More virus cases in county

Officials have identified four positive cases of COVID-19; ages range from 10 to 50s

OGLE COUNTY-On Friday, Ogle County Health Department officials identified two more positive cases of novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) bringing the total to four positive cases in Ogle County.

The individuals identified Friday are an adult in their 30s and a child under 10 years of age. On Thursday an adult in their 20s was identified as the county's third positive case.

Further details about the individuals will not be released to protect the privacy of the individuals and their families. Both the individual and their close contacts are being monitored by the Ogle County Health Department.

"The increase in cases reinforces the importance of actions the public can take to protect themselves and prevent the spread in the community. The healthcare partners in Ogle County are working closely with IDPH, the CDC, and regional partners to monitor, respond, and help limit the spread of the disease," emergency preparedness and health coordinator

Cherie Rucker said in a press release Friday. "Unless it is an emergency, we advise individuals who think they may have CO-VID-19, or have had close contact with someone diagnosed or under evaluation for possible exposure, to stay home and call their healthcare provider for further direction."

Rucker reminded that close contact means having been within 6 feet of that person for an extended time or being exposed to their cough or sneeze. Do not go to the emergency room, a walk-in clinic, health department, or to your doctor's office. Call ahead and follow your healthcare provider's instructions. Symptoms of COVID-19 include fever. cough (or other cold or flulike symptoms), difficulty breathing and/or shortness of breath.

A quaran'King' family celebration

THE declaration of the governor's shelterin-place order may have changed plans for a surprise celebration for one Steward family, but it did not stop the family from wishing a loved one well on her special day.

In addition to the family video conference on her birthday, family members pre-recorded a video with birthday greetings and the little kids reenacted funny memories shared over the years.

"Mom was so surprised and couldn't believe that we were all able to be together even though we were not able to actually be together at the farm," daughter Patti King McDaniel said. "She was fascinated with the technology. And we were able to watch the video together on our video conference."

Still in need of a loving home

BY ANDREW HEISERMAN

ROCHELLE – While the coronavirus situation and the stay-at-home order are affecting many people's work and daily lives, they are also having an effect on animals looking for a home.

Local animal shelter Tails Humane Society, located in DeKalb, had been experiencing record high adoption rates for 2019 and early 2020. But, once the coronavirus pandemic began and the stay-at-home orders were issued, those rates began to decline quickly.

"Unfortunately, we have seen quite a drastic decrease in adoption rates in the last few weeks," said Michelle Groeper, executive director at Tails. "We were doing record adoption rates in 2019 and early in 2020. Then, everything came to screeching halt when the shelter-in-place order was given."

When the order was given, the shelter was closed and all the animals were put into foster homes. Since then, some of the animals have been brought back to the shelter, and the shelter currently has 10 animals that are up for adoption by appointment.

All the animals who are up for adoption are listed on the shelter's website at www.tailshumanesociety.

Salami, an 11-monthold mixed breed spayed female, is just one of several dogs currently being sheltered at Tails Humane Society in need of a loving home.

org. The shelter believes that one of the main reasons for the large decrease in adoptions is being unable to come into the shelter and have a large number of animals to choose from. "Before the stay-athome order was ordered we had specific adoption hours with 60-plus animals for people to come in and choose from," said Groeper. "Now, all adoptions are done by scheduling an appointment and we have far fewer animals.'

Adoption appointments can be made by email at info@tailshumanesoceity. org or by calling 815-758-2457 Ext. 153 and leaving a message. The shelter would like everyone to know that it is practicing all CDC recommendations

ments. While the effects from this situation may take some time to pass, even once the stay-at-home order has expired, Tails is really thankful for all of the support it has received from the community and is hopeful that adoption rates will return to what they once were.

"We are unsure, but we are very hopeful that as soon as the animals are back in the shelter, the people will come back too," said Groeper. We're so impressed by how the community has supported us and how our team has pulled together through these really trying times."

Providing HOPE

PRIL is Child Abuse Prevention Month and Sexual Assault Awareness Month. Social service agencies that provide victim/survivors services in Ogle County are providing service information to our local communities and the services we are providing for survivors of abuse during this challenging time.

Domestic abuse is about power and control, and abuse may be more than pushing, grabbing, restraining, strangulation or biting. Some non-physical abusive tactics include intimidation, emotional abuse, economic abuse, isolation, coercion and threats.

Five million children are exposed to some form of family violence over their entire childhood (0-17 years). Children who experience abuse are at higher risk to develop behavioral or emotional difficulties such as withdrawal, aggression, depression, and anxiety. Exposure to domestic violence may significantly alter a child's DNA and age them prematurely by 7-10 years.

If you or someone you know is involved in an abusive relationship, please call the 24-hour agency for support and information about how we can help: 815-562-8890.

During these challenging times, the health and personal safety of our clients and staff remain a priority, therefore, our goal is to continue to provide as many client services as possible with necessary restrictions, however some of our services will be put on hold or modified due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19).

We will be asking incoming persons who contact HOPE three important COVID-19 response questions prior to providing any services in-person at our Rochelle, Oregon and Polo offices. This is to better ensure the welfare of clients, staff and the community.

Tom Winebaugh

ROCHELLE — Tom Winebaugh, 65, passed away peacefully at his home with his family by his side Tuesday, March 31, 2020. Tom was born on Jan. 8, 1955 to Bill and Berneice (Eckhardt) Winebaugh in Elkhart, Kansas. Tom said his life truly began when he married the love of his life, Barbara Carr on Aug. 3, 1985. Tom is survived by his wife of 35 years, Barbara, of Rochelle, and their children, Dr. Josh Winebaugh of Ft. Wayne, Indiana, Aimee (Kurtis Smith) Winebaugh, M.A. of Springfield, Dr. Lucas Winebaugh of Alton, and his fur-baby, Jackson. Tom is also survived by his parents, Berneice and Darroll Richardson of Rochelle; brother, Bill (Natalie) Winebaugh of Dixon, and their family; sister, Linda (Dave) Munson of Wamego, Kansas, and their family; and sister, Tracy Richardson of Rochelle and her family. Tom was also blessed with many cousins who were more like siblings to him, including Gary (Cathy) Alderks of Henderson, Nevada, and their family; Denese (Mike) Ciacco of Double Oak, Texas, and their family, and Randy (Barb) Alderks of Plainfield, and their family. Tom had many lifelong friends that he loved as brothers including Davey Speed and several others that know who they are and how much they meant to Tom. Tom was preceded in death by his father Bill Winebaugh, his Aunt Pauline, Uncle Lum, and Uncle Bud who loved Tom as their own son, and many other dear relatives and friends.

As the consummate family man, Tom's favorite pastime was time spent with his beloved wife and children. He was happily married to his best friend and frequently said that Barb made him a better man. Together, they built a beautiful life working to conquer all of life's curveballs. Tom's kids cherished him and looked to him as their hero and he was incredibly proud of their accomplishments. Tom was a dedicated son and brother and he enjoyed time spent with his many cousins. Tom was the kind of man you wanted as a friend: he was extremely loyal and would always drop what he was doing in order to help someone in need.

As a highly intelligent and extremely compassionate man, Tom mentored numerous individuals and was an excellent role model. Tom would always give people who were often overlooked by others a chance and he made people feel important and valued.

As a steadfast rock in countless people's lives, Tom provided unwavering faith, wisdom, and strength. Tom was always a beacon of positivity to those in his life keeping a positive attitude even when dealt a rough hand of cards. He often remarked that his glass was "halffull" that "he was a Winebaugh: rough and tough and hard to bluff and used to many hardships," and that "life was about the journey and not the destination.'

Tom was also known for his sense of humor and his diehard love for the Chicago White Sox.

Tom served as the coach for many of the sports that his kids were involved in, including tee-ball, baseball, and soccer. Even in the sports that he was not the coach, Tom spent countless hours with his kids in the backyard working on skills or taking them to sports clinics.

Tom was also a Boy Scout leader from the time his sons were Tiger Cub Scouts until they both received their Eagle Scout recognition.

Tom helped his daughter work on her 4-H projects and accompanied her on trips to Springfield to work as a "Page for a Day" on the Illinois House of Representatives and Senate floor.

He was always a devoted fan in the stands for all of his kids extracurricular events from sports to speech as well as academic meets. Tom arranged his schedule to pick up and drop off his kids at school every day and he always helped explain things when they had homework issues. His family was always his first and utmost priority. Even as his kids grew older, Tom continued to be their confidant and he was always there for advice and guidance from career decisions to community organization issues to life advice.

Tom was always a patient and dedicated life coach to his kids and his valued mentorship expanded beyond just to his kids but to his kids teammates and friends as well.

Beyond his leadership roles in youth community organizations, Tom was also very active elsewhere in the community. He was a longtime member of the local Kiwanis Club until its recent merger. As a Kiwanis member, Tom traveled the country attending various conventions and spent time serving in every board position possible. Tom also served the community through roles on the credit union board, civic center board and school board. He was very civic minded and tried to make the town a better place to live.

Tom always told his kids to find a job they loved and he truly loved his career, his employees, and his clients. He graduated from Illinois State University and went on to serve individuals, businesses, and local governments for 39 years as a C.P.A. Tom was the proud owner of Winebaugh & Associates, P.C.

Tom's legacy will live on in the loving, honest, and hardworking example that he set, his priceless words of advice, and through his wife and kids, as well as the many other lives that he touched.

Cremation care has been provided by the Unger-Horner Funeral Home in Rochelle. There will be a celebration of Tom's life at a later time. Visit www. ungerhorner.com to sign the online guest book.

Do your part to stay healthy big thank you to those who have been staying home and maintaining a healthy social distance. I know it is hard. I miss visiting with people. I have learned a lot while being at home. I now can log into a Zoom meeting. I know groups that do live Facebook chats at specific times, which keeps me in contact with the real world. I also Facetime and Skype.

This week, I needed to get out. I went for a drive and got a coffee. Don't worry, I went through the drive through only. I gave the man my card and when I got it back I wiped it down with a sanitizer. I wiped the cup off, including the lid. I sanitized my hands. The coffee was so good.

My daughter and her husband bring groceries. I bring them in the house and wipe everything down, washing any produce. I spray deliveries and let them sit in the garage for three days. I am taking all the precautions I can. Is it enough? I hope

Almost every expert stresses staying home and maintaining social distances. Don't bring the family shopping. Don't let all the neighborhood kids gather and play together. Keep your distance.

We can't control what other people do, but we can control what WE do. Stay safe. Stay isolated

A big shout out to Michelle Pease and Connie Dougherty for organizing the Helping Hands program. Designed for seniors, the program seeks younger people to shop and run errands for older folks. If you want to help, or want help, contact the Hub City Senior Center.

Another shout out to all the people who displayed candles to honor first responders on Wednesday night. These men and women are literally risking their lives to save others, sometimes working with makeshift masks or other protective gear, they continue to pull long shifts as the number of victims keeps rising.

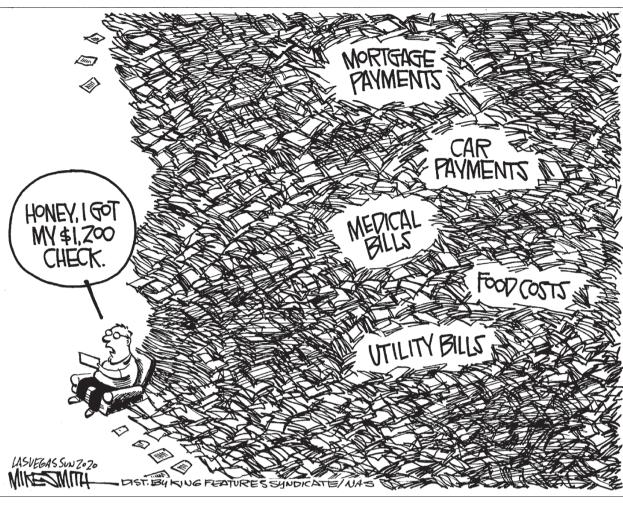

Seems to me, the greatest industrial power in the world could be doing a better job at producing materials for our people.

It seems ironic that we are importing masks from China. Manufacturers should have ramped up production six weeks ago and produced masks, gowns, ventilators and whatever else is needed. There is no excuse for not taking action.

Barricades are up on Illinois Route 38 by Interstate 39. It seems the bridge is going to be resurfaced.

The state also lists Phase 1 of a multiyear paving reconstruction project from Mulford to Dement road on its 2020 list. Drive carefully.

I ventured outside and almost bought a shed used to think that I wouldn't mind maybe retiring early, spending more time around the house.

You know the scenario – you putter around doing projects, eating healthy and spending quality time with your spouse and dogs.

Well, the reality is that, when I am not working on stories and editing copy for this fine newspaper, I am eating way too much and getting a bit stir crazy. We had a couple of geese land in the front yard last week and they stayed for a couple of days. When they finally flew off, I clung to the window with tear-streaked eyes and screamed, "come back, come back!

I needed to get out of the house.

I volunteered to take a trip to Costco to get a few things that we needed: Some meals we can heat up and serve, some napkins, mac and cheese, booze – you know, the essentials.

I even found the mother lode – a 36 roll package of toilet paper. We were running low, so I grabbed it. I will be honest, I pushed around that cart with that giant mound of toilet paper in it feeling like Jeff Bezos shopping at Walmart. I was rich!

It is easy to get distracted in Costco. Yes, I believe I need that 14-gallon jug of honey and these new pants, and while I'm at it I will take 47 pounds of frozen cod. And sure, a new shower head.

So there I was wandering around the place feeling like a stud when I spotted it. It was magnificent. It was huge. It was basically a castle and I wanted to be the king that lived in it.

It was the greatest shed I have ever seen in my life.

Now, when I say shed, I am sure you are imagining some metal death trap that you and a few buddies slammed together one weekend, and all ended up getting tetanus shots because,

let's face it, you are not any good with tools in your hands.

No, this was not like that. First of all, it was made of hard plastic, and looked like it might survive nuclear winter. And it had a thin row of plastic windows at the top – windows! I'm sure that a professional basketball player could get a good view out of those windows Brad because this was Jennings a big shed. It was 7-feet tall and 7-feet wide.

I have lived in smaller apartments. Even Donald Trump would consider it "yuuuuge!"

At first, I thought the price was $500. Wow! All of this shed for only $500! I could fit my riding lawnmower, wheelbarrow and lots of other tools and yard stuff that I am not really sure how to operate, but am required to own as a man, into it.

Wouldn't my wife think I was smart if I snagged this killer shed for only $500? I tried hard to convince myself.

Then I moved around to the other side and saw the real price: $849. I still tried to convince myself this was a steal. My wife would still consider me a genius and hero! This would be the answer to every problem I have now or have ever had in my life! And it could double as a place to sleep when she kicked me out of the house for buying an $849 shed!

Thankfully, I snapped out of my Costco stupor. No, I didn't buy the shed. Yes, I still dream about it. But I chalk this all up to the cabin fever we are all probably experiencing.

I am glad that I made it home shed-less. Maybe in a few weeks this will all be over, and we can get back to our normal lives.

When that day comes I will have one thought: I wonder if that shed is still available?

Kennedy earns 4-H Emerald award

OGLE COUNTY — Illinois 4-H challenges youth to try new things, experiment in project areas that interest them, and explore opportunities around the state and country.

The 4-H Experience Award recognizes youth who excel in that challenge. The award is sponsored by the Illinois 4-H Foundation. "We celebrate youth whose 4-H experiences have expanded outside their home county to the state, national, or international level," said Lisa Diaz, University of Illinois Extension assistant dean and Illinois 4-H director.

Emerald Experience Project Learning

Hub Hickory Nuts 4-H Club, Federation, 4-H Ambassador, Lillian Kennedy explores Southeast Asian cultures and shares what she learns with her club. She works at an international café, raises money for Heifer International, speaks on international issues, and attends lectures at NIU.

"4-H is a platform to both show off what I've done throughout the year and a way to improve my personal best," she said. "4-H has also given me great opportunities to realize and put into action what I want to do with the rest of my life." Kennedy loves to learn and is planning a dual major in music and political science with minors in psychology, environmental studies, and Southeast Asian studies. She hopes to solve environmental problems, such as deforestation, water sanitation, animal conservation, and food stability.

About 4-H

Illinois 4-H prepares and empowers youth for success. University of Illinois Extension provides 4-H programs in every county in Illinois. Illinois 4-H impacts the lives of 200,000 youth each year through sustained learning clubs and groups and short-term programming.

Autism Awareness Month

Get involved with autism awareness efforts

UTISM spectrum disorder has the potential to touch just about anyone. The World Health Organization estimates that one in 160 children across the globe has ASD, while some well-controlled studies have reported that figures are substantially higher than that.

ASD affects all ethnic and socioeconomic groups, meaning just about any family can be affected.

In 2018, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention released its biennial update of autism's estimated prevalence among the nation's children. The update was based on analysis of medical records, and where available, educational records of eight-year-old children from 11 monitoring sites across the United States. In a two-year period, the new estimate indicated a 15 percent increase in ASD prevalence.

Understandably, anyone who has been affected by ASD wants to learn more about what individuals can do to advocate for high quality services for those with ASD. The autism information group Autism Speaks says more work is needed to understand the increased prevalence and the complex medical needs that often accompany ASD. There are many different and effective ways to become more involved in the autism community.

Many schools have integrated classrooms where children who have ASD work alongside their peers. Others may have specialized programs for those who need one-on-one support. Either way, the goal is to introduce children to ASD when they are young, as many have friends or classmates with ASD. Helping to dispel myths about ASD and encouraging support and compassion can improve relationships during childhood.

Fundraise

Research into causation as well as treatment options and interventions for ASD can be expensive. That makes fundraising a necessary component. Individuals can participate in many organized fundraisers, such as walks, runs, rides, and other activities. However, enterprising people also can create their own fundraisers or ones unique to their own needs.

Support others

Those who do not in their immediate family but know a relative, friend or neighbor with ASD can be a listening ear, a person to rally at events or advocacy meetings, or just a touchstone when a little

People who own businesses can support adults with ASD in the community through program's like the Organization for Autism Research's Hire Autism Initiative.

How the $2 trillion CARES Act will assist local residents, businesses

Households and Workers

Individual

checks

The CARES Act provides for direct payments of $1,200 to adults and $500 per child to American households, structured as tax refunds to allow the Internal Revenue Service to distribute the funds

There is no provision for future direct payments in the event the economic disruption lasts into the later spring. The direct grants are phased out for upper income brackets, starting with $75,000 of individual income.

The grants aren't available at all, for example, for individuals without children making more than $99,000 and married couples without children making more than $198,000.

Unemployed

workers

The CARES Act would extend the duration of jobless benefits to 39 weeks from 26 available in most states, and includes a $600-a-week increase for the first four months, with the bonus payment available through July 31.

These benefits would be extended to contract workers, freelancers and other nontraditional workers, who lack benefits in some states. The aim is to replace lost wages as completely as possible.

Freelancers

The CARES Act expands some benefits and grants to independent contractors, such as Uber drivers and freelance film editors, that normally go only to employees or small businesses. For example, it extends unemployment benefits to self-employed workers, including independent contractors, freelancers and other nontraditional workers who are unemployed, partially unemployed or unable to work because of CO-VID-19.

It includes a $600-aweek increase on top of current levels of unemployment benefits for four months. Independent contractors also can apply for the $10 billion set aside for emergency EIDLeconomic injury disaster loan-funds, which are normally available only to a narrower category of small businesses.

The CARES Act

- $250 billion to make unemployment insurance available to more categories of workers and to extend the duration of benefits to 39 weeks from the 26 weeks typical in most states. It would also provide an extra $600 a week for four months.
- $301 billion in direct payments to households.
- $349 billion in loans to small businesses, with the amount spent on payroll, rent or utilities converting into grants that don't have to be repaid.
- $500 billion for loans, loan guarantees or other aid to businesses, states and municipalities—including the possibility that the government will take direct equity stakes in distressed companies. Of the total, $29 billion is set aside for cargo and passenger airlines, and $17 billion is for businesses deemed critical to national security, such as Boeing. The remaining $454 billion would go to backstop losses in lending facilities established or expanded by the Federal Reserve.
- $32 billion in grants to cover wages at passenger air carriers, cargo air carriers and contractors.
- $150 billion in direct aid to states, distributed according to population size. A municipality could apply to receive aid directly, reducing the amount available to the rest of the state.
- $221 billion in a variety of tax benefits for businesses, including allowing businesses to defer payroll taxes, which finance Medicare and Social Security, for the rest of the year. It would also temporarily allow businesses to claim deductions using today's losses against past profits to claim quick refunds for cash infusions.
- $340 billion in supplemental spending, which includes $117 billion for hospitals and veterans' care. It also includes $25 billion mostly for public transit to make up for revenue lost because of dwindling ridership.

Personal Financing and Taxes

Bankruptcy

According to the CARES Act, the law ensures that people who file for bankruptcy don't have to use stimulus checks to repay past debt, and it extends the time that bankrupt people have to repay a portion of their debt as a condition to getting a fresh start. The current repayment time limit is five years; the bill extends the repayment time frame to seven years.

Credit reports

Under the CARES Act, consumers who fall behind on their debt payments won't necessarily take a hit on their credit reports. The bill requires lenders that allow struggling consumers to defer or skip loan payments to report the borrowers as current on their payments, even if they are not. Most consumers who were behind on their debts before the coronavirus crisis will continue to be reported as delinquent.

Mortgages

The CARES Act requires companies that service federally backed mortgages to grant a forbearance of up to 360 days to borrowers who say they have been harmed by the coronavirus outbreak. Servicers are prohibited from initiating foreclosure and processing foreclosurerelated evictions for 60 days beginning March 18. Owners of multifamily properties can request a forbearance of up to 90 days, during which tenants cannot be evicted for nonpayment of rent or other fees.

Retirement

According to the CARES Act, the law temporarily loosens the rules on hardship distributions from retirement accounts, giving people affected by the crisis access to up to $100,000 of their retirement savings without a 10 percent penalty. The law doubles the amount 401(k) participants can take in loans from an account for the next six months to the lower of $100,000 or 100 percent of the account balance. (IRAs don't permit loans.) For retirees, the law

suspends for 2020 the mandatory distributions the government requires most at either age $70\frac{1}{2}$ or age 72.

Student loans

Per the CARES Act. the law would allow most Americans with federal student loans to suspend their monthly payments through Sept. 30, 2020, without any interest accruing. It would also enable employers to make tax-exempt contributions toward their workers' student-loan payments.

Taxes

Under the CARES Act, people who don't itemize their deductions would be able to claim up to $300 for charitable contributions. Businesses get the ability to apply losses from 2018, 2019 or 2020 to past years' profits and claim refunds. Restaurants and retailers would benefit from the fixing of a mistake in the 2017 tax law that curbed their depreciation deductions on renovations.

Employers would be able to defer paying their share of 2020 payroll taxes. They could then make half of those payments in 2021 and the other half in 2022. In addition, the bill creates a new tax credit for retaining employees that's aimed at companies that are too large to benefit from the small-business assistance

elsewhere in the bill. Those employers would be able to get a tax credi equal to 50 percent o payroll. That is limited to $10,000 per employee pe quarter, and for employ ers with more than 100 employees, it is available only to those companies and nonprofits that had their businesses limited or closed by governmen actions.

Please contact the City of Rochelle or the Rochelle Chamber of Commerce for assistance.

Businesses and Industries

Airlines

Under the CARES Act, for passenger airlines, the bill includes $25 billion in direct funding for worker salaries and benefits, as well as up to $25 billion in loans and loan guarantees. The bill hews to what airlines had been asking for. Carriers had lobbied aggressively for direct grants rather than just loans, warning that without an immediate infusion of cash, they would have to make sharp job cuts. The bill also includes

$3 billion in assistance to keep paying contract workers that provide airline catering, baggage loading, ticketing and check-in, and other services at airports. Cargo airlines will be eligible to receive $4 billion in loans and guarantees, and $4 billion in payroll assistance.

In exchange for the payroll grants, carriers must agree not to furlough, lay off or cut pay for employees until Sept. 30. Assistance also hinges on companies agreeing not to buy back shares or pay dividends, and to limits on executive compensation. The package also allows the Transportation Department to direct airlines to maintain specific flights based on their schedules on March 1, before carriers had instituted the deepest cuts to their flying. This would include services to rural communities and to support delivery of healthcare-related cargo.

Banks

The CARES Act delays implementation of a new accounting rule that would have required banks to sock away reserves for any estimated loan losses all at once, instead of spreading them out over the life of the loan. The Act gives the office of the comptroller of the currency the authority to allow banks to make loans that would typically trip up size restrictions. Smaller community banks with less than $10 billion in assets get more lending flexibility through a higher maximum leverage ratio and more wiggle room if they exceed it. Banks will also get more leeway on how they account for troubled consumer loans,

allowing them to work with struggling borrowers who have fallen behind on their payments.

Energy

The CARES Act contains no major provisions to specifically aid the U.S. energy industry. Beleaguered U.S. oil producers had sought a range of remedies, including preferential tax treatment, direct subsidies and a $3 billion purchase of oil by the federal government for the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. The renewable energy industry had sought extensions to tax provisions that would have helped wind-andsolar developers secure valuable tax credits even if there were construction delays.

Farmers

The CARES Act directs more than $48 billion to agriculture and nutrition programs, helping cushion the blow for producers reeling from the latest in a string of hits to the U.S. farm economy, as prices sank for corn, soybeans, wheat and cattle. The law designates $14 billion to replenish the Commodity Credit Corp., a Depression-era program designed to stabilize farm incomes, and $9.5 billion to support producers of specialty crops, livestock and dairy, as well as those who supply farmers markets, restaurants and schools.

Health industry

The CARES Act adds $27 billion to an emergency fund that could give a boost to dozens of projects by pharmaceutical companies and academic groups developing drugs and vaccines against coronavirus. The emergency fund received a smaller amount of funding under a coronavirus response act signed earlier in March. There is no COVID-19 vaccine, but dozens are in development. The package allows the government to take steps to ensure that products developed with the emergency funding will be "affordable in the commercial market," but that these steps shouldn't delay development of the products.

The bill also includes provisions to increase reporting of potential shortages from drug manufacturers and companies that make active pharmaceutical ingredients, which are the building blocks of prescription drugs. Many of these raw materials are produced overseas and drawn more attention during the virus outbreak. Companies that make respirators and other medical devices would be required to report to the federal government potential supply chain interruptions.

Hotels

The hotel industry last week asked the White House for a $150 billion financial-aid package, targeted specifically for hospitality companies. What it got instead from the CARES Act is a patchwork of loans, grants and tax help, much of it through the $350 billion in loans and grants for small businesses. The majority of U.S. hoteliers qualify as businesses with fewer than 500 employees, making less than $35 million in annual revenue.

The lodging industry even scored a victory in getting language in the Senate bill that defined each individual hotel as its own business. Hotel owners with several properties had been concerned that they would not qualify as a small business because taken together, all their properties would have pushed them over the current Small Business Administration's definition.

The federal boost in unemployment insurance will help the many hotel employees who have been furloughed across the U.S. Larger hotel companies can apply for loans through the Treasury Department's economic stabilization fund. But few in the lodging industry expect travel to bounce back by late spring, or even soon after.

Postal Service

Under the CARES Act, the financially strained U.S. Postal Service is getting a $10 billion Treasury loan to help the mail carrier during the pandemic. That should be welcome news for Amazon.com Inc., United Parcel Service Inc. and, to a lesser extent, FedEx Corp., which rely on postal workers for lastmile delivery in certain places.

The Postal Service is only allowed by law to raise its net debt by $3 billion a year, so the bill loosens that restriction. But it does come with some strings attached. Mainly, the Postal Service can only use the financing for operating expenses and not to pay down outstanding debt. The bill also requires the Postal Service to prioritize medical shipments and allows temporary delivery points to protect workers and recipients of mail.

Private equity

According to the CARES Act, privateequity firms will likely find it a challenge to get access to stimulus funds. Based on available details of the stimulus package, private-equity-owned businesses wouldn't be explicitly barred from receiving assistance. But government lending requirements could prevent them from unlocking the aid, say lawyers, lobbyists and regulatory experts.

Railroads

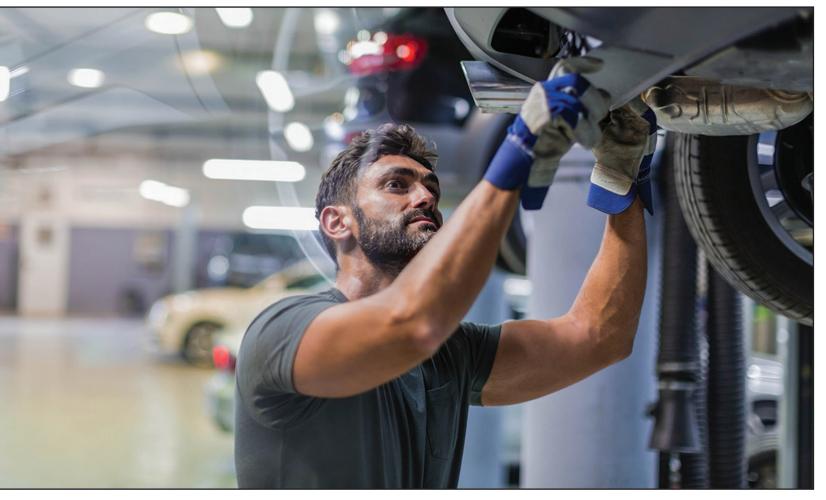

Per the CARES Act, national passenger railroad Amtrak secured about $1 billion to cover revenue losses related to the coronavirus. The railroad industry won enhanced unemployment benefits that account for its workers not being covered under traditional state-run unemployment programs. Railroad workers instead receive unemployment benefits under a program administered by the Railroad Retirement Board.

The bill removes a seven-day waiting period to collect unemployment and provides $50 million to cover the benefits tied to that waiver. It also provides $425 million to double biweekly unemployment payments to $1,200 through July.

Small

businesses

The CARES Act would allow businesses and nonprofits with up to 500 workers in a single location to apply through qualifying banks for loans backed by the Small Business Administration. The loans would convert into grants that don't have to be repaid for amounts spent on items such as payroll, rent or utilities, with the grants reduced when workers are laid off. The loans would be capped at $10 million and cover wages up to $100,000 a

Hager giving back

Rochelle graduate making most of his return to the Hub City

BY RUSSELL HODGES

hen former Rochelle student-athlete TC Hager returned home from the University of Iowa in 2018 to begin his graduate studies in sport management, an opportunity arose for him to give back not only to his alma mater, but also the community where he grew up.

Hager was preparing to start his master's program at Northern Illinois University when RTHS athletic director Richard Harvey and head football coach Kyle Kissack contacted him about assistant coaching roles with the football and wrestling teams. The RTHS Class of 2014 alum didn't hesitate to accept the offers, and since then, Hager has used his education and his experiences as a Hub to help develop the school's next crop of student-athletes.

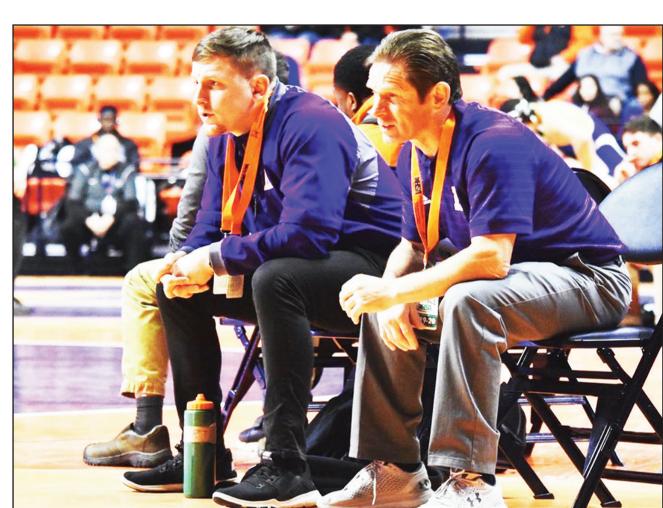

"Sports have always been a huge part of my life," Hager said. "I played three sports all through high school, and when I went to college, I wanted to find a way to stay involved in sports... Rich and Kyle reached out to me about football and wrestling, and the experience has been really enjoyable since then. It doesn't feel like work at all, and I love working with the kids and getting involved with the same programs that I grew up with. It's great to give back."

Hager has coached football and wrestling each of the last two years, and since becoming an assistant coach, he's worked alongside many of the same coaches he competed for when he was a studentathlete at RTHS. One of those coaches is his father, Chris Hager, who coached TC in high school and has since rejoined the staff as an assistant. Now working side-by-side, Hager said coaching with his father has added new depth to their relationship.

"It's been great and it's definitely given me a new perspective," Hager said. "When I was in high school, I think I took my dad's coaching for granted a little bit. I always took what he said with a grain of salt as opposed to listening to what he had to say. We had an interesting dynamic when I was in high school, but it's been great to see things come full circle, and I've been able to reflect on all of the great things he taught me as a wrestler and as a person."

Outside RTHS, Hager has served as the recreation supervisor for the Flagg-Rochelle Community Park District since February 2019. Armed with his bachelor's degree in exercise science and his master's degree in sport management, Hager has taken on multiple roles in his job including coordinating park district leagues and recreation programs.

He's also worked closely with executive director Jackee Ohlinger to help shape the new community center coming this fall, specifically mapping out floorplans and selecting equipment for the 24-hour fitness facility.

"The park district position has been great," Hager said. "I really enjoy working with Jackee, Maureen [Stevens] and the staff there. I'm thankful for Jackee as well because she wanted me to stay involved in coaching at the high school, which has helped me stay motivated. It's a really exciting time for the community as we're building the recreation center. I've learned a lot about programming and how I can bring new activities and to the community."

Harding commits to Concordia University Chicago

Lady Hub senior to compete in throwing events including shot put, discus

BY RUSSELL HODGES

lthough the coronavirus pandemic has halted Gabrielle Harding's senior track and field season with the Lady Hubs, it will not mark the end for the Rochelle Township High School thrower, who has committed to continuing her academics and athletics at the collegiate level.

Harding, who specializes in the discus and shot put, will compete with the Concordia University Chicago women's track and field program next year. Harding finished her junior season with a strong performance in the IHSA Rochelle Sectional, taking third in the shot put and coming within inches of qualifying for state. Harding plans to study physical therapy.

"I chose CUC because of the great programs they have to offer," Harding said. "When I met the throwing coach [Amanda Gricus], I was amazed at her commitment to her team and how she truly wants to see all of the athletes improve. I'm truly excited to see how she can help me progress further in my throwing career, and I'm extremely excited for the competition."

A three-sport studentathlete at RTHS, Harding has competed with the basketball, volleyball and track programs all four years of her high school career. Harding finished fifth in the Northern Illinois Big 12 Conference

Championship track meet last season, setting a personal record in the shot put with a mark of 34 feet 2 ½ inches. She set her personal best in the discus as a sophomore, when she won the Ogle County Championship with a mark of 108-8.

"RTHS has helped me prepare for the collegiate level because our athletes have pushed me to constantly improve," Harding said. "Our throwers motivate me to get better and become a better version of myself. We also have very talented throwers in our conference, and they push me to throw my very best in every meet...

Harding plans not only

I'm looking forward to watching her compete

ishwaukee College will have two former Rochelle Township High School students entering the battlefield when the Kougars debut their competitive eSports program next RTHS graduate Austin Childers became the newest member of the Kishwaukee College eSports team after signing with the Kougars this past week. Childers, who's currently studying electrical engineering at the college, will play League of Legends for the Kougars. Kishwaukee College will be one of many NJCAA schools playing in the National Association of Collegiate eSports (NACE).

'When Kishwaukee introduced the eSports program, it was perfect timing for me," Childers said. "There are a lot of things I enjoy about League of Legends, but I mostly enjoy the champion diversity, the itemization and the way that every match is unique. I'm currently pursuing a degree in electrical engineering, and with my education, my goal is to make notable contributions to modern technology through electrical solutions."

The NACE features multiple games for student-athletes to play including Overwatch, Paladins, Smite, Rocket League, Counter Strike, League of Legends and Fortnite. Seasons are split into the fall and the spring, with League of Legends running taking place in the spring. Childers will be joining forces with RTHS alum Josafat Brizuela, who signed with the Kougars this past month.

"I started playing video games in 2004 with my older brothers and his friends," Childers said. "What I enjoy most about gaming is that it's a great way to destress and disconnect from reality for a period of time. My favorite kind of games are first-person shooter and multiplayer online battle arena games, which I enjoy most due to the competitive aspect and having to develop strategies for each match. I'm looking forward to becoming a better player, both individually and as a team, and I'm looking forward to bonding with everybody in the program."

Rochelle Little League

Local leaders remain hopeful for 2020 season

Activities suspended through May 11

BY RUSSELL HODGES

SPORTS EDITOR

ROCHELLE — The coronavirus pandemic has brought athletics around the world to a standstill, as professional, collegiate and high school organizations implement measures to contain the spread and enforce social distancing guidelines.

The crisis has also affected youth organizations like Rochelle Little League, which has suspended all activities until May 11 in cooperation with recommendations published by the international Little League Baseball & Softball entity this past month. While the 2020 season has been put on hold, local board members including vice president Roman Villalobos are hopeful that Little League players will be able to return to action when the suspension ends next month.

"We're waiting on additional information from the international board of directors on player eligibility and tournament participation," Villalobos said. "We're waiting to see if the suspension will be extended any longer, and we're also waiting on more information about the best way to resume operations once we receive clarification on when we can start practicing." Sign-ups are still open for Rochelle Little League, and Villalobos said that numbers have been steadily increasing since sign-ups were extended this past month. If the 2020 season were to be canceled, Villalobos said those who signed their athletes up to play would receive either a refund or a credit toward next season. Parents and guardians who haven't signed their athletes up can register them online at https://www.rochellelittleleague.com.

"It's bigger than sports," Villalobos said. "The No. 1 concern right now is the health and safety of our kids. We have hundreds of kids who want to get out and throw the ball around, but we have to wait this thing out and hopefully get through this soon so we can get back out there."

Because the tryout and evaluation process was interrupted by the suspension, Villalobos said that all registered athletes will be subject to a blind draft. However, due to both the suspension and Illinois Gov. JB Pritzker's shelter-in-place order, a draft date has not been scheduled. The 2020 season had been scheduled to open April 20, with Opening Day coming May 2.

Any further updates from Little League Baseball & Softball regarding coronavirus suspensions or cancellations can be seen at https://www.littleleague.org/coronavirus. Updates from Rochelle Little League will be posted online or on Facebook at www.facebook.com/RochelleLittleLeague.

"We were a few days away from doing our last tryout and we were going to have the draft later that day," Villalobos said. "If we ever get to the draft, it's going to be a blind draft so we can get the kids playing as soon as possible. We've never been in this kind of situation, but the best we can do is play the season by ear and get as much done as we can for the kids."

HOME BUYING OR SELLING

Exterior renovations that can improve home value

ENOVATING a home to improve its value can be a smart investment. Interior improvements, such as updating kitchens and baths, offer good return on investment, but there are plenty of exterior renovations that can add value to a home and give it that coveted "wow" factor.

Landscaping

Abundant and well-planned landscaping can instantly boost curb appeal. According to the landscaping company Lawn Starter, 71 percent of prospective home buyers say a home's curb appeal is an important factor in their buying decisions. As buyers use the internet to look for their dream homes, there's no denying a beautifully landscaped, nicely photographed property can entice buyers to click and read more about a house.

Address insects and minor repairs

Improving home value may come down to fixing areas of the home that can negatively affect its appeal to buyers. Hire an inspector to look at key components of the house and recommend what needs to be fixed. This way it is discovered before home buyers come in and do their own inspections. Termite infestations, deteriorating roofs and hidden water leaks are some things that might need fixing.

Improve the entryway

The front door is the focal point of a home's exterior. Invest in a new door or paint it a striking color to add appeal. Remodeling magazine's "Cost vs. Value Report 2019" indicates changing an entry door to a steel replacement can offer 74.9 percent ROI. Such a door provides visual appeal and added security — things buyers look for. In addition to the front door, make sure that the entryway has a level walkway, steps that are in good repair, accents that are free from rust or tarnish, and decorative plants.

Outdoor lighting

Outdoor lighting can add to the ambiance of a property and serve as a security feature. Utilize different lights, such as a bright light by the entry, uplighting in trees and shrubs for drama, a light-lined path to the door to improve visibility, and motion-detection lights to improve the security of the property.

Repaint (or reside) the exterior

A fresh coat of paint or new (or cleaned) siding can instantly give homes a facelift. Neutral, warm and inviting colors tend to have the widest appeal. Adding manufactured stone veneer to the home can offer a 94.9 percent ROI, says Remodeling. And after doing the front door and siding, investing in a garage door replacement offers the highest ROI of all exterior projects listed on the "Cost vs. Value Report 2019." This improvement returns 97.5 percent when selling.

Knowing which improvements add value to a home can help homeowners tailor their efforts to those that are most financially beneficial.

Home inspections 101

of buying a home can be unlike any experience prospective buyers have ever had. After finding a home they like and coming to an agreement on a sale price with the seller, buyers can expect to add many items to their todo list. One of the first things to jot down on that list is scheduling a home inspection.

Home inspections are a vital part of the home buying process. Such inspections can protect buyers as they're on the cusp of making what will likely be the most significant investment of their lives. Understanding the home inspection process can help buyers during an exciting yet potentially nerve-wracking time in their lives.

What is a home inspection?

The American Society of Home Inspectors defines a home inspection as an objective visual examination of the physical structure and systems of a house. Inspectors will conduct visual examinations from the roof to the foundation of the home. Additional structures on the property, such as sheds or detached outdoor living areas, are not typically included in the examination.

What do inspectors examine?

The ASHI notes that inspectors will examine the condition of various parts of the home. The heating system, central air conditioning unit, interior plumbing and electrical systems, roof (though inspectors will not climb onto the roof), attic and insulation will be examined. Inspectors also will examine walls, ceilings, floors, windows, doors, the foundation of the home.

basement (or crawl space), and structural components.

Can a home fail

inspection? Homes cannot fail home inspections, which are just assessments of a home's existing condition. Municipal inspections are separate inspections conducted by government agencies to verify that a property is in compliance with local codes. Home inspectors will provide detailed reports describing the condition of a home and indicate if any repairs are in order.

Do I really need a home inspection?

A home inspection is a vital component that can help buyers make the most informed decision possible. Forgoing an inspection can leave buyers vulnerable to potentially costly repairs and issues with a home that might have been detected with a proper home inspection. In addition, some lenders insist that buyers have home inspections conducted before they will allow them to borrow money.

Home inspections can protect home buyers as they prepare to make the most significant financial investment of their lives. More information about inspections can be found at www.homeinspector.org.

STATE NEWS

When will the impact of coronavirus hit state budgets like Illinois'?

Some effects could come soon, but policymakers face significant long-term uncertainty

BY JOSH GOODMAN

THE PEW CHARITABLE TRUSTS

SPRINGFIELD State officials nationwide fear that a substantial decline in tax collections as a result of the coronavirus pandemic will throw their budgets into turmoil. But they will have to wait for the first hard data on how big the decline might be. When the economy struggles, state tax revenue usually suffers too. States' two largest sources of tax revenue are the personal income tax and the sales tax. If employers lay off workers or reduce their hours, workers earn less income and pay less in income taxes. If consumers scale back purchases, sales tax revenue drops. These declines are likely to play out over the course of months because there's always a lag between changes in a state economy and changes in revenue.

As a result, policymakers are facing considerable uncertainty as they seek to maintain balanced budgets in the current fiscal year and develop budgets for the next one. With these challenges in mind, Congress is providing financial relief to states, most substantially through a $150 billion fund for states and localities that was part of the stimulus bill signed by President Donald Trump on March 27. However, some governors have warned that the aid won't be enough to prevent dire budget challenges.

Some of the first signs of trouble are likely to emerge in income tax withholding payments. Although taxpayers file their income taxes once a year, employ-makers and most state employees continue practicing stay-at-home routines as ordered by Gov. JB Pritzker. (Capitol News Illinois photo by Ben Orner)

ers withhold a portion of each paycheck based on estimates of what the total bill will be, so withholding payments represent a large share of state income tax revenue. If workers' paychecks shrink, the withholding payments will shrink too, and states will see the effects in a matter of weeks.

An economic slowdown will affect sales tax collections nearly as quickly. Although consumers pay sales tax when they make a purchase, businesses don't remit those dollars to states immediately. Instead, they are typically required to make monthly payments that are due toward the end of the month after the one in which the purchases are made. As a result, consumer spending declines that began in March will begin to affect state revenue in late

Accounting for fiscal year calendars

Most states begin their fiscal year July 1. With key revenue sources at risk of decline starting in April, their current year budgets could fall out of balance in the final few months of the fiscal year.

Adding to that risk, many states have announced extensions of their income tax filing deadlines past the end of their fiscal year, complementing the federal government's decision to push its deadline from April 15 to July 15. Mirroring the federal extension will provide relief for state tax filers and reduce the potential for a confusing and complex filing process. But it also means that a portion of the taxes these states expected to collect this fiscal year will be delayed until next fiscal year instead, compounding the strains on current budgets. Although states receive income tax revenuethroughouttheyear via withholdings, April is the month when they typically collect the most revenue.

Closing midyear budget gaps always poses challenges for states, and many of the strategies that they typically use—such as leaving vacant positions unfilled—provide less in savings if the problem occurs in the final months of

Although the potential for a severe and rapidly developing economic downturn means that significant gaps could develop quickly, two factors may provide some help. Most states were enjoying reasonably strong revenue growth before the start of the coronavirus pandemic, creating some cushion to keep this year's budgets balanced. Plus, states now have more money in reserve than at any time in at least two decades, thanks to effort by policymakers to strengthen rainy day funds after the Great Recession. Because states, unlike the federal government, cannot engage in routine deficit spending, reserves play a crucial role in helping them balance their budgets in times of fiscal stress.

An economic slowdown caused by coronavirus also poses significant risks to states' budgets for the 2021 fiscal year, which begins July 1 in most states. Depending on the severity and length of a downturn, sales tax collections and incometax withholdings could continue to be depressed in fiscal 2021.

Other revenue sources may see effects that develop slowly, with the bulk appearing in that next fiscal year. For instance, stock market losses could take a big bite out of capital gains tax revenue. Although taxpayers with large capital gains often must make payments quarterly based on estimates of how much they will ultimately owe, experts predict that the largest decline in payments will not begin until

The economic upheaval comes at an awkward time for states' upcoming budgets. Generally, states determine how much money they can appropriate for the year based on revenue forecasts that are completed in January or February. This year, however, those forecasts may be far too optimistic, given that they predate the onset of the pandemic in the United States.

A handful of states have already finalized their fiscal 2021 budgets, while others were deep into drafting them before most legislatures started modifying or suspending operations in recent weeks to slow the spread of the virus and protect lawmakers. If the damage to the economy is as substantial as economists expect, states could face significant fiscal challenges and may have no choice but to revise their revenue forecasts and adjust their fiscal 2021 budgets accordingly. In New York, which is the only state that starts its fiscal year April 1, the state comptroller recently estimated that the state would collect at least $4 billion less than forecasters expected just weeks earlier. But the comptroller also acknowledged that those estimates came with a huge amount of uncertainty.

In Illinois, a commission that advises the General Assembly on revenue and economic issues is warning that a slowdown of business activity caused by the CO-VID-19 outbreak is likely to bring about a recession that could cause a 20 percent drop in state revenues, spread out overanumber of fiscal years.

The Commission on Government Finance and Accountability, or CoGFA, gave that warning as part of its three-year budget forecast, which it is required to make annually. Those forecasts include an analysis of potential threats and opportunities to the state budget.

"While the certainty of the country, and world, plunging into recession seems to grow each day, attempting to value the impact of COVID-19 on state revenues is virtually impossible,"the report stated in the section dealing with economic threats. "With that caveat, it seems reasonable to offer a scenario with more devastating impacts on revenues in the nearterm than even the 'Great Recession.' As a result. should revenues experience a peak-trough decline of 20 percent, a revenue reduction of over $8 billion would be experienced, although likely spread over multiple fiscal

That uncertainty is common across the country. Not only do states not yet have dataontherevenueimpactof the slowdown, but they also are only just beginning to receive early data quantifying the economic disruptions that will ultimately reduce tax collections. With that in mind, leaders will need to be flexible in the coming months and be prepared to respond to fast-changing conditions to balance their budgets once the picture becomes clearer.
