and was flown to Winnie Palmer Hospital for Women and Children in Orlando. There she had an emergency C-section and gave birth to her twins.

"For some reason, tion to Florida in hopes we never really had an answer why I went into labor early and ended up delivering down in Orlando at 23 weeks," said Gabby.

After being born prematurely, the girls, Ellie and Lana, were placed in the NICU to monitor their health. Ellie received one unit of blood as her health was beginning to decline and, unfortunately, she passed away the next day on April 28 from a bacterial infec-

One week later Lana

was suffering from the same bacterial infection along with other complications, but she was able to come home on Aug. 1 with oxygen, a monitor and an ostomy bag. A few days after returning home Lana was readmitted to the NICU at Rockford Memorial Hospital and spent another month in the hospital until she was healthy enough to be sent home with no oxygen or monitor needed.

Now five years later, Gabby and Derek thought it was time to create an event to honor Ellie, give back to their community and save lives in the future.

"Lana is doing wonderful now that we are out of the woods with her health and everything. We decided now that we're good and we don't have to worry about her, that it is time to give back to the community, especially Rochelle, said Gabby Troha. "We are both from Rochelle born and raised, and they rallied around us so much while we were in Florida and helped us out tremendously."

ROCHELLE – A new online program has teamed up with the Rochelle Area Community Foundation to help adults find volunteer opportunities, track of their hours and provide a platform for non-profit groups to post all of their upcoming opportunities Letsthrive360.com is a website open to all non-profit organizations throughout the country and their volunteers can register and their hours will be verified by the non-profits and recorded for future reference.

Founder and CEO Nicole Sdao thinks the world would be a different place if people measured volunteer hours the same way they measure their steps.

"If we all had it as purposeful and top of mind to go do good and put good back into the world as we did how many steps were taking, imagine how much better this world could be," said Sdao

The idea for the program began when Sdao moved to Freeport 19 years ago. She was heavily involved with volunteering, but noticed a disconnect between non-profit groups and volunteers.

Before this program, people looking for volunteer opportunities would have to search online or call different non-profits asking if they needed any help. Not only can this time consuming and tedious, but many of the smaller, local organizations were overlooked because the national ones came up first when searching. According to Sdao, this program helps solve that problem by putting all opportunities in one central

'It is like a fishing net; all these nonprofits are throwing out single lines trying to reel in volunteers. But when you put them all in one location, many more volunteers will see the opportunities and join in," explained Sdao.

While the program helps many local non-profit organizations reach potential local volunteers, it also helps reach others across the country. There are no borders, so organizations from anywhere can list opportunities and people from anywhere can respond.

"I have had people call me from time to time and say 'hey, my kids are going to be here over break and I would like to do something to help other people." said Kim Montgomery, executive director of the RACF. "Now, when somebody asks me this type of question, I can say to go look on letsthrive360.com for opportunities."

Keeping track of volunteer hours is important to both parties, but can typically be very loosely monitored.

"If you think about how many schools require hours for graduation, the judicial system, time off or promotions from corporations. All of this was self-recorded or a hot mess of pieces of paper flying around," added Sdao. "Before this program, recording hours was for the sole purpose of the organization and not the individual. Now you have a record for yourself so hopefully when you apply for a job you can prove that you showed up on time and did the work."

Hillcrest board committes set

Elliott stepping off after several years service

BY ANDREW HEISERMAN

HILLCREST – During their monthly meeting on Wednesday Village of Hillcrest trustees were reassigned to heading up their respective village departments, while the Streets and Grounds and Building and Zoning departments were combined into one.

Pam Pittman will now be in charge of finance, Dan Potter will be in charge of water, Randy Salsbury will take over health and welfare and Rick Rhoades will take care of both streets and grounds and building and zoning.

It was also announced that trustee Rich Elliott will be resigning from the board going into effect Thursday July 11 at midnight. His term ended in May but he stayed temporarily because there was nobody to run the water position at that time. Now that a new trustee has been appointed he has decided to step down. Following an executive session, Elliot and Eric Bearrows were hired on as village seasonal employees. They will work in the spring, summer, fall and if needed in the winer.

A motion to purchase a new folding machine for $1,219 was also approved. The previous machine is over 30 years old and has been in need of repair for some time.

"We have been holding that thing together for quite a while with parts and trying to fix it, and it's to the point where it is just done," said village president Jason Fore

A chip seal program that was completed on Tuesday was also discussed. The program helped widen and strengthen certain roads throughout town including Powers, Erickson, Rosalind and Errett, between Linda and Hillcrest.

DRIVE: Blood drive July 22

Gabby has worked as a team leader for the American Red Cross for seven and a half years. As a team leader, she would draw blood from donors and run blood drives every day, and she would also try and donate whenever she could. But everything she and her husband went through with their daughters has completely changed her outlook on both her job and donating blood.

"Every day with my job I talk to donors and I generally find one or two donors who have their own personal stories that mean a lot. So, I always knew it was special, but now it obviously hits even more close to home with us," she explained.

When Lana was born she weighed only one pound six ounces and measured 11 inches long. Now she is five years old, weighs nearly 40 pounds and has a thriving personality. Her parents say that she lights up any room the second she walks in.

Other than honoring the twins, the main goal of this event is to keep a stable blood supply on hospital shelves. The American Red Cross is asking for as many donors as possible, as they are currently experiencing an emergency need for blood donations.

"Just last week we had 450 fewer blood drives held, which led to 17,000 less units of blood collected. Right now, there is less than a three-day supply of blood available," explained Janet Jarvis, account manager for the American Red Cross.

To put into perspective one unit of blood can save approximately three lives.

This shortage of blood is due to multiple reasons such as not being able to hold as many blood drives during the summer months, more people traveling which leads to more accidents where blood is used very fast, and finding new donors can be challenging. The American Red Cross officials suggest one easy way to get new donors is to ask people you already know.

"Only 3 percent of the population donates blood, and the number one reason is simply because they have not been asked," added Jarvis.

Another main reason people are reluctant to donate is fear, but whether it is talking donors through the process or holding their hands, the workers at the Red Cross are there to help make it a more comfortable experience for the donor.

The American Red

Cross is currently in need of O+ and O- blood types the most, but is appreciative of any type of blood donation. The goal of the event last year was set at 25 units of blood and they achieved 49 units, nearly double their goal. This year the goal is set at 36 and the Troha's have confidence the Rochelle will come together and beat the higher goal.

"We feel the love that people do come out for it. They helped us before and they are helping us now," said Gabby. "Whether its sporting events, the tornado recovery, the new playground or anything at all, everyone comes together."

Anyone who comes to the event and donates blood will receive a free American Red Cross fleece blanket while supplies last. To schedule a blood donation, use the Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED-CROSS or e-mail Janet Jarvis at Janet.Jarvis@redcross.org.

Kitchen Table receives $8,500 Bayer Fund grant

ROCHELLE – Employees from Bayer recommended the Kitchen Table at Rochelle receive a $8,500 grant from the Bayer Fund.

Funds from the grant will be used to make improvements to the kitchen and cafe as ever more people come to dine at the cafe.

"Thank you all so much for helping us. We plan to upgrade and add equipment in our kitchen in order to offer additional dining options," Carolyn Brown, founder of The Kitchen Table said. "This will help place us on the map as a "true" restaurant. With the improvement of additional equipment, we gain the ability to broaden our menu options in hopes of eventually adding additional days of operation along with additional meal options. When we brought this café to life, we added a different approach to dining."

Last year the Kitchen Table received a Monsanto Fund grant in the amount of $7,500 which was used to buy a walk-in freezer to store frozen foods donated and purchased for upcoming meals. Monsanto was since purchased by Bayer but the grant for serving the community good continues on after the Bayer-Monsanto merger.

"The Bayer Fund mission is to help strengthen the communities where our employees live and work with the primary focus being to help assist families in under-resourced areas," Sarah

Representatives from the Ashton Bayer soybean manufacturing facility Bayer Fund presented representatives from The Kitchen Table with an $8,500 grant.

Sarah Gillam

Gillam, site lead at the Ashton Bayer soybean manufacturing facility, said. "The Kitchen Table is helping to deliver on our mission by providing alternative dining options for everyone in the community. We are honored to support the Kitchen Table with this Bayer Fund grant."

In 2019, Bayer Fund awarded more than $1.4 million through this program to nonprofit organizations in rural communities to help address essential needs in Food & Nutrition, STEM Education, and Community Development. Nonprofit organizations across the U.S. have received more than $7 million through this program over the last five years.

"We are here for everyone. This is an alternative dining restaurant that allows diners to 'be in charge' of their finances, everyone chooses what to pay and how to pay since you can always volunteer in payment of your meal. Instead of us providing you with a bill, you tell us what you are paying," Brown said. "Since we opened in June 2016, we encourage community involvement such as volunteering time along with sit and stay a while and make new friends. Community is important as well as getting to know one another and working together for the betterment of our community. It truly takes many hands to make light work. Our community has been very receptive to the idea and continues to support us in many ways. Our volunteers are simply amazing and it couldn't happen without them. We are grateful for the generous help that Bayer, formerly Monsanto, has given us. Their support is a breath of fresh air. We cannot thank you enough for your help."

Share night will benefit auxiliary

STAFF WRITER

ROCHELLE – The Rochelle Community Hospital Auxiliary and Culver's of Rochelle are hosting the third annual share night Wednesday, July 17 from 5 to 8 p.m.

The RCH Auxiliary was founded in 1946 and was dedicated to the service and comfort of patients and the hospital. Every year the hospital gives the auxiliary a wishlist of items it would like to have for the hospital. Members from the auxiliary then meet and determine which items from the list to purchase for the hospital.

"Over the years, the auxiliary has raised many thousands of dollars to purchase furniture for patient rooms and to buy highly technical medical equipment," explained Diane Kenney, president of the auxiliary.

Not only does the auxiliary help the hospital with purchasing furniture and medical equipment, but it raises money throughout the year, including share night, that will be used toward scholarships. On average, the RCHA gives out five scholarships each year and any student who is pursing an education in the medical field is eligible.

"Fundraisers last year include the annual garage sale, the Culver's share night, the Holiday Bazaar Bake Sale, the annual Holiday Bazaar, and the annual Holiday Raffle. With those five events, the Rochelle Community Auxiliary was able to raise money for seven scholarships," Kenney added.

At the share night event costumers will be greeted at the door by a RCHA member handing out a flyer explaining the event. Ten percent of all the proceeds earned through orders will be donated to the auxiliary and used for future scholarships. Donation jars will also be on the counter. RCHA members are hoping to surpass last year's amount of $375.

The idea for the event stemmed from the RCHA looking for a quick, easy and fun way to raise money.

"Once Culver's came to town and started hosting these share nights they knew it would be a great way to raise money. Other groups were doing them and then we thought, hey what about us. This is fun and something we can all do, one way or another we can all participate," Kenney said.

While the RCHA and its fundraisers benefit the hospital in many ways, they also benefit the community too. Whether it is helping community members meet new people, learn new skills or the scholarships that help students advance their education, the RCHA helps whenever it can. "Scholarship-wise, we had one student who did become a doctor and we have several good candidates from nearby schools that have received scholarships including Rochelle Township High School, Ashton-Franklin Center High School and Oregon High School," said Kenney.

Hosting this event each year is a great way to support the local hospital, local students hoping to further their education in the medical field and enjoy some good food. The RCHA and its members say that working with Culver's has been a very enjoyable experience.

"We are really happy to work with them, they are a really top-notch group that has been nothing but helpful since day one," expressed Kenney.

TIMES The times they and changing, funeral services - traditional as they may be - are changing with them. Many religious services now focus more on celebrating the life that was lived rather than bemoaning the fact that it has ended. Clergy of all faiths are making efforts to include participation by family and friends in the service, whether be reciting prayers, reading scripture, leading music, or delivering a eulogy. Families and friends often want to crate their own tributes to their loved ones, or at least add a touch to the appreciate the men and women who deliver the mail, pave the roads, fix the power lines, roof houses and mow the grass — to name a few while working in hot, humid conditions. Thank you for keeping the rest of us safe and comfortable.

When I was a kid growing up on the north side of Chicago, my parents bought an 1890s Victorian house. There was a big porch that wrapped half way around the house, and part of that was screened

We had porch furniture and at times I slept out there on really hot nights, because the old place did not have air conditioning.

During the hot summer days, my mother would always put out a glass of ice water or lemonade for the mailman. I was only about 10 or 11 then. She would put the glass on a table right next to the mailbox. We always had the doors and windows open on those hot days, and I could hear the mailman come up, drop the mail, pick up the glass, set it down and yell "thank you" through the open door.

It was no big thing, but later in life I realized how much this taught me as a child.

This would have been about 1960. Our mailman was African American. At a time when African Americans were seeking equality with the white world, my mom was practicing that on our front porch. In an age where in some areas drinking fountains were separate for whites and non whites, my mom was using our everyday glassware to offer someone a cold drink on a hot day. She was being compassionate toward another human being.

That's what I want to remind everyone. We are all human beings...regardless of race, sexual orientation, religion, nationality or whatever. We all cry when a loved one dies, we all bleed when cut, we all need each other.

And a cold glass of water on a hot day.

Lately I have been thinking that really rich people can do anything they want because they are really rich. Maybe Lady Justice isn't blind after all. Or maybe I think too much.

BRIDAL

Get schooled on wedding terminology

OUPLES about to embark on their wedding journeys will likely learn a thing or two about party planning once their engagements are over and they are newly married. Wedding planning can seem overwhelming and a tad confusing at times, but a crash course in wedding terminology can help couples make more informed choices along the

- Blusher: A short, single-layer veil that covers the bride's face before the ceremony.
- Boutonnière: A single flower bud worn by the men in the bridal party.
- Canapés: Bite-sized appetizers served during the cocktail hour of a reception.
- Civil ceremony: A marriage ceremony conducted by a council official or justice of the peace at a municipal location rather than in a house of worship.
- Cocktail hour: Typically an hour-long interlude between the wedding ceremony and the main dinner of the reception. Guests have time to arrive and mingle before being seated.
- Corkage fee: A fee some establishments charge to allow guests to bring their own wine.
- Dais: A podium or platform raised from the floor where the bride and groom are seated.
- Deposit: A percentage of the total cost of service given to a vendor to secure a date for their services.
 - Dragées: Round, small edible balls of sugar that appear on wedding cakes.

- Escort (seating) cards: Printed cards that direct reception guests to their seats.
- Fondant: A sweet, plyable product used to decoratively cover layered cakes. It can be used in lieu of straight buttercream.
- Handle wrap: Ribbon or fabric that wraps around the stems of a bouquet the bride and wedding party carries.
- Maid/matron of honor: The title given to the woman who assists the bride and stands closest to her at the altar. "Maids" are those who are unmarried, while "matrons" are women who are.
- Master of ceremonies: An individual who will work with the DJ or band to announce the various components of the wedding reception.
- Nosegay: A small bouquet or flower arrangement typically given to the mothers of the bride and groom before the ceremony.
- Processional/Recessional: Musical pieces that mark the entrance and exit from the wedding ceremony.
- Receiving line: A line of the key people in the wedding who welcome and greet guests.
- Stationery: All of the paper products used at the wedding, including invitations, programs and enclosures.
- Tablescape: A word that describes the multiple components of centerpiece designs.

Learning some basic wedding terminology can simplify wedding planning.

Wedding insurance can ease nerves

OUPLES spend thousands of dollars on their wedding ceremony and celebrations. The cost of a wedding varies depending on geographic location, but according to the business and financial resource Business Insider and The Knot 2017 Real Weddings Study, the average wedding in the United States costs $31,391.

Insurance policies can help couples protect their wedding investment. Special event insurance provides coverage for various scenarios, including extreme weather, damaged gifts, lost jewelry, vendor cancellations or no-shows, venues closing before the wedding, and canceled weddings, according to Travelers Insurance. Insurance also may cover other unforseen scenarios, such as unexpected expenses from injuries during the wedding or spoiled food.

Policies will pay directly for any damage or injuries that occur, or reimburse the couple if the wedding is postponed or canceled. If weddings occur at home, some people's home insurance or umbrella policies may cover certain wedding liabilities. Most wedding venues carry their own liability insurance, so couples may not have to overlap there. However, for those who desire extra protection for vendor mishaps, it is wise to speak with an insurance professional about special wedding coverage.

Prices for wedding insurance policies can start at around $100 to $200 for minimum coverage and reach $1,000 for more expensive ceremonies, according to the financial advisement website NerdWallet.

Speak with an insurance agent and read policies carefully before purchasing one. Non-covered issues typically include theft or loss of an engagement ring; rainy days that do not classify as extreme weather; switching vendors after a deposit is made; and risky entertainment, such as fireworks or live animals.

Protecting wedding expenditures with insurance policies can provide couples with added peace of mind on their big days.

O: I just recently binged all new episodes of "Lucifer" on Netflix, and I'm wondering if there will be another season. I also just watched all the "Designated Survivor" episodes, again on Netflix. Will there be new episodes of that show as well? -- B.F.

A: When Netflix acquired "Lucifer" after it was canceled by FOX, fans were thrilled and quickly streamed all 10 episodes. Then it recently announced that Netflix had ordered a fifth season, albeit the final one for the show. So, taking that good news with the bad, you will see more "Lucifer" again, but it probably won't air until next summer, as scripts are still being written. As for "Designated Survivor," a political drama starring Kiefer Sutherland, a new (fourth) season hasn't been announced yet, although most media outlets are betting there will be one. However, again, you probably won't see a new season until next summer.

Q: I was so disappointed when CBS showed "God Friended Me" instead of "Magnum P.I.," as had been printed in the newspaper's TV guide. I like "God Friended Me," but it was like having your heart set on a hot fudge sundae with whipped cream and a cherry on top but instead being handed a slice of Key lime pie. Will "Magnum P.I." be coming back to CBS? — J.M.

A: The reboot of "Magnum P.I." starring Jay Hernandez has been given the green light for a second season, and so has "God Friended Me," which stars Brandon Micheal Hall. The new season of "Magnum" is set to air Fridays at 9 p.m. ET beginning with its Sept. 27 premiere, while "God" will premiere Sept. 29 and air Sundays at 8 p.m. ET.

Hopefully there won't be any more last-minute scheduling changes so that the newspaper guides will be up-to-date, but the new fall season will be here before you know it.

O: I see that the female members of the sitcom "Friends" are still friends in real life. Do you think thev'll ever reunite onscreen to bring the show back or even do a "Friends' movie? -- P.M.

A: Lisa Kudrow, Jennifer Aniston and Courtney Cox are indeed very close in real life. They recently took a vacation together and have been posting group photos of themselves on social media. This, of course, has gotten fans' hopes up that there will be another "Friends." This also was bolstered by Aniston's statement that the trio, plus Matthew Perry, Matt LeBlanc and David Schwimmer, all would be up for filming together again.

Right now, however, you can catch Aniston in the upcoming Apple TV-Plus series "The Morning Show," with co-star Reese Witherspoon, or Kudrow's voice in the animated series on Facebook Watch titled "Human Discoveries" later this year. Cox has been focusing more on her career as a producer, including the Facebook Watch documentary "9 Months with Courtney Cox."

FTER breaking out during their freshman season with the Rock .Valley College men's soccer program, Rochelle players Luis Marquez and Atl Flores each stepped up over their sophomore campaign with the Golden Eagles this past year.

Rock Valley College finished 9-7 overall after going 6-9-1 over the 2017 campaign. Marquez started 15 games for the Golden Eagles, totaling two assists, two shots on goal and 18 shots at the defensive back position. Marquez said his ability to become a better playmaker on defense allowed him to have a larger role on the team this past season.

"I feel like I became a better leader." Marquez said. "I wasn't sure I was capable of being a leader until my coach pushed me to take charge and demand the ball. My sophomore year was amazing, and I made so many improvements. I enjoyed every minute I was on the field with my teammates."

Flores started 16 games for the Golden Eagles, recording two goals, seven assists, 29 shots and 10 shots on goal at the midfield and forward position. While Flores said he was disappointed with his secondyear performance, he said playing for the Golden Eagles allowed him to continue playing a sport that has led him to most of his friends.

"I really learned how to manage my time wisely, whether it was in class or on the pitch," Flores said. "There were a lot of great talents on the team and also in our

With his athletic career at Rock Valley College over, Marquez said he plans to stay for two years so he can complete his automotive service technology degree in hopes of landing a job in Rochelle or the Chicagoland area. He also said he plans to pursue a business degree and hopefully play soccer at either Northern Illinois University or Saint Xavier University. Flores said he will aim to finish his associate's

"I enjoyed everything about competing collegiately," Marquez said. "I feel like the practices and the time I spent with the team allowed me to build an unbreakable bond with my teammates. For me, the players were the most enjoyable part of the sport for me and I'm going to miss playing with them the most.'
