemic

NAPERVILLE – The Illinois Health and Hospital Association (IHA), along with its 200 member hospitals and nearly 40 health systems, today called on all Illinois residents to help hospitals prevent a surge of COVID-19 patients by protecting themselves, their families and their neighbors.

Help Us Help You—aims to reduce the spread of the virus now ("flatten the curve") so hospitals and health systems have the capacity to provide lifesaving care to seriously ill COVID-19 patients over the coming weeks and months.

"We must slow the spread of the virus," Michael Wahl, MD, Medical Director of the Illinois Poison Center (IPC) at IHA, emphasized. "If this does not happen, a large number of people will get sick in a very short time frame, which will overwhelm our healthcare system as all seek care at the same time." IPC is assisting the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH) run the state's COVID-19 hotline (1-800-889-3931). IHA's call to action supports Governor J.B. Pritzker's "Stay-At-Home" order issued on Friday, March 20. The order, which took effect Saturday evening at 5 p.m. and continues through April 7, requires all Illinois residents to stay home with few exceptions. The Governor and Illinois Department of Public Health announced on Sunday an increase of 296 COVID-19 cases and three new deaths in the state, bringing the total number of cases to 1,049 (in 30 counties) and deaths to nine. "We fully support and commend the Governor for implementing a statewide stay-at-home policy," A.J. Wilhelmi, President and CEO of IHA, said. "By staving inside and away from others, there is less chance to spread the virus, so fewer people will get sick. This will decrease the surge of symptomatic patients on our healthcare system, and the capacity to care for the critically ill will be less likely to be exceeded." Dr. Wahl encourages all Illinois residents to follow the practices set forth by IDPH and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), which include:

and self-quarantine where indicated.

• Washing your hands frequently.

Calling your healthcare provider BEFORE seeking medical care. If you think you have been exposed to COVID-19 and develop a fever and symptoms such as coughing, call your healthcare provider before going to a clinic, emergency room, or searching for a COVID-19 testing site. Patients with mild to moderate symptoms should seek healthcare counsel from their physician, if possible, as the critical resources and staff available in the hospital emergency department need to be preserved for the most critically ill. "Over the past two Help us help you months, Illinois hospitals have taken extraordinary and swift action in response to the coronavirus outbreak," Wilhelmi said. "They are prepared thanks staunch emergency to preparedness and infection control training."

Preventive measures to mitigate the spread of COVID-19 have included:

- Screening all patients and staff before entrance;
- Enhancing sanitation protocols:

• Limiting or prohibiting visitors:

• Conserving necessary supplies; and

• Offering increased telehealth services.

"Many hospitals are also shoring up their capacity to admit more patients by postponing or canceling non-urgent appointments," according to Wilhelmi. "They are rearranging operations and staff-and working with other hospitals-to ensure adequate beds and supplies. Several hospitals are arranging childcare options to support their hard-working employees."

In addition, hospitals across Illinois are working to implement COVID-19 screening and testing procedures. However, due to a continuing national shortage of COVID-19 test kits and materials, many hospitals and medical professionals are not able to offer testing currently. Until those shortages can be resolved and testing capabilities increased, people should not leave their homes to seek a test unless they are advised to do so by a healthcare professional.

"The role of hospitals safety as community nets has never been more apparent," Wilhelmi said. "Throughout this outbreak, patients continue to present with broken bones, heart attacks, strokes and other emergencies not related to COVID-19."

Hospitals are concurrently committed to treating those patients and protecting staff-from them-and exposure. Isolation wards were built with this specific purpose in mind, but many hospitals have also erected tents outside their facilities to test possible COVID-19 patients separately.

"Much of our society has screeched to a halt," Wilhelmi said. "Hospitals have not. From Chicago to Champaign, from Rockford to Effingham to Metropolis, hospital staff are working tirelessly 24/7 to carry their communities through this difficult time."

Replacing a roof: Four things to consider (NewsUSA) - Are you considering a home improvement project that will deliver value, curb appeal and performance? Replacing the roof is a good place to start. From an economic perspective, RE-MODELING magazine's 32nd Cost vs. Value Report states that a new asphalt roof recoups more of its value at resale compared to other home improvements such as a major kitchen remodel, bathroom addition or backyard patio.

Representing as much as 40 percent of a home's exterior, the roof is an easy way to boost curb appeal. Homeowners are no longer limited to gray, taupe and other neutral shingle colors. New palettes and color selection tools make it easy to integrate color into the roof. Today's calibrated shingles are infused with hues that add depth, dimension and subtle color.

Unsure what shingle color will best complement your home's exterior? Designer and style expert Chad Esslinger offers some tips:

* Seek out Digital Design Tools: Technology makes it easy to experiment with exterior home colors, including roofing shingles. Owens Corning® Roofing offers inspiration boards and color and design tools that allow homeowners to color coordinate their exteriors with the click of a mouse. The 2020 Owens Corning Shingle Color of the Year, Pacific Wave, is a good example of how a carefully curated shingle color can complement styles ranging from a stately Midwest colonial to a coastal beach house.

* Look around your house:

People surround themselves with colors

they love - in interior paint colors, accessories such as bedding or pillows, and their closets. What colors make up the bulk of your wardrobe? If your closet is stocked with navy shirts, you may gravitate to shades of blue on your roof. Similarly, bookmarking an online search of exteriors can help you identify appealing color combinations for your roof, doors, windows and landscaping.

When searching online, look for patterns emerging in exterior color, trim and roof colors. It is likely these same shades will also appeal to you when brought together on your home's exterior.

* Go for a Color Drive: Drive around your neighborhood - or a neighborhood you like - and consider which homes and colors appeal to you. Be sure to drive by homes at different times of day and in different weather conditions so you can see how a particular color looks in sunlight, shade and when wet.

* Don't forget performance: A roof must be beautiful and able to stand up to the elements. Duration Series Shingles by Owens Corning have patented SureNail Technology in the nailing zone, giving them added performance against the elements. Homes in areas prone to strong winds and storms need extra protection against hail. Duration FLEX shingles feature a rubberizing SBS polymer modified asphalt to help guard against impact*.

When it comes to home improvements, the roof is an ideal place to connect value, curb appeal and performance. And today's shingle colors make it easy to tie functionality and aesthetics together beautifully.

BRIDGE BITES

has no chance after the defense cashes two Diamonds and gets a Diamond ruff. E-W will be happy to go plus, but naturally they would prefer down two to down one. You are West, your nerve is about to be tested.

After getting your Diamond ruff, you exit safely with a trump. Dummy's A wins that, the ♥Q is run around successfully, the ♠K is cashed, then the ♥J is covered by the King and Ace. Next is a Heart ruff and a Club to Declarer's Ace. Have you been busily counting the distribution, Mr. West? Of course you have! By now it is clear that Declarer was dealt four Spades (as East followed twice), and three Hearts (as East also showed up with three), and three Diamonds (from the bidding and the play). That means that Declarer started life with three Clubs, no more, no less.

You see where this is headed, don't you? Declarer now leads a low Club, and you resist the temptation to grab the &K for the setting trick. Instead, with an air of nonchalance, you play low, after which it is a pretty safe bet that Declarer will guess to finesse the Ten, losing to East's Jack. Down two!

It didn't really take nerves of steel to duck the &K, all that was required was some counting as the play unfolded. That would have reassured West that Declarer started with three Clubs and not a doubleton, and that the &K was sure to score a trick sooner or later.

How the $2 trillion CARES Act will assist local residents, businesses

Households and Workers

Individual checks

The CARES Act provides for direct payments of $1,200 to adults and $500 per child to American households, structured as tax refunds to allow the Internal Revenue Service to distribute the funds quickly.

There is no provision for future direct payments in the event the economic disruption lasts into the later spring. The direct grants are phased out for upper income brackets, starting with $75,000 of individual income.

The grants aren't available at all, for example, for individuals without children making more than $99,000 and married couples without children making more than $198,000.

Unemployed workers

The CARES Act would extend the duration of jobless benefits to 39 weeks from 26 available in most states, and includes a $600-a-week increase for the first four months, with the bonus payment available through July 31.

These benefits would be extended to contract workers, freelancers and other nontraditional workers, who lack benefits in some states. The aim is to replace lost wages as completely as possible.

Freelancers

The CARES Act expands some benefits and grants to independent contractors, such as Uber drivers and freelance film editors, that normally go only to employees or small businesses. For example, it extends unemployment benefits to self-employed workers, including independent contractors, freelancers and other nontraditional workers who are unemployed, partially unemployed or unable to work because of CO-VID-19.

Personal Financing and Taxes

It includes a $600-aweek increase on top of current levels of unemployment benefits for four months. Independent contractors also can apply for the $10 billion set aside for emergency EIDLeconomic injury disaster loan-funds, which are normally available only to a narrower category of small businesses.

The CARES Act

 $250 billion to make unemployment insurance available to more categories of workers and to extend the duration of benefits to 39 weeks from the 26 weeks typical in most states. It would also provide an extra $600 a week for four months.

• $301 billion in direct payments to households.

• $349 billion in loans to small businesses, with the amount spent on payroll, rent or utilities converting into grants that don't have to be repaid.

• $500 billion for loans, loan guarantees or other aid to businesses, states and municipalities—including the possibility that the government will take direct equity stakes in distressed companies. Of the total, $29 billion is set aside for cargo and passenger airlines, and $17 billion is for businesses deemed critical to national security, such as Boeing. The remaining $454 billion would go to backstop losses in lending facilities established or expanded by the Federal Reserve.

• $32 billion in grants to cover wages at passenger air carriers, cargo air carriers and contractors.

• $150 billion in direct aid to states, distributed according to population size. A municipality could apply to receive aid directly, reducing the amount available to the rest of the state.

• $221 billion in a variety of tax benefits for businesses, including allowing businesses to defer payroll taxes, which finance Medicare and Social Security, for the rest of the year. It would also temporarily allow businesses to claim deductions using today's losses against past profits to claim quick refunds for cash infusions.

• $340 billion in supplemental spending, which includes $117 billion for hospitals and veterans' care. It also includes $25 billion mostly for public transit to make up for revenue lost because of dwindling ridership.

Bankruptcy

According to the CARES Act, the law ensures that people who file for bankruptcy don't have to use stimulus checks to repay past debt, and it extends the time that bankrupt people have to repay a portion of their debt as a condition to getting a fresh start. The current repayment time limit is five years; the bill extends the repayment time frame to seven years.

Credit reports

Under the CARES Act, consumers who fall behind on their debt payments won't necessarily take a hit on their credit reports. The bill requires lenders that allow struggling consumers to defer or skip loan payments to report the borrowers as current on their payments, even if they are not. Most consumers who were behind on their debts before the coronavirus crisis will continue to be reported as delinquent.

Mortgages

The CARES Act requires companies that service federally backed mortgages to grant a forbearance of up to 360 days to borrowers who say they have been harmed by the coronavirus outbreak. Servicers are prohibited from initiating foreclosure and processing foreclosurerelated evictions for 60 days beginning March 18. Owners of multifamily properties can request a forbearance of up to 90 days, during which tenants cannot be evicted for nonpayment of rent or other fees.

Retirement

According to the CARES Act, the law temporarily loosens the rules on hardship distributions from retirement accounts, giving people affected by the crisis access to up to $100,000 of their retirement savings without a 10 percent penalty. The law doubles the amount 401(k) participants can take in loans from an account for the next six months to the lower of $100,000 or 100 percent of the account balance. (IRAs don't permit loans.)

For retirees, the law suspends for 2020 the mandatory distributions the government requires most to take from tax-deferred 401(k)s and individual retirement accounts starting at either age $70\frac{1}{2}$ or age 72.

Student loans

Per the CARES Act, the law would allow most Americans with federal student loans to suspend their monthly payments through Sept. 30, 2020, without any interest accruing. It would also enable employers to make tax-exempt contributions toward their workers' student-loan payments.

Taxes

Under the CARES Act, people who don't itemize their deductions would be able to claim up to $300 for charitable contributions. Businesses get the ability to apply losses from 2018, 2019 or 2020 to past years' profits and claim refunds. Restaurants and retailers would benefit from the fixing of a mistake in the 2017 tax law that curbed their depreciation deductions on renovations.

Employers would be able to defer paying their share of 2020 payroll taxes. They could then make half of those payments in 2021 and the other half in 2022. In addition, the bill creates a new tax credit for retaining employees that's aimed at companies that are too large to benefit from the small-business assistance elsewhere in the bill.

Those employers would be able to get a tax credi equal to 50 percent o payroll. That is limited to $10,000 per employee per quarter, and for employ ers with more than 100 employees, it is available only to those companies and nonprofits that had their businesses limited or closed by governmen actions.

Tradewind Energy has spent a lot of time in DeWitt County over the last decade.

We care about this community and want to see it thrive. Our vision for DeWitt County is a community where farmers have additional support to weather the ups and downs of the economy, schoolchildren have the resources they need in the classroom, and roads and infrastructure are modern and safe.

We are committed now more than ever to building a project that will help DeWitt County prosper, and we hope to serve this community for years to come.
