Purcell hosting Bi-district

After defeating Pauls Valley Tuesday, Purcell's fast-pitch softball team finished third in their district and will host the Bi-district tournament.

The tournament with Elgin begins today (Thursday) at 2 p.m.

It will be the best two out of three with the winner advancing to the regional tournament.

The entire tournament will be played Thursday, according to head coach Sarah Jones.

No DOWNTOWN trick-or-treat

Chamber board votes to cancel due to threat of COVID

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Halloween in downtown Purcell will be different this year.

That's because the Heart of Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted against the downtown trick-or-treat this year due to the COVID pandemic.

"Out of care and concern for the community and families of Purcell and surrounding towns, the board voted to not host a downtown trick-or-treat event," chamber executive director

Elisabeth Baker said.

"Our main concern is to help kids have a great Halloween in a way that will also help our community stay healthy," Baker continued.

"To do that, we decided the chamber's best role this year is to promote the businesses and organizations that are having their own, smaller events in town."

Washington's homecoming Saturday against Bethel

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

Saturday's gridiron match will pit the Washington Warriors against the Bethel Wildcats.

But what happens before the opening kickoff at 3 p.m. is every bit as important as what follows.

It's Washington High School's homecoming and the coronation of a queen and king will begin at 2:30 p.m.

A homecoming parade is Friday starting at 2:50 p.m.

Queen candidates are seniors Kinzie Schultz, Payton Glasgow and Peyton Prock. Their attendants will be Kaytin McKay, a junior; Ellie Loveless, a sophomore, and Aly Hobbs, a freshman.

Kinzie Schultz, 17, plays softball. She is the daughter of Bronwyn Boswell and Chadd Schultz.

Glasgow, 17, is a member of National Honor Society, band, Student Council, Science Club, the Academic Team and Family, Career and Community Leaders of America. She is on the superintendent's honor roll. She is the daughter of Amy Glasgow.

City signs contract with OEC

Fiber given green light inside Purcell

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

Purcell City Manager Dale Bunn and city attorney Ted Haxel signed a contract last week with OEC Fiber allowing the company to offer online services inside the city limits.

Bunn said Tuesday it isn't known when OEC Fiber will start work in the city, adding "we feel it will be months."

Calls to David Goodspeed,

OEC Fiber president and IT vice president for the electric cooperative, weren't returned.

Citing displeasure with current internet providers in Purcell, residents had asked the city council on September 8 to enter into an agreement with OEC Fiber.

At a special council meeting September 15, Haxel pointed out the city will receive no money for allowing OEC Fiber internet inside the city limits.

The contract provides five percent from video services, which Haxel said, may or may not be offered in the future.

In addition, OEC turned down a stipulation in the contract stating OEC doesn't have the right to extend electrical service into Purcell beyond existing customers.

Launching anti-phishing campaign

At McClain Bank

McClain Bank has joined the American Bankers Association and banks across the nation in launching a first-of-its kind, industry-wide campaign to educate consumers about the persistent threat of phishing scams.

The FTC estimates that consumers lost $1.9 billion to phishing schemes in 2019 and the ongoing pandemic has only increased the threat.

To combat phishing, the #BanksNeverAskThat campaign uses attention-grabbing humor and other engaging content to empower consumers to identify bogus bank communications asking for sensitive information like their passwords and social security numbers.

"This campaign is an unprecedented effort by the banking industry to address a growing threat to our customers," said Rob Nichols, ABA president and CEO. "Thanks to participating banks like McClain Bank, we're turning the tables on the bad guys by giving consumers the tools they need to spot illegitimate bank communications."

McClain Bank, along with banks across the country and ABA, are simultaneously launching the campaign on October 1 to mark the beginning of National Cybersecurity Awareness Month.

Throughout the month the bank will share eye-catching and engaging short videos, animated GIFs and consumer tips on social media, its website, in bank branches, and on outdoor digital signs designed to highlight common phishing schemes.

Because cybersecurity education and fraud awareness can often be dull and forgettable to many consumers, the campaign is designed to be bright and bold with a bit of comedy.

"Do you prefer boxers or briefs? Do you believe in aliens?!" one of the campaign's animated GIFs asks social media users. "Banks would never ask you these questions. Here's another question a real

McClain County 4-H youth to celebrate National 4-H Week

Every year, National 4-H Week sees millions of youth, parents, volunteers and alumni come together to celebrate the many positive youth development opportunities offered by 4-H.

The theme for this year's National 4-H Week, Opportunity4All, is a campaign that was created by National 4-H Council to rally support for Cooperative Extension's 4-H program and identify solutions to eliminate the opportunity gap that affects 55 million kids across America.

With so many children struggling to reach their full potential, 4-H believes that young people, in partnership with adults, can play a key role in creating a more promising and equitable future for youth, families and communities across the country.

In 4-H, we believe every child should have an equal opportunity to succeed. We believe every child should have the skills they need to make a difference in the world.

McClain County 4-H will observe National 4-H Week this year by highlighting some of the inspirational 4-H youth in our community who are working tirelessly to support each other and their communities.

"We believe youth perspectives are so important and a solution to eliminating the opportunity gap, because young people come with new ideas and new ways of seeing the world," explains Jennifer Sirangelo, President and CEO of National 4-H Council. By encouraging diverse voices and innovative actions, 4-H believes that solutions can be found to address the educational, economic and health issues that have created the opportunity gap.

To kick off National 4-H Week, McClain County 4-H President Lucy Wilson, vice president, Wyatt Nikodym and Oklahoma State 4-H President Hunter Haxton met with the McClain County Commissioners to sign the 4-H Proclamation declaring October 4-10, 2020, as National 4-H Week in McClain County.

The proclamation commends the Oklahoma 4-H Youth Development Program of the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service and the 4-H members, volunteers leaders, supporters and Extension Educators who have made the program a success.

"McClain County 4-H is grateful to have such great supporters of the program and we are excited to celebrate National 4-H Week!", said McClain County 4-H Educator, Alex Cox.

"The McClain County Officer Team has great events and activities planned for this week and is excited to share the 4-H Program with all youth across McClain County. Stay tuned to our social media pages to see what we have going on for National 4-H Week," she said.

Due to COVID-19, most 4-H Clubs are unable to have club meetings at their normal locations in person. In an effort to keep members engaged, McClain County 4-H Leaders, the County 4-H Officer Team and the 4-H Educator came up with the idea of "4-H In A Box." The goal of this program is to get youth in McClain County engaged and active in their 4-H Clubs by providing hands-on activities within a simple box.

This program is designed for 4-H members to engage in a county 4-H meeting, via Zoom, from the comfort of their home while being provided with everything they will need to participate in the educational activities.

The first "4-H In A Box" Zoom Meeting will be October 5, just in time to kick off National 4-H Week! For more information about 4-H In A Box or to reserve your box, please contact the McClain County Extension Office.

For those that are not involved in the McClain County 4-H Program, it's never too late to join! In 4-H, we see that every child has valuable strengths and real influence to improve the world around us.

Whether you enjoy working with animals, building robots, taking photographs, singing or even collecting bugs, McClain

Bipartisan bill to assure students get civics lessons

Congressman Tom Cole and Connecticut Congresswoman Rosa DeLauro, Ranking Member and Chair of the Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations Subcommittee respectively, marked Constitution Day by introducing the Educating for Democracy Act.

This legislation would create a variety of grants to states, non-profits, institutions of higher education and civic education researchers to support and expand access to civics and history education.

Additionally, the bill would require the National Assessments of Education Progress (NAEPs) in civic and history education to be conducted every four years at grades four, eight and 12, and make available disaggregated, state-level results.

"The best way to preserve America's unique form of governance is through civics education," Cole said. "Indeed, when Americans are equipped with the fundamental knowledge of our democratic principles, they are much more likely to participate. I am proud to join in introducing this important legislation to support and expand access to civics and history education so we may develop and teach curriculum that enriches generations to come."

"If students of all ages are not given the information in their classrooms to actively participate in our democracy, we cannot expect them to stay engaged and informed as adults," DeLauro said. "The divide in this country continues to grow as we neglect civic education and fail to build a nation adequately informed of our democratic principles, norms, and institutions."

"We must focus on educating our citizens in order to sustain our democracy, and the federal government must provide the resources to support this

Deadline near

Vote by mail application explained

Less than four weeks remain for registered voters in McClain County to apply for absentee ballots to be mailed to them for the November 3 General Election, County Election Board Secretary Karen Haley said today.

Applications for absentee ballots must be received by the County Election Board no later than 5 p.m. October 27 to be processed in time for the election.

Absentee voters may apply in person at the County Election Board office or may send their applications by mail, fax, or e-mail.

An online version of the form may be filled out and submitted electronically at www.elections.ok.gov.

Any registered voter eligible to vote in the election may vote by absentee ballot without stating a reason, Haley said, however absentee voters can activate certain special conditions in the following circumstances:

- Registered voters who are physically incapacitated and voters who care for physically incapacitated persons who cannot be left unattended may apply for absentee ballots only by mail, fax, e-mail, online or via an agent who is at least 16 years of age and who is not employed by or related within the third degree of consanguinity or affinity to any person whose name appears on the ballot.

- Registered voters who are confined to nursing homes in the county may apply by mail, by fax, by e-mail, online or via an agent who is at least 16 years of age and who is not employed by or related within the third degree of consanguinity or affinity to any person whose name appears on the ballot.

- Military personnel, residents of McClain County living overseas, and the spouses and dependents of each group may apply only by mail, by fax, or by e-mail. For more information and instructions, military and overseas voters may visit the Federal Voting Assistance Program website: www.fvap.gov/oklahoma.

For more information on absentee voting, contact the County Election Board at 121 N Second Avenue, Purcell, OK 73080. The telephone number is 527-3121. The County Election Board's fax number is 527-9347.

Chamber board makes right call

We applaud the Heart of Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce Board for voting to not have the downtown Halloween trick-or-treat this year.

You talk about not having social distancing!

It would be worse than a football party in Norman.

Anyone that has been to the event knows it is wall-to-wall people on both sides of Main Street from The First Baptist Church all the way to Canadian and back.

The crowd, estimated to be at least 2,000 and maybe upwards of 3,000, is bumper to bumper and during this COVID pandemic it just wouldn't be prudent.

Too much risk of spreading the virus and as downtown merchants know we see people

COVID cases continue to explode in Oklahoma and continue to grow in McClain County, which is currently in the orange level.

Blanchard leads the county with 337 cases followed by Purcell with 277 and Newcastle with 228.

Washington has 79 cases followed by Wayne with 36, Dibble with eight, Goldsby with four and Byars with two.

In Cleveland County, which is also in the orange level, Lexington has 396 reported cases. Norman has 3,280 cases and Moore has 1,055.

Oklahoma, which is averaging about 1,000 new cases every day, ranks No. 4 nationally in cases per capita.

An Army brat's world travels

It's all passports, borders, guards and gates

By the time I was in fifth grade, I was a seasoned world traveler courtesy of Dad's career in the U.S. Army.

It wasn't unusual for an Army brat – even one still in elementary school – to have a passport filled with the stamped entry to numerous countries.

I was still in kindergarten when my globe-trotting began. After Korea, Dad was stationed on Okinawa. Mom, my sister and I traveled to the other side of the world to reunite our family.

After Okinawa came Ft. Knox, Ky.

In the summer between second and third grades, the Army packed us up lock, stock and barrel and shipped us to Germany for three years.

I was by then old enough to grasp the reality of border crossings as family vacations over three years frequently took us out of Germany.

We visited Switzerland, Italy, Luxemburg, Belgium, Holland, France and East Germany.

The latter wasn't your typical border crossing since West Berlin, our destination, was in the middle of what was then East Germany and the only way to get there was by trains that only traveled at night.

MUCH ADO

Jeanne Grimes

Other than that trip, however, all border crossings were basically the same.

We would arrive at a border and often had to wait in a line of cars. When we reached the head of the line, the folks would hand over four passports which were then duly stamped, returned to the folks and the gate raised to grant us entry into another country.

A little time-consuming, but overall a smooth procedure.

Before we returned to the States, my folks bought a new car from a dealership in Brooklyn.

Dad decided to drive down the East Coast and then across the Southern states on the way to visit family in Texas and Oklahoma.

I remember looking at the map and thinking to myself, "Wow, that's a lot of border crossings!"

I was very surprised there were no guards or gates when we passed from one state to another.

It was definitely an eye-opening experience for me.

I recall that to gauge how much the country has changed between the mid-20th century and the year 2020.

It's disconcerting that in these unique times some states will deny you entry based simply on the state where you live.

But it's happening.

It's disconcerting if you don't have the right driver's license, you need a passport to board a domestic flight or enter a federal building.

Crazy rules for the crazy times we live in, I guess.

Once-open international borders to our north and south aren't so open anymore.

My advice: Save the passport for true international travel.

And sign up for a REAL ID. That's what I'm doing.

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

Sustaining small businesses

Congressman Tom Cole

Throughout most of this year, the coronavirus pandemic has greatly disrupted our lives and dealt harsh hits to our economy out of nowhere. Sadly, some of the most ruthless economic hits have been felt by America's small businesses.

While the federal government has done a lot already to help save and sustain struggling small businesses and their workers, there is more that could be done if Speaker Nancy Pelosi would allow the U.S. House of Representatives to vote on a simple and commonsense piece of legislation related to the Paycheck Protection Program.

For background, the Trump Administration and Congress worked together earlier this year to create and provide initial funding for the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) through passage of the CARES Act.

As you might remember, once the PPP opened to potential applicants, it was so popular and successful that Congress replenished funding for the program just a few weeks later back in April.

Since then, the PPP has saved approximately 51 million American jobs across the country. In Oklahoma alone, the PPP has directly helped more than 66,000 businesses stay afloat and retain their dedicated employees.

While funding that Congress provided specifically for the PPP is not yet used up, the program unfortunately became closed to new applications on August 8 – nearly two months ago.

In fact, there is roughly $135 billion of unspent funds that could be helping small businesses if the program were reopened. Indeed, as the pandemic continues, pausing business as usual as we race toward a vaccine and cure, it is absolutely in our country's best interest to keep existing resources available to our small business job creators.

As the lifeblood of our economy, small businesses are key in our nation's economic recovery in the short-term and the long-term.

Though a simple extension of the PPP shouldn't be a point of contention, Speaker Pelosi has decided to make it one. Amid weeks of stalling meaningful negotiation with the Trump Administration for needed additional coronavirus relief, it seems Speaker Pelosi thinks it wise to hold a PPP extension hostage in the meantime. That approach is incredibly

MOVIES WITH DAVE

By David Stull

It's an all Netflix affair this time around.

This week I'm finally catching up with my review of the streaming service's recently released historical thriller "The Devil All the Time."

In addition, this past weekend Netflix also released a mystery movie starring one of their rising stars, Millie Bobby Brown, as the young teenage sister of Sherlock Holmes.

So without any further ado, let's get to the reviews.

First up is "The Devil All the Time."

Set in rural southern Ohio and West Virginia, this film

Fix our medical insurance dilemma

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

Give all Americans the option to buy into Medicare. I've paid into Social Security and Medicare my entire life. I'm still paying to be on plan B and supplemental coverage.

I also pay for prescription insurance. I often feel like a coffee coupon from McDonald's would pay for about as much medicine as my prescription card pays.

I no longer pay over $1,600 a month in medical insurance but I still pay about $450 a month even with Medicare. Nothing is free.

Americans should have the option to buy into Medicare especially if medical insurance will not cover them and they can't afford the sky rocketing premiums.

It's also time to get rid of medical supplements and prescription cards. Make Medicare a single payer of the doctor's visits, prescription costs and all the above.

The government has more power to control the cost of big pharmacies and hospital costs. Most medical providers have "one price" but then the "price" they will accept from Medicare. Under President Trump, hospitals will have to display their secret negotiated rates to patients starting in January, 2021. This gives you the option to shop around.

I'm all for having medical insurance available. Make it available from state to state. Make it easy for Americans to buy from pharmacies in Canada.

Let senior Americans at age 55 buy 20-year term medical insurance plans if they would prefer to do so. Some Americans have no idea how desperate other Americans are when it comes to medical treatment.

Why make it so hard for Americans who do not have access to healthcare? Let them buy into Medicare. If they are unemployed or disabled then give them the Medicaid option. However, this is just more bureaucracy. This system needs to become one.

It's also time to make 60 the age that retired Americans go on Medicare. In your late 50s and early 60s Americans have to start going to the doctor more. A friend of mine is waiting until she turns 65 and has Medicare so she can have a badly needed surgery. She needs it now. If she could buy into Medicare she could go ahead and move forward with her needed surgery.

We also need to turn the age back to 65 for collecting full Social Security benefits. American men die by the time they are 76.1 years old. Many die much younger. This is very little time to enjoy retirement.

Sadly, many Americans aren't having much of a retirement in their golden years. Many are working longer and spending less time doing what they had hoped to do.

The government wastes our Social Security contributions. They've spent trillions on foreign wars. They now tell us Social Security will be reduced by 25 percent in a few years.

Rich political leaders want to push the age until 70 for you to collect your Social Security. This is not working for the American people. We are working longer with the prospects of collecting less.

Butch Wise Time Keeper
AQHA President Wise Keeps
the Association Marching Forward
His distinguished career started here in Purcell

This article is re-printed with permission of the American Quarter Horse Journal.

By Richard Chamberlain

Time marches on. Like it or not, in only one direction. At 70, Butch Wise knows how time works, how it's measured and how it's kept. He also knows that managing a business as large as the American Quarter Horse Association, like the intricate pieces of a watch, involves a lot of moving parts.

Wise

"My first experience meeting with the AQHA Executive Committee was like looking into a hundred-dollar pocket watch," he says. "AQHA has a lot of moving parts."

Elected to the Executive Committee in March 2016, Butch joined the group the following month when it met at AQHA Headquarters in Amarillo for its quarterly meeting under new AQHA President Sandy Arledge. He is the 70th person to serve as AQHA president. Tick, tick, tick...

F.E. "Butch" Wise is a moving part, a spinning wheel in the fine-tuned instrument known as the American Quarter Horse industry. A prime mover in his chosen field of racing, he's a well-known and widely respected agent and manager for the breeding, raising, selling and buying of the fastest horses on earth. But he's also quick to note that those horses of ultimate speed are only one segment among the myriad moving parts of an industry built on what also is the most versatile horse on earth.

It's a worldwide engine encompassing not only racing but also ranching, rodeo, roping, barrel racing, jumping, dressage, trail, recreational riding and countless other disciplines and uses spread over professional, amateur and youth divisions - or for that matter, full-time, part-time, weekend or any other split of demographics.

"I like a good horse," Butch says. "A good horse is a good horse, whatever it is. I like to deal with the best in any breed - Quarter Horse, Thoroughbred, whatever it is. I respect all kinds of horses. I respect all kinds of disciplines. There are a number of ways, a myriad of ways, to make a living in the horse business. So if it's a roping horse, a draft horse, a jumping horse, whatever it is, if he's a good one, I have respect for him."

Butch has turned that respect into money, for himself but even more for other people. He lives with wife Nancy in El Reno, where Nancy runs her jewelry business and helps her husband with their two companies and their broodmare program. Butch owns and is president of Wise Sales Co. Inc. and the bloodstock side known as Stone Chase Stables LLC, which also has been involved in the management of the Lazy E Ranch at Guthrie for nearly 30 years.

Now owned by the McKinney family's Reliance Ranches of Texas, Lazy E Ranch breeds, raises and develops both racing and performance horses, manages broodmares and yearlings for a worldwide clientele, and annually is the largest consignor of racing Quarter Horses.

Butch is also the syndicate manager for top stallions Corona Cartel and Valiant Hero. He put together the racing syndicate and was a member of the group that acquired Teller Cartel as a yearling in 2004 and watched him win the All American Futurity (G1) the following year.

Also under the Lazy E banner is the Lazy E Arena. Though not involved in the management of the arena, Butch proudly notes that it hosts horse-related events that include the AQHA Versatility Ranch Horse World Championships, as well as barrel races, team ropings, horse shows and the Oklahoma State Wildlife Department's annual Wildlife misguided.

So too is her belief that Congress and the Administration must agree on everything before they can agree on anything in terms of another coronavirus relief bill. It's worth noting that members of her own party are becoming dissatisfied with Speaker Pelosi's tactics.

I certainly hope that Speaker Pelosi will change course and put the livelihoods of the American people first. A worthwhile place to start would be consideration of legislation authored and introduced by House Small Business Committee Ranking Member Steve Chabot. His legislation would simply extend the PPP through the end of the year, make some practical modifications to the application process and enable certain eligible businesses to apply for a second loan.

Last week, I was proud to sign a discharge petition led by Congresswoman Jaime Herrera Beutler to allow a vote on the legislation. Once 218 signatures are collected, the petition will be able to force a vote in the House.

While it is disappointing that Republicans must resort to a discharge petition to pressure Speaker Pelosi to free up money already provided and intended to aid small businesses, I am hopeful a majority of House members will sign it and allow this important vote to occur.

Again, this is not and should not be a controversial or partisan issue. It is a matter of protecting American livelihoods that remain at risk because of a deadly virus that originated in China.

While we should all be encouraged by how rapidly the U.S. is racing toward a safe and effective vaccine to restore our way of life, struggling small business job creators need our help in the meantime. Congress can and should do its part by reopening the Paycheck Protection Program.

However, as we were reminded last week during National Small Business Week, we can all help by supporting our favorite local businesses on Main Street. Even in this era of social distancing, there are plenty of ways we can show our support, whether by shopping online, ordering to-go or buying gift cards.

Finally, while the coronavirus crisis has caused unprecedented hardships and challenges for us all, I am encouraged that Republicans are committed to working with President Trump to restore our way of life and rebuild our economy as quickly as possible.

Remember, before the deadly invisible enemy struck the world, America's economy was booming and unemployment was at 50-year low. We can and will get there again. Indeed, one of the best ways we can recover and rebuild our economy is by helping small business job creators survive these difficult times. Our future success depends on their existence.

Dave:

follows a series of compelling and bizarre characters from the end of World War II to the 1960s as they all converge around a young man named Arvin (Tom Holland).

Devoted to protecting the people he loves, Arvin, and those around him, are exposed to hardship after hardship while living in this postwar backwoods town teeming with corruption and brutality.

I'm just gonna throw this out there right at the beginning. This is not a particularly pleasant movie to watch.

No one here has a happy ending. The characters here, morally ambiguous as they are, are forced to deal with one terrible, and often gruesome, tragedy after the next.

Things never get better for anyone. In fact, death always seems like the inevitable result for most.

Basically, the world is a terrible place, and those most innocent or trusting are liable to end up the worst off.

So don't watch this movie if you're looking for something to lift your spirits. You won't find anything uplifting here.

Of course a depressing story doesn't automatically make a movie bad, and there are definitely some aspects of the film to like here. Mainly in the form of the movie's cast.

Not only is Tom Holland here, who was fairly recently launched into stardom thanks to Marvel's Spider-Man and Avengers films, but this movie also features the talents of Bill Skarsgård, Robert Pattinson, Jason Clarke, and Sebastian Stan.

These actors all give very good performances in their respective roles. Granted, they all play fairly detestable members of society, with the possible exception of Holland's character, but I can't fault any of their acting.

What I can fault though is the story. Because on top of being depressing, this film felt fairly disjointed to me.

It's an ambitious narrative. One that tries to tie together about a dozen characters, many of whom are largely unrelated to each other and off doing their own individual things.

Not only that, but this story covers quite a span of time. Nearly two decades in fact.

How exactly did the filmmakers plan to juggle so many characters and individual stories over such a long period?

A narrator, that's how.

Now I don't necessarily have a thing against narration in films. In many movies, it can be used to great effect, enhancing the story and giving the audience greater insight of what's going on inside the heads of our characters.

But here it just feels like a crutch.

Instead of being shown how the characters are feeling or what they're thinking, the narrator just outright says it constantly, to an insufferable degree.

Other times it seems the narrator is the only thing holding this splintered narrative together, where the disembodied voice is forced to fill in massive gaps left in the screenplay.

I guess it's cool that the movie's narrator is voiced by the writer of the novel that this film is based on, Donald Ray Pollock. But that's just a fun Easter egg for fans of the book. It doesn't enhance the story in any particular way.

If there had to be a narrator, I would have much rather had one of the characters that was actually in the movie. Like Tom Holland since he's the de facto star of the film.

Instead of the narration feeling personal, like with Tom Hanks in "Forrest Gump," or Morgan Freeman in "The Shawshank Redemption," this movie just has a disembodied voice we have no connection to. One that, for the most part, annoyingly states the obvious half of the time.

I don't know. If you can get past the film's bleak story and disjointed narrative, there are some good performances to be seen here.

To be quite frank though, I don't think I'm in the mood for a tale this disheartening these days. Not when the story seems to be bleak just for the sake of being depressing.

The world is gloomy enough as it is right now. I don't need a movie to rub it in my face.

"The Devil All the Time" is rated R and is available to stream on Netflix.

The other movie this week is "Enola Holmes."

When Enola Holmes (Millie Bobby Brown),

Sherlock's 16-year-old sister, discovers her mother (Helena Bonham Carter) missing, she sets off to find her.

Attempting to become a super-sleuth in her own right, Enola must outwit her famous brother (Henry Cavill) while unraveling a dangerous conspiracy around a mysterious young Lord (Louis Partridge).

After being made to suffer two very bleak and unpleasant films in the form of "Antebellum" and "The Devil All the Time" these past couple weeks, I was very much looking forward to watching something a little more light hearted.

And that's exactly what "Enola Holmes" is. A fun, fast paced mystery with charming characters and a story that manages to be fairly entertaining throughout.

The film opens with Enola introducing herself to the audience. Yes, directly to everyone watching. This movie has zero qualms about breaking the fourth wall and Enola talks to the camera nearly constantly in this film.

In a way it almost reminded me of a TV show for preschoolers at times, like something out of "Dora the Explorer." Heck, Enola even directly asks the audience for help at one point.

Anyway, the movie opens up with Enola briefly telling us her entire life story up to that point.

This is done with her narration of course, along with some quick flashbacks and some simple animated paper cutouts which were slightly reminiscent of "Monty Python's Flying Circus."

She goes on to tell us of her relationship with her family, including her two elder brothers, Mycroft and Sherlock, neither of whom she knows all that well, plus her mother, who is essentially Enola's entire world.

Then one day, on her 16th birthday, Enola's mom simply vanishes without a trace.

At the same time, her brothers arrive at their family estate, and in the absence of Mrs. Holmes, Mycroft takes it upon himself to get Enola a proper education by sending her to finishing school for young ladies.

Naturally, this doesn't sit well with a free spirit like Enola, who has more in common with older brother Sherlock than the other girls her age, and thus she sets out to solve the mystery of where her mother disappeared to and our adventure begins.

The story here is pretty simple and easy to follow, at least as far as mysteries go.

Many of the clues involve hidden messages in words or phrases. A theme that ties into Enola's name, which spells "alone" backwards.

But this film isn't just a straight mystery. There's also a good amount of action here too. Not only is Enola a brilliant mind, but her mom also made a point to teach her martial arts as well.

One such action scene stood out to me in particular.

As Enola is fighting for her life against a mysterious man in a bowler hat, the film intercuts scenes of Enola and her mother teaching her jujitsu, with the movie going back and forth showing the young sleuth putting that training to use. It all worked together quite well thanks to some good editing and solid action choreography.

Of course a film this reliant on its main character certainly needs someone charming and charismatic in the lead role, and luckily Millie Bobby Brown is more than up to the task.

Like most people, the first movie or TV show I ever saw Millie in was the Netflix original series "Stranger Things" as the mute young girl with supernatural telepathic abilities.

And also like most, I was blown away by her relatively silent, yet incredibly expressive performance.

As Enola, Millie Bobby Brown is basically playing the exact opposite character. Yet she manages to pull it off just as well.

At this point, I can't see Millie's acting career going anywhere but up. If there was any doubt that she was an incredibly talented performer, this film should silence any naysayers.

Overall, this is a nice, light-hearted movie. One with a strong message about female empowerment, which is always welcomed in my book.

If it wasn't for a couple of intense and shocking moments during the film's action, I wouldn't hesitate to recommend it to families with kids of all ages. This could have easily been a PG movie if not for those brief scenes.

Does the movie occasionally feel a bit too much like watching "Blue's Clues" with Enola constantly talking to the camera? Sure. Heck, at one point I half expected Enola to start singing about the mail when she discovered a letter early on in the film.

But that feeling didn't bother me too much, and in the end I was able to enjoy the film for what it was.

An enjoyable, easy to watch movie with a mystery that manages to keep your interest all the way to the very end. Not a bad way to spend a couple hours if I do say so myself.

"Enola Holmes" is rated PG-13 and is available to stream on Netflix.

Pashofa cooking

Watch the virtual pashofa cooking during Annual Meeting

Pashofa has been a traditional Chickasaw meal for centuries. During the Chickasaw Nation Annual Meeting and Festival, the Chickasaw Nation is hosting a virtual pashofa cooking class October 1 at 6 p.m. during cultural evening.

The virtual class is available at AnnualMeeting.Chickasaw.net and on Facebook.com/TheChickasawNation.

Consisting of cracked corn (hominy) and pork, which is covered in water and boiled for several hours, pashofa was more than sustenance. It was traditionally made at ceremonial events in large pots.

Women came together to prepare enough to feed an entire village. This required several pounds of cracked corn. When time came to prepare pashofa, corn pounders made from hollowed out tree trunks were used to crack hominy kernels.

Next, the corn was poured into boiling water in a pashofa pot. Pork was added and the mixture continued to cook until it was soft and soupy. This process could take a good portion of the day, depending on how much pashofa was prepared.

One of the most important steps in cooking pashofa is to stir the pot regularly. This ensures the corn will not stick to the bottom of the large iron pots. Pashofa paddles were designed specifically for this purpose.

They were carved with long handles, broadened at one end like a spoon, but flat with a straight edge for scraping. The strong heartwoods of hickory, bois d'arc and oak trees were used.

Because they were made so well, these paddles lasted several generations, handed down as a cherished treasure from one family to the next. The handles wore smooth after many years of use, a legacy of the loving, hardworking hands of Chickasaw ancestors.

Next to the corn pounder, the pashofa pot was a necessary item in Chickasaw households. Before European trade, Chickasaw women crafted large clay vessels for cooking pashofa.

The process of making these pots took much labor and many hours of preparing the clay, building and fashioning the pot by hand and waiting for the clay to dry before firing. Though the pots were well-made and served many people, the metal kettle began appearing as European trade increased. They were virtually indestructible and spared hours of making ceramic pots. Many pashofa pots were handed down among Chickasaw families for generations.

Pashofa was, and still is, served by Chickasaw families, for celebrations and ceremonies.

This virtual pashofa cooking class offers a chance to learn more about the cultural significance of this important dish and see how it is made.

The 3rd Saturday Book Group Virtual Program will be held from 10 a.m.-12 noon on Saturday, October 17.

Adults are invited to the book discussion group each month on the third Saturday at 10 a.m.

Out of care and concern for the community and families of Purcell and surrounding towns, the Heart of Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce board voted to not host a downtown trick or treat event this year.

“Our main concern is to help kids have a great Halloween in a way that will also help our community stay healthy,” chamber executive director Elisabeth Baker said. “To do that, we decided that the Chamber’s best role this year is to promote the businesses and organizations that are having their own, smaller events in town.”

“We know that this year will be different than many years, but our hope is that this will help keep Halloween fun and safe for all our families,” Baker said.

This is a really good and easy recipe.

Creamy Italian Chicken

This creamy Italian chicken is made in the crockpot with just 5 simple ingredients. A family favorite meal that’s perfect for busy weeknights.

- 10.5 ounce can cream of chicken soup
- 10.5 oz. can cream of mushroom soup
- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 1 packet dry Italian dressing mix (I like Good Seasons brand)
- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- Salt and pepper, to taste

Spray your slow cooker with non-stick spray. Place chicken in the crockpot.

Combine Italian seasoning, cream of mushroom soup and cream of chicken soup. Pour over the chicken. Cut the cream cheese into cubes and place on top of the chicken and sauce.

Cook on low for 5-6 hours or high for 3-4 hours. Shred chicken and salt and pepper to taste. Add 1/4-1/2 cup of chicken broth or milk if needed to thin it out. Serve over cooked noodles or rice.

Mothers Entwined Club

Mothers Entwined President Karla Sitton called the September 23 meeting to order. The meeting was hosted by Penny Berrey and held in her home in Purcell. Karla Sitton offered our prayer and we enjoyed delicious chicken salad sandwiches, mixed fruit salad and delicious cookies.

Kristi Kilcrease read the minutes from the last meeting. Penny Berrey made the motion to approve the minutes and Becky Galyean seconded the motion.

Kristi Kilcrease called roll. Fourteen members were present including Amy David, Julie Wofford, Kristi Kilcrease, Karla Sitton, Kim Fox, Lori Cox, Kim McGregor, Elisa Hedenberg, Brandi Kroth, Carrie Mayes, Becky Galyean, Carol Di Rienzo, Angie Goldsby and Penny Berrey.

Members not present were Brandi Steiner, Lori Cudd, Kristi Davey, Kim Croslin and Missy Hewett.

Kim McGregor gave the treasurer’s report. Karla Sitton read the state bulletin. For our club we are required to have nine programs for the year. Karla Sitton held one of those last meeting.

Karla Sitton communicated to the club members that Convention would be at the Embassy Suites April 16-17, 2021 and this year’s theme would be “The Wizard of Oz.”

We spoke about Done in Day projects and all agreed to find at least three families each in Purcell and Washington to take fall décor/pumpkins to and help spread some seasonal cheer.

Sunshine collection basket was passed around and we will have total provided next month.

Door prize winners were won by Karla Sitton, Becky Galyean and Kim Fox. They received beautiful succulents in a Halloween flower pot.

Kristi Kilcrease made the motion to adjourn the meeting and Karla Sitton seconded the motion.

Purcell and Wayne Senior Citizens

By John Webb

Hi everyone. There’s just a few more weeks before the 2020 elections, so please exercise your right to vote. Then after that, we start running headlong into the holiday season.

Despite COVID-19, our daily attendance is holding steady in both Purcell and Wayne. We are so grateful for your willingness to pick up your meals to go.

Though we have made the decision to remain closed for the rest of the year, it is still very important to make and keep your reservations so we don’t prepare too many, or too few, meals per day. Just call the kitchen at 527-9462 and ask for Sherrie, Evelyn or John. Please call the same number if you need to cancel a reservation as well. Thank you for your cooperation.

Menu for October 5-9:

Monday—Chicken and dumplings, peas, carrots, bread pudding with lemon sauce.

Tuesday—Cheeseburger with lettuce, tomato, onion and pickles, potato salad, frosted brownie.

Wednesday—Taco salad with meat and cheese, picante sauce, sour cream, tossed salad, Mexican corn, taco chips, pineapple chunks.

Thursday—Ham and beans, sliced onion, tomato spoon relish, spinach, cornbread, spice cake with frosting.

Friday—Open faced hot pork sandwich, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, sliced bread, peach crisp.

Milk is available with every meal.

We are looking for a person who enjoys working with our seniors at the Wayne center. If you are interested, please contact me at 527-9462 or 449-3079 for more information.

Our garage sale is still open every Thursday and Friday for your convenience. All proceeds benefit the seniors. Donations are always welcome, but if you want to drop off your items, please call Hester at 990-1840 to assist you, especially after 1 p.m. or on weekends.

All of our seniors are very important to us, and we want all of you to stay safe. With the virus still out of control and flu season coming soon, I encourage you all to wash your hands often and to wear a mask in public.

Thanks you for your continued support of your senior centers in Purcell and Wayne.

Corner:

Expo that brings thousands of kids and their parents out to experience rural country.

“The McKinney family is dedicated to the preservation and showcasing of the western way of life, as was the Lazy E founder, Ed Gaylord,” Butch notes.

Good Horses, Good People
The son of Floyd and “Pink” Wise, Butch grew up with two older sisters in Heavener, about 50 miles south of Sallisaw, where their dad was a tie-down roper who also raced horses in the bushes. The area was a hotbed of match-racing activity with scores of little tracks that drew horses from all over eastern Oklahoma, western Arkansas, northeast Texas and Louisiana.

“Bill Hedge was just getting Blue Ribbon Downs started,” Butch recalls. “When we went to Blue Ribbon Downs, well, that was the big time, we thought it was Santa Anita.”

With horses everywhere and all around, the young boy found his calling.

“I loved rodeo and racing,” he says. “Dad really wanted me to be a calf roper but I just didn’t like roping that (practice) can all the time. There was a lot more action in riding bareback horses and match horses.”

Butch faced a common problem on the racetrack: By the time he was old enough to get licensed, he couldn’t make weight. So he went to college and earned a degree in animal science from Oklahoma State University. With sheepskin in hand, he went to work for Mel Hatley at Lexington who bred stakes winners Real Easy Jet, Kingdom Key and Stars In Her Crown. In 1973, Hatley Farms welcomed the hottest young stud in the breed.

That year, we stood Mr Jet Moore, the first winner of the Champion of Champions (now Grade 1), and I was hooked,” Butch says. “That lasted until a tornado blew us away later that spring. Killed the breeding manager and severely damaged the farm and caused Mr. Hatley to close it.”

Butch then went to Missouri, where he managed a portable cattle feeding equipment company for Cox Manufacturing. While in the Show Me State, he got a call from his alma mater, telling him The Quarter Horse Journal was looking for someone to sell ads.

“I was interviewed by Audie Rackley and got the job,” he says of the AQHA magazine that now is The American Quarter Horse Journal. “Back then, if a sale company bought enough ads, the Journal would send a ring man. I was low man on the totem pole, so they sent me to the hard-to-reach places. The great thing for me was that I went to a lot of places, met a lot of people, saw a lot of great horses from all disciplines, met top breeders and learned a whole lot in my time as a ring man. It was on-the-job training at its best.”

Butch was at the Journal “for only about a year and a half,” he jokes, “until they starved me out.”

That led to the horse that allowed him to establish his bloodstock agency: Tru Tru, a stakes-winning son of Truly Truckle (TB) who sired 11 stakes winners and the world champion halter mare My Tru Luv. Butch remembers Tru Tru as “a big magnificent horse, a very good sire and a very good broodmare sire.” The stallion was owned by Mrs. Juanita McConville of Red Bluff, Calif.

“Juanita decided to disperse her operation, stallion, broodmares, yearlings, everything, and she contracted me to get it done,” he recalls. “This was a big deal because when you are getting started, no one will give you a good horse to sell because you never have sold one, but Juanita had faith I could get it done. She allowed me to sell a good horse, and that led to others placing their good horses in my hands to market. I will be eternally grateful for her faith in me. She and Tru Tru started me on the path to where I and my family are today.”

At this time, too, Butch and Nancy were partners with Bill and Nancy Witman in Ridgeleigh Farms at Purcell (which was across the road from Windward Stud, owned then by Frank Merrill, who later would become president of AQHA). When Ridgeleigh later was sold, Butch made his transition to Lazy E Ranch.

“We made a lot of miles and sold a lot of horses in those days,” he recalls. “As we said then, we would just come home and ‘change clothes and change horses’ and take off again. Nancy kept everything running while I was gone, and she was a huge part of our success, raising four kids and juggling all the balls.”

Keeping the balls in the air required a lot of dexterity.

“Purcell was the center of the racing stallion business then, and there was a lot of trading activity to be had,” Butch says. “The building of the Heritage Place sale facility (led by Melvin Hatley and Dr. Charles Graham) during the early ‘80s played a huge part in our business then and now. Oklahoma is a great place from which to trade horses.

“I’ve worked with so many great horses and so many great horsemen over the years: Walter Merrick, Bob Moore, Mel Hatley and, well, there have been so many, I really shouldn’t even start trying to mention them, much less all the great auctioneers I worked with, I sure don’t want to leave anybody out,” he says. “Suffice to say, I’ve been extremely fortunate for so many years to have the opportunity to work with and for these legends.”

That brings up a couple of points: “Altogether, I’m guessing we’ve probably sold horses for something north of $350 million, maybe more,” Butch says. “Everybody wants to think about the big-time horsemen with horses that sold for half a million dollars. But we need to remember the guy with one horse. Maybe

Brush

Week 1 schedule

Purcell’s fall brush pickup is underway.

Residents north of Grant Street must have their brush and limbs at the curb by Sunday.

The debris will be picked up Monday through October 9.

Residents are reminded no debris will be picked up in alleys.

Brush will also be accepted at no cost at the Purcell Convenience Center, 701 S. 6th Ave., throughout the month.

The center is open 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays.

“The Educating for Democracy Act takes the necessary steps to bridge the divide in the United States and invest in the future of our democracy.”

his colt only brings $10,000, but that horse is just as important as the horse that brought $100,000. Financially, that $10,000 was a huge boon for that guy with one horse.”

“I have a great affinity for breeders, the people who love to breed horses,” he continues. “They could hunt, they could fish, they could have a boat, they could play golf, they could do all sorts of other things but they choose to breed horses. They choose to allocate time, assets and resources to a dream that they had the patience and dedication to see through.

“There’s a tremendous sense of pride and accomplishment associated with this because if they hadn’t done what they did, that horse wouldn’t exist: ‘I thought of this horse, I conceived it, I looked at the pedigree, I looked at the stallion and I looked at the mare, and I decided this is where she is strong and he is weak and vice versa. I rolled the dice, I raised him and got him through all the trials and tribulations, and now look at what he’s done.’ Not to take anything away from owners, trainers, jockeys or anyone else, but breeders are the backbone of our business. If it wasn’t for their dedication, their thoughts, their actions and their passions to breed a good horse, we’d never advance in our breed and industry.”

Building a Family and a Career

Butch’s time in Amarillo at the Journal eventually led him to the love of his life for the past 35 years: Nancy Campbell, who also shared prior experience in the Quarter Horse magazine business, working for Benny Scott’s Quarter Racing Record magazine in Fort Worth, Texas. The couple have sons Clay and Parker Wise, and daughters Mallory Wise and Ashlie Blair, who with husband Shawn have children Lacie and Derek. Clay and Ashlie are from Butch’s previous marriage; Mallory and Parker are his twins with “My kids are not in the horse business,” Butch says. “But you’ll see my kids with me at the sales and races on many occasions. My sons helped out at the yearling and broodmare sales over the years. My girls love horses but both of them are highly allergic, when they get around horses, they pay for it.

Nancy.

“Everything my family and I have is because of a horse,” he says. “I don’t have any other way to make a living. I like to sell a good horse and see it do well for the new owner, because they will come back and buy another. I’m extremely proud of being able to make a living in a very competitive environment for the past 40 years, adapting to a changing industry and having some of the same clients for 30-plus years. So I must be doing something right. That means our clients trust us, not only with their horses and with their reputations. That placing of trust is a big deal for me, that someone would respect your opinion and that they want to be involved with you and do business with you. It’s kind of a sacred trust. I value that very much.”

And that brings us back to the horse industry. Butch is a longtime member of the Oklahoma Quarter Horse Racing Association and Florida Quarter Horse Racing Association, and was heavily involved with the Oklahoma group’s establishment of a successful working arrangement with the state legislature.

In 2004, he received the Oklahoma State University Animal Science School Graduate of Distinction Award and in 2007 the AQHA Racing Council Special Recognition Award.

Which bring us back to AQHA. Butch was an AQHA director from 2001 to 2015, became an AQHA honorary vice president in 2015 and served on the studbook and registration committee. A former member of the nominations and credentials committee, he also formerly served on the racing committee and chaired the racing council. Butch also chaired the Hall of Fame committee from 2013 to 2015, and in 2014 was a member of the AQHA Governance Task Force.

Which brings us back to the $100 pocket watch.

“Spending four years on the Executive Committee develops a broader sense of the AQHA footprint over the world,” Butch says. “In daily life, your normal tendency is to focus and concentrate on your particular discipline or line of business. But on the Executive Committee, as you get more and more involved with different aspects of AQHA, you realize that there are huge contingents in the youth program, on the showing side, the international side. You get a better perspective of the financial ramifications of this enormous organization. You have to always be conscious of where we’ve been and what we’re about, but also of where we need to go.”

The route follows AQHA’s new website, computer and call systems.

“Doing all three of those at one time proved to be a massive undertaking, migrating a billion and a half records to a new platform,” he says. “People were used to the old system and, all of a sudden, drastic changes shocked everybody. But the COVID-19 crisis has proven the value of the new 4.0 system. (During the pandemic), we had more than 200 employees working remotely, who aren’t in the building in Amarillo. The old system never would have supported that.”

Neither would the old AQHA, which is not a building.

“AQHA is its membership,” Butch notes “Wherever those members are, we have to be able to serve them. They are a highly mobile group, highly technical in many cases, they have varied interests and varied abilities, so it’s AQHA’s duty to serve those members in the most efficient manner possible. We have instituted DocuSign, which allows you to use an electronic signature to complete registrations and transfers of horses. We are developing a mobile platform that will allow our members, wherever they are in the world, to do business with AQHA, whether on a desktop, tablet or smartphone. This is significant progress, significant advantages that will make AQHA stronger financially and our members happier because they’ll get their documents quicker.”

As this story was being written in early June, AQHA was preparing for a flood of documents, from yearling sales, production venues and private treaties. With the coronavirus upending pretty much everything everywhere, horsemen around the country were trying to guess what might be the new normal for a cyclical industry.

“I don’t think anyone can speak to that until it happens,” Butch says. “There are just way too many unknowns. Ultimately, what will be the same is that somebody is going to take a horse out to the racetrack to try to win a race or to the show pen to win a trophy. Somebody is going to end up in the winner’s circle, somebody is going to take the grand champion trophy home. Those things won’t change. Now, how we get there and how long it takes is anybody’s question.”

Tick, tick, tick...

Which, finally, brings us back to the guy in the president’s saddle. How would he define himself?

“I don’t know,” he says after a long pause. “I really don’t know. That’s an interesting question. I will say this: I’m a guy who would like to be known as a good horseman, a good horse trader and a better friend, and that’s pretty well about it.”

Essential workers celebrated in Lexington

The Town of Lexington celebrated its appreciation of our essential workers September 18. Hosted by the United Methodist Church of Lexington, the town gathered in the Lexington Park.

The community came and met our police officers, city workers and firefighters. These essential workers are present in the community regardless of day or conditions and are always working to serve the community.

With Oklahoma Moon playing and the town merchants providing much of the food, this could not have been a better celebration on a beautiful Friday evening.

Having said how important these essential workers are to this community, let me also say this event would have been difficult without the support of the merchants in our community. Lexington Gas and Go donated the hotdogs, Sonic donated the chili and onions and the buns were donated by Cash Savers.

Bob from DBA of Oklahoma, the cycle shop on the corner, is an essential business in Lexington; Northwind Heat and Air, who care for many homes and churches in the area, and Larry and Sheila Wells and Family from Wells Land and Cattle Co., take care of the farmers and ranchers in the area.

A couple of guys at the automotive repair shop can do just about anything you need done on your auto as a necessary business and Matthew and Shaney, along with Christian, are real people just trying to live the American dream and have their own business.

C & C Tag Agency makes it really easy to get your tag and now that we all have to have the REAL ID it seems to me it is the place to go, not only for the ID, but for your tag as well.

Got to admit Carl at Nu-Way Auto & Equipment was the first company I hit up for help and they were happy to donate. Just looking around it appears Nu-Way has so many parts to their business that I am sure they can meet just about any need within our community.

These businesses in and around Lexington need the support of the community as much as any business that you might drive 50 or 75 miles to have something worked on or to purchase.

Clark’s Floors & More Inc. has been in Lexington a long time and does excellent work in the community both in flooring and community service.

Can’t forget businesses like Jo’s Famous Pizza, All in Diner and Pizza Hut that donated gift cards.

While this event was hosted by Lexington United Methodist Church, and essential in the life of the community, just as are many of the other churches, it was the contribution from merchants like Pearson’s Lumber Yard and Williams Pharmacy that really made the difference in the success of the September 18 event.

All of these merchants deserve the community support because they are here to support the community of Lexington just like our essential workers.

When you do your shopping look to these merchants and support them just as they are here to support our community and serve you.

Obituaries

Donald "Don" Henry Rousey

Donald "Don" Henry Rousey, age 80 of Tecumseh, Okla., passed away Sunday, September 27, 2020 in Tecumseh.

He was born June 15, 1940 in Wynnewood, Okla., to William Jasper and Edna (Boyd) Rousey.

Don was raised in Purcell, Okla., and graduated from Purcell High School with the class of 1964. He earned an Associates Degree from Seminole State College.

Don married Judy Dawson in Purcell on January 23, 1960.

He proudly served his country in the U.S. Navy from 1957 to 1961. He was stationed in Hawaii, on the USS Hooper Island, and on the USS Klondike.

Don was a man with many talents. During his career he worked at S.W. States Telephone, with GTE from 1966 to 1993 as a switch technician, at Tinker AFB, owned and operated a car wash in Tecumseh, and did maintenance for the Highland Church of Christ.

He was always willing to volunteer in the Tecumseh community. He was a volunteer fireman with the Tecumseh Fire Department from 1968 to 1988, served as a Commissioner on the Tecumseh Housing Authority Board, and served on the Tecumseh Planning Commission Board.

Don had been a 32nd Degree Mason with the McAlester Consistory, held several offices with the Tecumseh Jaycees, and was a member of the Highland Church of Christ, where he served as a Deacon for 30 years.

He was preceded in death by his parents; infant daughter, Jennifer Jane; sister, Edna Mae Wilson; and brother, Tom Rousey.

Those left to cherish his memory are his wife, Judy, of the home; son, Brian Rousey of Oklahoma City; daughter and son-in-law, Mary Elizabeth and Brian Branson of Maud, Okla.; granddaughter, Jenny Lynn Branson; sisters, Virginia Smith of Salem, Ore., Pat (and Kenny) Crosslin of Purcell, and Sandra (and Darrell) Sanders of Lexington, Okla.; brothers, Bill (and Jan) Rousey of Purcell and Terry Rousey (and Debra Green) of Canadian, Okla.; many other family and numerous friends.

The family would like to extend their thanks to Don's caregivers, Lisa Hurley and Ericka McCombs, and the staff at Heartland Hospice for their care and compassion for Don and his family.

Closed casket visitation will be from 12 noon to 8 p.m. Wednesday, September 30, 2020 and continue until service time. Service will be at 10 a.m. Thursday, October 1, 2020 at Highland Church of Christ in Tecumseh with Erick Henson and Brett McKnight officiating. Burial will follow at Tecumseh Cemetery under the direction of Cooper Funeral Home of Tecumseh. The family asks that face coverings be worn by all who are able. The service will be shown on Highland Church of Christ's YouTube Channel.

Dwayne Earl Hatcher

Funeral services for Dwayne Earl Hatcher, 66, were held Wednesday, September 30, 2020 at the Rosedale Baptist Church. Interment was at Hillside Cemetery under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Mr. Hatcher died September 26, 2020 in Oklahoma City.

Dwayne Earl Hatcher was born December 2, 1953 in El Reno, Okla., to Olen and Essie Mae (Lowrey) Hatcher.

Dwayne was raised in Cogar, Oklahoma, and graduated from Minco High School in 1972. He then started his construction career in Oklahoma City, Okla., and went on to own Hatcher Building and Construction in the Dallas, Texas, area.

On December 20, 1999 he married Florence Webb in Lewisville, Texas.

From a young age, Dwayne loved adventure and that continued until his death. He flew hang gliders starting at the highest point he could find, which were cliffs in Watonga, Okla., and then to the Talihina mountains in Eastern Oklahoma and eventually to some of the tallest in Maui, Hawaii.

He was a pilot who loved to fly, had a love for horses and enjoyed spending his free time in Wayne, Oklahoma, on his ranch where he designed and built his home. He was a master carpenter and left behind many beautiful pieces to be loved by his family and friends.

Dwayne was preceded in death by his parents, Olen and Essie Mae Hatcher; his brother and sister-in-law, Nolan and Pat Hatcher; his brother, Doyle Hatcher; his nephew, Brent Hatcher and wife, Paula Hatcher; and his sister-in-law, Wendy Hatcher.

Survivors include his wife, Florence (Webb) Hatcher; his son, Joshua Hatcher and wife, Wadzanai, and grandson, Eli; sister, Beverly Reichert and husband, Clyde Reichert; brother, Mark Hatcher and wife, Debi Hatcher; sister-in-law Nancy Hatcher and numerous other relatives and friends.

Keeping chickens safe in the winter

Bradley Secraw
Agriculture/4-H Educator

This year has seen a big jump in interest in backyard chickens. Area farm supply stores have had large increases in sales of baby chicks and the supplies to take care of them. Getting chickens can be exciting and a lot of fun; however, first time chicken keepers may feel nervous as that first fall arrives with colder weather.

Online sources can disagree in the best way to care for chickens in the winter. In order to help address questions that backyard chicken keepers may have, I have put together some recommendations that address care of chickens during the winter.

The main take home message here is the importance of providing a dry, draft free environment, sunlight, several inches of dry litter, and sufficient ventilation. Notice that I did not mention supplemental heat.

Depending upon the number of birds to be housed, almost any type of building that provides controlled ventilation, such as windows and doors, can be used. The windows of the coop and outside run should face south to allow maximum exposure to the sun throughout the year. This helps with warmth in the winter and dryness during the rest of the year.

Keeping excessive heat out of the coop is more important than keeping heat inside. More birds have been killed by extreme summer heat than extreme winter cold. A basic rule in cold weather is to give birds protection from the wind.

Combs and wattles freeze easily in high winds but survive at temperatures well below freezing when air is calm. Temperatures less than 15 degrees Fahrenheit usually cause egg production to slow down or stop. Temperatures of about 10 degrees will probably lead to frozen combs or toes.

Heavy or dual-purpose birds like Ameraucanas and Wyandottes that are well feathered and fat and have small combs will fare best. Bantam breeds or light breeds with larger combs like leghorns may require more protection from cold weather.

Give birds a place to stay dry. Remember, moisture in the coop can lead to increased levels of ammonia and make it more difficult for the birds to stay warm. Feathers only retain body heat when dry.

Equally as important as warmth is adequate ventilation which provides comfort for the birds by removing moisture, ammonia and other gases; provides an exchange of air and helps control the temperature of the pen.

You can use natural or gravity fed ventilation with windows, flues, and slats. In a small coop, less than 150 square feet of floor space, you can use a bathroom fan in the ceiling and slats in the walls or windows to remove excess moisture in the winter.

Use wood perches as they will not conduct cold. Preferably, perches should have a flat surface (like a 2x4) that will allow the birds to cover their feet with their feathers when on the perch to keep them warm.

Check the water several times a day, and make sure that it is not frozen and is available to the birds. You may consider keeping the water from freezing with a heat lamp or a heater that goes under the waterer.

Feeding chickens in the evening and using deep litter will help keep them warm all night. In addition to providing insulation from the ground, deep litter also generates heat as it is broken down by microbial action.

While insulation is not necessary, it will help keep the heat generated by the birds in the coop. If you are adding heat to a house, insulation is a cheap way to get the most heating for your money.

Young birds will need a source of heat in order to survive and grow, and while not necessary, adding heat to older birds will help them maintain egg production throughout the winter. Take care to secure extension cords and electrical equipment to prevent fires.

2020 Art Show & Market to be virtual

This year's Southeastern Art Show and Market (SEASAM) and SEASAM Youth will take place virtually as part of an all virtual Chickasaw Nation Annual Meeting and Festival.

The annual art event is an opportunity for tribal artists and others to celebrate Southeastern and Woodland arts.

SEASAM and SEASAM Youth, an art competition and an online market, will be available to the public beginning October 2 and continuing through December 31. Art lovers can maintain responsible distancing while browsing and purchasing Chickasaw and Southeastern artists' works online.

As a judged art competition, awards will be available for winners among the various categories for both adults and youth. Winners will be announced October 1.

In 2005, SEASAM began what is now a time-honored tradition with the first competition, show and market. SEASAM continues to be committed to providing professional development and networking opportunities for emerging and professional Southeastern and Woodland artists, all while fostering cultural identity through fine art of contemporary and traditional styles.

Submission information is available at SEASAM.net. The show is open to adult and youth (ages 14-17) artists of federally-recognized Southeastern and Woodland tribes.

For more information, contact Chickasaw Nation Arts and Humanities at (580) 272-5520, or email ArtistInfo@Chickasaw.net.

NEWS from the City of Purcell

City of Purcell officials would like to express their appreciation to everyone in our community who has been working harder than ever to keep up the maintenance on their property.

This has been a very difficult year with a lot of rainfall and 90 degree weather.

All of this hard work does not go unnoticed and is very much appreciated when everyone takes pride in their community by keeping their property maintained.

According to code, it is the responsibility of the home owner and or renter to maintain your property, from the street to the middle of the alley.

You are required to keep mowed any grass, weeds or similar vegetation in that area between the property line and the street, and from the property line to the center of the alley way. This includes keeping trees trimmed.

medic. Listening to other firefighters speak about their experiences as medics in the military was all it took. He was initially interested in the Marine Corps, but found out the Corps doesn't have its own medics. They use Navy corpsmen as medics. That was all it took to send Ivey to the Navy recruiter. He finished boot camp in 2018, then willingly took another detour in his desire to become a corpsman. "I got picked up by the Ceremonial Guard right out of boot camp," Ivey said. Being a Ceremonial Guardsman is a singular high honor. Many may be called for the two-year assignment, but few are chosen. The requirements are rigid and so is the selection process. Candidates must be physically fit, a certain height (Ivey is 6 feet), free from physical deformities and top notch in appearance and demeanor. "They look you over," he said, "and they interview you." For every 100 who show up, "seven or eight" are selected, Ivey said. There are four platoons that comprise the Ceremonial Guard – color guard, firing party, ceremonial drill team and casket bearer. Ivey, who has about six months with the Ceremonial Guard, is a casket bearer who spends most of his work day at Arlington National Cemetery. There are typically three to six military funerals per day at the sprawling cemetery. Ivey's team will be there three or four days a week. That averages out to anywhere from 12 to 20 funerals a week. He has also worked a couple of funerals at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. Ivey said the job is "absolutely enjoyable," even if it is at times challenging. After all, funerals are often some people's worst day. "There's so much honor that goes with it. It makes me appreciate my service," he said. Sometimes the Ceremonial Guard is called on for funerals outside the rank and file. Ivey was a casket bearer for the late Rep. John Lewis, who died in July. And he was on the schedule to carry the casket of Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsberg into the Capitol Rotunda, but was on leave and missed the mandatory rehearsal. A rehearsal is necessary given there are 50 stairs to climb. "It's pretty tough carrying a casket" up those stairs, Ivey said. Ivey has about six months remaining in his two-year tour. So he will participate in the inauguration for whoever wins the White House in November. He already knows his next posting will be Ft. Sam Houston at San Antonio. There he will finally begin schooling to become a Navy corpsman. After that, the Navy will probably send him to the Naval Medical Center at Camp Lejeune, N.C. By the time he completes his corpsman training, Ivey will be the equivalent of a paramedic in the civilian world. Ivey's mother is Barbara Ivey and he has a sister, Brandi, who lives in Dallas. The single sailor plans on making the Navy a career. He is the first in his family to join the military.

Eubank:

al Engineering Technology with Standard Teacher Certification. Eubank's next stop was right back at Lindsay High School, where he was employed as a long-term substitute teacher for a teacher who was deployed in Desert Storm. After his first venture into teaching, Eubank took a break from the world of education working at Halliburton, in Duncan, while also working nights and weekends for Albin Enterprise. Next, he took a civil engineering job working for Red River Civil Engineering, another Duncan based business. He felt both of the previous jobs were never his calling, and he jumped back into education by accepting a teaching position at Ninnekah Public Schools, where he was tasked with creating a new Tech Ed program for grades 6-12. All of Eubank's previous jobs were short-lived, but in 1993 he joined the faculty at MATC and has never looked back. Eubank was hired as a teacher to transform the Drafting program into a Computer Aided Design and Drafting (CADD) program in order for MATC's students to be prepared for the changes occurring in business and industry. He taught the CADD program for 15 years, making it one of the leading CADD programs in the CareerTech system. In 2001, Eubank was one of the first five Oklahoma CareerTech teachers to achieve National Board Certification status. Upon completion of the 18-month process, a $5,000 a year bonus was awarded for the next 10 years. He used this bonus to finance his graduate degree in school administration and in 2008 was promoted to principal. Eubank held the position as principal for seven years and in 2015 he was promoted to MATC's Director of Full-Time Programs. While in these positions, Eubank rebuilt student recruiting and on-boarding processes and introduced multiple teacher induction and training programs. In 2017, he was afforded the opportunity to become the assistant superintendent, a role he readily accepted in order to propel MATC's continued efforts to excellence in education. But alas, that was not to be the last step in Eubank's MATC journey. In a surprise announcement in August, long-time superintendent Dusty Ricks announced his retirement, spurring Eubank to apply for the position of superintendent, and at a special board of education meeting, he was named MATC Superintendent effective October 1. In addition to meeting the educational requirements of a superintendent, Eubank has been preparing in many other aspects. He is a graduate of TechCAP IV, Tulsa Model TLE trainer, TechCent$ graduate, a Carl Perkins V presenter, completed Title IX Coordinator Training, was awarded the 2015 Southern Region Education Board Outstanding School Leader Award, and a sought-out presenter at SREB Tech Centers That Work conferences. Eubank and his wife, Shelly, have three children, McKenna and Kellar, both MATC graduates, and Lincoln, a sophomore at Purcell High School.

Dragons to CHA Friday night

Trying to get back on winning track

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Purcell took No. 3 Washington to within seven points into the fourth quarter but eventually lost to the Warriors at Conger Field last Friday, 40-27.

Led by Mojo Browning's two touchdowns, the Dragons trailed at halftime, 20-13.

Twice the Dragons drove to inside the Warrior 10-yard line both times coming up with no points.

"That hurt," Purcell Head Coach Tracy Scott said.

One drive ended in a fumble and the other in a botched field goal attempt.

Browning got the Purcell scoring started grabbing a 42 yard pass off the arm of quarterback Kody Kroth.

Ryker Fink scored on a three yard burst and Titus Mason found the end zone on the receiving end of a 30 yard strike by Kroth.

That duo hooked up again for the final Dragon score of the night a 38 yard pass and catch to pay dirt.

"I think we all played well for the most part," Scott said. "We had our chances. They are a good team. They don't make mistakes and you can't make mistakes when you play them. That's a credit to their coaching staff."

"It was one of those deals where we've got to get better and be able to finish and take care of the ball. We couldn't even kick a field goal."

Scott was quick to point out stellar defensive play from several of his Dragons.

"Jaysen Shea played well," he said. "So did Mateo Ramirez, Sam Wofford and Creed Smith," Scott said. "Our two corners Mojo Browning and Titus Mason shut down their receivers for the most part. I think they had Chase Allison scored four rushing touchdowns and Washington's defense stopped Purcell twice inside the 10 yard line to post a 40-27 district victory at Conger Field last Friday night.

Allison scored on runs of one, 38 and twice from two yards out while carrying the ball 26 times for 152 yards against the Dragons.

Kelton Schultz returned an interception 60 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and Jadon Sanchez loped in from 10 yards out in the fourth period.

"I felt, for the most part, our offensive line did a really good job of run blocking," head coach Brad Beller said of the Warrior forward wall. "Especially considering they are young and inexperienced and some kids have had to be quarantined."

Beller was talking about the play of Seth Tague, Luke Steele, Austin Smith, Rope Scott, Tanner Winlock and Caleb Bruce. "And I thought our sophomore quarterback Jaxon Hendrix was efficient. We told him he didn't have to win the game

Warriors 29-4 as Playoffs loom

Undefeated at FireLake

John Denny Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Washington picked up five more wins, including three in the FireLake Festival, to run their record to an impressive 29-4.

Their lone blemish over the week's slate of games was a 5-4 loss to Chandler. But they avenged the loss with two wins over Lions (5-0 and 5-1)

They defeated Heritage Hall 5-2 on Monday with a combined effort of Katelyn Hicks and Maggie Place in the circle.

Kaile Kilmer went 3-3 at the plate and knocked in three RBIs.

Kilmer is hitting at a .339 clip at this point in the season.

In Friday's 5-1 win over Cushing Kinzie Schultz homered and finished with two RBIs. Kaydence Andrews knocked in the other three runs in a 1-3 effort at the plate.

Maggie Place went the distance in the circle. Place struck out 10 batters while only walking one and giving up four hits.

Here earned run average is an incredible 0.834 this season.

Washington has (4A) Blanchard scheduled for today (Thursday) at 5 p.m.

Wayne drills Savages

Pins 48-7 final on the Savages during Saturday game

John Denny Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Wayne began District play on the right foot with a decisive 48-7 win over Wynnewood.

After a slow start for the Bulldogs, their offense was running on all cylinders as they ran away with the game on the legs of backfield duo Ethan Mullins and Brannon Lewelling.

"It took a little bit of time to get going," head coach Brandon Sharp said. "We drove it on them in the first quarter but the drive sputtered inside their 20 yard line. We picked it up in the second quarter."

Mullins started the scoring barrage in the second quarter with touchdown runs of 1, 11 and 4 yards.

Brian Ibarra was good on two of the three point after attempts - with one getting blocked by Wynnewood.

Mullins continued his scoring explosion in the third quarter on runs of 57 and 46 yards.

The junior quarterback also added a two-point conversion.

His sidekick, bruising running back Lewelling, added two scores of his own in the third quarter on runs of 10 and 29 yards.

Mullins finished the day with 21 rushes for 244 yards and five touchdowns while Lewelling had 20 carries for 184 yards and two touchdowns.

As a team Wayne ran for 428 yards.

"The two backs carried the load for us," Sharp said. "Everyone blocked well."

Sharp pointed to the play of his "big eaters" for opening up running lanes for his backs.

They include Andy Lee at center, Maddox Mantooh and Billy Dodd at the guard spots and Ryan Redus and Cody Davis at tackle.

Ibarra blocked well in the game from his fullback spot, as did the receivers on the edge, according to Sharp.

"Wynnewood started stunting and bringing everybody but we continued to run the ball," he said. "We did a really good job up front."

Defensively Wayne shined throughout the game and didn't allow Wynnewood to reach the end zone until the fourth quarter when the Savages connected on a 20-yard pass to their big 6'4" tight end.

The back end of the Wayne defense was tested throughout the game but answered the call.

"Their game plan was to throw the ball," Sharp said.

Wayne out in Districts

Forced the if-game, but fell 9-8 to Elmore City Friday

Emily Montgomery
The Purcell Register

The Wayne Lady Bulldogs hosted Districts last week with Elmore City.

On Thursday they fell to the Lady Badgers in game one, 7-4. But, they rallied for game two, winning 2-1. This forced the if-necessary game on Friday afternoon.

Despite good hitting and defense, Wayne fell to Elmore City 9-8 ending their season. Head coach Charles Durrence and his Lady Bulldogs finished the season with a 19-9 record.

“We played pretty well. We were hitting the ball well and playing good defense. This was a tough loss,” Durrence said.

Wayne was on the board first, scoring three runs in the top of the third inning. But, Elmore City answered with five runs in the bottom half.

Then the Lady Badgers added one run in each of the next two innings.

Trailing 7-4, Wayne ran four runs across the plate in the top of the seventh to take the lead.

But, Elmore City just would not go away. They added a run in the bottom of the seventh to knot the game at eight-all.

In the extra inning, Elmore City scored the winning run ending the game and the Lady Bulldogs’ season.

“Overall, we didn’t win, but I’m extremely proud of the girls. We played hard and did a lot of good things,” Durrence said.

Wayne tallied 12 hits in the loss, including a three RBI day Junior Haiden Parker was in the circle for the loss. She pitched seven innings and fanned five batters.

Walck led the team at the plate, going 2-4 with two RBIs. Parker went 2-3 with an RBI and Haylee Durrence went 1-3 with and RBI.

In game two, Wayne came out on top, 2-1.

Dragons roughed up

Tecumseh pins 12-2 loss on Purcell

Tecumseh had to wait a day to travel to Purcell due to rain but pounced on the Dragons 12-2 in a run-rule victory last Wednesday.

Karson Jennings knocked in both Purcell runs, slamming a home run in the bottom of the first and picking up her second RBI in the bottom of the third.

But it was the top of that frame where Tecumseh did the most damage pushing across six of their 12 runs.

Kinley Croslin, Hannah Buchanan, Missy Nimsey and Khia Tyler all had a hit.

Dale pinned a 12-1 loss on the Dragons Monday.

Purcell’s only hits were by Jennings and Lauren Holmes.

“We are going through phases where our hitting is on but defense is not or defense is on but stringing hits together isn’t there. In the playoffs we have to put it together,” head coach Sarah Jones said.

Latta defeated Purcell 7-1 when the Dragons were limited to three hits.

Purcell was scheduled to play Pauls Valley Tuesday and host Piedmont today (Thursday).

They are scheduled to play at Davis next Monday.

Purcell is 7-11 this season.

Lex to Holdenville

After COVID nixed last week’s game

Lexington’s football team postponed its homecoming game last week with Crooked Oak when that school was inundated with several positive tests for COVID-19 prior to the game.

The ‘Dawgs will hopefully proceed on this week as they travel to meet the Holdenville Wolverines at 7 p.m. on Friday. Both teams are 1-2 this season.

Holdenville has lost to Wewoka, 33-12, and to Community Christian, 41-8. The Wolverines beat North Rock Creek, 40-0.

Lexington won its season opener at home with a 21-7 victory. The ‘Dawgs lost to Wayne, 22-21, and to Bridge Creek, 27-12, on September 18.

Coached by Monty Lewis, Holdenville is a new district opponent this year for the ‘Dawgs. Lexington head coach Keith Bolles isn’t sure what to expect from the Wolverines this week.

“We’ll have to watch some film of them,” Bolles said. “But, we’ll be ready for sure.”

Lexington softball on fire

Lexington’s fast-pitch softball team earned a trip to regionals on Monday afternoon by pounding the Marietta Indians, 12-0 and 17-0, at home in very impressive fashion during bi-districts.

The ‘Dawgs scored three runs in the first inning, three in the second, and six more runs in the third to provide starting pitcher Abby Turnpaugh the 12-0 opening round victory. Turnpaugh allowed just one hit and walked one while striking out three Marietta hitters.

She was backed with a 12-hit attack from the Lexington batting order. Turnpaugh had two hits and three runs batted in. Maddy Pack had two hits (including a double) and two ribbies while her younger sister Izzy Pack also had two hits and scored twice.

In the second game, the ‘Dawgs piled on more runs in a 17-0 clubbing. Chloe Burk started that game inside the circle and surprised everybody as she hurled a no-hitter, striking out five in the process.

Turnpaugh had three hits and two RBIs. Maddy Pack had two hits with an RBI double. Burk helped her on cause with a couple of hits. Jaci Idlett smacked a two-run double for the ‘Dawgs and Cora Vazquez knocked in two runs with a triple.

Last Thursday, Lexington played a triple-header at home. First, the ‘Dawgs beat the Crooked Oak Ruf-Nex, 10-0 and 14-0. In the first game, Turnpaugh tossed a three-inning no-hitter and struck ing up seven strikeouts in three innings. Again, the ‘Dawgs scored all 14 of their runs in the bottom of the first frame.

Houck led the charge with two hits (including a double) and three runs batted in. Lexington was spotless in the field against Crooked Oak as the home team made no errors in the two games.

Lexington’s only loss last week was to the Class 6A Norman North Timberwolves, 5-1, in the third game of the day. Norman North’s pitching allowed just three hits including singles by Turnpaugh, Vazquez, and Maddy Pack. The ‘Dawgs made just one error in the game behind Burk, who pitched seven innings and gave up 12 hits, four earned runs, eight walks and struck out two.

During the last week, the ‘Dawgs won four of five games, tossed three no-hitters, scored 54 runs, and played nearly flawless defense. Lexington head coach Kayla Stewart was very pleased with her squad, which now stands at 11-14 after winning six of the last seven ball games.

Regional play for Lexington begins next week and Stewart said, “We are playing better than we have been all year. We’re excited and ready for the playoffs.”

In the second game, it was Vazquez who threw another no-hitter at the Ruf-Nex, pil-passing just help us move the ball down the field," Beller said.

Hendrix was 10-14 for 151 yards.

"With the exception of one interception, I was proud of his poise and confidence," the coach said. "And I thought Chase Allison played very, very physical. He has a physical brand of running the football. He had a great game."

On the defensive side of the ball Beller said it was a breath of fresh air to have linebackers Layne Spaulding and Jake Wells back. Both had missed games and their return bolstered the Warrior defense.

"They just played about half of the game but they were our two leading tacklers," Beller said. "It was great to have them back."

Wells led with seven stops and forced a fumble near the goal line to thwart a Purcell drive.

"That was a big play," Beller noted.

Spaulding had five tackles. "Even though we gave up a bunch of yards in the passing game, I felt like they did a good job of controlling the run game," the coach said.

Due to COVID quarantine issues at Bethel, Washington's 2020 homecoming tilt with the Wildcats has been moved from Friday night to 3 p.m. Saturday. The coronation ceremony will take place at 2:30 p.m. The homecoming parade will be held Friday at 2:50 p.m.

"They have some kids that will get out of quarantine but not until after Friday," Beller said. "These kids have suffered enough so we felt like if moving the game back one day will allow them to play why not?"

Beller said Bethel will air it out from their spread offensive formation.

"They throw it, throw it, throw it," the coach said. "We've got to get some kinks worked out after the Purcell game. We'll have to do a good job of tackling in space."

When the Wildcats are on defense they will base out of a 4-3.

"They have a very, very active front seven on defense. They are very aggressive and very athletic.

"They play with a lot of aggression and it's not that they blitz that much. They just know what they are doing and get there in a hurry," Beller said.

The Wildcats are 3-1 on the season.

Warrior notes:

Washington Head Coach Brad Beller nominated Chase Allison as the Offensive Player of the Week.

Allison rushed 26 times for 152 and four touchdowns in Washington's victory over Purcell.

Getting the nod as the Offensive Lineman of the Week is Rope Scott, who graded out at 87 percent against the Dragons.

Beller nominated Jake Wells as the Defensive Player of the Week.

Wells forced a fumble and finished the night with seven tackles.

Titus Cline was nominated as the Defensive Lineman of the Week. He registered four tackles last Friday night.

Wayne:

"They wanted to test our secondary but our kids did a really good job defending."

The Wayne secondary players were Kolton Miller, Junior Perez, Jacob Mooney and Kevin Bynum.

The Bulldogs made life hard on the Wynnewood quarterback by getting into the backfield.

"We were able to get after him," Sharp said. "He got rid of the ball but he was under pressure."

Lewelling was the team leader in tackles with 10. He recorded a sack and also recovered a fumble.

Mullins registered four tackles and had a sack and Dodd recorded two tackles with two sacks.

"It's always good to go to Wynnewood and get a win," Sharp said.

Next Wayne travels to Rush Springs Friday for a showdown with the Redskins at 7 p.m.

Rush Springs is 2-2 this season and they're coming off two tough games, losses against Apache and Dibble.

"Rush is young but they have good players and play hard," Sharp said.

The Redskins play out of the shotgun offensively and will run multiple sets.

"The quarterback throws well and they have two backs who can take it to the house any time," Sharp said. "We have to cover their receivers."

Rush Springs lines up in a 3-4 on defense with a zero technique and four techniques over the tackles.

"They slant their front and bring pressure," Sharp said. "It's the same defense but a different team. They seem to always be in position and they're well coached. It will be tough on the road."

Notes

Wayne coach Brandon Sharp nominated Ethan Mullins for Heart of Oklahoma Offensive Player of the Week.

Brannon Lewelling was his defensive player of the week nominee.

The next Food Bank Give-Away is planned for Saturday, October 17. If by chance you get low on food before our food distribution, please remember that The Sanctuary Church east of Lexington is giving away food during the week. Memorial Assembly of God also has free food on Tuesdays from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in their gym.

Today is the first day of October, which begins the last quarter of 2020. This year has been nothing like we've experienced before in the 21st Century. With the beginning of the fall season, many of us start to think about how different this year has been with the COVID-19 illness and all its associated turmoil, the fires on the West Coast of the United States and those in Australia, and the various hurricanes and tropical storms in the Atlantic.

However, October also starts the roller coaster of end-of-year holidays. In particular, we need to especially pay attention to Thanksgiving. As mentioned last time, we must remember that God is still with us and sending blessings to all creation, in spite of all the negative happenings around the world. Please keep all people on earth in your prayers. Ask God to guide us in our actions.

Something we have forgotten in the last 40 years is that we can disagree without being disagreeable. In the downhill run toward the elections on November 3, we have allowed our political, religious, racial, sexual orientation, and ethnic differences to generate hatred throughout our society. We have made name calling and bullying others acceptable.

What's bad is that happenings in the United States influence other places around the world. If someone is an outcast in the U.S., chances are they are an outcast somewhere else in the world. For example, I read and watch a lot of British books and shows. I have seen quite a few examples of people of color or people who are Jewish or Muslim or Gypsy being ostracized in England, just like they are here.

The aborigines have been outcasts since the first prisoners were sent to Australia. Even today we find Americans who retain their prejudices against Native Americans, African Americans, Latin Americans, those of the Jewish faith, the Catholic faith, the Muslim faith, or those who are homosexual or transgender instead of concentrating on the reality that they are all Americans.

If we read our Bibles, we find that Paul writes quite often that, if we are followers of Christ, there are none of these divisions for us. There may be some issues about other religions, but there is nothing wrong with sharing our beliefs with them. We should make sure that others see through our behavior that being Christian means we are loving to all God's children.

Yet we mustn't take it personally if the other person chooses to keep their own religion. There should be mutual respect. How can we convince someone to follow Christ as we do if we don't show kindness and acceptance to those who are different?

Remember in Romans 16:17-18. "I appeal to you, brothers and sisters, to watch out for those who cause divisions and create obstacles contrary to the doctrine that you have been taught; avoid them. For such persons do not serve our Lord Christ, but their own appetites, and by smooth talk and flattery, they deceive the hearts of the naïve."

As a Christian, please work at overcoming your prejudices and biases. Be loving, be kind, and pray for all earthlings.

As always, we invite you to join us at the church on Sunday mornings at 9:30 a.m. We have plenty of room to spread out in the sanctuary and distance ourselves.

We also encourage each other to wear masks. Wearing one keeps us from giving the virus to someone else, not necessarily to protect ourselves.

Our address is 631 East Ash, near Lexington High School. For more information, please call the church at (405) 527-3506 to leave a message, or contact Pastor David directly at (405) 406-6174.

Lexington Westside Church of Christ

Almost Home
Welcome again, friends, to the "front porch." We've visited for a while now that generation of Israelites who would finally escape the bondage of a cruel Egypt. Under the leadership of Moses, they had taken their leave of their evil taskmasters and the profane Pharaoh, left Egypt, crossed the Red Sea, received God's Law as well as His instructions on the building of that tabernacle they would need for their journey, and are now a step or two from going back home.

They are almost home. That was the title of one of our recent Lord's Day discussions. The moment we wrote that title on the chalkboard, we knew that there was something ominous-sounding in the title. Almost.

I am not sure anything good ever comes from "almost."

Oh, their journey gets off to an encouraging start, especially on the part of our Lord. God makes a great promise to His people that He would be with them. He has taken a keen interest in His people - though frail sometimes we are - and makes divine provisions for their well-being.

God reminds them of the covenant He had made with them a long time ago, through Abraham. He shows them that He would be an ever-present God - going both before them and behind them with a pillar of cloud and of fire - and lead them across this Red Sea, even with the murderous Egyptian army chasing them relentlessly.

And when those fickle people begin to doubt, Moses stretches the rod over the waters of the Sea and shouts a resolute command to that entire generation gathered at the sea: "Stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord." Stand still, you doubting people! God has brought us this far. He will take us home.

Sure enough, the Lord does take them home. That entire generation of unbelievers - for unbelievers are what they are at the very core - watch a powerful east wind reach down to the depth of that crimson water, push it back as if it was nothing more than a puddle in the yard, and provide a path of dry ground a mile wide for the Israelites to walk over.

Isn't it the way of the Lord for Him to pave the way for us and then say, "Now, just walk across"! We know, from this account and a hundred others, that when God makes a contract, He will keep His end of the bargain - every time! He has promised the Israelites a return to the land of promise, and He keeps His promises, always.

In only a matter of a few months, the Israelites come, finally, to the edge of Canaan, a stone's throw away. Moses takes twelve men, one from each of the twelve tribes of Israel, and sends them over into Canaan to spy out the land.

Can you imagine the send-off of these twelve discoverers as they head out? Can you imagine the celebration when someone sees the men coming home a few weeks later, with the evidence of the fruitfulness of that land over their shoulders? (Numbers 13:27).

If we had never read or heard this story, we would think that the people at that very moment would fortify their faith, rally around those dozen handpicked men, shout out their thanksgiving to the good God who had brought them thus far, gather their weapons of war, and, within a few days, head out to re-take their land.

We would think that - if not for the fact we know something ominous about people:

Green Avenue Church of Christ

The Wednesday evening adult Bible class looked at the third chapter of the apostle Paul's letter to the Ephesians.

The Sunday morning adult class went into a study of judging righteous judgment rather than by appearance or opinion. During the morning worship assembly Keith Shackelford examined the 69th psalm, a psalm by David, which is a plea for rescue.

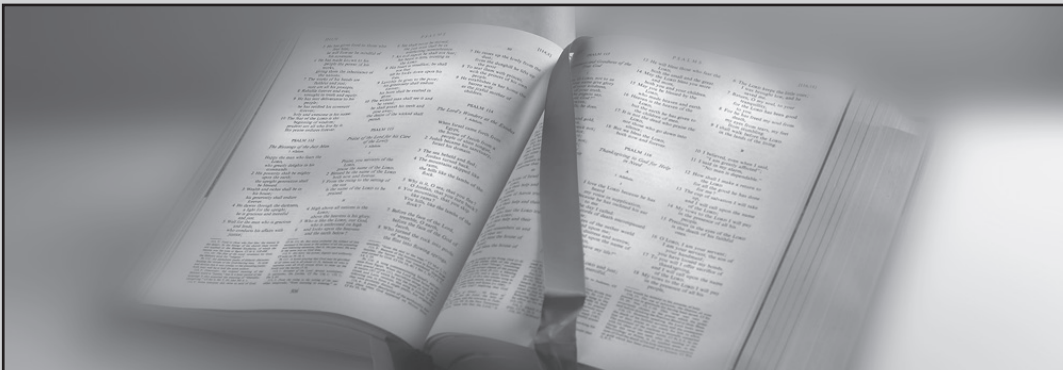

The Sunday evening sermon was taken from the 145th psalm, which praises the greatness of God. The psalm exalts, magnifies and proclaims His greatness.

The lesson was supplemented with scriptures from other psalms and the New Testament which expand and confirm the theme.

The church meets at 407 Jackson and Green Avenue. Worship assemblies are at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. every Sunday and Bible classes at 9:45 a.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Wednesday.

You can call the office at 527-4052 or email cofc_purcell@hotmail.com for correspondence courses or other information.

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Stella Bledsoe

September 27, 2020 was the 26th Sunday in Ordinary Time. You may recall from earlier columns that Ordinary Time is the time of the liturgical year that is not a major season like Lent, Advent, Christmas, or Easter. During Ordinary Time, the readings focus on Christ's time on earth and the miracles he performed.

Jesus often taught using parables. In the Gospel reading, Matthew 21:28-32, Jesus tells the parable of the two sons. Jesus said to the chief priests and elders of the people: 28 "What is your opinion? A man had two sons. He came to the first and said, 'Son, go out and work in the vineyard today.' 29 He said in reply, 'I will not,' but afterwards changed his mind and went. 30 The man came to the other son and gave the same order. He said in reply, 'Yes, sir, but did not go.

31 Which of the two did his father's will?" They answered, "The first." Jesus said to them, "Amen, I say to you, tax collectors and prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God before you. 32 When John came to you in the way of righteousness, you did not believe him; but tax collectors and prostitutes did. Yet even when you saw that you did not later change your minds and believe him."

Sometimes these parables cause me to roll my eyes. First, had I told my parents "no" when they told me to do something, I would have regretted it greatly. We must remember this was not an actual event but a parable to teach a point. Neither of these sons would have been 'son of the year.'

The point is that the people who say they will do God's will but don't are like the Pharisees who proclaimed in public much better than they behaved when not in public. On the other hand, people who at first refused the teachings of Jesus but then changed their ways and followed him are like the son who did his father's will.

We are so fortunate that Jesus does not give up on us but continues to encourage us to follow him. Yes, the first son finally did the right thing. But why don't we choose to be like a third son? Huh? The third son would have said yes to his father and then done what he said he would do. The third son would have enjoyed the father's favor from beginning to end. That's where I want to be.

We are practicing social distancing and everyone is asked to protect each other by wearing a mask.

Our Lady of Victory parish is located at the southwest corner of 3rd Street and Jefferson. The office is open Monday through Friday in the morning. The phone number is 527-3077.

Our Facebook page has links to both the English and Spanish weekend masses. Weekend mass services are: English Saturday, 5 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m.; Spanish Sunday, 1 p.m. Daily masses are Tuesday, 9 a.m.; Wednesday, 12 noon; Thursday, 7 p.m. (Spanish), and Friday, 9 a.m. Peace be with you.

Johnson Road Baptist Church

Johnson Road was blessed Sunday with the safe return of Clyde and Ann Gilman from their visit to Wyoming. Outside of a flat on their camper and the cost of a new tire in Kansas, it was a good visit with their family.

The preacher found $12 on the sidewalk at Atwoods and gave the money and my name to the cashier just in case someone claimed the money. When the money went unclaimed, the preacher stopped at Lowe's to use the found money to purchase some flowers for the church.

A pot of beautiful mums was marked at $6.98. On closer observation the mums were reduced to $3.50 a pot. End result was that some stranger purchased three pots of different colors of beautiful mums for the flower garden at the entrance to Johnson Road.

Special music was provided Sunday morning by Gynean Gentry.

The scripture texts for the Sunday sermon were taken from Luke 23:33-34, Ephesians 4:32, Mark 11:25 and Matthew 18:21-22.

All the passages deal with the art of forgiveness. Forgiveness is good medicine for the soul. One pill of forgiveness in the morning and one pill before bedtime will produce much needed peace from the offenses and criticisms of the day.

There are many good reasons for exhibiting forgiveness. God pardoned our sins; therefore we are obligated to pardon others who sin against us. Our Heavenly Father practiced forgiveness in dealing with mankind's horrible sins.

His Son Jesus preached that we need on countless occasions to forgive those who sin against us. His Son practiced what he preached by surrendering His life on the cross to render forgiveness for us. Christians must follow the example of Jesus by preaching forgiveness and practicing forgiveness.

God doesn't forget our sins. In the Garden of Eden mankind suffered the penalty of sin and the gate to paradise was closed. On the cruel cross at Calvary the penalty for sin was paid by Jesus and the gates of heaven were opened to mankind.

My file cabinets hold many wonderful stories about my Christian brothers and sisters that have moved on to Glory Land. Recently I found the story of a good man by the name of Harvey Adam Cagle (1907-2-12).

Harvey Cagle was born in the northeast corner of Texas. He was the oldest of eight children in the family of Oscar Cagle. As a farmer's son, Harvey learned early in life how to milk a cow, ride a horse, train a mule, feed the chickens, plow a field, grow a garden and reap a harvest.

Life on the farm taught Harvey much about life.

Harvey was blessed with a family that took religion seriously. In a small church 16 miles east of Paris, Texas, Harvey was introduced to the Master of life, that's Jesus.

Harvey made the biggest decision in his life. Harvey never forgot the day he was baptized. The smile on his face was the outward expression of the inward experience that happened that day.

Many great days were weaved into his long and prosperous life. On Dec. 20, 1929, Minnie Bell Williams became his wife.

On Jan. 29, 1935, God blessed Harvey and Minnie with their only child Melvin Dale Cagle. In 1943 Lexington welcomed the arrival of the Cagle family.

Through the influence of Luke Bottoms, Harvey became a master home builder in Lexington. There were many big birthday celebrations for Harvey this side of heaven. There was the 100th followed by the 101st, 102nd, 103rd and 104th.

Sermon title for this Sunday will be "Vote."

Visitors are always invited to attend our Wednesday evening Bible Study at Johnson Road. The one hour study begins at 6 p.m.

Our pastoral services are available 24 hours daily.

Sunray Baptist Church

Pam Kyzer sang the special at our morning service. Brother David used Ephesians 3:1-13 for his sermon telling of God's "secrets" revealed to us through Christ. There is a secret of our stewardship. It is passed on to others and fully known. Gentiles and Jews became one through the death of Christ on the cross. He died for our sins and broke down the walls that separated us. The only answer to upheaval is the gospel of Jesus Christ.

There are secrets to our service and our story. Everyone is called to ministry. We should care about others more than ourselves. We can tell what God has done for us and what

He will do for others. God has raised us up to give the message that will defeat Satan and bring peace to a world in chaos.

A secret is our strength. God hears and answers our prayers according to His will. The world sees the beauty of the church through our lives.

The evening message was from 2 Peter 2:15-22. We were told of Balaam and the marks of false teachers. They are like waterless springs. They entice people not grounded in their faith. We should help get people saved and help them grow in the word.

We will have messengers at the State BMA meeting at Pryor on Saturday. On October 11, our annual ladies casserole cook-off will be part of our Pastor Appreciation Day service. Lunch will be served following morning service. There will be no evening service.

You are always welcome at Sunray Baptist Church. We are a small traditional church and believe the scriptures are God's inerrant revelation, complete in the Old and New Testaments, written by divinely inspired men as they were moved by the Holy Spirit. David Pickard serves as our interim pastor. We are located at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. For additional information call 527-6808.

Westside:

People tend to do things the hard way more often than the easy. People are far more likely to choose dubious doubt over fortified faith. So, friends, meet this generation of Israelites who are not unlike most people.

Even before we note their faithless response, we remind ourselves this week not to carry their attitude and faithlessness out the door with us as we go about. Instead, let us take what God has promised, tuck it away safely down deep in our hearts, and set out to win whatever spiritual battles we encounter. Blessings to all of you this week in that endeavor.

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation

One of our U.S. Army Vietnam Veterans was recently awarded a 100 percent rating for his service-connected disabilities. He was severely injured when the tank he was in was destroyed, killing everyone except him.

During the past 50 years, he had never been approved for any VA benefits. After he came to see us, he became a staunch supporter of what we do for veterans; and he started bringing veterans to our facility one carload at a time for over three years. We appreciate Walter Whitfield for his military service along with his service to other veterans and their families.

As many of you have become aware of our transformation into using a digital format to assist veterans, I want you to know that we are doing this to help keep you safe along with our volunteers. We cannot serve the hundreds of veterans the old way where everyone lined up outside until it was their turn to come into the building.

COVID-19 has changed many things in all of our lives. Who would have thought that everything we took for granted, like buying groceries or visiting our doctors, would put us at risk of being exposed to a virus? Our volunteers will continue to help veterans and surviving spouses with their claims for VA benefits.

A quick overview of how to start the process:

• Visit www.dkgvf.org to start your claim;

• Look for an email from us asking you to sign a 21-22a to give me power of attorney.

Once we have access to your VA claims folder in VBMS, we will contact you to find out what service-connected disabilities should be re-evaluated and which new ones to request service-connection.

As we move forward, we are aware that not everyone will have computer access to file their claims online. To this end, we will work diligently to establish a way to provide our services to everyone who needs it.

One of the problems we have continually is answering all the e-mails and phone calls that we receive every day. We are currently adding new volunteers and training current staff on how to submit claims for VA benefits electronically. Once we have more trained volunteers, they will have the option of working from home to assist veterans and surviving spouses with their VA claims.

If you would like to help us make a difference, we welcome your financial support. We spend over $30,000 each month in direct support of the veterans and family members we serve. We transport many homeless veterans to our Norman location each week to help make a difference in the lives of the men and women who have served in the military.

If you are interested in including us in a gift, please contact Lora at 405-550-8806, ext. 101. Monetary donations can be made online or mailed to PO Box 592, Washington, OK 73093.

Thank you to all veterans and their families for their service to the United States of America. Semper Fi!

Prussic acid and nitrate poisoning are concerns after a light frost

Justin McDaniel
Extension Ag Educator

As we approach the time of the first frost, it may be time to consider the Johnsongrass or other Sorghum plants you are currently grazing in your pastures

It was discovered in the early 1900s that under certain conditions sorghums are capable of releasing hydrocyanic acid or commonly called prussic acid. Prussic acid, when ingested by cattle, is quickly absorbed into the blood stream and blocks the animal's cells from utilizing oxygen.

Thus, the animal dies from asphyxiation at the cellular level. Animals affected by prussic acid poisoning exhibit a characteristic bright red blood just prior to and during death.

Lush, young regrowth of sorghum-family plants are prone to accumulate prussic acid especially when the plants are stressed such as drought or freeze damage.

Light frosts, that stress the plant but do not kill it, are often associated with prussic acid poisonings.

Producers should avoid grazing fields with sorghum type plants following a light frost. The risk of prussic acid poisoning will be reduced, if grazing is delayed until at least one week after a "killing freeze." A hard freeze is a period of at least four consecutive hours of air temperatures that are below 25 degrees Fahrenheit.

Many plants can survive a brief frost, but very few can survive a hard freeze. As the plants die and the cell walls rupture, the hydrocyanic acid is released as a gas, and the amount is greatly reduced in the plants.

One can never be absolutely certain that a field of forage sorghum is 100 percent safe to graze.

Cattle that must be grazed on forage sorghum pastures during this time of year should be fed another type of hay before turning in on the field and should be watched closely for the first few hours after turn in.

If signs of labored breathing, such as would be found in asphyxiation, are noted, cattle should be removed immediately. Call your consulting veterinarian for immediate help for those animals that are affected.

Be certain to read OSU Fact Sheet PSS-2904 "Prussic Acid Poisoning" before turning cattle to potentially dangerous fields.

Frosts also stress the plant before a hard freeze kills it. Plant stress from frosts will impair the normal metabolism of the plant.

Therefore, the plant continues to take up nitrates from the soil but is inefficient at converting the nitrates to protein. Thus, nitrate accumulations may reach dangerous levels.

Testing the forage before grazing or cutting for hay will provide important knowledge about the safety or danger in the forage.

Come by or call the Extension office about testing procedures and read OSU Fact Sheet PSS-2903 "Nitrate Toxicity in Livestock."
