AHS 2018 Senior Class President bids farewell

Over the past 13 years we have walked together down a path. Some have viewed this path as intimidating, while others have viewed it as just any other part of life. Which ever you fall under, it still leads to the same destination . . . graduation.

Here we are nearing the end of this path, many of us have been together since before kindergarten and now are getting ready to start all over again. We have not always been the closest, but as we approach the end of the path it becomes much narrower, bringing us closer together. We came into this together and we go out together.

There are many people who we have to thank for making us the successful students we have become. Some of us have Mrs. Streit to thank for giving us our great beginning. Then there was Mrs. Klein, Mrs. Henkel and Miss Anderson all the way back in kindergarten to Dinger and Scriv who have taught us many life lessons as we are about to enter in to the real world. All of the experience we have gained from not only our teachers, but also our parents and peers, has helped mold us into the members of society we are today.

We must now take all of what we have acquired and start our individual paths, whether it may be one of going to college and furthering your education or going straight into the workforce. As we each branch out and start our individual paths, we must not forget those who have been there with us. We have confidently walked through the halls of the Amboy school district for 13 years. Now, it is time that we take this confidence and take that first step onto a fresh path, the path to the rest of our lives.
