Dangerous travel

Gordon Woods / Journal

The weather turned bad in a hurry Wednesday afternoon. Route 51 between Clinton and Decatur quickly became snow-packed, with the northbound lanes becoming icy. Many cars were in ditches and the median along the highway with the Maroa bypass a particularly treacherous spot. As this photo was taken at about 3:20 p.m. Wednesday, at least a half dozen cars were off Rt. 51 at Maroa.

'The Vault' hosting communitywide event tonight

CLINTON — The Vault teen and community center will host a community event beginning at 7 p.m. tonight, Feb. 7.

"Rock at 802" will include a concert featuring Ope! Sorry and From Within starting at 8:02 p.m. Food, and nonalcoholic drinks will be available. There will be art from local artists, pool, ping-pong, shuffleboard and darts.

Ages 10-100 welcome. There will be a $5 cover charge. Proceeds go to support programs for teens in DeWitt County.

The Vault is a nonprofit teen/community located on Mr. Lincoln's Square. The 11,000 square-foot facility offers educational and other support for local teens in addition to hosting fun events and entertainment.

About 400 students are registered and The Vault serves about 120-150 students per week with events, programs, free tutoring, crisis resources, mentoring, and more.

On two other occasions, The Vault has given teen bands a platform to share their talent on the stage for their peers. Those concerts were for an audience of teens only.

Tonight will be the first concert that will be open for the community to enjoy. It will feature local adult and teen artists (including a tattoo artist) who will have their work on display in the lower level. A teen band, From Within, will open for a more seasoned, young adult band, Ope! Sorry., from Decatur.

A full drum set will be raffled off for $10 per ticket.

"This is an opportunity for people to experience a fun community event, but the modest $5 cover charge and sales of food/ drinks at the café will also help to support our mission," said Michelle Witzke, The Vault founder and program director. "We would like to continue to keep our events and programs free of charge on regular teen nights, so events like this can be very helpful to help cover those expenses."

Caulkins files bill to address Illinois teachers shortage

DECATUR 5,200 teaching positions reported open in Illinois during the fall of 2019, State Rep. Dan Caulkins, R-Decatur, filed legislation to make it easier for retired teachers to return to the classroom. "We have a teacher shortage not only in central Illinois, the state as well," said Caulkins. "Charging retired educators a $500 penalty to return to the classroom when there is a teacher shortage seems to be counterintuitive. The state should not be in the business of penalizing retired teachers that want to come back and help educate our next generation."

Caulkins filed legislation to reduce the penalty for renewing the Professional Educator License at the request of his constituent after learning she had to pay a $500 penalty in order to renew her

Turbine effect on radar debated

Sides not in agreement on the effectiveness of turbine curtailment

gwoods@theclintonjournal.com

CLINTON — Physicist Donald Waddell resumed his testimony Monday after testifying Jan. 30 at the Zoning Board of Appeals' (ZBA) hearing for the Alta Farms II wind energy permit application.

Waddell's testimony in the 2019 hearings for the same project were pivotal in the ZBA's decision to not recommend the permit. His testimony that wind towers interfere with Doppler weather radar was one of the key factors of concern cited by most board members.

In his testimony in current hearings, Waddell covered much of the information he presented in 2019 plus some additional and more detailed information.

On Monday, Waddell asserted that wind towers interfered with weather radar during even curtailment, a process drastically reduce the rotation of the wind turbines during periods of severe weather.

Tradewind representatives have said curtailment during storms would solve the problem of radar interference, giving forecasters the ability to spot tornados and issue warnings.

"Volunteer curtailment does not remove all interference," Waddell Monday." said "Interference is reflection from the physical obstructions that don't move and turbulence resulting from airflow."

He said it was difficult for him to accept that a group of 66 wind towers, each measuring 600 feet tall and approximately 12-13 miles from the Lincoln

Doppler radar would not cause interference with the radar.

"Radar has a reflectivity function, and anything it sees, it's going to reflect back," Waddell said. "That's a function of the size of the target, how close it is and some other factors relative to the beam itself."

Arcosa supports Alta Farms II project

CLINTON The proposed Alta Farms II wind project, currently under zoning review in DeWitt County, has received an endorsement from a local wind tower manufacturer.

In a letter to the DeWitt County Zoning Board of Appeals dated January 27, an executive of Arcosa Wind Towers, Inc. cited local job benefits in urging the board to recommend the project. "The Alta Farms II project will not only give DeWitt County an opportunity to participate the ever-growing enterprise of clean energy production, it will provide immediate direct economic benefits to all of the citizens DeWitt County," said Wesley Bourland, senior vice president and general manager of the manufacturer. "Because the developers of the Alta Farms II project have committed to sourcing local components from Arcosa Wind Towers, this project presents a unique opportunity for DeWitt County that should not be missed."

Waddell said curtailment would not remove the towers from the radar's line of sight. He said turbulence was a function of wind velocity and the radar would be unable to filter it out.

Radar expert Geoff Blackman testified for Tradewind Energy, the Alta Farms II developer, on Jan. 17. Blackman said that by feathering, or reducing, the angle of the blades combined with slowing their rotation to about one RPM, interference would be Blackman pointed out that tornado warnings aren't issued to conform to county lines but are made up of irregular boxes that follow the path of a storm.

Some of these warning boxes might overlap only a small corner of any one county, which, in some cases, could place it a fairly long distance from a neighboring county.

Waddell's testimony Monday, however, suggested curtailment was not enough to eliminate weather radar interference. He testified in 2019 that wind towers could mask important weather developments, keeping them out of the view of the radar and forecasters.

Would this be the logic for a wind farm 'no' vote?

It has been asked what a DeWitt County board member would say when voting "yes" for the wind farm application.

What would it look like if they vote "no"?

No, despite the fact that the nuclear power plant will close, creating a financial crisis in the near future? No, despite the opportunity to provide more work to the Arcosa plant in our own county? No, despite the fact that the opposition's claims have been refuted by Tradewind's experts?

The supporters efficiently spent 14 hours of testimony making the case for wind development. The opposition has thus far spent over 24 hours of testimony with many speakers not living in the footprint (of the project) and some not even in the county.

After this unnecessarily lengthy process, I think that a "yes" vote to do the right thing will suffice.

Trump removal would be insane

It's easy to forget what the Senate impeachment trial is supposed to be about.

It's not a fight over whether the Senate will call a couple of witnesses that the House couldn't, or didn't bother to, obtain on its own.

The underlying question is whether the United State

The underlying question is whether the United States Senate will impose the most severe sanction it has ever inflicted on any chief executive, voting to remove a president for the first time in the history of the country and doing it about 10 months from his reelection bid.

This is a truly radical step that, if it ever came about, would do more damage to the legitimacy of our political system than President Donald Trump's underlying offense.

If Trump were actually convicted, the 2020 election would proceed under a cloud of illegitimacy. Tens of millions of Trump voters wouldn't accept the result. They'd see it as an inside job to deny the incumbent president a chance to run for reelection, without a single voter having a direct say. The GOP would be brought to its knees by internal bloodletting, a prospect that Democrats surely would welcome, especially given that it would deliver them the presidency. Republicans would be out for revenge, and instead of a halcyon return to normalcy, our politics would be even more poisonous than before.

Democrats argue that Trump can't stay in office because he's such a threat to the integrity of our elections. But the portrayal of Trump's Ukraine scheme as "election interference," as the Democrats always say, is tendentious and inapt. If the Ukrainians had complied with the Trump team's pressure to announce an investigation of the energy company Burisma, it wouldn't have changed one vote in 2020, even if former Vice President Joe Biden eventually is the Democratic nominee.

The fact is that impeachment, as my colleague Ramesh Ponnuru points out, is a weak check on the presidency. It requires a supermajority of the country to remove a president and one of the political parties being willing to nullify the choice of its own voters for president and an election he won. Both the Trump and Clinton impeachments show that this is a hateful prospect for the president's party.

The best case for what the Democrats are doing now is that Republicans impeached Clinton in the 1990s with little or no hope for conviction in the Senate, and turnabout is fair play. But it's time to conclude that this is a failed model of impeachment. It depends on a process that diverts the time and energy of the nation's political institutions as if the survival of a presidency is at stake, even when everyone knows it isn't.

Congress can hold hearings on a president's conduct, subpoena witnesses and documents and fight the executive with full force if they aren't produced, hold officials in contempt, withhold funding, deny the executive traditional forms of interbranch comity and, if it wants to put down a long-lasting marker, censure the president.

But it needn't drag the country through a melodrama based on the fiction that any president who hasn't crashed to, say, a 25% approval rating is going to be removed by his own party -- in other words, exactly what Adam Schiff and his managers are doing now.

2020 begins with above normal temps and precip

CHAMPAIGN — The preliminary statewide average January 31.4 temperature was degrees, 5 degrees above the 30-year normal and the 17th warmest on record going back to 1895, according to Illinois State Climatologist Trent Ford at the University of Illinois' Illinois State Water Survey.

preliminary The statewide average total January precipitation was 4.41 inches, 2.34 inches above the 30-year normal and the ninth wettest on record.

Following a warmer than average December, temperatures remained persistently above average for the first half of January. Average temperatures in January ranged from the mid-20s in northern Illinois to the high 30s in southern Illinois and were 2 to 7 degrees above average across the state.

The highest temperature recorded across the state in January was 65 degrees in Cairo and Carbondale on Jan. 11.

Temperatures since the start of meteorological winter on Dec. 1 were 2 to 7 degrees above the long-term average across the state. Through Feb. 2, this winter has been the fourth warmest on record in Moline with an average temperature of 31.1 degrees. Interestingly, the three winters that were warmer through Feb. 2 in Moline are 2002, 2012, and 2016.

conditions Warmer have helped make for a mild winter so far across the southern half of the Midwest, as indicated by the Accumulated Winter Season Severity Index (AWSSI). AWSSI uses daily accumulation of points, based largely temperature, characterize winter season severity.

Despite an early snowfall last fall, all AWSSImonitoring stations in Illinois have indicated a mild or moderate winter season so far.

January

precipitation was above normal across the state, with monthly precipitation totals ranging from 2 inches in northwestern Illinois to nearly 8 inches in south-central Illinois.

The highest accumulation was along the Interstate 70 corridor between the St. Louis Metro East and Effingham. This region experienced nearly 300 percent of its average January total precipitation.

Vandalia in Fayette County experienced its third wettest January on record with 7.99 inches, over 5 inches above the long-term average. As with most of the wettest parts of the state last month, Vandalia received over 80 percent of its total monthly precipitation in just three days. Much of this was the result of a single winter storm that moved through the Midwest between Jan. 9 and 12.

Three-day precipitation totals between Jan. 10 and 12 broke three-day total January precipitation records at Charleston (5.85 inches), Taylorville (4.35 inches), Champaign (3.63 inches), and Marseilles (3.41 inches).

This event resulted in flooding along many of Illinois' larger rivers, including the Kaskaskia River breaking through the Vandalia levee and causing a temporary closure of highway 51. Rivers crested between 24 and 72 hours after the precipitation ended. As of the end of the month, minor flooding persisted in only the lower Illinois and Kaskaskia Rivers in the state Snowfall totals last month ranged from less than a tenth of an inch in southern Illinois to over 12 inches in northwestern Illinois. The highest January snowfall total was 15 inches in both Stephenson and Bureau Counties. Rockford experienced the highest one-day snowfall maximum with 6 inches on Jan. 25.

January continued the longer winter season snowfall patterns, with the western third of the state experiencing slightly above normal snowfall since Oct. 1, and the eastern two-thirds of the state experiencing near normal to well below normal snowfall over the same period.

A broad area along the Indiana border from Cook County to Lawrence County has experienced between 50 and 75 percent of normal winter season snowfall, whereas most of the state south of Interstate 64 has experienced less than 50 percent of normal snowfall since Oct. 1.

In contrast, snowfall totals across a broad area between Jo Daviess County and Madison County in western Illinois has experienced between 100 and 125 percent of normal snowfall.

Short-term 8-14-day outlooks from the NOAA Climate Prediction Center show strongly elevated odds of above normal precipitation, with the highest probabilities across the southern twothirds of the state. Shortterm temperature outlooks show slightly elevated odds for a continuation above normal temperatures across the eastern part of the state.

Longer-term 30-day outlooks show elevated odds of both above normal temperature and above normal precipitation in southern Illinois. Seasonal outlooks for spring (March to May) continue to show elevated odds of above normal precipitation across the state, with an equal chance of above normal, normal, and below normal temperatures.

corner of Moore Ct. and Monroe St. in Clinton. Margret was a fantastic cook there. My mother liked eating meals there with her friends.

As usual, my mother ordered for me. Since there were no booster chairs in taverns back then, I was standing on the seat of the booth. Acting like a bigshot, I slammed my fist down on the table. I demanded a beer. My mother told the waitress to go ahead and bring a small amount in a water glass. I quickly shook my head "no". My mother made me at least take a tablespoon full. I thought it tasted awful. I never had beer again until over a decade later when I visited Germany. I liked their beer. I also imbibed wine in Italy and Greece.

Some breaded foods are advertise as using beer batter. I never found the value in such. To me, breading or batter used for frying is best flavored with herbs, seasonings and spices. I have also seen contraptions designed to hold a can of beer upright inside poultry for roasting. It is supposed to enhance the flavor during roasting. I think that a large onion stuffed inside is cheaper and works better. I simply do not have that kind of familiarity with beer being used in cooking. It might sound special; but does it sufficiently improve the food?

Spirits are used in cooking to a minor degree. There are some recipes that suggest using Jack Daniel's Whiskey in making chili. I'll bet the Jack Daniel's company put that recipe out rather than the Culinary Institute of America. It is good to experiment, but do so sensibly.

Brandy is another spirit used in cooking. In some cases, it is used for a touch of flavoring. However, that can be rather expensive flavoring if you get the good stuff. Never use inferior products in cooking. If you would not normally drink the stuff, don't use it. One of the most popular uses for brandy in cooking is to flambé. Flambé in French means "flame". It is a very classic touch mostly for show than for flavor. Coq-au-vin is a French classic that uses both wine and brandy.

Until next time, peace to

Clinton Junior High wrestlers 11-1 on season after recent trianular

Marc Rogers jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON — Clinton Junior High School main gymnasium and Maroons wrestlers hosted the Mahomet/Seymour Bulldogs and the Mt. Zion Braves in another triangular meet.

The first round of matches set the Braves and Bulldogs against each other. And as the song goes "Who let the dogs out," the Bulldogs were fired up and ready to wrestle. Although the wins and losses seemed close, the points told a different story. The Bulldogs outscored the Braves 72-29.

The next round of matches pitted the Bulldogs against the hometown Maroons. This was a tighter round but unfortunately with the same outcome.

The Bulldogs again were on top 49-36, handing the Maroons their first loss on the mats this year.

There was still the final round, and it was a heart shaker. The Braves and the Maroons fought in an almost dead heat until the final matches, the home team pulling out the points win 47-42. Mahomet/ Seymour took the honors winning two matches, Clinton was second with a 1-1 record and that placed Mt. Zion on the bottom of the hill in this meet at two losses.

For the Maroons, they are now 11-1 on the season and looking forward to having an outstanding rest of the season.

CLINTON — Monday, Jan. 27, was the day the Maroons headed south on Rt. 51 to the plains of the Central A&M Raiders (16-2, 4-0). An ominus proposition to take on in a conference match-up, but go the Maroons did.

The first quarter was as if the Maroons were still chilled from the cold weather bus ride as their fences were down, both offense and defense. The first quarter was a runaway for the Raiders and the Maroons never really recovered.

The Clinton team came out strong in the second quarter and actually out scored the Raiders in the final quarter, but it was too little, too late.

CHS Maroons over Argenta -Oreana Bombers in quadrangular

Senior night celebrated for two Maroons wrestlers

Marc Rogers jmarre@frontier.com

CLINTON — The Clinton High School Maroons wrestling team hosted a quadrangular meet on Jan. 31. Besides the home Maroons, the schools represented were the Argenta/ Oreana (A/O) Bombers, the Shelbyville Rams, and the Tolono Unity Rockets.

The Maroons have been doing well in these multiple team home stands, but this night was a struggle. Tolono Unity was the powerhouse of the group, starting with a 72-9 win over A/O, followed by a 71-6 win over the hosting Maroons, and finishing off with an 81-9 win over Shelbyville for a 3-0 mark on the evening.

Shelbyville led off with a 50-19 win over the Maroons, then beat A/O 54-22 beore running into the Rocket buzz saw to end their night at 2-1.

While the Rockets were blasting the Rams, the two remaining teams, Maroons and Bombers took to the mats. Finally a bright spot in the evening for the home team. Without much ado, the home team wrestled a win from the Bombers with a final score of 81-9.

On a final note, this was also senior night for the Maroons, who will lose two teammates. Those competing in their final Maroons season are Brett Reeves and Evan Deavers. These two were honored, along with the families during a break in the meet.

In the starting 7th grade game, the home team took the first few volleys to build a small lead, which soon dissolved as the Lady Sages came back to tie. The first set went back and forth until late in the set when the opposition fi-

This match had the opposing team scoring first but then falling back by a point or two. This lasted throughout the set until, with the teams tied, the Lady Maroons stepped up and ran off four straight points to win the second set 25-21. This set up a third set tie-breaker that historically has been to 15 points, but now with new changes is another set to 25 points. This final set was a thriller to the end with both teams attempting to pull off the

In the final match of the evening, the 8th grade teams took to the court for their turn.

This time around, the sets were not quite as evenly matched, but the Lady Maroons hung tough against the Lady Sages. # Maroons' JV, varsity fall in tight games vs. Tuscola

CLINTON — On Saturday, February 1, the Maroons were spread far and wide playing basketball. The freshman team was at home playing the Maroa-Forsyth Trojans, while the varsity was playing in the CIC tournament at Central A&M.

The first game was at home with the freshman teams on the court. The first quarter saw the Trojans take a 7-point lead that was cut to two points at halftime.

The Maroons picked up steam and, along with good shooting, played a strong defense, holding down their opponents scoring.

By the third quarter the Maroons were in the lead and pressing for the win. However, one man can-

For the Maroons, Trevor Scott led the team (and all scorers) with 15 points and Mathis Westbrooks followed with 11 points.

The Maroons varsity, playing in the CIC tournament was set against the Tuscola Warriors in a rematch of earlier in the year when the Warriors severely beat the Maroons on their home court.

This time the Maroons were better prepared and the game proved that fact. After being down 13-7 in the first quarter, the Maroons bounced back to tie

The team got off to a slow start, scoring only 10 points in the first half to the oppositions 25 points. The Maroons took the court in the second half running on high octane willpower, going from single-digit quarters to double-digit scoring. The team out-scored the Hilltoppers the entire second half. The defense even held their opponents to single digit scoring in the final quarter. But, even with the Maroons' second quarter, stellar performance, it wasn't quite enough as Clinton endured an ever-so-close 44-40 loss.

The Maroons were led by Trevor Scott with 11 points followed by Jace Danley with 10 points.

After ruffing the Diamond at Trick 2, Declarer lost to the ♣A, won the Spade return, and ran the ♥T. The good news was that this held the trick and, when West showed out, that (surprisingly) wasn't really bad news at all!

Next, a Spade was ruffed, and three Clubs were cashed, ending in Dummy.

Here was the end position (West was merely a spectator at this point):

It really was most unsporting of Declarer to play the hand so well.

Sweet, Luscious Snacks for Loved Ones

Valentine's Day eats and treats

FAMILY FEATURES alentine's Day naturally brings thoughts of hearts, flowers, sweetness and love. Because it also occurs during American Heart Month, it's a perfect opportunity to start taking care of your own heart and the hearts of loved ones.

Part of the charm of the day's celebrations is in giving family and friends flavorful foods to enjoy from chocolates and candies to other sugary treats. However, the festivities don't have to be completely focused on unhealthy bites in order to make someone feel special.

This year, it can be easy to share in the fun of Valentine's Day by serving those you love with sweet, seasonal treats. For example, these Frosted Watermelon Cutouts make for ideal snacks for children and adults alike whether it's an afterschool treat or a sweet dessert with just three ingredients, heart-shaped cookie cutters and minimal time spent in the kitchen.

If you're really looking to impress that special someone, this Watermelon and Chocolate Dessert Board calls for creativity and plenty of tasty morsels like berries, cashews, almonds and dark chocolate. Without any baking or cooking required, simply spread out the ingredients for a platter that's just as visually appealing as it is appetizing. Both recipes include the benefits of watermelon, which boasts plenty of vitamin C to boost the immune system's defenses as a cholesterolfree, fat-free and sodium-free food. Plus, watermelon draws its red color from the powerful antioxidant lycopene (12.7 mg per serving), which may help protect cells from damage, and the healthy treat is American Heart Association Heart-Check Certified with just 80 calories per serving, making it the perfect centerpiece for Valentine's Day recipes than just sustenance – it can connect you and your kitchen to faraway places. Whether you have opportunities to travel the globe or prefer to stick closer to home, foods can bring the heritage of other countries right to your own plate. To take your own taste tour of the globe, consider these plant-based recipes including Sabra Hummus. More than just a dip, hummus can serve as a canvas for a variety of flavors. Working as a transformative ingredient to elevate nearly any dish, hummus is an ideal base for exploring a world of flavor in your kitchen. For example, these Vegetarian Spicy Noodles combine angel hair pasta and a soy-hummus sauce that's creamy and rich with distinct Thai flavors. Chipotle Hummus and Mushroom Tacos provide a meatless version of a south-of-the-border favorite with a rich umami base topped with fresh cabbage and lime Visit Sabra.com to discover the many ways that hummus can be more than a dip.
