Mendota is the recipient of a $3 million Illinois Transportation Enhancement Program Grant

☐ Funds to be used for development of a new pedestrian & bicycle pathway

MENDOTA — Governor JB Pritzker and the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) on May 21 announced $139.2 million in funding through the Illinois Transportation Enhancement Program (ITEP) to improve local travel options and enhance the quality of life in communities across the state. Among the 66 projects selected is a $3 million grant awarded to the City of Mendota for the development of a new pedestrian and bicycle pathway.

The Mendota project will create a safe and scenic walking and biking path connecting key points across the city—from the Amtrak train depot to the Lake Mendota sports fields and Lake Kakusha pier. Along the way, the path will include important stops at the Graves-Hume Public Library, the rear of Strouss Park, a crossing at Illinois Route 251, and the high school baseball field parking lot.

"This is a key element for our economic development strategy," said Emily McConville, Mendota's Economic "This is a key element for our economic development strategy. Governor Pritzker emphasized the importance of the initiative as part of the broader Rebuild Illinois infrastructure plan. "The Illinois Transportation Enhancement Program is a crucial part of Rebuild Illinois, helping make travel safer and more accessible in the communities that need it most," said Gov. Pritzker. "Today, I'm proud to announce the largest investment in the program's history, with more than $139 million going toward bike lanes, sidewalks, trails, and other local improvements. This is just one part of the state's larger effort to reverse decades of disinvestment and create more connected communities."

Arukah announces two new locations to expand rural mental health care

PRINCETON — Arukah Institute of Healing has announced the acquisition of two new buildings to expand and enhance mental health and substance use services throughout the region—526 Bureau Valley Parkway in Princeton (formerly Perry Plaza) and 4211 N. Columbus St. in Ottawa (formerly the LaSalle County Farm Bureau) will serve as new hubs for integrated care and support.

"These new spaces move us closer to Arukah's mission: Accessible. Relational. Holistic. Rural Care," said Dr. Sarah B. Scruggs, founder and CEO. "We're committed to delivering compassionate, local mental health and substance use care – for anyone, anywhere, anytime."

The Princeton location will house two major initiatives:

• Workforce Training Center — A professional, state-of-

• Workforce Training Center — A professional, state-ofthe-art training hub serving students from high school through doctoral levels. The center addresses a significant shortage in healthcare professionals, as the region has 2.5 times fewer mental and primary care providers than the national average. The facility aims to strengthen the rural workforce through training on rural soil, creating a stronger local economy and better care outcomes.

• Integrated Behavioral Health Center — A comprehensive walk-in treatment and recovery center designed to overcome common barriers like stigma and transportation. It brings together multiple layers of care, offering best-practice services that improve patient outcomes and provide a stronger support network for individuals and families.

The new Ottawa location will become a dedicated Child and Family Center. It will provide enhanced access to behavioral health services for children, parents, and families in the region. The center will offer a trusted space where families can seek care together and will also improve the Ottawa Living Room walk-in program. Over time, Arukah plans to expand psychiatric, counseling, crisis, and substance use services to meet the growing needs of the community.

"Arukah's expansion into Ottawa couldn't come at a better time," said Brent Roalson, former Ottawa chief of police and current Arukah board member. "I've seen firsthand how much this work matters – not just for individuals, but for families, schools and public safety. These new services will have a lasting, positive impact on our entire community."

"Arukah won't stop until every person can access the care they need," Dr. Scruggs added. "This if life-changing, life-saving work."

Master Gardeners conduct workshop on houseplant propagation

OGLESBY – The University of Illinois Master Gardener Program recently hosted an informative and engaging workshop on houseplant propagation at the Oglesby Public Library. The event, led by Master Gardener Cathy Flynn alongside Master Gardener Coordinator Bettyann Harrison, offered participants the opportunity to explore methods for creating new plants at no cost.

During the session, attendees learned about several propagation techniques, including stem, cane, leaf, and leaf bud cuttings. Additionally, the program covered plant division and rooting hormones to encourage successful growth. Each participant was given the opportunity to select a cutting, prepare it, and take home a new plant start. With these skills, participants gained the knowledge necessary to propagate a wide variety of houseplants and expand their indoor gardens.

"We're thrilled to share these propagation techniques with our community," said Bettyann Harrison, Master Gardener/Master Naturalist Coordinator. "Houseplant propagation is not only a cost-effective way to grow new plants, but it also connects people to the joy of gardening and sustainability."

The University of Illinois Master Gardener Program continues to offer educational opportunities for plant enthusiasts of all skill levels. Upcoming workshops will explore additional gardening topics, furthering the program's mission to educate and support local gardeners.

Summer electric price spike fuels policy tensions in Springfield By ANDREW ADAMS

Capitol News Illinois

SPRINGFIELD - Customers around Illinois will see significantly higher prices on their electric bills

The average residential customer of northern Illinois' Commonwealth Edison will pay about $10.60 per month more this summer, according to a company statement. Downstate Ameren Illinois customers, meanwhile, can expect an 18% to 22% increase in their monthly bill. Prices will likely decrease in October once winter electric rates go into effect.

Increasing energy prices are causing alarm among some consumer advocates and state policymakers, who worry that the long-term problems underlying the rising costs could lead to even higher prices or rolling blackouts.

Clara Summers, who advocates for consumer-friendly energy policy on behalf of the nonprofit Citizens Utility Board, said the ComEd price increases were for two reasons: increasing demand from data centers and large manufacturing as well as procedural issues slowing down new renewable projects.

CUB officials said the issues underlying Ameren's increase were similar, while noting that both were due in part to the way grid regulators structure pricing.

The price hikes are a major undercurrent of escalating tensions over a package of energy reforms making its way through Springfield as lawmakers race toward their scheduled May 31 adjournment.

"We're trying to keep prices low while combating climate change," Jen Walling, head of the Illinois Environmental Council, told Capitol News Illinois. The IEC has been heavily involved in advocating for parts of the bill.

In December, federal officials at the North American Electric Reliability Corporation—the nonprofit oversight agency for grid operators — designated the grid for central and southern Illinois as "high risk" for not having enough electricity to meet demand on hot days in the summer and cold days in the winter over the next five years. The grid that stretches from central Canada to the Mississippi river delta is the only power grid in the nation to have that designation, with much of its risk stemming from power plants closing.

Illinois' northern grid, which includes parts of 13 states and Washington, D.C. from Illinois to the east coast, faces "elevated" risk. That means extreme weather events are "likely" to cause shortfalls in energy reserves. The increased demand stems from data centers, increasing adoption of electric heat pumps and the rise of electric vehicles, according to NERC.

David Braun, an executive at the energy technology company Intelligent Generation, said demand on the electric grid is the highest it's been in the 30 years he's worked in the energy sector.

"We haven't seen this in a long time," Braun told Capitol News Illinois. "So, it's catching planners by surprise, and it takes a long time to build power plants.

Shrinking supply

That demand, according to NERC's December report, is coming at the same time supply is going down — increasing pressure on the grid.

Around the country, fossil fuel plants are closing as states move to limit their greenhouse gas emissions. While Illinois exports energy overall, plant closures elsewhere in the country can affect the price of energy, raising prices for Illinoisans. Grid operators nationwide, meanwhile, face yearslong red tape-induced backlogs on new renewables.

Downstate Illinois' grid might run out of energy reserves as soon as 2034, per NERC. Northern Illinois' grid has more reserves but will face decreased levels throughout the next decade. If nothing is done to either reduce demand or increase supply, this means prices could continue to increase or blackouts could become necessary to stabilize the grid.

To address these issues, lawmakers in Springfield are weighing sweeping energy legislation. The bill's proponents say its provisions to incentivize new developments are the only way to prevent serious problems without walking back the state's climate goals.

Republican critics contend that the main reason for the legislation is to fix problems with the 2021 Climate and Equitable Jobs Act. Gov. JB Pritzker's marquee climate policy, they say, is a major cause of the supply shortfalls because it requires fossil fuel-burning power plants to shut down by 2045.

Others say provisions aimed at reducing data centers' energy demands on the grid will hurt businesses in the state.

Lawmakers and advocacy groups are currently reviewing draft language for the bill, which has not been made public. Even with complex procedural maneuvering to avoid long-passed deadlines, lawmakers face a tight turnaround to reach an agreement before the legislative session

The process could have become more complicated, some suggest, after the U.S. House passed a wide-ranging bill that could drastically alter federal energy incentives if it becomes law.

Higher prices

Bills for customers of private electric utilities — most notably ComEd and Ameren will go up in June.

The increase was determined at two recent capacity auctions, which are how grid operators set energy prices for years into the future. High prices at these auctions can indicate low supply relative

PJM Interconnection, the grid operator for northern Illinois, saw a roughly eightfold jump in its most recent capacity auction compared to the year prior. Downstate's energy grid, Midcontinent Independent System Operator, or MISO, saw more than a 20-fold year-over-year price jump at its capacity auction in April.

Representatives of the state's two largest electric utilities stressed that these increases occurred beyond their purview.

'ComEd does not profit from this increase, was not part of the auction, does not supply capacity, and does not retain any proceeds of the capacity charge payments," ComEd spokesperson John Schoen said in a statement.

An Ameren spokesperson echoed the sentiment, noting that the state requires utilities to pass this type of cost to customers "dollar-for-dollar, without markup."

The price is lower for ComEd customers than it could have been due to a provision in CEJA, which credits customers when energy generated by nuclear power plants is above a certain level. Consumer watchdogs at CUB estimate that the policy cut the increase for ComEd customers by about 17%. Customers in the Ameren area, which has much less nuclear power, are not eligible for the credit.

Legislative moves Negotiations over energy reforms in Springfield have included lawmakers, the governor's office, and interest groups including environmentalists, organized labor and business associations. The process is sparking heated debate.

Over the past week, a draft of legislation began circulating among lawmakers and advocates.

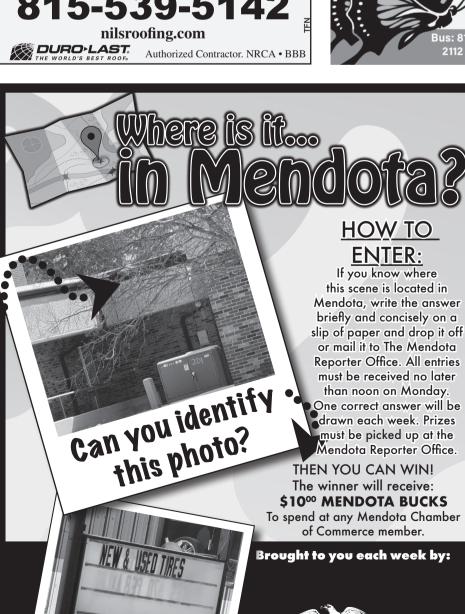

Potential provisions deal with incentives for renewable power, energy efficiency regulations, nuclear power, data centers and more.

Environmental groups clashed with business and labor over a provision meant to lower the energy burden brought by data centers. That proposal would require large energy consumers to build their own energy generation through renewable sources like wind or solar power or pay the state to do so.

The pitch sparked fierce pushback from business and labor groups, which sent a collective letter to Pritzker, urging him to oppose the specific provision. The letter was co-signed by groups including the AFL-CIO, Climate Jobs Illinois, Illinois Manufacturers' Association and Constellation Energy the last of which operates all the state's commercial nuclear power plants.

"Investing in safe, modern infrastructure is critical to both quality of life and long-term economic development," said Senator Li Arellano Jr. (R-Dixon), of the 37th Senate District. "These projects are more than just paths, they're investments in the future of our communities. I'm proud to see state dollars going directly into projects that improve daily life for residents and connect people to the places they live, work, and learn.''

While the project has been approved, the city must await additional contracting procedures, a formal bidding process, and final engineering design. Construction is anticipated to begin in the fall of 2026.

This grant is one of several secured by the City of Mendota this year as part of its overall revitalization strategy. "We're fortunate to have a dedicated team supporting these efforts," said Mayor Dave Boelk. "These are exciting times for our city and positive changes are coming to our community."

According to the Illinois Department of Transportation, projects were selected based on their construction readiness, connection to existing transportation infrastructure, and economic development potential.

Consumers, small businesses will lose if Illinois interchange law takes effect

By ASHLEY SHARP and BEN JACKSON

A law called the Interchange Fee Prohibition Act (IFPA) was passed by the Illinois Legislature last spring as part of a last-minute political deal. Now it's set to take effect July 1 and will cause chaos for Illinoisans

There is a reason it was rushed through the Legislature – it is a fundamentally flawed proposal that has been rejected in every other state that has considered it

The law requires Illinois financial companies to refrain from charging merchants processing fees on the tax and tip portions of debit or credit card payments. These processing costs, referred to as interchange fees, are business-to-business fees that benefit the consumer and the merchant by ensuring fast, convenient and virtually guaranteed payments for goods and services. Merchants in recent years have chosen to saddle consumers with these costs, through a service or "convenience" fee that is often double the cost of the actual interchange fee. These annoying merchant fees won't go away under the new law. Slicing off a portion of the interchange fee sounds simple. Yet the law requires massive changes that undermine the reliability and security of consumer payments. The IFPA also violates federal law, which is why our groups are challenging it in federal court. Consumers won't benefit from the IFPA. When federal price controls on debit cards were adopted in the 2010s, data showed that consumers did not enjoy the promised cost savings – big retail simply pocketed the money while consumer benefits disappeared. Debit card rewards, for example, are all but extinct today. Likewise, Illinois' law will jeopardize consumer benefits like security, convenience, and reward points. Fast, convenient electronic payments will be diminished, leaving consumers with clunky, frustrating retail experiences that might include split payments or declined transactions

Small businesses will also be victims of this law. A recent study shows that 40 of the largest retailers will soak up nearly 40 percent of the projected savings. Small businesses' savings will be a wash after considering implementation costs in the tens of thousands of dollars.

The IFPA will not save consumers money, and it will not erase those pesky retail "convenience" fees. It will harm local small businesses and financial institutions, and it will jeopardize credit card rewards and protections. Clearly, this law is a bad deal for Illinoisans. The Illinois Legislature should repeal the IFPA before July 1.

Mandatory retirement age needed

Former President Joe Biden's diagnosis of metastatic prostate cancer should be a national wake-up call. With the elite healthcare afforded to a president, it's hard to believe this diagnosis was not known while President Biden was in office. In 2020, Biden said he ran to stop Trump and serve as a transitional figure — a bridge to the next generation. He failed at both, because he lied. Instead of passing the torch, he ran again in 2024, clearing a path for Trump's return and blocking real generational change. Said another way: he failed at his top two priorities.

Had he stepped aside after the 2022 midterms, Democrats could've used the 25th Amendment to spur an honest conversation about aging and when to walk away. But that didn't happen. Now, we face another term under a soon-to-be octogenarian president.

Leadership is not ageless. At some point, physical and cognitive decline come for us all. That's the most real shared reality among us.

We need to amend the Constitution – via a Convention of States – to establish a mandatory retirement age of 75 years for all three branches of government. Entrenched political dynasties and forever politicians – extremely wealthy and far removed from everyday American life – lose touch (if they ever had it) with the people they claim to represent.

Competition breeds innovation. Leaders closer in age to the average American worker and taxpayer are far more likely to understand the economic, wellness, and social realities that Americans citizens face.

Stale leadership creates stagnation and cynicism. The kind we're drowning in right now.

The Biden administration avoided this conversation in an effort to hold on to power, and it had the exact opposite effect. Let's be honest: President Trump will be 79 on June 14. His Administration won't have an honest conversation about this, either. But we can.

Farmer's Market launched - 1994

Backtracks

(The following is from Jessica Nashold's Backtracks & Sidetracks column reprinted from May 26, 2004.) By Jessica Nashold

It was 10 years ago that the Retail Association of the Mendota Area Chamber of Commerce decided to sponsor a Farmer's Market in Mendota. It would provide an outlet for producers as well as attract more customers for Mendota merchants. The market would occupy one block on Eighth Avenue, between Washington and Sixth streets. It would open at 8 a.m. on May 28, 1994, during Mendota's Sidewalk Sales, and close at 1 p.m. The same hours were apply on Saturday, June 25, 1994, and every Saturday thereafter, during the summer of 1994.

The Conkey family established a memorial award at Mendota Community Hospital. It was to be given to the nurse who had demonstrated the highest concern for and attention to patients during the previous year. On May 13, 1994, the award was presented to Roberta Patterson, at a luncheon, which also honored nurses who had completed service of varying lengths.

The Conkey Memorial award was $100.

Frank Kobilsek, who had represented Mendota on the LaSalle County Solid Waster Committee, resigned his seat when he moved beyond the Mendota city limits, and was no longer an alderman.

Alderman Rod Campbell was appointed to succeed him.

On May 12, 1994, Mendota Community Hospital joined three other community hospitals to create a Community Hospital Network. It was intended to circumvent conditions detrimental to rural areas as a result of national health care reform. It was hoped that members of this network would be able to provide health care at reasonable costs by sharing resources. Charter members of the network were Gary Weeks, Mendota Community Hospital, 68 beds; Bob Thebeau, Kishwaukee Community, 75 beds; Larry Slade, Sandwich Community, 50 Sidetracks beds; Steve Zamstel, Rochelle Community, 42 beds. At this point in time, Dr. John Prebbaker was on the staff at three of the network hospitals, and was chief of staff at Rochelle Community.

Brother Patrick Cavegia, O.S.B., a monk at Conception, Mo., since 1972, was ordained into the priesthood on May 14, 1994. Bishop Raymond Borland, of the Kansas City-St. Joseph Diocese, presided. Brother Caveglia had been involved with the management of the Printery House, nationally known publishers of Christian greeting cards. He had also served several years as subprior of Conception Abbey. He held a bachelors in philosophy from Conception Seminary College and a master's degree in administration from Notre Dame. He was completing work on a master's in systemic and moral theology at the Aquinas Institute of Technology in St. Louis.

The newly ordained Rev. Patrick Caveglia was scheduled to preside at the 10:30 service in his home parish of Holy Cross, on Pentecost Sunday, May 22, 1994.

All are welcome.

Members of the New Life Evangelical Free Church in Meriden dedicated 22 stained glass windows in their house of worship on May 15, 1994. Mike Dixon was pastor. The work was undertaken by Bill Peterson of Rockford when he learned the congregation had purchased the building and wanted to restore its stained glass windows.

He contributed to a storm window fund to prevent future damage.

Gov. Jim Edgar proclaimed May 1994 to be Groundwater Protection Month. He wanted to focus attention on the danger of contamination to rural wells.

They should be tested routinely.

National Emergency Service Week was observed May 16-21, 1994. During that week, the REACT helicopter was on display from 6-8 p.m. in the east parking lot at Mendota Community Hospital. Vehicles used in the ambulance service and by fire and police departments were also shown.

Personnel will answer questions.

It was announced that changed had been made to the election process for choosing a Tri-County Fair Queen. The 1993 Queen, Jamie Ossman, had been chosen in competition at the Tri-Couinty Fairgrounds. Her successor would be chosen in a competition at the Mendota Civic Center, July 22, 1994.

Entrants must apply by June 1, 1994.

Alderman Rod Campbell announced the Mendota swimming pool would open June 5, 1994. Just a few minor repairs needed to be completed. Betty Snuffin and Barb Weekly, representing Aunt Mary's Yarn Shop, treated ladies of the St. Mary's Altar So-

The Del Monte plant needed inspectors and warehouse workers. Applicants had to be at least 18 years of age. Salaries ranged from $4.50-$6.18 per hour.

The city of Mendota was accepting bids for cleaning the municipal building during the summer months only. Specifications could be obtained from the city clerk.

Introducing the Trump Doctrine

By Rich Lowry

President Donald Trump gave an important speech in Riyadh that may come as close to outlining a "Trump doctrine" as we'll probably see. It was a direct counterpoint to George W. Bush's second inaugural address. The simplistic way to put it is that what liberty was for Bush, money is to

That's not quite right, though. The speech had values, they just weren't typical values -- accountable government, human dignity -- but simply prosperity and peace. If Bush wanted to spread freedom, Trump wants to spread gleaming high-rise buildings. He hailed the rise in the Gulf of a Middle East "defined by commerce, not chaos, where it exports technology, not terrorism, and where people of different nations, religions and creeds are building cities together." Notably, there is no liberty in this affirming sentence

-- it's all economic activity. The speech was very critical of Iran, but his critique was that it isn't constructing anything. Instead, its landmarks "are collapsing into rubble and dust." Trump's speech wasn't isolationist, or alien to American traditions. The address ran in the slipstream of the Hamiltonian tradition as famously outlined by Walter Russell Mead, with its emphasis on the role of commerce in foreign affairs. And there was, as always, a Jacksonian element, as Trump spoke of smiting America's enemies. There was, however, no Wilsonianism. In a passage that got attention, Trump rapped neocons and liberal nonprofits for trying, but failing, to develop the Middle East because they didn't know or respect the culture of the region. There is merit in this charge. We had no idea what we were getting into in Iraq and Afghanistan, while George W. Bush's vision for the spread of democracy systematically failed to account for the influence of culture, and for the centrality of order to liberty and other social goods.

That said, both Afghanistan and Iraq were originally conceived as wars of self-defense in the wake of a terror attack that shook America to its core. It's also unpersuasive to hold up the Gulf states as a counterexample of development -- anyone can run an emirate sitting atop gobs of oil and living under the U.S. security umbrella.

Trump's vision is actually as universalist as Bush's; Bush believed every country could become a democracy, and Trump believes that every country can prosper.

Iran can be "a wonderful, safe, great country, but they cannot have a nuclear weapon." Lebanon, too, can embrace "a future of economic development and peace." He'll reach out to anyone and bring them into this charmed circle of commerce and comity. "As I've shown repeatedly," he said, "I am willing to end past conflicts and forge new partnerships."

For Trump, it's the results that matter -- the prosperity and peace -- not how a given government achieves them. That's none of our business. "I believe it is God's job to sit in judgment," he pronounced. Trump's job is to promote "stability, prosperity and peace."

In sum, the speech was a deal-maker's realpolitik, or a doctrine that we won't really have a doctrine except for trying to get everyone rich and to get along with as many people as possible.

The address was certainly bracing. But values do matter. Liberal societies are, as a general matter, more reliably our friends, and more reliably achieve prosperity. If Bush's vision advanced an unrealistic view of what motivates mankind -- all yearning for liberty, no yearning for power or revenge -- Trump drastically simplifies human motivation in his own way. As history has shown, people will fight and die for faiths and ideologies when these have nothing to do with prosperity, or actively destroy it.

Also, it should be said that standing for democratic ideals is an enormous part of America's appeal around the world, and if we get into a competition with China purely over who is richer and can cut more deals, we are kicking away a major advantage. That's likely an insight for another president, though. Trump has his doctrine.

Financial Literacy books donated to public libraries

SPRINGFIELD – Recognizing Financial Literacy Month in April, Illinois Secretary of State Alexi Giannoulias celebrated with a generous donation of books that teach children about the value of financial literacy, which every Illinois public library received.

As part of its charitable endeavors, Walmart donated 1,500 copies of Mellody Hobson's 'Priceless Facts about Money' to over 750 public library branches across Illinois.

An Illinois native, Hobson is the Co-CEO & President of Ariel Investments, a global value-oriented asset management firm founded in 1983 in Chicago. Hobson is a leader in corporate boardrooms, as former chairman of Starbucks Corporation and a current director of JPMorgan Chase. She was listed among Forbes Magazine's 100 most powerful women in the world.

Written for children, Hobson's book illustrates with entertaining stories and facts how money works and introduces readers to fundamental principles of financial literacy and money management.

The Illinois Literacy
Foundation, through the Illinois Secretary of State's office received the books from Walmart and distribution of the books has been facilitated by the Illinois State Library.
"Mellody Hobson is one of the brightest financial minds of our generation and now children across Illinois can enjoy her book and learn valuable financial lessons at their local library," said Giannoulias who serves as State Librarian. "We appreciate Walmart's generous gift and its effort to enhance financial literacy opportunities for our youth."

"My life's passion has been to teach our nation about the importance of financial literacy as an integral part of children's education. My hope is that this book demystifies money for kids of all ages and helps the 'grown-ups' that love them," said Hobson. "I am grateful to Secretary Giannoulias and Walmart for supporting a brighter, financially healthier future for the next generation."

"Financial literacy is a life-changing skill that opens doors to opportunity. Mellody Hobson is a barrier-breaking pioneer in the world of finance, who through her book, 'Priceless Facts About Money', demystifies money and financial planning for kids and adults," said Walmart Regional Manager Adonis Clark. "This collaboration with Secretary of State Giannoulias and the Illinois Public Libraries, to ensure copies of Mellody's best-selling book are available in every library across the state, is an example of the many ways Walmart is advancing financial literacy. We believe offering financial tools —like Mellody's book—will empower people to live their best lives." Illinois Literacy Foundation (ILF) promotes literacy awareness and supports literacy programs throughout the state to benefit all residents of Illinois. The ILF supports an ecosystem of more than 100 literacy service providers, 640 public library systems and 852 public school districts to serve over 12.5 million Illinois residents.

Conkey Family Award bestowed to M. Kibble at OSF Saint Paul

MENDOTA - The recipient of the 44th Annual Conkey Family Award was announced on May 12 at OSF HealthCare Saint Paul Medical Center as part of National Health Care Week. This year's honoree is Marisa Kibble, a dedicated senior financial analyst.

A Mission Partner for nearly 20 years, Kibble lives in rural Dixon and was nominated by a colleague for her compassion, quiet leadership, and perseverance. Her impact extends far beyond her professional responsibilities. Since 2019, when she accepted responsibility for the OSF Saint Paul Community Garden, Kibble has led every aspect of its success, coordinating volunteers, planting, weeding, harvesting, cleaning, and delivering produce, often outside of work hours, all while continuing to fulfill her job duties and care for her family.

Under her leadership, the garden now yields more than 1,000 pounds of fresh produce each season, all of which is donated to the local food pantry to support individuals and families facing food insecurity.

The Conkey Family Award was established to honor Mission Partners whose actions reflect the values of the OSF Mission. Kibble's selfless dedication truly embodies the spirit of this award and the legacy of the Sisters who serve with the greatest care and love. Established in 1982, the award has recognized exemplary service annually since its first presentation in 1983.

SRCCF partners with 'Acres of Peace' for animal therapy

MARSEILLES – For 20-plus years Heidi Henry has served veterans in need through "the healing power of horses" and other therapy animals at "Acres of Peace" north of Marseilles.

Veterans suffering from PTSD and other service-related trauma have found sanctuary at the farm. Henry offers "centering," empathy training, "nature soaking," and "a place to unwind and reconnect" – free of charge to vets.

Her selfless devotion to veterans is personal. Henry's father, Bob Firchau, suffered for years after returning from World War II.

Shouldering the entire financial load for the project since 2004, Henry recently partnered with the Starved Rock Country Community Foundation to assist with fundraising to cover animal therapy expenses.

"We offer veterans training to humanize themselves," she said. "Veterans often lose empathy for themselves. They're often estranged from their families and so damaged they don't feel they're worthy of therapy."

After therapy, participants often discover there is a life beyond their trauma or disability.

The 'Acres' farm features a veterans-only clubhouse, 8 acres of timber with six campsites, and therapy with horses, sheep, goats and the miniature horse "Tupac" and his mule sidekick "Biggie."

Even the friendly family canine, Skipper, an Australian shepherd dog, "Sucks the pain from veterans who are suffering," Henry said.

SRCCF President Fran Brolley said, "Heidi and her family are providing essential support for veterans who have been wounded mentally and sometimes physically. For 20 years, Acres of Peace has been an oasis where veterans can find quiet and peace – if only for a day or a weekend."

"We are humbled to partner with Heidi, will support her efforts and cast light on the challenges she is facing. This is a cause that matters, and I am confident it will inspire the public support it deserves and needs."

Henry is assisted on the farm by daughter Rebecca, a Public and Mental Health major at Western Illinois University.

Pre-COVID, Acres was serving 30-40 veterans a week. Today, about 15 veterans seek refuge there each week.

SPORTS

Why do good things have to end?

Life is full of hiccups.

Actual, literal hiccups where you're using a paper bag, holding your breath, and tapping your chest to try to get them to go away.

The figurative hiccups where a certain scenario or event isn't going your way. Someone says a comment

Not the Last Chance By Brandon LaChance

sandpaper, a package is lost in the mail, a bug gets stuck inside your TV screen, a hole in your favorite pair of socks, a dog you call an ankle biter really does bite, a co-worker who travels with you for work gets in your car with a dirty jacket and leaves your passenger seat dustier than a baseball infield in Illinois, mold on the last hoagie bun when you're ready to make a delicious sandwich or the team you picked to win Game 3 of the NBA Eastern Conference Finals, Indiana Pacers, gives up a 20-point lead to prevent a 3-0 series advantage when you're going to Game 4 and were anxiously anticipating being present for the series closer.

If you couldn't tell, all of these happened to me in the last two days.

Through the non-physical hiccups, there are many remedies depending on who you ask.

There is music, movies, TV, food, physical activity, sleep, spending time with loved ones, playing a video game, reading a book, podcasts, traveling, driving around the town square, shopping and...you get the point.

I've probably used every single one of these, but my go-to, ever since I knew what they were, is sports, in all varieties.

I played, I've coached, I do cover them for newspapers, radio and Edge of Your Seat Podcast and I also officiate five sports.

But my hiccup remedy involving sports began with

I remember being super mad at my sister the day of the 1995 Super Bowl. I was 10 and she was 7, and the anger didn't go away until I was watching the game. There are many other examples I could list, but to avoid this column being 25 pages long, I'll get to why I'm writing this.

Through high school and all of its drama with fake friends, ruined relations with girlfriends, not being picked first for your real friend's dodgeball team (still drawing the line if this person was a friend or a faker) and college with some of the same issues as high school while adding becoming an adult with a long list of responsibilities, ESPN became my safe haven.

In particular, Around the Horn.

It was more than a highlight show. It was more than numbers. It was more than words.

It was a show where people could have real opinions and express them to others who may have a different opinion, and they'd settle it or debate it in an articulate, wise, entertaining, comedic fashion.

It mixed and mingled sports storylines of our favorite players and coaches with actual journalists who could break down numbers if they really wanted or needed to, while bringing in human elements such as emotion, anticipation, passion, criticism and strategy for discussion.

Host Tony Reali, called "Stat Boy" by Pardon the Interruption's Tony Kornheiser, who seemed like he drank four Monsters before the show started, was a little of all of the adjectives I used before as he was funny, interesting, witty, and questioned, tested each of the four panelists, the journalists, on every episode.

It was the epitome of what someone like me – going to college for journalism, a die heart sports guy, had the gift of gab and could debate with the best of them about anything – would dive into when it seemed like every other aspect of life was off its axis or could never be right.

Sitting down for 30 minutes every day to watch Around the Horn was always right.

As I graduated and got older, and technology had the advancement of podcasts, I didn't watch the show anymore, I listened to it. I can't remember the exact year I began listening to it on Spotify, but it has to be either 2015 or 2016, as I scan life events I can time stamp parts of life with.

Since then, I've never missed a show. I may not have listened to it on the exact day, but by Sunday, I listen to the Monday through Friday offerings.

In March, two months ago, it was announced Around the Horn was being canceled after 23 years on TV. When I first heard it, I thought, 'Well, all good things have to come to an end.'

Then I thought, 'Why, why do good things have to come to an end?'

The long list of hiccups never ends. They come in different shapes and sizes and continue to make us squirm, yell, turn red, drink more, or cry.

Why can't the aspects of life we enjoy always exist. just like the hiccups? Sure, they could come in other forms, like hiccups, but they're never the same. Once you like something, you like it, not the copy or the replacement.

I watched the last episode of Around the Horn on Friday, May 28 and then listened to it the next day on my way to get the dirty jacket. I tried to laugh as much as I could, get the most out of it, and remembered the moments in life Around the Horn helped me get through. It sounds crazy (I called myself nuts), but I feel like I'm losing a set of best friends as Reali, Woody Page. J.A. Adande, Tom Cowlishaw (who went through sobriety on the show), Bill Plaschke, Kevin Blackistone, Jay Mariotti (before he got in trouble), Jemele Hill, and so many more, will no longer be talking to me every day.

I learned depths of sports and its figures I didn't previously know, I picked up debating techniques, the importance of stats, when too many numbers are too much, how to be funny and sarcastic instead of sarcastic and funny, and when enough is enough and it's time to move on.

I'll proceed to move forward, but not before saying thank you and sharing appreciation for a show, which helped me become a newspaper and magazine writer, a podcast host, a radio broadcaster and a more sensible, understanding person who can express it with emotion, passion, and comedy.

Thank you, Around the Horn, for being my favorite hiccup remover.

Elam nabs 2nd in state high jump

☐ Mendota High School sophomore finishes in 10th place in triple jump

CHARLESTON - Only one girl had a better high jump than Mendota's Mariyah Elam after all of the sectionals in the state, and it was the girl that bested her in the Sterling Sectional on May 14.

So, heading into the IHSA Class 2A State Track & Field Meet, Elam was not only trying to defend her state high jump title of a year ago, but also get revenge on Katie Kostro of Aurora Rosary for topping her in the sectional.

Unfortunately for Elam, the placement at state didn't change as Kostro edged out the Mendota sophomore to claim the Class 2A state high jump crown on May 22-24 at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

Elam's best jump of the weekend was 5-5.75, while Kostro topped out at 5-7, so Elam had to settle for second place this year. As it turned out, the state high jump competitors that advanced out of the Sterling Sectional proved to be the cream of the crop as they took the top four positions in the state meet. After first-place Kostro and second-place Elam, Sterling's Kaylee Varden finished in third place with a height of 5-3.25 and Byron's Neve Schilling tied for fourth at 5-2.25.

Last year, Elam's state championship winning jump was 5-4.5, while Kostro tied for ninth place at 4-11.

"Mariyah had competed against Katie Kostro of Rosary twice already this season, at Indoor State Finals and again at the sectional," noted Mendota head coach Joe Hughes. "After many rounds of battling with all the other competitors, it was down to two, Marivah and Katie Kostro.

They went back and forth and raised the bar several heights before Mariyah exhausted all of her attempts to clear 5-7 after Kostro had successfully cleared. "Mariyah is happy to have given her all and walk away with a second-place medal, but is already eager to get back to work for next year."

Elam also competed in three other events at Charleston. She finished in 10th place in the triple jump with a distance of 36-5.5. Taya Rice of Chicago Agricultural Science was first with a measurement of 39-5.

"In the triple jump, Mariyah has been consistently jumping around 11 meters for the last half of the season and was able to continue that streak at state," said Hughes. "Her best jump was at state 11.11 meters (36-5.5), which was good enough for 10th place, improving on her 20th place finish in the event a year ago." Elam ran in both hurdles events, but did not make the finals. In the 100-meter hurdles, she had a preliminary time of 15.84, while her time in the 300-meter hurdles was 47.19.

"Mariyah ran her personal best time in the 100 hurdles, but did not earn a spot in the finals," stated Hughes. "She was in the lead for a large majority of the race in the 300 hurdles, but didn't have enough in the tank to finish the last 40 meters at her pace and was caught after the last hurdle." Jordan Hamb of Chicago South

Shore International College Prep won the 100 hurdles in 13.99 and Kendall Gray of Richton Park Southland College Prep Charter claimed the 300 hurdles Mendota's only other state meet participant was freshman Rylee Woods. She competed in the high jump and had a preliminary mark of 4-11, but did not advance to the finals.

Normal University captured the team state title with 64 points. The rest of the top five teams included Tolono Unity (49), North Chicago (35), Richton Park Southland College Prep (35) and Chicago South Shore International College Prep (34). Mendota scored eight points for 34th place.

MHS girls blank Princeton for first regional title since 2012

MENDOTA - Mendota survived inclement weather and a stingy Princeton team to win a 1-0 thriller over the Lady Tigers in the championship game of the Mendota Class 1A Girls' Regional Soccer Tournament on May 20 at the MHS stadium. It was the first regional title for the MHS girls' program since 2012 and only the second in school history. The only goal of the game came off the foot of Mendota senior standout Crystal Garcia, who got a shot past the Princeton goalie at the 28:52 mark of the first half off an assist from Noemi Arteaga.

"It felt so good to score the goal for us in the regional championship," said Garcia. "It was a fun experience. The entire game is going to be a core memory for me. It feels real rewarding to win the regional after winning one game when I was a freshman."

The Lady Trojans were only able to get three shots on goal compared to 11 for Princeton.

"I couldn't be happier for this group of girls," said Mendota coach Nick Myers. "They have been working hard the last three years to improve our team. The three seniors who are four-year players went from a one-win team as freshmen to setting school records and winning our second ever regional title for girls' soccer.

"I thought our girls played a hard-fought game against Princeton. It was well played by both teams. Defensively, we were able to hold off multiple attacks by Princeton in both halves. Ariana Sanchez in goal made great save after great save. We absorbed their attacks pretty well the whole

"Crystal (Garcia) was able to make a great run to get in behind their defense in the first half. Noemi (Arteaga) found her with a perfect pass for Crystal to run onto for the goal."

Girls' soccer season ends in sectional MOLINE - A highly successful season for the Mendota girls' soccer team came to a close after a 3-1 loss to Byron in the opening round of the Rock Island Alleman Class 1A Sectional Soccer Tournament on May 24 at Moline. The Lady Trojans ended the campaign with a 15-8-1 record. Crystal Garcia scored the lone goal for Mendota off an season with 31 goals and 15 "We took a little too long to get our legs under us in this game," said Mendota coach Nick Meyers. "Being in our first sectional in over 12 vears was noticeable. Byron played a very deep back line that caused us problems with our style of play in the first half. The girls fought hard though, through the first half. Byron was able to get two early goals in the first

"I thought we adjusted well after halftime and came out very aggressive and switched up our tactics, which caused Byron some problems. Crystal was able to get on the board with around 12 minutes left in the game to make it 3-1. After that we had a few more great chances to score but just missed. I was proud of the way we responded in the second half by not giving up. The girls were able to figure Byron out and found success in the second half with the way we did things."

Myers said the girls' program has been building up to get to the point this season

Northbrook track athletes bring home 7 state medals

By BRANDON LaCHANCE

Staff writer EAST PEORIA - There were not many events at the IESA Class 3A State Track Meet on Friday and Saturday, May 23-24, without a Northbrook School athlete since they were involved in 10 of them.

Success came at a high rate as seven medals were earned at the East Side Center in East Peoria.

"I'm not sure I've processed the whole weekend yet," said Heather Friedlein, Northbrook athletic director and track coach. "It seems like a dream. All the preparation, all the hours and work the kids put in, and just like that it's over. I miss it already.

For the eighth-grade girls, Jeniah Francis was four-offour as she medaled in each of the events she was in. Francis took second in the 100-meter dash (12.7 seconds), fourth in the 200 (27.1), tied for fifth place in the high jump (4 feet, 11 inches, which is a personal best and school

"Jeniah leaves me speechless,"Friedlein said. "She was great in seventh grade, but she came into her eighth-grade season on a mission. Each week, she was earning her personal bests or re-breaking her own school records.

"In the high jump, she was tied with Mariyah Elam (sophomoreat Mendota High School who won the state high jump title as a freshman and finished second this year) and took the record at state. In sprints, she is something to see. She hunts the other runners down. Jeniah thrives when there are runners ahead or near her, which showed this weekend.

Ariana Francis, a seventh grader, earned two more medals as she took second in high jump (4 feet, 9.4 inches) and ninth in the 100 (13.7). Seriyah Elam put on a fifth-place medal with a shot-put toss of 28 feet, 4.5 inches. Elam finished 18th in discus with a throw of 68 feet, 11.1 inches.

Graci Bloomfield put her name in the Northbrook record books with a time of 2:37.05 in the 800-meter run, which took 20th place.

In the team standings, the eighth-grade girls were 10th (four events), seventh-grade girls were 15th (five events) and eighth-grade boys were 45th (one event). "I knew these kids were capable of greatness, but to see them give everything and represent Northbrook and Mendota to that level on that stage, brings tears to my eyes," Friedlein said. "I'm incredibly proud."

In the eighth-grade competition, Northbrook had one boy state finalist in Dane Williams, who took eighth in discus with a heave of 138 feet, 2.2 inches.

our girls' team," noted Myers. "We have been slowly getting to this point in the last few seasons. The girls have been getting better and making it a focus to get to better as well. "We set the school record for girls' soccer in shutouts and wins during a season along with achieving our goal of getting another regional championship. I am proud of the progress this group has made. We will certainly miss our five seniors who have been a big reason for the continued success here with girls' soccer the last three years.

"We return a big portion of this team who hopefully take the success from this year along with the experience in these big games to help keep us improving into next season."

MHS boys' track falls short of state bid

ROCHELLE-Mendota concluded its track season at the Rochelle Class 2A Boys' Sectional Track and Field Meet on May 21. The Trojans did not qualify anyone for the state meet.

Sebastian Carlos came the closest to earning a trip to the state meet. He finished in fourth place in the 400-meter dash with a time of 51.24. The state qualifying time is 51.17.

The Trojans placed in the top seven in four other events, with Anthony Kelson taking fifth place in the 800-meter run (2:05.10), Carlos finishing sixth in the 200-meter dash (23.42), Komen Denault placing sixth in the pole vault (10-9) and Jayden Lesley earning seventh place in the long jump (19-5.25). Lesley's distance was a personal record.

Dane Doyle came on in relief in the fifth and gave up two hits and two runs over the final two frames. He walked two and fanned two.

The Trojans avoided the shutout with a run in the sixth. Brody Hartt drilled a oneout double to deep center. Cayden Taliani came in as a courtesy runner and scored on a wild pitch by Byron's Caden Considine.

Hartt had two of Mendota's five hits. The other safeties were by Freeman, Evan McPheeters and Collin Coss. The Trojans ended with a Starting off in the Italian regions of Tuscany, Lombardy, and Trentino-Alto Adige, Tucci explores the cuisine, culture and history that has become an important of these regions. He ends his five-episode show with Abruzzo and Lazio, but don't be surprised if Tucci continues to find ways to showcase the great dishes the country has to offer and share his love of Italian food with us. Celebrity Extra

Q: I was watching the original "Dexter" series. Who played the "Ice Truck Killer" in the first season? He's really good. I'm surprised he isn't a bigger star after this role. -- L.K. A: The actor who played the serial killer in season one of "Dexter" is Christian Camargo. He's been acting steadily since but nothing that really showcases his talents like "Dexter.' (Maybe he can play a "Batman" villain someday?) He's mostly guest-starred on several notable primetime series like "The Good Wife" and "Elementary." He's also appeared in the Academy-Award-winning film "The Hurt Locker" and two of the "Twilight" blockbuster films.

Since "Dexter," he's landed recurring or contract roles on two series: Showtime's "Penny Dreadful" with Eva Green and Apple TV+'s "See" with Jason Momoa. His upcoming projects are listed as a series titled "Camelot" and the comedy "Big Mike's Cabin." So far, it hasn't been announced if he'll appear in the upcoming sequel series "Dexter: Resurrection" like John Lithgow and Jimmy Smits, despite their characters' deceased status in the original series.

Q: How did "Georgie & Mandy's First Marriage" do in the ratings compared to "Young Sheldon"? Will it be back for another season? A: "Georgie & Mandy's

First Marriage" is a spinoff on CBS focusing on kid genius Sheldon's (Iain Armitage) older brother, his wife and her family. It won its time slot with 6.6 million viewers tuning in to CBS for its premiere episode this past October. The series finale of "Young Sheldon" drew 8.95 million viewers. "Georgie & Mandy" is a certified hit, however, and will return for its sophomore season. The new season is said to focus on Georgie's ownership of the auto shop and Mandy's career as a local news broadcaster. While "Young Sheldon's" Zoe Perry and Annie Potts gueststarred in the first season of the spin-off, Armitage did not. Perhaps this will change in the upcoming season.

Q: What ever happened to Thomas Gibson? I was hoping that his character would be back for the new "Criminal Minds," but he's completely disappeared. -- G.S.

A: Before "Criminal Minds," Thomas Gibson starred in the hit sitcom "Dharma & Greg" without any reported issues. However, he was written out of the CBS series "Criminal Minds" after the 12th season due to being fired from the show for an on-set altercation with a producer. His character, Aaron Hotchner, went into the Witness Protection Program with his son after being targeted by a serial killer. The show went on for three more seasons on CBS and was then rebooted as "Criminal Minds: Evolution," where it currently airs on Paramount+.

Gibson likely made a big chunk of change while starring on the show for over a decade and probably doesn't have to work again. His acting credits stop in 2019 with the movie "Shadow Wolves," but it's not known whether his career was halted by choice or if he's been blackballed by the industry. He does have one upcoming project -- "The Writer's Bible," which he's not only starring in but also directing.

By Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD -- A last word about Ruth Buzzi, who recently passed on May 1. I met Ruth in 1964 at "The Garry Moore Show," in which she was Dom DeLuise's assistant in a magic act. To his chagrin, she revealed how his tricks were done, which was hilarious. I ran into Ruth a lot during her "Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In" days and during my time as a Hollywood paparazzi. She was one of a kind!

Jacob Elordi shot to fame in the Netflix trilogy "The Kissing Booth" (2018-2021), which Elordi called ridiculous, stating, "I never wanted to make them." Then he starred in "Deep Water" (2022) with Ben Affleck and He Went That Way" with Zachary Quinto, but both films failed to impress.

However, "Saltburn" (2023), featuring a muchtalked-about bathtub scene featuring Barry Keoghan, got lots of attention but not enough to make the film a hit. Even his turn as Elvis in "Priscilla" (2023) failed to ignite box offices.

Elordi's next film "Oh, Canada" (2024), co-starring Richard Gere and Uma Thurman, also failed. In "On Swift Horses" (2024), even a samesex love affair failed him, too. Buthis portrayal of Nate Jacobs in HBO's hit series "Euphoria," opposite Zendaya, has built him a solid fan following, and he's currently preparing for season three. In a bold casting move, Guillermo del Toro has cast him as the monster in Netflix's "Frankenstein," due in November. In April, he finished playing Heathcliff to Margot Robbie's Kathy in the remake of "Wuthering Heights," opening in February 2026. Elordi will follow this up by starring opposite Margaret Qualley, Josh Brolin and Guy Pearce in Ridley Scott's The Dog Stars," a postapocalyptic scifi film that will shoot in Italy.

Word from the Vatican is that many voting cardinals who gathered to elect a new Pope after Pope Francis' passing on April 21, had been using the eight-time Oscar-nominated film "Conclave" as a research tool.

Oscar winner Nicolas Cage ("Leaving Las Vegas"), who has made 127 films including the classic "Moonstruck" (which led Cher to her Best Actress Oscar), will soon have 130 films to his credit. His next three credits will be the drama "The Prince" with J.K. Simmons, then the horror film "The Carpenter's Son," and David O. Russell's sports drama "Madden." (Cage assumed the title role when Hugh Jackman dropped out.)

When Cage filmed "The Surfer" in late 2023, he was tossed so hard by an angry ocean that they called his surfboard a "tombstone." He admitted he took such a pounding by the waves that he could have died. And this past September, while filming in a Grecian cave, he was attacked by a swarm of killer bees.

Taking no chances, Cage recently completed voicing the titular character for "Spider-Noir," which will be an animated series on MGM+. After being pounded by the sea and attacked by bees, playing an animated Spider-Man was a Cage-y move!

St. Bede Abbey and Academy raises $264,000 in St. Benedict's Day of Giving event in March

PERU – St. Bede Abbey and Academy announced the success of its annual St. Benedict's Day of Giving, held in March. The campaign raised an impressive $264,000 from 494 donors, including alumni, parents, friends, school staff, teachers and students.

"It was deeply moving to see our beloved St. Bede community come together, in unity, to make St. Benedict's Day a resounding success. What this reaffirms is that the future of both our Abbey and Academy is in excellent hands, with the support of our alumni and friends whose generosity continues to strengthen our community," said Michel Massamba, Director of Mission Advancement and Major Gifts.

The funds directly support the Saint Bede Annual Fund, which plays a crucial role in bridging the gap in tuition by covering costs associated with professional development for teachers, STEM and teaching resources, athletic, fine arts and student programs, Christian and faith formation and maintaining campus facilities.

As an independent institution, St. Bede does not receive state or diocesan funding and relies entirely on the generosity of its donors.

To encourage participation on St. Benedict's Day, donors who contributed $50 or more received a St. Bede tote bag. Students were also actively engaged in the campaign - those who donated $2 or more enjoyed a jean day on the day of the campaign, and had the opportunity to sign the Bruin Impact Wall, symbolizing unity and school spirit.

A key factor in the campaign's success was the $98,000 in matching gift challenges, which were unlocked throughout the day. Additionally, a generous donor contributed a $50,000 donor rally challenge, which spurred an increase in participation in the campaign.

For more information about St. Bede's St. Benedict's Day of Giving, visit www.st-bede.com/stbenedict-2025.

The amazing truth about God's grace

God's grace is amazing! We're saved by grace—God's undeserved favor—and we live by grace, which is also God's power in our lives to do what we could never do in our own strength. And it's all because God is love, and He loves us unconditionally, constantly, and completely.

But even though God loves us, we still have a problem: sin. It's important for us to learn how to confront sin and overcome it, because while God loves sinners, He hates sin. And He hates it because of what it does to us and how it keeps us from the abundant life Jesus died to give us (John 10:10).

So many people live in an endless cycle of sinning, feeling guilty and condemned, suffering under guilt and condemnation for awhile, and then eventually believing God will forgive them if they've paid for it enough to be forgiven. I know how miserable it can be to live this way because I've been there myself. And it isn't God's plan for our lives.

Jesus paid a tremendous price for us so we could have abundant life. He willingly took all of our sin on Himself and gave His life on the cross so we could be forgiven and have new life in Him. One of the greatest things about life in Christ is it makes us dead to sin. Romans 6:11 (NIV) says, "In the same way, count yourselves dead to sin but alive to God in Christ Jesus."

You may be thinking, Joyce, if I'm dead to sin, then why am I still sinning? The Bible says we are dead to sin, but sin is not dead. We consider ourselves dead to sin because when we're born again through Christ, our spirit is alive in Him and wants nothing to do with sin; that's why it bothers you when you do something wrong. However, our soul-mind, will, and emotions—is not immediately mature in the things of God.

We all go through a lifelong process of learning how to renew our minds with God's Word, submit our will to Him, and be led by the Holy Spirit rather than our emotions. The exciting truth is that in Christ, we have God's grace to overcome sin, but we have to choose to cooperate with the Holy Spirit to walk it out.

As a new creation in Christ (2 Corinthians 5:17), the Holy Spirit lives in your spirit, and you have His power to do God's will. This means we don't have to live with anger, unforgiveness, bitterness, depression, addictions, self-pity, selfishness, or anything else that isn't Christlike. Philippians 4:13 tells us that we have strength for all things in Christ and we're ready for anything. We are self-sufficient in His sufficiency. In other words, we can do whatever we need to do, according to God's will, by the strength and ability we have in Christ!

We clearly see in God's Word that anything He tells us to do, He will give us the ability to do it. But do we really believe it? Do we want to believe it? It's easier to come up with excuses for why we can't do things that are hard or that we really don't want to do. "I just can't help it...it's too hard...I'm addicted...it's the way I was raised..."

Do you know that an excuse is a reason stuffed with a lie? And God is not a liar. So when you're tempted to make an excuse (and we're all tempted sometimes), think about this:

Dog Ear Tops 6x8 $48 each

Rough Sawn White Oak Lumber 8x8, 2x8, 2x10, 2x12 - 18ft. lengths

Why would God tell us to do something without giving us the ability to do it by His grace? Why would He say we should be kind, patient, merciful, and live a life of helping others and then not help us do it?

The best thing we can do is stop making excuses and decide that if God said it, it's true. He will give us the ability to do what He's asking us to do by His grace. It really just comes down to whether we want to believe Him and make the effort to do, by faith, what He wants us to do.

I know this is a challenging message, but I'm sharing it with you because God loves you so much and He wants you to have a good life. His plans for you are better than you could ever imagine for yourself, and He wants you to be hopeful about your future. In Christ, we don't ever have to settle for a mediocre life filled with compromise. We can have God's best, because we are dead to sin and alive in Him!

By William Arthur Ward

If I can write one verse of truth today Or give my fellow man a song to sing; If I can push one needless cloud away And help men live as children of the King:

If I can lend someone a helping hand Or warm a place where friendship needs to be;

If I can build a bridge where fences stand

And light a lamp that other men might see; If I can open doors of hope this day

By letting someone know that others care; If I can speak in words that seem to say: I know the heavy burdens that you bear.

If I can quide a pilgrim on his way Or pause to bid him stay for food and rest;

If I can do these, Father, this I pray: "O let me do them with my very best."
