Landfill working toward ISO 14001 rating Clinton Landfill also addressing methane odor concerns

Gordon Woods

gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON — Owners of Area Disposal plan to step up the game for Clinton Landfill by achieving ISO 14001 status this year, Chris Coulter told the county's land use committee Monday.

ISO (International Standards Organization) 14001 is a set of rules and standards created to help companies reduce industrial waste and environmental damage. It's a framework for better environmental management, but it is not required. owns Area Disposal and Peoria Disposal Company, said Clinton Landfill is likely to be the first landfill in Illinois to achieve the rating. The rating will require increased documentation of all the landfill's operations and practices, he said.

"We have undergone Stage 1 and Stage 2 audits," Coulter said, in relation to the rating. "Based on the audit, we took in a record 400,000 tons of waste in 2019. He said he expected that trend to continue, possibly reaching as much as 410,000 tons in 2020.

Coulter said one reason for the increased volume was the closure of a landfill in McLean County. Another reason was waste sludge Clinton Landfill accepted after a wet 2019 made its use as an agricultural application of additional methane gas at the landfill. The landfill generates electricity by using the methane.

"We believe that sludge has actually generated gas faster," Coulter said. "So, we have had some odor complaints in the past couple of weeks. We also could smell it as well."

To address the issue, they are moving up their schedule to install wells that will capture the additional methane.

ZBA says 'no' again on permit

Vote results in duplication of 2019 outcome; It could be April before county board takes up the issue

Gordon Woods gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON -In a repeat of the March 2019 vote, the Zoning Board of Appeals on Feb. 6 voted 5-1 to not recommend a special use application for the Alta Farms II wind energy project. The vote came after a lengthy series of public hearings repeated that some information from the 2019 hearings and added new information as well.

John Griffin was the lone vote in favor of passage, as he was in 2019, saying he believed Tradewind's second application for the permit was complete. Griffin laced some of his prepared comments with sarcasm as he described how he felt Tradewind had met the requirements of the county's wind energy ordinance.

The five other members of the board, however, strongly disagreed with Griffin, with varying degrees of indignation at Griffin and at Tradewind officials.

ZBA member David Waters felt Tradewind officials had not done what was necessary to submit a complete application. He felt Tradewind had not invited county officials into the loop with regard to developing a decommissioning plan for the project.

llinois can now test for coronavirus in-state, cutting down wait times

U.S. rist remains low; two Illinoisans who tested positive are released

Jerry Nowicki Capitol News Illinois jnowicki@capitolnews illinois.com

SPRINGFIELD – The Illinois Department of Public Health now has the ability to test for the 2019 novel coronavirus in-state, meaning shorter wait times for test results for people showing symptoms of the virus and meeting certain criteria.

IDPH said in a news release Tuesday that

Illinois is the first state to be able to do the testing without shipping specimens out of state, and results are typically available within 24 hours.

"The ability to do this testing will mean we will be able to detect any new cases of novel coronavirus earlier and prevent any possible spread," IDPH Assistant Director Evonda Thomas-Smith said in the news release. "We understand there is concern about this new virus, which is why having test results back quickly can help reduce some of those concerns."

Roads / from page A1

In particular, DeWitt County stands to collect nearly $900,000 more in Motor Fuel Tax (MFT) money a year. MFT funds pay for annual maintenance, resurfacing, bridge repair and other road projects in the county. In addition, the state has nearly $32 million earmarked for state road work in DeWitt County over the next five years.

The extra money is the result of the recent 2019 capital bill passed by the Illinois General Assembly. "Everybody thinks the money is going to Chicago, etcetera, etcetera," Rose said Tuesday. "That is not only not true, it is stunning the amount of money downstate Illinois is getting out of this capital bill."

Rose said the state was phasing out the sales tax on gasoline, something he said was a good idea for several reasons.

"First, as the price of gas goes up, it assesses a percentage of the underlying price, so you get gouged by the state as the price goes up," Rose said.

He said two other bad aspects of the gas tax was the fact that the money goes into the state's general fund, so it can be spent on anything other than roads. And, he said the governor and state legislature have complete control over its distribution.

On the other hand, MFT money is assessed per gallon of gasoline sold, so it does not increase as the price per gallon increases.

"Off the top, a huge chunk is guaranteed to come back to counties, townships and municipalities," he said. "And, per the Illinois Constitution, every penny has to be spent on transportation."

Rose said, from a policy perspective, "motor fuel tax is way better than sales tax."

"If we had done this 25 years ago, the roads would never have gotten in the bad shape they are now."

Rose estimated DeWitt County would receive an additional $175,328 per year under the program, the City of Clinton, an additional $124,419 per year.

DeWitt County townships stand to receive an estimated total of $500,766 additional funds per year.

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) also has slated about $31.9 million for 16 state road projects in DeWitt County from 2020-2025. Waters also felt Tradewind had not provided critical information about decommissioning. His interpretation of the ordinance included an understanding that a full decommissioning plan was required with the special use permit application.

"You've bypassed us, wanting to take it to the county (board)," Waters told Tradewind representatives. "I'm just a little bit upset you guys wouldn't give that to us."

Tradewind released a statement shortly after the ZBA vote:

"We appreciate the time and dedication the Zoning Board of Appeals committed to the Alta Farms II application over several weeks of hearings. We remain confident in the application, which clearly meets or exceeds all of DeWitt County's ordinance requirements and details a first-rate wind farm that will be an asset to the entire community. We look forward to the next step in the approval process and to bringing this project and its many community benefits to fruition."

It could be April before the full county board debates the ZBA vote and votes itself on whether to approve or deny Tradewind's special use permit. It likely will be several weeks before transcripts of the 17 hearings will be available for board members to examine.

Did you know that a lot of the projects at the park are completed by local has led the efforts with the assistance of Cub Scout Pack 4142 and Venture Crew 2142 in completing other projects throughout the park.

They have on numerous occasions cleaned at Veteran's Point. They wash the granite stones as well as pick up brush in the area to ease in mowing. They have also done trash pickup, ran the annual fishing derby, and picked up brush throughout the park. biggest project The they have undertaken was the opening of the Black Locust group camp. Black Locust had been shuttered by the state for nearly two decades due to budget cuts. With the supervision of former Boy Scout Troop 1142 Scoutmaster, Don Husted, current Scoutmaster Ron Armstrong, and site superintendent, Charlie Montgomery, the scouts are slowly making Black Locust a usable group camping site. The scouts have spent countless hours at the park in hopes of opening the camp for public use. They have re-roofed and repaired the pavilion, graveled the area under and around the pavilion, and have done significant cleanup of the area including tree and brush removal. The area is slowing becoming usable again. They have held flag retirement ceremonies at the camp with local veterans, as well as hosting a Boy Scout Spring Camporee there in 2018. Thanks to a generous donor and fundraising efforts by the scouts, having a restroom that meets state specs and matches others in the park is now an achievable goal.

After the restroom project is completed, the scouts' next project is to have power run to lights above the restrooms, as well as to the pavilion.

The scouts also will work on other projects at the group camp to Anyone interested in donating to the continued scout efforts at the Black Locust group camp may make a donation by mailing it to:

Remembering our music

Have you ever tried to remember all the words to a song from your childhood or teenage years, or something you

by Matilda Charles heard your parents sing? If you can remember one or two lines of a verse or the title, you can find the whole song on the Internet.

Here's an example. I put one line of a song in Google, and there it was! Not only did all the lyrics pop up but there were links to videos of groups singing the song. There were links, too, to more information. Imagine my surprise when I discovered that the song was written in 1911.

World War II was full of good music, and chances are you remember at least parts of some of the songs. Search online for World War II songs or any other era you're interested in. Wikipedia even has categories such as "Songs of 1950s." Or search Wikipedia by singer and click on their discography for all the songs they released.

Remember "Any Bonds Today?", the 1941 song written for a war bond drive and presented in a Bugs Bunny cartoon? Or for younger seniors, how about "Blowin' in the Wind," Bob Dylan's 1962 song. How many verses do you remember?

When the weather warms up, you might consider haunting garage sales and antique marts for old sheet music. If you no longer have a keyboard, look on Amazon for compact 54-key electronic keyboards for less than $100. And what do you do once you've collected all the music from your youth? Consider sharing it. If you play well enough, ask about visiting a retirement facility and playing for the residents. Make copies of the lyrics and hand them out for a sing-along. For Alzheimer's patients, hearing or singing music can animate silent patients, reduce stress and strengthen memory.

Any adults in the room?

still remember my high school and _college government classes. We were taught what the cost of democracy was, oftentimes by a WWII veteran. We learned the reasons for a separation of powers government and the value of casting a ballot. We were taught that government officials were to be respected and that they, in turn, were accountable to the community at large. The terms respect deference meant and something.

The events in Washington over the past year and especially the past week have left me with a feeling of true sadness for this nation. Washington is becoming almost childlike. If you don't play by my rules and I have the ball, the rest of you go home and its my ball. The academic term is partisanship. A simpler definition would be selfish and childlike. Adults discuss the issues and seek an agreed resolution of the issue. Children simply throw that tantrum and accomplish nothing. Where would you put Washington today on this spectrum?

Republican President Trump tries to run the government as a sole proprietorship wherein he is the only shareholder and all must pay homage to his will. House Speaker Pelosi and her progressive members want to run government as they are the elites and no one else is worthy of their attention. Both entities seem to think the other is beneath their status in life and respect for the other is not in their vocabulary.

The U. S. Constitution allows for a President to be removed from office via an impeachment proceeding. The standard is 2/3 vote of the Senate to convict. It is clear the authors of the Constitution meant for it to be a rarely used remedy and then only for the most egregious acts of the President. The House vote by any definition was a partisan indictment of a Republican President by a majority Democratic House. The Senate acquited President Trump by an equally partisan Republican majority thrashing the Democratic minority in that chamber. Nobody wants to share the ball and play the game. Washington has weaponized the political process and the stench of stagnant politicians is becoming worrisome.

President Trump gave the State of the Union speech on Tuesday evening. This is traditionally a very formal speech in which President advises the the Congress and the nation of the health and well being of the nation.

Sen. Rose, why are you avoiding wind farm supporters?

Dear Senator Rose, Why did you wait until now to come out against the wind industry when we are in the midst of public hearings trying to get zoning board approval for a special use permit for the Alta II wind farm project?

All of the DeWitt County wind farm supporters are very disappointed in the negative comments that you made in January. Your comments could not have come at a worse time. It seems to me that you have been given a lot of misinformation, and you used that misinformation to form the comments that you made in January. Where did you get this information?

It is very apparent that the misinformation came from the opposition side, and I am fairly confident that it came from a DeWitt County Board member. You have not reached out to any of the supporters of the Alta II wind farm project in DeWitt County that I have talked to. Why is that?

Ever since you made the comments in opposition of the wind industry, you have been dodging our attempts to contact you. Remember that you represent all of us in DeWitt County and it is disappointing that you won't give us the time of day. We would love for you to come before our DeWitt County Wind Farm Supporters Group to present your official position on wind energy.

Talking to your kids about Black History Month

DECATUR – Black History Month is an opportunity for parents to introduce children to ageappropriate discussions about race and culture beyond the classroom. "As educators, mentors, friends, family and community members, we set the tone for how youth view themselves, their culture and the world," said Macon County 4-H Educator Trinity Johnson. "We have the awesome task to energize and educate students by creating a triumphant narrative." This February make it a point to discuss African American trailblazers and culture around the dinner table. Take trips to a museum to see Black History month exhibits. Check out a relevant book from the library, watch documentaries technology, history, art, music and civic engagement," Johnson said.

Tailor conversations to topics children are already interested in. Do they Black people throughout history, but also the challenges and struggles they had to overcome in the past and today. It is part of American history and history isn't always conversation after more research.

While it is important to discuss difficult issues, struggle shouldn't be the only narrative. "Black history is not a tragedy," all individuals that no matter the adversity you face, you have the responsibility to aspire for excellence," Johnson said.

The 4-H program provided through 1SUniversity of Illinois Extension and is open to youth ages 8 to 18. Youth learn skills for living by participating in individual group or learning experiences related to more than 200 project areas. More information about Extension and 4-H is available at go.illinois. edu/dmp or find Macon County 4-H on Facebook.

and do research together online.

Another easy way to discuss Black history with children is by introducing them to role models across a variety of fields. This instills African American students with a sense of empowerment and pride. "Provide an opportunity for students to delve deeper into the countless impacts made by African Americans in education, love to dance? Introduce them to ballerina Misty Copeland. Are they into sports? Talk about Jackie Robinson and other athletic pioneers.

Context is important in these discussions. "Students must be taught that Black History did not begin or end with slavery," Johnson said.-

Black History Month is an opportunity to celebrate the endeavors and contributions of pretty.

It is important for parents of all ethnic backgrounds to educate themselves and feel comfortable enough to bring up topics such as slavery, oppression and racism. They should also be prepared to answer hard questions with simple, concrete explanations. There is no shame in saying "I don't know, but I'll find out" and returning to the Johnson said. "It is a celebration and symbol of resiliency, hope and triumph."

Share stories of joy and everyday life. Make it a point to watch or read contemporary media with diverse representation. Speak with older generations about local Black history.

"African American history and culture is about encouraging, inspiring and motivating

Using wine in cooking

elcome little my corner of culinary delights. When thinking of using wine in cooking, one often thinks of French cooking; and rightly so. But one must know which wines work best with certain foods. There are all sorts of flavors and degrees of sweetness with wines. There are also certain preliminary preparations in their use. In cooking with wine, one is not after the alcohol. One is after the special flavor wine contains. In cooking, the alcohol is boiled off. Cooking with wine is well worth knowing; so be patient with me.

When using wine in cooking, one needs to know how to reduce it. In some cases, one is able to simply pour wine in with the food or soup being cooked. The serious use of wine in cooking generally requires one to reduce it first. If a dish requires a long simmering or baking process, then the wine is best added at the beginning. If a sauce is being made, or if the wine is to be used in a watery concoction, it needs to be reduced. Also, reduction helps to intensify the flavor and give that syrupy or viscus consistency. Keep in mind that certain wines can be damaged from too much heat. Wine for some things is added in a cold dish requiring no cooking.

Most recipes will suggest which wines to use. Even with that, you still need to understand certain needs and know particulars to what you wish to achieve. For example, I had a recipe instructing me to only use white wine. I was as I do, you most certainly need to know what wines go best with which recipes. Knowing this is not as difficult as it might seem.

First get use to how certain wines basically taste. Write out your evaluation and notes about them. Keep this for your records. Do not try and learn this all in one evening. You might find it difficult to find your way to the door. You need not be concerned over subtle differences in taste over wine being used in cooking. The full bodied robust red wines, such as Zinfandel, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon and pinot Noir, all taste similar and their subtle differences will not be apparent in cooking. If a California Red is chosen, it has a blend of Zinfandel, Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon. I find that Beaujolais is noticeably different within that family of red wines. As I said, they all taste similar to me; not the same, but similar.

Next try tasting an Italian red wine such as Chianti and you will notices a distinctly different taste. Try a Greek red wine and it will taste different from all the others. It is these major differences that one is after in cooking with wine.

Virus / from page A1

While the World Health Organization has declared the coronavirus a global health emergency, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says the risk to the U.S. public at large "remains low at this time." The CDC began shipping test kits to select qualified U.S. and international laboratories last week, and IDPH is working to bring testing online in its Springfield and Carbondale labs.

In Illinois, two people have tested positive for novel coronavirus. The first was a woman who had recently traveled to Wuhan, China, which is at the center of the outbreak. The second was her husband, who contracted the virus after close contact with her.

Authorities said at the time the transmission of the virus from wife to husband was "not totally unexpected."

Both patients were released from the hospital to home isolation last week "under the guidance of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Illinois Department of Public Health," according to the Chicago Sun-Times.

Another 44 tests for the virus in Illinois residents have come back negative, according to IDPH. Another three tests of "persons under investigation" are pending.

The IDPH said the test is intended for use with upper and lower respiratory specimens collected from people who meet certain criteria, which include having traveled to China and other exposure history, as well as symptoms such as fever and shortness of breath.

believe Authorities symptoms appear between two and 14 days after exposure, and there is not a significant risk of a person transmitting the virus before they develop symptoms.

Coronavirus is a large family of viruses, with some causing illness in people, and others circulating among animals, according to IDPH. The virus is named for the crownlike spikes on its surface. Human coronaviruses are "common throughout the world" and usually cause mild to moderate illness in people, according to IDPH. The concern over the recent outbreak of the 2019

novel coronavirus comes from the fact that it is a new, unrecognized strain. Previous novel coronavirus strains – such as the ones that caused MERS, or Middle East Respiratory Syndrome, and SARS, or severe acute respiratory syndrome - evolved from animal strains and have been associated with more severe respiratory illness, according to IDPH.

As of Tuesday, 13 people in the U.S. had tested positive for the 2019 novel coronavirus.

According to a WHO situation report dated Tuesday, Feb. 11, there were 43,103 confirmed cases of the virus. All but 395 of them were in China, where 1,017 deaths have occurred, according to the report. Only one death has occurred outside of China.

While the CDC has said confirmation of "limited person-to-person spread" of the virus in Asia "raises the level of concern about this virus," the federal agency "continues to believe" the risk to the American public at large "remains low at this time."

IDPH has a hotline for Illinois residents with coronavirus questions. Residents outside of Chicago may call 800-889-3931 or email DPH. SICK@illinois.gov. Chicago residents may call 312-746-4835 Monday through Friday during business hours and 311 during evenings, weekends, and holidays, or email coronavirus@chicago.gov.

Lady Maroons score wins at home on Senior Night

Marc Rogers jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON — On Thursday, February 6, the Lady Maroons were at home for Senior Night and to face the Lady Hawks of Meridian (Macon).

Although the Lady Hawks flew in with high expectations, they were quickly to find out the Lady Maroons were on a mission.

The initial game between the junior varsity (JV) teams slow and methodical. This was a low-scoring game with only one player in double figures, and while the Lady Hawks may have had the high scorer, the Lady Maroons had an all around output from five of its players.

The Lady Maroons were behind by only 3 points at the half and returned for the second half ready to complete their mission. With a very strong fourth quarter, the Lady Maroons took the lead for good and came away with a 22-17 win.

Wilson, and Raya Swartz all contributed heavily to the win scoring four 3-pointers amongst them.

Then came the varsity onslaught.

The Lady Maroons began clipping the wings of the Lady Hawks from the tip-off with an outside barrage to open up the lanes for inside close shots and rebounds. This was followed by a swarming defense that gave the Lady Hawks nowhere to go.

The home team left the floor at halftime with a 41-20 lead.

The second half saw the Lady Maroons go into a high powered cruise control, scoring a little less but still continuing a control game over the opposition and denying the Hawks much in the way of scoring opportunities.

The Lady Maroons ended Senior Night with a 61-28 win over a conference foe.

Mallory Cyrulik led the home team with 25 points with Destiny Schlesinger pouring in 14 points of her own (including three 3-point buckets).

Maroons freshmen over Redskins 28-20

Marc Rogers jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON - On Saturday morning, February 8, the Maroons freshman team hosted the Sullivan Redskins here at home.

This was a fairly close game throughout, and neither team was explosive on offense but with strong defenses in place.

The Maroons came out on top with consistent play and keeping to their game plan. The Redskins would charge in and then fade into a lax time of play.

In the end the Maroons hammered out an 8 point lead in the final quarter to win 28-20.

Trevor Scott led the Maroons with 10 points.

Clinton went to a moving offense with set blocks to open up the scoring.

Maroons suffer two one-point losses

Marc Rogers jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON - The Clinton Maroons have been on the road for awhile, and the season is taking its toll. After a couple of promising showings, the Maroons are back on a downward trend.

On Feb. 8, the team played in a conference tournament game against the Sullivan Redskins. The game was close in the second half as the Maroons struggled through the first half. Clinton was in foul trouble late but also came short on secondary support.

Both teams' leading scorers had 13 points, however, the Maroons were short by a couple of points on supporting baskets and lost by one point.

The final was Sullivan 35, Clinton 34. Zeke Hickman again led the Maroons with 13 points followed by Skyler Williamson with 11 points.

Then, on Feb. 11, the Maroons traveled to Shelbyville to invade the land of the Rams.

This was another tough game for the Maroons, who fought well throughout the night with a hiccup in the third quarter. The Maroons also fell short on 3-point baskets making only one, while the opposition dropped in four.

The Maroons actually led by two at the halftime break, but that third quarter waver left them in dire straights. Again, for the second time in a week, the Maroons were stranded for the lack of one more basket. The Rams defended their territory with a 50-49 win.

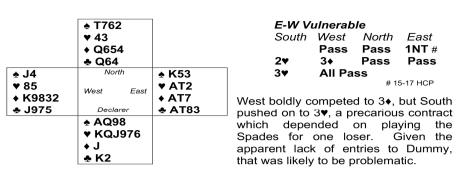

Zeke Hickman led the Maroons with 19 points while Garrett Wayne took follow-up honors with 11 points. This puts the Maroons at 5-21 overall and 1-4 in conference play.

BRIDGE BITES

A TWO-EDGED SWORD

West led his 4th best Diamond and, as this was the Three, it was clear that West had led from a five-card suit. East won his Ace, and Declarer ruffed the Diamond continuation. Before drawing trumps, Declarer played the  $\bigstar K$ , hoping to force an entry to Dummy. But E-W were up to the challenge. West followed with the Club Nine, the start of a high-low count signal, telling East that West had started with an even number of Clubs. Armed with that information, East could duck the trick, safe in the knowledge that Declarer was not trying to sneak through her singleton King. Then Declarer played the ♥K losing to the Ace, ruffed the Diamond return, and drew the remaining trumps.

The play in the Diamond suit had made it clear that West started with the AK, so East needed to hold the AK to make up his 15-17 HCP. Should Declarer play A followed by a low Spade (hoping that East had started with Kx)? Or A followed by the Queen (hoping that West had started with Jx)?

How was Declarer to know? West's Club count signal (which had helped East to find the correct play when the ♣K was led) was a two-edged sword, as it also gave away the distribution to Declarer. By now West was known to have started with five Diamonds, an even number of Clubs (surely four), and two Hearts. That left two Spades, and Declarer's only chance was to play A followed by the Queen, hoping that West had started with AJx. Making 9 tricks!
