Variety, value keys to auction experience familiar Chana site

BY LORI HAMMELMAN

CHANA — It might have new owners and a new name, but the Chana Rt. 64 Auction Barn is operating in a familiar location at 620 Stone Hill Road in Chana, just off of IL Route 64 a few minutes west of Kings.

Packed with items ranging from lawn and garden and poultry to lumber, automotive supplies, antiques and collectibles, the auction has something for everyone.

"We have our regular auctions every Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.," said Mike McNeal, manager and overseer for the auction facility. "You never know what you'll find here... it's like a treasure hunt."

The team, which also consists of three auctioneers, has been involved in the auction and wholesale merchandise business for over 50 years.

"Our job out here is to make the best money for the seller... the best buck," McNeal added.

McNeal, along with owner Lori Shelton, explained the auction house has recently added a wholesale event that is open to the public, scheduled for several Sundays including Sept. 9, Sept. 23, Oct. 14, and Oct. 28. The wholesales open at noon and feature overstock items from local stores, closeouts, and discontinued items.

"The wholesales are a good place for people to stock up. It's new items — cleaning products, toilet paper, frozen foods," Shelton said. "It's also a great place to find toys, gift items, tools... it's all brand new and it's good, inexpensive merchandise."

The Chana Rt. 64 Auction Barn is also hosting an antique, collectible, primitives and coins event on Saturday, Sept. 22 at 11 a.m.

The facility is also pairing with Oregon's Autumn on Parade weekend event on Saturday, Oct. 6. The "Junk in the Trunk" sale will be held on Saturday, Oct. 6 and Sunday, Oct. 7 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For those interested in selling, a 10-foot by 10-foot space is available for $10.

Ducky Drop fundraiser set

STILLMAN VALLEY — Do you feel lucky? Do you want to earn some cash?

Stillman Valley's Future Business Leaders of America is sponsoring a Ducky Drop fundraiser in order to raise money for FBLA national competition. Members are selling ducks during lunch time and at all of the home football games.

How does the Ducky Drop work? You buy a duck for $5, and then you select the type of duck you want. On the duck is your unique "ducky number." Your name, your unique ducky number and contact information are recorded. Buy as many ducks as you want — the more the better!

During halftime at the last home game (Oct.

12), Fritz Electrick, Inc. will hoist up the ducks and then drop all of the ducks on a tarp with a bull-eyes in the middle. The four ducks closest to the bull-eyes will be declared the winners.

First prize: $200; second prize: $150; third prize: $100 and fourth prize: $50. You do not have to be present to win. Ryan Read, FBLA adviser, said that "the proceeds we earn will go to help students pay their way to the FBLA National Competition in San Antonio, Texas in June."

For more information, please contact Cathie Murphy at cmurphy@mail.meridian223.org, Ryan Read at rread@mail.meridian223.org or Tammy Pierson at tpierson@mail.meridian223.org.

Conservation@Home certified

The Cotovsky’s at 904 Madison Street in Oregon were Conservation@Home certified this past week and received this sign to post in their yard. Rory Cotovsky, 6, was proud to share his favorite plants and ask questions of Laura Sjoquist who discussed how native plantings support a large variety of beneficial wildlife attracting songbirds and butterflies. The program is designed to encourage landowners to become actively involved in the conservation effort. Rory took pictures with his father, Greg Cotovsky, while enjoying an after school snack. For more than 50 years, the Natural Land Institute has helped residents of northern Illinois conserve the land they cherish. NLI is one of the oldest private conservation groups in the Midwest. The member supported, nonprofit organization is dedicated to preserving land and natural diversity for future generations. (Photo submitted)

Bill allows patients to seek physical therapy without prescription

SPRINGFIELD — On Aug. 16, 2018 Illinois Gov. Bruce Rauner signed into law a bill that eliminates the requirement for patients to obtain a doctor's prescription prior to seeking treatment from a licensed physical therapist.

As a result, Illinois patients will have direct access to physical therapy treatment immediately.

Gov. Rauner signed the legislation at a ceremony at the State Capitol. Members of the Illinois Physical Therapy Association were on hand to celebrate the milestone.

"We would like to thank the governor, the legislature and the Illinois Physical Therapy Association for providing Illinois patients with the freedom to directly seek physical therapy treatment," said Athletico CEO Mark Kaufman. "Removing the physician-referral requirement will give patients an opportunity to begin the treatment process sooner, and it will save them money. In addition, it will free up appointment times for medical doctors to see patients needing advanced medical treatment. This is ultimately a win for Illinois residents and the entire medical community."

The measure is expected to reduce the need for unnecessary X-rays, MRIs, and opioid prescriptions. According to a recent BlueCross BlueShield of South Carolina study, direct access to physical therapy led to a 31 percent reduction in total health care costs, 80 percent decrease in patient out-of-pocket costs and a 90 percent reduction in opioid use.

Illinois became the 45th state to allow patients to seek treatment from a physical therapist without a prescription or physician referral. Under the Illinois law, a physical therapist must refer a patient to a health care professional if they do not demonstrate measurable or functional improvement after 10 visits or 15 business days, whichever occurs first.

Local facility manager Dr. Chad Brinkmann of the Oregon Athletico clinic is very excited for this new law.

"Patients will now have quicker access to physical therapy and can get on the road to recovery that much sooner, which will help improve their treatment outcomes as shown by research," he said.

Exelon Generation kicks off fall maintenance work

Byron Generating Station refueling and maintenance outage is the first of three large projects designed to ensure 24/7 production of electricity

BYRON — The city of Byron's population jumped by a third this week as more than 1,400 temporary workers traveled to the area in support of Byron Generating Station's annual refueling outage. Operators removed Unit 1 from service to inspect, refuel and upgrade the nuclear energy plant to ensure continued safety and reliability during the winter months ahead.

Byron's refueling and maintenance outage is one of three planned this fall, including a Unit 2 outage at Braidwood Generating Station in Braceville, Ill., and a Unit 3 outage at Dresden Generating Station in Morris, Ill. These outages will add 4,200 temporary jobs and infuse millions of dollars into the Illinois economy.

"Exelon's fall outages support more than a thousand electricians, pipe fitters, welders, laborers and other contractors," said Stacy McCaskill, director, Illinois Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at Sauk Valley Community College. "This influx of people and purchasing makes small-town businesses thrive. We are so thankful for Exelon's support of our Illinois SBDC so that we can continue helping small business serve the needs of Exelon's hardworking employees."

"The extra workers in town for the outage give our businesses an added boost to their bottom line," said

Oregon Mayor Ken Williams. "The timing works out very well with the outage lasting through September and then our annual 'Autumn On Parade' taking place Oct. 6-7. We hope many more visitors can enjoy our scenic area as we transition into fall."

During the outage, the Unit 1 cooling tower will not produce any water vapor cloud. This is normal when a unit is taken offline.

Byron's Unit 2 reactor will continue to supply carbon-free electricity to customers during the Unit 1 outage. With both units at full power, the site produces almost 2,500 megawatts, enough electricity to power more than 2 million average American homes.

'For the love of tidy' program to be held at Leaf River library

LEAF RIVER — Closets cluttered? Desk drawers in disarray? Or do you just wish your home or office was a little more organized?

Join Chicago's first certified KonMari Tidying Consultant, Kristyn Ivey, as she presents "For the Love of Tidy" at Bertolet Memorial Library in Leaf River on Tuesday, Sept. 25 at 6 p.m. Based on the revolutionary Japanese decluttering method made popular by Marie Kondo's bestseller, "The Life Changing Magic of Tidying Up," this interactive workshop will include demonstrations and giveaways that will help you get tidy now.

The program includes an overview of KonMari fundamentals and practical decluttering tips that fall into five main categories: clothing, books, paper, sentimental items, and miscellaneous. This organizational system is unique in its perspective of focusing on what to keep rather than what or how much to discard and in only keeping those things that truly spark joy in your life. Ivey will demonstrate the signature KonMari folding technique and also discuss common myths and missteps as she addresses how to overcome specific clutter challenges and the barriers to success and true abundance.

There is no cost to attend, but registration is required. Please sign up by calling the library at 815-738-2742 by Monday, Sept. 24.

We want to thank family, friends and everyone that kept us in their thoughts and prayers during the loss of our son Randy.

Wee naturalist starts in October

DEKALB — University of Illinois Extension, in partnership with the DeKalb County Forest Preserve, will be starting their Wee Naturalist program on Saturday, Oct. 6 at 10:30 a.m.

The program will take place at the Natural Resource Education Center in Russell Woods Forest Preserve located one mile west of Genoa on state Route 72. This partnership is able to continue this program thanks to a 2016 Douglas and Lynn M. Roberts Family Foundation Grant.

An Extension Certified Master Naturalist volunteer applied and received the grant on behalf of the forest preserve making the program possible and able to continue to serve the children of DeKalb County.

The program is for children ages 5 and 6 years old, along with a parent or guardian, and will start at 10:30 a.m. Wee Nats will be offered the first Saturday of each month from October through May. It will last approximately one hour and each month will have a different nature theme. Each month the program will include a lesson, story, craft, and a hike. The cost is $5 per child and there will be a 15 student limit.

October's program will be all about nature's patterns. The story will talk about spirals, which are the most common pattern in nature. The craft will focus on sorting and making our own patterns while our hike will be a hunt for patterns on the nature trail.

"I am so excited to see our littlest naturalists learning about our environment and I hope to guide them to always stay interested in the outdoors and all the wonders it offers," Peggy Doty, extension educator, said.

To register your Wee Naturalist go to the Extension website, web.extension.illinois.edu/bdo and look for the section titled "Register Online" and choose Wee Naturalist. When the class has 15 children registered it will close but you can look ahead at all the monthly topics and sign up in advance. For questions regarding the program, not registration, contact the Natural Resource Education Center at 815-784-2000. For registration questions call the extension office in DeKalb County at 815-758-8194.

MOMENTS IN TIME

* On Oct. 6, 1683, encouraged by William Penn's offer of 5,000 acres of land in Pennsylvania and the freedom to practice their religion, the first Mennonites arrive in America. The group founded Germantown, now part of the city of Philadelphia.

* On Oct. 1, 1864, Confederate spy Rose O'Neal Greenhow drowns off the North Carolina coast. Greenhow was carrying Confederate dispatches and $2,000 in gold when captured. Insisting that she be taken ashore, she boarded a small lifeboat that overturned in the rough surf. The weight of the gold pulled her under, and her body washed ashore the next morning.

* On Oct. 5, 1919, Enzo Ferrari makes his debut as a race car driver. In the mid-1920s, Ferrari retired from racing cars to pursue his dream: building them. In 1947, the first Ferraris appeared on the market. In 1949, a Ferrari won the Le Mans 24-hour race.

* On Oct. 3, 1932, with the admission of Iraq into the League of Nations, Britain terminates its mandate, making the Arab nation independent after 17 years of British rule and centuries of Ottoman rule.

* On Oct. 4, 1944, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower distributes to his combat units a "shell shock" report by the U.S. Surgeon General that reveals the hazards of prolonged exposure to combat. U.S. commanders judged that the average soldier could last about 200 days in combat before suffering serious psychiatric damage.

* On Oct. 7, 1955, poet Alan Ginsberg reads his poem "Howl" at a poetry reading in San Francisco. The poem's book publication led to the arrest of publisher Lawrence Ferlinghetti for obscenity. He was later tried and acquitted.

* On Oct. 2, 1968, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Bob Gibson strikes out 17 Detroit Tigers in the first game of the World Series, breaking Sandy Koufax's record.

Is President Trump the wave of the future?

Guest Opinion

By Lowell Harp

THE President is often called, with an air of disapproval, a populist. Cambridge Dictionary defines populism as "political ideas and activities that are intended to get the support of ordinary people by giving them what they want." What could be wrong with that?

The problem is that populists have a reputation for undermining democratic principles and institutions in the name of giving the people what they want. Exploiting fears and popular prejudices, some of them have experienced much success here and throughout the world. Seeing this, the President's critics fear that he's riding the wave of the future.

He probably isn't. The reason lies in who his supporters are and aren't.

They aren't the poor or people who are mainly concerned about income inequality or the economy. According to Steven Pinker in his recent book, Enlightenment Now, they voted for Clinton in the 2016 election. Those in the four highest income brackets went for Trump.

We have to look elsewhere to find the President's supporters. Educational background offers one clue. Pinker reports that, regardless of their income, people with less of it voted for Trump while those with more voted for Clinton.

Another clue shows up in Pinker's quote from research on populism in Europe. "Populist voters are older, more religious, more rural, less educated, and more likely to be male and members of the ethnic majority." Trump voters' support for policies like his Muslim travel ban and their belief that white people were victims of discrimination spring from that kind of cultural identity.

Their concerns are in line with those of conservative American populists, going back to the 1850's, who saw and feared the changes taking place in America in their time. Many of today's Trump supporters feel that their way of life is under attack from the rising influence of women, African Americans, the LGBT community, and immigrants. They distrust and resent the "experts" and educated "elites" who promote these changes while undermining cherished religious and social traditions.

The President's followers have been on the losing end of this cultural struggle for a long time and their movement can be seen as a last-ditch stand. But in spite of their energy and commitment, it would be a mistake to think that the future is on their side. The reason is captured in one sentence from Pinker: "Populism is an old man's movement."

He reports that the younger the age group, the less support there is for leaders like the President. Worse for Trump adherents, it appears that the young are unlikely to move in a more conservative direction as they age. Research from America and Europe since the 1940's shows that each generation has been more liberal than the one before, and that as the years go by each carries its liberal convictions with it into the future. Meanwhile, my generation, the outsized and influential but aging baby boomers, is gradually shrinking as more of us die each day.

Given the President's unpopularity among the general population, and as society continues to become more urban, less white, more educated, and younger, it's hard to see a future in which the his brand of conservative populism wins out, because there's no end in sight to these trends. It seems more likely that his populist movement, instead of being the wave of the future, will follow the path of all the previous ones, which have arisen in the past and then faded away in a changing society.

Does Republican Congressman Adam Kinzinger represent you?

Dear Editor,

What has our current congressman done to represent the farmers, the retired workers, small business owners, union members and the many hard-working people of the 16th Congressional District?

Adam Kinzinger voted for enormous permanent tax cuts for the wealthiest Americans, and very little temporary tax relief for the rest of us.

In 2017, Kinzinger voted for a GOP healthcare plan that would have kicked roughly 24 million people off their healthcare plans and eliminated coverage for pre-existing conditions. A provision in the bill ensured Kinzinger would keep his healthcare plan as it exists under the Affordable Care Act, but repealed it for the rest of the country. He also voted to eliminate the IPAB, an independent board that keeps Medicare costs below limits.

He claims to be the champion of Medicare access. We have access to Medicare and Medicaid, two federal programs paid for by our taxes during our working years. Medicare would not be in jeopardy in a Congress with Democrats ready to protect your healthcare.

On July 25th, 2017, Kinzinger voted against sanctions on Russia, Iran, and North Korea, countries that threaten our very existence.

On the Environment, he repealed requiring energy companies to reduce waste and emissions, repealed the stream protection rule and barred the EPA from regulating greenhouse gases.

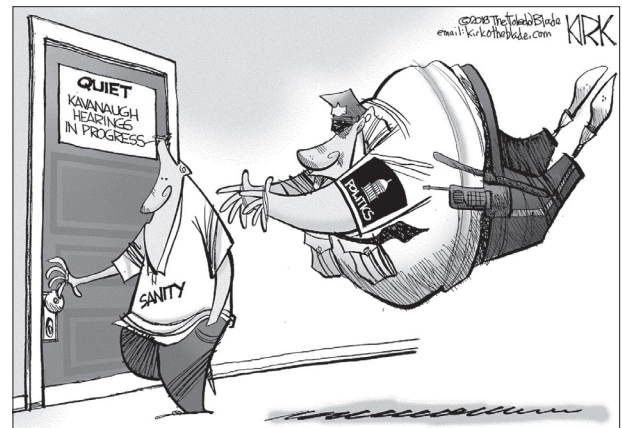

Where is Adam Kinzinger on affordable, quality childcare for working families? Where is he on affordable college/trade career training and student debt? What are his ideas for investing in badly needed infrastructure?

The citizens of the 16th Congressional District have a choice. It will require change to move forward as a nation together. Our change will be made by voting for and electing Sara Dady as our representative. Sara Dady states, "I am running for Congress because I am committed to building a better future for everyone. This means investing together in strong schools, safe communities, universal healthcare and protection of worker rights for a prosperous economy."

Adam Kinzinger is not my representative. Is he yours?

Kinzinger has our backs

Dear Editor,

2018 has been a great year for our community here in Byron. I'm proud to have raised my family in Ogle County and serve as 9-1-1 Coordinator and Communications Supervisor for our local law enforcement.

As a community and a nation, we've all watched as the tears in our public opinion have widened. Even with all of the noise that is politics these days, I still remain optimistic. I read, I keep up with local and state news, and have developed a wonderful working relationship with our Congressman Adam Kinzinger. In light of my optimism for county, our state, and our country, I'd like to share some non-political good news from our local Congressman Adam Kinzinger.

Believe it or not, Adam Kinzinger has our back. Earlier this month, President Trump ordered Department of Energy Secretary to stop the closure of several of America's power plants. Many of us know that once the plant stops producing energy, it's done forever. Even more important, the members of the surrounding communities lose what typically becomes their main source of jobs and economic well-being.

Needless to say, if this were to happen to us in Ogle County, our community would suffer greatly as a consequence.

Our Congressman was on top of it. He released a statement in strong support of the decision, even noting the importance of Nuclear power for our country's national security. I met with him a few weeks ago and he even told me that he had a bill in Congress that seeks to ensure longevity for the continuance of nuclear plants, like Byron's.

This is just one example of how Congressman Adam Kinzinger has stood up for us. Politics is noisy but join me in seeing and knowing that there are some good actors out there.

Please cast your vote in November for Congressman Kinzinger!

Thinks Medicare changes are unfair

Dear Editor,

Medicare recently announced changes to a flat fee system paying doctors the same amount if you have the sniffles or Stage 4 cancer treatment or need a stent for your heart.

As a result, fewer specialists will accept Medicare payments. Medicare recipients will be forced to pay out of pocket, have other health insurance, or forego treatment for their illnesses.

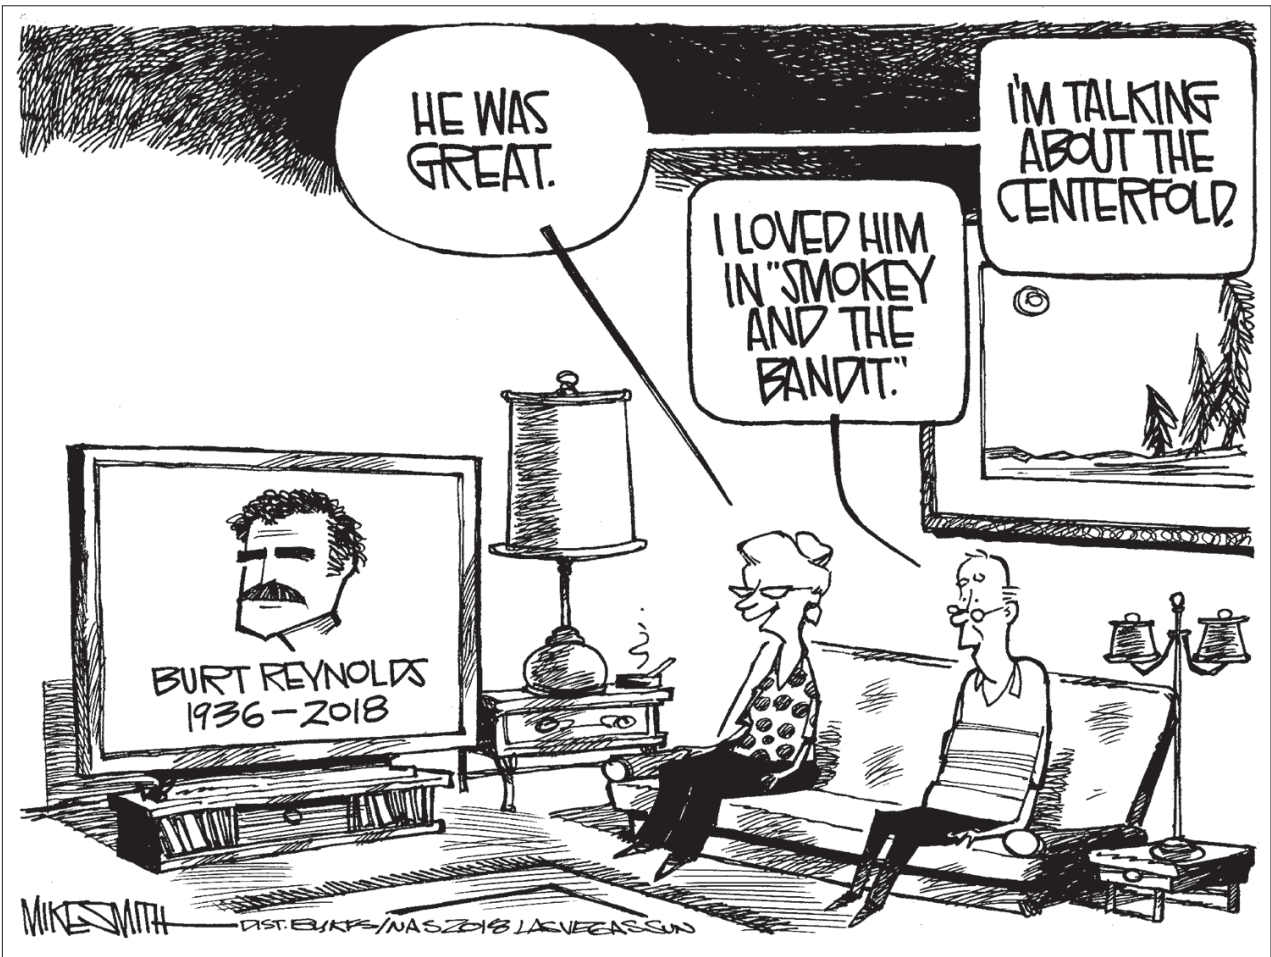

If you believe this is an unfair change in Medicare benefits and will impact you or a family member, contact your member of Congress soon.

Unless people protest, this program change will begin January 1st.

Sincerely,

Dr. Pam Farris

Library is a gem

Dear Editor,

Mount Morris Public Library is a gem in the community of Mount Morris. We are a place for all people to come and to find help with reference materials, books, magazines, DVD's, local history resources and much, much more. We have story times and book clubs, poetry jams and escape rooms. We host Summer Reading programs for kids and adults in our community.

Over the last 9 months we have had a series of Adulting 101 Classes that we started with a grant from the Community Foundation of Northern Illinois and the Dr. Louis and Violet Rubin Fund, located in Rockford IL. We have had a great group of people come to the library seeking help with their "adulting" skills. We have offered money management, employability, home and car maintenance, self-care, and DIY classes. It has been a great time!

On Sept. 13 we held our final Adulting 101 Class. This class on Basic Budgeting is taught by Mary Francis and will teach you how to make the most of the money you have. We started with this class last February and it is fitting that we are ending with the same type of class.

We want to say "Thank You!" to the Community Foundation of Northern Illinois, the people in our community who took the time to teach and to attend the classes! Without you, we could not have had such a successful program. The Community Foundation of Northern Illinois continues to support non-profits in the stateline area. You can check out their good work at cfnil.org

Mount Morris Library will continue to offer services that make a positive contribution toward meeting the personal, educational, recreational and cultural needs and interests of our community, to all people on a fair and equitable basis.

David L Rahn seventh grade volleyball team in action

MOUNT MORRIS — The seventh grade David L Rahn Eagles were in action last week when they traveled to Dixon and Byron and hosted Ashton-Franklin Center.

On Tuesday, Aug. 28, the Eagles were guest of Dixon Reagan for two matches. In the first game of match one, DLR's serving prevented the hosts from returning the ball. The Eagles were victorious, 25-10, thanks to seven serving points from Alexis Ebert and five points each from Riley Robertson and Kenna Wubbena.

Game two was more of the same as the Eagles easily won, 25-11. Wubbena led DLR with six straight service points. The Eagles swept the match when they took game three, 15-8. In the afternoon's second match, DLR started game one slowly. Struggling with their serve reception, the Eagles fell to Dixon, 8-25. The Eagles came alive in the second game to make a run at

it. They fell short, 18-25.

The final game of the match was the closest one. The Eagles hung in there with four straight service points from Sarah Stevens, but lost a heartbreaker, 14-16. Two nights later, the Eagles traveled to Byron to open the 2018 Route 72 conference for two matches.

In game one of the first match, Byron's first server reeled off nine straight points before DLR decided to play. They fought back to tie the score at eleven. It was a battle to the end before the Eagles defeated the Tigers, 21-25. Ebert had seven service points to lead DLR and Robertson had five.

In game two, the Eagles took control early, in part due to Robertson's twelve points. The visitors won, 25-18. The Eagles swept the Tigers by winning 16-14 in the final game. Robertson and Ebert combined for eight Eagle points.

In the second match, the Eagles played one of their best games to date, winning 25-21. The Eagles were shaky in game two, losing 25-12. DLR fought hard in game two but Byron's serving was strong. They lost another close one, 22-25.

A week later, the Eagles hosted AFC for their second conference match of the season. DLR stunned the Raiders in game one, 25-11, with eight service points from Gracen Pitts.

It was more of the same in game two as the Eagles looked sharp in their 25-10 win. Pitts again led DLR with six service points. In the final game of the match, AFC's serving improved. Their first player served up twelve points in the 7-25 loss.

The Eagles will be in action this week when they travel to Meridian on Tuesday and host Forrester on Thursday.

FREEPORT — Highland Community College will host a Math Summit from 9 a.m. to noon on Thursday, Sept. 20 in the Student/Conference Center in room H-201 located at 2998 W. Pearl City Rd., Freeport.

National Farm Safety & Health Week

Safety tips for parents of young farmers

People who live in cities, exurbs or suburbs may not come across farms very frequently. But millions of people, including children, still live on farms. In fact, in 2009 the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention noted that more than one million children under the age of 20 lived, worked or had a regular presence on farms in the United States.

Protecting children from injury on farms, especially those who perform work on farms, is of paramount importance. The American Society of Safety Engineers offers the following safety tips to parents of children who will be spending time on farms.

- Know and obey the laws. Various state and federal laws are in place to protect young children from farm-related accidents and injuries. Age requirements dictate which jobs children can perform on a farm, and parents should adhere to those requirements. Asking children to do more than they're physically capable of can lead to accident, injury or even death.

- Review equipment operation instructions. Before assigning children a task on the farm, parents should review the equipment operation instructions. Doing so can help parents reacquaint themselves with tools and equipment they may not have used in awhile, and that can make it easier for them to teach kids how to use such equipment. In addition, reviewing equipment instructions may provide insight to parents unsure if their children are old enough to use certain tools.

- Inspect equipment. Before children perform any tasks on the farm, parents should inspect the equipment their children are likely to use to make sure each tool is safe. Make sure tools are in proper working order, as broken or poorly working equipment increases the risk of accident or injury.

- Enroll children in farm safety camps. The ASSE recommends that parents contact their local Cooperative Extension and Farm Bureau offices to enroll children in farm safety camps. Such camps can teach kids safe farming techniques and the proper ways to use age-appropriate tools.

- Set a positive example. Another way for parents to protect their children on the farm is to set a positive example. Parents can do so in various ways. Using equipment properly, removing tractor keys from ignitions when tractors are not in use and exercising caution when using hazardous materials shows kids the importance of caution when working on farms.

Hundreds of thousands of children perform jobs on farms across the country. Parents who want to teach their kids to farm should always do so with safety in mind.

Program to be offered at Bertolet Memorial Library

LEAF RIVER — Closets cluttered? Desk drawers in disarray? Or do you just wish your home or office was a little more organized?

Join Chicago’s first certified KonMari Tidying Consultant, Kristyn Ivey, as she presents “For the Love of Tidy” at Bertolet Memorial Library in Leaf River on Tuesday, Sept. 25 at 6 p.m. Based on the revolutionary Japanese decluttering method made popular by Marie Kondo’s bestseller, “The Life Changing Magic of Tidying Up”, this interactive workshop will include demonstrations and giveaways that will help you get tidy now.

The program includes an overview of KonMari fundamentals and practical decluttering tips that fall into five main categories: clothing, books, paper, sentimental items, and miscellaneous. This organizational system is unique in its perspective of focusing on what to keep rather than what or how much to discard and in only keeping those things that truly spark joy in your life. Kristyn will demonstrate the signature KonMari folding technique and also discuss common myths and missteps as she addresses how to overcome specific clutter challenges and the barriers to success and true abundance. There is no cost to attend, but registration is required.

Please sign up by calling the library at 815-738-2742 by Monday, Sept. 24.

New WIU application rolled out Sept. 1

MACOMB – Western Illinois University has unveiled a new application that will allow prospective students to apply to the University earlier than ever before.

The new application now has an option for self-reported academic information to be included. According to Interim Director of WIU Admissions Jason Woods, this allows Western to make its admissions decisions earlier – and more quickly – for those students who wish to enroll in Fall 2019.

Students can apply online and should have a copy of their unofficial high school transcript to use as a guide when completing the application. Students will need to enter their SAT total or ACT composite (along with subscores and test date), cumulative high school GPA, GPA scale (4.0, 5.0, etc), enter grades in English/composition and math courses and indicate whether the scale is weighted or unweighted. This information will be used to make the WIU admissions decision, and students should receive notification within three days.

Students who choose to self-report their academic information will be eligible for the automatic Western Commitment scholarship, provided that they have earned at least a 3.0/4.0 GPA and have earned at least a 1030 SAT (20 ACT). Students who choose to self-report must provide a final official transcript and official test scores prior to July 15, 2019. Students who prefer not to self-report can complete the online application, opting out of self-reporting and submitting official documents to Undergraduate Admissions, Western Illinois University, 1 University Circle, Macomb, IL 61455-1390, or admissions@wiu.edu

For more information on the application process, email admissions@wiu.edu, call 877-PICK WIU (877-742-5948) or visit wiu.edu/admissions.

September is Library Card Sign-up Month

As students prepare to head back to school, there is one essential school supply that requires no shopping – it's a library card. A library card provides endless opportunities to transform the school year. Oregon Public Library is joining with the American Library Association (ALA) and libraries nationwide for Library Card Sign-up Month, to encourage parents, caregivers and students to obtain a free library card that will save them money while reaping rewards in academic achievement and lifelong learning. Libraries play an important role in the education and development of children. Studies show children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifetime learning.

Throughout the school year, Oregon Public Library offers a variety of programs (story time, lego club, book clubs, yoga, etc) to stimulate an interest in reading and learning.

This year, Disney's the Incredibles are Library Card Sign-up Month honorary chairs, helping to promote the value of a library card and bring attention to the many ways libraries and librarians transform lives and communities through education.

Soap Opera Update (From C-9) THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS. Victor gave his blessing for Nikki and Victoria to attend the Dark Horse event without him. Nick assured Sharon that he was still the same man inside, but she still feared that he was turning into his ruthless father. Kyle decided not to collect on his bet from Summer because he wanted their time together to mean something. After Abby's pep talk, Arturo accepted a permanent position with Dark Horse. Rey continued to raise Sharon's suspicions, especially when he went out of his way to get in tight with the Newman family. Despite her relief that Tessa was back in her life, Mariah remained concerned about her true motives. Summer discovered that she had lingering feelings for Kyle, and the two shared a charged moment. Wait to See: Sharon celebrates a big milestone. (c) 2018 King Features Synd., Inc.

Choose Bold Faith and Demolish Your Doubts!

In Acts 27 (AMP), there's a great story about the apostle Paul. He was travelling by ship with some people when "a violent wind...[a northeaster, a tempestuous windstorm like a typhoon], came rushing down from the island" (v. 14). For days they were caught in the storm, and at one point it was so fierce, they were "violently tossed about by the storm" (v. 18) and had to throw the ship's equipment overboard. They ended up without food, hungry, stranded – seemingly without hope.

In that moment, Paul stood in the midst of the survivors and said to them, "I urge you to keep up your courage and be in good spirits, because there will be no loss of life among you..." (v. 22). He then shared that an angel of God told him this, and said in verse 25, "So keep up your courage, men, for I believe God and have complete confidence in Him that it will turn out exactly as I have been told."

How could Paul, in the middle of a horrible storm, ask the people to "be in good spirits" and have a good attitude? Because he believed in his heart—without a doubt—"that it will turn out exactly as I have been told."

I love that! It's a great picture of the power of faith in God when all hope seems lost. And we can have the very same faith that Paul had if we will overcome doubt.

We all face storms in life, and some are more difficult than others. That's why we have the gift of faith. Ephesians 6:16 (ESV) calls it "the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming darts of the evil one." Doubt is a type of "flaming dart" that the enemy uses to attack our faith.

We usually experience doubt after we've made a decision. In James 1:6, the Bible says having doubt is like being tossed about like the wind, which feels like you're trying to go in two different directions at the same time. And it's miserable to be torn between two places, not able to decide what you really believe.

It's in those moments we have to choose whether we are going to believe God or the enemy...God or our feelings...God or what people tell us...God or our circumstances.

When doubt comes against us, we have to lift up the shield of faith. We do this when we open our mouth and say what God's Word says, rather than grumbling and complaining about the problem. Our faith is released as we say, pray and do the Word. So in those times, open your mouth and say, "I believe that everything God has told me will come to pass!"

Maybe you're doubting whether you can hear God's voice or not. This happens because we usually doubt ourselves more than we doubt God. Now I'm not talking about actually hearing a voice; I'm talking about that knowing we have inside our hearts about what is right or wrong. That's the still, small voice of God. Believers in Jesus Christ all have it, but many don't have the confidence to trust it.

The Bible says in James 1:5 that when we need wisdom, we can go to God, "who gives generously to all without reproach" (ESV). This means that even with our imperfections, God will be faithful to us and give us what we need if we will ask Him for help. He loves us, blesses us and uses us in spite of us, because He is faithful! And we never have to doubt that.

I've learned through my own relationship with God that He's not expecting me to be perfect; He wants me to do my best to be in His will and take steps of faith as He leads me, through His Word and the promptings He speaks to my heart. Remember, He wants us to put our confidence in Him.

God really does want to speak to you personally and lead you in His great plan for your life. So don't be afraid to step out and do what's in your heart. If you make a mistake, you'll learn from it and go on. That's how we "step out and find out." And we all have to do it.

I want to encourage you to begin making confessions every day that will help you grow in your faith and confidence in God. We need to make declarations like, "God loves me. He wants to speak to my heart. I can hear from God. He is faithful to me and will lead me in His will for my life. And I believe it will be exactly as God has told me!"

By God's grace, we can be bold in faith and overcome every attack of doubt during the storms of life.
