Byron station donates to area charities

BYRON – Exelon Generation employees and the Exelon Foundation are donating more than $4.6 million to support charitable organizations in the communities around its power plants.

Employees pledged more than $3.1 million to 849 different charities in their local communities this year. And for every dollar employees pledged, the Exelon Foundation donated 50 cents to their local United Way, bringing the total donation to more than $4.6 million.

At Byron Generating Station, employees pledged more than $185,000 to dozens of local charities during this year's Employee Giving Campaign. Organizations supported include Village of Progress in Oregon, Veteran's Drop-In Center in Rockford, Pinecrest Community in Mt. Morris, Shining Star Children's Advocacy Center in Dixon, and many more.

"In the spring we were in desperate need of new shelving to update our facility, and Byron Station stepped up to help us meet that need," said Kathy Wragg of the Polo Food Pantry. "Now they've brought us hundreds of nonperishable items and a monetary donation to ensure our needy families will be taken care of during the holidays. It's a great blessing."

The monetary donation and non-perishable items were collected during a recent breakfast of retired workers at the station's training facility. Employees have also been busy: a vanload of toys was delivered to the US Marines "Toys for Tots" initiative, bags of warm coats, hats and gloves was given to Shelter Care in Rockford. and a half-dozen other nonprofits in the area received nearly 250 "Secret Santa"

"We have strong bonds with the communities that surround our nuclear energy facilities," said Bryan Hanson, Exelon Nuclear chief nuclear officer. "We believe strongly in investing where we live, work and serve."

Exelon Generation employees have a long-standing tradition of supporting their communities, not just with their dollars, but also with their time. Through Nov. 30,2019, Exelon Generation employees at Byron Station volunteered more than 1,500 hours with charitable organizations in the local area.

Across Exelon Generation, employees volunteered 38,000 hours this year, which is equal to more than four years' time. Projects supported workforce development programs, STEM education events, environmental causes, food pantries and veterans' organizations. among many others.

Byron Generating Station is about 20 miles southwest of Rockford. With both units at full power, the site produces almost 2,500 megawatts. enough electricity to power more than 2 million average American homes.

County offers ways to reduce waste

OREGON-With 2020 almost upon us and we are making our New Year's resolutions, the Ogle County Solid Waste Management Department (OCSWMD) suggests waste reduction as a possible alternative to trying in vain to exercise more or attempting a fad diet for a couple of weeks.

To trim down the garbage bags or eliminate one of the trash cans per week, consider these waste reduction alternatives so we can all send less to the landfill.

Cut back on food waste by planning meals accordingly and using left overs in a timely fashion. Certain food scraps can go into a simple backyard compost bin, so items like fruit and vegetable trimmings, egg shells, coffee grounds and such can be turned into compost instead of becoming garbage.

Consider donations to local thrift shops or other charitable organizations. Gently used items like clothes, shoes, coats, hats, furniture, toys, bikes, tools, and other household items, can be donated instead of tossed out for the trash.

Try to avoid single use items such as paper or foam plates, foam cups, plastic utensils, paper napkins, straws, and water bottles. Look for reusable alternatives to these items such as washable dinnerware and utensils, and always use refillable water bottles and coffee cups.

When shopping try to use reusable shopping bags. Plastic bags are not recyclable through your normal comingled recycling pick-ups and hinder the recycling process.

Certain retail stores have a recycling station so you may recycle your plastic bags.

If you are fortunate enough to have a curbside recycling service, please use that service accordingly and learn what to put into the bin and what to leave out. The only items that are truly recyclable include all aluminum and metal cans, cardboard, clean paper products such as newsprint, magazines. phone books, catalogs, office paper, and junk mail, clean glass bottles and jars, and clean plastic items #1-5 and #7. Leave out the Styrofoam, plastic bubble wrap, plastic bags, and pizza boxes, as these do not get recycled and have contributed to the diminishing value of recyclable material locally and nationwide. Start off 2020 with your new resolution of making less garbage.

To assist with any and all waste reduction questions, please contact the OCSWMD at 815-732-4020, visit oglecounty. org, or see the Facebook page at: Ogle County Solid Waste Management

Ogle County again offers holiday light recycling

It's that time of year again when we start to decorate for the holiday season.

When you come across holiday light strands that refuse to work, have those light strands recycled instead of landfilling them.

The Ogle County Solid Waste Management Department (OCSWMD) is partnering with local fire departments and villages to again offer several convenient drop-off boxes so those frustrating, nonfunctional holiday light strands can be recycled.

Starting Nov. 15, dropoff boxes will be available at the following fire departments: Rochelle, Byron, Stillman Valley and Mount Morris.

They will be located at the village halls in Polo, Forreston, Davis Junction and Creston. Light strands are also accepted at the Ogle County courthouse and at the OCSWMD office at 909 Pines Road in Oregon. Boxes will remain at these locations until Jan. 24, 2020.

Accepted light strands include Italian minilights, traditional lights, LED lights, and other holiday light strands. Extension cords are also accepted. Material not accepted include rope lights, wreaths, garland, metal stakes or silhouettes, live greens, plastic decorations, timers, and light packaging or boxes. Please place light strands into the boxes and do not place shopping or garbage bags into the boxes, doing so hinders the recycling process for this material.

Lights and cords will be shipped to Dynamic Lifecycle Innovations in Onalaska, Wisconsin to be recycled.

In 2018-19, more than 1,500 pounds of material was collected and recycled through this program.

So, as we prepare to untangle, test, and put out those holiday lights this season, remember you can help the environment and recycle all those strands of lights which have brightened our homes in the past but now refuse to light up anymore.

If you have any questions about this program, or wish to learn about other recycling opportunities in Ogle County, call the OCSWMD at 815-732-4020 or visit www. oglecounty.org.

Higher fines for Scott's Law violations start on Jan. 1

SPRINGFIELD – The Illinois State Police (ISP) continues to urge motorists to obey the Move Over Law – also known as Scott's Law – and use caution when approaching stationary emergency vehicles or any other stationary vehicle displaying flashing lights on the interstates and roads.

2019 has been an especially tragic year for the Illinois State Police. 27 ISP stationary squad cars have been struck by vehicles, higher than the number of all ISP crashes of this sort that occurred in all of 2016, 2017, and 2018. We also continue to mourn the tragic deaths of Trooper Christopher Lambert and Trooper Brooke Jones-Story.

creased as a result. In 2019, ISP has issued nearly 6,300 citations thus far for violating Scott's Law - which is nearly 5,300 more than the combined totals of the two previous years.

Effective Jan. 1, 2020, violators of Illinois' Move Over (Scott's) Law will be fined no less than $250 for a first offense and no less than $750 for a subsequent offense. If the violation involves property damage, the violator's driver's license will be suspended for a mandatory period anywhere between 3 to 12 months. If the violation results in injury to another person, the violator's driver's license will be suspended for a mandatory period of anywhere between 6 months and two years.

"Following Scott's Law is a matter of life and death for our brave first responders who are just trying to do their jobs," said Gov. JB Pritzker. 'The law is simple: slow down and move over if you see a first responder on the side of the road."

Pritzker has been heavily involved in the effort to bring awareness to the Move Over (Scott's) Law and has signed two pieces of legislation this year as a part of his ongoing effort. Public Act 101-173 increases the fines for those violating this law. Additionally, a Move Over Task Force, implemented through Public Act 101-174, has been created to study the issues of violations of the Move Over (Scott's) Law and how to protect emergency responders. Both Senate bills are effective Jan. 1.

As chair of the Move Over Task Force, ISP Director Brendan F. Kelly continues to make the Move Over Law a top priority. "As an agency, we have responded to the preventable loss of four ISP troopers with resiliency and a focused mission to protect those who are trying to protect all of us. And as long as the danger to our first responders exists, we will continue to raise awareness and aggressively enforce the Move Over (Scott's) Law,' said ISP Director Brendan F. Kelly.

The Move Over Law was enacted in 2002 in memory of Lt. Scott Gillen of the Chicago Fire Department who was struck and killed on Dec. 23, 2000, by an intoxicated driver on the Dan Ryan Expressway while assisting at a crash scene.

Scott's Law requires drivers to change lanes when approaching stationary emergency vehicles, including highway maintenance vehicles displaying flashing lights, and any stationary vehicle with their hazard lights activated. The law also states, if changing would be impossible or unsafe, drivers are required to proceed with due caution, reduce the speed of the vehicle and leave a safe distance until safely passing the stationary vehicle.

Did you know that film plastics have been found on the deepest point of the ocean floor and on the top of the tallest mountain in the world? More plastic has been produced in the last ten years than in the entire previous century. With that increase there has also been a huge rise in plastic pollution. Nearly 80% of all waste on our land and shorelines and in our oceans around the world now consists of plastic debris. And what is the lifespan of this plastic? Answer: forever!

There will be a question and answer period as well. Handouts will be provided.

Freedom Lutheran Church changes location

OREGON – Freedom Lutheran Church is moving to a new home.

After several years of sharing space with First Presbyterian Church in Oregon, Freedom is moving across the street to share space with Oregon United Methodist Church. The first worship service in our new home will be Jan. 5, at the traditional time of 5:45 p.m. with fellowship to follow.

Freedom Lutheran is a congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) with a mission to welcome, grow, and serve because of the freedom found in Christ. We especially value inclusion and diversity as stated in the ELCA mission statement – "As Christ's church, we value the richness of God's creation and offer a radical welcome to all people, appreciating our common humanity and our differences. We are a church that does not view diversity as a barrier to unity. We recognize and will challenge dynamics of power and privilege that create barriers to participation and equity in this church and society – for women, people of color, minority ethnic groups, people with disabilities, people who are marginalized or living in poverty, and the LGBTQ community."

To learn more about Freedom and the ELCA visit elca.org.

Leaf River Lions recycling Christmas lights

There will be a large box set aside for you to place your strings of lights into. The Lions take them to the Lions of Illinois Foundation where they will be sorted and recycled.

Thanks for your participation in the environmental project. The Lions appreciate your support.

Oregon Park District offers variety of dances

OREGON – The Oregon Park District always has a special event on the horizon and the staff absolutely love "Creating fun for a lifetime" that families can enjoy.

The ever-popular Daddy Daughter Dance and the Mother Son Date Night are fast approaching. This year's theme: Rock Around the Clock at the Sock Hop! It's not too late to register, but don't wait any longer. The deadline is Jan. 25.

"There is much planning, preparation, purchasing, personalizing that goes into the dances which makes a deadline necessary" according to Debbie Leffelman, event coordinator. Park District programs and events attract people from near and far and the upcoming Winter Sock Hop's at Nash Recreation Center are filling fast.

The Mother Son Date Night will take place on Friday evening, Feb. 7. Not only is there dancing, but the boys love to play games and can earn "Cool Cash" to spend at the Sock Hop Shop. Young boys will enjoy this one-on-one time with their moms or a mother- figure. The Daddy Daughter Sock Hop is on Saturday, Feb. 8.

"Fathers don't let your daughters first dance be at her wedding," Leffelman said.

We give dads the opportunity to get years of practice in. Dads or those father-figures can demonstrate to their daughters how a man should treat them later in life.

"I'm amazed each year by some of the dads that really go the extra mile to make their little girl(s) feel special," she said.

"The tradition at the dance is for the girls to make a commemorative bracelet. Some of the girls that have been coming to the dances for years have quite a collection."

The dances are so much fun and give couples a chance to make memories. Professional photographer, Niki Hunt will be there to capture that special moment for families. Photo envelopes are currently available at Nash. Photo times are assigned based on registration date, so the earlier you register the better. Times are assigned so that there is no standing in lines and missing out on the fun. Refreshments, dance contests and the ever-popular balloon drop at the end of the evening are just part of the excitement.

Not only are the events fun for the couples, but the dances are good for Oregon and the local economy. There are flowers ordered, hair is styled, restaurant reservations are made, and more. We appreciate the local businesses that work with us and support Park District events.

Sign up now if you haven't already. This year's dance is the perfect opportunity to dress up and "rock around the clock" at the Sock Hop. For pricing and to register visit Nash Recreation Center, or register over the phone at 815-732-3101.

Visit www.oregonpark.org for more information on the dances and to register on-line and to check out the many other wonderful programs and events the Park District offers.

CGH Medical Center gains approval for new 10-bed behavioral health unit

STERLING - CGH Medical Center is one step closer to providing an inpatient behavioral health/psychiatry unit after receiving Certificate of Need (CON) approval from the Illinois Health Facilities and Services Review Board.

Certificate Need (CON) programs are aimed at controlling health care costs by restricting duplicative services, determining whether new capital expenditures meet a community need, and facilitating coordinated planning of facility construction.

"We are very pleased with the state's endorsement of the need for this new unit," said Dr. Paul Steinke, CGH President and CEO. "This moves us closer to addressing a critical need in our community to better serve behavioral health patients."

The 10-bed unit, which will be a combination of private and semi-private rooms, will be located on the 2^{nd} floor of the south wing of the hospital. Plans for the unit also include an inpatient detox room on the Medical floor, expansion of the Telepsychiatry program (which is already in place), as well as other area partnerships to support a full-time psychiatrist.

The unit will serve a broad range of patients, including those who suffer from chronic mental health disorders, and those who may have more acute needs such as mood or anxiety disorders, suicidal/homicidal thoughts, or psychotic episodes.

"I am thrilled that CGH Medical Center has been given the Certificate of Need for its Behavioral Health Unit," said Skip Lee, City of Sterling mayor. "For too long those in mental health crises in the City of Sterling have had very limited options for care which would provide long term solutions and family support. I commend the Board and staff of CGH Medical Center for taking on this challenge for the betterment of our community. This unit will serve as a valuable addition to the services currently available and provide much needed support to our first responders as they continue to keep our citizens safe."

"The Whiteside County Community Health Plan indicated that mental health admissions were the most needed service that CGH was currently unable to provide," said Kristie Geil, VP and Chief Nursing Officer. "Following the 2012 closure of several area mental health facilities, we found that we would have to make transfer requests to 30-35 mental health facilities for each patient. Because there is little to no room in each facility, some patients would then be held in observation for 3 to 20 days while waiting for placement. Over half of these patients were then transferred to a facility that was more than 50 miles away from the area. This is obviously very hard for the patient and their family. Our goal is to get these patients the care they need, closer to home, and closer to family."

Preliminary plans include opening the new behavioral health unit at CGH near the Congress shall make no law. . . abridging the freedom of speech or of the press"

MOMENTS IN TIME

- * On Jan. 16, 1605, Miguel de Cervantes' "El ingenioso hidalgo Don Quixote de la Mancha," better known as "Don Quixote," is published. The novel gave rise to a number of now-common idioms, including the English phrase "tilting at windmills."
- * On Jan. 18, 1803, Thomas Jefferson requests funding from Congress to finance the Lewis and Clark expedition. Though he did not disclose his intentions to Congress, Jefferson planned to send Meriwether Lewis on a reconnaissance mission to assess future territorial expansion into the west.
- * On Jan. 19, 1915, during World War I, Britain suffers its first casualties from an air attack when two German zeppelins drop bombs on the eastern coast of England.
- * On Jan. 13, 1939, Arthur "Doc" Barker is killed while trying to escape from Alcatraz Prison in San Francisco Bay. Barker, of the notorious "Bloody Barkers" gang, was spotted on the rock-strewn shore of the island after climbing over the walls. As he waded into the water, the guards shot and killed him.
- * On Jan. 15, 1951, Ilse Koch, wife of the commandant of the Buchenwald concentration camp, is sentenced to life imprisonment in a court in West Germany. Nicknamed the "Witch of Buchenwald," Ilse collected lampshades, book covers and gloves made from the skin of tattooed camp prisoners.
- * On Jan. 14, 1969, an explosion aboard the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise kills 27 people in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. A rocket accidentally detonated, destroying 15 planes and injuring more than 300 people. The Enterprise was the first-ever nuclear-powered aircraft carrier when it was launched in 1960.
- * On Jan. 17, 1977, Gary Gilmore, convicted in a double murder, is executed by a firing squad in Utah, becoming the first person to be executed in the United States since the death penalty was reinstated in 1976.

LIFE letters' policy

Concise letters are most likely to be chosen for publication, but the use of any material is at the discretion of management. All letters must be signed or they will not be considered for publication.

During election times, no letters written by the candidates endorsing themselves will be considered

Editing may be necessary for space, clarity or to avoid obscenity or libel, but ideas will not be altered. Writers are urged to use discretion and refrain from sarcasm or personal attacks.

Criticism of individuals or organizations that is not broached tactfully will jeopardize the publication of a letter. Letters will be published in the order that they are received, unless there is a time factor involved, space permitting.

Let's take a look at what 2020 might bring

I would love to give 2019 a punch on its way out the Polar vortex. Rained out May. Almost no real summer. Early winter. In short, this has not been a great weather year.

And nationally? Forget about it. The horror show in Washington, D.C. continues to haunt everyone in the

So, it is with much anticipation that I look forward to 2020. It's also a nice round number, so that should mean something good, right? Even if it means nothing, I am holding out hope that 2020 will be a much better and calmer year than 2019.

In fact, I am going to go out on a limb and make a few predictions for 2020. I have no special powers, of course. No matter what you see on the "Long Island Medium," no one really has the power to see the future or read minds.

That won't stop me from giving it a shot - so here we go.

*The Chicago Bears will

Living the Life

By Brad Jennings

win the NFC North in 2020. This is a lock. You can bet your entire salary and every dime you have put in the college fund you started for your children. Heck, take that rainy-day money you have stashed in the cookie jar and put it on the Bears. Trust me. And by trust me, I mean ignore me, because I really have no idea what I am talking about. But seriously, the Bears in 2020.

* There will be a presidential election in 2020 and someone will win. But it won't be Donald Trump. No, Trump is going quit the presidency to join the senior PGA tour. He already spends most of his time golfing, so in 2020 Trump is going to leave the hassles and distractions of public office and put his energy into the one thing he really loves-no, nothimself, golf. James Comey will be his caddy.

The first child with a smartphone for a head will be born in Manhattan. We all know it is only a matter of time before this happens.

* The Ogle County Board, which already has more members than most local church congregations, will consider a plan to cut the number of board members down to make it more manageable. Instead, it votes to increase the number of board members to 762. All future meetings will be held at Barnacopia.

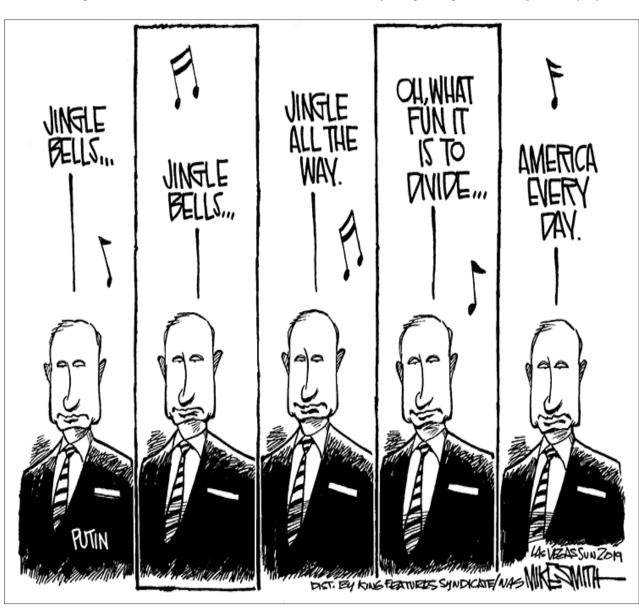

* The Blackhawk Statue will be uncovered just in time for it to be covered again in order to fix the problems caused by it spending so much time being covered.

* Bernie Sanders will drop out of the presidential race after discovering the sublime pleasure that is the Golden Corral buffet. Alas. he will be banned by the chain after ranting at a kid in the dessert line about "free pudding for all." He will last be seen mumbling to himself as he staggers into a KFC to 'save" the chickens.

* With recreational marijuana now legal in Illinois. there will be a noticeable increase in the sales of Cheetos and Funyuns. The use of the words, "dude," "whoa" and "totally" will also skyrocket. The entire state will feel mellowed out and will chuckle uncontrollably at times.

Only time will tell any or all of these come to pass. My bet would be on a solid 0-7 performance by me. But I do hope you all are ready for a great 2020. Couldn't get any worse, right?

Church sends thanks for help with benefit cookie sale

St. Mark's Global Missions Team would like to thank all the people who helped with the Polo Council of Churches' Cookie Sale to benefit The Honduras Project. Thanks to the shopkeepers who allowed us to place posters in their establishments; the people who put their time and resources into baking; everyone who helped plate and sell cookies; everyone who purchased cookies; the Editor of Ogle County Life for publicizing the event, and especially the Polo branch of First State Bank Shannon-Polo-Lake Carroll for graciously al-

The sale raised money to build three cement block houses that are safer for the families than the twig houses they currently live in. Thank you everyone for caring about these families. You helped raise $1,200 and you are making a difference.

Blessings to each and every one of you!

Rochelle man defies odds with bodybuilding

By Andrew Heiserman Staff Writer

ROCHELLE – Determination and hard work can get you anywhere. Just ask Arnett Washington.

Washington has been defying odds as a competitive bodybuilder, proving that anything is possible with enough drive, hard work and determination.

Washington, his personal trainer and best friend Anton Collins and his son, Hezekiah, can be seen training at Rochelle Anytime Fitness six days a week in order to keep his body ready for body building competitions held throughout the state and country.

Washington, now 46 years old, has suffered from Cerebral Palsy, a disease that affects his motor skills and speech, since he was a child. During his childhood, his mother did not give him any special treatment from his other siblings — having to clean his room, do dishes and other chores — which he attributes his motivation and success to the way his mother raised him growing

"My mom didn't know how to raise a child with disabilities so she raised me the same as anyone else, she always told me I could do anything I wanted," said Washington. "Her doing that is what made me into the man that I am today."

Washington was first introduced to working out when he was in grammar school seeing a physical therapist for his disability. His therapist at the time, Larry Bird, would push him to his limits every day at the university gym. He would even say that a little girl could lift more than he could, which would just motivate Washington to work even harder.

In 1990 when Arnett was in high school he met his best friend and future personal trainer, Anton Collins. They stayed friends all through high school and through Washington's time earning two degrees at college. Later in life, when Washington was 43, Collins suggested the Washington try body building and competing. At first Washington laughed at the idea.

"It was his idea and when he told me I was like yea okay, yea right, I was just playing around," added Washington. "But then I saw this video of Steve Alexy, another body builder with cerebral palsy, and I thought to myself, I could do that."

There are currently only four people in the world with cerebral palsy that are also body builders.

After seeing the video that motivated him to make the decision to go forward with Collins' idea they got hard at work training for his first competition. Work outs were six days a week at either Rochelle's Anytime Fitness or in Collins' basement, home of his personal training business, Torture Chamber Fitness. The workout routines are based on the physique that Collins would like Washington to be in for the competition, but for the first competition, the pair focused on getting Washington as ripped as possible.

During the competitions, Washington usually competes in two different categories.

"There is men's classic physique, which is a full body competition that focuses a lot on a smaller waist, and then there is men's physique which focuses on the upper body as well as legs."

Washington's first ever competition was the Organization of Competitive Bodybuilding Heartland Classic on Nov. 4. 2017 in Belleville. In that competition, he took second place in Men's Physique Debut, third place in Men's Physique Novice, fifth place in Men's Physique Open and first place in Men's Physique Over Age 40.

Since his first competition, Washington has competed in two more competitions, the OCB Midwest States on Nov. 23, 2019 in DeKalb where he took third place in Men's Classic Physique Over age 40 and the OCB Hollywood Natural on Dec. 7, 2019 in Hollywood, California, where he took third place in Men's Physique Open, second place in Men's Physique Over Age 40 and first place in Men's Physique Classic Physically Challenged.

All of the competitions he competes in are all natural and are not designated for people with disabilities, anyone who is able to compete can enter these competitions.

Washington has two sons and a daughter that fully support their father's body building career.

"It has been a crazy ride seeing him be on that stage by himself, to show people that he can do it no matter his condition or no matter how people look at him, regardless he can do it," expressed Hezekiah Jefferson, his oldest son. "He is going to prove to the world that nothing is impossible if you just put your mind to it."

Washington says the main reason he is doing this is for his kids, to prove to them that if he can do this then they have no excuse for not being successful.

Body building means a lot to Washington because even though he has two college degrees, it is one of the only places where he feels treated the same as anyone else.

"Body building is now his job, his career, this is unfortunately the only place that he has been fully accepted. He has two degrees, but the first thing people see when he applies for a job is the way he talks and his physical appearance," explained Collins. "But in body building, when you look at him, his body is better than most of his competitors. It doesn't matter the way he talks or the way he walks."

Washington's ultimate goal for bodybuilding would be to get a sponsorship from any of the athletic companies and eventually open up a gym specifically tailored to people with disabilities or those recovering from injuries such as a stroke.

"A gym can be intimidating for many people to walk into especially for people with disabilities, so Washington would love to create a safe comfortable space for people to come lift weights," said Collins.

Competing in bodybuilding competitions throughout the country is not a cheap thing to do there are entry fees, traveling costs, steroid and substance testing as well as a lie detector test. All of these costs and fees add up very quickly, so to help with the cost of these competitions, Washington and Collins have set up a GoFundMe page as well as a popcorn fundraiser with all of the proceeds helping keep Washington's bodybuilding dream alive.

2020 All-America selection winners

URBANA – After the polar vortex of last winter, many are wondering if those cold blustery temperatures will return this season to affect our plants in Illinois.

According to winter predictions, and University of Illinois Extension horticulture educator Bruce J. Black, this winter should be cold, but with enough snow, plants will be successfully insulated.

"When planning your garden, it is essential to choose plants that can tolerate our cold temperatures and still have blossoms all year long," Black says. "After mapping out coldhardy perennials you currently have planted, begin to think about what new plants could be added to your landscape. A great starting place is the All-America Selections.

All-America Selections (AAS) is a nonprofit organization that releases several trialed plants each year as AAS Winners. All-America Selections tests new varieties every year at their 80 private and public trial sites located around the United States and Can-

Currently, there are five trial locations in Illinois (three northern, one central, one

Independent judges, who are professional horticulturists in geographically diverse areas, evaluate trial entries against comparison plants. The results and observations are compiled and winners are chosen. For the best plants suited to the area, Illinois residents should look for Great Lakes winners or National winners on the AAS Winners

Six 2020 AAS Winners have been announced, which include four vegetables and two flowers. They are:

Cucumber, Green Light F1 (Cucumis sativusvar. Green Light F1): Green Light is a vining cucumber, with a plant height of 80 inches producing 40 3.5-inch sweet and crisp fruits per plant. National Vegetable Winner.

Tomato, Celano F1 (Solanum lycopersicum var. Celano F1): Celano is a patio-type grape tomato with a bushy habit, producing uniform oblong sweet fruits. With excellent late-blight tolerance, Celano is considered to be sweet, with a phenomenal yield. Ideal for container gardens, but may require trellising and some pruning according to the judges' observations. National Vegetable Winner.

Tomato, Early Resilience F1 (Solanum lycopersicum var. Early Resilience F1): Early Resilience is a determinate, uniform, Roma-type, great for cooking and canning. Judges noted Early Resilience was very resistant to blossom-end rot and other diseases, and was overall one of the healthier plants and fruits in the trial. National Vegetable Winner.

Watermelon, Mambo F1 (Citrullus lanatus var. Mambo F1): Mambo is a round, dark green rinded watermelon averaging 11 pounds per fruit. It doesn't overripen and yields well in cool, cloudy weather. Judges said it is easy to grow, due to high seed germination rates and healthy vines. Seventyfive days to maturity from transplants. National Vegetable Winner.

Echinacea, Sombrero® Baja Burgundy (Echinacea hybrid var. Sombrero® Baja Burgundy): Sombrero® Baja Burgundy is a beautiful violet-red coneflower that was noted for its hardiness, sturdy branching, and beautiful habit.

A great cut flower blooming mid-summer to frost, Sombrero® Baja Burgundy is pollinator and bird-friendly and deer-resistant. National Herbaceous Perennial Winner.

Rudbeckia, American Gold Rush (Rudbeckia x American Gold Rush): American Gold Rush is a compact, dome-shaped blackeyed Susan with narrow 2-inch hairy foliage. Bred for its resistance to Septoria leaf spot, this July to September bloomer shows no signs of fungus in humid and wet conditions. The blooms are pollinator-friendly and are great as cut flowers. National Herbaceous Perennial Winner.

Looking for something else to fill in your landscape and gardens? The All-America Selections website (all-americaselections. org) contains a list of all past vegetable and flower winners since its founding in 1933.

"Reading about these new plant introductions has me excited for spring," Black says.

Bread of Life has monthly food distributions

STILLMAN VALLEY – Bread of Life is a food pantry and soup kitchen serving residents of Ogle County and Meridian School District. If you are in need, please join us for a snack, conversation, and groceries to bring home.

We meet at Valley Covenant Church on the corner of North Maple Street and Route 72, in Stillman Valley, on the second Tuesday of each month. Join us from 3-5 P.M and bring photo I.D. and proof of residence.

Winter reminder: We follow the Meridian School District closure calendar. If Meridian schools are closed, we are closed. For any questions please call Bread of Life at 815-645-8872, Ext. 15.

Winterfest is set for Jan. 18

The annual Winterfest 2020 presented by the University of Illinois Extension and DeKalb County Forest Preserve will be on Saturday, Jan. 18.

They collaborate each year to offer a day for families to get outside, have fun, and explore an enjoyable destination. Winterfest is from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. and is held at the Natural Resource Education Center in Russell Woods Forest Preserve, 11750 IL-72 located 1 mile west of Genoa on state route 72. University of Illinois Extension staff and volunteers offer a variety of educational and recreational activities for the whole family.

"The horse drawn wagon rides through the preserve are our big attraction," said Extension Educator Peggy Doty. "The draft horses take passengers on a scenic ride through our preserve located right on the Kishwaukee River. This is a festival about the season of winter."

The morning will start indoors at 9 a.m. at the Center's bird viewing window where Doty will share some tips and tricks for feeding and identifying our local winter birds. The winter joy and fun will continue through-out the day.

The Genoa Prairie Gems 4-H Club will be offering their annual fund-raising lunch and snack sale. You can buy food for a reasonable price and help the 4-H club at the same time. The rest of the day is free but we do graciously except donations to cover materials. It is a wonderful opportunity to bring out the whole family for one activity or stay for the entire day. Join your friends for a day in the woods as we celebrate the season of winter.

For questions, please call the Natural Resource Education Center at 815-784-2000.

Discovering what's "right" about you

Psalm 23 is a familiar passage of Scripture for many people that brings comfort in times of loss or hardship. But there's so much more that God has for us in this Psalm than we will understand simply by reading it when we're struggling with fear or grief.

In the Amplified Bible, Classic Edition, Psalm 23:3 says, "...He leads me in the paths of righteousness [uprightness and right standing with Him—not for my earning it, but] for His name's sake." This promise from God is a key to living with real peace and joy and becoming everything you were created to be.

Getting Free of Guilt and Shame

The devil wants us to feel that something is wrong with us, that everything we do is wrong, and we're not what we should be. And so many people spend their life feeling bad about themselves, guilty or ashamed...like something is wrong with them.

I know what this is like. Because of the abuse I went through during my child-hood, I spent many years with this message playing over and over in my head, "What's wrong with me?!" I know many people have had similar experiences and can relate to what I'm talking about.

But the truth can set us free! And the truth is through a personal relationship with Jesus, believing He is the Son of God and accepting Him as Lord and Savior of your life, you can be free of guilt, shame and condemnation, and have confidence that you are right with Him. (See Romans 8:1.)

God's View of You in Christ

As born-again Christians, 2 Corinthians 5:21 says we "become the righteousness of God" (NIV). This means that, in Christ, we have the righteousness of God in our spirit, and we have right standing with God.

It's easy to wonder, "How can I be the righteousness of God if I'm not doing everything right? I still make mistakes and don't feel like I'm right in His eyes." The answer to this question is the difference between religion and having a relationship with God. When I talk about religion, I'm talking about just following rules and regulations that have no life or power of God in them. Practicing a religion often means keeping laws or rules that you think will please God. But we see in Psalm 23:3 that God leads us in paths of righteousness not because we earn it based on what we do but "for His name's sake."

Jesus gave His life for us so we could have an intimate, personal relationship with God through Him. When we put our faith in Christ, believing that His sacrifice on the cross—the shedding of His blood—provides total forgiveness of our sin, we come into relationship with God because of what HE has done for us. We are saved by grace through faith in Christ, not by any works we do (Ephesians 2:8-9)

As we get a revelation of what it really means to "become the righteousness of God," we discover who we are in Christ and we can live the life God created us to live through faith in Him. Because what we believe about ourselves determines whether or not we will live by faith in God, trusting His love for us and His faithfulness to us.

Walking Out God's Righteousness in

I've heard people say, "If you believe you are right with God regardless of what you do, won't that just give you license to sin?" My response to that is once you know who you are in Christ and the beauty of what He's done for you, the last thing you want to do is sin. Instead, you want to do what's right because of what He's done for you, not to try to earn His love or favor.

Being a believer in Christ is a progressive, continual journey of changing to become more and more like Him in our hearts, minds and behavior. Walking in His paths of righteousness happens as we get closer to God and grow in our love for Him and our trust in Him. It's a lifelong process, and a good attitude to have is: I'm not where I need to be, but thank God I'm not where I used to be. I'm okay and I'm on my way!

I want to encourage you to enjoy your daily walk with God. He is your Good Shepherd who is always with you, and He will faithfully lead you in the paths of righteousness for your life.

Oregon Library News

Holiday hours

The Oregon Public Library will be closed New Year's Eve and New Year's Day.

The board of trustees approved to go fine free beginning Jan. 1, 2020

Over the years libraries have charged fines for overdue materials to ensure patrons return the items. In January 2019, the American Library Association issued a resolution that added to their policies "The American Library Association asserts that imposition of monetary library fines creates a barrier to the provision of library and information services". Since our library is supported by your taxes, we are discovering that fines are unnecessary and can be seen instead as a deterrent to use the library. Of the 2059 registered cards at Oregon, 34% have fines and 17% of these cards cannot check out materials because the amount is over $5.00. Oregon Public Library strives to make our resources available to the public and our patrons while providing an accessible and less stressful experience. We are lucky to have a historical library filled with a variety of materials manned by knowledgeable and friendly staff and we want to share these resources with you.

How does Fine Free work? Materials will still have due dates, but fines will not be accrued when they are overdue. Renewals can still occur unless there are holds on the materials. Patrons are still responsible for the items they have checked out and if these materials are kept longer than 14 days past the due date, the patron account will be blocked. At 21 days the items will be charged to the account at a replacement value. The account will remain blocked until the items are returned. As of January 1st, 2020 all overdue fines will be waived and moving forward all overdue fines will not accrue. Replacement charges for items that are damaged or lost still apply. If you have outstanding library materials you can return them with no fines. If you have not been in for a while, we'd love to see you again! Please call the Oregon Public Library at (815)732-2724 if you have questions.

Numerous studies estimate that as many as one in five children have difficulties learning to read. Reading has been associated as an early indicator of academic success. Beginning in January, the Library will offer this nationwide pre-kindergarten challenge to its' district patrons. How does this work? Come to the Oregon Public Library, register, receive your reading folder & instructions and off you go! Seems impossible? For more information, call the Library at 815-732-2724.

Steffy let Brooke in on her and Liam's plan to use Zoe to find out the truth about Thomas. Liam urged Brooke that they must be patient. Thomas told Hope he intended to prove to her that he was a changed man. Hope and Thomas then shared an important moment with Douglas. Kate was upset to see Sonny with Evan. John got an unpleasant surprise at home. Kayla followed "Stefano" and confronted him. Marlena found a mysterious gift in her purse. Hattie was caught off-guard when she found "Steve" in Kate's room. Lani and Kristen returned to Salem. Wait to See: Kristen is enraged by Brady and Nicole's kiss.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

At Crimson Lights, Faith surprised Sharon by arriving home earlier than expected. Summer welcomed Faith back with a hug and asked a ton of questions about boarding school and boys. In the back of her mind, Sharon worried that Connor would need her help soon. At Society, Chance let Adam know that he was staying in Genoa City, but Adam just wanted to forget about their days in Vegas. Phyllis warned Chance that Adam would stab him in the back. Chelsea believed that Adam had an ulterior motive in wanting to take Connor to visit his mother's old farm. Adam then admitted he still loved her, but she reminded him that her heart belonged to Nick now. Billy urged Victoria to go to Telluride without him, but she feared leaving him alone on Christmas Eve. Wait to See: Victor and Nikki celebrate the New Year in style.

Taking a Breather in 2020

I think we can agree that 2019 was a long, tough year. We all know why. Is it time to tune out?

Here are some thoughts on how to have better 2020:

* Turn off the TV now and then, especially those news shows. We've been around long enough to have figured out the political stuff years ago. We don't need to continually have it thrown at us.

* If we do want to watch TV, we can flip to PBS, or maybe the History channel or Discovery. For those of us with Netflix or Amazon Prime, there are plenty of shows, more than we could ever watch. Check out travel videos: wine country in France, narrowboats on the canals in Britain or the scenery in Iceland.

* Consider loading up on jigsaw puzzles and inviting a few friends over. New puzzles can be expensive, but Goodwill has them for $3. Put on tea or coffee, turn on some quiet music in the background and talk about anything but politics while you put puzzles together.

* Vow to have better nutrition in 2020. It doesn't have to be a huge overhaul of your diet, maybe just a few small steps. An extra piece of fruit each day, brown rice instead of white ... it can all add up to better health.

* Winter won't last forever. Eventually spring will arrive and thoughts of planting. Begin now to consider what you might grow: a few pots of flowers outside the door, vegetables in a community space. Make plans.

* We need to do something for others for our own peace of mind. Consider signing up for an afternoon each week at the food bank, or walk a small dog at the shelter once the weather warms up.

Just turn off the TV.

Eating Peanut Butter Cured Her Insomnia

DEAR DR. ROACH: Several years ago, I attended a presentation about insomnia. A registered nurse discussed how, in her career as a nursing home nurse, she had many residents with insomnia. She stated that she had amazing success with these residents. The snack they gave them was crackers and cheese or peanut butter crackers. I was skeptical at first, then one night at 2 a.m., on my fourth night of insomnia, I tried eating 2 teaspoons of peanut butter. Bingo! I slept. Whenever my insomnia occurs, I eat 2 teaspoons of peanut butter, and in less than 15 minutes I'm sleeping. I use a nothing-fancy store brand of peanut butter. Please pass this information on to other readers with an explanation.

ANSWER: I appreciate your writing to give another option for this common problem. One reason that some people think this may work is that the protein content in peanut butter is a source of tryptophan, which increases serotonin levels to help one relax. I also have read that this effect is so small as to be clinically meaningless, and that any sleep effect is due to placebo. I suspect the truth is a combination.

Two tablespoons of peanut butter is almost 200 calories, so this is not a good choice for someone struggling with too much weight. I'm also not one for "fancy," but be sure to choose a peanut butter with no trans fats and no added sugars.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I recently recovered from sigmoid colectomy surgery, and I would hate to repeat this, given that I am 75 years old. What are the possibilities of recurrence of diverticulitis for which the surgery was performed? It's nothing I'd care to undergo again if it can be avoided! -- C.K.

ANSWER: Surgery for diverticulitis is generally reserved for people with multiple recurrences. The sigmoid colon tends to be the portion of the colon with the most diverticula (small pouches in the wall of the colon that may get inflamed or bleed). Surgery usually is curative, with only 15% of people developing new diverticula and only 2% to 11% needing further surgery.

It's not proven, but most authorities believe that reducing pressure in the colon with a high-fiber diet reduces risk of developing diverticula, either recurrent after surgery or in the first place.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I have heard of people whose hair turned white overnight due to some traumatic event. Is there any truth to that? -- H.M.

ANSWER: The sudden change of hair color is called canities subita. There was a review of literature published in 2013 with 44 well-documented cases of sudden color change, 21 of which were associated with an episode of emotional stress. However, while true, rapid, color change is certainly documented, it is exceedingly rare. What probably is more common is the sudden loss of pigmented hair in someone who already has some gray hair. Sudden loss of pigmented hair, in a condition called alopecia areata diffusa, can lead to an apparent color change. Hair lost during chemotherapy or radiation sometimes can come back with a different color or texture.

Q: Is the TV show "You" returning for a second season? I got hooked on the first one and was happy that Netflix saved it after it was canceled by one of the networks. -- P.D.

A: "You," starring Penn Badgley ("Gossip Girl") as a young man who manages a bookstore in New York and becomes obsessed with a beautiful blond woman, originally aired on the Lifetime network, where it had lackluster ratings. However, it became a huge success when the first season aired on Netflix, prompting the streaming service to order a second. If you haven't noticed by now, the new episodes became available to stream Dec. 26 with Badgley's character setting his sights on another female victim, a chef in Los Angeles played by Victoria Pedretti ("The Haunting of Hill House").

"You" is based on the bestselling book by Caroline Kepnes. The literary sequel is titled "Hidden Bodies" and serves as the basis for season two of "You."

Q: I really liked Gabrielle Union and Julianne Hough as judges on "America's Got Talent" and was disappointed they were let go. Who will the judges be next season, and are they the only two being replaced?

A: NBC's "America's Got Talent" has rotated its judges' panel fairly regularly over the years, but usually not after just one season. Simon Cowell and Howie Mandel remain the staples and will likely be back next season, but there are vacancies in Union and Hough's

A special installment of the show begins airing

Monday, Jan. 6. It's the second time they've done "America's Got Talent: The Champions," and Heidi Klum will join Cowell and Mandel at the table, along with Alesha Dixon, but no Mel B.

As for the future of the "AGT," the network reportedly has approached "Modern Family's" Sofia Vergara. If this comes to fruition, I'd like to nominate her co-star Eric Stonestreet to be a judge in the form of his character Cameron.

Q: Do you know if "Midnight Caller" or "Paper Chase" will ever be shown on cable TV oldies stations, like Cozi, MeTv, etc.? -- K.H.

A: For those who don't remember, "Midnight Caller" was a drama that ran from 1988 to 1991, starring Gary Cole as an ex-cop who hosts a radio talk show in San Francisco. It co-starred Wendy Kilbourne ("North & South" miniseries) and Mykelti Williamson ("Forest Gump"). Cole, as you probably know, has gone on to have a thriving acting career in movies like "Office Space" and TV shows like "The Good Fight."

"The Paper Chase" is considered a classic, having run from 1978 to 1986, and it starred John Houseman as a strict law school professor. Fortunately, unlike "Midnight Caller," "The Paper Chase" is available for purchase on DVD. If I were you, I would write both networks (www.cozitv.com/contact and www.metv. com/contact/shows/) to suggest these series be added to their channel lineups. Good luck!

"Judy" (PG-13) -- Judy Garland comes alive in director Rupert Goold's biopic starring Renee Zellweger in the title role. It picks up later in the iconic singer's life, circa 1968, when Garland must take a gig in London, where her star power has not begun to dim, in order to right her rocky finances. This just as she's attempting to hold on to custody of her children. It also follows her romance with Mickey Deans (Finn Whitrock), who would go on be her fifth husband, as well as flashbacks to her studio days as a child star. The standout performance is Zellweger, who plays Garland masterfully -- perhaps too masterfully, as it's Zellweger you see, rather than any revela-

"Adopt a Highway" (NR) --Russ Millings (Ethan Hawke) is an ex-convict just released from a 20-year stint in the California penal system. But this is no hardened criminal. Instead, Millings is the type of institutionalized person who jumps at a brusque tone. He gets a job at a diner washing dishes and attempts to adjust to the bright and shiny new world he's been released into. And then he finds an abandoned baby, Ella, in the dumpster behind his diner, setting him off on a gentle awakening of innocent hope in a world

"The Kill Team" (R) -- Specialist Andrew Brigmann (Nat Wolff) is an earnest young American soldier stationed in Afghanistan at the start of the U.S. conflict. Assigned to a tough unit with a charismatic but cruel leader -- Sergeant Deeks, played by Alexander Skarsgaard -- Brigmann witnesses other team members killing Afghani civilians and other atrocities. As he contemplates blowing the whistle on these violent crimes, it quickly becomes clear that his loyalty is questioned, and his fellow soldiers and sergeant are closing in for the kill. Wolff does a tremendous job of expressing the conflicting forces he's under. Based on real-life events.

"The Gallows: Act II" (R) --In this supernatural horror from Blumhouse studios, Auna Rue (Ema Horvath), a not-so-successful vlogger, finds a copy of a cursed play in her high school library, from which she performs a monologue with much aplomb. Then she's approached by an anonymous online fan who directs her to the "Charlie Challenge" -- "Charlie" being a cast member who was hanged during the original production with a "challenge" to record yourself performing a passage and document any paranormal activity.

While the challenge amps up her followers, she also finds she's being "followed" by a malevolent Hangman from the beyond. This is a sequel to the 2015 film. It wasn't was

By Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD -- There's a new addiction to add to your list ... it's The Hallmark Channel. They've been playing their Christmas movies since last Christmas, amassing a list of 136 holiday films (40 filmed in 2019). The Hallmark Channel was acquired by Crown Media in 2001, and their first Christmas movie was "Meet the Santas" (2005), with Steve Guttenberg and Mariette Hartley. In 2006 they produced the original film "The Christmas Card," with Ed Asner and Lois Nettleton. In 2017 they beat all four major networks in one night with "The Christmas Train," starring Joan Cusack, Dermot Mulroney and Danny Glover.

The Hallmark Hall of Fame produced classic movies for television that won 81 Emmys out of hundreds of nominations. They're using the same actors and actresses and supporting players over and again, like the old studios system did. Upcoming in 2020 they have "Winter in Vail," with Lacey Chabert and Tyler Hynes; "Alice in Winterland," with Chad Michael Murray; "A Beautiful Place to Die: A Martha's Vineyard Mystery," with Jesse Metcalfe; "Hearts of Winter," with Jill Wagner and Victor Webster; "Love on Iceland," with Kailin Doubleday and Colin Donnell; and "Crossword Mysteries: Abracadaver," with Lacey Chabert and Brennan Elliott. They have 23 more new films in development.

Their films have a basic formula. It's usually about an ambitious rising female executive who has lost her Christmas spirit or hasn't been home for a visit to her small town, where she meets a widower with a child. One hour and 15 minutes later they almost kiss, but are interrupted by a ringing phone or a person. One and a half hours in, a conflict occurs when one sees the other with their old flame, gets the wrong idea and bolts. Miraculously, in the final six minutes everything is resolved, they kiss, and we fade out.

The majority of the films are shot in Canada, but there are other locations. "Moonlight in Vermont" was shot in Chester, Vermont (population 3,000); "Christmas in Homestead" in Dahlonega, Georgia (population 6,437); "A Christmas Wish" in Mapleton, Utah; "Christmas Land" and "Pioneer Village" in the Lagoon Amusement Park, Farmington, Utah; and "Christmas Cookies," in Squamish, British Columbia. These are real places you can visit, as is the set of "When Calls the Heart," which was erected in 2013 in Langely, near Vancouver. The series has been renewed for a seventh season, and they offer a town tour (one hour for $20) or a private tour (two hours for $35).

I thought it was just me, but friends have confirmed that they, too, found it hard to turn off the TV while these film were aired all night long during the Christmas season.
