coverstory
BY JAY BOBBIN

Courtney B. Vance and Aunjanue Ellis star in "61st Street," premiering Sunday on AMC.

Courtney B. Vance walks a treacherous '61st Street'

After winning many awards by playing one of the most famous attorneys ever, Courtney B. Vance is portraying a different kind of lawyer in a different kind of story.

The actor follows his lauded work as Johnnie Cochran in "The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story" – plus his turns in "Lovecraft Country" and "Genius: Aretha" – in the Chicago-set AMC drama series "61st Street," which debuts the first of its two scheduled seasons Sunday, April 10. (The same night, AMC+ and ALLBLK begin streaming both the premiere and the second episode, with the two services then showing each episode a week before AMC does.)

Vance plays Franklin Roberts, who becomes the legal representative for Moses Johnson (Tosin Cole), a young athlete mistaken for a gang member by police. The case becomes about much more, as cops and the prosecution use it to try to settle some scores over an officer's death during a drug raid. Cast members also include recent "King Richard" Oscar nominee Aunjanue Ellis, Bentley Green and Holt McCallany ("Nightmare Alley").

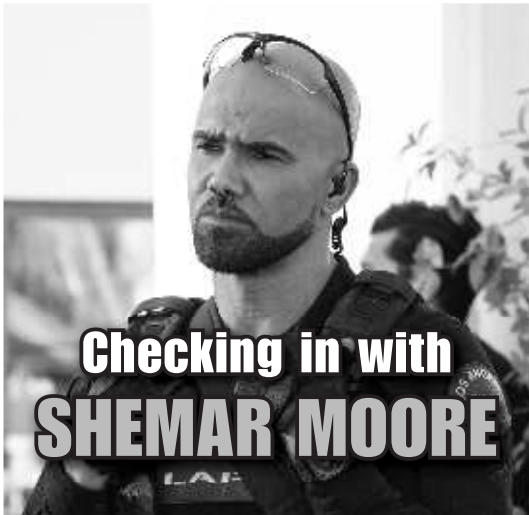

Also an executive producer of "61st Street" along with others including fellow actor Michael B. Jordan and series creator Peter Moffat, Vance says, "I think we all had to get our minds around how big this thing was. We didn't have one person who was overseeing the day-to-day operations, so all the actors and much of the crew had to pitch in and make sure we were on the same page."

Though "61st Street" is quite different from "The People vs. O.J. Simpson," Vance was drawn to both dramas by their shared theme of the legal arena, and by the ever-intensifying place the law holds for so many people in daily modern living.

"It is a prime time for discussions of right and wrong, of moral centers," Vance reflects. "I think we're at a crossroads about what's right for a city, a country and a society. If someone crosses a line, what is the right thing to do? We continually find ways to say it's the (citizens') fault, and maybe we need to look at the way police are trained and how they react to situations. Maybe we need a reboot, but at least we need to talk about it."

Vance spent much of last year filming both seasons of "61st Street," so his work schedule often coincided with that of wife Angela Bassett, a star and executive producer of Fox's "9-1-1." He's not complaining much, if at all: "We're blessed enough to be able to work, and we've been working our entire professional careers, since we graduated from Yale Drama School. I don't think I've ever had any other job, and that's very rare."

Checking in with
SHEMAR MOORE

In the category of actors who have had a number of long runs on TV series, we present for your consideration Shemar Moore.

Indeed, the man who stars as LAPD team leader Daniel "Hondo" Harrelson on "S.W.A.T.," which airs its 100th episode Sunday, April 10, on CBS, stands as the answer to a trivia question since he also did 12 seasons on "Criminal Minds," eight on "The Young and Restless" and four as host of "Soul Train."

That's at least 100 episodes in three series and a prized hosting gig in a fourth.

"In the past I was a 'Jeopardy' question, which was kind of a big honor and kind of a trip," that actor admits. "I don't know how many episodes of television I've done in 28 years but I'm blessed. My acting coach has always joked that I have the Midas touch because in 28 years of working, the longest I've gone unemployed is four months. So yeah, it has been quite a run."

Friday's installment finds Hondo on the lam when a deepfake video implicates him in the murder of two cops. The episode promises to have its usual bounty of action as Moore says the show filmed several helicopter stunts in downtown Los Angeles and at least one involving Hondo.

Moore estimates he does about 75 percent of his stunts and after a long shooting day, the uber-fit actor says he feels all of his 51 years.

"When I get out of my car at home, I literally can barely walk," he says. "So I've got a Theragun to loosen up my body. I've got a cold plunge in my house, a sauna. I've got a lot of ibuprofen and Advil. I've got a hot tub and I've got a masseuse that I call in when needed.

"I'm going to be 52 years old in about a month and a half, so I joke that they could have given me this job 10-15 years ago when it wouldn't have hurt so much," he says, laughing.

 A clash of NL West rivals goes down tonight in the City by the Bay, as Brandon Crawford and the San Francisco Giants open a three-game series against Manny Machado and the San Diego Padres. The Giants, who won the West in 2021 with a 107-55 record, let Kris Bryant and Kevin Gausman leave via free agency but brought in high-upside lefty Carlos Rodon for the rotation. The Pods, a disappointing 79-83 a year ago, will be without the services of their resident superstar shortstop Fernando Tatis Jr. because of injury.

The Thing About Pam
 This unconventional true-crime thriller — which plays a lot like an episode of "Dateline" written and directed by Joel and Ethan Coen of " Fargo " — wraps up Season 1 with "She's a Killer," which finds Pam Hupp (Renee Zellweger) resorting to shocking and farcically absurd extremes to extricate herself from the mind-boggling web of lies she has spun. Despite her best efforts, though, some measure of justice, redemption and hope finally is granted. Judy Greer, Josh Duhamel and Glenn Fleshler also star.

Meanwhile, in New Mexico, the Villegas family resorts to using some crossbow ingenuity to find their way into a mine that looks pretty risky. Elsewhere, in Utah, the Dillman clan breaks out an excavator to dig up a mysterious marsh, which previously may have revealed an ancient artifact.

 The new episode "American Arctic" explores the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge in the northeast corner of Alaska, which has long offered protection to animal survivors of the Ice Age, who are free to roam this frozen wilderness. The Porcupine caribou herd traverses all of this region in the longest land-animal migration on Earth, but other extraordinary wildlife moments unfold everywhere in the refuge. Sadly, this icy fortress is melting due to climate change, posing an existential crisis for the resident polar bears, musk oxen, caribou and Arctic foxes.

 Barry and Chester (Grant Gustin, Brandon McKnight) may have figured out a way to stop the Black Flame from hurting anyone else in a new episode called "Resurrection." Meanwhile, Caitlin (Danielle Panabaker) decides to try handling a situation on her own, which may wind up putting even more innocent lives in danger.

 With only two weeks left until their big Decision Day, the four couples travel to Vermont for a final romantic getaway in the new episode "It's Just a Blip." Despite the appeal of adventure parks, sound baths and fun with alpacas, not everything goes

 A tip from Evan (Gavin Stenhouse) leads Nicky and Mia (Olivia Leung, guest star Vanessa Yao) to a secret meeting between Juliette (guest star Annie Q) and a mysterious scientist in the new episode "Jyu Sa." Elsewhere, Jin and Mei-Li (Tzi Ma, Kheng Hua Tan) help to settle an age-old dispute between Chinatown's oldest grocers.

 Evan (T.J. Linnard) proposes an idea that he hopes could save Bulk Beauty in the new episode "Something Unpredictable, but in the End It's Right."
