CLINTON - A community solar project could soon come to Clinton, and city commissioners recently received a brief on the plan from developers.

Zachary Farkus and attorney Ben Jacobi, of Rewild Renewables, laid out details of the plan Feb. 10 for the city council. Their company currently is in talks with local land owners about a potential location for the solar facility.

"I worked over the summer with former city administrator Taylor Baxter," Farkus said. "Obviously, he has moved on, and there has been a bit of a lull in communications, so I've been working with attorney (John) Hoblit and the city clerk over the past two weeks or so."

Rewild specializes in community solar projects that range from 20-40 acres in size. Rewild also has projects in Maine, Massachusetts, West Virginia, Chile and Kenya.

"Illinois first opened up a community solar program in 2016," Farkus said. "It was materially revised in 2021, and that's the form of the program the state is overseeing today." About 1,000 community solar projects have been built in Illinois under the program. One is currently under construction south of Maroa. "A lot of these projects have now been built, and communities have experience with how they have been installed, operated and decommissioned, etc.," Farkus said.

While the organization's primary focus is on local commerce, its impact extends far beyond business owners-positively affecting employees, families, and the entire community. Myers retires from Liberty Village CLINTON On February 5. Diane Myers celebrated retirement after working as а housekeeper for Liberty Village of Clinton for 16 years.

During her time with Liberty Village, Diane was dedicated, hardworking and always focused hard on, not only doing her job, but doing her job well, reported Liberty Village supervisors.

"Diane always had a positive attitude and you would never see her without a friendly smile; she was a joy to be around and work with. Diane was loved by her residents and is already missed by the residents, families and her coworkers," they said. In Diane's spare time she enjoys sewing and

Coca-Cola collecting items. "When asked about how she planned to spend her retirement, she told us that she would be doing something she loves doing, spending more time with her

Farkus said three important elements of established a community solar project were an interested land owner interested in using lowproduction land for such a project, access to existing electrical infrastructure and an "entitlement path of purpose."

The properties under consideration for the solar project lie outside the Clinton city limits. Developers could ask the city or county governments to eventually take jurisdiction over the facility.

"We're here to ask, is the city interested in taking jurisdiction over the project," Farkus asked.

He said he felt it was important to first approach the city.

The city would take control of the project under an annexation agreement,

"Right now we're looking at parcels, we're looking at feasibility," Farkus said. "So, before I go spending a lot of money, I want to know what the preferred path is."

Clinton City Council public discussions about solar energy have been few, but members of the DeWitt County Board have been vocal in their opposition to solar as well as wind energy.

Some city commissioners expressed concern about the possible use of one of the tracts of land for the project but were open about Rewild's use of the remaining two tracts for the project.

Welcome to my little corner of culinary delights. Certain questions about me have come up. I will try and answer a few.

I have been asked how I know so much about culinary. I am not sure how to answer.

I worked with cooks and chefs at conventions since a teenager. I made and sold baked goods when in high school. Much later, I took college courses on it. I constantly study the subject and seek to improve upon what I learn. I like sharing this with those interested. We all need to feel needed and wanted. I enjoyed this part of my life.

Relating this to one of my granddaughters, she immerses herself in Pokémon to the extent of knowing all of their names, characteristics, etc. It is difficult to get her attention outside of asking her about Pokémon. Culinary is my Pokémon.

The extent of my involvement with church activities has been asked. If there is a fundraiser, I am not necessarily involved. Committees run the church and they decide who does what. Part of being a

Me and cooking church is to socialize and find ways to work together and accomplish. It is a sharing. This does not necessarily leave room for a chef.

A chef would not tolerate camaraderie in the kitchen or define cooking as a social activity. Cooking is a serious science to a chef. Be that as it may, I have learned from different members. On the other hand, I was not hampered in freely creating and performing when doing the men's breakfasts.

A chef is most careful to work under conditions to suit their expectations. Their need is to have the freedom to do what they know is best. A church function is to serve a charitable cause. It also serves as a blessing to the congregation in fostering a family type atmosphere. A chef is not needed for that. A chef will work with those not as well educated in culinary provided those persons have enough humility to recognize their limitations. A chef would find it difficult to work with non-professionals who wish to run things only their way.

When I worked in engineering for General

Electric, jokes circulated joke went like this: "Do you know how to torture an engineer? Tie him to a chair and make him watch wrong." Another was: "If you ask an engineer the time, he will proceed to tell about engineers.

you how to build a watch." For a chef, you can have a joke like this; "Do you know how to upset a chef? Do not fold but stir a Mousse in front of him."

It is difficult for a chef to restrain him or herself from correcting mistakes being made in the kitchen. Be that as it may, this does not mean the chef knows everything. I have learned much when cooking with others. Always be humble enough to learn.

Until next time, peace to all.

HISTORY ALMANAC

1932 - William N. Goodwin patented the camera exposure meter.

1945 - "The Lion and the Mouse" was first broadcast on "Brownstone Theatre."

1947 - Edwin Land demonstrated the Polaroid Land Camera to the Optical Society of America in New York City. It was the first camera to take, develop and print a picture on photo paper all in about 60 seconds. The photos were black and white. The camera went on sale the following year.

1965 - Malcolm X was assassinated in New York City at the age of 39 by assassins identified as Black Muslims.

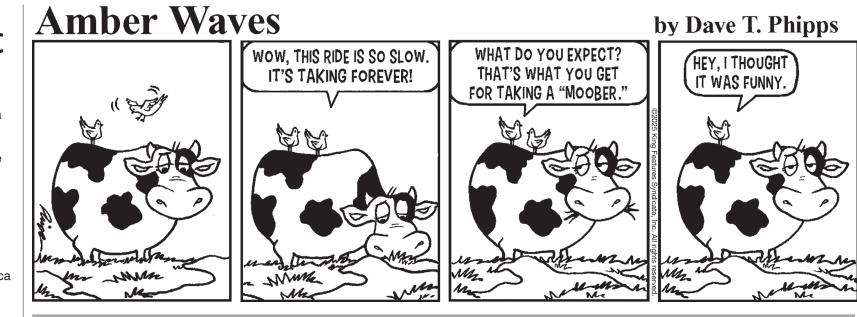

1968 - An agreement between baseball plavers and club owners increased the minimum salary for major league players to $10,000 a year.

1973 - Israeli fighter planes shot down a Libyan Airlines jet over the Sinai Desert. More than 100 people were killed.

1975 - Former U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell and former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman were sentenced to 2 1/2 to 8 years in prison for their roles in the Watergate cover-up.

1988 - In Baton Rouge, LA, TV evangelist Jimmy Swaggart confessed to his congregation that he was guilty of an unspecified sin. He announced that he was leaving the pulpit temporarily. Swaggart had been linked to an admitted prostitute.

1989 - U.S. President George H.W. Bush called

Overdriving the headlights

Some people have remarked that I drive slower at night than many others. That may well be true. It goes back to my father, who really did not like to have to repair damage caused by his son.

Dinging the family car was one thing that could rapidly bring his wrath on my teenage head. Especially for avoidable accidents. He stressed "do not overdrive your headlights." He wanted me to have enough time to react to any road hazard that occurred. I n DeWitt County, and especially where I live, deer have decided that the road is their private trail and cars will yield to them. If you see the deer, you can avoid the problem. It's a lesson I have taken to heart, even though I have hit a few deer that jumped in from the side.

Today, Trump wants to rapidly enact his political agenda. Striking while the iron is hot is another phrase that has great meaning in politics. Every media source out there is talking about how fast Trump is moving. Pollster Frank Luntz was on CNN recently to discuss this issue.

His comments were that Democrats as well as Republicans were pleased with the actions taken by the Trump administration to curtail waste in government. The constituents may not like Trump's verbage, but they strongly supported his actions. Those comments are telling on the current political environment. Add to this, the comments of Democratic strategist James Carville who is telling Democrats to back off and let Trump run his course until he messes up and you have an idea of where the nation is.

Carville's comments essentially reflect my Dad's advice. Trump and Musk are in overdrive to cut anything that they might perceive as waste. Now, Trump and Musk are businessmen who have terminated their fair share of employees and ventures. That is business. If you make a mistake and fire the wrong guy you can always bring him back or hire someone else. The problem with their approach is that we are dealing with government and not a business.

Yes, government can be served by implementing many business models, but government is not run for profit. Government is there to provide an infrastructure and safety for the greater community. Efficiency and delivery of services is the key to government, not profit and loss models. The public wants roads that support the weight of business and they want safety that is secured by a strong military.

Recently, DOGE appears to be overdriving its headlights. They cut a lot of nuclear inspectors that supervise the military's nuclear ordinance. DOGE was also looking at cutting the training site for those who train to be air traffic controllers.

We have to have our nuclear weapons secured, and we certainly need trained air traffic controllers. Also, soon to be reviewed by DOGE is the Pentagon and the Farm Bill. Will they find waste in both reviews? Absolutely. The key is to not throw the baby out with the bathwater. Cutting appears to be the goal at present and we forget the needs of the public for governmental services.

DOGE needs to continue as it appears to be the best means of eradicating waste. However, it may well benefit the nation if they drop down a gear or two so as to not overdrive their headlights and create a wreck.

CLINTON MAYOR-City of Clinton residents, it is time to start reviewing the candidates to complete Roger Cyrlulik's term as mayor of Clinton.

Six candidates have filed for the office. WHOW will hold a candidate forum at the high school on March 19 at 6 p.m. The Vespasian Warner Library will hold a meet and greet with the candidates on March 5 at 6 p.m.

I admit that I do not live in the City of Clinton, but what happens in Clinton affects the entire county. Of the six running, I must also confess that three did not hit my memory when I saw their names. As of this writing, the only candidate who has signs out there is Helen Michelassi, who I do know.

Acquaint yourselves with these candidates and ask them how they plan to conduct business as mayor of Clinton. Attend one or both of the meetings listed and get to know the candidates.

Richard Koritz is an Illinois native, attorney and former DeWitt County State's Attorney.

Ayatollah Khomeini's death warrant against "Satanic Verses" author Salman Rushdie "deeply offensive to the norms of civilized behavior."

1995 - Chicago stockbroker Steve Fossett became the first person to fly solo across the Pacific Ocean in a balloon. He landed in Leader, Saskatchewan, Canada.

2000 - David Letterman returned to his Late Night show about five weeks after having an emergency quintuple heart bypass operation.

2019 - At Cape Canaveral, FL, SpacelL launched their Beresheet proble. It was the first privately funded mission to the Moon. The probe crash-landed on the Moon on April 11.

OPINION / COLUMNS

Are you age 70 or older but not yet receiving benefits?

Selena Higgins

Social Security district manager, Normal

Retirement is not onesize-fits-all. It can mean different things to different people.

Perhaps you have not applied for Social Security retirement benefits because you're still working or are delaying applying so you can get a higher benefit. If you're age 70 or older, you should apply now for the benefits you're owed. Your benefits will not increase if you continue to delay applying for them because you are 70 or older.

Did you know that you can receive benefits even if you still work? Your earnings can increase your monthly benefit amount – even after you start receiving benefits. Each year that you work, we check your earnings record. It's possible your latest year of earnings is one of your highest 35 years. If so, we will automatically recalculate your benefit amount and pay you any increase due.

The best and easiest way to apply for your benefits is with a personal my Social Security account. You can create your free account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount.

Once you create your account, you can get an estimate of how much you might receive each month based on when you want to start receiving benefits and then apply.

In your account, you can also:

• A c c e s s publications – like our fact sheet for workers ages 70 and up at www.

ssa.gov/myaccount/ assets/materials/workers-70andup.pdf.

• Learn about benefits for your spouse and family members.

• Manage your benefits once you start receiving them.

We're here to help you secure today and tomorrow and we invite you to learn more about applying for retirement benefits at www.ssa.gov/ apply. Please share this information with those who need it.

What is the difference between oligarchy and plutocracy?

Loosely speaking, one can say our nation was conceived through a plutocracy. Plutocracy is rule by the wealthy. In a way, that has a capitalistic flavor to it.

As I wrote earlier, our founding fathers were influential thanks to their wealth. Today, not very many are able to overrule big business. Those able to afford good lawyers generally win law suits. The wealthy can afford the best doctors, pay for the best security and afford the best educations.

Tell me of any politician who can win without adequate campaign funds. How many billions did Elon Musk pay for his communications base Twitter to help in Trump's election? How many millions more followed? Harris had to raise millions for her campaign.

Political campaigning has changed dramatically since the time Abraham Lincoln gave talks on town squares. Money now seems to rule effectively to make it a plutocracy. But, we still have a democracy, notwithstanding. But a democracy, with all its faults, streaks ahead of oligarchy, tyranny, dictatorship, authoritarianism and the rest.

Oligarchy is not actually a form of government as much as it is an element of one. A dictatorial government must have its allies. Oligarchs are individuals who are allowed by the dictator to have a monopolizing business. The types of businesses offered are essential for the government, such as steel mills, petroleum, power stations, armaments, etc. Control over regulations, such as food productions and licensing, is also helpful.

In this way, no individual oligarch can take control of the government, but the government has full control over them. Therefore, oligarchs are required to finance the government or they are replaced.

Plutocracy is formed but oligarchies are created. That difference alone determines how the government is controlled.

Some claim that, due to Elon

Musk's given control over certain elements of government means we have an oligarchy. I say no.

Elon Musk is not controlled by Trump and certainly does not see himself as subordinate to Trump. Musk has billions, no thanks to Trump. Therefore, Trump owes him. He does not owe Trump. But he just might own Trump.

Trump is getting back some of his own medicine. I feel that Musk is using Trump just as Trump has used others.

Musk temporarily took illegal control of the U.S. Treasury and essentially hired teenagers, or very nearly, to root around in confidential files that contain people's social security numbers, bank account information and much more. He can now wreak havoc on any individual and/or group of private citizens.

In short, thanks to Trump, Elon Musk, unelected, unconfirmed and head of an unofficial department, can hold America hostage. Each of our lives now teeters on the edge of disaster orchestrated by one man's crusade to allegedly eliminate government fraud using an unknown set of criteria.

And, what is the MAGA congress men and woman doing about it? I strongly suggest that everyone write to their congressmen and ask. A Democrat offered a motion to bring Musk to the appropriations committee for questioning. Right away, the MAGA Republicans began protesting loudly. They voted to table the motion. Why? What is MAGA afraid of? This is serious.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Truly, these times of ignorance God overlooked, but now commands all men everywhere to repent, because He has appointed a day on which He will judge the world in righteousness by the Man whom He has ordained. He has given assurance of this to all by raising Him from the dead.

BRIDGE BITES

STUFF THAT DOESN'T HAPPEN

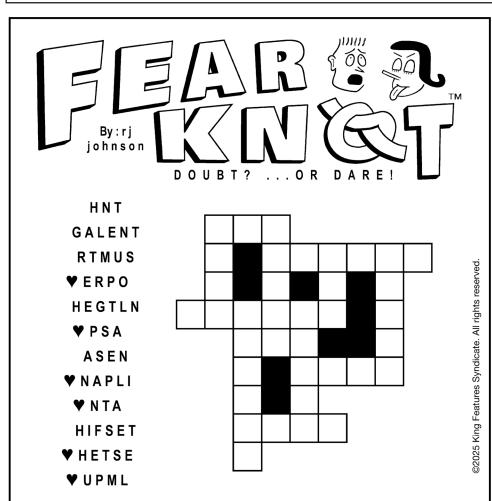

Last week, our astute Declarer remembered that his opponent had opened the bidding, sensibly deduced that said opponent must have the missing high cards, and then played the hand accordingly. This week's deal is a bit more difficult, as Declarer must be alert to something which did not happen!

	 ♦ 9542 ♥ QT32 ♦ K43 ♦ A4 		E-W Vulnerable West North East South Pass Pass Pass 1NT Pass 2 ቂ Pass 2 ቂ
 ♣ 86 ♥ K986 ♦ J952 ♣ JT8 	North West East Declarer ♠ QJT3 ♥ A75 ♦ AQ8 ♣ K97	 ▲ AK7 ♥ J4 ♦ T76 ▲ Q6532 	Pass 3€ Pass Pass Pass Pass Pass Pass N-S stumble into 4€ after a Stayman auction and West leads the €J. It looks like a simple enough hand, and so it is. Declarer loses two trumps and must avoid also losing two Heart tricks. How would you play the hand?

You win the first trick with the $\bigstar K$ and lead the $\bigstar Q$. East wins that, then cashes his second high Spade, and exits a Spade. You can cash some minor suit winners if you like but you already have all the information that you need to make the contract a virtual certainty.

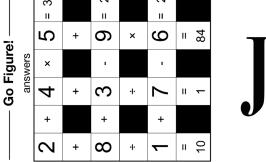

What was it which "did not happen"? That's right, East did not open the bidding! He has already shown up with the AK ... and West's lead of the J denied the Queen. That gives East 9 HCP, so surely he cannot also hold the K, that would be 12 HCP, and enough to open. So, you cash the A and lead low towards the board. West is an expert and nonchalantly plays low, perhaps while stifling a yawn. But you are having none of that malarkey! You confidently call for the Queen and it's 10 tricks for the good guys!

(ex. HAGNEC becomes CHANGE). Prepare to use only ONE word from any marked (♥) letter string as each unscrambles into more than one word (ex. ♥ RATHE becomes HATER or EARTH or HEART). Fit each string's word either across or down to knot all twelve strings together.

GO FIGURE!

APEL-SVILLE That progress is offering NANboth a blueprint and a source of hope for Illinois clean energy and environmental justice advocates as they try to keep the state's clean energy transition on track during a second Trump presidency.

Energy / from A1

"The state policy is designed to be responsive to a lack of federal climate leadership, to the need for Illinois to step up into a position of climate leadership," said Vote Solar deputy Midwest program director John Delurey, who added that since the 2024 election "I'm at the point where I can channel my existential dread into state-based action." Illinois lawmakers expanded on FEJA with the Climate & Equitable Jobs Act (CEJA) in 2021, and advocates expect another state energy bill in 2025 to prioritize energy storage and otherwise further clean energy goals, including planning for the mandatory closing of almost all fossil fuel generation by 2035. "With CEJA we've mapped out an ambitious climate plan, and we're in a strong position to further those goals even under a Trump administration," said Madeline Semanisin, Midwest equitable building decarbonization advocate for the Natural Resources Defense Council. "This is not the first Trump administration. States and cities are more prepared this time to accelerate initiatives at the state and city level."

That's not to say the state won't be affected by a president who is hostile toward clean energy policy. Several federal tax credits and grants that have helped accelerate progress in Illinois could be at risk under Trump, and a rollback of federal environmental regulations or enforcement could prolong pollution from coal ash, power plants and other sources.

James Gignac, Union of Concerned Scientists lead Midwest senior policy manager is on, it just makes it even more urgent that state legislators pass additional policies."

Tax credits and grants

Federal funds from the Inflation Reduction Act. Bipartisan Infrastructure Law and other federal programs have helped Illinois and individual cities and counties carry out their clean energy goals. Illinois was awarded more than $430 million in a Climate Pollution Reduction Grant for implementation of the state's goals on industrial decarbonization, clean energy, clean transportation and freight, climate-smart agriculture, and building energy efficiency.

Illinois was also awarded $156 million in federal Solar for All funds to bolster solar and equity goals including workforce training, residential solar deployment, and community engagement.

Illinois advocates and experts said they expect federal funds that have already been awarded to be paid out, and they don't expect the Trump administration and Republicandominated Congress to make major changes to the IRA or infrastructure law, especially given the financial impact those laws have had in Republicandominated areas.

"We have seen hundreds of thousands of dollars for small businesses and farmers" paid out through the federal Rural Energy for America Program (REAP), not to mention federal IRA funds, that "overall are benefitting Republican districts" during the Biden administration, noted Angela Xu, Illinois Environmental Council municipal engagement manager.

Even if new federal funding windfalls are not available in the future, advocates say the funds awarded during the Biden administration will have lasting impact, combined with state-level programs and funding sources that will states," he added. "There's no question if President Trump tries to cut back and constrain the IRA, it will have some impact on the pace of renewable energy development and other climate change solutions. On the other hand, it's very hard to keep better technology from growing. When new technologies come to the market and they are better and cleaner and economically sensible, they tend to accelerate and capture more market share."

Illinois Shines, the program creating lucrative Renewable Energy Credits for distributed solar, is funded through ratepayer payments — so it is not dependent on federal funding. That doesn't mean it is immune from federal action, since the federal Investment Tax Credit and the global solar market influence the viability of projects in Illinois.

"There are levers they can pull, through an act of Congress they can change the ITC, which is an important part of the value stack for renewables," said Delurey, of Trump and his allies in Congress. "And they could deploy tariffs which make the landscape a lot more complicated. The U.S., thanks to the IRA, is making its way towards onshoring and bringing a lot of manufacturing back stateside, but we're not quite there yet."

If the tax credit is reduced or solar panels get more expensive because of tariffs, Illinois's incentives "would probably have to be adjusted accordingly," Delurey said, with bigger incentives for each project.

"It would just mean fewer megawatts and kilowatts in Illinois. We'd still be deploying solar, but it is sensitive to the price of clean energy."

Environmental justice

Advocates agree that the Biden administration's Justice 40 mandate, that 40 percent 2025, Semanisin said. "Justice 40 is a framework we can incorporate in state legislation as well, to prioritize people who have been historically underserved."

During his first administration, Trump made significant rollbacks to coal plant wastewater protections, and to the 2015 federal rules governing the storage and cleanup of coal ash. Both are big issues in Illinois, where eight coal plants are still operating, and coal ash is stored in 76 ponds, landfills and other sites, according to an Earthjustice analysis.

Earthjustice senior attorney Jenny Cassel said experts anticipate Trump will again try to weaken the Clean Water Act and coal ash protections. Meanwhile it's likely the EPA under his administration will do little to enforce the coal ash regulations, which was largely the case before the Biden administration made coal ash a priority.

Illinois passed its own state coal ash rules in 2019, after lobbying by activists who wanted to make sure the rules were at least as strong as federal rules and covered legacy ponds not included in federal rules at the time. In 2024, the federal rules were expanded to cover legacy ponds as well as historic ash and coal ash landfills, but that provision is being challenged in federal court. The state rules do not cover ash historically dumped or scattered around, and they also do not cover inactive coal ash landfills.

Meanwhile the implementation of the Illinois coal ash law has been extremely slow. The law requires each site to get an operating permit with pollution limits that can then be enforced, but so far only two permits at one coal plant site have been issued, Cassel said.

"We keep hearing excuse after excuse" from the Illinois

LEGAL 20271 Feb. 21, 28, March 7, 2025 IS AN INVESTMENT!

Plan your advertising dollars wisely. Be sure to target your specific market to increase your sales.

We can help. The Clinton Journal 935-3171 for the Climate & Energy program, said he thinks of the state's clean energy outlook in terms of headwinds and tailwinds, which will continue to shift based on economic and political factors beyond the state's control. "States for many years have not been able to rely on the federal government for climate action, whether due to politics or the Supreme Court," Gignac said. "The election results will make it harder to achieve the goals that Illinois has established. It doesn't fundamentally change the energy policy path that the state continue, and market forces that are making clean energy increasingly competitive.

"President-elect Trump has indicated his intention to roll back IRA programs, but keep in mind that when President Trump was elected last time, he and the Republican-led Senate and House were hellbent publicly on rolling back Obamacare, and that didn't happen," said Environmental Law & Policy Center executive director Howard Learner.

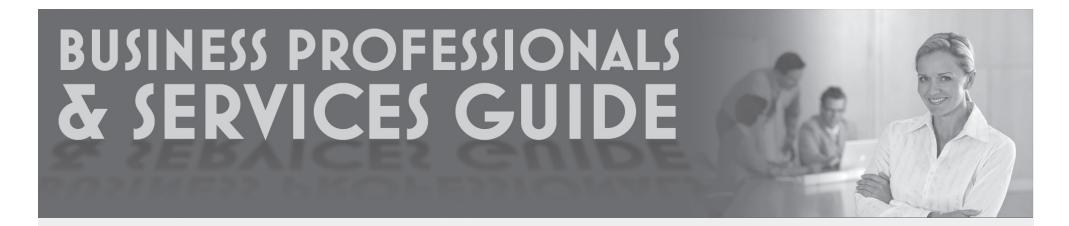

"The IRA has supported smart, sensible renewable energy development in red states and blue and purple of the benefits of many federal climate and other programs go to disadvantaged communities, is likely to be ended or ignored by the Trump administration.

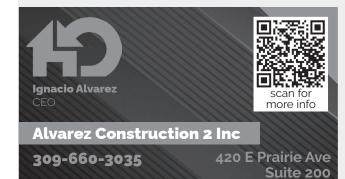

Lower-income and marginalized communities could also be affected by understaffing, delays or rollbacks in federal programs like LIHEAP, which provides energy bill assistance, and energy efficiency rebates for low-income households.

"We can put things in state legislation that supports these communities," including in the Illinois energy bill being drafted for introduction in EPA that issues the permits, Cassel said. "We don't have enough people, they're tied up in administrative hearings, conditions are changing,' every dog-ate-my-homework excuse in the book."

"At the federal level, there's any number of potential ways they could attempt to roll back the [coal ash] rules, or weaken areas that haven't been fully defined," she added. "That's certainly what they did in round one. Illinois will really have to step up into the vacuum of protectiveness we expect at the federal level."

Weather History

February 22

1994: Heavy snow fell across northern Illinois, beginning the afternoon of the 22nd and continuing into the next day. Snowfall totals included 9.6 inches at Moline, 9.3 inches at Rockford, 9.1 inches at Chicago, and 10 inches at Romeoville. Strong northeast winds caused considerable blowing and drifting of the snow.

February 23

2003: A short but intense snowstorm was noted across southern Illinois, as surface low pressure tracked from Arkansas to Kentucky. Between 5 and 7 inches of snow fell across Lawrence County, southward to a Carbondale to Carmi line. Visibility was less than one quarter mile during the heaviest snow bursts, and was accompanied by thunder and lightning in a few spots.
