Huron, South Dakota — $1.00

School board hires Puetz for construction management

HURON — After getting snowed out the previous night, the Huron Board of Education formally contracted with Puetz Design+Build to oversee the upcoming Huron High School Addition and Remodel project, as the Construction Manager at Risk (CMR) for the school district.

In its capacity as CMR, Puetz will work with JLG Architects, who will design the proj-ect, and will handle all of the required bidding and construction oversight, including working with the suncontractors on the project. All bids are reviewed by and must be approved by the school board, after which Puetz is responsible for completing the project within the bid parameters. According to school district Business Manager Kelly Christopherson, "that is the risk," part of the agreement.

Per the contract, Elliott Coughlin will become the project manager and Jim Weber is the project executive. Both

Beadle County Commission tables go-kart variance request BY BENJAMIN CHASE OF THE PLAINSMAN

HURON — The Beadle County Commission met as the county board adjustment of during Tuesday morning's meeting, to review a variance request filed by Cole Searing for property at 1453 9th St. SW.

Searing is requesting to build a clay track for go-karts for family and friends on property he owns.

The commission room was filled with spectators regarding the po-tential track. Many of those in opposition were against a track, seeing it as a step toward hosting competitive races, despite Searing's assurance that it will not become that and willingness to include such language in conditions on any approved variance.

The property in question is in joint jurisdictional area with the city, though most of those

State accidentally told independent candidates they needed hundreds more signatures than necessary

BY JOSHUA HAIAR S.D. SEARCHLIGHT

For more than two months, state officials unintentionally led some potential legislative candidates to believe they needed hundreds more petition signatures than state law requires.

The problem affected independents. Retired Rapid City attorney Jay Davis noticed it.

"I was seeking information on behalf of a prospective candidate who was considering filing as an independent," he said. "I asked how many signatures she would need in her district."

Davis was referencing nominating petitions. To earn a spot on the ballot, candidates need signatures on their petitions from registered voters in their district.

Civic engagement center moves forward for Black Hills State

Gov. Kristi Noem and the

BY MAKENZIE HUBER S.D. SEARCHLIGHT

Black Hills State University will begin work on a center for civic engagement this year, even after a bill to create the center failed twice in the Legislature.

The Legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee approved a letter Tuesday outlining how nearly $1 million it budgeted for Black Hills State earlier this month should be spent. The letter says that the school will use a portion of that money to create the center.

According to the letter, the center's purpose will be to prepare undergraduate students in South Dakota for active and informed participation in political and civic life.

"The center must provide this foundation by incorporating, in the education of the students, a broad range of subjects, including communications, economics, history, philosophy, political science, and sociology, and enhancing the students' understanding of civic affairs and discourse,' the letter reads.

The center would be tasked with helping the Board of Regents and other public universities develop civic programming, develop and provide curriculum, and host civic-focused events.

South Dakota Board of Regents, which oversees the state's public universities, identified a civic engagement center as a priority ahead of the 2024 legislative session, but a bill to create the "Dr. Nicholas W. Drummond Center for Civic Engagement" failed by one vote in the Senate.

Sioux Falls Republican Rep. Tony Venhuizen, who serves on Joint Appropriations, told South Dakota Searchlight after the Tuesday meeting that legislation wasn't necessary, since the South Dakota Board of Regents has the authority to create the center so "on their own terms."

Writing the center's name into state statute sparked opposition to the bill, he said. The Board of Regents testified against the bill because there wasn't a new funding source to help Black Hills State pay for the center.

To get around such concerns, appropriators sent an additional $926,406 in general funds to Black Hills State University at the end of session. The Legislature approved the increase when it signed off on the state budget bill.

Board of Regents Executive Director Nathan Lukkes told appropriators on Tuesday the center would cost about $200,000 in its first year of implementation

"as the minimum to do the initiative justice."

Spearfish Republican Rep. Scott Odenbach, who introduced the civics bills, said he's pleased with the decision to move forward on the "groundbreaking" initiative. He hopes Drummond can still be honored somehow through the center.

"Whatever your major is, you need better exposure to the civic life of our country," Odenbach said. "For too long, that got pigeon-holed for political science or government majors. But if you're going to school for education or biology, every student still needs to understand that in South Dakota 'Under God the People Rule.' We all have to step up as leaders of our country. That's the hope of where this will go."

The rest of the money would be added to Black Hills State's regular budget. A 2022 study found that the university had a "significant shortfall in funding" compared to similar institutions in other states. The Legislature approved about half a million additional dollars last year for Black Hills State.

Northern State University in Aberdeen has its own Center for Public History and Civic Engagement, which prior legislation indicated the two centers could work together on the initiatives.

are Puetz employees. The contract calls for a $30,000 pre-construction phase payment and the construction manager's fee is contracted at 4% of construction costs.

While the CMR position is one new endeavor, another relatively new undertaking is paying dividends already, according to Heather Rozell, the principal at the Madison 2-3 Center.

Rozell, as well as Madison teachers Angel Hovde, Holly Cundy and Kate Ashbaugh spoke on the effectiveness of the hiring of Huron High School students to assist as teacher's aides in the classroom.

Rozell said that the program is beneficial to the high school students, who are able to help out in a classroom setting, which may assist them in determining whether to go into education as a career. The elementary students benefit from having older students to work with and the teachers benefit as well, by having an extra set of hands in their classroom.

Students Kaiden Caudell, Nakia Mohr, MacKenzie Hershman and Alivia Cunard also spoke on their experiences and how working at Madison fits into their schedule.

Transportation Director Kathie Bostrom was unable to attend the meeting on Tuesday, so Christopherson stepped and presented the Classified Employee of the Month award to Rollie Hotchkin, a substitute bus driver for the school district. As part of the presentation, Christopherson read from Hotchkin's nomination form, stating, "Rollie takes care of each bus load of students like they are his own....He doesn't care if a task may inconvenience him in some way. Rollie's attitude is as long as it is what is best for the students. He is an unfailing professional."

As part of his Superintendent's report, Dr. Kraig Steinhoff noted that the snow day taken on Monday will be made up May 16, with the scheduled early release moved one day later, to May 17.

The board approved Workman's Compensation and Health Insurance renewals with the Associated School Boards of South Dakota. Christopherson noted that after a healthy longevity credit, the district's workman's compensation premium for the 2024-25 school year will be $158,174 and its health insurance premium will take a modest 2% increase.

In other action, the school board:

• Approved seven new hires, three resignations and one new contract approval for James Cutshaw, Sr., as the new assistant principal of the high school

• Approved representatives of the Maintenance, Grounds & Custodial; Food

Service; Full-time, Related Services Therapy Assistants and Para Educators for the purposes of negotiations.

• Approved the appointment of 10 individuals to a pair of election boards for the upcoming municipal/school board election on April 9.

• Approved grant funding application permissions for five different teachers.

• Approved two open enrollment requests.

• Approved a second reading of the Associated School Boards of South Dakota recommended policy on school employee military leave.

BOARD:

Suzie is the administrative assistant to the school district's Special Education Director. Our daughter, Sarah, is a Family Services Specialist with Child Protection Services in Huron. Our daughter, Torrey, is a nurse with the HRMC Physicians Clinic.

When I first ran for the school board, it was my hope to have an impact on my kids education. They both received a wonderful education in Huron and are now productive young women. I'm running for reelection with the hope to be part of the team that continues to move our school district forward. The Huron School District has been a pioneer in ESL and Early Childhood Education and has been held up as an example to other school districts in the state. I'm very grateful to the public for allowing me to serve for the last 15 years and still love doing this job so I'm hopeful the public will allow me to continue to serve.

Plainsman: Tell us two areas in which you see room for improvement in the school board or in the school system and how would you set about makwhich the Huron School District could improve. A general area for improvement for both the School Board and School District as a whole would be in the area of communication and transparency. I believe this has become apparent throughout the current school year. When major incidents occur in our schools, especially incidents dealing with school safety, teachers and parents should be informed. Teachers are the essential foundation of our children's education, and should feel safe while teaching our students. With all the avenues of communication utilized by our district, there is no reason parents should have to learn of these incidents through other parent's social media pages.

A second area of improvement would be a continued focus on our CTE programs. Although I am excited to see interest from our current superintendant in this area, I feel there is much more to be done. Like most other rural South Dakota communities, Huron is in great need of trade professionals. Allowing students to experience these opportunities while in high school could benefit our community in the future, while also preventing unneeded college debt for our students. Establishing partnerships with area businesses and professionals would ensure the success of these programs long term, and give students potential for job placement following graduation.

With increased focus on CTE Programs, we can't forget about students perusing continued education through a traditional four-year college. Utilizing current relationships established through the Huron Community Campus, I would like to see more dual credit classes offered to those students interested in attending a four year university. This would help ensure the success of every student, no matter their career path

Van Berkum — First would be recruitment and retention of staff. Certain positions can be difficult to fill and there is intense competition for these candidates with other districts. The Huron district has been very competitive with our salaries while still trying to stay within the confines of our budget. In the past, we've tried to put all additional funding into personnel salaries. We've also reinstituted retirement bonuses for long serving staff memebers and we've also been giving bonuses to staff members for every 5 years of service. We've strived to make the Huron School District a place people want to come to and work in. Second would be expanding our CTE offerings. With the changing world, there is a huge need of filling technical jobs. Not every student is college bound and it's our hope that this would give those students interested in future tech jobs an opportunity to take more courses at the high school level. There is grant funding available at the state level that we are hopeful we can tap into. We've been studying this issue over the last couple of years. Unfortunately, the cost analysis of the initial proposal were too high. We're currently planning an addition at the high school that would help to provide more CTE offerings. Cardona _ The school district is working hard to grow the Career & Technical Education program, which I am strongly in favor of. A parent mentioned that the district is short on teachers that can teach the advanced Math and Science courses and feels too much focus is on CTE. I cannot speak to shortage firsthand, but if there is a shortage, I will identify why we have the shortage and work with board members to create strategies quote Frederick Douglas – "It is easier to build strong children than to repair broken men." All policy or discussion on this topic that would come before me will get my full attention.

Plainsman: A large construction project is on the horizon with an addition and/or remodel of the Huron High School. What steps should be taken at this time to ensure that the building will be able to accommodate students and staff into the future? Do you have any specific ideas that you feel should be incorporated into this project?

Van Berkum — The school district conducted a facilities and enrollment projection study last year. It did show that our high school is nearing full capacity. We were also looking at options for CTE expansion. The initial proposal for construction would have required the passage of a school bond. The board did not feel there was a public appetite for passage of a bond at this time. Our administrative team has brought forth a proposal to put an addition on the northwest part of the high school using capital outlay certificates. This means that there would be no additional tax burden on the public to finance this project. This project began on March 11th with the approval with Putez Construction for Construction Manager at Risk Services and getting a proposal from the architect to develop a floor plan. It is our hope thia will accommodate our growing population and allow us to offer CTE expanded programs. It will also allow us to repurpose some existing space in the high school. Cardona The board has already done several construction projects and has learned a great deal through the process. Construction Manager at Risk services will be sought and needs assessments have been conducted for the future project. If it has not already been done, I would recommend the design be presented to the staff that will be utilizing the building for input. No one will be better equipped to offer insight than the individuals using the current facility every day.

creased class sizes and increased CTE opportunities, comes a need for increased space. As a parent in the district, I support any addition or remodel required to accommodate the future growth, however, as a taxpayer, I want to ensure the project is done responsibly. Proper planning for future class sizes and program offerings now can help eliminate the need for similar expansion in the future. I feel transparency throughout this process will be imperative to receive community support. Taxpayers deserve to be heard and informed why and how their money is being spent.

Plainsman: Explain to the voters what they could expect from you, should you be successful in the upcoming election?

Cardona — I will be considerate with your issues, have the courage to present them, and work hard for resolutions. Thank you for your support!

Layher — If successful, I will be a voice of reason and common sense. I am a person who his not afraid to ask questions, or go against the group. If elected to the school board, I will look at each issue from the viewpoint of those affected by my decision. If I do not feel informed in an area, I will research the topic, or seek out area professionals until I feel comfortable making a decision. Most importantly, I promise to listen to the thoughts of others and do what is best for our students and teachers. Thank you for your support on April 9. Van Berkum — It's been a privilege and honor to serve the patrons of the Huron School District over the past 15 years. I've been able to serve 3 years as vice president and 5 years as president. We have a wonderful professional staff and a cohesive board that works well together. I would love the opportunity to continue being an advocate and a leader for our district. I've never been a micro manager. I believe that when you put the best professional people in administrative positions and allow them to do their jobs then wonderful things happen.

To the Editor:

I personally know how kindhearted and trustworth Bryan Smith is, who is currently running for our Mayor.

I worked with Bryan for over 20 years. He was always willing to listen to all ideas that were brought to the table. He was also very open to other individual's opinions and ideas.

Who wouldn't want a great listener and a trustworthy Mayor?

Bryan Smith is both. Please vote for Bryan for Mayor.

Moscow massacre: Could it happen here?

A mass shooting at a concert hall in Moscow killed more than 130 people. With many others seriously or gravely wounded the number of dead is likely to rise.

The Islamic state released a statement claiming "credit" for the incident. Eleven suspects have been arrested. Early reports suggested the U.S. Embassy in Moscow had advance warning of the attack. The Daily Mail reported White House Strategic Communications Coordinator John Kirby said:" Right now we don't know to what extent this warning [from the US Embassy in early March] and this attack are related. But we had some concerns about the possibility of a terrorist attack in and around Moscow earlier this month."

The question that must be asked, as it has been suggested for some time, due to our open southern border, is this: Could it happen

For Almost A Year." FBI Director Christopher Wray has testified several times before congressional committees about his belief that a national security threat exists because of the 1.8 million "known gotaways." Homeland Security Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas is unable to confirm that every suspected terrorist who crosses t he border without proper documentation has been detained by Border Patrol. It doesn't take many as we saw on 9/11 and have seen in the Moscow concert hall incident to produce mayhem.

While 9/11 was predictable – Osama bin Laden and other

As a teacher at the university, my weekdays are filled with grading, helping stu-dents who have not done their homework, and encouraging and prodding in any way I can to help them pass my classes.

But on Sundays, I can just enjoy being in church with them. On other days of the week, we also participate in activities with them. The youth are so vibrant and excited about life. They see so much of the adventure that awaits them in their future. But sometimes they just need someone who has been there that they can talk to. Óften, they don't need your advice, just someone to listen to them as they figure out the answer on their own.

mornings, both youth and adult leaders meet to determine the needs of the young people we work with.

This meeting always starts with a five-minute devotional that is rotated among the group.

As would be my luck, my day fell on Daylight Savings weekend in the fall.

That is not the best weekend for anything in church. Even though people gain an hour, everyone's sleep is thrown off, and people still come to church tired.

I thought for a long time about what I could share that would be inspiring, especially on that weekend.

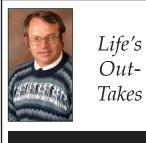

I put a clock in front of me and practiced multiple times, ensur-ing I stayed within the time limit.

The first few times, I got to the end of the time and was only halfway through the thought. I kept cutting and cutting until I came in at five minutes, almost to the second.

On that weekend, I got up early and did one last practice.

As Donna and I headed off to the meeting, I felt confident it would be just right. We all sat in a circle, so I chose a seat so I was positioned facing directly toward the only clock in the room.

I looked at it, and it The thought needed had not yet been set for be kept as close to five daylight savings time. It campus are all controlled from one central place.

Those in charge can set all of them at once, but the only way they can set them back an hour is to spin the minute hand around the clock twenty-three times.

As I looked at the clock, the minute hand started spinning around, circling the clock about every twenty seconds.

here? The answer must be an unequivocal yes.

In fact, it has already happened here, on Sept. 11, 2001.

Does anyone seriously think America's enemies would not be encouraged by that previous attack and the Moscow atrocity to conduct a repeat operation in America? With such easy access to the country and with so many fanatical beliefs floating around the world, what would deter them?

The Cato Institute has noted t hat since 2017, "US Border Patrol has apprehended 342 border crossers who were on the Terrorist Screening Dataset, also known as the terror watchlist. Those numbers have shot up in recent years to 169 in FY2023 and 49 to date this fiscal year. Last month, The Daily Caller reported that Border Patrol apprehended an al-Shabaab terrorist and released him into the United States in March 2023 after a mismatch on the watch list. Later, the government discovered that he was on the watchlist, and Immigration and Customs (ICE) Enforcement arrested him within 48 hours. The Daily Caller's headline was "ICE Confirms It Finally Nabbed Terrorist Allowed To Roam Free members of al-Qaida issued fatwas calling for attacks on the U.S. and American citizens and declared war on the United States and the terrorists trained in how to takeoff in airplanes, but not land so the warning signs will have been seen should infiltrators pull off another 9/11, or worse. If that happens, count on the Biden administration to blame Republicans as they are currently doing for refusing to vote for a bill that would legalize 5,000 migrants per day coming to America.

In 2003, Tom Clancy published a timely novel titled "Teeth of the Tiger." The plot in part is about Islamic terrorists who make a deal with Colombian drug smugglers. Crossing the U.S. border, they head for four shopping malls in Middle America where they murder innocent civilians. Again, it doesn't take much to wreak havoc, tank the economy and strike fear into the hearts of everyone.

It could happen again here and likely will unless this or a administration new moves quickly to find the suspected terrorists who have already snuck in before they can activate a plot worthy of a Tom Clancy's novel.

I feel that, at least for me, something is more meaningful if it is shared as a story taken from one's own experience.

The problem is, if I share a story, I tend to get off topic, and then the time passes quickly.

I was determined to stay within the allotted time, so I first chose a topic where I could get the point across quickly.

Center for Independence holds annual awards banquet

The Huron Area Center for Inde-L pendence held the Awards Banquet March 19 in the Nordby Exhibit Hall with more than 260 people in attendance.

Awards were presented for the Excellence in Achievement, Employee of the Year, Employer of the Year, and the Distinguished Service Award for Health Care. In addition, employee anniversary and community employment awards were presented.

• Employer of the Runnings was Year: chosen as the recipient of the Employer of the Year. Every year they take the opportunity to recognize an employer who employs people with disabilities. The Center puts together a group that discusses the potential candidates and decide which business has shined above others. This year they came to a clear conclusion that Runnings of Huron has gone above and beyond to not only employ a person with disabilities but make sure that person felt like a member of their team.

Shane Hood and the rest of the management at Runnings of Huron took the time to make sure Paul was properly trained, given the tools he need to complete his work, and were involved in every step of his employment process. If you go into Runnings and Paul is working, you will see Paul doing his work, interacting with customers, and interacting with his fellow co-workers. Runnings has shown what true inclusion and empowerment looks like.

• Distinguished Service for Health Care: Jennifer Enander is the recipient of the Distinuished Service Award for Health Care. Jennifer has always been more than willing to help out when it comes to the medication of Clozaril. The Center keeps in communication with her, and she has even come in on her days off to make sure labs are entered into the database so they can get our refills on time. She is willing to help when they run into issues with not being able to fill the Clozaril and getting refills and/or the labs results in place so they can pick up the medication. Jennifer has provided a second staff contact name at CCS if she is going to be unavailable. She has also given her cell phone contact and the OK to contact her after office hours and even on her day off to be sure the people the Center supports don't go without their medication. Jennifer is very responsive to medication refill requests when needed and she is always friendly and

The State CFEL Convention will be held in Huron Sept. 20-21, at the Huron Event Center.

"Christmas in September" is the theme for the convention. Deanne and Diana will be in charge of the cultural arts. Each member is asked to furnish an item for the silent auction. The issues for 2025 are Mental Health and Humor. Speakers will be finalized for this. Entertainment will be provided.

Tootie Stahl has organized the goodie bags and silverware stockings. Each club is to furnish a raffle item. The crafts for the convention will be a black top hat and wine bottle snowman. Theresa is making centerpieces for the banquet. The idea of possibly making a recipe book was brought up. More discussion later.

Coborns receipts were turned in to Diana. Coborns will no longer be sponsoring this program after March 31. Members discussed things they had done in the last two months, which will go in to the end of the year report. The state officers will hold an officers meeting in Pierre on Friday, April 5.

Diana demonstrated an Easter egg wreath. Members will attend the Area/Spring Council meeting next month.

STATE:

opened Jan. 1 — the same day the erroneous signature guidance was published — and will close for independent candidates on April 30.

The Secretary of State's Office oversees elections in South Dakota. Davis said Rachel Soulek, director of the office's Division of Elections, initially refused to look up the information and told him to find it on the office's website.

"Later, she forwarded me the applicable information from the website, and I was horrified," Davis said.

For example, the list said independent legislative candidates in Sioux Falls-area Dis-

On March 8, after Davis reported the errors, the numbers were changed to 114 and 88, respectively. Numbers for many other districts were also updated at that time.

State law requires a number of signatures equal to 1% of the votes cast within the district in the last governor's race.

The number of people in each legislative district is roughly equal and based on numbers from the 2020 Census, which determined the total population of South Dakota was 886,667.

• Excellence in Achievement: Ryan Weigel was named the Excellence in Achievement Award winner.

Ryan moved into the 1010 House in May 2021. He has expanded his interests and activities, including going to the movies, eating out, shopping, volunteering, taking day trips, and going to the local gym. He is always willing to try anything new at least once without hesitation. He enjoys just about everything he does and keeps a positive attitude.

He loves to sing, laugh, and joke with his Davis doesn't think that fully addresses the problem.

"There may already be people who looked into running as independents for the South Dakota Senate and House who abandoned the idea, after looking at the onerous signature requirements," he said.

Soulek, with the Secretary of State's Office, communicated with South Dakota Searchlight only by email and did not accept phone calls. She offered a lengthy explaEmployee of the Year award to Tania Ruhnke.

Ever industrious and quick to address and problem solve, Tania is tenacious and strives to enhance the lives of the residents served. The staff under her supervision are also grateful for her attentiveness to their concerns and well-being.

She is truly a "cut above" and shines under pressure and stress. Tania both "rolls up her "wears sleeves" and many hats."

Eight employees received a 5 year award, five employees received 10 year awards and one employee received a 15 year award. Receiving 20 year awards were Vicky North and Patricia Williams. Angela Clay, Emily Harms, Ted Haug and Heather Ruden received a 30 year award for their years of service.

Community Employment Awards were given out for 1, 5, 10 and 15 Year Awards. Six individuals received oneyear awards. Three received five year awards. Colton Hall and Donald Wagner received 10 year awards, and Peter Fremark and Christy Palmer received 15 year awards.

Iroquois Peer Assistance Team

wenty members make up the Iroquois IPAT team. The Iroquois Peer Assistance Team is a school and community service organization. Upon entering high school, student may sign up to become a member of this organization. MS/ HS staff vote on these student's membership based on character, leadership, integrity and academics. Once a student becomes a member of the team, they remain a member throughout their high school career.

These students participate in several different school and community projects. A few of these are: the annual food drive, decorating the school for Christmas, being secret pals with the sixth-grade students, making and delivering fruit bags to community members for the holidays, displaying positive posters throughout the hallways, recognizing each student and staff's birthdays, leaving positive messages on student's lockers and tutoring.

In January, these 20 students attended a twoday Natural Helpers training here at the school with Dodi Haug from the Human Service Agency in Watertown. This interactive training focused on teaching the students the skills they may need to help their friends. It focused on teamwork, problem solving, listening and communication, the importance of self-care and knowing when situations may require professional help. It was a valuable workshop and the students concluded it feeling more confident in their abilities to be of help and support to others.

This is an amazing group of young people, and they make a positive impact on both our school and our community.

HURON — Senior Hamtyn Heinz of Huron was named to the Class AA all-state second team, which was announced today by the South Dakota Basketball Coaches Association.

Heinz, a 5-8 guard, led the Tigers with an average of 15.9 points per game this season. She also grabbed 4.5 rebounds and had 2.1 assists per game.

"Hamtyn was a tremendous leader for our team this year. She knew she had to be the best player for us every night and she knew that she was going to see the best defenders and she showed up willing to take that challenge," Huron coach Kody Kopfmann said. "Her work ethic to make herself as good as possible is second to none, not just in basketball but in everything that she does."

Heinz reached the 1,000-point milestone for the Tigers during a game against Sturgis this season. She finished her high school career with 1,091 points.

As far as her future is concerned, Heinz has had contact with a number of schools to play at the collegiate level. However, she has yet to make a decision as to where that will be.

Senior Mahli Abdouch, who helped O'Gorman to a undefeated season and a Class AA state championship, was selected as the Class AA Player of the Year.

Ohtani, Soto headline MLB players with new teams in 2024

PHOENIX (AP) Shohei Ohtani's 31-mile journey north on Interstate 5 during free agency was the highlight of Major League Baseball's offseason, even if recent off-the-field developments have clouded his first season with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

But the Japanese superstar will be far from the only All-Star-caliber player in a new uniform when MLB's regular season opens Thursday for 28 of 30 teams. The Dodgers and San Diego Padres got the season started last week in Seoul, South Korea, with the teams splitting a two-game series.

Young slugger Juan Soto was dealt to the Yankees New York while the Baltimore Orioles added hardthrowing righty Corbin Burnes as they try to win back-to-back titles in the AL East.

The San Francisco Giants made several moves — including a few recent ones — adding four-time Gold Glove third baseman Matt Chapman and two-time Cy Young winner Blake Snell.

Here's a look at some of the biggest names who will be playing for new teams in 2024.

Shohei Ohtani, Dodgers

The two-way star is just a hitter in 2024 after elbow surgery, but Ohtani's move to the Dodgers on a $700 million, 10-year contract was still one of the biggest moves in several years. Ohtani, 29, was brilliant during spring training with a .500 batting average and two homers, and he started the regular season with three hits in 10 at-bats in Korea. Ohtani's first season hit turbulence recently when his translator Ippei Mizuhara was fired by the Dodgers last week amid accusations of gambling and theft, but big things are still expected.

Juan Soto, Yankees

Soto seems like he's been around forever, but he's just 25. After being dealt from the Padres to the Yankees, the three-time All-Star could form a powerhitting juggernaut in the Bronx when paired with Aaron Judge and Giancarlo Stanton. He's coming off a 35-homer season with the Padres last season.

Blake Snell, Giants

The Scott Boras client finally signed with the Giants last week on a $62 million, two-year contract, potentially giving San Francisco a bonafide ace as it competes in the NL West with the Padres, Dodgers and Diamondbacks. Snell has never thrown more than 181 innings in a season, but he's dominant when he's on the mound. He won his second Cy Young in 2023 with the Padres, striking out 234 and giving up just 115 hits in 180 innings.

Corbin Burnes, Orioles

The 2021 NL Cy Young winner has been among the game's most dominant pitchers the past three seasons while playing for the Brewers.

Milwaukee dealt him to the Orioles on Feb. 1 in exchange for a package of prospects. The 29-year-old Burnes has struck out at least 200 batters in each of the past three seasons.

Josh Hader, Astros

Houston bulked up the back end of its bullpen by signing the fivetime All-Star in January. Hader's been one of the most dominant relievers in the game since he debuted with the Brewers in 2017, striking out an incredible 648 batters over 388 2/3 career innings. The Astros already had a very good closer in Ryan Pressly, who now moves to a setup role.

dinals signed Gray on a $75 million, three-year deal, hoping that the right-hander can help solidfy a rotation that was a sore spot last season. The 34-year-old Grav will start the season on the injured list because of a hamstring ailment, but the Cardinals hope he eventually provides a season like 2023, when he had a 2.79 ERA over 32 starts with the Twins.

Matt Chapman, Giants

Chapman's been one of the best defensive third baseman in baseball over the past seven years with the A's and Blue Jays. Now he moves to the Giants on a $54 million, three-year deal, where he's reunited with former manager Bob Melvin. Chapman's defense is the headliner, but he can also provide significant power and had a career-high 36 homers with Oakland in

Chris Sale, Braves

The seven-time All-Star hasn't been able to stav healthy since 2018, but the Braves rolled the dice by acquiring the left-hander in a trade with the Red Sox during the offseason. Sale had some good moments in 2023 and had 125 strikeouts in 102 2/3 innings.

Eduardo Rodriguez, Diamondbacks

The D-backs — fresh off their surprise run to the World Series in 2023 – signed the lefty on an $80 million, four-year deal during the offseason. He'll start the season on the injured list with a strained muscle in his left side, but the D-backs hope he can return quickly and provide a solid presence in the No. 3 spot in the rotation behind Zac Gallen and Merrill Kelly.

Rhys Hoskins, Brewers

The 31-year-old Hoskins was a consistent slugger for the Phillies from 2017-22 but missed the 2023 season because of a knee injury suffered in a spring training. The Phillies decided to move Bryce Harper to first base during the offseason, which made Hoskins expendale, and he signed with the Brewers. The righthander has hit 148 homers over six big-league seasons.

Kenta Maeda, Tigers

35-year-old The missed the entire 2022 season after Tommy John but bounced back in 2023 with solid work over 20 starts. The Tigers saw enough from the righty to invest $24 million over two years. Maeda finished second in AL Cy Young voting for the Twins during the shortened 2020 season.

ketball "IO" and would do whatever was needed for us to be successful. Her offensive numbers speak for themselves, she scores in many ways which made her a tough matchup for opposing teams," Redfield coach Tommy Gregg said of Rozell. "On the defensive end, her ability to guard all five positions on the floor is something that flies under the radar. Her length, ability to anticipate and basket-ball "IQ" are things that allowed her to be a very good defender.

Son's new playmate resides with sex offender

DEAR ABBY: We recently moved to a new neighborhood. My 8-year-old son, "Joey," has become best friends with a Dear classmate, "Paul," who lives on Abby our street. We know from research we did when we bought our house that Paul's stepfather, with whom he lives, is a ABIGAIL VANBUREN sex offender who committed crimes against children and served time in prison. Paul has been coming to our house most days, which is fine. However, both Paul and Joey have started asking whether Joey can go play at Paul's house. I will never allow my son to play there. At some point, the boys will want an explanation, but I don't think Paul knows about his stepfather's past, and I don't think Paul's mother knows that I know. If I tell Joey an age-appropriate version of the truth, I am sure he will tell Paul. I don't think this is how Paul should hear about his stepfather's past, plus I am concerned it might cause Paul's mother to get upset and cut off the kids' friendship. Do you have any advice? -- CON-FLICTED IN THE WEST DEAR CONFLICTED: Are you absolutely certain that you have the story right and Paul's stepdad is a registered sex offender? I ask because I'm surprised that he would be allowed to live in a household with a minor child. Your concern that Joey might tell Paul about his stepfather is laudable. A way to handle it would be to continue insisting that the boys play only at your house. I do think you should discuss this with Paul's mother so you know for sure this is what you are dealing with. If it is true, for the next few years use the old, "Because I'm your mother and I said so!" when Joey asks to visit ALPACA-LYPSE? Paul. Eventually, the truth is going to come out, but Paul should hear it from his mother.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for eight years. I love my wife with my heart and soul. The problem is, although I'm in love with her, I still love my ex-wife. I never actually expressed these feelings toward my ex until recently. I write to her and call her, hoping she will answer. I don't want to leave my wife because she's a good woman. But so was my ex. What can I do? Every time my wife and I have a disagreement, I start thinking about my ex and what life would've been like if I had stayed with her. I find myself thinking about her more and more often each day. I know my ex still loves me, although she won't come out and say it. Is it OK to be in love with one and still love the other? -- LOTS OF LOVE IN FLORIDA DEAR LOTS: May I inject a sliver of reality into your fantasy? You say you "know" your exwife still loves you although she won't come out and say it, nor does she answer your passionate letters. I'd say her refusal to communicate sends a pretty strong message that she doesn't feel the way you do.

who came to the meeting spoke due to its adjacency to city property.

The variance had been presented to the joint planning commission, where it received a recommended denial, though the request can still be heard at county and city meetings with a denial recommendation and potentially receive a different response in those meetings.

Searing explained that within his property, he would be running go-karts and allterrain vehicles anyway on the property, action that does not require a variance. Putting up a track with clay footing requires a variance, and it's for that reason he was seeking the variance.

After reviewing the application and hearing testimony, the commission considered the application and had questions regarding the city statutes on noise and other joint issues that would come into play.

The commission chose to table the variance until clarification with city could be reached.

The meeting opened with highway superintendent Jason Fritzsche. He noted that many of his department were out on roads after the recent snowstorm.

Fritzsche presented the Joint Powers Agreement with the South Dakota Department of Transportation for pavement marking to be done in the county this year.

He stated that the amount the state has budgeted for the county fits with the 10 miles of chip sealing that the county plans to do.

Sheriff Doug Solem let the commission know of the resignation of deputy Chad Ölerud. The commission accepted the resignation and approved Solem to post and hire for a deputy position.

Jeff Banks appeared on behalf of a client, to held by Beadle County on a piece of property. The property had been sold on contract for deed, but the buyers defaulted on the sale. There were also multiple individual liens placed that were attached to the property.

The previous owner reclaimed the land after the purchasers defaulted on the sale, and is looking to sell, offering a $3,500 settlement to remove county lien on the property, although this

Commissioners considered carryover of vacation hours from 2023 to 2024 for certain employees that had more hours to carry over than allowed. This was dis-

The commission also:

• Approved the hire of seasonal museum employees.

 Approved two conservation easement plats.

• Approved monthly payroll and bills, save a bill from Avera Behavioral to get more information.

another guard of ours that caused mismatch issues, so we were able to utilize her inside out to get points when we needed them," Robinson said. "Alexa worked hard to finish at the rim or get herself to the freethrow line, where she shot 77.4%.

"Alexa is a great defensive player and helped slow down other teams best players. Alexa is a competitor and she showed again this season that she will battle until the end," she said.

Goertz sits just 13 points shy of the 1,000-point milestone entering her senior season for JVC.

Luethmers, a 6-0 guard/forward, afters 19.3 points, 7 rebounds and 2.4 assists this season for the Lady Bulldogs. She also had 49 steals and nine blocks.

"Hazel drew a lot of attention from opposing teams on the offensive side of the ball. We saw multiple different defenses to try and slow down her ability to score," De Smet coach Brendon Pitts said. "She has the ability to shoot from the outside, drive to the rim and post up, which makes her a tough player to defend.

"On the defensive side of the ball, she was able to disrupt a lot of passes, and rebound the ball well, which created some opportunities for us," he said.

Moore, a 5-6 guard, averaged 19.4 points, 5.7 rebounds and 4.1 assists this season for Iroquois/Lake Preston. She also tallied 76 steals.

Lingemann was joined on the Class B all-state first team by senior Skyler Volmer of Lyman, senior Paige Kjerstad of Wall, junior Addalyn Steffensen of Arlington; junior Althea Gust of Centerville and senior Abby Asleson of Howard.

Orth and Robinson were joined on the second team by sophomore Makalee Scott of Lyman, senior Stevie Wittler of Sully Buttes, junior Emma Marshall of Centerville and senior Nora Dinger of Wall.

The third team consisted of Megan Reiner of Tripp-Delmont/Armour, senior Allie Kohn Lemmon, senior of Claire Verhulst of Harding County, sophomore Jaelyn Huntimer of Arlington; senior Courtney Sees of Avon and junior Josie Brouwer of Andes Central/Dakota Christian.
