Keeping cool during hot days

Our recent stretch of hot weather – which included excessive heat warnings and near-record high temperatures – brought big crowds daily to the splash pad at Oregon park West. It was a great way for area kids to cool off and expend some energy at the same time (Brad Jennings photos)

Two more pools positive for West Nile

OGLE COUNTY – The Ogle County Health Department (OCHD) has confirmed two more mosquito pools positive for West Nile virus in Ogle County for 2019.

A pool of mosquitoes found near Rochelle and another separate mosquito pool collected in Monroe Center tested positive for West Nile Virus (WNV) on July 16. There was also a previously confirmed positive mosquito pool near Polo earlier this year. With three separate mosquito pools from three different locations throughout the county being confirmed as positive, it is imperative to be alert and take protective measures against West Nile Virus. The Ogle County Health Department will continue surveillance and testing mosquito pools from across Ogle County, as well as conducting mosquito abatement and working with local municipalities on mosquito abatement methods such as larviciding to help control mosquito populations across Ogle County.

Monitoring for West Nile virus in Illinois includes laboratory tests for mosquito batches, dead crows, blue jays, robins and other perching birds, as well as testing humans with West Nile virus-like symptoms. People who observe a sick or dying crow, blue jay, robin or other perching bird should contact their local health department, which will determine if the bird will be picked up for testing.

West Nile virus is transmitted through the bite of a Culex mosquitoes, commonly called a house mosquito, which has picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird. Common symptoms include fever, nausea, headache and muscle aches. Symptoms may last from a few days to a few weeks. However, four out of five people infected with West Nile virus will not show any symptoms. In rare cases, severe illness including meningitis or encephalitis, or even death, can occur. People older than 50 and individuals with weakened immune systems are at higher risk for severe illness from West Nile virus.

Precautions include practicing the three "R's" – reduce, repel, and report.

Reduce – make sure doors and windows have tight-fitting screens. Repair or replace screens that have tears or other openings. Try to keep doors and windows shut. Eliminate, or refresh each week, all sources of standing water where mosquitoes can breed, including water in bird baths, ponds, flowerpots, wading pools, old tires, and any other containers.

Repel – when outdoors, wear shoes and socks, long pants and a long-sleeved shirt, and apply insect repellent that contains DEET, picaridin, oil of lemon eucalyptus, or IR 3535 according to label instructions. Consult a physician before using repellents on infants.

Report – report locations where you see water sitting stagnant for more than a week such as roadside ditches, flooded yards, and similar locations that may produce mosquitoes. The local health department or city government may be able to add larvicide to the water, which will kill any mosquito eggs.

To learn more about West Nile Virus and other mosquito-borne diseases and prevention methods you can consult the Illinois Department of Public Health website or contact the IDPH WNV hotline at 866-369-9710, Mon-Fri 8a.m.-5p.m.

Meggan and Julie of w@sh pose with the receptacles used in organizing salon waste before being shipped to Green Circle facilities.

Oregon salon makes effort to reduce waste

OREGON – Recently, w@sh joined the Green Circle Salon movement, which is an industry-specific program that reduces salon waste to nearly zero.

The American salon industry creates more than 420,000 pounds of waste each day. With this positive Green change, w@sh is Certified Sustainable and, with the help of Green Circle, will be diverting 95 percent of its waste and keeping the community cleaner for future generations by protecting the air, water and soil.

The goal is to Reduce/Re-use/Recycle first, then turn waste into energy, such as electricity to power homes and businesses. Metals are rinsed and smelted down to create new items such as bicycle frames. Chemicals are kept out of waterways. Hair booms are donated in aid of oil spills, and hair is also used to make pet beds which are donated in disaster relief efforts. Newer research and development includes using hair for stormwater filtration, and the manufacturing of bio composite plastics. Green Circle also accepts unusual items, such as Styrofoam, electronics, towels and lightbulbs.

County offering waste reduction grants

The Ogle County Solid Waste Management Department (OCSWMD) is announcing that limited funds remain available for the last round of Waste Reduction/Recycling Grants.

The grants of up to $2,000 are available to Ogle County businesses, schools, churches and non-profit organizations wishing to establish or improve on waste reduction and recycling programs and services. Applicants must provide a minimum 20 percent match of the total project cost.

Total grant funds remaining for this year are around $5,700, so grants will be awarded on a competitive basis in amounts from $100-$2.000. The deadline for submittal of applications for this round is 4 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 5.

The application for the grants is simple and flexible. Businesses could use grant funds to help purchase waste reduction and recycling materials and equipment such as collection bins, carts, balers and storage containers. Equipment needed to switch from disposable packaging to reusable packaging for products and supplies could also be considered. Businesses are encouraged to consider projects to reduce food waste or implement food waste recycling programs.

Schools may seek funds for special projects that will further a student's understanding of how to reduce the amount of trash sent to the landfill. The requests may be for materials and equipment, such as recycling bins/ carts, videos, books, worm (vermicomposting) bins, composters, or other waste reduction equipment.

Municipalities or haulers seeking to improve commercial, curbside, or multifamily recycling programs are encouraged to apply. Grant applications for equipment and materials needed to improve electronics recycling options in Ogle County are also encouraged.

These examples are not all inclusive and applicants are encouraged to find innovative ways to reduce waste and increase what is recycled. The grants may not be used to pay for ongoing expenses such as staffing, collection, and hauling costs. Priority will be given to new applicants.

All applications will be reviewed by the Ogle County Solid Waste Management Department and the Ogle County Board Solid Waste Committee. Grants will be evaluated based on the following criteria: management ability; project quality; project impact; realistic goals & expectations; accuracy of application; education potential; use of recycled content products when available; potential for waste stream diversion; and future continuity of project.

In 2017, Ogle County residents, businesses and other entities recycled about 31 percent of the municipal waste generated in the County. This recycling rate is due to the efforts of many individuals doing their part to reduce waste and recycle as much as possible at home, work and school. The OCSWMD urges businesses and other organizations to strive to find new ways to increase what gets recycled in the County. These grants can help make that possible.

For more information or to request an application, please contact the Ogle County Solid Waste Management Department at 815-732-4020, or visit www.oglecounty.org.

Monthly electronic recycling July 26

OREGON – The Ogle County Solid Waste Management Department (OCSWMD) will be conducting their monthly residential electronics dropoff event on Friday, July 26, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the County Annex Building, 909 Pines Road in Oregon.

These events are for Ogle County generated residential electronic items. As of 2019 the Consumer Electronics Recycling Act (CERA) mandates that each county in Illinois have an outlet for certain residential electronic items based on that county's population. The OCSWMD drop-off events satisfy CERA for Ogle County. Identification is asked for at the event and there is a limit of seven (7) bulky items (televisions, computers, monitors, printers) per vehicle. A tub or crate loaded with smaller electronic items is considered one bulky item.

Electronic waste accepted at this event include all televisions, computers, computer monitors, computer hardware and cables, printers, FAX machines, copiers, VCR/DVD players, cable and satellite boxes, radios, digital clocks, boom boxes, stereo equipment, video game equipment, laptops, tablets, cell phones, phone systems, calculators, rechargeable batteries, holiday light strands, extension cords, CFL bulbs, and printer cartridges. Microwave ovens are accepted for a charge of $5 each. Please unpack your electronics from boxes, Styrofoam, and plastic wrap prior to coming to the event and dispose of or recycle as normal.

Only the items listed above are accepted as electronics for recycling per our processor, Dynamic Lifecycle Innovations. Please bring only accepted items to these events, doing so speeds up the unloading process and results in a shorter wait time for everyone. Items commonly brought to these events which are not accepted include vacuum cleaners, toasters, toaster ovens, dehumidifiers, lamps, heaters, fans, smoke detectors, coffee makers, bread makers, personal hygiene items, sump pumps, and alkaline batteries.

If you have additional questions about electronic recycling, have business or institutional electronic items to recycle, or live outside of Ogle County, please call the OCSWMD at 815-732-4020, visit us on Facebook, or visit www.oglecounty.org.

Quilt show winners are announced

BYRON – ByronFest's 32nd Annual Quilt Show was held July 12-14 at the Byron Museum of History.

Quilt Show Committee Co-Chairs Wanda Cacciatore and Jan Emmons announce the blue ribbon winners show and to thank everyone that entered a quilt or volunteered in order to make this quilt show possible every year.

On Friday, July 12 the committee hosted a reception for the quilters and volunteers before the show officially opened to the public. Monique Jacobs of Open Gate Quilts presented a "Trunk Show" of quilts that showcased her original quilt designs and fabric patterns.

Area quilters displayed 62 pieces of their fabric works of art throughout the museum's campus which now includes the Byron Theater Quonset Hut. Items were selected for awards by a judge and viewers voted on their favorite quilt and wall hanging to win a "People's Choice" award. First place winners received a blue ribbon and cash prize.

Every year we are amazed by the creativity and handiwork of the people that display their fabric art in Byron. After careful deliberation, Judge Donna Langford has selected the following quilts as first place winners in their category: Miriam Bruening, Wanda Cacciatore Virginia Christopherson, Karen Donoho, Linette Hall, Rosalinda Rienstra, Jan Stukenberg, Barbara Wells and Cindy Yoakum.

Area Quilters that registered their fabric creations this year included: Miriam Bruening, Wanda Cacciatore Virginia Christopherson, Mary Daniel, Nancy Derksen, Kathy Dodd, Karen Donoho, Pat Felton, Jannette Fogle, Linda Franna, Linette Hall, Melody Hedges, Beverly Kerby, Ken Lapp, Kathy Lonergan, Rosalinda Rienstra, Joellen Roos, Beth Simeone, Megan Smolinski, Jan Stukenberg, Bunny Sues, Carol Vaessen, Barbara Wells, and Cindy Yoakum. Many thanks to the Ogle County Historical Society for the temporary loan of the two antique "Crazy Quilts" that were displayed in the Lucius Read House.

Special thanks to Wanda Cacciatore for creating and sponsoring the ByronFest Quilt Show for 32 years.

The Byron Museum of History is dedicated to preserving Byron's rich history through exhibits, programs, and artifact preservation. Ecology class at White Pines starts Aug. 9

MOUNT MORRIS – Ecology is the science that studies the interactions and relationships that exist among living organisms and their environment.

An ecology class will be held at White Pines State Park, 6712 W. Pines Rd., on Monday's 10 a.m.noon, Aug. 19, Sept. 16, Oct. 14 and Nov. 4. The cost is $5.

The goal for this class is to introduce, or reintroduce some key parts to ecology and use specific skills to reach conclusions in a field setting. Skills such as observation, describing, generalizing to create a theory, inferring, concluding, classifying and of course measuring are all part of our everyday life but we will take it back to more of a science skill focus.

The concept of ecology is based on three major ideas:

* Ecology of nutrition is the interaction between producers and consumers.

* The cyclic flow of matter through the planet's environments such as water, carbon, and nitrogen along with others are recycled over and over again.

* Energy keeps those cycles going. All energy comes to the planet from the sun and leaves the planet in the form of heat. Any changes or interruptions, natural or manmade, to these patterns or relationships can alter life on the planet. It is important to understand the relationships of our natural areas, such as a conservation area, so we can relate larger scale situations in a scientific way with sound support.

Please register online web. extension.illinois.edu/bdo

If you need a reasonable accommodation to participate in this program, please contact your local Extension office. Early requests are strongly encouraged to allow sufficient time for meeting your access needs.

MOMENTS IN TIME

* On Aug. 11, 1806, explorer Meriwether Lewis is shot in the hip, probably by one of his own men. Private Cruzatte, who was blind in one eye and nearsighted in the other, insisted he had not shot his captain. Lewis, however, had the offending bullet: A .54 caliber slug from a modern U.S. Army rifle, identical to the one carried by Cruzatte.

* On Aug. 8, 1863, after his defeat at Gettysburg, Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee sends a letter of resignation to Confederate President Jefferson Davis. Davis refused the request.

* On Aug. 10, 1937, the electric guitar is recognized by the United States Patent Office with the award of Patent No. 2,089.171 for the Rickenbacker Frying Pan. The guitar used a heavy electromagnet that surrounded the base of the steel strings like a bracelet.

* On Aug. 6, 1945, an American B-29 bomber, the Enola Gay, drops the world's first atom bomb over the city of Hiroshima, Japan.

* On Aug. 7, 1959, the American satellite Explorer 6 is launched into Earth orbit. The 142-pound spacecraft featured a photocell scanner that transmitted a crude picture of the Earth's surface from a distance of 17,000 miles. The photo, received in Hawaii, took nearly 40 minutes to transmit.

* On Aug. 9, 1974, Richard Nixon officially resigns as president of the United States, departing in a helicopter from the White House lawn. Minutes later, Vice President Gerald Ford was sworn in. Ford spoke in a television address, declaring, "My fellow Americans, our long national nightmare is over."

* On Aug. 5, 1981, President Ronald Reagan begins firing 11,359 air-traffic controllers striking in violation of his order to return to work. Two days earlier almost 13,000 air-traffic controllers went on strike over negotiations to raise their pay.

'Ask Brad' back by not-so-popular demand

Since the debut of "Ask Brad" in a late March column, the questions have been flooding in. And by flooding in, I mean I haven't gotten any questions. Not a single one.

But I won't let a lack of questions stop me from following my dream of becoming an advice columnist. Look around you – you don't have to be qualified to do anything these days.

So, in that spirit, I present another edition of "Ask Brad." And remember, I will not be nice for the sake of being nice.

Dear Brad: I have a 7-year-old son who still sleeps in our bed. He's a little on the shy side and doesn't have many friends. But when I try to get him to be involved in more activities, he just shuts down. We are afraid that making him sleep in his own bed might just hurt him emotionally. What do you think? – Signed, A Good Mom.

Dear A Good Mom: Please do me a favor. Go to the nearest mirror and take a look at yourself. Then I want you to repeat "I am the problem" over and over until it sinks in. Stop cod-

the Life By Brad Jennings

dling this kid. He's 7! Why in the world is your little fragile angel still sleeping in your bed? It's creepy! I would guess that once you start actually being a parent and move him into his own room, he will start to become more social. Or he will be a complete disaster for the rest of his life. Either way, it is your fault. Sorry.

Dear Brad: I just can't take this heat. It has been horrible and I just can't live like this. How are people supposed to live when it is this hot? What can I do? – Signed, I can't Take It.

Dear I Can't Take It: Do the best you can to tough it out this summer. Drink plenty of fluids and try to stay inside where it is air conditioned whenever possible. Then, next winter, when we again plunge into a Polar Vortex, I want you to strip off all of your clothes and run out into the cold and dance for joy. What's that? You don't like it that cold? Well, then it seems to me that the problem is not the weather. The problem is that you are never happy and love to complain. Try doing less of that.

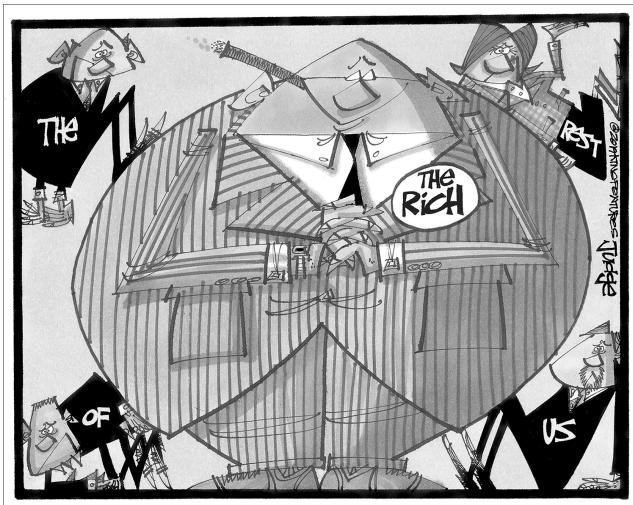

Dear Brad: My husband won't stop wearing socks with his sandals, no matter how many times I tell him how dumb it looks. He is a great father, makes a good living and is generally a very loving man. This is really the only thing about him that bothers me at all. What should I do? Signed, He is Really The Perfect Man.

Dear He is Really The Perfect Man: Divorce him. No one should have to live with any person – more like animal – who wears socks with sandals.

Dear Brad: I am a stayat-home mom and have a couple of young boys who are driving me crazy. I try to keep them busy, but they have so much energy that I am at a loss. How can I make it through the rest of the summer? Signed, Too Much Energy.

Dear Too Much Energy: This sounds like me when I was a kid. Boy, I used to drive my mom crazy. Of course, this was before video games and Netflix and cellphones and thousands of channels on TV. We had to actually play and use our imaginations. But I know a surefire way to have your kids stay out of your hair for a while. First, buy a couple of bb guns. Second, buy two pairs of goggles. Third, tell them to go outside (with their goggles on - safety first!) and play "Army." OK, I guess these days that might be a little extreme, but I sure did love shooting my friends with a bb gun when I was a kid. Hey, we kept it below the waist ... at least we tried to. These days there would be too much crying and the police would be called and I'm sure years of therapy would follow. So, I guess you should just do you best not to come completely unglued and pray for school to start. Brad Jennings is Editor of

The case against impeaching the president

House Speaker Nancy Pelosi must be feeling the heat in the wake of special counsel Robert Mueller's investigation. His report was far from the exoneration that the President proclaimed it to be, and many Democrats are demanding that the House impeach him. "This is about us doing our jobs...," says House member Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez.

Mueller identified, according to Wikipedia, eleven "notable episodes" where President Trump may have obstructed justice, and he implied that Congress should address them through the impeachment process. It seems that impeachment advocates have a strong case, and yet Speaker Pelosi is resisting. Analysts such as Lisa Mascaro (apnews.com, June 17), Amber Phillips (washingtonpost.com, June

Guest Opinion By Lowell Harp

18), and Nancy LeTourneau (washingtonmonthly.com, May 30) explain why.

To begin with, this debate is thoroughly political, arising from the fact that the House of Representatives impeaches, or bring charges against, a president and the Senate tries him. Furthermore, the Constitution leaves it up to the House to define an impeachable offense. That's why House Speaker Gerald Ford said back in 1970 that, "An impeachable offense is whatever a majority of the House of Representatives considers it to be at a given moment in history."

Impeachment can never be free of political considerations. Ms. Ocasio-Cortez comes from a solidly Democratic district, and has few if any worries about getting reelected. Speaker Pelosi, as leader of the Democrats in the House, has more than one district to keep in mind, and many of them aren't so safe or so enthusiastic about impeachment.

Wikipedia's review of 10 opinion polls taken from January 2017 until now portrays a nation evenly divided over the issue. Ariel Edwards-Levy, in a huffpost report on recent polling, reveals that although most Democrats favor impeachment, only 18% consider it to be a priority. A two to one majority of Democratic voters in early primary states said that "they'd prefer to hear their candidates spend more time talking about trying to defeat Trump, rather than on impeaching him."

Impeaching the President with such weak public support could be costly for Democrats in the upcoming 2020 election, and their legislative goals would suffer as attention shifted to impeachment. House of Representatives rules state that impeachment overrides all other business. My memories of the Clinton and Nixon inquiries are of a nation transfixed by the drama playing out in Congress.

Speaker Pelosi is also aware that there's no chance that the current Republican Senate would convict the President. In the following election, he could claim exoneration while accusing Democrats of trying to hijack a 2016 election that he won fair and square.

For all these reasons, she and other leaders of the Democratic Party are refraining from formally impeaching the President. They are, however, holding hearings on the Mueller investigation and on other aspects of his official conduct. If at some point they produce evidence that even a Republican Senate can't ignore, the House can quickly move to impeach the President.

Those who favor impeachment want it to be a moral judgment for the ages, but, saturated as it is with politics and locked into a politically polarized here and now, it can't live up to that standard. Perhaps there'll come a time when the evidence is so overwhelming, and the nation is so united, that impeachment will be the right path. Otherwise, the most meaningful "impeachment" will be the one that will take place in November of next year, when the American people will review the evidence of the previous four years and pronounce their judgment on the presidency of Donald Trump.

Healthcare is in peril

Dear Editor,

Nationally, the number of rural hospitals that have closed has reached 98 since 2010. In 2019, 46 percent of rural hospitals in U.S. operate at a loss compared to 40 percent in 2017. Because of financial strains of having patients who can't pay for services due to lack of health insurance and states that didn't expand Medicaid, nearly 700 rural hospitals are financially vulnerable. These are at a high risk of being closed.

Couple this with an aging physician population in rural areas. As rural doctors retire, they aren't being replaced. The long hours and low pay compared to suburbs and large cities plus lower quality rural schools and few outside activities for their own children fail to entice young doctors to move to rural areas.

Those of us who live in rural counties face a higher patient to doctor ratio. When we are referred to see a specialist, we have to drive to Madison or the Chicago area or wait until they come to the area. In short, our healthcare is in peril.

The group will be selling tickets for a 65-inch TV, generously donated by Exelon Generations, Byron Station. The drawing will be held Oct. 13 during the Spooktacular Horse Expo 2 day event at the fairgrounds.

Also, another donor has issued a Matching Funds Challenge. This donor will match dollar for dollar up to $2000, for all donations made during the 2019 Ogle County Fair. Our many donors have sponsored our events and classes in our horse shows.

The 3_{rd} annual Build-A-Barn Ogle County Fair Show will be held on Sunday, Aug. 4, beginning at 9:30 a.m., with a full schedule of halter, performance, and speed classes. We have included classes for draft horses and mini horses this year.

The Build-A-Barn Committee is raising funds to build an exhibition horse barn at the Ogle County Fairgrounds. The barn and arena will be available for rent for various horse activities, which, in turn, will bring more people to our area. More people mean more revenue for our local merchants. The exhibition stalls can be disassembled during the winter months and the barn used for RV storage for more revenue for the Fair Association.

I know there are lots of cute little kittens at Tails right now, but please don't overlook a great senior like me, Nibbles. I'm almost 9 years old and I'm a pretty great guy. I'm friendly to everyone, including oldsters and children. And I'm good with other cats, too. In fact, I'm sharing a room at Tails with several younger cats. As you might guess from my name, I also enjoy eating and getting and receiving love and attention. Do you have a place in your heart for a nice senior gentleman like me?

Singin' In The Rain

Wednesday, Sept. 18, Circa21 Dinner Playhouse

Tap your toes and sing along in this splashy adaptation of the celebrated and beloved film.

The "Greatest Movie Musical of All Time" is faithfully and lovingly adapted by Broadway legends, Betty Comden and Adolph Green, from their original award-winning screenplay in "Singin' in the Rain". Each unforgettable scene, song and dance is accounted for, including the show-stopping title number, complete with an onstage rainstorm! Hilarious situations, snappy dialogue and a hit-parade score of Hollywood standards make "Singin' in the Rain" the perfect entertainment for any fan of the golden age of movie musicals.

"Singin' in the Rain" has all the makings of a Tinsel town tabloid headline - the starlet, the leading man and a love affair that could change lives and make or break careers! In silent movies, Don Lockwood and Lina Lamont are a hot item but, behind the scenes, things aren't always as they appear on the big screen! Meanwhile, Lina's squeaky voice might be the end of her career in "talking pictures" without the help of a talented young actress to do the talking and singing for her.

Cost (includes RT transportation, show, meal, tax and gratuity): $80 members/$85 Nnon-members. Reservation/ payment deadline: Aug. 23.

Please call Rock River Center at 815-732-3252 to make your reservation.

Webb Wilder returns to play Jamboree stage

MOUNT MORRIS – Old school, real deal roots rocker Webb Wilder makes his return to the Mount Morris Jamboree with his band, the Beatnecks on Friday, July 26 for a free two-hour concert starting at 7 p.m.

A native of Hattiesburg, and a member of the Mississippi Music Hall of Fame, Wilder crafted his signature brand of "Mid-Atlantic" (British and American) rock and roll, mixed with country, blues and soul. The band's 1986 debut album, "It Came From Nashville," was recently named one of the 50 Best Southern Rock Albums of All-Time by Paste Magazine. Webb Wilder is an evangelist for real rock 'n' roll. As a singer, guitarist, bandleader, film actor, songwriter and humorist, he may be Roots-Rock's only true Renaissance man. His latest album, "Powerful Stuff!" will no doubt find favor with Webb's devoted legion of fans, but its affecting songs and masterful performances are sure to bring newcomers into the fold. His engaging personality led him to become one of America's first Satellite DJs on XM Radio. He's now the host of the Americana Countdown show on WMOT radio/Nashville.

St. Brides Episcopal Church of Oregon will be serving BBQ sandwiches, baked beans, chips, drinks and a dessert starting at 6 p.m. Several other food and craft vendors will likely be on site, as well, including Jen's Artisan Breads, featuring many different varieties of delicious fresh baked bread.

The Fine Art Show at the Encore Art Gallery continues next door on the first floor of Old Sandstone featuring nearly 50 pieces in a variety of mediums from many local Artists on the theme 'The Road Not Taken', open from 6-9:30 p.m.

Be sure to come uptown early to visit the Mount Morris Community Farmers Market, open from 4-7 pm every Friday through October, located at the corner of Rt.64 and Wesley Ave. Please bring a blanket or chair, or enjoy the new benches and join the fun on our beautiful, historic campus in the center of Mount Morris, two blocks south of Rt. 64 on Wesley Avenue and enjoy the free concert. In the event of rain, the whole show moves to the Moose Lodge at 101 Moose Drive, at the same times.

A Universe of Stories Summer Reading Program

Wednesdays, 10:30 a.m. Thursdays, 10:30 a.m.

This year's summer reading program is all about space. So far we have traveled to the stars, explored different planets, and learned about rockets during our "Universe of Stories". Yet to come are programs on astronaut training and a trip to the moon. Wednesday's program is geared more toward our younger patrons from toddlers to Kindergarten while Thursday's is suitable for explorers in 1st to 5th grade. Each session has stories, crafts, and activities that will educate and entertain participants. It's never too late to join the fun!

Movie Madness Matinee

Monday, July 29, 2 p.m. In keeping with our summer space theme, this month's movie is a family favorite featuring the lovable but lonely Waste Allocation Load Lifter-Earth class (WALL-E, for short). After hundreds of years cleaning up Earth, WALL-E meets the lovely space probe EVE and follows her across the galaxy beginning a fantastic adventure. Popcorn and drinks are provided.

Suggested donations include spiral notebooks, notebook paper, folders, pens, pencils, highlighters, markers, crayons, colored pencils, Sharpies, erasers, scissors, rulers, glue and glue sticks. New and gently used backpacks are also needed. Distribution of supplies is Monday, Aug. 12 so please have your donations in by Saturday, Aug. 10.

Plastic Recycling

Ogle Jolly 4-H Club has earned their bench but we will continue collecting film-type plastic. Shopping bags, sandwich bags, bread wrappers, or any bag-type plastic is acceptable. Wrap from new furniture (especially mattresses) and appliances are also welcome. All plastic must be clean, dry, and free of food residue. Please do not bring hard plastic as that is not allowed in this program. We are located on the south end of Leaf River at 705 Main Street. Thanks for your help!

Allergies can come from more than just what is in the air

Allergies

An allergy is when your immune system attacks something that doesn't bother some other people, such as pollen, mold, pet dander, food, insect stings or bites.

The American Academy of Allergy Asthma & Immunology says about 50 million Americans suffer from some allergy.

Symptoms

Symptoms of allergies include a runny nose, sneezing, itching, redness, rashes, swelling and trouble breathing. Life threatening symptoms include anaphylaxis, a severe reaction characterized by a feeling of warmth, flushing, shortness of breath, throat tightness, vomiting or diarrhea, and a drop in blood pressure that can cause a loss of consciousness and shock.

Diagnosis

Your doctor may send you to a specialist, an allergist or immunologist. Allergies are diagnosed through skin or blood tests combined with a thorough medical history and physical exam. These tests can help you identify triggers to minimize your allergy symptoms.

Treatment

Other than avoiding as much as possible the things that make you sick, there are a variety of over-the-counter and prescription medications that can alleviate your allergy symptoms. Always talk to your doctor before starting any medication and be aware that many antihistamines and other medications can make you very drowsy. Make sure to read the labels thoroughly and ask a pharmacist if you're concerned about drug interactions.

Immunotherapy

Some allergic conditions may respond well to immunotherapy, a gradual exposure to allergens to train your immune system not to attack certain stimulants. Immunotherapy shots usually are administered one or two times a week for a range of months. Sublingual tablets can also treat allergies for certain types of grass.

The many problems with opioid drug use were well summarized by Dr. William Lauretti for the American Chiropractic Association. An excerpt of the summary follows.

Inadequate pain management coupled with the epidemic of prescription opioid overuse and abuse has taken a severe toll on the lives of tens of thousands of people in the United States. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), as many as one in four patients who receive prescription opioids long term for non-cancer pain in primary care settings struggles with addiction. Every day, more than 1,000 people are treated in the ER for misusing prescription opioids.

Deaths involving opioids are six times higher than in 1999; in 2017 alone, more than 47,000 people died from overdoses involving the drugs. That same year, another 2 million people abused or were dependent on opioids.

Beyond the risks of addiction and overdose, numb pain may convince a patient that a musculoskeletal condition is less severe than it is or that it has healed. This misunderstanding can lead to overexertion and a delay in the healing process...or even permanent injury. Chiropractic and other conservative (non-drug) approaches to pain management can be an important first line of defense against pain and addiction caused by the overuse of prescription opioid pain medications.

There is a growing body of research that validates the effectiveness of chiropractic services, leading many respected health care organizations to recommend chiropractic and its drug-free approach to pain relief.

In 2017, the American College of Physicians (ACP) updated its guidelines for the treatment of acute and chronic low back pain to recommend first using non-invasive, non-drug treatments

Well visits are an important part of child healthcare

Expecting parents will soon discover that having a child sparks many changes in their lives. As infancy rolls into toddlerhood and beyond, there is usually one constant in the busy lives of new families: the pediatrician. Children visit their pediatricians at regular intervals, and these doctors are invaluable sources of support and care.

Pediatricians provide well-child services throughout youngsters' childhoods. Health checkups start from the day the baby is born and continue until a child reaches adulthood.JAMA Pediatrics says there are many benefits of well-child visits. One of the key aspects of these checkups is tracking a child's growth and development, including physical, cognitive, emotional, and social progress.

Another component of well-child visits is to prevent injury and illness. When parents come in for these visits, the staff will likely go over the appropriate safety protocol for that child's age and milestone. This may include car seat safety checks, preventing falls, choking hazards, and safety when entering school.

Bright Futures/American Academy of Pediatrics developed a set of comprehensive health guidelines for well-child care, and many pediatricians follow these schedule and screening guidelines. Visits often start at one-month intervals, and then increase by two- and three- month durations until the child is two years old. After 2.5 years of age, annual visits become the norm. Well-child visits are also opportunities for screening tests and physical examinations.

prescription drugs that before resorting to drug therapies. ACP's guidelines, published in the Annals of Internal Medicine and based on a review of randomized controlled trials and observational studies, cite heat therapy, massage and spinal manipulation as possible options for non-invasive, nondrug therapies for low back pain. Only when such treatments provide little or no relief, the guidelines state, should patients move on to medicines such as ibuprofen or muscle relaxants, which research indicates have limited pain-relief effects. According to the guidelines, prescription opioids should be a last resort for those suffering from low back pain, as the risk of addiction and overdose may outweigh the benefits.

In March 2016, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention released guidelines for prescribing opioids that also promote non-pharmacologic alternatives for the treatment of chronic pain. In 2015, the Joint Commission, the organization that accredits more than 20,000 health care systems in the U.S., including every major hospital, recognized the value of non-drug approaches by adding chiropractic and acupuncture to its pain management standard.

here are many positives to meditation

Today's fast-paced lifestyles mean we're no strangers to stress. But stress can affect our mental and physical health.

The National Institute of Mental Health says chronic stress can suppress your immune system, disrupt digestion and sleep, and contribute to serious problems such as heart disease and high blood pressure.

Meditation is focusing on your breathing or the repetition of a mantra to reach a heightened level of awareness. It also stops your body and the slow, even breathing can relax you into a more calm state.

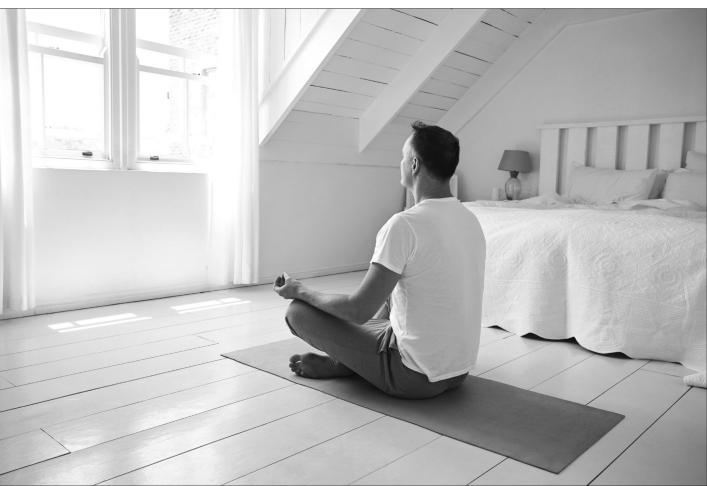

How Do I Meditate?

Contrary to what you're picturing in your mind, you don't need a special room, special lightning or special garments. You can meditate anywhere at any time (maybe not while driving a car or operating heavy machinery). It's as easy as stopping what you're doing and mindfully breathing in and out and focusing on only that, blocking all other intrusive thoughts, until you're calm and relaxed.

There are a number of apps (one is Apple's Breathe app, which is native to the Apple Watch), videos and websites that can help you relax into a meditative state by helping you focus on the rhythm of your breath. If you're having trouble, try one of these apps, which may even feature soothing music to help your mind focus on something other than what's stressing you out.

Open Awareness Meditation

If you can't focus on a particular thing or if you find that stressful, try open awareness meditation. In that technique, you try to think of nothing, letting thoughts, emotions and sensations float by without being trapped by your mind. It's not something you can force; you have to ease gently into it. Advanced Placement

Meditation is a part of many religions around the world and has been practiced since antiquity.

In Buddhism, for example, meditation is part of the path toward awakening and nirvana.

If you're interested in learning more about meditation as part of a spiritual practice, check with your local houses of worship. Many will offer meditation or contemplative times with or without guidance.

Things to consider when looking for a gym

What to look for in a gym

Not all gyms are the same. Depending on whether you want a wide array of fitness classes, a variety of different offerings like a swimming pool, a basketball court or child care, or you're looking for a trainer, there's a gym for you, but it might take a little work to find the right gym.

VeryWell Fit offered tips for finding the gym that will help you achieve your fitness goals.

Logistics: Hours, location and parking

The best way to ensure you regularly make it to the gym is its convenience. If it's open early enough to go before your office or late enough for a late-night run, you're more likely to go. And look for one close to your home, work or school. No matter how great the facility is, you're way less likely to drive all the way across town after a long day at the office than to go to a gym half a mile from your home.

While you don't need a front-row parking spot at the gym, it's also good to scope out the parking lot. Visit at the time you plan to work out to ensure you'll have a place to park.

Cost

Most gyms require a contract, either annually or on a month-to-month basis, and you pay monthly. Visit different gyms in your area and find the one you like, then see if they're offering any specials. Many gyms also will negotiate; see if they'll waive an initiation fee, throw in a few sessions with a personal trainer or let you have a month-to-month instead of yearly contract. As with anytime you sign a contract, read it.

Features and atmosphere

Figure out your top priorities and make sure your gym offers those. If you want to use treadmills or stationary bikes, try out the machines and get comfortable. See how many machines they have; you don't want to wait for half an hour to use the treadmill. Check out the pool and sauna, walk through the kids center and tour the locker rooms. You also want a sense of the gym's atmosphere. Make sure you'll want to work out there—the music isn't too loud, the place is clean, there's enough room for you to work out comfortably, there are ample spray bottles and people are wiping down equipment.

You really are what you eat

Eating to lose weight and to be healthy

Eating to lose weight

Losing weight and getting fit and toned is a combination of working out and eating better.

Most dietitians will say that reducing the number of calories you eat is the biggest step; while true, it can be tricky to cut back on your calories without feeling hungry much of the time.

Smart eating, however, can help you to feel full and keep you feeling full longer. WebMD has some advice on how to lose a few pounds while still having the energy for your day, including a good workout.

Eat the right kind of protein

Protein helps to slow the digestive process, which will help you stay fuller longer and helps with building muscle and providing long-term energy. Find lean proteins like fish, nuts, avocados and beans and keep red meats to a minimum.

Eat lots of produce

One good way to get more vegetables into your diet is to eat lots of salad. Replacing a meal with a salad full of good stuff like romaine lettuce, spinach, carrots, celery, tomatoes, cucumbers, grapes, berries, apples and more. But be careful with your add-ons; croutons, bacon bits, cheese, nuts and heavy salad dressing can add more calories to your salad than you realize. Keep these additions light, adding a tablespoon or two of those calorie-heavy items and use vinaigrettes or lighter dressings.

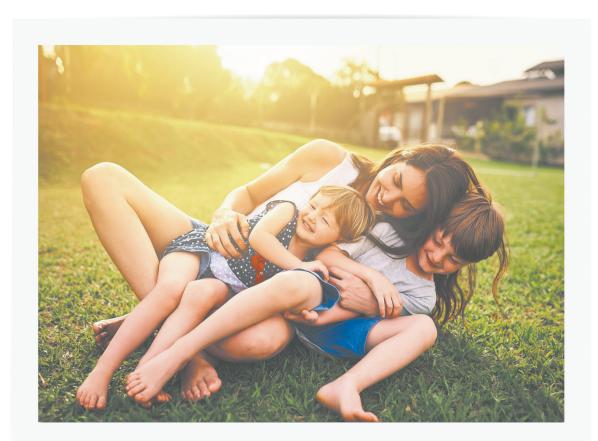

Eat fiber

Whole grains like oatmeal, whole wheat bread, beans and brown rice, along with fruits and vegetables, are full of fiber, which help curb your appetite and help prevent constipation and bloating. This helps your stomach look flatter as well, which everyone in a swimsuit wants. Just make sure to include a lot of water in your diet as well.

Avoid salt and beer

Salt causes water retention, which leads to bloating, and that can last for days. The best ways to reduce salt in your diet is to reduce how much processed food you eat. Cook your meals from scratch and look for ways to spice up your food without using as much salt.

As much as summer fun includes drinking, cutting back is a good way to get healthier. One can of beer is about 150 calories, beer and sparkling wines cause bloating and alcohol slows down your body's ability to burn fat.

Going virtual

Technology allows people to join class from home

Virtual Training

Gone are the days when going to an exercise class means waking up early and going to a gym. Now, with advances in technology and new smarthome devices, you can join a class from the comfort of your living room.

First Things First

Talk to your doctor about the type of programs you want to use and make sure you're medically cleared to take part. This is especially true if you've recently had health issues, injuries or a chronic illness. Then, make sure you have the right set-up, equipment and space to do what you want.

Choosing an App

Typing "fitness" into your app store is going to be overwhelming. Food trackers, run trackers, maps, on-demand workout apps, short workout apps, yoga apps, apps with music, apps without music, apps that track your music. Overwhelming.

Think about the kinds of workouts you want to do, the time and space you have, and the kind of commitments you want to make. Then read these tips and get surfing.

Do you have a hectic schedule that's rarely routine? Look for an on-demand app. Make sure it offers the types of workouts you'd like to do (HIIT? Yoga? All of it?) and the level of instruction and length of workout you want to do not only now, but in the future. Many of these are subscription based, so if you get all you can out of that app and need a new one, you'll need to remember to cancel the subscription in the app store, not just delete the app.

Don't have a lot of time or are you new to fitness? Look for apps that are targeted for short workouts, usually modeled on circuit training. PCMagazine recommends 7-Minute Workout by Wahoo Fitness and The Johnson & Johnson Official 7 Minute Workout.

Want to do some good while working out? Charity Miles is an app that donates money to the organization of your choice when you log miles running, walking or cycling. If you're motivated by charitable causes and don't mind a little corporate sponsorship, this free app might be for you.

Don't take sleep for granted – it is good for you health

Catch Some ZZZs

Sleep is something we can take for granted, until we're plagued by not getting enough of it. Keep reading to learn why sleep is important and how to improve your sleep health.

What is Sleep?

Everyone has an internal body clock that tells you when you to sleep and wake up, usually a 24-hour cycle called the circadian rhythm. The circadian rhythm is tied to lots of things such as light, darkness, hormones and other factors. Our circadian rhythm changes with age; young children tend to sleep more in early evening and may have more REM sleep than other people.

Sleep is important because, during sleep, your body is working to support healthy mental and physical function. The National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute says sleep deficiency can alter activity in some parts of the brain, triggering trouble making decisions, solving problems and controlling emotions. It's also been linked to depression, suicide and risk-taking behavior.

Sleep is also when your body repairs itself. Deficiency is linked to an increased risk of heart disease, kidney disease, high blood pressure, diabetes and stroke.

Improving Sleep

Allow yourself enough time to sleep. Instead of making sleep the first sacrifice to a busy schedule, protect your time to sleep for your good health. Next, establish and stick to a bedtime routine. Go to bed around the same time and try to wake up at the same time every day. Set quiet time before bed, and avoid heavy meals before bed, as well as nicotine, strenuous exercise, artificial light and caffeine. Keep your bedroom quiet, cool and dark. You may also choose to take a hot bath or practice relaxation techniques before bed.

When to Talk to Your Doctor

If you're not getting enough sleep and these simple techniques didn't help, it may be time to talk to your doctor. If you feel sleepy during the day, don't wake up refreshed, or are naving trouble adjusting to a new schedule, it's time to seek help.

- Before your visit, the NHLBI recommends thinking about the following:
- How often do you have trouble sleeping? How long has this been going on?
- When do you go to bed and get up?
- How long does it take you to fall asleep? How often do you wake up at night?
- Do you snore loudly? Do you wake up gasping or feeling out of breath?
- Do you feel refreshed when you wake up or tired during the day?
- Do you doze off or have trouble staying awake during routine tasks, especially driving?

Oral health has impacts on overall health

A healthy mouth is good for more than just a pretty smile. Oral health can affect the entire body, making dental care more than just a cosmetic concern.

Many people know that poor oral hygiene can lead to gum disease, tooth decay and even lost teeth. But are you aware that failing to brush or visit the dentist regularly also can lead to more serious health issues? According to Colgate, recent research suggests that there may be an association between oral infections, particularly gum disease, and cardiovascular disease and preterm birth. Gum disease also may make diabetes more difficult to control, since infections may cause insulin resistance and disrupt blood sugar.

Your mouth also can serve as an infection source elsewhere in the body. Bacteria from your mouth can enter the bloodstream through infection sites in the gums. If your immune system is healthy, there should not be any adverse effects. However, if your immune system is compromised, these bacteria can flow to other areas of the body where they can cause infection. An example of this is oral bacteria sticking to the lining of diseased heart valves.

Other links have been found between oral health and overall health. In 2010, researchers from New York University who reviewed 20 years of data on the association concluded that there is a link between gum inflammation and Alzheimer's disease. Researchers in the UK also found a correlation. Analysis showed that a bacterium called "Porphyromonas gingivalis" was present in brains of those with Alzheimer's disease but not in the samples from the brains of people who did not have Alzheimer's. The P. gingivalis bacterium is usually associated with chronic gum disease and not dementia.

Researchers also have found a possible link between gum disease and pancreatic cancer. Harvard researchers found that men with a history of gum disease had a 64 percent increased risk of pancreatic cancer compared with men who had never had gum disease, based on studies of men from 1986 through 2007.

While oral health issues may lead to other conditions over time, symptoms also may be indicative of underlying conditions of which a person is unaware. Inflammation of gum tissue may be a warning sign of diabetes. Oral problems, such as lesions in the mouth, may indicate the presence of HIV/AIDS.

Yes – use that sunscreen

Warmer weather means more time outside in the sunshine. It also means you need to protect your skin from the sun's rays.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says the sun can damage your skin in as little as 15 minutes. Keep reading for ways to protect yourself and your family.

Stay Safe

If you can, stay out of the sun by seeking shade, wearing long-sleeved shirts and pants with UV protection, a hat to shade your face and sunglasses to protect your eyes. Pay attention to weather forecasts and look for a UV index rating. But beware, cloudy days still mean sun exposure.

Sunscreen

Even on cloudy or cool days, the CDC recommends at least SPF 15 sunscreen when you go outside. SPF refers to the sun protection factor, the sunscreen's effectiveness in blocking UV rays. The higher the number, the more protection. Remember to reapply, though. Even high SPF numbers wear off. Reapply every two hours and after swimming, sweating or toweling off, the CDC says.

Symptoms of Skin Cancer

Exposure to UV rays can cause skin cancer. Symptoms of skin cancer are new skin growths, a sore that doesn't heal or a change in a mole. The CDC says to remember the ABCDEs of melanoma:

A: Asymmetrical. Does the mole have an irregular shape?

B: Border. Is it jagged?

C: Color. Is the color uneven.

D: Diameter. Is the spot larger than a pea?

E: Evolving. Has it changed in the past few weeks or months?

If you have any of these symptoms, talk to your doctor.

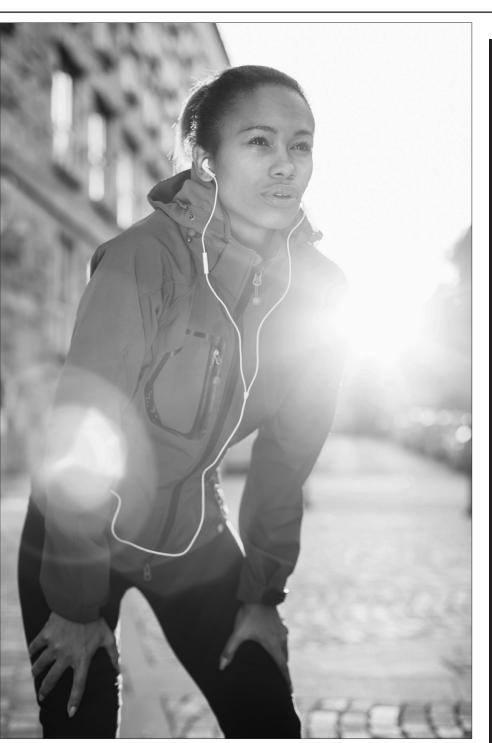

You can also have an increased risk of skin cancer, the CDC says, if you have certain characteristics. These include:

• A lighter natural skin color;

• Blue or green eyes;

• Blonde or red hair; or

• A family or personal history of skin cancer.

Get up and get moving

Physical activity is critical to staying healthy, and what's good for the grown-ups is good for the kids, too. Find out how to get fit as a family.

Guidelines

The U.S. Department of Health & Hospitals recommends children 6-17 get an hour or more of moderate to vigorous physical activity per day. Adults should do at least 150 minutes to 300 minutes per week of moderate intensity exercise or 75 minutes to 150 minutes a week of vigorous intensity activity. Older adults should also aim for balance training and be as active as their abilities and conditions allow.

Play Games

One way to get fit as a family is to take up a new game or sport. Play basketball, golf or tennis. Look into disc golf, dodgeball or softball. You can join a community league, church league or set up a neighborhood tournament. Local parks may have facilities you can use for free or reduced cost, and look for used equipment at yard sales and secondhand stores.

Take a Hike

Find some easy walking trails nearby and get moving. Be aware of weather conditions that might make trails muddy or impassible, and make sure you take along plenty of water, sunscreen, bug spray, and anything else you need to be away from civilization for a few hours. Depending on the trails, you may also be able to bring the family dogs, too.

One thing to keep in mind: Footwear. Wear good quality socks and shoes made for going off the beaten path. If you don't have these, visit your local sporting goods store for a good fitting to prevent injuries.

Avoiding Injuries

Medline Plus gives you these tips to stay safe during exercise, especially if you're new at it. Warm up with stretches and start off slowly. Don't push your body too hard or try an exercise that's too strenuous for your level of fitness.

Use proper equipment and form. If you're new to a gym or sport, consider asking a more experienced friend to help or hiring a trainer.

Use proper safety equipment. Depending on the activity, this could include the right footwear; helmets if needed; mouthguards; goggles; pads or other protective guards. If you're not sure about proper fit, visit a local sporting goods store.

What the right proteins can do for your body

Mapping out a healthy diet can be tricky. While everyone needs certain vitamins and minerals, no two people are the same, and a diet that's right for one person might not be suitable or palatable for another.

Personal preference must be considered when planning a diet, as people are more likely to stick with a healthy diet if they enjoy the foods they eat. While fruits and vegetables should be a part of everyone's diet, people should not overlook the importance of including lean protein in their diets as well.

Choosing which proteins to include in a diet can be tricky. The United States Department of Agriculture notes that not all proteins are created equal in terms of their health benefits. Proteins include foods such as meat, poultry, fish, eggs, and nuts, but some can actually lead to negative side effects, including an increased risk for overweight or obesity and heart disease.

Why are some proteins potentially troublesome?

The USDA notes that some foods from the protein group are high in saturated fat and cholesterol. Such foods include fatty cuts of beef, pork and lamb; ground beef that is between 75 and 85 percent lean; regular sausages, hot dogs and bacon; lunch meats like bologna and salami; and duck. Limiting, if not avoiding, such foods can help people maintain healthy cholesterol levels.

Cholesterol is only found in foods from animal sources, but not all animal-based proteins contribute to high cholesterol. Lean proteins can be great ways to reap the benefits of protein without suffering the negative side effects of proteins that are high in fat and calories. The online medical resource Healthline® notes that white-fleshed fish, such cod and flounder; skinless, white-meat poultry; and pork loin or pork chops are some examples of lean, animal-based proteins.

What do the right proteins do for the body?

The right proteins are vital to a healthy lifestyle. The USDA notes that the following are some of the many characteristics of lean proteins that make them healthy additions to anyone's diet.

•Nutrient-rich: Lean proteins supply the body with various nutrients, including B vitamins, vitamin E, iron, zinc, and magnesium. The B vitamins found in proteins help the body release energy and promote nervous system function. In addition, B vitamins found in protein aid in the formation of red blood cells and help build tissues. Iron carries oxygen to the blood, so the iron found in lean protein can help the body perform a vital function that can prevent fatigue and promote a strong immune system. The zinc in lean protein also helps ensure a properly functioning immune system.

• Healthy bones and muscles: Proteins are building blocks for and the second

bones, muscles, cartilage, skin, and blood. Proteins can help muscles recover after a workout, and low protein intake can make it harder for the body to absorb calcium, which is vital for bone strength. The body uses the magnesium in lean protein sources to build strong bones and release energy from muscles.

The right protein sources can benefit the body in myriad ways.
