An investigation

Authorities search for clues Thursday after body parts were discovered in McClain County.

Worker discovers skeletonized remains

Human bones found February 1 in southern McClain County are at the State Medical Examiner's office for a gender determination and age – crucial first steps in identifying the deceased. Sheriff Don Hewett said Monday his investigators have talked to Purcell police about a missing 15-year-old Purcell girl, Jessica Garcia, who walked away from her home September 4.

However, female clothing found nearby “no where matches that girl,” Hewett said, adding “this is an older person.” In addition, the sheriff said, authorities erred in thinking the unburied body had been at that location about six months. That time has been revised to between 1 and 2 years. The bones were discovered by an oilfield worker taking a

Time to vote

Purcell City Council, Wayne bond

JeanneGrimes

Voters across McClain County will go to the polls Tuesday – some to vote on school board candidates or bond issues.

And at stake in Purcell is a seat on the city council. Theda Engert was appointed in September to complete the unexpired term of council member Tom McCurdy III, who resigned abruptly on August 8 after the council voted 3-2 to approve a rezoning request he opposed. Challenging Engert for a full term is Jay Tate.

Wayne voters will be asked to approve a $1.14 million bond package for Wayne Public Schools. The first proposition includes three elements totaling $890,000. That measure will provide $650,000 for improvements to the aging football stadium, which the district's architect describes as “compromised.”

Superintendent Zach Powell said the aging concrete requires repairs annually and there is no handicap access.

The work will include demolition of the existing concrete structure and installation of new bleachers.

On the home side, work would also include a new concession and rest rooms. In addition to football season, those would be used for baseball and softball, as well as Little League during the summer, according to Powell.

Of the remaining $240,000, Powell said $190,000 would be spent on renovations, repairs and/or remodeling rest rooms in all schools. The measure also sets aside $50,000 for the purchase of a school-owned vehicle.

City's new lease with ODWC extends to 2063

A change in state law and a renegotiated lease contract with the Oklahoma Department of Wildlife Conservation locks in the City of Purcell's right to draw water from the Lexington Wildlife Management Area until 2063.

Council members expressed excitement while unanimously approving the new agreement during Monday evening's meeting.

In 2016, the city and the ODWC entered into a 20-year lease for the water rights.

However, legislation by Rep. Bobby Cleveland allowed the state agency to enter

153 pounds raw marijuana seized

A stop for speeding on January 31 on Interstate 35 near Purcell left an Irving, Texas, man with more legal troubles than a traffic ticket.

Christopher Lopez, 30, is charged in McClain County District Court with trafficking in illegal drugs after an officer with the District 21 Task Force found more than 153 pounds of marijuana in the trunk of his vehicle.

Lopez is being held in the McClain County Detention Center on $100,000 bond. His preliminary hearing conference will be at 9 a.m. February 14.

According to an affidavit, the task force officer was northbound on the interstate around 8:55 a.m. when he noticed a speeding car bearing a paper Texas tag in front of him.

Purcell City Council Q&A

Candidates explain philosophies before election

What skills do you bring to the City Council?

Theda Engert – I am a very approachable person dedicated to all constituents. My communication skills offer open dialogue with everyone who has an interest in strengthening the City of Purcell. I have experience serving on Purcell’s City Council since September 2017. I am a knowledgeable and open-minded team player, which will benefit the government process. I will consider all points when making decisions for our community and any other parties that I will represent.

Jay Tate – I work well with others; I am a detail oriented person who needs to have all the facts before making a rational decision. I work for a government agency and I understand the hierarchy and necessity to find solutions to problems that will make people’s lives better. I enjoy helping people as shown by my service on the Purcell Veterans Committee or my organization of the annual Memorial Day Veterans Service at the cemetery. This has allowed me to establish working relationships with city officials. Years of working with the public has given me the opportunity to see that there is more than one side to an issue and more than one solution, whether it be a compromise between the parties or making a tough decision that will benefit the public, not just what is best for myself or my friends. I have a strong sense of civic duty. This country gives us so many freedoms that it is only right that we all give back in some way.

What is your role as a City Council member? What is the council’s role in city government?

Engert – To represent my

Theda Engert

constituents and the City of Purcell by ensuring a sound bridge of communication between local government and Purcell residents. I will continue to take an active role in making decisions such as approval of the budget, personnel matters and the overall effective and efficient functioning of our city. I will seek input from my constituents on decisions that have direct impact in their day-to-day lives.

To ensure the City of Purcell has all of the vital components necessary to ensure safety and protection from our fire and police departments. Furthermore, ensure sufficient oversight of the necessary components of the city government, which include our utilities, sanitation and properties. The council creates laws and policies to help the governing body of the city. We also oversee those placed in leadership by the council, as well as evaluate the effectiveness of services and programs. I believe it is important to have working relationships with our state, federal and tribal leaders.

Tate – My role as a city council member is to utilize the information supplied to me to make decisions that will improve the quality of life in Purcell. That doesn’t mean I won’t ask questions or dig deeper to investigate a situation that is presented for my consideration. I will be a voice for the people, not for special interest groups. I will not be a “yes” man who can’t see the forest for the trees. I understand that my decisions can drastically affect the lives of the good citizens of Purcell whether it be in a monetary way or through rulings on issues.

A council’s role in government is to do the best it can with the resources it has on hand. It’s also to establish policy that is fair and equal for all citizens and to consider all sides of an issue. To always strive to make Purcell a better place to live, raise children and work. A City Council should oversee all aspects of the city’s infrastructure and work well with the hired officials to see that there is a high quality of service between the city employees and the public.

List three changes you would like to see implemented by the City of Purcell. Prioritize your list.

Engert – 1) Provide a well-balanced connection between the citizens and the council.

2) Make Purcell a desired destination for tourists and industries. We can utilize the revenues to continue improving our streets and parks, including ensuring sufficient street lighting which will make our community safer for our families and guests.

3) To strengthen the relationship between our government, churches, civic and youth organizations to bolster the “home town” feel of our community.

Tate – 1) The highest priority for change in Purcell is making sure the tax dollars are spent wisely, not on pet projects or to benefit small interest groups.

2) I believe we need to avidly encourage, not discourage, light industry to come to town. I was shocked and appalled that a

Community Service

In this type of alternative sentence, a judge orders a criminal offender to perform work on behalf of the community in exchange for a complete or partial reduction of fines and/or incarceration.

Court ordered community service often accompanies some other form of alternative sentence such as suspended sentences, probation, fines, deferred adjudication or pretrial diversion.

The theory behind court ordered community service is that mandating minor offenders to perform community service offers more benefit to society than incarceration of those offenders.

The community benefits from the work that the offender performs and avoids the cost of incarceration while the offender benefits from a lesser sentence and, it is hoped, is rehabilitated, educated and enriched through the work they perform.

If you are in need of community service, contact the City of Purcell’s Code Enforcement office, 230 W. Main, in Purcell.

Contact Teddy Boles, Monty Skaggs or James New at 527-4656. Our office is located at the west side of City Hall. Follow the ramp up to the door, our office is in that entrance.

Election rules and reminders Following tips will simplify voting experience

Voters will go to the polls Tuesday for the 2018 annual school/Purcell municipal elections, McClain County Election Board Secretary Karen Haley said today. Haley offered the following information and tips for those voting: • Early voting will be available at the County Election Board office from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. February 8 and 9. On election day, polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Lines are possible at peak voting times. Wait times will likely be shortest at mid-morning and mid-afternoon. Anyone in line to vote at 7 p.m. will be allowed to cast a ballot. • Anyone who needs to look up their polling place, verify their registration information or view a sample ballot can do so online. The Online Voter Tool can be accessed on the Oklahoma State Election Board’s website: www.elections.ok.gov. Those who vote by mail can also check the status of their ballot using the Online Voter Tool. Sample ballots are also available at the County Election Board office. • Oklahoma law requires every voter who votes in person at the precinct polling place or during early voting at the County Election Board to show proof of identity before receiving a ballot. There are three ways for voters to prove their identity under the law (only one proof of identity is required): Show a valid photo ID issued by federal, state or tribal government; show the free voter identification card issued to every voter by the County Election Board; or sign an affidavit and vote a provisional ballot. (If the information on the affidavit matches official voter registration records, the ballot will be counted after Election Day.) • Physically disabled voters who cannot enter the polling place, need help marking their ballots, blind or visually disabled voters and illiterate voters may be assisted by a person the voter chooses. In all cases, a person providing such assistance may not be the voter’s employer or an agent of the employer or an officer or agent of the voter’s union. A person providing assistance also must swear or affirm that the voter’s ballots will be marked in accordance with the voter’s wishes. Alternatively, all blind, visually impaired, and physically disabled voters in McClain County may use the audio-tactile interface (ATI), a feature offered on all Oklahoma voting devices, to vote privately and independently, either at McClain County Election Board during early voting or at their assigned polling place on election day. • Voters who have moved since the last election, but who have not transferred their voter registration to their new address, may do so on Election Day by going to vote at the polling place where their registration has been in the past. While voting, they may fill out a form instructing the County Election Board to transfer their registration to the new address before the next election. • Those who become physically incapacitated after 5 p.m. August 16 still can request an emergency absentee ballot. Those who might qualify for an emergency absentee ballot should contact the County Election Board office at 405-527-3121 as soon as possible for more information. • Any violation of election law will be reported to the proper law enforcement authorities. Electioneering is not allowed within 300 feet of a ballot box. It is also unlawful to remove a ballot from the polling location, possess intoxicating liquors within half a mile of a polling place or to disclose how you voted while within the election enclosure. For additional election-related information, visit: www.elections.ok.gov.

Funding State Government

There have been some encouraging revelations with regard to salary increases for staff at the State Capitol.

According to reports I've recently read, 25 Oklahoma State Senate Staffers have been given $146,000 in raises the past two years.

One staffer, who took on additional duties, saw an increase of 66 percent in salary.

And since January 1, 14 employees of the Oklahoma State House of Representatives have received $127,000 in raises.

Senate President Pro Tem Mike Schulz of Altus said people have taken on additional duties due to retirements and other factors.

Jason Sutton, a spokesman for House Speaker Charles McCall of Atoka, said the raises in the House were to retain employees.

Those are all very valid measures and good for the people who received the raises.

Good for the Senators and House members who saw a need to retain good employees and reward those employees who have taken on additional responsibilities.

Meanwhile, state agencies

Editor's Notebook

John D.
Montgomery

across the board have taken cut after cut.

Oklahoma teachers are teaching more students and not getting any reward for doing it unlike their fellow state employees at the State Capitol.

The legislature is doing the right thing for their staffers but needs to do likewise for teachers and other public employees such as the those in the Department of Corrections.

Also, staff and members are being provided needed computer services at the Capitol.

In the governor's plan for fiscal year 2019 there is an additional $2 million for the Legislative Services Bureau.

That sounds like plenty for computer and information processing services for members and staff of the Legislature.

If the Legislature can come up with $2 million here and $146,000 there, surely they can put together a revenue raising package that can include raises for teachers and DOC employees and fund other state agencies.

The Step Up Oklahoma plan, introduced by recent governors and civic leaders, is a good start. It's a big start for a body that hasn't been able to perform for many of its constituents for the past few years.

Raising the gross production tax to five percent seems reasonable.

But so far the majority in the Legislature are stymied at four percent.

We agree on an increase on gasoline and diesel, increasing the tax on cigarettes and other ideas in the Governor's plan.

The citizens are willing to pay more.

The Legislature has the responsibility to fund State Government and recently they have not done so.

Now is the time to Step Up.

Don't fall victim to Medicare myths

By Bob Moos/Southwest public affairs officer for Medicare and Medicaid Services

Navigating Medicare can be challenging under the best of circumstances. It becomes even more difficult when someone new to Medicare falls victim to the myths, or misconceptions, about the health care program.

Let's take a look at the most common myths in hopes that you'll avoid the confusion that could cost you time or money.

Myth No. 1: Medicare is free.

Medicare's hospital insurance, known as Part A, has no premium if you've worked throughout your life. But the outpatient services coverage, or Part B, does have a monthly premium, as does the prescription drug insurance, or Part D.

In addition, there are de-ductibles and co-payments for certain services. Overall, the traditional Medicare program covers about 80 percent of your costs, which means you're responsible for the other 20 percent.

Many people buy a "Medigap" supplemental health insurance plan from a private company to help cover those out-of-pocket costs.

Or they opt out of the traditional Medicare program and purchase a Medicare Advantage plan from a private insurer to receive their Medicare benefits.

Myth No. 2: Medicare covers everything.

Though traditional Medicare pays for many health care services, it doesn't cover all of them. For example, it doesn't pay for standard dental, vision or hearing care. If you're interested in any of those services, you may want to consider a Medicare Advantage plan that offers extra benefits.

Myth No. 3: You'll be automatically enrolled when it's time.

That's only partially true. If you're already receiving Social Security, you'll be automatically enrolled in Medicare Parts A and B when you turn 65. (You'll still need to sign up for Part D.) If you're not on Social Security yet, you must enroll in Medicare yourself.

For most people, the best time to apply for Medicare is during the three months before your 65th birthday, the month you become 65 and the three months after you turn 65. So, let's say your birthday is Au-

Reflections on State of the State

The governor gave her final State of the State address Monday. The name of her budget plan may have changed to Step Up Oklahoma, promoted by business and industry heads from across the state, but many of the elements are the same as last year, including raising large amounts of taxes.

The plan asks for $800 million in new taxes through a variety of products: tobacco, motor fuels, oil and gas wells, and a new tax on wind energy. She would add brackets to income tax and remove, cap or lower deductions. To be clear, this would be the largest tax increase in the history of our state.

While part of the money would pay for a teacher pay raise, the estimated cost of a $5,000 raise for teachers is about $260 million. The rest of the $800 million would be to fund government services, though specific uses have not been detailed. There are several reasons why many members do not believe $800 million in new taxes is necessary.

The House Special Investigation Committee, of which I am co-chair, has identified systemic problems in state finances. The problems at the Department of Health so far have cost the state $30 million and brought hundreds of layoffs of state employees.

As we expand to other agencies we have just started to determine the enormity of the problem with state accounting systems and will be detailing ways to keep this abuse from recurring.

Additionally, our state for about a year now has been showing signs of fiscal recovery. Gross receipts to the state treasury for 2017 were 6.2 percent above 2016. Revenues were up for 11 of 12 months. All signs indicate this trend will continue.

Right now, there is a budget gap of about $118 million for fiscal year 2019. But by the time the budget is signed for the next fiscal year, all indications are the budget gap may be flat or even show a slight surplus.

The governor said in her State of the State address, that we in Oklahoma don't want to be like Washington, D.C., to which I would normally agree! But this begs the contrast between the governor's speech and President Donald Trump's recent State of the Union address.

I certainly felt much more hopeful watching President Trump deliver the State of the Union than I did listening to

Dear Editor,

I have enclosed a picture, probably from your paper, of the bridge that at some point became the James C. Nance Bridge.

I grew up in Purcell and left in the late 50s and don't remember "The Bridge" having a name. I suppose that the new bridge will also be the James C. Nance Memorial Bridge.

I wonder how many people in Purcell could answer the question, "Who was Jim Nance and why should he have a bridge named after him?"

I suggest that when space and time allow, The Register should devote articles to past residents who have made great contributions to the city, county or state and have places named after them.

Some examples being: Nance, bridge; Lane, Green, Hardcastle, Ewing, streets; Conger, football field; Matthews, field house; Chandler, park.

There is, of course, the possibility that such articles would sound a lot like characters from Lennox Valley.

Sincerely,
Henry Perry

This bridge over the South Canadian river on Highway 77 will soon be torn down and a $700,000 Post-Rogers memorial span erected.

Thankful for services

While I have always voted for and supported our Purcell Hospital and Wadley's Ambulance service I have been fortunate to not require them.

That all changed about a week ago when I did need them for an emergency and their response and care were just amazing.

Waiting to hear the siren, I just felt more frightened. I knew I was shaking and felt terrible.

From the moment they arrived I calmed down and knew I was in good hands. The EMT's were very reassuring and comforted me. I immediately began to feel better.

During the ride to the hospital they kept monitoring me and letting me know if the road was going to be bumpy ahead. Their calm and professional manner all made me feel thankful I did not have to wait for an ambulance to come from much further away to get this level of care.

At the hospital they were waiting and ready with additional help. As they started my care I realized the emergency room was full to overflowing with many others, yet they were taking care of me like I was the only one there.

I truly hope I never have such a need again, but now I know they are there and I will support them from now on even more completely. Our community is very fortunate to have such great care in the emergency response teams and hospital close to home. I appreciate everyone.

gust 15. That means you can sign up from May 1 through November 30.

Myth No. 4: Everyone pays the same for Medicare.

If your annual income is below $85,000, or $170,000 for a married couple, you pay the standard Part B and D premiums. But if it's more, you pay a surcharge. In 2018, the surcharge for Part B ranges from $53.50 to $294.60 per month, depending on your income. That's in addition to the standard $134 premium.

Myth No. 5: Having poor health will disqualify you from coverage.

Medicare can't reject you, or charge you higher premiums, because of a health problem. It can't discriminate based on a pre-existing condition. In fact, about two-thirds of Medicare beneficiaries live with at least two chronic conditions.

Myth No. 6: Medicare covers long-term care.

Many people don't realize until it's too late that Medicare typically doesn't pay for long-term "custodial" care – the kind of personal care that helps you with such day-to-day tasks as getting in and out of bed, bathing, dressing and eating.

Medicare does cover some skilled nursing or rehabilitative care if a physician orders it after a hospital stay of at least three days. You pay nothing during the first 20 days of your care and then part of the cost for the next 80 days.

Myth No. 7: Medicare and Medicaid are the same thing.

The two programs are often confused. Medicare covers health care for people 65 and older and for people with certain disabilities. Medicaid helps cover health care for people with low incomes and few resources. Some people qualify for both.

Myth No. 8: A lot of doctors don't take Medicare.

The vast majority of doctors accept Medicare. The traditional Medicare fee-for-service program offers the broadest possible access to health care professionals. You can go to any provider who's taking new Medicare patients.

Medicare Advantage plans, on the other hand, often require you to go to doctors within their network of providers or pay more for getting care elsewhere.

So, before signing up for a particular Advantage plan, make sure you're satisfied with its network of providers.

Even after 53 years, Medicare is still misunderstood. If you're in doubt about some aspect of the Medicare program, please visit www.medicare.gov or talk with a customer service representative toll-free at 1-800-633-4227.

Tim:

our State of the State.

I recall the president mentioning many benefits from federal tax cuts that passed in Washington and took effect at the end of 2017. They already are having positive effect throughout the nation in terms of higher take-home pay and wages and employee bonuses as well as the promise of new jobs.

The governor herself signed a letter supporting the tax cuts. Maybe that is why it felt odd to listen to the governor argue to tax away the cuts taxpayers are just now beginning to see and at the same time slow economic recovery in our state.

The president also touted record low unemployment rates; companies that are coming back to the United States and bringing new jobs. He charted a bold path toward the return of many of our freedoms and the safety of our citizens.

It is hard for me not to believe our state actually would do better to follow the path of the president's agenda and not the tax-and-spend path put forward in the State of the State.

Measured reforms in tax policies are one thing, but it seems counterintuitive to be pushing for the largest tax increase in the history of our state just as we crest economic recovery. As always I will be reviewing the governor's proposals closely.

Finally, while it is no secret that I often have different policy positions than the governor, I believe she loves Oklahoma and she is a very kind and sincere person.

I have maintained a very good professional relationship with the governor even in our differences. Her final State of the State should be an event surrounded by respect for her office.

Unfortunately it ended with protestors in the chamber who frankly jeopardized the safety of those attending and intended to humiliate the governor in front of her family. It is another reminder of how poor the public discourse has become, and it is something I will not condone regardless of who is serving in her office.

I have no problem disagreeing publicly on policy, but I continue to respect her office and personally pray for Governor Fallin and her family as she serves her last year.

I am very thankful for the amount of input I receive from the district. Please always let me know that you live in the district, so I can sort your message out from the thousands we receive.

MOVIES WITH DAVE

By David Stull

Well this weekend ended up being a bit more eventful than I had originally expected, at least as far as movies go.

At first I thought I'd only have one new film to talk about with "Winchester" being the only movie brave enough to open on Super Bowl weekend.

Then I discovered that "The Florida Project" was available to stream on Amazon's video service.

It was a film that came out last year to critical acclaim, including landing Willem Dafoe a Oscar nomination, yet the movie never received a wide release.

So I thought I'd review those two films, list my favorite movies of last year like I promised last week, and call it good.

Then "The Cloverfield Paradox" happened.

I've been hearing rumors that Paramount Pictures would forgo a traditional theatrical release for this third film in J. J. Abrams' Cloverfield franchise, and instead give the distribution rights to Netflix.

But it was still a huge surprise for me when a trailer for "The Cloverfield Paradox" made an appearance during the Super Bowl, not only announcing that the film would indeed release on Netflix, but that it would be available to stream right after the game.

Most studios would spend months generating hype for their release, but here Netflix just does a single TV spot and unleashes their movie for the entire world to see.

It's a pretty crazy move, but honestly it fits with the Cloverfield series and their previous viral marketing campaigns. Plus it's just like Netflix to buck convention and release an entire feature film out of nowhere.

Regardless though, I have a bit more writing to do than I originally expected this week.

But before I cover this week's films, let me finally talk about last year and my favorite films of 2017.

161. That's the grand total of movies I saw for 2017.

Of those 161 films, I reviewed 146 of them starting late February of last year, plus one review of a 2016 release for those counting at home.

I honestly can't believe I've stuck with this movie reviewing gig for almost a whole year, especially considering I practically had zero writing experience before starting this whole thing.

I've had the opportunity to see a huge range of films from just about every genre. Many were good, some were aggressively terrible, and a fair few were flat out fantastic.

In fact there were so many genuinely great films last year, that I had a hard time whittling down my favorites to a top 10 list.

I did though, but before I share my list I have one quick note.

This is my personal favorite films of 2017. I'm not saying these are objectively the best movies of 2017 period, I'm not saying my opinion is the only correct one, these are just the films that resonated with me the most.

If you happened to have enjoyed other 2017 movies more, or for some reason absolutely despise everything I liked, more power to you.

So with that out of the way, here's my top 10 movies of 2017.

10. Thor: Ragnarok

Despite releasing multiple films every year, Marvel Studios manages to keep coming out with constantly entertaining movies and this latest one was one of their best yet.

Everything from the characters, locations, music, and especially the writing, are all fantastic.

It's not only one of the best superhero movies of the year, it's also one of its funniest, thanks to the movie's director Taika Waititi and a hilarious performance from Chris Hemsworth.

All that easily earns this film a spot on my favorites from last year.

9. Stronger

This movie following Jeff Bauman, a man who lost his legs during the 2013 Boston Marathon, was truly heart wrenching.

Jake Gyllenhaal and Tatiana Maslany both delivered powerful performances filled with so much raw emotion that at times it was hard to watch.

But despite all the tragedy, this movie also manages to inject some much needed humor.

Round it all out with a cast of characters you just can't help but love, an uplifting story that succeeds in avoiding the typical inspirational drama clichés, and you have a touching film that's well worth seeking out.

8. Detroit

This film could not have been released at a more perfect time for me.

At the time I was reading a book that briefly covered all the race riots that came about during the 1960s and this movie did a wonderful job bringing the horrors of those events to life.

This is not an easy film to watch. It's violent, brutal, and doesn't pull a single punch.

Even so it tells a powerful story, showing the dangers of what happens when two sides are backed into a corner and the massive tragedy that can occur from a few bad actors escalating already tense situations.

It's not a pleasant movie, but it's an important one. If you have the nerve, and the stomach, I highly recommend checking it out.

7. Blade Runner 2049

I was very nervous going into this movie. I wasn't quite sure what to expect especially considering that the original

"Blade Runner" never really resonated with me.

But my worries were all for naught. This film was quite the sight to behold.

It may be long, and perhaps a bit slow pacing wise, but I never felt bored thanks to the movie's breathtaking visuals, amazing world building, fantastic score, and gripping narrative that kept me guessing up until the very end.

It's probably not for everyone considering the lack of action, but fans of high concept sci-fi will find a lot to love here.

6. The Florida Project

This movie's a bit of a late addition considering I only saw it this weekend, but after watching it I couldn't help but add it to my top 10 of the year.

I'll go into more detail in my review further down, but know that this is a beautifully shot film with some of the best child acting you'll see anywhere.

This was surprisingly one of the few films I've seen where the kids actually act like children, instead of precocious brats who are too smart for their own good.

Kids acting like kids. What a concept. These performances alone make this a film worth checking out.

5. Lady Bird

Much like "The Florida Project," this movie's strengths lie in its authenticity.

On the surface the film's story doesn't seem very eventful. Essentially it's just a movie following a teenage girl and her struggles in growing up.

But it's the performances and the film's writer/director, Greta Gerwig, that really set this movie, this experience apart.

It felt less like watching a film and more like just being a fly on the wall seeing this family deal with their various issues and day to day drama up close and personal.

Combine that with some near perfect pacing and you have a movie going experience that's well worth your time.

4. The Disaster Artist

Right off the bat, I'm going to say that this movie won't be for everyone.

For those unfamiliar with Tommy Wiseau and his cult hit "The Room," a film widely regarded as one of the worst movies ever made, this film will probably come across as a bit odd.

But for me, as someone who's been inundated with Wiseau and the odd cult following surrounding his film due to its popularity online, this movie was something truly special.

James Franco completely captures the odd and somewhat incoherent spirit of Wiseau. It was equal parts hilarious and fascinating to watch Franco pull off this unusual role.

I loved seeing the production of this strange film, I loved the shockingly detailed recreations of scenes from Wiseau's original movie, but most of all I loved the bizarre yet endearing relationship between Tommy and his friend Greg (Dave Franco).

All together it made for an experience I adored, one that I couldn't help but laugh the entire way through.

3. Logan

Things are going to be a little tricky from here on for me. I struggled to rank these last three films and thought long and hard about which order to put them in.

Honestly any of these last three movies could have been my favorite of the year.

I loved all of them. But since I'm putting things in a numerical order I guess I'll settle with "Logan" at number three.

This film is the send off for Hugh Jackman's Wolverine, and boy did he go out on a

Pauls Valley Opry show set for March 3

The Stars of the Pauls Valley Opry were shining brightly on Saturday night.

Gary McCarter made his debut appearance at the Pauls Valley Opry. This Tishomingo native singer/songwriter is no stranger to the stage and was an instant hit with his rendition of the George Strait numbers “Fool Hearted Memory” and “Nobody in His Right Mind.”

Bailey Wesberry once again proved why she was voted as the 2016 Horizon Award Winner at the Pauls Valley Opry! This young lady has a voice which is strong, pure and undeniable country! She brought the house down with the Martina McBride tunes of “Anyway” and “A Broken Wing”!

Dwayne Yoesting, known for his impersonations, entertained the crowd with a special tribute to the immortal Buddy Holly. For a moment there, we thought we were at the Surf Ballroom in Clear Lake, Iowa, at Buddy’s last performance on February 2, 1959. Dwayne rocked the house with “That’ll Be the Day,” “Rave On” and “Maybe Baby”.

The 2016 Female Vocalist of the Year, Anne Young, a Latta, Okla., native, has one of the most memorable and versatile voices that you will ever hear. Anne sang the Juice Newton mega-hit “Break It to Me Gently” then she got our toes a tappin’ with the Lorri

Morgan hit, “Go Away, No Wait a Minute.”

Rounding out this all-star cast was the 2017 Male Vocalist of the Year, Tanner Young. Tanner may be country to core, but this young man has so many influences in his music that it spills out in each performance. He sang the Johnny Lee hit, “Lookin’ For Love,” then soulfully sang the wonderful Keith Whitley song, “My Amy, Miami.” If that wasn’t enough, he got us dancing in the isle with the B.W. Stevenson hit “My Maria.” We may very well one day say of this talented young man, “I saw him first at the Pauls Valley Opry.”

Mike Deviney handled the MC duties and did a wonderful job. Mike, in his own right is an exceptional singer/songwriter/musician/entertainer and was voted as the 2016 Male Vocalist of the Year.

The Memory Makers Band rounded off the evening of fun with tunes by Neil McCoy, Linda Ronstadt, Martina McBride, Ricky Van Shelton and George Jones.

The next show on March 3 will bring guests Ray Deviney, Annie Weast, John David Smith, Cathy Lake, Mary McDonald, Terry Wilson and Donna Marie to the spotlight.

If you like country music and a wholesome family-fun atmosphere, what are you waiting for? We’ll see you at the Opry!

high note.
I couldn’t have hoped for a better final film for the character.
Jackman is amazing, heck the entire cast is fantastic. Most notably Patrick Stewart and newcomer Dafne Keen, who delivers an unbelievable good performance especially considering her age and the fact that she doesn’t even speak for nearly the entire film.
Despite featuring characters straight out of a comic book, this film feels less like a superhero movie and more like a western, thanks to its setting and overall story.
This movie truly shows the potential of the comic book genre. It’s hard to say, but this might be my favorite superhero film of all time.
Regardless, this is easily one of my favorites from last year.

2. The Shape of Water

This movie is absolutely gorgeous.
I loved everything about this film’s aesthetic, from the colors, to the Cold War setting, to the mysterious yet romantic music.
I have never seen a film make something as simple as water look this beautiful.
All that doesn’t even touch on Sally Hawkins’ amazing performance as a mute woman or the shockingly sweet romance between her and a fish person.
I still can’t get over how ridiculous that sounds, but believe me when I say the story here not only works, but it manages to be the best romantic film of last year.
This movie’s director/writer, Guillermo del Toro, has truly outdone himself with this film.
I loved everything about this movie. As far as looks goes, no other film last year came even close to being this stunning.

And now my number one film of 2017, but first a couple honorable mentions.
I really wish I could have fit “Get Out” and “Coco” somewhere in my top 10, considering one was my favorite horror film of last year and the other was clearly the best animated movie as far as I’m concerned.
Sadly they didn’t quite make the cut, but they’re still fantastic films well worth your time.
With that out of the way, here’s my favorite movie of 2017.

1. I, Tonya

I thought about it quite a bit. “Logan” and “The Shape of Water” were both fantastic films, but for me I think this movie beats them just barely.
“I, Tonya” may not be as gorgeous as “The Shape of Water” or have the iconic childhood superhero like “Logan,” but what it lacks there is more than made up for in this film’s storytelling and fantastic cast of characters.
Everyone in this movie is horribly flawed in the most interesting ways possible.
And at the center of it all is an absolutely perfect performance from Margot Robbie as Tonya Harding.
She nailed everything about her. She has the look, the attitude, the gut wrenching emotion, and most importantly to me, the humor.
This movie is surprisingly funny and easily getting the most laughs throughout the film is Allison Janney as Tonya’s horribly abusive mother.
You wouldn’t think a woman with that kind of reputation would be funny, but somehow the filmmakers manage to strike the perfect tone for her character, along with perfect tone for the entire film.

But the most fascinating part of this movie, and the thing that puts it at the very top is it’s style of storytelling.
Many facts in Tonya’s life are unverifiable, or have conflicting tellings of events.
But instead of the filmmakers sitting down and determining a concrete narrative for the entire film, they decided to tell this story from everyone’s point of view and let the audience decide for themselves who to believe.
It’s a fascinating way to tell a story and I loved every second of it.
All that and more makes “I, Tonya” my favorite film of 2017.

Alright, now that I’ve gotten last year out of the way, here’s what I saw this week.

First up is “Winchester.” Inspired by true events, this film follows Eric Price (Jason Clarke) a doctor hired by the Winchester Repeating Arms Company to determine if the company’s majority owner, Sarah Winchester (Helen Mirren), is mentally fit to remain in charge of the famous firearms manufacturer.

Seeking to determine the woman’s sanity, Price travels to the infamous Winchester Mansion, a sprawling home filled with hundreds of rooms. A house that Mrs. Winchester believes is haunted by the souls of those killed by the company’s rifle.
What a waste of potential.
In more competent hands I think the story of Sarah Winchester and her legendary home could have made for an interesting movie. Heck, the house itself is so notorious for its alleged paranormal nature, guests still flock to it to this day.
And while there are some interesting aspects to the story, the movie is so overloaded with lazy horror and remarkably dumb jumpscare, it makes the whole experience an aggravating mess.
Almost every single attempted scare was either some kind of inanimate object shaking around wildly or a random spooky face popping up out of nowhere followed by a loud noise.

It was like watching one of those screaming creepy face prank videos on repeat. Sure, you might get me to jump the first time around, but after the fourth or fifth go-round it just becomes annoying.
And that’s pretty much all this film has to offer.
It’s like the studio had to hit some kind of horror movie checklist.
Let’s see, we got the loud noises and dumb jump scares. Check.
A story “based on true events” but loosely set in reality. Check.
Gotta throw in a creepy kid singing so we can inject something eerie to the trailer since the movie’s attempted scares are garbage.
And the film just has to end with a jumble of horrible looking visual effects. That’s just a given at this point.
This movie is the horror genre at it’s laziest.

There’s a reason the film’s studio buried this movie on Super Bowl weekend.
It’s like even they knew everyone would be better off not seeing this garbage fire of a horror film.
“Winchester” is rated PG-

Next is “The Florida Project.” Set over the course of one summer, this film follows six-year-old Moonee (Brooklynn Prince) and her ragtag group of friends whose summer break is filled with childhood wonder, while the adults around them, including Moonee’s mother Halley (Bria Vinaite) and the manager of their motel (Willem Dafoe), struggle with the harshness of reality.
If you read my list of top 10 films of 2017, you already know this was one of favorite movies of last year.
Like I already said, this movie has some of the best, most genuine performances that I’ve ever seen from children period.
Shockingly all the kids just act like kids. They’re silly, goofy, they like to talk in funny voices, and randomly start shouting for seemingly no reason. Just like regular kids.
It was honestly kind of astonishing. Throughout the film I just kept seeing glimpses of children I know in real life from these characters.
The dialogue is pitch perfect. Even little things like the way the kids composed sentences felt amazingly natural.
This is the only movie I’ve seen that’s directed by Sean Baker, but after seeing this film I already have a massive respect for the filmmaker.
It takes a great director to get solid performances out of children. For Sean Baker to get performances this natural and this authentic from kids, when so many other filmmakers fail, truly speaks to this man’s talent for directing.
The adults here do a fantastic job as well.
Despite Halley’s harsh and frankly trashy behavior, she still manages to be sympathetic, especially considering her circumstances.
But it’s Willem Dafoe who really shines here.
There’s something so relatable about his character.
He can be tough on Moonee and her friends to be sure, in fact he finds them downright annoying at times, but he also really cares about them. It’s almost like he’s guardian to everyone living in this run-down crappy looking motel he manages.
I love Dafoe’s performance here. I definitely see why he earned an Oscar nomination for it.
Also, despite the film’s run down setting, this movie still somehow manages to be beautiful.
I loved the way it was shot. Many scenes are filmed from the kid’s perspective making it almost feel like you’re following them along on their adventures.
Objectively these children live in a trashy neighborhood, but through their eyes, it all somehow seems magical.
Sadly even a child’s sense of wonderment can’t hide the poverty they’re objected to and the second half the film ended up hitting me like a slap to the face.
It’s heartbreaking to see kids live in these circumstances, but what’s even sadder is this is a reality for many children.
I’m so glad I ended up watching this movie.
I could see some people finding the story lacking. The narrative isn’t as well defined or clear cut as you usually see in most high budget films.
Also if you find children annoying this is definitely not the film for you.
For me though, I loved every second of it and hoped to see more from this fantastic filmmaker very soon.

“The Florida Project” is rated R.

Last this week is “The Cloverfield Paradox.” Hoping to solve the world’s impending energy crisis, a group of scientists in a space station orbiting Earth run experiments with a particle accelerator in an attempt to discover a new source of power for the energy starved planet.
But when their experiment fails in an unexpected and catastrophic way, the researchers are forced to fight for survival and attempt to undo the damage they’ve done.
I never know what to expect from this series. Honestly, I’m not sure anyone does.
The first one was a found footage monster movie, which thanks to an ingenious marketing campaign, was wildly successful.
You’d think the studio behind the film would immediately throw together a sequel, but for whatever reason they sat on the Cloverfield name for over 8 years.
Then, out of nowhere “10 Cloverfield Lane” is announced and subsequently released to the adoration of critics, including myself, and mixed reviews from fans of the original since it wasn’t even vaguely related to the first one beyond the name and a couple obscure references.
With this latest movie though, “The Cloverfield Paradox” is advertised as more of a direct continuation of the original story or at least it promises to unveil more secrets behind the mystery of the first film.
So is this the film fans have been hoping to see for nearly a decade?
I’d guess probably not. I had a fair amount of fun while watching it though.
I definitely like the idea of the story they try to tell. It’s like all the conspiracy theories surrounding the Large Hadron Collider, the giant atom smasher near Geneva, Switzerland, come to life.
It’s a fun concept to play with, and with it all taking place on this confined, tightly cramped space station, the stakes end up going through the roof very quickly.
The characters themselves weren’t really anything to write home about, but they held the story together well enough. I wouldn’t say any of the performances were bad, but none of them were particularly great either.
I enjoyed watching the mystery unfold and seeing this crew piece together what was happening to them.
After a while though the horrible things happening to these poor people just seemed random or only to service the plot with no actual set up.
With most stories you at least get some kind of pattern, some kind of explanation why things are going wrong. Here though, they just wave their hands, say “other dimensions” and call it good.
It ended up feeling slightly arbitrary on who lived and who died. I know that’s how real life is, but it’s pretty unsatisfying in reality too.
Overall I’d say I enjoyed this movie. It doesn’t even come close to being as good as the other two Cloverfield films, especially not “10 Cloverfield Lane,” but it makes for a solid two hour distraction.
Regardless though it’s on Netflix. It’s not like you’re wasting money on a ticket to go see it anyway.
“The Cloverfield Paradox” is rated TV-MA.

Tax reform working?

Dear Editor:
Tom Cole says the new tax code has promised bigger paychecks for families and corp. A secretary at a school in Pennsylvania said her paycheck went up a $1.50 last week.
Charles Koch said his pay went up $26,923.076, enough to buy more Paul Ryan’s. After the tax scam passed he got a half million donation from Koch Industries.
He says many companies have pledged to give bonuses, increase wages and provide more jobs. Of course he doesn’t name them. He quotes a survey, I went to the survey and it says nothing about the new tax code having popularity.
“Countless businesses, in anticipation, have provided bonuses to two million employees.” Of course does not name the businesses to be verified.
Some mythical companies have pledged to invest in the economy, creating jobs.
He says Apple will give thousands to its employees, in generous bonuses and create 20,000 jobs. I cannot find that information anywhere.
AAON announced they will give bonuses to their employees, how many and how much? He also said OCC will force utility companies to pass the 150 million in tax cuts to customers. I cannot find that information anywhere! I have a friend who is a lawyer and he said he didn’t think the OCC had the legal right to do that. The OCC doesn’t have a section to enforce it.
He is counting three airlines that just have Oklahomans working for them and says they have given bonuses to thousands of employees. I have a friend who is a flight attendant on Southwest, and she said he doesn’t know what he is talking about.
He says Walmart will give a $1,000 bonus to its employees. That is if you have worked at Walmart over 20 years. Average bonus was $190. However, the corp. tax cut was worth 18 billion in tax relief. Same day Walmart said the tripe about the $1,000 bonuses, another chain, Sam’s Club, also owned by Walmart, announced it would close 68 stores and lay thousands off.
This tax cut only helps the rich, it doesn’t matter what Republicans say. The US is on track to borrow nearly 1 trillion, up 84 percent from last year. Republicans now want to cut Social Security, and Medicare calling them “entitlements.” The Federal Govt. does not fund Social Security. It is funded by American workers, like you and me. The billion dollar anti-social security lobby doesn’t want you to know that! www.TheTruthNow.org. also www.BoostSocialSecurityNow.org.
Call, email, snail mail, go up to their office in person, and tell them to keep their grubby hands off our Social Security, a savings account we put in for years for our old age, and not an “entitlement” for them to rob.

Respectfully,
Mary Brannon

Prosecutors file felony assault charge

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

An altercation between two brothers has left one of them facing an assault and battery with a dangerous weapon charge.
Prosecutors filed the felony charge in McClain County District Court against David B. Nelson, 29, of Purcell.
Nelson, who is free after posting $3,000 bond, is also charged with malicious injury to property, a misdemeanor.
His initial court appearance is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. February 9.
According to an affidavit, on the morning of January 6, David Nelson showed up at the mobile home occupied by his brother, Christopher, and demanded to use the phone.
He was acting aggressive, according to the affidavit, and picked up a mail box on a metal pole and began swinging it wildly, breaking a window.
When Christopher Nelson confronted him outside the mobile home, David Nelson reportedly picked up a 25-pound steel pry bar, swung it at his brother while threatening to kill him.
Christopher Nelson was struck in the abdomen. Before leaving, David Nelson also struck his brother’s Kia van with the pry bar, denting the right rear door.

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

President Trump’s State of the Union

Congressman Tom Cole

After his first year in the White House, President Trump and his Administration have much of which to be proud. Their accomplishments have delivered actual results, and the country is continuing to reap the benefits of those changes.

During his first State of the Union speech, the President reinforced those achievements – many of which will certainly be remembered as signature accomplishments of his Presidency.

Looking forward, he outlined an optimistic future for our nation, with a strong legislative agenda for the next year.

There is no question that the spike in economic growth that we have seen in the past year is due in part to the Administration working with a Republican Congress to push tax reform and deregulation.

The President’s efforts to cut red tape coupled with the passage of several Congressional Review Acts have allowed the burden of federal regulations and rules to be lifted from businesses small and large.

Stock markets have closed at record numbers numerous times in the past year and unemployment levels have dropped dramatically.

And the recently passed tax reform legislation is already spurring job creation, rising wages and generous bonuses at thousands of American businesses.

In addition to a strong economy, the President has made our nation safer by aggressively confronting our enemies across the globe, particularly North Korea and ISIS. North Korea has been challenged by the no-nonsense approach the President and his National Security leaders have employed.

Furthermore, the President has played a large role in urging our European allies to increase their efforts to support our common defense.

Looking to the future, the President outlined an aggressive agenda for the next year. He and Congress will need to work on a comprehensive transportation bill to improve our railways, roads, bridges and airways.

Even more timely, we will need to work together on an immigration plan that will address his four pillars of reform. We need to increase border security including a stronger wall, end the visa lottery system, reduce chain migration to the nuclear family and create a pathway to legal status for millions of eligible DACA recipients.

A good, working immigration reform will need the contribution and support from both sides of the aisle.

Overall, the President delivered an optimistic outlook for our nation. He invoked the spirit of American ingenuity and laid out a vision for future prosperity.

There were many powerful moments throughout his speech that reminded us of the blessings we enjoy living in this great nation, and how we can all support the goals to make America great again. I believe that the President is right – the state of our union is strong.

Tree giveaway set for February 17

Rural Electric Cooperative has over 2,900 miles of electric distribution lines and clearing trees is an on-going project.

One of the ways REC can provide reliable, affordable electric power is through its right-of-way clearing program which includes pruning, removals and chemical control.

In addition to removing trees, REC crews also prune new growth during their daily routines.

REC’s tree giveaway program helps replace trees the Cooperative must remove from under its power lines. Providing trees to members is the Cooperative’s way of replacing one of our natural resources.

Rural Electric Cooperative’s annual tree giveaway for its members will be held Saturday, February 17 beginning at 8 a.m.

Employees of REC will be in Lindsay, Elmore City,

#2 IN THE NATION IN WIND ENERGY

Oklahoma WindPower FINANCIALLY SUPPORTS 65 SCHOOL DISTRICTS

In 2017, the Oklahoma wind industry paid more than $74 million in ad valorem taxes across 23 counties. These investments have successfully removed many of these schools from the state formula aid list, therefore freeing funds for other districts across the state.

Oklahoma WindPower PAYS 5X THE TAX RATE AS THE OIL AND GAS INDUSTRY

In fact, in 14 counties the wind industry is the No. 1 tax payer. As of July 1, 2017, wind is incentive free. Most importantly, the wind industry pays exactly the same taxes as all other electric power producers, a tax burden substantially heavier than that borne by oil and gas.

Oklahoma WindPower GIVES MONEY BACK TO FARMERS AND RANCHERS

Annually, Oklahoma WindPower infuses capital into the State of Oklahoma by investing more than $36 million in land lease payments. Further growing the economic impact of Oklahoma WindPower by allowing farmers and ranchers to reinvest and grow Oklahoma’s output in agriculture and save their land for future generations of Oklahomans.

Oklahoma WindPower CREATES SUSTAINABLE JOBS

Our $20 billion investment has grown 9,000 direct and indirect jobs in Oklahoma.

The money coming into each county through landowner payments is equivalent to paying 194 employees at the county average wage — which would put it among the top-10 companies in the area.

Employment of wind technicians is projected to grow 96 percent during the next eight years, much faster than the average for all occupations. (U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics)

Oklahoma WindPower IS LIMITLESS ENERGY WITH LIMITLESS POTENTIAL

Oklahoma has a limitless energy supply in wind without depleting our natural resources. Oklahoma WindPower provides 25 percent of all the electricity in our homes and businesses and 97 percent of all electricity produced stays in Oklahoma.

The wind industry is not cyclical and will not go boom or bust — providing a stable economy for all Oklahomans.

For once, Oklahoma is A LEADER IN THE NATION in a growing industry and, with your support, we can do more.

Legislator of the Year presentation

Senator James Lankford awarded Legislator of the Year

Agricultural Retailers Association award

Senator James Lankford received the Legislator of the Year award from the Agricultural Retailers Association for his work to make commonsense regulatory reforms and efforts to streamline the federal rulemaking process.

Lankford serves as the chairman of the Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs and Federal Management.

As chair, Lankford has held hearings and introduced regulatory reform legislation such as the Small Business Regulatory Flexibility Improvements Act, which requires that agencies fully consider the impact regulations have on small businesses, and the Truth in Regulations Act, which ensures the proper use of guidance documents, to protect small businesses and retailers in Oklahoma and across the country from costly, unnecessary, and duplicative regulations.

During the past Congress, Lankford also held multiple hearings on federal agency abuse of regulatory guidance, including the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's attempt to limit the sale of long-standing ag products, like common pesticides and fertilizers. These regulations impact farm budgets and increase costs for the consumer.

"It's an honor to be recognized by the Agricultural Retailers Association," said Lankford. "The work our agricultural community does every day to feed, clothe, and support our nation never ends. Farmers and ranchers respect the land, their neighbors, and the rules.

"But they want the rules to be fair, and they want their voices to be heard. Regulators that live their lives on concrete should listen to the insight of families who live on the soil before they make policy decisions about agriculture. Our Oklahoma farm communities rely on their local agricultural retailers to meet their farm business needs. In this never-ending work, agribusinesses should not have to battle their federal government over-burdensome regulatory guidance.

"We need more commonsense reforms, like the Small Business Regulatory Flexibility Improvements Act, so we can continue to allow individuals to serve others without government intrusion," he concluded.

Previous recipients include Senators Heidi Heitkamp (D-ND), Roy Blunt (R-MO), Thad Cochran (R-MS), John Thune (R-SD), Tom Carper (D-DE), Kay Hagan (R-NC), Congressmen Frank Lucas (R-OK) and Patrick Meehan (R-PA).

The Agricultural Retailers Association is a non-profit trade association that represents the interest of agricultural retailers and distributors across the US on legislative and regulatory issues.

proposed automotive plant, that would have brought hundreds of new job opportunities to town, was voted down. It would have provided higher wages, excellent benefits and opportunities to bring other manufacturers to our community. I felt this was short sighted. This increase in spendable income could have meant more homes built, products sold, tax dollars for our schools, etc. 3) I believe our youth has been neglected. I have long believed that our young people need something to do in our town: a swimming pool, sand volleyball courts, a skate park, a recreation center are just a few ideas that could be addressed by City Council. Instead, many kids either sit idly at home or roam the streets looking for something to do.

Why do you want to be on the City Council?

Engert—My voice represents many people in this community, being a wife, a mother, an educator, a minority and a lifelong Purcell resident. By continuing to serve on City Council, I will make sure all points of views are considered. I love our community and would not choose any other place to live and raise my family. I am willing and ready to put in the hard work and dedication to keep Purcell moving forward in the right direction. I am fully committed to making the "Heart of Oklahoma" a place people would love to call home.

Tate — I want to be on the City Council to serve this community that I call home. I want YOU to feel that you have a voice in city government. I believe that council members need to be more in tune with the wishes of the public. For example, why don't they send out questionnaires in the electric bills to see what YOU think are the three biggest changes needed for Purcell? Do YOU feel that you can freely discuss issues that you are having with current council members? Do you feel that they are easily accessible? Do you feel welcome at city council meetings? I have attended most of the City Council meetings for the last year. I felt it was necessary to familiarize myself with the issues council members face on a regular basis.

Maysville and Rush Springs to give members trees during the Cooperative's Operation Tree Planting/Replacement Program. Members will each receive up to 10 trees.

"It is out of REC's commitment to our members, communities and environment we make these trees available as a service," Ed Bevers, Manager of Engineering said. "REC is, and will continue to be, a good corporate steward and we are grateful for our members' trust."

Employees of the Cooperative will be at the Walmart parking lot in Lindsay, located at the junction of Highways 19 and 76; in front of the law office of Dan Williams in Rush Springs, located at 303 W. Blakely Street; the parking lot of Worth Every Bite in Maysville, located at 314 6th Street and the parking area of Speedy G's in Elmore City, located at 22964 Highway 29.

The types of trees available are Loblolly Pines and Sawtooth Oaks.

Loblolly Pines are one of the most common pine trees. This North American native has dark green needles with narrow, red-brown pinecones about three to six inches long. These trees grow to be about 60' to 90' tall and have a spread of 25' to 35' wide once they reach maturity.

Sawtooth Oak is one of the fastest growing trees in its youth. It is an attractive shade tree with dark lustrous summer foliage and clear yellow to golden brown fall leaves. These trees grow to be 40' to 60' tall and have a spread of 40' to 60' wide.

The Cooperative requests members to not plant trees any closer than 30 feet of our electric power lines. This will allow the trees to mature without requiring trimming or removal in the future.

Members needing additional information about REC's Tree Program may contact REC's Member Services Department at 756-3104 or 1-800-259-3504, extension 238.

Obituaries

Vivian June Horine

Vivian June Horine went home to be with her Lord and Savior and loved ones on February 3, 2018. She was 99 years old.

Vivian was born on December 24, 1918 to William Washburn and Effie Mae Mustain in Sulphur Springs, Arkansas. She travelled with her family, when she was five years old, by covered wagon to make their home in the Needmore Community in Bernice, Oklahoma. The family moved to Afton, Oklahoma when she was eight years old and she entered the fourth grade at Hawthorne Elementary School.

Vivian graduated from Afton High School in 1936 as valedictorian of the senior class. She then attended Northeastern A&M College in Miami and summer sessions at Northeastern State Teachers College (now Northeastern State University) in Tahlequah, Oklahoma, where she earned certification to teach school during World War II. She taught grades one through eight in one room country schools in Smith School District and Noel School District in the Afton area. Later she would substitute at Afton High School. She also worked many years in the offices of Johnson Hospital in Afton and Bradshaw Memorial Hospital in Miami.

Vivian became a Christian at an early age and served the Lord by teaching Sunday School classes for the children at First Baptist Church in Afton. When she and Donna moved to Miami, she taught an adult men's and women's class at Northwest Baptist Church in Miami for over 40 years. She loved teaching and the members in her classes.

Vivian moved to Purcell, Oklahoma, in August 2008. She lived at Westbrook Gardens where she made many lasting friendships. Among them, the ladies at "The Table" and a very special friend is Glen Clift, all of whom continue to live at Westbrook. Every member of the staff at Westbrook held a special place in her heart as well. She also so enjoyed her time with friends at Rubys Café in Purcell. She was a member of First Baptist Church. She loved the Lord and looked forward to Sundays when she could go to church to worship and visit with friends.

Vivian was preceded in death by her parents and her husbands, George Collins and Kenneth Horine; her beloved daughter, Donna Carolyn Littlefield; grandson, Brent Keith Vinyard; son-in-law, Richard Vinyard; six sisters and three brothers.

She is survived by her daughter, Marjorie Ann Panter of Purcell; her son Dr. Kenneth L. Collins and wife, Marsha, of Tahlequah; and Donna's husband, David Littlefield, of Norman; grandchildren, Teresa June Pollok and husband, Mike, Mabelle McQueen and husband, Ed, Kale Littlefield and Kenna Littlefield; great-granddaughters, Brandi Pollok Steiner and husband, Paul, Anna Pollok, Madison McQueen Monhollon and husband, Seth, Mary Pollok and Camryn Rose; and great-great-grandchildren, Wyatt, Waylon and Vivian Steiner.

The marriage of Vivian and Kenneth Horine enriched us all by uniting two families. She is survived by the children of her heart, Jane Ann Duffield and husband, Bill, of Grove, Okla., and Jon Horine and wife, Susan, of Kingwood, Texas. She was preceded in death by K.O. Horine and Bill Horine. Also surviving her are grandchildren, Keri Henry and husband, David, Daryl Patterson and wife, Kelly, Tyler Horine and wife, Stephanie, Zach Duffield and wife, Sami, Jacob Horine, Matthew Horine and wife, Stephanie, Kyle Horine, and Kelsie Horine; great-grandchildren are Ashlyn and Madison Pulliam, Jacob and Ryan Patterson, Abbey and Katy Horine and Jaxon, Jesi and Jordi Duffield.

Vivian is also survived by a host of family and friends. She was a beautiful person who was very kind, loving and had a beautiful smile for everyone. She will be missed.

Services were held on Wednesday, February 7, at First Baptist Church in Purcell. On Thursday, February 8, 2018 there will be a viewing/visitation at Paul Thomas Funeral Home in Miami from 10-11:30 a.m. Burial will be at Glen Abbey Cemetery in Miami at noon on Thursday, February 8, 2018.

In lieu of flowers Vivian requested donations to First Baptist Church in Purcell and Northwest Baptist Church in Miami.

"Think of her as living in the hearts of those she touched; for nothing loved is ever lost, and she was loved so much."

Sam Noble Museum "Creature Creations" family workshop

Families can explore the silly side of nature as they paint like a bird and draw like an Apatosaurus during the "Creature Creations" family program from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday, February 24, at the Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History.

"Creature Creations" will have families capturing the wonder of the wild as they explore silly ways to make art like the animals do with the museum's education staff. Participants will explore the amazing animals in the museum galleries and investigate creative art techniques.

"We love offering art programs here at the museum; there is so much beauty to draw from here," said Carrie McKenzie, the museum's public programs coordinator.

"Animals provide such fun inspiration for creating works of art. Instead of drawing one of the animals in our galleries, why not try to draw as if you were that animal? 'Creature Creations' is sure to be a night full of exploration, creativity, silly twists and family fun."

Prices include one adult and one child. Cost for museum members is $20, and cost for non-members is $30. For each additional person, members pay $10 and non-members $15.

The deadline to register for the "Creature Creations" family workshop is February 14. Learn more and register at SamNobleMuseum.ou.edu.

The Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History is located on the University of Oklahoma Norman campus at J. Willis Stovall Road and Chautauqua Avenue. For accommodations, call (405) 325-4712 or visit SamNobleMuseum.ou.edu.

Sea Scouts

Actors perform as Sea Scouts During the production of Missoula Theater’s “The Little Mermaid”. Over 80 students participated in the show. The actors included Allison Booker, Lillian Calixto, Madison Cravens, Abby Gibson, Taylor Griffin, Kylie Hamilton, Kaitlyn Keeler, Paisley Knowles, Kennedi Tompkins, Hannah Whitaker and Tinley Winters.

Lopez:

The officer estimated the speed at 75 to 80 mph and radar confirmed it at 76 mph. He stopped the car, which was driven by Lopez, near mile marker 90. The officer reported that he smelled an overwhelming odor of raw marijuana coming from the vehicle.

After issuing a warning for the speeding violation, he asked Lopez how much marijuana was in the vehicle. Lopez reportedly said there was a small amount in the driver’s door. The officer recovered a cigar package containing approximately 7 grams of marijuana in the door. But when he opened the vehicle’s trunk he found two large suitcases containing a total of 94 large bundles and 45 smaller bundles of marijuana with an estimated weight of 153.4 pounds. While being handcuffed, Lopez said the total weight was 140 pounds.

Flu:

hospitalized with the viral illness. Of those hospitalizations, 31 were in McClain County. Statistically, that comes out to a rate of 81.4 per 100,000 population. In comparison, there were 174 hospitalizations in Cleveland County, 24 and 30 in Garvin and Grady counties, respectively, and 68 in Pottawatomie County. Statewide, 62 of the 92 deaths were senior citizens age 65 and older. Eighteen were in the 50 to 64 age bracket and 12 were age 18 through 49. The age breakdown of hospitalizations is 1,308 age 65 and older, 552 ages 50-64, 346 ages 18-49, 200 ages 4 and younger and 103 ages 5-17.

Deaths peaked the week ending January 9, while hospitalizations continued to climb to 560 in the week ending January 23. That number fell to 340 in the last week of January. According to the Centers for Disease Control, flu season typically runs from October to May. The CDC recommends vaccinating against the flu and points out that the inoculations contain inactivated and recombinant vaccines. “There is no live virus in flu shots. They cannot cause the flu,” the agency stresses. A vaccine information statement from the CDC reports, “There are many flu viruses and they are always changing.

Each year a new flu vaccine is made to protect against three or four viruses that are likely to cause disease in the upcoming flu season. “But even when the vaccine doesn’t exactly match these viruses, it may still provide some protection.” Flu strikes suddenly, can last several days and presents several symptoms, including fever/chills, sore throat, muscle aches, fatigue, cough, headache and runny or stuffy nose. The virus can also lead to pneumonia and blood infections and presents more risk to infants, young children, senior citizens, pregnant women, individuals with certain health conditions or weakened immune systems.

A second proposition is a $250,000 transportation bond to purchase three new buses and allow the district to retire three buses with high mileage. The bonds would be repaid in six years. District property owners would see “minimal” hikes in their property taxes for the first three years and property taxes should actually drop the final three years when an existing bond is repaid. By law, school bonds must receive a super majority of at least 60 percent in favor to pass. A 2-way race for Dibble school board will also be decided between Steve Long and Gene Shiflett. School board races between Tim Sluder and Gabe Green in Blanchard and Terry D.

bathroom break. “He walked right up on it,” Hewett said. The worker alerted his boss who called the sheriff’s department at 8:15 a.m. The location is about 1/4-mile east of the Wayne/Payne exit on State Highway 59 and then south on a lease road. The bones were among trees about 100 yards west of a work over rig and approximately 100 yards east of Interstate Vincent and Charlie Dunbar in Bridge Creek will also be decided. Some McClain County voters are included in school districts outside the county. Voters in Precinct 1 will be able to vote on a $400,000 bond package for Stratford Public Schools, as well as two school board races for Asher Public Schools. There, Michael Martin and Adam Kuhlman are running for Office 3, while Tim Dobbs and Frank Orman are in a race for an unexpired term in Office 1. Precinct 5 voters will have a say in a $14.865 million bond package for Alex Public Schools. Polls Tuesday will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

35, Hewett said. “Animals had scattered the bones,” the sheriff said, calling it “very typical of a scene like that.” Investigators remained on the site until about 5 p.m. Friday. Hewett hopes to receive a report this week from the medical examiner. Once the gender is known, it may be possible to determine the body’s identity through dental records.

into a 45-year lease with a rural water district in Cleveland’s district. The city’s revised lease will go into effect this year. Council members were also told about the popularity of the new Dragon Disc Golf Course at Purcell Lake. Parks and Recreation Director Cody Penner and John Blue shared information on the new 8,000-foot course which was plotted and constructed by Sooner Disc Golf in Norman. A mini tournament marked the course’s opening and drew 32 players. And weekends are drawing at least 40 players. “It’s a tough course. There’s no other course in the area like it,” Blue told the council. Blue and Penner also addressed the need for outdoor basketball courts in the city. An online survey conducted by Parks and Recreation drew 439 votes, 62 percent of them in favor of the courts and 38 percent opposed. Those in opposition favored other projects, Penner said. Estimated cost for two courts is $50,000 per 48-by-80 foot court. Included is lighting and fencing. Sites under consideration include the now filled-in pool by the Multi-Purpose Center and city-owned property by Delta Head Start. Danny Jacobs asked if McCurdy Park was another option and Blue explained the Parks and Recreation Board was “kicking around ideas” for the park, including soccer fields. The council voted to pay Richard Stark of Prairie Rock Architecture $6,100 to prepare specifications and bid documents for construction of the two courts. A presentation by Larkin Aquatics for a new swimming pool generated some interest, but the council wants a work session to settle on how to pay for it. The proposed pool is similar to a public pool constructed by Lindsay in 2016 for $1.8 million. Construction cost today is estimated to be $2.5 to $3 million. One issue is the city’s on-hold plans to construct a new city yard. The existing yard was heavily damaged during a 500-year flood of Walnut Creek in 2015. “The city yard plan is not fleshed out very well,” said Graham Fishburn, who favors a new pool. “If we build it (pool), we need to shoot for completion by summer 2019.” “I’m not anti-pool,” mayor Ted Cox said, “...but concerned about continuing operations.” City manager Dale Bunn told the council the city can pay cash for a swimming pool and finance the city yard or vice versa. In other business, the council:

- approved a lot split and final plat for the site of a Holiday Inn Express;
- approved the appointments of Valerye Haley and Dale Chambers to the Cemetery Board;
- accepted a bid of $87,664 from CAP Fleet Upfitters to install equipment on four new police cars;
- approved the $35,290 purchase from state bid of a 2018 Ford F150 for the fire department;
- approved a $17,000 budget amendment for the purchase of a flatbed and skid unit for a F-450 truck at the fire department.

The Purcell Public Works Authority agreed to write off $482,933.79 as bad debt. However, the city will continue efforts to collect that money, most of which is unpaid electric bills. The action was strictly a bookkeeping measure to remove that debt from the books. “But the money is still owed,” city attorney Ted Haxel said.

The Lexington girls’ basketball team found out last week that they are only as strong as their strongest player – Lauren Beason.

The sophomore had to sit out last Tuesday’s game against the Konawa Lady Tigers because she was sick; she didn’t play a single minute.

The result of her absence was a 51-20 loss at Konawa for the Lady ‘Dawgs.

But, Beason was back in the lineup against the Dibble Lady Demons last Friday night and she made her presence known with 15 points as Lexington downed Dibble on the road, 60-46.

Head coach Ryan Perry’s team is now 10-10.

Ciara Winterton led the way in Beason’s absence against Konawa with eight points while Bri Webster checked in with seven points.

Against Dibble, Emilee Jenks was next behind Beason with nine points in the winning effort, followed by Winterton’s eight points.

Meanwhile, the Lexington boys’ basketball team dropped two more games last week on the road – losing to Konawa (62-51) and Dibble (60-46).

The ‘Dawgs are now 4-16 under first-year head coach J.D. Beck and will have to scramble for some season-ending victories in the Play-offs.

The regular season is winding down for high school cagers.

Purcell will put a wrap on the 2017-18 regular season next Monday night with a road trip to Lexington.

Jake Berrey finished with 12 points and was joined in double digits by Garrett Galyean with 11.

Purcell’s defense came up big in the second half when they limited Washington to only 15 points.

Washington snuck in a Monday night game this week, defeating Crooked Oak 64-25.

“We still had two starters out,” said head coach Rocky Clarke.

Delaney Beller is still not at full strength and Taylor Lile didn’t suit up.”

Crosthwait put up 25 and the game was, for all intents and purposes, pretty much over after the first quarter when Washington scored 30 points. Crooked Oak wouldn’t match

Foot race

Hanna Brown dribbles the ball for Washington while Purcell’s Alicia Baker defends. The Dragons defeated the Warriors 62-48. Brown scored 21 points and Baker had 15.

Dragons:

Galyean led all scorers with 17.

“In both the Washington and Bridge Creek games we were able to hold our opponents to 15 and 14 points in the second half,” Raper said.

“We’re pleased with our efforts to finish the games,” he said.

Haylee Swayze led all scorers in Purcell’s 62-48 victory over Washington with 22.

The Warriors were playing without four starters, three due to illness and one due to an auto accident.

Sophomore Alicia Baker splashed five treys in the victory to finish with 15 points. Senior Cady Wollenberg was just out of double figures with a nine point outing.

“I know they were a little short handed but we shot the ball well,” head coach David Sikes said. “We’ve been shooting the ball well at home.”

The Dragons shot 45 percent from three point land making 10 as a team and shot 63 percent from the field.

“Everybody contributed,” Sikes said mentioning Kora Keith, Wollenberg, Camryn Dickerson, Chelsea Spain and Addie Stanton.

Against Bridge Creek Swayze led all scorers with 21 that included three from downtown. Wollenberg chipped in 11.

“We didn’t shoot the ball as well as we did against Washington and we let them out-rebound us,” Sikes said. “But some how we found a way.”

That way led to Purcell’s third victory in a row.

“Settling for the outside shot in the first half, Purcell only went to the line twice in the first half.

“So we made a point in the second half to go to the bucket and ended up making 12-15 from the line,” Sikes said.

“We’ve done a better job lately of cutting down on our turnovers so that has helped,” Sikes said.

Purcell was 9-9 heading into the Marlow game Tuesday night.

In Match Play, the girls will play Kingfisher Saturday at 4:30 p.m. at Washington. The boys position in Match Play depended on how they fared against Marlow Tuesday night.

“Marlow is playing well right now,” Raper said. “The winner of that game will be the South Division Champion and will play either Kingfisher or Blanchard,” he said.

Purcell will play in the Regional Tournament at Prague February 22-24.

Pressure

Washington’s Conner Kirtley defends Purcell’s Garrett Galyean during Purcell’s 56-43 win last week. Galyean scored 11 points in the game. Kirtley scored four.

Warriors:

that number the whole game.

“We’ll be healthy by Match-play, hopefully,” Clarke said.

Washington plays Tuttle Friday night in Matchplay at home.

The Warriors host Dickson next Saturday night in the District tournament to kick off the Playoffs.

“It will be a good Playoff and we’re looking forward to it,” Clarke said. “We’ll have a bench for the Playoffs. That in itself will be a help.”

Washington is 16-6 on the season.

Boys

Head coach TJ Scholz and the Warriors picked up two more wins, while dropping one game.

They were defeated by Purcell 56-43 last Tuesday.

“We came out in the first half and Kade Hendrix and Manny Trejo were making shots,” Scholz said.

“We got Adam Wells into foul trouble and that helped us.”

Washington took a five point lead into the halftime locker room.

Although Washington had a one point lead in the fourth quarter, they couldn’t maintain.

“We didn’t sustain success in the second half,” Scholz said.

The coach said Purcell’s matchup zone gave his team some trouble but he also pointed to the play of Gavin Nation and that of Jake Berrey in the post.

“Berrey did a good job inside and exposed us. We had been playing behind the post but we’ll front (the post player) from here on out,” Scholz said.

PV

Washington regrouped Friday to take down Pauls Valley 72-50.

“Manny played really well,” Scholz said.

“He was 10 for 10 from the line. He always plays well against them. Last year he scored 27 on them and had 11 earlier this season.

“He shot well, went to the rack and got fouled a lot.”

Washington led by 18 heading into the fourth quarter and nine Warriors scored.

“It was more of what we’re accustomed to,” said Scholz.

“We played good defense.”

Grinding win

Monday night Washington defeated Crooked Oak 47-46.

“It was an ugly game,” Scholz said.

“They sat back in a 3-2 zone and we couldn’t hit shots.”

Washington took an early lead and led by 10 in the fourth quarter.

“We had to grind it out,” Scholz said.

“We played tight late and had silly turnovers. As the game wore on we got tighter and didn’t play loose.”

Hendrix hit his free throws down the stretch and Washington escaped with the win.

“It was not the right energy but we’ll challenge them in practice.”

Washington plays Bethany at home Friday before starting the Playoffs next Saturday against Dickson.

They are 14-6 on the season.

By Fr. Jim Chamberlain

Last Sunday we talked about the various aspects of love in a Christian community. We start way back at the beginning, in the Garden of Eden. “Adam”, in the Hebrew, means “red earth” and is a general term to encompass Humankind. But God desired that there be two sexes of Humankind, and so he formed “ish” (man) and “ishah” (woman). (Gen 2: 21-24)

Man and woman come from the same stock. But they are different. In Western culture, the man has characteristic masculine traits (Western – courage, independence, and self-initiative. But a gentleman must never abuse these. He will never use his strength to harm a woman or a child. He will never raise his voice except in cases of injustice. He shows proper manners and civility, as a gentleman will do.

A woman, too, has characteristic traits. She is noted for her gentleness, compassion, tolerance, nurturance, deference, and relationality. But she will never abuse these. She will never be dishonest, or try to seduce, for personal gain. She should never be meek or complicit in the face of injustice.

By honoring who I am naturally, I am honoring the complementarity of the sexes. By being a gentleman, I am creating the space for women around me to become proper ladies.

By being a lady, I am creating the space around me for men to behave like gentlemen.

What do we mean when we say to someone “I love you?” Before he was Pope John Paul II, Karol Wojtyla wrote a book about marriage called “Love and Responsibility.” Central to his argument is the contrast between the utilitarian and the personalist views of marriage and of sexual relations.

The utilitarian view, according to which a sexual partner is an object for use, holds no possibility of fulfillment and happiness. The personalist view understands marriage as an interpersonal relationship, in which the well-being and self-realization of each partner are of overriding importance to the other. It is only within this framework that the full purpose of marriage can be realized.

It is much like in the Italian language. To my wife or husband I will say “Ti amo,” “I love you.” But to my child, sister, or brother, I will say “Ti voglio bene,” which literally means “I desire the good for you.” This is what the true meaning of love should be. Real love is not asking “what am I getting out of this?” but it is desiring the good for the other.

Finally, St. Paul writes in 1 Cor. 8:13, “If food causes my brother to sin, I will never eat meat again.” We are all different. We all have different strengths and weaknesses. If we are to grow in faith together, we must be aware of weaknesses of others and be very careful not to tempt them.

If my brother has problem with alcohol, I will not tempt him. If my sister has just gone through a divorce, will not prey on her emotions with false promises. If he is prone to over-eating, I will not tempt him with unhealthy foods. If she is prone to gossip, I will not tempt her with a story about another person.

This is the virtue of spiritual empathy. If I recall that I too have a weakness, then I can understand the weakness of my brother or sister.

As a community of faith, we are called to show the rest of the world how to love in community. We love best when we understand who we are as Man or Woman, when we are careful not to cause another to sin, and when we truly desire what is good for them, and desire to wish them well.

Lent begins on Wednesday, February 14, and we will have distribution of ashes at two Masses that day - 12 Noon (English) and 7 p.m. (bilingual). All are welcome to come and receive ashes to begin this holy season.

Our weekly Mass schedule is Saturday at 5 p.m. (English), Sunday at 11 a.m. (English) and 1 p.m. (Spanish).

Purcell has been blessed by the return of a winner. It is good to know that a former Dragon, Steve Gale, has come home to serve as the new Purcell High School football coach.

During his tenure as a member of the Dragon team, Steve was recognized by his team members and fans as an outstanding player and student in the Purcell School System.

The planners for the Super Bowl Sunday are to be commended for their patriotic display of love for America.

Recognition of our veterans and the inspirational music will go a long way in restoring our love for professional football. The only blemish to the Eagle’s victory was not in the players or the fans, but the rowdy crowd that wreaked havoc in Philadelphia.

Special music Sunday morning was provided by Gynean Gentry.

Scripture text for the Sunday sermon was taken from Joshua 7:20-24. Sunday’s Super Bowl was a day for reclaiming the high ground of value and excitement for professional football. For months the actions of one player has placed a nauseated distaste for the league.

The harm done by one player in his disrespect for the Flag of the United States may be compared to what Achan did to the Israelites. After two miraculous events, crossing the Jordan River on dry land

Green Avenue Church of Christ

The congregation spent Wednesday evening singing hymns and spiritual songs.

The Sunday morning adult Bible class continued a study of the life of Jesus looking at the first chapters of Matthew and Luke covering prophecies of the birth of Jesus and John the baptizer.

During the Sunday morning assembly Keith Shackelford presented a lesson looking closely at Second Corinthians 1:12.

The Sunday evening sermon centered on the miraculous, or at least unusual, conceptions of Isaac (Genesis 21), Sampson (Judges 13), Joseph (Genesis 30), Samuel (1 Samuel 1), John the baptizer (Luke 1) and Jesus (Matthew 1 and Luke 1).

The church is located at 407 Jackson Street in Purcell. Bible classes begin at 9:45 a.m. Sunday morning and 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, with worship at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Bible study correspondence courses are available. You can call the office at 527-4052.

One man by the name of Achan brought trouble to thousands of Israelites and death to 36 soldiers, to himself and to his entire family. One selfish misdeed brought defeat, loss of lives and troubled water.

For one star quarterback and one of God’s chosen people, we should learn that the most exciting events in life can be tarnished by one person’s bad behavior.

Sermon title for this Sunday is “Glory on the Mountain - Sin in the Valley.”

The Wednesday evening Bible study for this week will be the 13th chapter of The Acts of the Apostles.

Lexington Westside Church of Christ

Good cold February day to all. Welcome to the “front porch.” In search of a positive, optimistic start to the new year, we have been revisiting those faithful Israelites of Joshua’s day – that rare generation of believers whose faith thrived even when they stood face to face with a threatening, uncrossable river!

The previous generation had failed in their quest to cross over into Canaan, but this one determined to learn from their miserable failure.

The one generation chose fear, the other faith. One comes to an abrupt stop – they run into the wall of “doubt” – the other bursts through doubt with a rare determination. Isn’t it amazing how far faith and determination take a believer in the Lord! They take us confidently toward a fearsome, raging river, knowing the Lord will provide a crossing in His own way, at his own time.

We have before us that age-old battle between man’s intellect and faith. Oh, no, we’re not saying that faith is not “intellectual” – that is what humanists and evolutionists would have us believe. In actuality, faith in the gospel leads us to the greatest of all intellectual truths. Remember the powerful stair-stepping truths that John declares to open up his narrative: “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God (John 1:1).

These sublime intellectual truths run against the grain of man’s scholarship. Man’s model for meaning and understanding have no measurement or formula that will address things eternal. Their gods really become “time” and “chance,” and salvation and faith rely on neither.

Through both study and experience, we have come to learn that faith is far more than an intellectual exercise. We see clearly – not “through a glass darkly” – that faith takes us on a journey to something far deeper.

In his book, “The Case for Faith,” Lee Stroebel examines this great battle between intellect and faith carefully. To make his case, he summons the Canadian theologian, Professor Anderson, to the stand.

“Knowing the truth,” Anderson explains, “doesn’t mean filling your head with knowledge.” Instead, he points out, our faith is experiential knowledge. “Like Adam knew Eve, he didn’t just know her name and address; he experienced her.”

By the same token, he goes on to say, “To experience the truth ... you have to be a following learner. In other words, do what Jesus says and you’ll experience the validity of it. It’s kind of like riding a bicycle. You can’t watch a video or read a book about it; you’ve got to get on one and get the feel of it.”

True faith reminds us that we need to make sure we “get on that bicycle” and experience the joy involved in that experience. No one can fully explain the experience of getting those pedals to work well enough to allow us to stay upright for three, four, five seconds before falling down. You can’t explain that. You have to experience it. With faith, our experience comes, blessedly, through the obedience of One who is far greater than we.

But there is still one more issue to address: How, exactly, do we do we come to that experience”?

Mr. Anderson summarizes that question – and, in a way, the entire interview – saying that the more you experience the phenomenal acts of faith, “the more you will experientially be woven into a web of faith.”

We see, then, the fallacy in many unbelieving peoples’ thinking: They are waiting to experience something, and then begin their walk with the Lord.

But now we understand that we have to begin our walk by our obedience and response to the gospel, then – here’s the key – then we will grow experientially in our faith journey.

In other words, we can’t just stand there, look at that shiny red bicycle, and imagine what it is like.

We have to climb up on it, get our feet off the ground, and pedal – by faith.

Sunray Baptist Church

Our nursing home singers - Dennis Clark, Donna Stillwell, James and Pam Kyzer, and Doug and Laverne Rolin sang “We’ll Never Grow Old” for the special at our morning service. They are scheduled to sing for the residents at Sunset Estates at 10 a.m. February 16.

Brother Dennis used Galatians 3 for his message which focused on God’s grace. Everything we do is because of God’s grace. We can do nothing without Him. In these verses, the apostle Paul speaks of Abraham called by God because of his tremendous faith. He spoke about Moses and God’s law which had the purpose to reveal man’s sin. The law didn’t bring about salvation, but brings us to Jesus who took our sins on Himself. The price of our freedom was secured by Christ. It was by no act that we performed. It is all by God’s grace.

The evening message was from I Corinthians 2:1-5. Paul reminded the church at Corinth that he came with the goal to preach God’s word and to preach it clearly. He wanted to present Jesus Christ and His atoning work. Paul was afraid the message of God would be rejected. He considered his own inadequacies and felt undeserving to be in the ministry. He taught the word stands by itself, God’s power moves the individual, and faith doesn’t stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

This coming Sunday our youth will sponsor a soup and salad lunch following morning worship. Our ladies sewing group will have a dessert auction with proceeds used to buy material for their upcoming Christmas connection project. There will be no evening service.

Our senior adults will be taking their monthly trip at 4 p.m. February 13, to Cheddar’s in Norman to enjoy a good meal and fellowship.

Our prayers continue to be with several in our church family that are suffering lingering sickness.

Please join us for Sunday school, worship, bible study, and all activities at Sunray Baptist Church. We are a small traditional church with a lot of friendly people. We are located at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. For additional information call 527-6808.

food sacks, transportation and helping them with the cost of medical evaluations that may help them receive VA benefits.

On an average month, we are spending $25,000 to provide our services to veterans and their families. Another way we raise money to help others is through our automobile program where we accept the donations of cars, trucks, motorcycles, boats or other things that can be given to veterans or sold to provide funds to support veterans.

We want to be able to assist veterans to meet their needs in other areas. We will host a Veterans Services Forum twice each month. Organizations will be onsite two Mondays a month between 9-11 a.m. Some of the groups that have been invited are those that provide services for veterans such as education benefits, job training, business development, as well as other benefits. If you have a veteran's service to offer, or if you want more information, please contact Lora Malone, our Executive Director. She can be reached at (405) 550-8806, extension 101.

I appreciate the men and women who have served and those who continue serving in the military. Without your dedication to this United States, we would have lost our freedom many years ago. In today's world, less than two percent of our population will ever step forward to join the military. Those who are serving today are carrying a very heavy load with multiple deployments in many faraway lands where death or injury could happen at any moment.

Personally, I believe our county would be much better off if everyone were required to do some sort of federal service in the military or some type of community or national programs. We might be better off if we followed President Kennedy's words when he told us to ask not what our country can do for us, but what can we do for our country. In these times of many ways of thinking what is right and what is not we need to be united in the middle.

Last Tuesday and Thursday morning there were 265 veterans and surviving spouses our volunteers assisted with their VA claims and questions. We ask for your help by arriving early so we can take care of you before we reach our maximum for the day. I wish we were able to help everyone, no matter when they arrived.

On Tuesday and Thursday, many of us arrive at our building before five each morning which makes for a very long day. Maybe you could join us as a volunteer so that we could help more veterans and surviving spouses. This organization continues to reach veterans from every county in our state and many states from the East Coast to the West Coast. Currently, we represent more than 18,000 veterans and surviving spouses with their VA claims.

Remember if you need transportation to visit us, please contact our drivers Clayton and Louie. Last week they logged 63-1/2 hours transporting 21 folks 1,127 miles.

As a VA Accredited Claims Agent, I receive all the VA rating decisions and other correspondence on every veteran and surviving spouse represented. Having that information, plus being able to review their claims in the VA computer system, makes it much easier to know what the next step should be to help a veteran receive all the benefits for which they are eligible.

When logged into the VA computer system I can review the medical evaluations the VA medical evaluators and the VA contractors such as QTC or LHI. This is probably one of the most important tools we have available when assisting veterans with their claims for service-connection of a disability.

Most of the people who are trying to help veterans with their claims do not have that access. Not having access to this powerful information might be why so many veterans have been denied benefits over the years.

We received a decision on a surviving spouse who we represent that was awarded DIC benefits back to 2014 last week. Being able to help veterans and surviving spouses receive their VA benefits is the most rewarding thing I have ever done. There were nine veterans awarded a 100 percent rating for their service-connected disabilities. These men and women will receive an annual combined disability income of $342,899 per year.

Twenty veterans received disability ratings from 10-90 percent for their service-connected disabilities. These men and women will receive a combined annual amount of $229,229,316 per year.

We received three decisions on surviving spouses for DIC, and one for Aid and Attendance benefits and they will receive an annual combined amount of $60,382 per year.

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation has food boxes available to those in need. An application for this type of assistance will be available on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. A DD-214 or military discharge will be necessary to apply. Please contact Rhonda (405) 550-8806 Extension 103 to request a food box.

If you need a ride to and from a VA Medical Appointment, please contact (405) 550-8806 to reach Clayton at Extension 105 or Louie at Ext. 106.

application in this cause requesting the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma to enter an order, to be effective as of the date of the execution thereof or as of a date prior thereto, as follows: (i) amending Order No. 583036 to delete the W½ NE¼ of Section
12, Township 6 North, Range 3
West of the IM, McClain County, Oklahoma from the purview and boundaries of the Woodford common source of supply as covered by such order, and to vacate the by such order for such common source of supply in the W½ NE¼ of said Section 12; (ii) establishing the boundaries of the Woodford common source of supply of oil so as to cover and include said

Section 12, and forming a proper horizontal well unit for such common source of supply in such section, which unit Applicant requests be formed as a standard 640-acre

Purcell Senior Citizens

By Fredda Perry

Red is the color at the senior center for the next two weeks. Valentines, cupids, hearts and chocolate candy also will be on hand for the Valentine Day Celebration on Wednesday, February 14.

Following that celebration, the decor will turn green with four leaf clovers and everyone will be looking for a pot of gold.

We had some good days last week as far as our attendance goes. We feel like things are looking up as it starts to warm up.

Anyone who is 60 or older is invited to come visit the center. There is always something cooking and plenty of activities. Remember, if you plan to eat lunch at the center, you will need to call the kitchen at 527-9462 the day before or by 8 a.m. the day you plan to eat.

The senior garage sale for this week will be Thursday, February 8, 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. Come and check out the items in the sale. New items are donated almost daily. Please do not leave donations on the patio without calling Hester at 990-1840.

We will have exercise classes Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:30 a.m., bingo at our regular time on Thursday and table cards and games on every day of the week.

Thursday is bingo day every week. Bingo starts promptly at 10 a.m. Everyone is a winner before we are finished. We have been having a full house each week.

If you know someone who needs help with their noon meal at their home, call the Delta Nutrition Center at 527-9462 ask for John. He is the site manager and person who does evaluations.

Need a place to have a special event? The center is available for $70 a day. If you're interested call 527-5070. Call early so you can get the date you want.

Menu for the week of February 12-16:

Monday—Baked chicken, parsley potatoes, steamed broccoli, wheat bread, applesauce.

Tuesday—Beef stew, oven fried okra, cornbread, peach crisp.

Wednesday—Chicken and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, sweet potato dessert.

Thursday—Navy beans, spinach, beets, cornbread, chocolate cake.

Friday—Egg and sausage bake, breakfast potatoes, gravy, orange juice, mixed fruit salad.

Thought for the Week: Be kind, for everyone you meet is fighting a battle you know nothing about.
