Development eyes another tenant

Developer wants remaining 8.5 acres of land for another national retailer.

By Mondell Keck The Brookings Register

BROOKINGS — A national retailer is showing interest in the Brookings Marketplace land, so much so that the Brookings City Council approved transferring approximately 8.53 acres of additional land to the developer, Ryan Companies, at Tuesday night's

A new, 125,000-square-foot building is being proposed for the retailer, who went unnamed at the meeting.

"There is an NDA that does not allow staff or council to convey publicly the name of the anchor tenant," City Manager Paul Briseno said. "However, Ryan Companies has stated that the company is a national big-box retailer. They provide general merchandise and some food. The national retailer wants to open in 2026. I will note this is not an existing retailer here in Brookings."

He added that, "The retailer's name their corporate representatives. I will also note that the approval of the resolution and new anchor will not impact the project with Aldi."

Aldi is the grocery store chain that is weighing a Brookings location. In this case, it would be built in the southeast corner of the Marketplace property, essentially hugging the northeast side of Interstate 29's Exit 132 interchange with Brookings.

The Marketplace land, which is just north of Sixth Street along Interstate 29, has been a focal point of city growth aspirations for years. Ryan Companies,

South Dakotans by a wide margin support a constitutional amendment that would change the way the state conducts primary elections, according to a scientific poll of 500 registered voters co-sponsored by South Dakota

The statewide survey, also sponsored by the Chiesman Center for Democracy at the University of South Dakota, showed that 55% of respondents favored the plan to change the state's election format, with 33% opposed and 12% undecided.

That's a jump in support from a similarly structured November 2023 poll, which showed 49% supporting the measure, 34% opposed and 17% undecided.

If passed, Amendment H would establish "top-two" primaries for governor, Congress and state legislative and county races rather than political parties conducting separate primary contests.

All registered voters would be eligible to weigh in on which two candidates advance to the general election. Currently in South Dakota, a voter registered with a political party can only vote in that party's primary. Those registered as non-affiliated can participate

So when they celebrate their 50th anniversary next month, they'll do so with what they know best — putting in some miles to help others by hosting a Fun Run to benefit the Brookings Regional Humane Society.

"We want to make community members aware of what we do and find ways we can also give back to the community," Brian Ardry, president and CEO of ADVANCE said. "We are very thankful for the support of the Brookings community over the last 50 years, the opportunities that have been given to the people we support through volunteering opportunities, or employment opportunities, or just feeling valued as a member of a faith community. We're extremely appreciative to the community."

in Democratic primaries but not Republican contests.

"The main argument for this amendment is fairness," said South Dakota Open Primaries chairman Joe Kirby, a Sioux Falls businessman and government reform advocate. "All voters should have an equal voice in electing their representatives and leaders."

Could it hurt Democrats?

The issue has gained prominence in the wake of historically low voter turnout in South Dakota's June 4 primary elections, which featured 44 Republican legislative primaries in addition to county contests but a lack of statewide engagement. There was one Democratic legislative primary.

Just 17% of registered voters in South Dakota cast ballots in the election, including 10% in the state's largest county, Minnehaha.

Julia Hellwege, an associate political science professor at USD and director of the Chiesman Center, said Democrats and non-affiliated voters feeling shut out of the process could lead to more willingness to explore alternatives, such as open primaries.

The News Watch poll showed that Amendment H is supported by 82% of Democrats and 59% of independent voters. Republicans aren't as convinced that a change is needed, with 40% in favor of open primaries, compared to 43% against and 18% undecided.

Female voters support the measure by a margin of 62% to 28%, compared to men, who support it by a margin of 47% to 38%.

The Legislative Research Council estimated that if Amendment H passes, an average of more than 50,000 additional ballots every two years would be needed to meet voter demand for primary elections.

Robust opposition expected

Mason-Dixon Polling and Strategy conducted the survey May 10-13. Those interviewed were selected randomly from a telephone-matched state voter registration list that included both landline and cellphone numbers. Quotas were assigned to reflect voter registration by county. The margin of error is plus or minus 4.5 percentage points.

With a proposed South Dakota abortion amendment drawing most of the controversy and media attention, open primaries mostly flew under the radar during the signature-gathering and certification process.

One of the detractors was South Dakota Freedom Caucus chairman Aaron Aylward, a state representative from Harrisburg, who told News Watch that the proposal would essentially create "two general elections in South Dakota."

Early opposition also came from South Dakota Republican Party chair John Wiik and U.S. Sen. Mike Rounds, who told News Watch that "our current primary system has served us well."

Now that the primaries are over and Amendment H is certified for the ballot, more sparks are expected to fly.

Aberdeen businessman Toby Doeden, whose Dakota First PAC was involved in supporting more conservative Republicans against establishment foes in the primaries, said on Facebook that "it's time to refocus and re-energize and start working on things like the radical ballot initiatives coming up in November."

Doeden, who did not respond to an interview request from News Watch, listed the abortion and open primary amendments as his group's top two targets.

"We would not be surprised to face opposition to our proposal to let all voters vote," said Kirby when asked about the Dakota First effort. "Some folks like the system that lets 17% of voters decide the outcomes in South Dakota. We don't."

'A big job ahead of us'

Other responses in the News Watch/Chiesman poll revealed serious concerns among South Dakota voters about American democracy and the integrity of election systems.

More than 6 in 10 South Dakotans said they were dissatisfied with how democracy is working in the United States, including 32% who said they were "very dissatisfied." By party affiliation, 41% of Republicans, 32% of independents and 13% of Democrats said they were very dissatisfied.

As for recent elections, 74% of respondents said they accept the outcome of the 2020 presidential election, with clear party distinctions. While 96% of Democrats and 88% of independents said they accepted President Joe Biden's win over Donald Trump, 58% of Republicans said they did.

"It's not uncommon for people of a party label to disagree more with results that don't align with their preferences," said Hellwege. "But here we're seeing that it goes beyond that to where Republicans in particular are less likely to believe not only in the accuracy of election results but in democracy itself as a system."

Citizen groups such as the South Dakota Canvassing have pushed electoral activism in the state by echoing accusations from conservative media and demanding proof of secure systems, despite no evidence of substantial voter fraud in a state that Trump won in 2020 by 26 points.

Asked in the poll about the most recent election in 2022, only 31% of Republicans said they were confident that the results were counted accurately, compared to 97% of Democrats and 75% of independents.

"These are registered voters—that's the more engaged population," said Hellwege. "Election administrators, elected officials, practitioners and academics have a big job ahead of us to restore confidence in the accuracy in elections. Rather conclusively, academic research has shown that elections are accurate and free of fraud. We can be confident in the results. And yet even the more engaged registered voters don't believe us. We need to do more."

the latest firm to make a push for development, will once again be aiming to build up 18.53 acres of the 26 acres with Tuesday's 7-0 approval to transfer the roughly 8.53 acres via the Brookings Economic Development Corp.

This news comes after Ryan reduced its focus last year to the front 10 acres following the loss of another potential national tenant that decided not to move forward with its plans. Now, though, with the addition of the 8.53 acres, Ryan has essentially returned to developing all of the land it want to in the first place.

Besides Aldi and the unnamed national retailer, sites are also being prepared within the Brookings Marketplace for other possible tenants, including a gas station/convenience store, a medium box retail establishment and a retail drivethrough establishment.

The overall price for the 18.53 acres is around $1,130,000, or $1.40 per square foot, according to a memorandum from the city.

ing a fellow non-profit. Thus, all proceeds from the upcoming Fun Run will go to the local humane society. The run takes place July 19 at 10 a.m., starting and ending at ADVANCE's main building at 301 Division Avenue. Registration is $5 per person, and T-shirts are available for $30 each.

Kaitlyn Harvey serves as day services supervisor at ADVANCE and helped come up with the idea of a benefit for the humane society.

"I think the reason we came to them with the idea was because we have multiple people at our agency who love going over there and volunteering almost every day," Harvey said. "Staff at the human society have gotten to know the people we support over the years. So the relationship is pretty strong with them." Ramona Kauk is director of admissions and support services at ADVANCE and said they designed the path for the Fun Run to loop past some of the many facilities they work with in Brookings.

"We wanted to run by a lot of our residential locations, so that's the purpose of that route. We are seeing much of the community, but we are also running by some of our locations," Kauk said. "It's been really neat to see how much our agency has evolved. It makes me so emotional, going through it and seeing how things have changed for the better for people in our community. It's been so awesome

Ardry said they have more celebratory activities planned as well.

"On July 10, there's going to be a 50th anniversary program for the people in our services, and their families, and staff at the Dacotah Bank Center," Ardry said. "That will be for internal stakeholders, so that's a private event for that program. But on July 23rd, we are going to have an open house at this building, and the radio station is coming and will be broadcasting for a couple hours. There's a food truck associated with that, and so that's going to be our public celebration."

He invites people to come to ADVANCE for public tours of the facility July 23 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"And then a fun thing that was planned internally: for every week, there's going to be a dress-up day celebrating the decades that ADVANCE has been an entity," Ardry said. "So on July 2nd — our official anniversary day — we're going to start off with a '70s themed dress-up day. And every week after that we'll go through the decades up to the present day."

ADVANCE was founded by the local chapter of a national advocacy group. Originally they offered just twice a week outings for people with disabilities.

"We actually started as a volunteer project in 1972," Ardry said. "Within just a couple years, there was a movement for community-based services across the United States, and funding became available for that. ADVANCE then was incorporated on July 2, 1974. The kind of next logical step was, if people with disabilities can earn a paycheck, maybe they can live on their own as well and learn more independent living skills. And so in 1976, a group home opened for people to live away from their families and live together and learn cooking and cleaning and money-management and all of those kinds of skills."

Since then, ADVANCE has continued expanding and currently offers services to more than a hundred people living and working throughout Brookings.

"There have been a lot of changes over the years to how we provide services — changes for the better — but our commitment to people with disabilities and their families has remained the driving force for us over the last 50 years. And that stays the same," Ardry said. "The biggest philosophy going forward with our field, and there've been a lot of changes, is truly integrating people into the community. And so we will continue to look for ways to do that over the next decade and beyond, for people with disabilities to truly be valued and contributing members of the community."

Information on Fun Run registration and T-shirts are both posted on ADVANCE's Facebook page.

can quickly rise to dangerous levels — especially in the summer months and in parked cars. Children, the elderly, and those with chronic illnesses are especially vulnerable to heat exposure.

Children should never be left in a car, no matter the time of year. Vehicular heatstroke has occurred when outside temperatures are below 70 degrees. Sunlight can cause the inside of a car to heat up very quickly.

Don't wait until the heat arrives to begin protecting yourself. If the forecast calls for extreme heat, begin preparing immediately. Stay weather-ready. The information contained in this article was provided courtesy of the National Weather Service and the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

You might ask the question, what exactly is the definition of extreme heat? I consulted the FEMA website, www.ready.gov, for an answer. Extreme heat is a period of high heat and humidity with temperatures above 90 degrees for at least two to three days.

In the emergency management realm, we speak in terms of actions that can be taken before,
during, and after an event.
When dealing with heat the first thing to learn is how to recognize the signs of heat illness. You have heat cramps, heat exhaustion, and heat stroke. We will cover these in more detail in the during phase.

The Before Phase

consists of things that you can do proactively before the heat wave arrives. Among these is to identify a place that you can go to cool down. These could be a library, a public establishment, or a large shade tree. You should not rely on a fan as your primary cooling device. Fans create air flow and a false sense of comfort but do not reduce body temperature or prevent heat-related illnesses. A lot of the actions that we do in Brookings County to protect us in the winter months also help us keep the heat out in heat spells, such as insulating and using weather stripping in our residences. You can also add a window air conditioner, just make sure you insulate the area around it. You can also take a cool shower or bath and use the oven less to reduce the temperature in your home.

If you go outside wear loose, lightweight, light-colored clothing and wear a hat wide enough to cover your face. You should also drink plenty of fluids to stay hydrated and avoid high-energy activities or working outdoors, during the midday heat if possible. Also, never leave people or pets in a closed car on a warm day.

It is just as important that you check on family members, older adults, and neighbors and consider pet safety. If you have outdoor pets make sure that they have plenty of cool water and access to comfortable shade. Asphalt, concrete, and dark pavement can be very hot to your pet's feet/paws.

The During Phase includes knowing the heat-related illnesses. Heat cramps occur when you start to experience muscle pains or spasms in the stomach, arms or legs. Heat exhaustion signs include heavy sweating, paleness, muscle cramps, tiredness, weakness, fast or weak pulse, dizziness, headache, fainting, nausea, and vomiting. If you have signs of heat cramps or heat exhaustion, go to a cooler location and cool down by removing excess clothing and taking sips of sports drinks or water. Call your healthcare provider if the symptoms get worse or last more than an hour.

The last illness is the worst one, heat stroke. One gets an extremely high body temperature (above 103 degrees) turn red and has hot and dry skin with no sweating, they have a rapid strong pulse and become dizzy get confused or become unconscious. If you suspect heat stroke, call 911 or get the person to a hospital immediately. Cool them down with whatever methods are available until medical help arrives. Do not give the person anything to

The After Phase after an Extreme Heat Wave is to evaluate what happened during the event and start planning for the next event.

For those individuals who speak a language other than English, there information sheetsin other languages at https://community.fema.gov/ProtectiveActions/s/article/Extreme-Heat.

Until next time, Keep an Eye on the Sky. Bob the EM.

S.D. FFA Foundation establishes Craig and Maure Weinkauf Endowment

BATH — The South Dakota FFA Foundation has established the Craig and Maure Weinkauf Endowment, with a legacy gift from Craig and Maure Weinkauf to support FFA members.

Interest from the endowment will fund the South Dakota FFA Wildlife Production and Management proficiency and other proficiency award areas as funds allow. This award honors FFA members who, through supervised agricultural experiences, have developed specialized skills involving managing wildlife and habitat specifically for wildlife and the improvement and availability of fish and wildlife through practices such as land and water habitat improvement or development, wildlife surveys, trapping or the stocking of fish and wild game.

Craig and Maure established the fund because they value the growth FFA provides youth, developing leadership and agricultural skills. Craig served as an agriculture education instructor from 1974-1977 in Miller and from 1980-2004 in Watertown at Lake Area Multi-District. When no longer connecting with students in the classroom, the Weinkauf's chose to support members by sponsoring the Wildlife Production and Management Proficiency. Craig and Maure were drawn to this award to honor Craig's father, Arthur Weinkauf, who supported wildlife causes by planting CRP and shelterbelts to improve wildlife habitat. They enjoy meeting finalists each year at the FFA convention and hearing about their projects. After funding the award annually for twenty years, the Weinkauf's made a planned gift to endow their support in perpetuity.

Craig Weinkauf shares, "We hope our example will instill in everyone the importance of supporting a variety of FFA activities. Having taught for 27 years, I have seen how these activities can motivate members to achieve their goals. This endowment means that we can continue to support the FFA well into the future."

'The Weinkauf's gift creates a legacy for them, becoming the first endowed proficiency with the SD FFA Foundation," said Gerri Ann Eide, Executive Director of the South Dakota FFA Foundation. "We greatly appreciate their dedication to supporting ag youth interested in responsibly protecting and caring for our wildlife as we continue to search for ways to feed the growing population. We are honored by their example of providing a donation that will impact South Dakota youth far beyond any of us now involved."

House votes to hold AG Merrick Garland in contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted Wednesday to hold Attorney General Merrick Garland in contempt of Congress for refusing to turn over audio of President Joe Biden's interview in his classified documents case, Republicans' latest and strongest rebuke of the Justice Department as partisan conflict over the rule of law animates the 2024 presidential

The 216-207 vote fell along party lines, with Republicans coalescing behind the contempt effort despite reservations among some of the party's more centrist members. Only one Republican — Rep. David Joyce of Ohio — voted against it.

Garland said in a statement late Wednesday, "It is deeply disappointing that this House of Representatives has turned a serious congressional authority into a partisan weapon. Today's vote disregards the constitutional separation of powers, the Justice Department's need to protect its investigations, and the substantial amount of information we have provided to the Committees."

He added, "I will always stand up for this Department, its employees, and its vital mission to defend our democracy."

Garland is now the third attorney general to be held in contempt of Congress. Yet it is unlikely that the Justice Department – which Garland oversees — will prosecute him. The White House's decision to exert executive privilege over the audio recording, shielding it from Congress, would make it exceedingly difficult to make a criminal case against Garland.

Nonetheless, Speaker Mike Johnson defended the decision to push ahead with what is now a mostly symbolic effort.

"Look, we did our job on the contempt, and I think it sends an important message," the Louisiana Republican said following the vote. "We'll see what happens next, but, I mean, the House has to do its work and I'm pleased with the outcome today."

The White House and congressional Democrats have slammed Republicans' motives for pursuing contempt and dismissed their efforts to obtain the audio as purely political. They also pointed out that Rep. Jim Jordan, the GOP chair of the House Judiciary Committee, defied his own congressional subpoena last session.

"This contempt resolution will do very little, other than smear the reputation of Merrick Garland, who will remain a good and decent public servant no matter what Republicans say about him today," New York Rep. Jerry Nadler, the top Democrat on Judiciary Committee, said during floor extraordinary lengths to provide information to the committees about Special Counsel Robert Hur's classified documents investigation, including a transcript of Biden's interview with him.

"There have been a series of unprec-

Yemen's Houthi rebels launch boat-borne bomb attack

ABOARD THE USS LABOON IN THE RED SEA (AP) — Yemen's Houthi rebels launched a boat-borne bomb attack against a commercial ship in the Red Sea on Wednesday, authorities said, the latest escalation despite a U.S.-led campaign trying to protect the vital waterway.

The use of a boat loaded with explosives raised the specter of 2000s USS Cole attack, a suicide assault by al-Qaida on the warship when it was at port in Aden, killing 17 on board. Associated Press journalists saw the Cole in the Red Sea on Wednesday, now taking part in the U.S. campaign while visiting one of her sister ships, the USS Laboon.

Yemen's military spokesman Brig. Gen. Yahya Saree claimed responsibility for the attack, identifying the vessel targeted as the Liberian-flagged, Greek-owned bulk carrier Tutor. He described the attack as using a "drone boat," as well as drones and ballistic missiles.

In a warning to shippers, the British military's United Kingdom Maritime Trade Operations center described the vessel as being hit in its stern by a small white craft southwest of the Houthi-controlled port city of Hodeida.

The captain "reports the vessel is taking on water, and not under command of the crew," the UKMTO said. He also "reports the vessel was hit for a second time by an unknown airborne projectile."

The Houthis, who seized Yemen's capital nearly a decade ago and have been fighting a Saudi-led coalition since shortly after, have been targeting shipping throughout the Red Sea corridor over the Israel-Hamas war in

They say the attacks are aimed at stopping the war and supporting the Palestinians, though the attacks often target vessels that have nothing to do with the conflict.

The war in Gaza has killed more than 36,000 Palestinians there, while hundreds of others have been killed in Israeli operations in the West Bank. It began after Hamas-led militants attacked Israel on Oct. 7, killing about 1,200 people and taking around 250 hostage.

The Houthis have launched more than 50 attacks on shipping, killed three sailors, seized one vessel and sunk another since November, according to the U.S. Maritime Administration. A U.S.-led airstrike campaign has targeted the Houthis since January, with a series of strikes May 30 killing at least 16 people and wounding 42 others, the WASHINGTON (AP) — A coalition of immigrant advocacy groups sued the Biden administration on Wednesday over President Joe Biden's recent directive that effectively halts asylum claims at the southern border, saying it differs little from a similar move during the Trump administration that was blocked by the courts.

The lawsuit — filed by the American Civil Liberties Union and others on behalf of Las Americas Immigrant Advocacy Center and RAICES — is the first test of the legality of Biden's sweeping crackdown on the border, which came after months of internal White House deliberations and is designed in part to deflect political attacks against the president on his handling of immigration.

"By enacting an asylum ban that is legally indistinguishable from the Trump ban we successfully blocked, we were left with no choice but to file this lawsuit," said Lee Gelernt, an attorney for the ACLU.

The order Biden issued last week would limit asylum processing once encounters with migrants between ports of entry reach 2,500 per day. It went into effect immediately because the latest figures were far higher, at about 4,000 daily.

The restrictions would be in effect until two weeks after the daily encounter numbers are at or below 1,500 per day between ports of entry, under a seven-day average. But it's far from clear when the numbers would dip that low; the last time was in July 2020 during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The order went into effect June 5, and Biden administration officials have said they expected record levels

But advocates argue that suspending asylum for migrants who don't arrive at a designated port of entry — which the Biden administration is trying to push migrants to do —- violates existing federal immigration law, among other concerns.

Biden invoked the same legal authority used by the Trump administration for its asylum ban, which comes under Section 212(f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. That provision allows a president to limit entries for certain migrants if their entry is deemed "detrimental" to the national interest.

Biden has repeatedly criticized Trump's immigration policies as he campaigns, and his administration argues that his directive is different because it includes several exemptions for humanitarian reasons. For example, victims of human trafficking, unaccompanied minors and those with severe medical emergencies would not be subject to the limits.

"We stand by the legality of what we have done," Homeland Security Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas said on ABC's "This Week" before the lawsuit was filed, saying he anticipated legal challenges. "We stand by the value proposition."

North Dakota voters approve age limit for candidates

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — People in their late 70s or older can no longer run for Congress in North Dakota under a ballot measure overwhelmingly approved by voters Tuesday, and legal scholars said the law could remain on the books indefinitely because no elderly candidate might challenge the restriction they deem likely unconstitutional.

Those experts view the constitutional amendment as an effort to revisit a nearly 30-year-old Supreme Court ruling against congressional term limits and could provide a potential test case for the nation. The initiative bars people from running or serving in the U.S. House or Senate if they are to turn 81 years old during their term.

The high-profile measure comes at a time when the ages of elderly officeholders have been front and center in the presidential race between Joe Biden and Donald Trump. Lawmakers including Sen. Dianne Feinstein, who died last year, and Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell also have drawn attention to the issue because of their ages and health issues.

For now, the age limit stays on the books until somebody challenges it, said David Schultz, professor of political science at Hamline University and a law professor at the University of Minnesota specializing in election and constitutional law. He said the key to any challenge would be who has standing to bring a claim.

"This is like really the picky stuff of a law professor now, of the 'who actually gets to get into the courthouse door?" Schultz said.

He said he views the measure as unconstitutional under the 1995 term limits decision that states cannot set qualifications for Congress beyond what is already in the U.S. Constitution.

He said a potential challenge could come from someone barred by the age limit in an election — or potentially a political party seeking to nominate an older candidate. But he added any group filing suit, such as an organization representing older people, would have to show how it is harmed by the age limit.

The measure is to take effect immediately although election results still must be certified. Independent candidates have until September to file signatures to appear in the 2024 general election, meaning an age-barred candidate could theoretically emerge and be denied. The North Dakota Supreme Court would have jurisdiction over an appeal under the measure.

We can rest in God's love for us

I became a grandma again last month. I am amazed how this tiny little person has already changed our lives.

I am fascinated watching her absolute trust of her parents to take care of her needs. Their voices calm her; their touch reassures her. She knows she is safe with them. She sleeps peacefully when they wrap her up in her blanket like a little burrito, lay her in her crib, and rub her tummy.

I am challenged as I compare her confidence in her parents' care to my confidence in my heavenly father. Do I rely on his comfort? Do I trust that I am safe with him? Can I depend on his care when I am in need? Do I sleep peacefully knowing he is with me? Do I know his intentions toward me are for my good?

I saw a recent meme on Facebook. It was a picture of a tiny baby lying on an open Bible. The caption spoke of resting on God's word. It was cute. It was intended to inspire. But I cringed at the cheesy, christianese. Resting on God is simple, yet complicated. Most of us understand what it means to work, to serve, to be "busy about my father's business," as Jesus declared in Luke 2:49. We have heard the edict in Matthew 28:19 to "go into the world, making disciples and baptizing them."

We understand being busy, focused on a duty, earning our way. But do we understand the concept of resting on God's word? Do we look to God's example of taking one day and resting from one's labor, as seen in Genesis 2:2-3? Is physical rest the only part resting in him? Of resting on his word? Webster's Dictionary lists aspects of rest: freedom from activity, a state of motionlessness, peace of mind and spirit; a brief pause; using something for support. Resting is an intentional choice to stop busyness in order to find renewal.

I contend that resting in God or on God's word requires this intentional decision to stop and lean on our faith. I believe it includes trusting, waiting, giving up, letting go, and patience. Isaiah 40:31, "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength..." It continues, using terms of renewed strength, recovery, endurance. Psalm 27:14 encourages one to trust, to know, to see God's provision: "Wait for the Lord; be strong and take heart (courage) and wait for the Lord." It speaks of trusting enough to wait for God's intervention, answer, defense, provision, deliverance.

REFLECTIONS WAS WRITTEN BY THE
REV. DORTHY TUFTE
OF THE BROOKINGS
MINISTERIAL
ASSOCIATION

Mostly, it speaks of confident peace.

We see that resting is an intentional, purposeful spiritual act. It is like putting on God's peace as one puts on a coat; to trust and know he cares. It is being confident in the waiting, wrapped in faith, as seen in Hebrews 11:1, "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not yet seen." Rest in his love for you

Coffeehouse tips go to scholarships for Belize trio

BROOKINGS — The Mission of the Month for June at the Mission Coffeehouse at First Lutheran Church is Belize Connecting to Corozal: Scholarships for Sharlone, Ashton and Linde.

Education for Ashton, Linde and Sharlone is their path out of poverty, and they know it.

Missionary Dee Shanley writes, "Being thankful for God's blessings in ministry, the Belize mission team supports Ashton, Linde and Sharlone from a small poverty-stricken village near Corozal, Belize, Central America.

In 2012 10 people traveled to Belize to represent First Lutheran Church in mission. Trusting God to be a blessing to others, our team provided tuition scholarships to these three.

By connecting and partnering with this family and by returning year after year, a relationship centered in Christ has been established.

Stanley said"We first met Ashton when we conducted a Christian outreach program for children in a vacant lot near his home in Corozal. Ashton immediately drew our attention because of his joy-filled singing and natural leadership among the others. Ashton easily recites Bible verses and knows many stories, too. Today Ashton attends a trade school. His older sister is Linde studies at a four-year church school. The oldest brother Sharlone is finishing his degree at a community college evening school

A Christian group teaches public school students

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An Ohio nonprofit that provides off-site Bible instruction to public school students during classroom hours says it will triple its programs in Indiana this fall after new legislation forced school districts to comply.

To participating families, nondenominational LifeWise Academy programs supplement religious instruction. But critics in Indiana worry the programs spend public school resources on religion, proselytize to students of other faiths and remove children from class in a state already struggling with literacy.

LifeWise founder and CEO Joel Penton told The Associated Press that many parents want religious instruction to be part of their children's education.

"Values of faith and the Bible are absolutely central to many families," Penton said. "And so they want to demonstrate to their children that it is central to their lives."

Public schools cannot promote any religion under the First Amendment, but a 1952 Supreme Court ruling centered on New York schools cleared the way for programs like LifeWise. Individual places of worship often work with schools to host programs off campus, and they are not regulated in some states.

LifeWise officials addressed the Oklahoma and Ohio legislatures in support of laws that would require schools to cooperate with off-site religious programs, Penton said, and Oklahoma's Republican governor signed one such bill into law Wednesday.

Similar bills have been introduced in Ohio, Nebraska, Georgia and Mississippi this year, according to an AP analysis of Plural, a legislative tracking database.

LifeWise programs will be available at over 520 locations in 23 states next school year, up from 331 in 13 states this year, and about 31,000 students attend LifeWise programs in the U.S., Penton said.

Penton wants LifeWise to be available to "50 million public school students nationwide," he said.

In Indiana, Republican state Rep. Kendell Culp introduced the legislation requiring principals to allow students to attend release-time religious education after a rural school stopped cooperating with LifeWise. The bill was signed into law in March and subsequently 45 Indiana schools will work with the company this fall, triple the number from last year.

LifeWise Academy, based in Hilliard, Ohio, is funded by donors, including more than $13 million in contributions from July 2022 to June 2023, according to its latest federal report.

The curriculum was developed in conjunction with the Gospel Project, a Bible study plan produced by an entity of the Southern Baptist Convention, Penton said.

Southern Baptists narrowly reject ban on churches with any women pastors

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Southern Baptists narrowly rejected a proposal Wednesday to enshrine a ban on churches with women pastors in the denomination's constitution after opponents argued it was unnecessary because the denomination already has a way of ousting such churches.

The vote received support from 61% of the delegates, but it failed to get the required two-thirds supermajority. The action reversed a preliminary vote last year in favor of the official ban.

But it still leaves the Southern Baptist Convention with its official doctrinal statement saying the office of pastor is limited to men. Even the opponents of the ban said they favored that doctrinal statement but didn't think it was necessary to reinforce it in the constitution.

Opponents noted that the SBC already can oust churches that assert women can serve as pastors — as it did last year and again Tuesday night.

The vote was perhaps the most highly anticipated of the annual meeting, reflecting years of debate in the United States' largest Protestant denomination. It is the final day of the SBC's two-day annual meeting in Indianapolis.

Since 2000, the SBC's nonbinding statement of faith has declared that only men are qualified for the role of pastor. It's interpreted differently across the denomination, with some believing it doesn't apply to associate pastors so long as the senior pastor is male.

The proposed amendment, which received preliminary approval last year, would formally exclude churches that have women in any pastoral positions, from lead pastor to associates, or even affirms them in that role. Supporters believe it is biblically necessary, estimating hundreds of Southern Baptist churches have women in those roles

The rejected amendment would have said any church deemed in "friendly cooperation" — the official term for SBC affiliation — must be one that "affirms, appoints, or employs only men as any kind of pastor or elder as qualified by Scripture."

Opponents argued the convention already has the power to remove churches over this issue, and the amendment will have unintended consequences, including disproportionately affecting Black Southern Baptist congregations, which tend to have women on their pastoral staffs.

But the motion went swiftly to a vote after only brief

Ryan Fullerton, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church in Louisville, Kentucky, said the measure is "not about preventing women from exercising their gifts" in the church, in roles on church staff such as "children's ministers." But he said the Bible is clear that the office of pastor is for men.

He said there is "confusion about gender" in the wider culture and cited what he called "the ravages of the LGBTQIA agenda."

But Spence Shelton, pastor of Mercy Church in Charlotte, North Carolina, argued that it was unnecessary.

He said there is no doubt that Southern Baptists are "complementarian," as they describe the view that men and women have equal value but different roles that complement one another.

But he noted that the convention voted to affirm the ouster of a historic Virginia church Tuesday and two other churches last year, including the California megachurch Saddleback, which all have women pastors and affirmed they could hold top pastoral positions.

The reason for ousting them was that they don't have a faith and practice consistent with the Baptist Faith and Message, the document approved in 2000 that includes the affirmation that the pastoral position is reserved for men.

"Y'all, we have shown the mechanisms we currently have are sufficient to deal with this question," Shelton said.

Mike Law, pastor of Arlington Baptist Church in Virginia and author of the amendment, cited a report that there are about 1,800 women pastors working in the denomination. He cited Bible verses limiting the pastoral office to men.

"Our culture may see this prohibition as harsh, but our God is all wise, and wrote this word for the flourishing of both men and women," he said.

"This amendment is not about women in ministry," Law added. "It's specifically about women in the pastoral office." He did not spell out the difference in his brief floor speech.

The denomination can't tell its independent churches what to do or whom to appoint as a pastor. But they can say which churches are in and which are out.

Last year, Southern Baptists refused to take back Saddleback, one of the convention's largest congregations, and a small Kentucky church over the issue.

Both churches, which had women in top pastoral positions, appealed their ouster to the 2023 annual meeting and were overwhelmingly rejected by the delegates.

"Who? Yo-Yo Ma? Yeah, sure, I know who he is. He does those incredible vo-vo tricks on 'The Tonight Show.' Ya think I'm stupid or somethin'?"

"I'm havin' a catch with God. I throw the ball up, and He throws it back.'

Bridge

By PHILLIP ALDER

Aziz Ansari, an actor. stand-up comedian and writer, said, "When I tour, it's like a food tour as much as a comedy tour. I try to eat at all the weird places, the obscure barbecue joints and burger places. There are a few spots in LA that I'm obsessed with; one of them is the Taco Zone taco truck on Alvarado. There are secret off-menu items that are amazing."

Today's deal is amazing because of the declarer's diamond spots. How should South play in three notrump? West leads the spade queen, and the defenders take the first four tricks. West then shifts to a club. How should declarer hope to take the last nine tricks? Note North's response to one no-trump. With a good long minor, no singleton or void and only enough points to think about game, jump to three no-trump. Everyone will admire your lovely minor suit when you table it in the dummy.

Declarer has three hearts and two clubs, so must win at least four diamonds. To take those diamonds, one would normally lead a low diamond, planning to finesse dummy's queen and getting home whenever West has a singleton or doubleton king. But what happens if West does have king-doubleton?

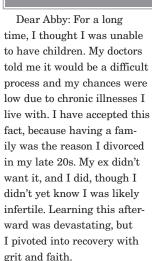

The play would go diamond to dummy's queen, diamond ace, diamond to declarer's jack (or eight or seven). How does South get that fourth diamond trick?

He doesn't, because he cannot get to the board. Stuck in his hand, he must lose a club trick.

When West plays a diamond that is not the king, there is - no joke - only one chance: call for dummy's ace and hope to drop East's singleton king.

Dear Abby

I'm in my 30s now, and my closest friends are women who have infertility issues as well, or who have chosen to be childless. I have built a happy life that includes travel, an MBA, an exciting career and the bandwidth to be a support system for others. I've made my health a priority and I have learned to love my body.

Well, to our great surprise, my boyfriend and I learned we were pregnant six weeks ago. So far, all the signs point to this being a healthy, viable pregnancy, and we couldn't be more thrilled. We are both ready for this next big adventure. But knowing how painful birth announcements can be for people with infertility, I'm reluctant to share my happy news.

As I near my second trimester and my life begins to change shape to welcome our miracle, I wonder how I can compassionately let my community know in a way that honors what we've been through together. I'm worried about bitterness during a time of so much sweetness. -Elated In The Midwest

Dear Elated: My warmest congratulations to you and your boyfriend. Because you realize that it may upset some of your friends, forgo a big bash announcement and confide in a few of your closest friends. Knowing human nature. I'm sure the news will spread quickly.

Those who love you will be happy for you. Those who can't bring themselves to feel that way will fade into the background, but please do not feel guilty for your happiness, because you are entitled

Dear Abby: How do you handle an annoying neighbor who refuses to use his own trash and recycle bins and sneaks his discards into mine on pickup day? He lives alone, as do several women in the neighborhood, and he's not helpful to anyone but himself, in good weather or bad. The only time he speaks to me is when he has a complaint about overgrown shrubs or trees near his property. What should I say? - Annoyed Neighbor In New Mexico

Dear Neighbor: Say you do not want him to put anything in your garbage cans. If he continues to do it, you may have to buy cans you can lock. Of course, you will have to unlock them for pickup, but it may be worth the trouble to ensure your garbage is "pristine."

Hazards of vaping include uranium and lead in urine

By Mike Roizen, M.D. and MEHMET Oz, M.D.

2 million More than American kids use vaping products and despite the restrictions on flavorings and warnings about addiction to nicotine and the risk of inhaling particulates that cause inflammation, there's no sign that they're getting hip to the

Well, here's an alarming discovery about vaping dangers that you may have missed — and we want to make sure that parents and kids see this. A recent study published in Tobacco Control found that when kids vape for six to 19 days a month, their urine lead levels are 40% higher than occasional vapers' levels. And sweet-flavored vapes up the urine levels of uranium — ves. radioactive uranium — significantly.

These heavy metals and the $added\,inflam mation\,they\,cause$ can lead to heart, kidney and brain damage and affect your child's cognition and mental health. They are also associated with an increased risk of cancer, respiratory problems and heart disease.

If your child is vaping, you can offer information on the dangers and support to help them quit. Have them enroll in This is Quitting by texting DITCHVAPE to 88709. Parents can text QUIT to 847-278-9715 to sign up to receive text messages designed specifically for parents of vapers. Also, check out the iHerb.com blog "Quitting Time," and ask vour doctor about using certain supplements to help your young vaper quit.

An added tip: If you are vaping, Mom or Dad, you need to quit, too. Nicotine and heavy metals are bad for your heart and lungs — and up your risk of chronic conditions.

SOUTH DAKOTA ONE CALL BOARD NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO ADOPT RULES

A public hearing will be held in AmericInn by Wyndham, in the Scottie Room, at 312 Island Dr. Fort Pierre, SD 57532 on July 11, 2024 from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. (Central) to consider the adoption and amendment of proposed Administrative Rules of South Dakota numbered §§ 20:25:03:05.01, 20:25:03:04 20:25:01:01, 20:25:03:01, and 20:25:03:07: The effect of the rules will be to 1) mandate excavators to identify the precise site being excavated by "white lining", or pre-marking the area of excavation with white paint or flags; 2) mandate operators to participate in a Positive Response program, which would require operators to provide response to the notification center prior to the ticket start date and time: and 3) limit excavators from updating current tickets after 63 calendar days have elapsed from the start date of the original ticket. The reason for adopting the proposed rules is to further the Board's goal of preventing damage to underground facilities. Mandating excavators to white line will assist locators in accurately determining where excavation is planned, will more effectively and efficiently mark where excavation is planned, and ultimately prevent damage to underground facilities.

The positive response requirements will provide more data to excavators about when locates are complete and provide better data to the Board regarding tickets that are not located within the 48 hour required time frame. Finally, limiting update tickets will mandate excavators to be more thoughtful about what tickets they are calling in to be located, lessening the burden upon locators. Persons interested in presenting amendments, opinions, and arguments for or against the proposed rules appear in-person at the hearing, or mail or e-mail them to the Executive Director of the One Call Board, Codi Gregg, at codi@sd81l.com. The deadline to submit any such written comments for consideration by July 8, 2024 at 10:00 a.m. central After the written comment peri-od, the South Dakota One Call

Board will consider all written and oral comments it receives on the proposed rules. The South Dakota One Call Board may modify or amend a pro-posed rule at that time to include or exclude matters that are described in this notice. For Persons with Disabilities: This hearing will be located at a

Aurora community steps up to help a return to the diamond

BY CHRIS SCHAD The Register

AURORA - If you've talked to Aurora Vandals president Jeff Hallin, he remembers a lot about his youth baseball career.

Hallin remembers wearing No. 9 for the Aurora Cubs and winning a 12U tournament in Brookings. He remembers a pair of home runs by Chad and Shane VanMeveren, his friend Eric Markwed driving in the game-winning run in the championship game and the thrill of bringing back the trophy to his hometown.

"It was basically Aurora against like 11 or 12 Brookings teams," Hallin recalled. "That was pretty cool watching a little town like Aurora come into Brookings and win the whole thing.

That tournament was just one memory that Hallin had playing youth baseball. But it's also one that many generations haven't had when the program shut down in the 1980s.

After a long hiatus, Hallin has helped bring back youth baseball to Aurora this summer and the community has stepped up to create the same memories that Hallin had.

The process started last winter when Hallin drove by Langland Field in Aurora. The field is where Hallin grew up playing youth baseball and was later named after Jake Langland, who passed away in the summer of 2019 and had the field dedicated in his honor that October. But the field had mostly sat empty since the elimination of the youth program with the exception of a couple of seasons by the Aurora Aces amateur team and a few games for the Brookings Cubs, who played there during the renovation of Bob Shelden Field.

"It just sort of bothered me that no one was ever using it," Hallin said. "So I reached out to some of the people in Aurora and started banging the drum."

Hallin had some experience in getting youth baseball programs running. After growing up in Aurora, Hallin currently lives in Volga and got the Bruce Stingers youth program up and running. Young ball players had the opportunity to play in a slow-pitch league in Estelline or even make the 13-minute drive to play in Brookings, but he wanted to create something in his hometown.

"Jeff really drove the efforts to get this started," Aurora Vandals board of directors member Tara Billings said. "He kind of put a bug in people's ears back in December and started communicating with the people in Aurora and started a Facebook group just to gauge interest and it really got the ball rolling."

Once the interest was gauged, Hallin started organizing an 8U and a 12U team to take the field this summer as part of the MinnDak league which includes Baltic, Colman, Dell Rapids, Flandreau Garretson, Hills-Beaver Creek, Madison, Tri-Valley, West Central and Volga.

Billings, Hallin and fellow board of directors members Colin Kneip and Eli McGehee went to work, getting the sponsorships to keep registration costs low while supplying jerseys, hats and equipment.

The Aurora Vandals are Aurora's first youth baseball team since the 1980s and are playing their inaugural season this summer. The Vandals have an 8U and a 12U team and are playing as part of the MinnDak league. The Vandals' 8u team is coached by Collin Kneip (head coach)and John Schwinler. The 8u team is made up by Jesse Cribbs, Boyd Culver, Simon Dupraz, Ledger Haselhorst, Landry Kneip, Lane Koenig, Tayten Larson, Ethan Olson, Camden Schwing, Xavier Schwinler. The Vandals' 8U team is coached by Colin Kneip (head coach) and John Schwinler. The 8u roster consists of Jesse Cribbs, Boyd Culver, Simpon Dupraz, Ledger Haselhorst, Landry Kneip, Lane Koenig, Tayten Larson, Ethan Olson, Camden Schwing, Xavier Schwinler.

Once the groundwork was done, local businesses bought signs to be displayed on the outfield walls and the dugouts were renovated at Langland Field to house the new team. The Aurora Events Committee brought a public address system for play-by-play and music and parent volunteers have run the concession stand serving popcorn, candy and drinks.

The team effort expanded outside of the organization as community members asked Billings and Hallin how they could

"It's been amazing to see how the community has responded," Billings said. "We've had sponsorship people reach out and ask us 'How can we help?' and 'What can we do?' We have sponsors coming out left and right. ...It's a great atmosphere and the field is beautiful."

While getting the program up and running has been an accomplishment, it hasn't compared to the opportunity that was created on the field. Some of the 25 kids that are playing between the two teams had never played baseball prior to this summer and are enjoying their first experience with the sport.

Billings also said that she's heard from Brookings natives who have reached out to see if they can join the team next year, bringing a new challenge of accommodating that growth.

But for now, the Vandals are back on the diamond and it fulfills the vision Hallin had back in December and brought Langland Field back to life.

"It's really cool to have baseball going in Aurora again," Hallin said. "That's where I got to play as a kid. It's really cool to see them be able to use that field again."

Aurora baseball hosting two fundraisers

The Vandals are looking to continue their growth by running a pair of fundraisers over the next several weeks.

A Slammer Pizza fundraiser is running through June 26 and supporters can purchase frozen pizzas for $15. Flavors include a fourmeat combo, chicken alfredo, pepperoni lovers, bacon cheeseburger, pepperoni and sausage, breakfast (egg, sausage and bacon), two cheese, sausage and supreme. Orders can be placed through an e-mail to Billings (tarajbillings@ gmail.com) and can be delivered or picked up June 28 at Lemke's Bar and Grill

The Vandals are also hosting a bean bag tournament on Saturday, June 15 across the street from Lemke's Bar and Grill in Aurora. Registration for the event will begin at 12:30 and cost $20 per person with the bags flying at 1 in Aurora.

Twins clobber Rockies with season-high 24 hits

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) -Willi Castro and Royce Lewis homered and Carlos Correa had a career-best five hits for the Minnesota Twins, who met Colorado starter Austin Gomber with a five-run first inning and finished with a season-high 24 hits in a 17-9 victory over the Rockies on Wednesday.

Lewis, one of five Twins with three or more hits, went 3 for 5 and scored three times. Carlos Santana started the onslaught with a three-run double in the first and hit an RBI single in a seven-run

The Twins collected their most hits since setting the single-game club record with 28 on June 13, 2017.

"This is the type of day that I think a lot of guys remember," manager Rocco Baldelli said. "You had a lot of guys have a lot of highlight swings."

Pablo López (6-6) picked up just his second win in six turns, permitting two runs in five innings — including Ryan McMahon hitting a solo homer for the second game in a row.

Lewis hit a two-run shot in the sixth inning for his fifth home run in nine games since returning from a severely strained quadriceps to give Twins a 10-3 lead, but then the rain came and their bullpen was ravaged by the Rockies.

After Brenton Doyle's two-run single in the seventh, the tarp was tugged out for 37-minute delay. Caleb Thielbar — whose ERA spiked to 8.62 — teed up a three-run eighth with a walk, a double and a walk. The Twins summoned closer Jhoan Duran to finish the inning with the tying run at the plate.

"You really have to stay grounded and you have to stay steady in games like this," Baldelli said. "That game got very tight, and I just like the way we just kept coming in every way, shape and form."

Batting practice is rare for an afternoon start, but the Twins essentially staged a session during the game. They went 11 for 18 against Gomber (1-4), who failed to record an out in the fourth inning while allowing a season-high eight runs and 11 hits to match his career most.

The Twins (36-32) took two of three games from the Rockies and have won 11 of their last 15 series. The Rockies (24-44) have lost nine of their last 12 games, with a 9.17 ERA for the bullpen over the last 10.

Manuel Margot surprised the Rockies with a perfectly placed leadoff bunt up the third base line, and Gomber never recovered. The lefthander got ahead of Byron Buxton with an 0-2 count, before a bases-loaded single put the Twins on the board.

Santana followed with a drive off the 23-foot wall in right-center that cleared the bases. He scored on Kyle Farmer's single, the sixth hit of the inning. In his last 10 games, Santana is 12 for 35 with 11

After posting an 0.68 ERA while logging 26 2/3 innings over four appearances last month, Gomber has gone backward in June. He has given up 15 runs on 22 hits and five walks over 11 innings in three starts after his turn was skipped due to elbow soreness.

"I feel the same I did a month ago," Gomber said. "I'm just not making as good of pitches right now." López rebounded from the least effective start of what has been a rough season for the 2023 All-Star, who has been struggling to rediscover the dominance of his sweeper.

"It was a good series to get back on that feeling of like, 'We're here. We have all the pieces we need to play good baseball,''' López said.

Jerry West, a 3-time Hall of Fame selection, dies at 86

BY TIM REYNOLDS

Jerry West, who was selected to the Basketball Hall of Fame three times in a storied career as a player and executive, and whose silhouette is considered to be the basis of the NBA logo, died Wednesday morning, the Los Angeles Clippers announced.

He was 86.

West, nicknamed "Mr. Clutch" for his late-game exploits as a player, was an NBA champion who went into the Hall of Fame as a player in 1980 and again as a member of the gold medal-winning 1960 U.S. Olympic Team in 2010. He will be enshrined for a third time later this year as a contributor, and NBA Commissioner Adam Silver called West "one of the greatest executives in sports histo-

"He helped build eight championship teams during his tenure in the NBA — a legacy of achievement that mirrors his on-court excellence," Silver said.

West was an All-Star in all 14 of his NBA seasons, a 12-time All-NBA selection, part of the 1972 Los Angeles Lakers team that won a championship, an NBA Finals MVP when the Lakers lost to the Boston Celtics in 1969 the first year that award was given out, and still the on the losing team — and was selected as part of the NBA's 75th anniversary team.

West was general manager of championship teams with the Lakers, helping build the "Showtime" dynastv. He also worked in the front offices of the Memphis Grizzlies, the Golden State Warriors and the Clippers. Among his many highlights as an executive with the Lakers: he drafted Magic Johnson and James Worthy, then brought in Kobe Bryant and Shaquille O'Neal to win more titles.

His basketball life bridged generations: West played with Elgin Baylor, whom he called "the most supportive and the greatest player of that era," and Wilt Chamberlain. Even in the final years of his life, West was considered basketball royalty. He routinely sat courtside at Summer League games in Las Vegas, often watching many games in a day while greeting long lines of players LeBron James among them who would approach to shake his hand.

West is 25th on the NBA's all-time scoring list. The league has never confirmed that West was in fact the model for its logo — a player dribbling a ball, set against a red-and-blue background but has never said otherwise, either.

West is still the NBA only time it went to a player Finals' all-time leader in total points. He played in the title series nine times with the Lakers; his teams went 1-2 against the New York Knicks, and 0-6 against the Celtics. "Those damn Celtics," he often said. West also hit one of the most famed shots in finals history, a 60-footer at the buzzer of Game 3 of the 1970 series between the Knicks and Lakers to force overtime.

A native of Chelyan, West Virginia, West was known as a tenacious player who was rarely satisfied with his performance. He grew up shooting at a makeshift outdoor basket, often out there until his fingers bled. He became the first high school player in state history to score more than 900 points in a season, averaging 32.2 points in leading East Bank High to a state title.

West led West Virginia University — where he is still the all-time leader in scoring average — to the NCAA final in 1959, when the Mountaineers lost by one point to California.

A year after he won Olympic gold in Rome, West joined the Lakers, where he spent his entire pro playing career. He was honored as one of the league's 50 greatest players in 1996 and when the league expanded the polling to 75 players to commemorate its 75th anniversary in 2021, West was selected again.

Tatum, Brown help Celtics hold off huge Dallas rally for 106-99 victory

DALLAS (AP) — Jayson Tatum scored 31 points, Jaylen Brown had 30 and the Boston Celtics held off a furious Dallas rally to reach the brink of a record 18th championship with a 106-99 victory over the Mavericks on Wednesday night for a 3-0 lead in the NBA Finals.

Brown finished with eight rebounds and eight assists as the Celtics extended their franchise record with a 10th consecutive playoff victory and moved to 7-0 on the road this postseason. They can win the series and break a tie with the Lakers for most NBA championships with a victory Friday in Boston also improved to 10-1 in these playoffs without Kristaps Porzingis after the 7-foot-2 Latvian was ruled out about two hours before the game because of a rare tendon injury in his lower left leg sustained in Game 2.

The status of Porzingis for the rest of the series appears in doubt, but it might not matter. None of the previous 156 teams to face a 3-0 deficit has rallied to win an NBA playoff

The Mavs almost pulled off a crazy comeback to avoid the big hole — 13 years after the only other rally to match it in the NBA Finals sparked Dallas' run to its only title against Miami.

Boston led 91-70 at the end of a 20-5 run early in the fourth quarter before Dallas answered with a 22-2 spurt to get within a point with 3 1/2 minutes remaining.

Problem was, Luka Doncic picked up his sixth foul with 4:12 remaining when a challenge was unsuccessful before Kyrie Irving, who scored 35 points, hit a jumper to get Dallas within one.

Tatum and Brown saved the Celtics from there, with some help from Derrick White, who scored 16. Those three combined for the remaining 13 Boston points to get the Celtics within a victory of their first title since 2008, and just the second since 1986.

In a game that seemed over early in the fourth, the score was stuck on 93-90 for more than three minutes. That included when Doncic was called for a blocking foul on a driving Brown.

The Mavs had nothing to lose with the challenge, since it meant trying to save their superstar from disqualification.

Without Doncic, Dallas managed to get within two before Brown hit a pullup jumper with a minute to go. P.J. Washington Jr., Irving and Tim Hardaway Jr. each missed a 3-pointer in the final minute as Irving's personal losing streak against his former team reached 13 games.

An energized Dallas crowd was ready for its first finals game in 13 years, with Super Bowlwinning quarterback and Mavs fan Patrick Mahomes of the Kansas City Chiefs frequently getting out of his seat near midcourt.

The Mavs used the needed boost coming off two losses in Boston, taking their biggest lead of the series while running out to a 22-9 lead. Doncic and Irving drove for buckets while also hitting a 3

The Celtics answered with a 21-9 finish to the first quarter. Sam Hauser hit two of his first-half 3s on three attempts — to help wrap up a run that started with four points from Brown and a 3 from Tatum.

Defense dominated the start of the second quarter, Boston holding a 5-2 edge nearly six minutes in before Irving and Tatum traded 3s to start a scoring burst.

Luke Adelman pitched two thirds of an inning and gave up eight runs, one earned, on three hits with two walks. Krogman pitched the final five and a third and gave up one unearned run on two hits with two strikeouts and one

Beck pitched the final two innings and gave up one earned run on two hits with one strikeout.
