'Winds' of change: New season of 'Dark Winds' blows onto AMC

When AMC aired "Dark Winds" Season 1 finale mid-July last year, the show proved, if nothing else, that all it takes is six great episodes to create a strong and supportive fan base. Now, a little more than one year after said finale, New Mexico cops Joe Leaphorn (Zahn McClarnon, "Reservation Dogs") and Jim Chee (Kiowa Gordon, "The Red Road") are back for Round 2, calling all fans back to their TV sets and computer screens once again. Season 2 of "Dark Winds" premieres Sunday, July 30, on AMC and the AMC+ streaming service.

Set in the American Southwest during the 1970s, the spiritually infused crime thriller follows two Navajo officers of the law, Leaphorn and Chee, as they take on a smattering of cases in their desert community. Constantly plagued by an open double murder in the first season, the officers take on several other, smaller cases while chipping away at the big unsolved crime, all while grappling with their own personal and cultural demons.

The series opened to positive reviews when it premiered in June 2022 and continued to pick up acclaim over its six weeks on air. Among the most notable accolades, "Dark Winds" was nominated for the Best Action/Thriller Television Series Saturn Award, and leading man Gordon was nominated for a Gotham Award for his performance as undercover FBI agent Chee. Additionally, the Graham Roland ("Tom Clancy's Jack Ryan") -created series earned a Western Heritage Award for the pilot, titled "Monster."

The AMC production has also been lauded for its richness of Indigenous culture, well-rounded character development and overall beautiful storytelling — the latter of which comes as no surprise to those familiar with the other works of executive producers George R.R. Martin ("Game of Thrones") and Robert Redford ("Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," 1969). Backed up by a massive team of talented writers, producers, directors and more, Martin and Redford have a major part in bringing the Navajo Mysteries novels of Tony Hillerman to life.

Much of the magic, however, falls in the hands of the series' cast. Returning for Season 2 alongside Gordon and McClarnon are Jessica Matten ("Frontier") as gifted tribal police Sgt. Bernadette Manuelito; Deanna Allison ("Accused") as Leaphorn's wife, Emma; and Rainn Wilson ("The Office") in his unusually sinister role as "Devoted Dan" De-Marco. There has also been word that Sally Growing Thunder (Elva Guerra, "Reservation Dogs"), Frank Nakai (Eugene Brave Rock, "That Dirty Black Bag") and Hoski (Jeremiah Bitsui, "Better Call Saul") are likely to return this season.

As for the remainder of the second-season plot, the "Dark Winds" trailer features a very human threat in the form of a "blond man" walking onto the reservation and committing a string of murders. Though with many of Season 1's questions still lingering without concrete answers, it's worth noting that many of this season's horrors link back to the freshman season in one way or another.

Leaphorn, still dealing with a personal loss from last season, has a lot to face before he can move forward with his grief. Now more determined than ever that he can't face his demons alone, Leaphorn once again teams up with Chee and Manuelito to bring peace to their Nation — hopefully once and for all. But it certainly won't be easy.

Hopes have been (and continue to be) high for "Dark Winds" — and not just from a Hollywood success standpoint. In an interview ahead of the series premiere, McClarnon acknowledged his own hopes for the series.

"What I hope to see from 'Dark Winds' is just more doors opening, not only for Indigenous talent in front of the camera but also behind the camera," McClarnon said. "I think we're kind of in a unique time right now with Native representation in media [a]nd I'm glad to be a part of it."

"Dark Winds" Season 2 premieres Sunday, July 28, on AMC and AMC+.

Note: This interview took place before the SAG-AFTRA actors' strike. Jennifer Finnigan appreciates that "Moonshine" has brought her back home.

A Montreal native, the three-time Daytime Emmy winner (for "The Bold and the Beautiful") has spent the past several years in Nova Scotia making the seriocomic series "Moonshine," about a family power struggle for control of a resort. Created by executive producer Sheri Elwood, the show now is airing its third season on Canada's CBC while its first-year episodes are getting an American run Fridays on The CW, following their earlier U.S. availability on Freevee.

"It's been super-fun," Finnigan says of playing central "Moonshine" figure Lidia, an architect who wants to redeem herself via her own plans for the site – and finds a sizable portion of her blended clan not particularly welcoming. "It starts off by easing everyone in, then it gets weirder and funnier. I've come to a scary point in my career and age range where I'm being offered a lot of 'the mean PTA mom,' and that's just not for me.

"I always want to push the envelope as an actress," maintains Finnigan, "and when you work with a group of very talented writers, you always hope that as they gets to know you personally, they'll tap into your brand of humor and what you bring to the table ... and that's exactly what's happened. Though I started out as the 'straight man' in the show, they quickly realized that I'm crazier than anyone."

"Moonshine" – which brought Finnigan a Canadian Screen Awards nomination – has given her an opportunity to work with her husband, fellow actor Jonathan Silverman ("Weekend at Bernie's"), as her on-screen spouse as they enact a challeng-

"It's always great when he can take part in what I'm doing," Finnigan notes. "He's incredible at what he does, though I have certain rules. I don't want to 'meet cute' with
