Kings school reunion committee, attendees donate to current teachers

When you go to school kindergarten through eighth grade together, you become a family'

KINGS — On Oct. 24, the committee that put together a reunion of Kings School alumni presented a donation of nearly $4,000 worth of classroom materials and funds to current teachers at Kings Elementary School.

The Kings School alumni picnic was held Aug. 27 and celebrated over 140 years of educating students. It was open to all current and former Kings School students or staff and their families. The event was held at the school and included food. memories and memorabilia from the school's history. Over 300 people attended and a donation account for the event was set up at Holcomb Bank. Leftover funds were planned to go to current Kingsteachers and students, and that donation was given Oct. 24.

KINGS: Items donated from reunion event

"It started with an idea last fall," Reunion Committee Member Dawn Hayenga Somers said. "Somebody said, 'You know, we should get together.' It was going to be just a few of us. To be quite honest, my brother turned 80 in March and I looked at him and thought that there's a lot of older people who aren't going to be around a whole lot longer that went to school at Kings and it's time we get them together. I'm into history and I'm writing up the history of White Rock and I've been writing the history of the school. It goes back almost 145 years. It was time we did something before we're too old to do anything. We started meeting in February and we met monthly and the little seed of an idea grew into 300 people showing up. We had over $6,000 in donations. By the time we got everything for the reunion paid for, we had almost $4,000 left."

Word of the reunion spread through Facebook and the group Remembering Kings Consolidated School.

"It was just phenomenal, the people that were interested in it," Hayenga Somers said. "We didn't charge. We just asked people to come and bring a dish to pass. We had so much food that it lined up the length of the gym and we couldn't even get it all out on the table. It was one big family picnic."

Donated materials Oct. 24

included tablets, art supplies and sports equipment. Teachers were also given money to spend for their classrooms at their discretion.

The Kings School Reunion Committee includes Hayenga

Somers, Becky and Homer Bailey, Deb Schiller, Deb Bruns Hahn, Dawn Peters Smith, Julie Tobler Mann, Sandy Adams Pelka & Rich Pelka, Becky Rowley Danner & Tim Danner, and Hal Hayes. Hayenga Somers and Schiller said the reunion saw attendees from across the United States.

"When you go to school kindergarten through eighth grade together, you become a family," Schiller said. "A lot of people told me, 'I wasn't going to miss this. I don't care if I go to my high school reunion, but I would not miss this.' People came from Texas, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Arizona. And people asked when we'd be doing it again."

Hayenga Somers said the committee was "knocked over" by the amount of people that attended the reunion, which filled the Kings gym. She believes the windfall of donations came in because people knew the leftover funds would go to support current teachers.

The committee asked Kings teachers for wish lists of up to about $300 per class, and the committee was able to buy everything that was on the wish lists.

"We just know funds are tight," Hayenga Somers said. "I've been on a school board in the past, and funding is tight and the teachers are having to provide a lot of things for their classrooms for the kids. And that's not from the reunion committee, that's from all the people that made the donations."

Peters Smith said that while a lot of the alumni of Kings School no longer live in the village, the support is still seen.

"Once you're a Kings person, you're always a Kings person," Peters Smith said.

Hayenga Somers said that small-town people coming together is a tradition at Kings and in the other communities with feeder schools to Rochelle. She enjoyed seeing those that came to the reunion and hopes current Kings students will have their own one day.

"They're rural communities and they support each other," Hayenga Somers said. "It's like when the tornado came through. You support your neighbor. There is no isolation. It's a family atmosphere. A lot of us have moved out of the Kings area. But this is still our home base and where we grew up. This is our family. It was nice seeing people from years ago. If anything, I wish that the kids here today have that kind of feeling. I'm hoping they come out of here with that. As a society, I don't know that that is as strong as it was 50 years ago. But it's definitely lasted with us."

To close the donation event on Oct. 24 following teachers receiving their new classroom materials and funds, Ed Rice spoke.

"I want to thank all of you teachers and leaders of kids for doing such a great job to keep light in this community," Rice said. "That's what you're doing, is keeping this community alive. Because if you're not here, there's not much left. Congratulations to you, and keep up the good work."

Teachers received nearly $4,000 worth of classroom materials and funds to spend at their discretion.

Each month, the Rock River Center has been very open to inviting to men and women from the Village to their monthly activities. And their calendar is filled with a variety of options, such as BINGO, trivia, billiards, craft projects, magic shows, seasonal choirs and school bands – the list could go on and on. It's in appreciation for the many opportunities the Rock River Center has created, and in appreciation for their enthusiasm and hospitality.

The Annual Banquet is more than a night of awards given and received. It's a night of thanks extended, and gratitude returned. And that is what makes it such a wonderful place to spend an evening.

Raptor Rehabilitation program Nov. 12 in Oregon

OREGON—Who hasn't felt a sense of amazement at the sight of a hawk or eagle soaring overhead or of wonder at the sound of an owl hooting in the darkness? Autumn is a good time to start watching for them and listening in the night.

Who has not wished to have them living near their home? What should we do if we find one that has been injured? Most people are not able to care for such a large, awe-inspiring bird.

Fortunately, there are people who do know how to take care of them and who are legally allowed to handle them: The Northern Illinois Raptor Rehab & Education Center. A professional from the center will present a program for the public sponsored by the Prairie Preservation Society of Ogle County.

Candy Ridlbauer, executive director of the Raptor Center, will bring seven live birds of prey, including a hawk, owl and falcons to illustrate their habits and rehabilitating them. There will also be displays for the audience to examine.

Join PPSOC for a close-up look at these exciting birds and learn how they are helped to return to their natural lives in the wild at this delightful program. Displays will enrich the experience.

If you want to learn more about these amazing birds, attend the Prairie Preservation Society's free fall program on Sunday, Nov. 12 at 2 p.m. at the Kickapoo Center, 1919 N. Limekiln Road, Oregon (just north of Illinois Route 64 and the fairgrounds between Oregon and Mt.

Light refreshments will be served after the program. Children are welcome if accompanied by an adult.

Oregon man arrested on warrant for possession of child pornography

Stubblefield, 32, of ru-

OREGON — An Oregon man was arrested recently for possession of child pornography, an Ogle County Sheriff's Office press release said. On Oct. 21, Ogle County Deputies arrested Kris ral Oregon on a warrant for possession of child pornography. The warrant arrest stemmed from a multi-month investigation by Ogle County detectives and a residential search warrant residence on Oct. 12. Ogle County detectives were assisted on this case by the Illinois State Police and the Illinois Attorney General's Office. Stubblefield was taken to the Ogle County Jail and was scheduled to have a detention hearing on Oct. 23.

August deaths in Oregon attributed to overdose

OREGON—Two deaths that occurred at a home in Oregon in August have been attributed to a drug overdose, an Oct. 20 Oregon Police Department press release said.

On Aug. 28 the Oregon Police Department responded to 807 Franklin St. for a check welfare. Entry was made by Oregon officers and a check of the house was done. Officers located two deceased subjects identified as Philip Bausone, 50, and Becki Bausone, 54, both residents of this location. At that time, the Oregon Police Department, with the help of the Ogle County Sheriff's Office and the Illinois State Police, began an investigation into the deaths.

After awaiting toxicology reports and notifications to family, the Oregon Police Department in consultation with the Ogle County Coroner's Office found the deaths to be attributed to a drug overdose. There was no other evidence of contributing factors to the deaths of the Bausones and the investigation is closed.

The Oregon Police Department would like to thank the Ogle County Sheriff's Office, Ogle County Coroner's Office and the Illinois State Police for their assistance in this investigation.

* On Nov. 14, 1851, Herman Melville's epic novel "Moby-Dick," about peg-legged Captain Ahab's obsessive search for vengeance on the white whale that maimed him, made its debut in the U.S. Published to mixed reviews, it was a commercial failure and achieved its present standing as a Great American Novel only after the centennial of Melville's birth.

* On Nov. 15, 1956, the movie "Love Me Tender," a black-and-white musical Western starring the King of Rock and Roll, Elvis Presley, was released. Named after Presley's hit single, it was his only film that did not place him in top billing, as it was also his debut. The singer later regretted making the film, though he'd expressed a serious interest in acting,

A carpet was laid down for her to walk on to Westminster Abbey, and people cut out pieces as mementos of the day. Her reign, which lasted 45 years until her death at age 69 from what was likely pneumonia, is remembered as a "Golden Age" in British history.

* On Nov. 18, 2015, New Zealand rugby union football player Jonah Lomu, who was perhaps rugby's first global icon, died of a heart attack at age 40 after a long battle with kidney disease.

EPORTS, polls, fake news, real news it's an endless barrage of information; the new world we live in. Whatever happened to Walter Cronkite, David Brinkley and Chet Huntley giving us the news without all the ideological babble and political satire? Just the news, and let me decide how I want to interpret it, thank you. Now it's just talking heads trying to get inside my head telling me what to think.

So moving ahead lets again go to the report, this time centered on agriculture. I'll let you process the information as you

September's World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates, is the first of the season to incorporate objective yield plot results for corn and soybeans as collected for the National Agricultural Statistics Service's (NASS) Crop Production report.

Corn

For the 2023/24 marketing year that started Sept. 1, USDA indicates that corn farmers planted 772,000 more acres of corn than what was reported in the June 30 Acreage report, pushing corn area planted to 94.9 million acres, up 7.1% compared to 2022.

As expected, yield projections decreased by 1.3 bushels per acre from August's report to 173.8 bushels per acre, falling 0.74%. Despite poor crop conditions — the lowest rating of good-to-excellent corn for this point in the season since 2012 overall yield is still currently projected to be the fifth-highest on record. In the objective yield surveys, NASS found that there were a record number of ears per acre in the fields. So, despite tough conditions making smaller ears and less kernels per ear, yields are being buoyed by record-high ear counts.

Overall U.S. corn production is forecasted to nudge up from the previous month, rising to 15.134 billion bushels (+0.15%, 23 million bushels), driven by the increase in acreage estimates.

On the demand side, projections for the 2023/24 U.S. corn crop were unchanged month-overmonth. The increase in 2023/24 production was offset slightly by a decrease in 2022/23 ending stocks caused by a month-over-month increase in old crop exports. Ending stocks were forecasted up 19 million bushels to 2.2 billion bushels

(+0.86%). With overall limited movement, the projected average farm price for corn remained the same at $4.90.

Beans

Projected yields for soybeans were also reduced for the 2023/24 marketing year, lowered by 0.8 bushels to 50.1 bushels per acre (-1.6%). The lower yields were slightly offset by a small increase in planted acres, but the extra acreage Ron Kern didn't make up the entire gap, which led to a projected reduction of 59 million bushels of soybean production, a 1.4% decrease from the August WASDE Projected 2023/24 domestic use

was also reduced, led by a drop of 1.9% in projected exports (35 million bushels) as compared to the August report. These factors, combined with a reduction in the old crop ending stocks led to one of the biggest surprises in this report. USDA projected a decrease in this year's ending stocks, which are estimated to end at 220 million bushels, a 10.2% reduction monthover-month and 12% lower than 2022 estimates. That leaves the soybean market on track to have a 5.2% stock-to-use ratio, which would be the lowest since 2015. The projected 2023/24 average farm price was projected at $12.90. This represents a 20-cent increase over the August report, and an 80cent increase since the first estimate in May. Despite these increases, this projection is still down $1.30 (3.2%) in comparison to the 2022/23 season.

Despite these slightly bullish adjustments, futures markets responded negatively with the November contract closing at $13.46 per bushel on the day of the release. or down 22 cents. This may be in response to the fact that Brazil, the biggest competitor to U.S. soy production, is expected to have another monster corn and soybean crop coming down the pipe.

Cattle

On the livestock side, a fresh set of USDA supply/demand estimates lowered production forecasts for beef, pork, and poultry in 2023. Overall, changes made in this report slightly reduced both supply and demand forecasts for red meat and poultry. Total beef supplies for 2023 were reduced by 1.1 million pounds from 2022 or 3.5%. Lower cattle supplies from continued herd liquidation are largely responsible for this change. Beef demand for 2023 is reduced by 551 million pounds or about 2%. USDA increased third quarter steer price projections by $5 per cwt to $179.02, or 2% from August, and by another $6 per cwt, or 3%, from August, in quarter four. 2024 beef demand was reduced by 1.6 million pounds, or 6%, from 27.6 million pounds in 2023 to 25.9 million pounds in 2024. This likely reflects an expected change in consumer preference in 2024 in response to higher beef prices.

Pork

Pork production was lowered slightly from 2022 mostly due to lighter than expected carcass weights and slowed slaughter pace. Demand for pork is projected to increase slightly by 55,000 pounds. Pork exports were lowered by 125,000 pounds, or about 2% from August, but remain 7% higher than 2022. Mexico is currently the leading importer of U.S. pork in 2023 with 446.1 thousand metric tons in export sales accumulated as of Sept. 8, 2023.

Poultry

2023 broiler production and demand estimates were both reduced slightly from August. 2023 production was estimated at 46.19 billion pounds, down slightly from August and 483 million pounds, or about 1%, below 2022. Demand was estimated to be 39.06 billion pounds, down only slightly from August or 2% below 2022. Price projections reflect the drop in demand. USDA estimates prices for the second half of 2023 to average $1.145 per pound, about 13% lower than the second half of 2022.

USDA projects egg prices to increase by 3 cents per dozen in quarter three, and by an additional 21 cents per dozen in quarter four. These price increases come from a 57.5-million-dozen decrease in production from hatchery data. While fourth quarter prices are projected to increase, the $1.60 estimate is 257% lower than the $4.11 per dozen prices in the fourth quarter of 2022.

Ron Kern is the manager of the Ogle County Farm Bureau.

Court actors must implement SAFE-T Act for crime survivors

N mid-September, Illinois will move one step further in the pursuit of justice by exchanging risk for wealth as a determinant of safety when making pretrial release decisions. As someone with 25 years of experience as an advocate for survivors, most spent working in our federal criminal legal system that has long operated without money bail, I know risk-based decision making can keep survivors of gender-based violence and the public safe.

Since the Pretrial Fairness Act was passed in 2021, opponents have used fearmongering and misinformation to derail its success. Over recent months, it has become clear that some public officials are still not ready for this new system, nor are they doing enough to prepare for these changes. We routinely saw survivors used as pawns during the political debate over this bill, and sadly that continues. Misinformation continues to come from state's attorneys themselves or their allies in law enforcement who oppose the law. In a recent story published by WGLT, McLean County State's Attorney Erika Reynolds falsely claimed that some people charged with domestic violence couldn't be jailed under the new law. In fact, all people charged with domestic violence, both as a misdemeanor or felony, can be held in jail pretrial when there are public safety concerns. No one charged with an offense of domestic violence will be released without a hearing. Notice to survivors, along with an offer to petition for a domestic violence order of protection, is required before an initial hearing. These are all powers given to states' attorneys to keep survivors safe and informed of all their options at each stage of their case.

The Pretrial Fairness Act will be implemented Sept. 18 after years of advocacy by organizations combatting gender-based violence. Our community specifically drafted provisions in the law to require notice from states' attorneys' offices to victims ahead of the initial hearings, when that hearing was previously exempted from the list of hearings requiring victim notification by states attorneys. We also drafted language to ensure offenses like sex crimes, trafficking and domestic violence are on the list of offenses that require police, prosecutors and judges to take extra time with these cases. With more time, survivor safety will be at the forefront of every decision, rather than having cases moved as quickly as possible. We also worked to ensure that all states' attorneys must file a petition to detain a defendant for any violation of protective order, knowing the potential lethality and safety issues at play when a protective order is violated These are the critical provisions that, coupled with the end of wealth-based incarceration, will create a more survivor-centered pretrial system. The time has come to ensure our court actors understand the law and will fully implement this law to protect survivors. Any failure to implement — including notice to survivors of initial hearings, provision of a protective order when requested, or completion of a risk assessment when needed — will put individual survivors and communities at greater risk for repeated harm. By reducing pretrial jailing for most offenses, court actors can finally turn their attention to where it should be: on higher level offenses like domestic violence and sexual assault that affect public safety and survivors.

When our elected officials and law enforcement perpetuate misinformation about the law, they put survivors at risk by misstating their rights under this new system. Survivors deserve to know how exactly their county state's attorney and local law enforcement will enforce the new law, and ensure it upholds public safety for all people. It is imperative we set aside political differences and implement the law correctly so all survivors across Illinois can get the rights and opportunities afforded to them under the SAFE-T Act.

Illinois should be proud to be the first state in the country to abolish money bail, and center survivor-centered practices into its pretrial system. We call on states' attorneys and law enforcement to join us to prepare our communities and survivors for this new and improved system.

A sense of trust returns Oregon football to playoffs for first time since 2014

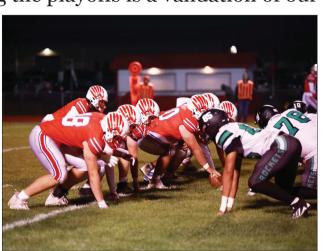

'Making the playoffs is a validation of our hard work and sticking together as a team'

BY GEORGE HOWE

CORRESPONDENT

OREGON — Faith and trust are important virtues, and belief ties them all together. Oregon High School Head Football Coach Broc Kundert understood that when he took the job two years ago. The program had been wallowing in mediocrity for almost a decade, averaging three wins and not advancing to the playoffs since 2014. That all changed on Oct. 20, as the Hawks (5-4) finished regular season play with a resounding 48-13 victory over Rockford Christian, punching their ticket to the postseason. As of this writing, their firstround playoff opponent is Durand/ Pecatonica (7-2) which takes place on Oct. 28.

Kundert and his staff started laying the groundwork for a new direction last season, but like many fresh beginnings, there were a few bumps in the road as the team finished 2-7 in Big Northern Conference play. Despite the record, Kundert saw improvement and preached patience.

"I asked all of my players to trust the process and have faith that the hard work will eventually produce good results," Kundert said.

Kundert came over from Freeport Aquin, a school with a rich tradition of sustained winning seasons and feels like that has also played into the rise of the program.

"Having success somewhere else has given me credibility with the team which is another component of building a winner every season," Kundert said.
"I truly believe that the kids have to like and respect you to really get the most out of them."

Kundert can attribute some of this season's accomplishments thanks to the hard work put in all summer especially in the weight room.

"We had high expectations in the weight room and that's where the intensity side of things come out," Kundert said. "It's one place where we can get after it and fail which is a good thing knowing that we are putting in the work."

Kundert prefers laidback practices allowing music to be played in the background and wants things fun.

"I'm not a yeller or screamer. I get my point across, when need be," Kundert said. "Acting like a drill sergeant isn't a good way to reboot a program in my opinion."

Junior star running back Logan Weems finished the regular season rushing for 1,009 yards

The community is excited to once again have a football team to get behind and it hasn't been lost on the team.

"I've gotten messages from people that I don't even know sending congratulations and best wishes," Kundert

"I'm walking down the street with my football jersey on, and people stop me and say good luck," Weems said. "It's been fun.'

Byron School District opens new pickleball courts

The Byron School District officially opened its new pickleball courts Tuesday, Oct. 17 with a brief ribbon-cutting ceremony. The new courts were part of the 2023 summer capital projects to update and maintain several areas within the facilities. The existing tennis courts were a safety concern and the decision to transform some of them to pickleball courts came from the district's physical education curriculum and a growing community interest in the sport. For five consecutive years, pickleball has been the fastest-growing sport in the United States. Pictured above are several representatives of Byron School District and Byron Park District, along with local members of the pickleball community. The last remaining summer project for the district is the completion of the Sunderman Theatre renovations at Byron High School. The district is planning another ceremony to celebrate the reopening of the updated theatre space later this year.

'I'm extremely proud of our team today'

BY ANDY COLBERT

DEKALB — After losing four straight games in September, the Northern Illinois football team has found its stride with its third-straight win in October. A hard-fought 20-13 victory over Eastern Michigan (4-4, 2-2) moved the Huskies to 3-1 in the western division of Mid-American conference behind Toledo.

"It takes a lot of energy to dig out of a slump," NIU Coach Thomas Hammock said. "I'm extremely proud of our team today."

EMU led 13-10 going into the fourth quarter with Kanon Woodill kicking a field goal to tie the game for the Huskies. The rest of the quarter was a backand-forth affair before quarterback Rocky Lombardi and wide receiver Grayson Barnes connected on the play of the game.

With 1:27 left and facing third-and-long in their and Barnes hooked up on a pressure-packed 26-yard reception. So confident was EMU in getting the ball back that they called a timeout beforehand.

"Rocky made a suggestion," Hammock said. "We went with his play and it was a phenomenal catch by Grayson."

With an Eagle defender in perfect position, Barnes caught the ball under duress

"He couldn't have put it in a better spot," said Barnes of Lombardi's pass.

Lombardi, a transfer from Michigan State, is highly favored by the Huskie coaching staff and given more latitude than what is commonly seen in D-I ball.

"At any other college, they may not put that kind of faith in a quarterback calling a play," Lombardi said. "Coaches' jobs are on the line."

Gavin Williams, who had a big game last week outside for 33 yards to the two-yard line. Lombardi took knees on the next two plays to force EMU to burn timeouts before scoring the winning touchdown with one minute left.

"Rocky managed that drive with precision," Hammock said. "He's a winner and extremely smart."

Huskie lineman Devonte O'Malley intercepted a batted-down pass to close the game out for NIU.

With a northerly wind of 21 miles per hour and penalties plaguing both teams (combined 15-163 yards), the final outcome was always in question. The deciding factor proved to be Lombardi's leadership.

"What I learned at Baltimore (Ravens) was that a head coach has to have a relationship with his quarterback," Hammock said. "Rocky put his faith with us when he came over from Michigan State. This is a player's game and he's been honest with us."

The First National Bank in Amboy hosts coloring contest at Monroe Center branch

MONROE CENTER — The First National Bank in Amboy has been hosting a coloring contest this month at its Monroe Center branch. Starting Oct. 2, kids ages preschool through eighth grade were able to enter the coloring contest through Oct. 27.

Categories for judging will be preschool-kindergarten, first grade-second grade, third-fifth grade and sixth-eighth grade. First, second and third-place prizes will be awarded for each category. First prize will include $25. Judging is Oct. 30.

"This has been fun to do and see the pictures the kids have colored," Loan Officer and Universal Banker Toni L. Pierce said. "We have had entries from Rochelle schools, Stillman Valley schools and local preschools along with Double O, Cruisin and MCTap having coloring pages for their young patrons to color. We have had 353 coloring pages returned to us for judging that will take place on Oct. 30. We have enjoyed seeing the different artists versions come in and our customers have enjoyed our new (but temporary) décor, too! We are already planning for next year's coloring contest! All 6 Ogle County schools make the football playoffs

Andy Colbert

THE IHSA football playoffs start later this week and the anticipation leading up to announcement of the pairings can be just as exciting. A few years ago, excessive hits on the IHSA website the Saturday night of the pairings caused it to crash.

Unlike other IHSA sports with pre-arranged seedings, classification and post-season schedules, football does not reveal this information until the regular season is over. The build-up is felt all over the state.

To compound this, the smallest of matters can completely change outcomes. Just ask Forreston and Sterling Newman, whose fortunes were changed dramatically by a simple coin flip.

That is a good place to start in analyzing the brackets for local qualifiers.

Since both teams (7-2) were tied as No. 7 seed in 1A when it came to playoff points based upon opponents' wins (41) and defeated opponents' wins (25), a coin flip was the only way to break the tie. The only time this can happen is if two teams are in the same classification and it is rare when it does.

Since Newman won the virtual toss, they stayed at No.7 and Forreston dropped to No. 8. That slotted the Comets away from the side of the bracket that powerhouse Lena-Winslow is in.

Meanwhile, should Forreston they beat Ottawa Marquette, they will see Le-Win in the second round. Considering that Forreston was beaten by Le-Win 36-8 a few days ago, losing that coin flip was a real downer. The positive for Forreston is that they are 3-0 in the playoffs against Marquette and they were also the last school to beat Lena-Winslow (2021)

Newman, which has had plenty of success in 2A, has a much easier road. To reach the third round, they need only to get by teams from a relatively-weak Lincoln Trail-Prairieland conference.

It does get tougher with suburban wildcards Aurora Christian and Chicago Hope as possible quarterfinal opponents. AC had been a 3A power under Don Beebe, but have regressed in the past decade. Hope, which has plenty of athleticism, has never been able to match up physically with northwest Illinois rural Thus, Newman's path to the semifinal is much easier than Forreston's. No. 12 seed Oregon (5-4) is back in the playoffs for the first time since 2014 and got a favorable draw in 3A. They make a short drive to No. 5 Pecatonica (7-2) in an intriguing matchup of the Big Northern vs Northwest Upstate Illini, with this game considered a toss-up.

The last time Oregon played at Pecatonica was when both were in the Mid-Northern conference (1972-91), along with Mt. Morris, which is now part of the Oregon district.

Look for a large crowd at Pec, as Oregon has been hungry to get back in the playoffs. Back in the early 2000s when the Hawks were making playoff runs, they would often outnumber the home team's fan

Stillman Valley (5-4), a team Oregon thumped in its best performance of the year, would likely be the round two opponent and a home game for the Hawks, should Oregon beat Du-Pec. However, SV is more playoff-tested than Oregon and should provide a stiffer challenge than they did in a 28-7 loss in week six.

The overwhelming favorite in 3A is Byron, though Lombard Montini could prove to be a worthy challenger in the semis. Like Aurora Christian, Montini doesn't have the same star power as it used to For the first time since 2005, all six schools in Ogle County made the playoffs, with Rochelle getting a worse draw than Forreston. The 7-2 Hubs, who won their first conference title since 2004 by beating highly-regarded Richmond-Burton, are bracketed in the 5A first round against Wheaton St. Francis.

Not only do they have to go on the road as a No. 9 seed, but Rochelle faces one of the top suburban private schools with an elite quarterback. The Hubs would have fared much better in 4A, instead of the second-smallest school in 5A.

Though eight-man football is not part of the IHSA football playoffs, a similar formula is used to determine the final 16 qualifiers. However, rather than break up the brackets into north and south like the IHSA does with 1A through 6A, eight-man goes statewide, which is far more equitable Amboy (9-0), which took second in the state last year and returned nearly their entire starting line-up, is the favorite to win it all, though the Clippers are No. 2 seed to Champaign St. Thomas More.

A potential second-round rematch with local interest is No. 3 Milledgeville (8-1) vs. No. 6 Polo (7-2). In the regular season, the Missiles jumped on Polo early in a romp and will again be favored.

However, Polo has more playoff experience than anyone in eightman and has kept every game close.
