Cong. Tom Cole announces up to $48 million in new grants to OMRF

Congressman Tom Cole joined leaders from the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation today to announce two major federal grants totaling as much as $48 million to OMRF. The National Institutes of Health awarded the grants, which will fund research on autoimmune diseases and human exposure to anthrax.

"The new grants are the product of a robust partnership between the federal government and Oklahoma's biomedical research community," said OMRF President Stephen Prescott, M.D.

"Thanks to the leadership of Congressman Cole on the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies that oversees funding for the Department of Health and Human Services, the National Institutes of Health's budget has grown almost $8 billion over the past five years," said Prescott.

"He's been a champion for medical research, and those efforts are paying dividends in the form of new grants, a boost for our state's economy, and advances in treatments for Oklahoma's patients," Prescott said.

Each grant will cover a five-year period. The funding will support laboratory projects as well as clinical studies to help Oklahomans suffering from conditions such as multiple sclerosis and lupus.

"I am proud to congratulate these impressive Oklahoma based researchers who set themselves apart in nationwide competitions," said Cole, who serves as Ranking Member of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies. "The grant funding awarded will not only open doors to new treatments for Oklahoma patients, but the projects will also deliver significant economic benefits by creating and supporting jobs in the research sector and helping identify

Battle looms over Trump administration bid to ease trucking-safety rules

MarjieLundstrom
FairWarning

In Washington, D.C., a new Trump administration plan to relax safety rules for truck drivers has rekindled old heartaches for families across the country.

On a sunny Labor Day morning in Oklahoma, Linda Wilburn's younger son, 19-year-old Orbie, hopped into his 1994 red Camaro and headed east from Weatherford on Interstate 40. The college freshman, excited about his new rental house, needed to collect more stuff from his parent's place, 10 miles away.

At mile marker 87, he encountered a stall blocking both eastbound lanes. The young man slowed and stopped the Camaro. And then, on Sept. 2, 2002 Orbie DeWayne Wilburn was dead, smashed from behind by a big rig bearing down on him at high speed.

The 41-year-old truck driver from Kentucky, who also also died at the scene, had driven from Bakersfield, Calif. – nearly 1,300 miles away – to Oklahoma "without a rest break at all," said Orbie's mother.

Now the Wilburn family is steeling themselves for a new fight as the anniversary of Orbie's death approaches. This week, the Trump administration formally proposed easing the rules over rest breaks truck drivers must take, and giving them more flexibility over their on- and off-duty time.

The proposed changes to the "hours of service" rules by the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration were published August 20 in the Federal Register, with a public comment period open for 45 days.

Dueling statistics

Both sides view the proposals as critical to safety, though they see the statistics through starkly different lenses.

Opponents, many of them grieving families like the Wilburns and highway safety groups, say the rollbacks are dangerous as government data show that deaths from crashes involving large trucks hit a 10-year high in 2017 at 4,761.

Proponents of the changes, including trucking companies and many commercial drivers, have long argued that existing rules for truckers are too burdensome and make no allowances for human needs and real-world business concerns.

The same federal data also show that the rate of fatalities in large truck crashes based on vehicle miles traveled has declined steadily since 1975.

"We listened directly to the concerns of drivers for rules that are safer and have more flexibility – and we have acted," Raymond P. Martinez, who heads the motor carrier safety agency, part of the Department of Transportation, said in a news release.

A 2015 FairWarning story revealed how the trucking industry had spent heavily on congressional lobbying and campaign contributions, urging looser restrictions on trucking companies and their drivers.

Meanwhile, the National Transportation Safety Board, an advisory agency with no regulatory power, has zeroed in on fatigued driving as a safety issue that is more serious than statistics suggest.

"Drowsy driving does not leave telltale signs and, as a result, it is widely believed to be underreported on police crash forms," according to the agency, which has placed reducing fatigue-related accidents on its 2019-2020 "Most Wanted List" of safety improvements.

Flexibility for truckers

Among key details of the proposed rule changes, commercial truckers would be given greater flexibility to adjust their work and drive time to accommodate adverse weather and traffic conditions, and manage their downtime while trucks are being loaded and unloaded.

Commercial drivers still would be limited to 11 hours of driving time, but would be allowed to spread the 11 hours over a longer period of the day. In adverse conditions, another proposal would extend by two hours the maximum window during which driving is permitted.

"How does one say that telling a truck driver, 'You're going to work a longer day,' improve safety?" asked Harry Adler, executive director of the Truck Safety Coalition, a national network of volunteers that supports survivors and family members of truck-crash victims.

Adler said the government's proposals could be used by "bad actors" in the trucking industry to exploit their drivers for competitive advantage.

"These (proposals) are opportunities for drivers to be pushed to their limits further, to drive without resting. It's more opportunity for a driver to operate while fatigued, which is really detrimental," he said.

Adler's group has seen the emotionalwreckage from fatigue-related truck crashes, with people like the Wilburns now counseling other devastated families and testifying before Congress.

Pair face cruelty to animal charges

What started off as a welfare check on Elizabeth Trammell at 103 W. Huron last week turned out to be 32 dogs carted off and taken to the Purcell Animal Shelter.

Three counts of cruelty to animals were filed against Elizabeth Trammell and James Jeffrey Trammell, court officials said.

Police said Mr. Trammell was not at the residence at the time of the incident.

Arresting officers were Joe Santmyer, Todd Carpenter and Louise Zastrow.

Officials said most all of the animals had been kept inside the house where extremely filthy conditions existed.

The animal shelter is accepting donations for the care of the animals.

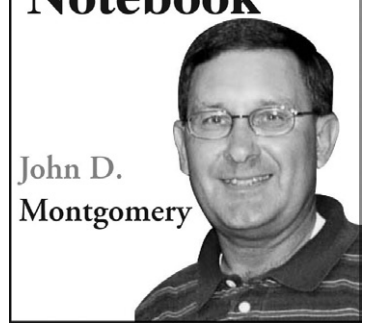
Painful to see

Editor's Notebook



John D. Montgomery

It is difficult to watch the rainforest in Brazil being destroyed for farm land.

It's been on the television news how trees that are thousands of years old are being cut down and the forest torched so they can plant soybeans.

It's unbelievable.

The rainforests are disappearing at a rate of 6,000 acres every hour which is about 4,000 football fields an hour.

When the forests are cut down, the plants and animals that live in the forests are destroyed and some species are at risk of extinction.

And that doesn't even touch the fact that losing the rainforest is going to cause global ecological problems by increasing greenhouse gas emissions.

Authorities say the forest degradation often starts with logging of prized trees such as mahogany and ipe.

The removal of these large trees often damages dozens of neighboring trees.

Once the forest has been logged, the many gaps in the canopy means it becomes much drier due to exposure to the wind and sun.

That increases the risk of the wildfires that are spreading out of control at this very moment.

The loss of trees and other vegetation can cause climate change, soil erosion, fewer crops, flooding, increased greenhouse gases in the atmosphere, and a host of problems for indigenous people.

And for the rest of the global population.

Fair fare

Down home flavors the norm at smaller fairs

MUCH ADO

Jeanne Grimes

Fair season is much anticipated by many people and for many reasons.

For my friends Lori and Chris Gibson, the biggest attraction in their largely rural area of east central Indiana is the annual Mooreland Free Fair in August.

They wouldn't miss it for anything. And they are at the fairgrounds every night, drawn by the food.

They are that serious about their fair fare.

Lori sent me a report back on August 7 – the mid-point of the Mooreland Free Fair:

"These are the foods we ALWAYS eat: ham & beans & cornbread with tomatoes and peach cobbler (one of the churches fixes that every year); foot-long coney dogs from the Mooreland Volunteer Fire Department stand; corn dogs and french fries with cheese sauce on them; a pork chop dinner with green beans and applesauce and rolls (always on a Thursday); walking tacos, elephant ears, funnel cakes, lemon shake-ups to drink, a sausage patty sandwich and anything else we think sounds good.

"The Blountsvillle Volunteer Fire Department always has an ice cream stand and we usually have ice cream one night."

None of this would fly on the Cooking Channel's Carnival Eats. I've watched the show a few times and I have to say the things some fair vendors do with food sends shivers up and down my spine.

And not the good kind of shivers, either.

I thought it was pushing the envelope some years back when they started deep frying Twinkies.

Now that is so old school, no one messes with it. Not necessarily a bad thing. If you've ever tried to eat a deep-fried Twinkie, you understand.

But the new "delicacies?" Does anyone really enjoy them?

Consider these gleanings from an internet search for fair food.

Fried fruit punch. A cheesecake burrito – deep fried, of course. Deep-fried butter (apparently it is actually broccoli and the whole misnomer raises questions of truth n advertising or the lack thereof).

Deep-fried Kool-Aid. A fried ice cream burger. From the photo, it appears the meat patty is fried and is topped with a scoop of ice cream along with lettuce, tomatoes and onions.

Fried beer. I guess the alcohol cooks out because there was no mention of carding the consumer.

Chocolate-covered scorpions and crickets. Or a caramel apple covered in protein-rich meal worms.

Chicken-fried bacon. And you sure don't want to miss out on spaghetti and meat balls on a stick. I mean, what could possibly go wrong when you try to eat that?

I doubt you'll find these "delicacies" next week at the McClain County Fair.

But the Kiwanis Club and McClain Bank will be serving a bean supper and ice cream social on September 5. If you are still hungry after that, there's the pie, cake and salsa auction.

And on September 6, you'll have a chance to taste test the entries in the Dutch Oven Cooking Contest.

Our Views

MOVIES WITH DAVE

By David Stull

This past weekend saw the release of something major I've been looking forward to for years now.

It's not a movie, though there were a couple fantastic new releases. But we'll get to those in a bit.

No, this week brought the grand opening of something highly anticipated by many movie fans in the Oklahoma City area.

A brand new Warren Theatre located in Midwest City.

Those who have kept up with my reviews over the past couple years are likely aware of my love of the Warren Theatre in Moore.

Ever since I first walked through those beautiful glass double doors back in 2008, with a smiling employee dressed in green tuxedo jacket greeting me while holding the door, I knew there was something different about going to the movies at the Warren.

For me it was a life changing moment. Before that I didn't know how wonderful going to the theater could be.

After experiencing the Warren, I simply didn't want to watch movies anywhere else.

Since then, I've watched nearly every major release there. And by the beginning of 2016, I spent almost every weekend at the Moore Warren, watching each and every new film.

It practically became my home away from home. No matter how good or terrible a movie was, it was always a pleasure seeing a film at the Warren.

Then 2017 came and everything changed.

In the middle of May, the owner of Warren Theatres, Bill Warren, confirmed the sale of all his operating theater complexes to Regal Entertainment. A move that left me, and many others, incredibly concerned for my favorite theater's future.

And since Regal's acquisition, the Moore Warren has changed quite a bit. And sadly, a lot of it hasn't been for the better.

Sure, there's been new conveniences added. Like barcode scanners by the ticket takers so you don't have to stand in line to get a print out of online orders, or Regal's reward point system where you can earn things like free popcorn or tickets if you frequent the theater enough.

But in return for those few benefits Regal took away much of what made going to the Warren special.

Where before you could arrive early to a movie and enjoy a quiet conversation with your companions, now you're treated to a barrage of uncomfortably loud advertisements for new movies, TV shows, local businesses, and of course Coca-Cola products.

And the ads don't stop once your showtime begins.

Instead of just watching three trailers before your feature film began, now they shove as many previews as they can before a movie.

Up to six trailers total, plus an occasional ad for whatever movie Regal happens to have a special promotion with, plus an ad attempting to recruit new employees, plus an ad advertising their rewards points or unlimited service, plus a short film by college students featuring popcorn and Coke products.

Before Regal took over, you would only have to watch about 10 minutes of trailers before your movie started. Afterwards, it was often well over 20.

That might not sound like a lot to some, but for someone like me who spends every

Interim work update

Welcome back to school! Hopefully, everyone enjoyed their summer break and is ready to get back to class and learn some new things. Students aren't the only ones learning. The legislature will be holding interim studies of more than 100 different issues between now and November.

I've requested several interim studies to address constituent issues and legislative topics that need to be discussed before the upcoming session. These provide an opportunity to gather research and information to determine if legislative action is needed to address or resolve issues constituents are facing.

We're currently waiting to hear from the different committee chairmen hoping they will hear the studies. Dates and times will be posted on the Senate website once they're scheduled.

Two working groups have also been appointed to study how to improve Oklahomans access to healthcare and improve overall health outcomes as well as create the Legislative Office for Fiscal Transparency (LOFT).

The working groups will more than likely last for several weeks while interim studies typically just take a day or two. Presentations made during the studies will be available online.

LOFT will provide the accurate, up-to-date data we need to create an efficient budget that meets the true needs of agencies and citizens.

The working group is in the process of creating the job descriptions for the director and other staff. They will work to fill those positions this fall and winter.

These meetings are all open to the public. They'll also be streamed live on the Senate website. You can find them under Committees and Interim Studies.

Dave:

weekend at the movies watching nearly every film, seeing this constant bombardment of the same advertisements over and over really cheapened the experience of going to my favorite theater.

Over the past two years I've wished the Moore Warren could go back to the way it used to be, back to when I first fell in love with going to the movies.

Which brings me to the Midwest City Warren.

Back in 2017, after Bill Warren sold to Regal, Bill came back with a promise for a new cinema, one not owned by Regal.

Later though, word was released that while Bill Warren would retain ownership of this new theater, it would still be managed by Regal Entertainment.

News of this collaboration left me curious about what kind of experience this new Warren would bring.

Would it be the same as the Moore location, with non-stop ads and 20 minutes of previews before your showing?

Or would it somehow be a return to the early days of the Warren, the same Warren experience I fell in love with over a decade ago?

Well, I am absolutely thrilled to tell everyone though Regal is involved with the management of this new cinema, it is, without a doubt, a Bill Warren theater through and through.

David Stull • The Purcell Register

A new beginning

The new Warren Theatre in Midwest City, located at 5901 SE 15th St., opened for business Thursday, August 22, 2019. The theater features 10 auditoriums and four balconies, each fitted with heated reclining seats, large curved screens, 4K projectors, and 7.1 surround sound. (More pictures at purcellregister.com)

Right off the bat, anyone who's ever been to the Moore Warren will feel right at home in the Midwest City theater.

The decor is very much similar, with the same old fashioned art deco look and velvet curtains covering every screen. Even the old neon lit clocks inside the theaters make a grand return.

Once through the doors, you enter a central lobby, with a ticket counter near the doors, concessions on the opposite side, and velvet clad benches surrounding a central sculpture made of glass and metal.

At the concession stands you can order your typical movie snacks like candy, nachos, or popcorn. Plus you can also order entire entrées like burgers or pizza to bring with you to eat at your seat.

There's even an area off to the side of the concessions where you can order a selection of alcoholic beverages. That's right, you can actually drink a beer while watching a movie without being forced to buy a higher priced ticket to a balcony showing. That's something the Moore Warren never offered.

Sadly, the food selection here seems to be exactly the same as what the Moore Warren was recently changed to, with both locations now using the standardized Regal menu.

I was really hoping we'd see the return of some of my favorite Warren dishes, like their Grand Burger, but I guess I can't get everything I want.

After you've picked up your tickets and whatever snacks you might want, you can go down one of two hallways stretching out left and right from the central lobby, with men's and women's restrooms on both sides of either entrances.

Both hallways feature five auditoriums, making for 10 screens total. And four of these auditoriums have 21 and over balconies on the second floor, where you can order food and drinks and have them delivered right to your seat, much like at the Moore Warren.

Every single auditorium in this theater, including the balconies, feature heated reclining seats with individual armrests on either side, a small table on the right, and two cup holders.

For anyone who's ever visited the Moore Warren, the seats are almost exactly like the ones in their Screening Rooms, same width and everything, with two notable exceptions.

The first being the seats are covered in leather instead of cloth. And the second, the buttons for controlling the heat and reclining are somewhat recessed, making them slightly harder to accidentally press while you're sitting down. A very welcome modification for anyone on the larger side like myself.

These auditoriums, while similar in layout to the Moore Warren, are noticeably much smaller than its sister theater.

While the Grand Auditorium in Moore can fit upwards of 450 patrons, the largest one in the Midwest City location, their Grand Infinity, can only seat 125.

And there's only two auditoriums that large in Midwest City. Excluding the balcony, the two smaller Grands can accommodate 74, the two larger stadiums can hold 120, and the four small stadiums can only seat a scant 42 people total. That's barely more than that can fit in Moore's Director's Suites.

Luckily, I didn't have a problem getting my tickets since I ordered online well ahead of time, but I could see the limited seating becoming an issue for more popular movies.

But while this Warren might be a bit cozier than the Moore location, the movie watching experience itself was ridiculously better.

For starters, there's zero advertising before the film starts. No hearing about the latest TV show from Amazon, zilch from AT&T advertising their unlimited plan, and certainly nothing from Maria Menounos telling you about the latest cocamamy Noovie app.

That's right. You can actually walk in before a movie begins and have a quiet conversation with your companions without having to yell to hear each other.

And the good times don't stop there.

Once the actual showtime arrives, The Voice of the Theater gives you a brief welcome to the Warren, the curtain goes up, the screen shows three trailers, and your movie begins.

Instead of being forced to sit through over 20 minutes of previews like most theaters, this one plays less than 10.

It's been so long since I haven't had to sit through six trailers before a film, I almost felt like I had whiplash from how quick the movie started. It was absolutely wonderful though.

I don't think I quite realized how much I missed the Warren movie going experience until this past weekend.

While the Midwest City Warren is operated by Regal, including using their ticketing service and concessions, it still very much feels like a Bill Warren theater.

In many ways, this theater represents the best of both worlds. It has the exceptional movie watching experience of a Warren theater, plus all the added benefits of being managed by Regal, like their reward points and even Regal's unlimited plan.

This brand new Warren has been advertised as the next level in luxury movie watching, and I'm firmly inclined to agree.

But with that luxury comes a noticeably higher price point. Tickets at Midwest City cost $11.99 for a matinee showing, $12.99 after 4:00 p.m., and $14.99 for the balcony seats. And none of those prices include tax.

In my opinion though, watching a movie here is worth the extra cost.

I loved every second I spent at this theater. The Midwest City Warren is absolutely beautiful, and out of all the theaters I've visited in the Oklahoma City area, the movie watching experience was second to none.

It's going to be really hard to go back to any other cinema after visiting this one.

To me, this new Warren just felt like home. One I can't wait to go back and visit.

Well that was long winded.

I suppose after all that, I should probably actually review some of the movies I watched instead of just gushing about the theater I saw them in.

And lucky for me, there were four of them this week.

This time around we've got a movie about a bride forced to play a deadly game of hide and seek on her wedding night, the next chapter of Gerard Butler's "Fallen" film series, a faith-based drama from the director of "War Room," and the tale of a young man with Down syndrome who runs away to fulfill his dream of becoming a professional wrestler.

Let's get to the reviews.

First this week is "Ready Or Not."

This movie follows Grace, a young bride (Samara Weaving) who couldn't be happier after she marries Alex (Mark O'Brien), the man of her dreams, at his family's luxurious estate.

But as her wedding night continues, Grace soon discovers the eccentric Le Domas family she married into hides a sinister past, as she's forced to participate in a tradition that turns into a lethal game with everyone fighting for their survival.

That's right, everyone. As you might have guessed from the title, this is a horror movie about a group of adults who play a game of hide and seek.

If you're a cynical person, you might see a hokey title like this and automatically assume the movie is complete garbage. Maybe similar to last year's "Truth or Dare," since they're both games for children turned horror movies.

But let me assure you, this film could not be further from the generic mess that was Blumhouse's "Truth or Dare."

This movie is a wonderful mixture of disturbingly visceral horror and clever subversive comedy. One that made for an incredibly tense and frequently hilarious experience.

Our two main characters of Grace and Alex are very down-to-earth, and quite likeable. Plus they provide a great contrast to the openly hateful attitude of Alex's entire family.

I absolutely loved Samara Weaving as Grace. Out of everyone in the movie, she's by far the most relatable, and overall makes for a very easy to root for horror protagonist.

Despite her character having absolutely no idea what she's gotten herself involved with by marrying into this insane family, she adapts surprisingly quickly. And as the film goes on, the rage she expresses towards everyone else in the movie is almost palpable.

I haven't seen much of Samara Weaving outside of this movie, but after this performance I'd love to see more. She was fantastic here.

And the fun characters don't stop with our married couple.

The entire Le Domas clan is filled to the brim with a collection of uniquely vile people, all of which are equally fun to watch spew spiteful lines of dialogue at each other.

Even though they don't all get a ton of individual screen time, each character here is very distinct and every single one of them have multiple, often hilarious, moments to shine.

But while this movie is constantly funny, it manages to not completely drift into being an all out satirical farce.

"Ready Or Not" really strikes a wonderful balance between horror and comedy. Many times in horror comedies you end up completely losing the feeling of apprehension. The result being a comedy film that just uses horror tropes as a facade. Not here though.

The film takes itself seriously enough that these incredibly gruesome consequences feel quite threatening to our main character. In fact I was surprised by how much tension I felt from scene to scene, despite laughing through nearly the entire film.

As you might have guessed, I really enjoyed this movie. I dare say it was one of my favorite movie going experiences of the year.

The editing was spot on, the horror scenes were tense and visceral, the dialogue was constantly hilarious, and the characters were absolutely wonderful, if mostly horrible people.

If you're like me and don't mind films with mixed genres, this movie is definitely a must watch.

"Ready or Not" is rated R.

Next up is "Angel Has Fallen."

When an assassination attempt on U.S. President Allan Trumbull (Morgan Freeman) threatens the life of the leader of the free world, his trusted confidant, Secret Service Agent Mike Banning (Gerard Butler), is wrongfully accused and taken into custody.

After escaping capture, he becomes a man on the run, evading his own agency and outsmarting the FBI in order to find the real assassins. Desperate to uncover the truth, Banning turns to unlikely allies to help clear his name, keep his family from harm, and save the country from imminent danger.

I guess it's been about three years since the last one, so it's time for yet another "insert the blank" Has Fallen movie.

You know, I actually didn't mind the first film, "Olympus Has Fallen." Sure it's really dumb, but it was still mostly entertaining and the action was okay.

But then they had to go and release "London Has Fallen," a movie which ended up being one of my least favorite films of 2016.

I outright hated it, and had just about put it out of my mind until one day I saw a trailer for yet another addition to this creatively bankrupt series. Ever since seeing that preview, I've been dreading the day I would have to sit down and watch this film.

But luckily for me, this movie didn't end up being quite as awful as its predecessor.

That's not to say I'd ever in a million years call it good, but I have to admit it wasn't as terrible of an experience as I had originally expected. Not by much though.

The action here is still frantic, and way over edited. Plus, for an action flick, this movie is decidedly dull.

The story is one you've seen dozens of times in other movies, and this film doesn't do anything uniquely different to set itself apart.

It's painfully obvious where the plot is headed, and you can see all the twists and turns coming from a mile away.

Towards the end I definitely felt my eyes start to glaze over, just from how uninteresting it all was.

In addition to not caring about the story whatsoever, I absolutely hate the way this movie was shot.

For some reason the camera operator is constantly moving or panning the camera around, adjusting the focus, and making scenes blurry for seemingly no reason beyond the aesthetic of being random.

They also really loved their shallow depth of field closeups with blurred backgrounds. I don't necessarily mind shots like these, but in this film they're just way overused.

I guess if there's one positive thing here, it would have to be Nick Nolte's character in the film.

He at least manages to add a few much needed moments of levity, and as far as comedy goes, he definitely stole the show. If you happen to laugh while watching this film, it's most likely because of Nolte.

Beyond that this movie is mediocre at best, and a snooze fest at worst. Sure, it's better than "London Has Fallen," but that's like saying getting shot in the leg is better than getting shot in the face. At the end of the day, both are decidedly unpleasant experiences.

Please don't watch this movie. Three years from now I really don't want to be surprised with yet another sequel to this waste of an action series.

"Angel Has Fallen" is rated R.

Third this week is "Overcomer."

Life changes overnight for coach John Harrison (Alex Kendrick) when his high school basketball team and state championship dreams are crushed under the weight of unexpected news, leading him to worry how he and his family will face an uncertain future.

After reluctantly agreeing to coach cross-country, John and his wife, Amy (Shari Rigby), meet an aspiring athlete (Aryn Wright-Thompson) who's pushing her limits on a journey toward discovery. Inspired by the words and prayers of a newfound friend (Cameron Arnett), John becomes the least likely coach helping the least likely runner attempt the impossible in the biggest race of the year.

Oh boy. From the writer and director of "Courageous," "Fireproof," and "War Room" comes yet another sermon from filmmaker Alex Kendrick.

If you've followed my reviews for any amount of time, you're probably aware of my feelings towards faith based movies.

For the most part this is a genre filled to the brim with low budget, low effort movies that have zero regard to the art of filmmaking and only serve as a medium to put a two hour sermon on the big screen.

There are a few notable exceptions of course.

Movies like last year's "I Can Only Imagine" or "The Case for Christ" the year before that. Films that actually included some much needed depth to the writing and characters, and even managed to throw in some decent cinematography at the same time.

Sadly, quality films like these ones are exceedingly rare. The large majority of faith-based movies solely exist to share an affirming message to believers, without any regard to the quality of the actual film.

And unfortunately "Overcomer" is no exception.

This movie is ridiculously unfocused, and downright horribly paced. There's so many pointless scenes that should have been left on the cutting room floor, moments that go nowhere and never payoff in any meaningful way.

It's so bad you probably could have cut out about a half hour of this bloated nearly two hour film, without any real loss.

In addition to the over encumbered narrative and horrible editing, the writing somehow manages to be even worse.

The dialogue here is ridiculously wooden and feels completely unnatural coming out of these characters' mouths.

In fact, the only person who's scenes even have a glimpse of emotional resonance come from Cameron Arnett, who plays John Harrison's new found hospital bound friend.

Everyone else could have been replaced with a five and a half foot plank of pressure treated lumber, and you wouldn't have been able to tell the difference.

But of course this is an Alex Kendrick movie. That means writing, directing, and performances always take a backseat to the sermon. After all, he's a pastor first and a filmmaker second.

Instead of people interacting and solving their interpersonal conflicts, they just pray.

Why have your characters deal with the emotion of a teenager not knowing their parents, or a coach worried about his future, or wife concerned her husband's emotional state when you can just pray those feelings away?

After all, this isn't a movie trying to create real characters with relatable problems. It's a message from a pulpit, given a wide release in theaters.

That said, there are a few decent ideas in this movie, and pieces of it could have ended up resulting in an okay sports drama.

For one, I liked the concept of the ending. It's incredibly contrived and could have been better executed, but the idea was solid.

Sadly, any good in this film is buried under a mountain of faith based schmaltz. Not to mention the wooden dialogue, hackneyed writing, and lazy direction.

Filmmakers can make good faith based movies. I've seen them. It can be done. Unfortunately, it seems Alex Kendrick is definitely not one of those filmmakers.

If you don't care about the quality of a movie, and just want to watch a sermon in theaters, you'll probably enjoy this movie just fine. Heck, you might even love it.

But if you're looking for a movie with a Christian message, and you even care a little about the art of filmmaking, you can do so much better.

"Overcomer" is rated PG.

Dave:

Finally, last this week is "The Peanut Butter Falcon."

This film tells the story of Zak (Zack Gottsagen), a young man with Down syndrome, who runs away from a residential nursing home to follow his dream of attending the professional wrestling school of his idol, The Salt Water Redneck (Thomas Haden Church).

A strange turn of events pairs him on the road with Tyler (Shia LaBeouf), a small time outlaw on the run, who becomes Zak's unlikely coach and ally. Together they wind through deltas, elude capture, and convince Eleanor (Dakota Johnson), a kind nursing home employee charged with Zak's return, to join them on their journey.

It's been quite a while since I've seen Shia LaBeouf in a lead role. Truth be told, I've kind of missed seeing him around.

Best known for his performance as Sam Witwicky in the first three "Transformers" movies, lately Shia has been taking a break from big budget action fare and instead exploring smaller, more character driven movies.

And I'm quite grateful he has. He's a talented actor, and nowhere has that been more apparent than in this film.

As the movie itself likes to reference, this is a modern day Mark Twain like story. A tale of two men who want to escape societal norms, each for their own reasons, and along the way develop a very genuine friendship.

You might think that an actor with Down syndrome wouldn't be able to cut it in a full feature film, but Zack Gottsagen is here to prove you completely wrong.

Zack's performance was fantastic. His character was incredibly likeable, and out of everyone in the film he could deliver a punchline like no other. It's no surprise considering the role was written with him in mind, but regardless he did a great job.

Both Shia and Zack are wonderful here. I absolutely loved their dialogue, the chemistry between them felt completely natural, and their interactions together had a very personal, almost primal feeling to it.

Dakota Johnson was also quite good here too.

Frankly I'm just happy to see her in a role which isn't remotely related to "Fifty Shades of Grey," but this really was a great performance from her.

She does a good job of spicing up the dynamic between our two leading men, and her character's concern for Zak comes across as incredibly genuine.

I also have to mention the soundtrack, which was absolutely perfect. The entire movie is filled with bluegrass, folk songs, and even old fashioned spirituals. Songs that really complete the adventurous southern feel of the film.

There's really not much more to say. I loved this movie.

It's a beautifully filmed, well acted, well written, incredibly heartwarming piece of cinema.

If you have the chance, you should by all means watch this film. Frankly, I can't recommend it enough.

"The Peanut Butter Falcon" is rated PG-13.

Tractor Supply Company's fifth annual FFA Convention t-shirt fundraiser launches this week in stores nationwide.

For a limited time only, Tractor Supply customers can purchase a limited edition FFA Convention themed long sleeve t-shirt to celebrate the 92nd National FFA Convention & Expo, which takes place later this fall.

Net proceeds from t-shirt sales will go directly to the National FFA Foundation and will be used to fund programs and activities for FFA chapters across the country.

The limited-edition t-shirt has the official FFA Convention & Expo logo printed across the front, which consists of hexagonal molecules and gold rows.

Customers can purchase the shirt for $12.99 (plus tax) at any Tractor Supply store beginning Thursday, Augist 29. The shirt will also be available to purchase online with an in-store pickup.

"Tractor Supply looks forward to holding the annual FFA Convention t-shirt fundraiser because it spotlights the future leaders of our country who are making their mark on the agriculture industry," said Christi Korzekwa, senior vice president of marketing at Tractor Supply. "Our customers and team members are inspired by FFA's vision to develop leaders, build communities and strengthen agriculture, and this annual fundraiser provides an opportunity for them to continue investing in causes they care about."

Funds raised this year will benefit three FFA programs: Gift of Gold, Living to Serve and Alumni Legacy Grants. This year is the debut year for Gift of Gold, a program that awards grants to chapters devastated by natural disasters.

Living to Serve is a program that empowers students to positively impact their communities through leadership opportunities, and the Alumni Legacy Grants enable local chapters to help local high schools build or strengthen their alumni chapters.

In addition to being sold in Tractor Supply stores, the shirts will be available at the 92nd National FFA Convention & Expo, held October 30-November 2 in Indianapolis. The event is one of the world's largest student conventions, with nearly 70,000 attendees and more than 400 exhibiting companies, that brings FFA members together to inspire their peers and celebrate their many accomplishments.

For more information on the t-shirt fundraiser, call the Purcell store at 527-3525 or visit www.TractorSupply.com/FFA.

If you are a senior at least 60 years of age, I would like to suggest opportunities for sharing lunch with some of our friends and neighbors at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center. We serve lunch at 11:30 a.m. every Monday through Friday, excluding holidays.

Our attendance has dropped a little in the last couple of months, and we would love to see some new faces joining our current group of personalities for lunch. We need to increase participation in order to continue providing meals for our seniors as well as our recipients of home delivered meals.

If you would like to reserve a meal, please call the kitchen in Purcell at 527-9462 and ask for Evelyn or John. It is best to call before 8:30 a.m. to ensure a meal will be available for you.

Also if you know a person at least 60 years old who would like a meal delivered to them, please call either the Wayne or Purcell center.

Our weekly menus are listed in the Purcell Senior Citizens Center article in this week's paper.

Plant a few edible and decorative containers for fall

By Melinda Myers

End the growing season with an extra burst of color and nutrition with a few fall containers. A pot of mums or asters can add color to your front steps and a container filled with kale and greens adds fresh flavor to your fall meals.

But don't stop there. Create attractive potted gardens by combining asters, mums, grasses, cool weather edibles and other fall beauties.

Spruce up an existing container by replacing weather worn annuals with fresh fall favorites.

Pansies, sweet alyssum and dianthus are just a few annuals that hit their stride as cooler weather returns.

Or plant new container gardens for your fall landscape. Just select a pot with drainage holes and fill it with a quality planting mix.

Or upcycle items like a wicker basket, small bushel basket, wooden crate or galvanized tub into a fun fall planter. Just add drainage holes before planting. Or scoop out a pumpkin and set a pot of pansies or ornamental peppers inside.

Use ornamental grasses, kale, black-eyed Susans and Swiss chard for vertical interest. Complement your plantings and containers with garden art, gourds, mini pumpkins and berry-covered branches. Add a mum or aster for a vibrant surge of color.

Include some trailing plants like golden moneywort, trailing

Consider stockpiling forage for winter use

Justin McDaniel
Extension Ag Educator

This year has been tough on hay production. With all of the early rain and now the hot and dry many people may be worried about their hay supplies.

Most of us would like to feed less hay, especially when the snow is blowing and it is freezing outside, so wouldn't it be nice if you could save the cost of one hay harvest a year (around $20-25 a roll) and still have the forage your livestock need for the winter?

There is a way to make this dream a reality. It takes prior planning to make it possible, and conditions will hopefully be right to try to give it a try this year.

If you have the space and the time to devote to management, stockpiling Bermuda grass or even Bahia grass in the pasture can be a great tool for winter feeding. However, like other feeding programs, it takes planning to make it a success.

The key components of a stockpiled forage system are a pasture that can be devoted to growing the grass to be fed later, good fertility, timely rainfall and the patience to utilize the stockpiled forage judiciously during the winter as a supplement to the cow herd.

Those interested in this type of winter program should follow some pointers.

Graze the pasture down to a one- to two-inch height or cut the field for hay around the first week of September, which is approximately eight weeks prior to the historical date of the first anticipated frost in our area.

Mow the field to be stockpiled only as a last resort to keep from building up a layer of decomposing grass in the new growth and to save on labor, equipment and fuel costs.

Apply at least 60 pounds of nitrogen, also phosphorus and potassium can be applied if recommended by a current soil test report.

Wait to graze the stockpiled area until after the first frost.

The goal is to accumulate as much growth as possible in this field while weather conditions will allow. The typical cow herd in our area will require about 30 acres of pasture be devoted to this practice per every 25 cows.

Control access to the stockpiled area by using a movable electric fence that will allow you to graze the field in strips, or by opening and closing gates.

The goal is to make the cows efficiently harvest the forage by manipulating access so that they will graze down only the top two-thirds of the grass - which is the most nutritious - and leave the bottom one-third of the grass - which is mostly low-quality stem - to protect the pasture against winter freeze and help control erosion.

Under good conditions this scenario will provide around 45 to 60 days of grazing. This program has been shown to provide forage with a dry matter protein content of between eight and 14 percent through January, which is more than adequate for the typical dry, pregnant cow.

If grazing is not controlled, cattle are likely to trample the stockpiled grass and selectively graze the higher quality tops down in only about 28 to 35 days.

Once the dormant pasture has been used, cattle can then be switched to pastures that have been overseeded with rye grass or some other winter forage, or wintered on hay.

This program requires having extra stored hay on hand as a backup in case of late summer-early fall drought. Storing this hay that you might not need to feed in a barn allows it to be kept for several winters without an appreciable loss in bale weight or forage quality.

Monitor the cows grazing dormant pasture and add protein or energy supplements if the herd's average body condition starts to decline.

future biotechnology opportunities in our state."

Through the NIH's Autoimmunity Centers of Excellence program, the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases awarded a grant of up to $36 million to a team of OMRF scientists led by Judith James, M.D., Ph.D. OMRF is one of only 10 Autoimmunity Centers of Excellence in the U.S., a designation it has held since 2009.

Projects will focus on improving understanding of and treatments for autoimmune diseases, conditions in which the body's proteins or cells attack its own tissues. Autoimmune illnesses include lupus, rheumatoid arthritis, multiple sclerosis and scores of other illnesses; in total, they affect an estimated 1 in 12 Americans.

OMRF treats more than 3,000 patients suffering from multiple sclerosis, lupus and other autoimmune disorders, and the foundation's physicians will conduct several clinical trials as part of the grant. One of those trials will be the first of its kind in the U.S. to focus on preventing rheumatoid arthritis. Other trials will provide new treatment options for patients with multiple sclerosis and lupus, as well as rarer diseases.

"We're looking for ways to repurpose old drugs to treat autoimmune diseases and improve patients' lives," said James, who serves as Vice President of Clinical Affairs and holds the Lou C. Kerr Endowed Chair in Biomedical Research at OMRF. "These studies will allow us to understand how medications do or don't treat patients' symptoms and to identify subgroups of patients who have the highest likelihood of responding to a given medication."

In the second grant, OMRF researchers led by Mark Coggeshall, Ph.D., will receive $12 million to continue investigations on anthrax and the bacteria's effects on humans.

Since 2004, Coggeshall and his colleagues have studied the human immune response to anthrax bacteria as part of NIH's Cooperative Centers for Human Immunology with the long-term goal of identifying new vaccines and drug targets. The original funding came as a result of the anthrax-laced letters that killed five and sickened 17 on the heels of the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001.

Already, OMRF scientists have identified the part of anthrax that initiates the body's reaction to the bacteria, how it is recognized by the immune system, and how it causes damage. With this new funding, researchers will begin testing therapies that could help treat those who've been exposed to anthrax and other pathogens.

"Inhalation anthrax is a dangerous disease with features similar to severe staph and strep infections," said Coggeshall, who holds the Robert S. Kerr, Jr., Endowed Chair in Cancer Research. "What we've learned in the past 15 years studying anthrax also applies to these other bacterial infections."

"These new NIH awards continue the strong trajectory of biomedical research growth in Oklahoma City," said Congresswoman Kendra Horn, who represents the Fifth District of Oklahoma and spoke at the event. "I'm proud OMRF calls Oklahoma's Fifth Congressional District home. When federal grants can catalyze research that benefits Oklahoma's economy and patients, everybody wins."

Funding for the research is provided by grant numbers 1UM1AI144292-01 and 2U19AI062629-16 from the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, a part of the NIH.

Battle:

who lost her 23-year-old son and his new bride, killed while returning from their honeymoon when a semi-truck driver fell asleep at the wheel. And the Maryland man, whose wife was killed and 12-year-old son permanently disabled when the driver of a triple-tractor trailer on the Ohio Turnpike also fell asleep.

Dan Horvath of the American Trucking Associations said in an interview with FairWarning that the organization needs time to examine the data and research to see if the government's proposals "are going to keep highways as safe as or safer than they currently exist." ATA is the largest national trade association for the trucking industry.

"We are not quick to give an immediate response," said Horvath, vice president of safety policy. "We really do take the time to do a thorough review, to work with our members."

Norita Taylor of the Owner-Operator Independent Drivers Association, which has pressed for the changes, said there is no scheduling rule that is "perfect" for every commercial driver. "The trucking industry is very diverse," she said.

What is a constant, she said, is that commercial drivers must comply with hours of service regulations but their customers do not. "Shippers and receivers can keep them waiting as long as they want, and they do," she said, noting that such delays burn down a driver's allowable work window.

Same with other unexpected hurdles, such as traffic and weather conditions and accidents. "Then they have to race against the clock to meet deliveries and to also stay within compliance," she said.

Taylor also said that "fatigue is very rare" in truck crashes. Recent government statistics show that 60 out of 4,600 drivers of large trucks involved in fatal crashes in 2017 were asleep or fatigued, or about 1.3 percent.

Emotional wreckage

Harry Adler of the Truck Safety Coalition doesn't buy the argument, saying – as the NTSB does – that driver fatigue is almost certainly undercounted as a cause of crashes.

"I would also push back on the folks who say, 'It's only 60 people,'" he said. "I mean, folks, if amongst those 60 people it's your loved one, it's not just 60 people."

In Oklahoma, Linda Wilburn still weeps when she describes her son's death, one week after classes began at Southwestern Oklahoma State University. He planned to become an engineer.

She still wonders if her second son, named after his grandfather, had even a moment to recognize the impending danger.

On impact, both vehicles caught fire. And both drivers died, leaving Orbie's car a tangle of melted and misshapen debris.

"There was just nothing left," said Wilburn, whose family eventually settled a lawsuit with the trucking company.

Her husband, a volunteer firefighter at the time, went to the crash scene to join his coworkers that mild September morning. Gary Wilburn walked by the wreckage several times before suddenly realizing – based on a piece of wheel – that the car might be his son's.

"I vowed early on – the first few days – if there was anything that I could do to prevent this from happening to one other family, I would do it," said Wilburn, a board member for Parents Against Tired Truckers, part of the Truck Safety Coalition.

"The trucking industry has so much money and so many people who can spend their whole career lobbying," she said. "We're a handful. It's hard for us to get the word out."

Woodward native Jo Ogden is enjoying her tenure as Washington Postmaster.

She began her career in her home town where she was a letter carrier for 10 years.

She served as a supervisor at the Mustang Post Office for eight years before taking over at Washington where she has been for nearly a year.

"I was born and raised in Woodward," Mrs. Ogden said. "I married my high school sweetheart and we had two children. And now I have three grandchildren."

lobelia and ivy. Fill any voids with snapdragons, ornamental peppers, colorful greens and coral bells. Just be sure to protect peppers and any other frost-sensitive plants on those chilly nights.

Grow a container of Bright Lights Swiss Chard, colorful leaf lettuce and pansies – the flowers are edible – for an attractive and edible combination.

Make your fall centerpiece an edible part of your gatherings. Fill a metal colander or basket with red dragon arugula, red mizuna mustard, red sails lettuce, bull's blood beets and other colorful greens for your outdoor gatherings.

Test your container designs while shopping. Grab a cart and gather the plants you would like to grow. See if the colors and textures work well together.

The bold leaves of plants like ornamental cabbage contrast with the fine leaves of ornamental grasses to create a focal point.

Repeat colors from the flowers or leaves of one plant to another to unify your planting.

For example, use a purple aster or pink mum to echo the colors of decorative kale, pansies or the colorful leaf stems of Swiss chard.

Set containers on the front steps as a colorful autumn welcome. Group several containers together for a garden of containers to display on the deck, patio or balcony.

This collection of container gardens is sure to brighten your day when relaxing outdoors or enjoying the view from inside the house looking out.

Go one step further and create a stunning autumn display by combining fall planters with gourds, decorative squash and pumpkins. Use corn stalks or broom corn for vertical interest or as a backdrop.

Then include bales of hay to elevate a few of the pots and pumpkins for multiple levels of fall beauty. Dress it up further with sprigs of American bittersweet, grape vines and other fall décor.

A few fall planters can go a long way to help celebrate the transition from summer to winter.

The last blaze of color will warm you as the temperatures start to drop.

Medicaid expansion touted as boon for ex-convicts

By Ray Carter

When advocates discuss expanding Oklahoma's Medicaid welfare program to include able-bodied adults, they typically suggest beneficiaries will be financially struggling individuals just trying to get by.

But at this week's meeting of the special, bicameral Healthcare Working Group, lawmakers discussed how Medicaid expansion would impact a very different group: People who have just re-entered society after being convicted of crimes that sent them to prison.

Under Oklahoma's existing Medicaid program, ex-convicts are typically eligible for Medicaid coverage only if they are aged, disabled, or pregnant.

"If a state were to increase access to health care to 138 percent of the poverty level, it would capture a lot of these discharged people, is that correct?" asked Rep. Marcus McEntire, a Duncan Republican who is co-chair of the group.

"Based on conversations I've had with my counterparts in other states, yes, at least for a period of time once they discharge," said Clint Castleberry, director of health services for the Oklahoma Department of Corrections.

Under federal law, state lawmakers can expand the Oklahoma's Medicaid program to include able-bodied individuals earning up to 138 percent of the federal poverty level. It is estimated that Medicaid expansion would add 628,000 able-bodied adults to state welfare rolls and directly cost Oklahoma taxpayers $374 million annually with additional funding coming from federal tax payments.

With more than 26,000 individuals currently in Oklahoma prisons, and most of those individuals expected to be released at some point, a significant share of those who could qualify for taxpayer-funded health care coverage through Medicaid expansion would be those who have spent time behind bars.

"If an inmate is being discharged, and there's no mental-illness issue, there's no disability issue, they have health-care coverage in prison, but when they get out there's none?" asked Rep. Trish Ranson, D-Stillwater. "That's correct?"

"That is possible," Castleberry said.

With more than 26,000 individuals currently in Oklahoma prisons, and most of those individuals expected to be released at some point, a significant share of those who could qualify for taxpayer-funded health care coverage through Medicaid expansion would be those who have spent time behind bars.

"So then if we were to do a Medicaid expansion, that could capture several individuals in that category up to the point of the 138 percent poverty level," Ranson said. "So they get out of prison, they get a job. Then that could be a transition to the point where once they have a job then hopefully they will be able to afford it."

"Other states that have qualified discharging individuals through the poverty level, that does establish a continuum of care for them up to a certain point in time to where they're employed and begin to move financially beyond that qualifying instance," Castleberry said.

Some lawmakers suggested that giving former inmates taxpayer-funded health coverage would cause them to commit fewer crimes upon their release, including Rep. Cynthia Roe, a Lindsay Republican and nurse.

"I had a couple of distressing situations when I was working at the Lindsay hospital in that we had a couple of inmates—I can specifically remember even the exact rooms they were laying in, because it had such an impact—that they literally violated their parole to come back to prison because they had diagnoses of cancers," Roe said.

"That bothers me a lot that somebody would choose to go back to prison just to get treatment for the cancer they could not get treatment for. So if we had some sort of expansion that could possibly include these inmates that have had cancer diagnoses or some other devastating diagnoses that might not qualify (today) because they're not technically disabled, they're not 65, could some sort of expansion include these inmates so they're not deliberately violating their parole just to go to prison and get treatment? I think there's a lot of moving parts to that," Castleberry said.

"Assuming whatever that expansion was, in terms of what that eligibility criteria is, theoretically there could be a safety net there," he said.

McEntire told lawmakers that a 2018 study, based on inmate self-reporting, suggested that having some form of insurance coverage made former convicts less likely to commit additional crimes and return to prison.

"They report that having the cost relief on health care was really important for them not going back in," McEntire said.

Department of Corrections officials said Ohio, which expanded its Medicaid program to include able-bodied adults, has created a program that helps link convicts to Medicaid upon release. Ohio officials claimed the program would save millions on emergency room visits by those individuals once they were no longer behind prison walls.

Similarly, the state of New York is seeking a waiver to allow it to enroll inmates in Medicaid during the last 30 days before an inmate's release in order to increase the likelihood of those individuals retaining Medicaid coverage after rejoining society.

The New York proposal would be the first of its kind in the nation. As with Ohio, New York officials claimed that providing Medicaid coverage would save state expenses for the provision of routine care in emergency rooms.

However, two reports that examined Medicaid expansion in Oregon found it did not reduce emergency room use and one report found Medicaid recipients were actually more likely to use the emergency room for routine health care than were the uninsured.

If Oklahoma chose not to expand Medicaid to able-bodied adults, McEntire asked if the state could obtain a waiver that allowed expansion of the program only for ex-convicts.

"What if we were to change in our waiver the eligibility requirements for incarcerated folks who have been discharged?" McEntire asked. "I'm just curious. Or would that be discriminatory?"

"You're basically getting into the field of partial expansion, and other states have not been successful in their efforts for that," said Audra Cross, legislative liaison for the Oklahoma Health Care Authority, which administers the Medicaid program.

The overall recidivism rate—the share of convicts who commit additional crimes and are returned to prison after their release—is at or under 25 percent in Oklahoma today, Castleberry said. Janna Morgan, chief mental health officer for the Department of Corrections, said the recidivism rate for former inmates with mental illness is almost double that amount, but said treatment reduces that rate.

However, she said the recidivism rate only falls back to about 25 percent even when mentally ill ex-convicts have access to support programs.

Asian and American Christian Speakers Toastmasters Club

By Xiaoming Hu

Asian & American Christian Speakers Toastmaster Club met August 10 at the National Weather Center in Norman.

Sergeant-at-Arms Paul kicked off the meeting, and we welcomed Lin Shan, a honored visitor to our club.

Joe, the Toastnraster of the Day, introduced his Support Staff; Jin-Song gave the Word of the Day; Expected, Paoia served as Timer. Jin-Song served as the Ah Counter and Grammarian and the humorist, and Xiaomin served as the ballot counter.

Paul, as the Table Topics Master, asked three interesting questions about seasons. Xiaomin described the beautiful spring season in his hometown and enccuraged us to enjoy different seasons in various regions by traveling and talking with people.

Lin talked about what she would like to share with an alien friend about the seasons on Earth. Harley shared the reasons of New Year holiday as his favorite holiday season because it represents a new beginning.

Two excellent prepared speeches were delivered. Xiaolan talked about her travel to the Yellowstone National Park, where she enjoyed seeing the unique geological features and a variety of wild animals. She showed us some video and pictures of the Old Faithful hot spring and the Grand Canyon of Yellowstone, which made us want to travel to the famous park as well.

Xiao-Ming reminded us about his trip to China with his daughter, Eva. He enjoyed lots of delicious food, had a lot of fun, met old friends and made new friends. Most importantly, he taught young meteorologists in China in a summer camp conducted in Xinjiang. He told us the experience in Toastmaster clubs made him feel confident to be a good teacher and speaker.

Paul hosted the evaluation session during which Harley and Joe gave praises and suggestions to further polish the above prepared speeches. After the meeting, Joe explained the eruption theory of Old Faithful by drawing a schematic diagram. How brilliant he is!

Best Table Topic Master: Lin Shan; Best Evaluator: Harley Bromley; Best Speaker: Xiao-Ming Hu.

We are looking forward to the next meeting on August 23.

Asian & American Christian Speakers meet every second and fourth Saturday (first and third in November and December) from 9:45 to 11:30 a.m. in the National Weather Center conference room in Norman.

The Horseman's Corner

by Nova Boyd

2019 National Reining Horse Association Derby

The National Reining Horse Association held the 51st annual Derby from June 15-June 23 at State Fair Park in Oklahoma City. The Derby showcases some of the most talented 4, 5, and 6 year old horses and riders, plus special classes for 7-year-old horses, all trying for their part of the $181,000 added money. Thousands of horses, exhibitors and spectators travel to Oklahoma City each year from all over the world to compete, watch, and shop the large trade show.

This show and the Futurity held in November are the two largest and most prestigious shows that the NRHA holds yearly, and they draw exhibitors from all over the world. Economic impact of this show is as follows: (# horses x 3.5 people per horse) X (# days of show plus haul-in and haul-out days x $325 per day). Therefore: (792 horses x 3.5 = 2772 people) X (11 days x $235 = $2585) = $7,165,620 pumped directly into the OKC area economy.

And you can bet that some of those exhibitors spent some of their money here in our Heart of Oklahoma horse country, as many come early to tune-up with their trainers just before the show, and that means they spend some money here. They eat, buy gas, visit Wal-Mart, convenience stores and more. This is the time of year that you can hear many different languages spoken if you listen closely where you eat out.

Members of the NRHA Youth association from around the country participated in events held just for them during the Derby. Members met each day to create a craft, play bingo, make new friends and competed in a scavenger hunt.

They put their speaking skills to the test as competitors vied to talk their way to the top in the Speaking Contest. Competitors had the choice of entering three different categories, including General, Prepared Public Speaking, and a Community Service Presentation. Categories were divided into age groups 13 and Under and 14-18. An Art and Photo Contest was also available.

Pro Management, Byars, owned by Cheryl Cody, assumed the management of the NRHA Derby and Futurity the first of this year. NRHA wanted to put show management in the hands of people experienced with big shows and high stakes and do it every day.

Pro Management currently manages three of the top NRHA-approved shows each year, including the National Reining Breeders Classic, the Tulsa Reining Classic, and the Southwest Reining Horse Association Futurity. Cody's organization also managed the reining at the 2018 FEI World Equestrian Games in Tryon, North Carolina.

The National Reining Horse Association proudly hosts and sponsors the Interscholastic Equestrian Association Western National Finals. On Saturday, riders in grades six through 12 competed for individual National Championships in Western Horsemanship and Reining.

The IEA used a draw-based format for the competition, where riders randomly select the horses they will compete on just minutes before entering the show arena. More than $9,000 in college scholarship awards were presented to qualifying high school seniors.

In addition to the IEA competition, the Derby also hosts the Intercollegiate Reining Championships each year. Four representatives from the NRHA, the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association, and the National Collegiate Equestrian Association compete on horses they've never ridden before. They are able to watch the horses show an example of each maneuver in a 15-minute warm-up under their owner or trainer. The collegiate exhibitors only get to ride the horses for five minutes before entering the show pen.

One of the judges for the show was Purcell/Washington's own Doug Milholland, Milholland Training, Washington.

Following are results for area trainers, owners, non-pros and youth:

Coaches Mentoring Challenge endorsed here

Heart of Oklahoma coaches are among the 699 Oklahoma coaches from 204 communities participating in the fifth annual Oklahoma Coaches Mentoring Challenge, a campaign to encourage Oklahomans to mentor young people in their communities.

The 2018-19 campaign was kicked off with endorsements from OSU Head Football Coach Mike Gundy and OU Head Football Coach Lincoln Riley in collaboration with state mentoring organizations and the Boren Mentoring Initiative, a program of the Oklahoma Foundation for Excellence.

Heart of Oklahoma coaches participating include Nick Price, assistant football and basketball coach, Dibble Public Schools; J.D. Beck, head basketball coach, Jared Ennis, head baseball coach, and Van Kinchen, head cross country and basketball and track coach, Lexington Public Schools; and James Lampkin, head golf coach, Washington Public Schools.

During the campaign, coaches from public and private elementary and secondary schools, as well as many colleges and universities in Oklahoma stepped up to endorse mentoring.

Prospective mentors can learn about volunteer opportunities on the campaign website at www.okcoacheschallenge.org.

"We are grateful to the many coaches who have lent their voices in a unified call for youth mentors in Oklahoma," said Beverly Woodrome, director of the Boren Mentoring Initiative. "As natural and group mentors, coaches know firsthand the impact that a mentor can have on the academic, social, emotional and economic futures of our young people. Mentoring is critical to the future of our state, providing workforce and quality-of-life development.

"Coaches consistently tell me they see students who are not involved in sports or organized school activities who would benefit from a mentor," Woodrome added. "By endorsing the Coaches Mentoring Challenge, they are sending a message that they value mentoring and see a critical need for more volunteers to spend an hour a week mentoring young people in their communities."

The Coaches Mentoring Challenge began in 2008 as a friendly competition between mentoring advocates Coach Tom Osborne of the University of Nebraska and Coach Bill Snyder at Kansas State University. Since then, many coaches from universities, colleges and secondary schools around the country have signed up to endorse mentoring.

According to MENTOR, the National Mentoring Partnership, it is estimated that one in three young people is in need of a mentor – someone to listen, to encourage and to set a positive example.

One of the greatest challenges facing mentoring programs in Oklahoma is the shortage of volunteers. Mentors are needed to serve young people from Pre-K through young adults in college and Career Tech.

For more information, visit www.okcoacheschallenge.org or contact Woodrome at (405) 590-4063.

Purcell Senior Citizens

By Fredda Perry

Looks like the cool and warm weather are having a hard time figuring out what time of year it really is. The rain was wonderful and the flowers and lawns look great. Of course, that means we will have to mow again. I want to remind the seniors to be careful in the afternoon when temperatures reach the high 90s and be sure to stay hydrated.

If you don't have any place cool to go, the senior center is open until 3 p.m. in the afternoon. There have been seniors playing cards and dominoes in the afternoon and the pool table has been getting some use.

We want the people to feel free to stay and play after lunch is served. The center is open until 3 p.m. every day except Friday at which time we set up for the Friday night dance. The dance is every Friday night from 6:30-9:30 p.m. The ticket charge is $6 per person.

The senior citizens have a special group we would like to recognize this week. The Mission Kids donated to the seniors a very nice sum of money. The seniors really appreciate this contribution. We have had several new members join us this week. We are always glad to have new members join us.

We love having guests for lunch. If you are planning to eat with the seniors, it is imperative to call and make a reservation by 8 a.m. that day or the afternoon before.

If you do not have a reservation you will have to wait until all the people who have a reservation are fed. Call Evelyn or John at 527-9462 to make a reservation. If there is no answer call 527-5070. This is an alternate number so please use the 527-9462 number first.

The senior garage sale for this week will be Thursday, August 29, and Friday, August 30. It will start at 8 a.m. and last until 3 p.m. There are always new items which have been brought in for the sale.

Lately there have been some items left on the carport at the senior building. We ask if you need to leave something over the weekend, you call 990-1840 and let someone meet you before you just dump it.

We have several August birthdays. We will be honoring Grant Frankenberg, Bonnie Lowe, Alice Leslie, Evelyn Shaw and Katie Shea.

If you need a place for a special celebration, birthday party, family reunion or any type of class, check out the senior center. Call the center at 527-5070 and ask for Fredda or Hester.

Menu for the week of September 2-6:

Monday—Closed for Labor Day.

Tuesday—Goulash, green beans, peaches, sugar cookies.

Wednesday—Cheeseburger, potato chips, macaroni salad, bun, frosted brownie.

Thursday—Blackeyed peas with ham and sliced onions, tomato spoon relish, coleslaw, cornbread, margarine, chocolate pan pie.

Friday—Barbecue chicken, oven roasted potatoes, pea salad, hot roll, margarine, choice of gelatin with topping.

Thought for the Week: Let whatsoever you do today be enough.

HealthCorps coordinator starts semester at PHS

HealthCorps, a national health and wellness nonprofit, founded by Dr. Mehmet Oz and Lisa Oz, is pleased to announce the addition of Living Labs coordinator Jaclyn Miller to its team.

She will serve as HealthCorps Coordinator to Purcell High School.

Miller, a native of Quinton, Okla., graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a Bachelor's in Health and Exercise Science.

Miller will use HealthCorps research and public health data to create a wellness program that is uniquely suited to the needs of the community.

"My favorite part about working for HealthCorps is being able to make a positive impact in the lives of students who are going to be the adults of tomorrow. I look forward to this school year," Miller said.

As a HealthCorps Coordinator, Miller will commit to HealthCorps for two years and facilitate the HealthCorps' skills-based curriculum (fitness, nutrition, mental strength, and personal health) at her schools throughout the school year while developing a strong relationship with school personnel and officials to deliver the HealthCorps components. She will convene and engage with the school wellness council.

Miller will help extend HealthCorps' message beyond the classroom by organizing health events such as health fairs, parent and teacher outreach events, lunch time demonstrations, and an after-school cooking club.

She will also serve as a mentor and role model to the students.

Thursday's scrimmage moved

At Blanchard starting at 6 p.m.

The scrimmage with Blanchard that was originally scheduled to be here has been moved to Blanchard this Thursday night.

Conger Field remains under construction with crews working on installing the artificial turf.

"It's going to look good when it's finished," the coach said. Purcell used its first scrimmage of the season to determine what areas they need to work on prior to the start of the regular season.

Head coach Tracy Scott said he saw some good things at Anadarko last Friday and saw some things that need to be worked on.

"We looked pretty good," he said. "Anadarko is huge up front and physi-

Defense was the name of the game for Washington's Warriors in their first scrimmage action of the season.

The Warriors hosted Pauls Valley last Friday night and faced the unconventional wishbone offense.

"You don't see it that much but from our freshmen all the way through the varsity we did a really good job of just being aggressive and physical," Washington Head Coach Brad Beller said.

"We wanted to see who can tackle," the coach continued. "For the most part we were disciplined with our assignments."

Aside from some bumps and bruises the Warriors came out of the scrimmage healthy.

Final scrimmage of 2019 campaign

Lexington's football team will play its second scrimmage of the season at 6 p.m. tonight (Thursday) at Bridge Creek.

Last week, Lexington entertained both Lone Grove and Marietta at home.

"It was a nice solid scrimmage for us," Lexington head coach Dale Berglan said. "We had a lot of reps with all of our kids.

"Both schools came to our place and it worked out well for us. We were pretty generic last week. We worked on some base stuff and ironed some things out.

Dragons stay hot, now 7-1

John D. Montgomery

Purcell won three out of four softball games it played in the Murray County Bash last weekend hiking the Dragons' season record to 7-1.

The lone loss was a narrow 1-0 at the hands of Byng, a team the Dragons had knocked off 2-1 to open the weekend.

Purcell posted a 4-3 victory over Davis and handed Washington a 7-4 setback.

In the victory over Byng, Katelynn Carwile, Sunny Sanders and Chelsea Spain each went 1-2 at the plate. Carwile fanned six Lady Pirates in the circle.

Sandra Del Toro stepped up big for the Dragons in the bottom of the second launching a ball over the fence for the other Dragon run.

"It was a weird start to the tournament," head coach Sarah Jones said. "We didn't have the momentum I wish we had.

"Byng is a good team and it was a good 4A match up," Jones continued. "We have been swinging the bat so well, four hits seems like nothing, but it worked."

> We were all a little shocked when they said time is out. It was our first loss. We just have to flush it, forget it and move on.
> — Sarah Jones, head coach

Jones said she was hoping the home run by Del Toro would jump start the offense but it didn't.

Spain's hit was a double in the bottom of the fourth. She was bunted over to third and senior Addie Stanton's squeeze bunt brought Spain home.

Purcell swung the sticks better against Davis collecting nine hits.

Carwile and Fleming were both 2-2. Sanders, Hannah Buchanan, Del Toro and Khia Tyler all had a hit in the game.

"We hit the ball really well. We just couldn't string them together," the coach said.

Stanton got the offense started with a

Warriors still sport solid 8-5 record

Washington picked up four more wins this past week to run their season record to 8-5.

They began District play this week.

"We need to get out on a good run with District play this week," said Washington Head Coach Jace Brewer.

Washington started off with a 5-4 win over Bridge Creek.

"Bridge Creek played really well and it was a good ball game," Brewer said. "We came up with big hits and just played well enough to win."

The Warriors picked up a big win over Dale on Tuesday, knocking off the Pirates 6-2.

Washington was in control of the game from the early innings.

Dale score their two runs late and were mostly inconsequential.

"It was a big win," Brewer said.

The coach praised the efforts of Maggie Place.

"Maggie threw it really well," Brewer said.

Murray County Bash

Washington kicked off the Murray County Bash with a 8-1 win over Norman High School on Thursday.

Part of the tournament was actually played in Washington due to heavy rains in the Sulphur/Davis area.

They followed the early win with a 6-2 loss at the hands of Sulphur.

"Sulphur is really good," Brewer said.

Friday Washington again met Norman High School and handed them a 6-1 defeat.

That game was followed by another face off with Sulphur, who again defeated Washington. This time it was a 6-2 decision.

Washington then played Purcell on Saturday, coming out on the losing end of a 7-4 final.

The Warriors were dealing with the loss of the talents of Kaydence Andrews, who Lexington's fast-pitch team is still getting its feel for the competition. The Lady 'Dawgs split two games last Saturday at the Plainview Tournament. They beat the host Plainview Lady Indians 7-4 before losing to the Valliant Lady Bulldogs, 4-2.

Against Plainview, Lexington (2-3) used a four-run fourth inning to secure the victory. The big hit of the frame was provided by Anna Sample, who clouted a grand slam home run.

In all, the 'Dawgs had eight hits. Besides Sample's grand slam, Emilee Jenks went 2-for-2 with a double, two runs scored and two runs batted in. Maddy Pack had an RBI single. Hannah Robbins had two safeties while Kaylee Fink contributed a single and Cora Vazquez provided a double in the game.

"We still didn't play our best," said Lexington head coach Kayla Stewart, "but our bats kept us in the game. Anna Sample had a big grand slam to help us take the lead.

The Wayne Lady Bulldogs practically lived on the field last week as they played six games in the Ninnekah tournament.

Though they fell to Ninnekah, 7-6 to kick off the tournament, they came back through the losers bracket with wins over Alex, Calumet, Bray-Doyle and Okarche.

The Lady Bulldogs fell to Apache 11-2 to be knocked out of the tournament.

"Overall, we hit well. Our defense let us down in our two losses. We let errors snowball on us and they had big innings before we could get anything stopped," head coach Braiden Black said.

"Everyone worked in these games. We were good on bases, patient at the plate and didn't force anything."

Sophomore Haiden Parker was the mainstay in the circle for the Lady Bulldogs.

"I think we're still building as a team. When we play good defense we're a good team," Black said.

Wayne hosted Marietta and Healdton on Monday and came away with two more wins.

Boasting a 6-4 victory, the Lady Bulldogs had 13 hits in their win over the Lady Indians.

"On days when our pitchers and our defense are struggling, it's good to have our bats help us out."

Izzy Pack went one inning and gave up two earned runs on one hit. She struck out two Plainview hitters but she was kind of wild as she walked four batters.

Fink pitched three innings and gave up two earned runs on four hits – two of them home runs. But, she struck out three and walked none.

Against Valliant, Lexington's offense shut down. They had only four hits in the game. Singles by Pack, Vazquez and Lindsey Barber and a solo home run from Sample were the highlights for the offense.

Meanwhile, Valliant had 11 hits off Fink, who struck out four hitters.

Valliant held Lexington scoreless until the final inning, when the Lady 'Dawgs scored twice in the sixth.

"We didn't make adjustments early enough in the game at the plate," Stewart said. "Valliant had a good day defensively and they were making plays on balls that we hit hard.

"We killed ourselves on the bases, giving them three double-play opportunities. For us, we have to do all the little things right and when we don't, the outcome usually doesn't go our way."

Lexington played at 5 p.m. on Tuesday at district-foe Riverside (3-4), weather permitting. The Lady 'Dawgs will play at 5 p.m. today (Aug. 29) at home against Community Christian School (4-6).

Freshman Lauren Holmes moved her to second on a sharp hit to the second baseman.

Tyler cracked a great shot to left center and then swiped second giving the Dragons runners at second and third.

Carwile stepped up and lined a screamer to center giving the Dragons the 4-3 margin.

"It was a good win because we really had to work for it," Jones said.

Junior Brook Fleming struck out five Lady Wolves.

"I thought Brook and Katelynn both pitched great," Jones said.

"We had a lot of intensity going into the second game with Byng under the lights," the coach noted. "We out-hit them 6-3 but they were able to scrape one across.

"A couple things didn't go our way and hopefully we all learn, myself included, about getting through and pushing through when adversity hits.

"If we hadn't been on a time limit and had one more inning, I know we would have come through," she said. "We were all a little shocked when they said time is out. It was our first loss. We just have to flush it, forget it and move on."

The Dragons came out swinging and jumped on Washington early.

The match up versus Washington is always a good one. Good games and good competition," Jones said.

"Our base running was phenomenal. We switched the lineup around a bit and it worked in our favor. We have power and speed throughout the lineup and everyone did a great job getting their job done."

Sanders and Carwile both had a pair of hits while Fleming, Del Toro, Spain and Holmes all had hits.

Buchanan spanked her first home run of the season while Fleming and Carwile shared time in the circle. They combined to strike out six on only 83 pitches.

Purcell is 7-1 and 2-0 in district play.

Weather was the big winner for the first part of this week.

District contests with Bishop McGuinness on the road and at home versus Bethel were both called off due to weather.

Purcell is scheduled to play at Tecumseh today (Thursday).

will be out of action for a week.

"Kaydence is out and that hurt us," Brewer said.

Washington is still looking for competitiveness from players, according to Brewer.

"No one is really playing consistent ball," he said. "Sometimes we walk onto the field and think we can beat people just because of who we are. If we can consistently compete we'll be alright but competing is our biggest issue right now."

Brewer is still looking for the right order and said he will keep trying different players until he finds the right combination.

"We have to figure some things out," he said. "We're on a carousel of finding the right lineup and we have a ton of options on who we can play."

Washington opened District play this week. On the schedule for the Warriors were Meeker, Heritage Hall and Jones.

"We need to get off on a good run with District play and go from there," Brewer said. "We just have to figure some things out."

three hits.

"We didn't have many strikeouts so we had to earn every single one of our runs against Marietta," Black said.

Parker was once again in the circle and did well to limit time on base for the Lady Indians, according to the coach.

Next up was Healdton and Wayne came away with a 3-2 win.

According to the coach, this was a clean defensive game with hardly any mistakes.

Kaylee Madden, Kaylee Keeler and Walck each boasted hits in the win. Wayne also had seven walks.

Parker pitched and struck out two.

"We played two good games in a row and I'm proud of the girls for continuing to work and play through," Black said.

Wayne was scheduled to travel to Central Marlow on Tuesday, but games were cancelled due to weather. They travel to Bray-Doyle for a three-way with Alex and the Lady Donkeys.

"They're going to try to run the ball right down your throat," he said.

Elmore City's quarterback is just a sophomore but is a savvy football player.

Wayne will try to stop the Badger run game and alter Elmore City's approach on offense.

"We'll try to get them against the chains and into some longer yardage situations where they have to throw the ball when they don't want to," he said.

Defensively Elmore City will run a 4-3 defense and will continue the physical play with their front seven.

"If our offensive line can get after them we think we can have some success," Sharp said. "But if we miss assignments it will be a long night."

Scrimmage

Wayne scrimmaged at CCS last Friday for their first time to play against fresh bodies this season.

"It was pretty good," Sharp said. "We were competing, going hard and the effort was there. The defense was getting to the football."

Aside from a couple busts on defense Wayne made a pretty good showing for the first time out of the box.

The defensive busts were because of players being out of position and Sharp said they can correct those problems.

"We need to stay in gaps and understand leverage," he said. "Once we get those figured out we'll be okay."

Offensively Wayne had success against the Royals.

"We drove the ball and executed pretty well," he said. "They were methodical drives."

Kickoff for Wayne and Elmore City is set for 7 p.m. in Elmore.

The Wednesday evening adult Bible class studied from the eighth chapter of Second Corinthians where the apostle Paul encouraged the the church at Corinth to complete the contribution they were planning to make to poor Christians and mentions some of those who would be be accompanying him as they took the contribution to those it is for.

The Sunday morning adult Bible class looked at the short letter the apostle Paul wrote to the church in Ephesus where he discusses a number of subjects including his ministry to the Gentiles, unity in Christ and an exhortation to live a Godly life.

During the Sunday morning assembly Keith Shackleford asked the question "is my name written there?" The lesson presented several examples of people whose names would and would not be written in the book of life beginning with the reading of Hebrews 12:23.

Those whose name would not be written there included a young ruler (Matthew 19:16-22), the rich man who refused to help Lazarus (Acts 7:19:31) and a number of categories of people who do not follow the teachings of Christ. Some of those whose names would be written there include Enoch (Genesis 5:24 and Hebrews 11:15), Lazarus (Acts 7:19:31) and Paul (Second Timothy 4:6-8) .

The Sunday evening sermon message was a review of the letter to the Ephesians and the message contained there.

Bible classes begin at 9:45 a.m. Sunday morning and 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, with worship at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Bible study correspondence courses are available. You can call the office at 527-4052.

Lick that calf again!

About a decade ago, I heard the great motivational speaker Zig Ziglar tell a memorable story that contained a powerful lesson. He was speaking at Dallas' Reunion Arena in front of several thousand motivation enthusiasts, including a group of students whom I had taken to hear the iconic speaker.

I'll never forget how Mr. Ziglar owned the stage that day, bouncing around with the vigor of a teenager, telling story after story about his life experiences.

This particular story was from when he was a boy after his family had just moved from Alabama to rural Mississippi. One day when he was about 10, his mama told him to go outside and hoe the garden.

He grabbed the hoe and did as he was told, without complaint. After about half an hour – maybe she had been watching him from the window – she came out to inspect his work. He described the sad scene with the classic Zig Ziglar chuckle:

"I knew the inspection wasn't going to go the way I wanted," he laughed, "just by the way my mama was walking on the way out there. Whenever I did a shabby job of something, she'd always put her hands behind her back as she walked; and she'd shake her head the whole way."

Sure enough, that day she threw her hands behind her and was shaking her head before she had taken ten steps toward the garden. Things did not look up for Zig once she got sight of his work, either. She took one look at the halfway-tilled garden, grimaced, and with a scowl, said, "Son, you've got to lick this calf again."

He knew what it meant, but he still protested.

"What do you mean, Mama?"

"I mean you've got to do this job again. You can do better than that."

"But, Mama," Zig protested again, "most mamas don't make their sons do any better job than this!"

"That may be," snapped his mama, "but you're not 'most mamas' son."

With that, she turned and walked away from the garden just the way she had walked out to it.

For the record, the son of this particular Mississippi mama sweated a good while longer in the garden that day, licking that calf again.

Debbie Clark sang "Unworthy" for the Sunday morning special. Brother Dennis used 1 Thessalonians 1:1-10 for his sermon. Paul's letter told the believers how to live a pure life in times of immorality. These Gentiles were important to God because He chose them. Paul told them to not cease their work of faith, their labor of love, or their perseverance in waiting for the Son from heaven.

The evening message was from II Timothy 4:9-12. Paul, in a Roman prison, realized his time was growing short and he had a need for encouragement. Demas, Crescens, and Titus were no longer with him. He asked Timothy to come to Rome, along with Mark, to aid in his ministry.

On September 6, we will be singing at Sunset Estates nursing home at 10 a.m. That afternoon, we will be feeding the Purcell High School band before their home game with Lindsay. It has been our pleasure to do this for several years. We ask God's blessing on these young people and their instructors throughout the school year.

On September 8, we will be having our annual Grandparents Day service during our morning worship. Our children will be doing a special presentation of singing, a puppet show, and recitation of the beatitudes. There will be a lunch following the service. Everybody is invited to attend.

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Fr. Jim Chamberlain

Big challenges can be overcome in by taking small steps

The Bible is a collection of stories. It is a collection of stories about how God acts in our lives.

These stories are about real people who had experiences of God's love in tangible ways. Our children are starting school this week or last week. They will be facing new challenges – a new teacher, meeting new friends, learning again how to focus attention for a period of time.

Some challenges will be more substantial. For example, one student really struggles with math. Another student is being bullied by a classmate. Perhaps just the act of being still for a full hour in class is a challenge for some.

From the stories of the Bible, there are several ways in which God helps us meet a big challenge.

In rare cases, God may send an angel to help us out. St. Peter was once put in jail for preaching the Gospel. But God sent an angel during the night to open the doors and give him freedom. (Acts 12:3-19) As Abraham and Mary Magdalene can attest, oftentimes the angel looks just like another person!

Sometimes it is another person that will come to help us. Jeremiah was a prophet who spoke God's word. God's word is always true, but sometimes people don't want to hear it. So Jeremiah was thrown into a deep water well – muddy, cold, and damp. He could have died there. But a friend, a person who believed in God, went to the king and asked that Jeremiah be set free. (Jer. 38:4-10)

So sometimes God will send an angel or another person to help us when we need help.

But there are other times in which we have to meet the challenge completely on our own. Before he was king, David was just a little shepherd boy when the army of Israel was faced off against the giant, Goliath. What did David do to conquer the giant? He used little stones in his little slingshot. Stone by

Our next Food Give-Away will be on Saturday, September 21, between 12 and 4 p.m. Don't be embarrassed if you and your family need help with having enough to eat. If you know of someone else who needs food, please bring them with you. It is first-come, first-served, and there is plenty for all!

Last Sunday, our guest speaker was Leon Wilson. He based his sermon on James 1:2-5. "Consider it pure joy, my brothers and sisters, whenever you face trials of many kinds, because you know that the testing of your faith produces perseverance. Let perseverance finish its work so that your work may be mature and complete, not lacking anything. If any of you lacks wisdom, you should ask God, who gives generously without finding fault, and it will be given to you."

In our reading about the Israelites, we find they often assumed that, because they were God's "chosen" people, they would have a "free pass." To their surprise, God pointed out to them that being chosen by God meant that more was expected of them. They were expected to face life's challenges with perseverance since Yahweh would be with them in all the situations they would face and help them gain the victory in God's name.

Being chosen by God was an honor that should bring them joy instead of complaining and whining, "Why us, O Lord?" God answers, "Why? Because you, my children, are chosen by God and are to be an example to the world."

We see the same thing with Jesus's disciples. They thought that things would be smooth sailing because they were Jesus's chosen ones. But the reality was very different: they would be persecuted, flogged, imprisoned, even killed. And yet, they grew to understand that being chosen really meant that they were to face these trials and tribulations with rejoicing and to see that this was an honor instead of punishment.

In the reading from James, he gives us the command, "Consider it nothing but joy" when we face trials and then gives us a reason for that command. Facing trials tests our faith, much like soldiers go through basic training to test their physical and mental strengths and their own limitations in order to face combat. Testing our faith produces endurance and perseverance "so that we may continue to mature as Christians, lacking nothing."

However, James doesn't mean that we are to go around singing and rejoicing every time we face trials and temptations. He doesn't mean that we should celebrate when we are in pain, when our hearts are breaking, when our prayers are unanswered, when we lose a loved one—we're human after all and find it difficult to count our blessings in these situations.

Instead James tells us to be joyous because we know that this testing of our faith produces endurance and to let that endurance act fully on us so that we will become mature and complete, lacking nothing.

Pure joy doesn't just happen. It requires work on our part: coming to church; reading the Word; hearing preaching on the Word; seeking wise counsel from godly people; going to God in prayer. It is in the time of trials that we need to lean on God, to talk, to yell, to cry to God, to share our pain, our joy, our struggles with God.

In doing these things, we align our hearts with God's heart, and we will have the faith, hope, and strength to persevere and endure all the trials that we face.

We need to change our minds from thinking that trials and troubles are sent as punishment. God isn't sadistic and mean, getting a perverse enjoyment out of our pain and suffering. Instead, God uses them to mature and increase our faith.

Trials of many kinds make us a better person in Christ when we allow God to mold us and shape us through these trials. We come to know God more fully. We internalize who Jesus Christ is to us when our world is collapsing.

We draw comfort from the Holy Spirit when our heart is in a hundred pieces. We come to understand the role of faith more after it has been tested. Each experience increases our faith and our trust in God. As James tells us, a person who trusts God, no matter the trial or test, will become perfectly complete in their faith. Amen!

Come as you are to enjoy fellowship with us. We begin worship at 9:30 a.m., with Sunday school following at 10:45 a.m. Our address is 631 East Ash, near Lexington High School. For more information, please call the church at 527-3506 to leave a message or contact Pastor David Cook directly at (405) 406-6174.

Ride 'em cowboy

This clown wasn't going to get very far with his ride last Friday night at the McClain County Heart of Oklahoma rodeo.

Johnson Road Baptist Church

The recent news at Johnson Road includes the home going of our faithful member, Bob Wallace, the return of James Mayo from a vacation in the Colorado Mountains, the second chemo therapy for our home health nurse Ellen Tooley, arrival of Nathan Westerman in South Korea and the good news that Henry Ketchum didn't break any bones in his latest fall.

The Wallace Family remembered Bob Wallace with a beautiful gravestone in the Rosedale Cemetery.

The United States Air Force gave Nathan Westerman a free plane ride to Dallas, Seattle, Japan and South Korea and put him on the work line the day he arrived overseas.

No one ever knows what impression they make on others. Recently a man said to me, "I remember you coming onto our drilling rig floor." He even remembered the jacket he was wearing that day.

The years have passed since the young man was a roughneck on a United Drilling rig. Since that day, the young man has become a highly respected drilling superintendent. After all these years, he remembers the day we met.

There have been a few power outages in Purcell recently. For those city residents who might complain, have patience! The power outages are nothing compared to the years when the color of our city water was sometimes reddish and far from clear. Thank God for the community leaders that labored to secure good water from the water table east of Lexington.

Special music for worship was provided by Abygail Mayo and Gynean Gentry.

The scripture for the morning sermon was taken from John 3:27-36. The disciples reported to John the Baptist that Jesus had baptized some believers. They saw it as an encroachment on John's ministry.

John set the record straight, "Jesus is the Master, he must increase; I must decrease." John never tried to compete with Jesus. John wasn't a mathematician, but he knew the mathematical equation that leads to heaven. Life + Jesus = Heaven.

If you take Jesus out of the equation of life, you will not solve the big problems and you will miss gaining a home in heaven. There are multiple words and actions that you can insert into the equation, but none will admit an individual to heaven.

Our personality, our marriage, our family, our activities, our business world, our politics and our entire life are influenced by Jesus.

Paul said it best: "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain." Philippians 1:21

The rich and poor are always welcome to attend Sunday morning services at Johnson Road Baptist Church. We need some more families to fill our empty pews.

Sermon title for this Sunday is "Two Word Sermons by Jesus."

The weekly prayer meeting is a one hour session of prayer and Bible study that begins at 6 p.m.

Mark Brown will conclude our study of the Book of Revelation this Wednesday.

Sunday morning worship begins at 11 a.m.

OLV:

stone, he knocked down the terrible giant.

This is a lesson for all of us. When something is very big in front of us – something big and challenging and frightening – we should take the challenge little by little. If we do it this way, then we can conquer the big challenge.

A big project is easier if we can break it up into smaller pieces. A difficult person in our life can become easier to live with when we do small acts of love on their behalf each day. A big sin can be overcome by taking one day at a time, avoiding the temptations that lead us into that sin. Over time, the avoidance becomes easier.

I keep a pouch of stones in my prayer corner. It reminds me of the little stones that were used by David to conquer the giant. I, too, can conquer the big challenges in my life by taking small steps. With God's help and a bit of patience, all of us can conquer these big challenges.

The St. Vincent de Paul Society has started a fundraiser to aid the poor and the needy. Lovely "soup in a jar" gifts can be purchased and given to loved ones or used at home.

We welcome all visitors to our Sunday services! Our weekly Mass schedule is Saturday at 5 p.m. (English), Sunday at 11 a.m. (English) and 1 p.m. (Spanish). All are welcome to join our parish family!

MATC wins Pacesetter Award

Receiving the 2019 Gene Bottoms Pacesetter School Award from the SREB on behalf of Mid-America Technology Center were Erin Richardson, Malachi Blaxton, Dara Trent, Mike Eubank and Angela Humbolt.

Mid-America Technology Center Wins Pacesetter Award

Mid-America Technology Center is the winner of a 2019 Gene Bottoms Pacesetter School Award from the Southern Regional Educational Board.

MATC was honored at SREB's Making Schools Work Conference in Baltimore, Md.

Pacesetter School Awards recognize schools that are implementing one of SREB's Making Schools Work school improvement frameworks and are achieving success in meeting bold goals related to increases in student graduation rates, readiness for college or careers, and credential attainment.

Using strategies learned at previous summer conferences and SREB's Technology Centers That Work school improvement framework, MATC faculty pinpointed areas for improvement.

Low attendance was identified as an opportunity for growth.

MATC found that teachers who taught new content every day had higher attendance. Classes were held with uninterrupted teaching time that was free of competing activities. Faculty also built stronger relationships with parents, leading to a decrease in absenteeism.

To successfully combat low retention between first- and second-year enrollment, Mid-America enrolled students in classes based on their career interests instead of on a first-come, first-served basis.

The center added new processes for academic probation, special education and soft skills development, and adopted new career pathways.

The Making School Work Conference brings together educators from schools that are implementing the instructional strategies of SREB's school improvement programs.

These schools have increased their focus on quality career and technical education by redesigning assignments around projects that integrate academic and technical knowledge and skills.

The Southern Regional Education Board works with states and educators to improve public education at every level, from early childhood through postsecondary education.

Learn more about SREB at sreb.org.

Wild horse adoption

An open house event at the Pauls Valley Wild Horse and burro Adoption Facility will be held September 13-14.

Head out to the wild horse event in Pauls Valley

The Bureau of Land Management will hold an open house event at the Pauls Valley Wild Horse and Burro Adoption Facility on September 13-14.

The two-day event, featuring 50 wild horses, will begin at 10 a.m. on Friday, September 13. Adoptions will be held from noon-6 p.m. on Friday, September 13, and from 8 a.m.-noon on Saturday, September 14.

As part of the event, Bill Lopez will be giving gentling demonstrations. Animals are eligible for adoption to a good home.

As part of our efforts to find every horse and burro a good home, the BLM now offers up to $1,000 to adopt an untrained animal. This adoption incentive will be offered for every animal in Pauls Valley. Inquire with BLM staff onsite for more information.

The horses offered for adoption are adult and yearling horses that once roamed free on public lands in the West.

The BLM periodically removes excess animals from the range in order to maintain healthy herds, and to protect other rangeland resources.

The adoption program is essential for achieving these important management goals. Since 1973, the BLM has

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Foundation

Our Veteran of the Week, Jimmy Arnold visited us last week for the first time to file his claim for benefits. Mr. Arnold served in the United States Navy during the Korean War. He makes his home in Iowa Park, Texas. We presented him new cap representing his military service. We introduced Mr. Arnold to our volunteers and visitors where he received a round of applause and a thank you for his honorable military service to this great nation.

We have handicapped items available at no charge to veterans or their family members. We accept wheelchairs both electric and manual, scooters, hospital beds and other types of small equipment we can give to veterans. We also accept the donation of cars, trucks, vans, tractors, motorcycles and other items that can be given to veterans or sold to raise funds. For those of you who are looking for a Ford 7.3 Power Stroke engine with automatic transmission we have a 2000 model van that is for sale for $1,500. It runs well and has 175,000 miles.

Over the years, we have met thousands of people who served this nation's military who have reached a point in their lives where they are no longer able work to support themselves and their families. Without assistance from our volunteers to help them to receive VA benefits, many of them would have died an early death.

When veterans and surviving spouses visit us for the first time, we find that some are trying to survive on $500 to $1,000 per month. All of us

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR DELINQUENT TAXES
LOCATED IN MCCLAIN COUNTY,
STATE OF OKLAHOMA

Notice is hereby given that, under authority and direction of 68 O.S. § 3101 et seq., the hereinafter described lands, lots, tracts and parcels of real estate, all situated in McClain County, Oklahoma, now has a tax lien for unpaid ad valorem taxes and/or special assessments. Further, if the lien remains unpaid for a period of three years or more, as of the date such taxes first became due and payable, this property will be sold at public auction unless the delinquent taxes, interest and penalty are paid in full prior to the time of the tax sale.

The said list contains all the lands on which the ad valorem taxes of the taxable year 2018 remain due, delinquent and unpaid, except where the 2018 taxes have been endorsed on a prior year's delinquent tax sale, together with any delinquent and unpaid ad valorem taxes of other years, and including any personal taxes which are by law made a lien upon the real property owned by such person or persons; and further including delinquent special improvement and maintenance assessments separately stated and described for the year or years as specifically stated in said lists for certain lands, lots and tracts of real estate having special improvement and maintenance assessments which are by statute a lien upon realty and subject to sale at this time.

The sale hereby advertised may involve a manufactured home which may be subject to the right of a secured party to repossess. A holder of a perfected security interest in such manufactured home may be able to pay ad valorem taxes bases upon the value of the manufactured home apart from the value of real property.

This notice applies to the following lands, lots, tracts and parcels of real estate to-wit:

(Following the list of lands to be advertised for sale, the signature of the County Treasurer will be affixed)

Witness my hand this 29 day of August, 2019.

SoonerCare provider rates set to increase

The Oklahoma Health Care Authority board voted to approve a five percent rate increase to most SoonerCare (Oklahoma Medicaid) providers during their August 21 board meeting.

The rate increase, mandated by Senate Bill 1044, is effective October 1, contingent upon approval by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS).

"A goal of the OHCA is to pay providers competitive rates for services for our SoonerCare members. The rate increase mandated by SB1044 will help us sustain and continue to build our network of providers across the state," said OHCA CEO Kevin Corbett. "A strong provider network ultimately benefits our SoonerCare members by improving access to care."

Per SB1044, the rate increase excludes: services financed through appropriations to other state agencies; Durable Medical Equipment, Prosthetics, Orthotics, and Supplies (DMEPOS); non-emergency transportation capitation payments; services provided to Insure Oklahoma (IO) members; payments for drug ingredients/physician supplied drugs; Indian Health Services/Tribal/Urban Clinics (I/T/U); Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs); and Rural Health Centers (RHCs).

The five percent rate increase will put SoonerCare physician rates at 93.63 percent of the Medicare physician fee schedule. SoonerCare physician rates have not exceeded 90 percent since mid-2014 when state budget reductions resulted in a 7.75 percent reduction to rates, dropping them to 89.25 percent of Medicare.

For the remainder of State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2020, the rate increase will have an estimated budget impact of $62.8 million of which $21.3 million is state share.

The estimated budget impact for SFY 2021, a full year with the increase, is about $85.65 million; of which $28.3 million is state share.

Wash News:

know that it's almost impossible to even get by on that type of income. As many of you know we have food sacks filled with enough to last a small family a week or so. These are available to those who are in need.

Each week we are assisting veterans and surviving spouses with the cost of medical testing, rent, utilities and other unforeseen expenses we all have at one time or another. On an average week, that amounts to $5,000-6,000 for us to provide those services. We also have from two to three vans transporting veterans each day to their VA medical appointments or our location for help with their VA claims and questions.

Our drivers have consistently been logging around 1,000 miles each week. Last week was no exception; they spent 73 hours transporting 26 veterans 1,212 miles.

We are a 501-3-C Non-Profit and rely on your donations and grants to provide the services that so many who served in the military need. One of the things that make all we do worthwhile is to see the men and women who become so emotional after they receive approval for VA Benefits with tears of joy streaming down their faces. If you wonder where your next meal will come from or how to pay the rent, then you will know what VA benefits mean to someone.

Twenty-four veterans received a 100 percent rating for their service-connected disabilities. These men and women will receive a combined annual amount of $1,044,345 per year. Sixty-seven veterans were approved for disability ratings from 10-90 percent for their service-connected disabilities and will receive an annual combined amount of $1,534,640.

Two surviving spouses received approval for either DIC, Pension or Aid and Attendance. This group will receive a combined amount of $31,657. Our goal is to make a difference in the lives of the men and women who wore the uniform of a Member of the United States Military.

Counselors from the Vet Centers are here each session and a Legal Aid representative is here on Thursdays. We have food baskets available for those who qualify. We look forward to your visit and thank you for trusting us to help you with your VA matters.

We are available every Tuesday and Thursday morning at 1268 North Interstate Drive Norman, OK 73072. We open the doors by 5:30 a.m., and we begin working as soon as volunteers have their computers ready.

Case No. PB-19-149
SECOND AMENDED COMBINED NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND NOTICE OF HEARING

To: All persons interest in the Estate of Barbara Diana Graham McCraw, Deceased,

You are hereby notified that on the 14th day of August, 2019, the Petitioner, Rodney Roy Forbes, filed in the District Court of McClain County a Petition for Summary Administration, Appointment of Special Administrator, and Admission of Will to Probate.

The value of the Estate of Barbara Diana Graham McCraw is less than $200,000.00.

In an Order for Combined Notice entered on the 14th day of August 2019, the Court found that it should dispense with the regular estate proceedings prescribed by law and order notice to creditors and issue an order for hearing upon the Petition for Summary Administration and Admission of Will to Probate, the final accounting, and petition for determination of heirs, devisees and legatees, and distribution.

Pursuant to the Order for Combined Notice, all creditors having claims against Barbara Diana Graham McCraw, Deceased, are required to present the same with a description of all security interests and other collateral (if any) held by each creditor with respect to such claim, to Rodney Roy Forbes, Special Administrator, at the law offices of Blevins & Associates Law, PLLC, 138 W. Main/P.O. Box 1565, Purcell, OK 73080, addressed to James B. Blevins, Jr., attorney for the Special Administrator, on or before the following presentment date: September 13, 2019 or the same will be forever barred.

Notice is also hereby given that a hearing will be held on the October 10, 2019 at 9:30 a.m. at the McClain County Courthouse, in Purcell, McClain County, Oklahoma, before Judge Charles Gray. At the hearing the Court will decide whether to approve the Petition for Summary Administration and Admission of Will to Probate and the final account and petition for determination of heirs, devisees and legatees, and distribution of the Petitioner. The final account and petition for determination of heirs, devisees and legatees and distribution will be filed herein on or before the September 20, 2019.

You are hereby advised that you must file objections to the Petition for Summary Administration and the final account and petition for determination of heirs and distribution at any time before the date of the final hearing and send a copy to the Petitioner in care of his attorney, James B. Blevins, Jr., 138 W. Main/P.O. Box 1565, Purcell, OK 73080, or you will be deemed to have waived any objections. If you have no objections, you need not appear at the hearing or make any filings with the Court.

If an objection is filed before the final hearing, the Court will determine at the hearing whether the Will filed contemporaneously with the Petition shall be admitted to probate and whether summary proceedings are appropriate and, if so, whether the estates will be distributed and to whom the estates will be distributed.

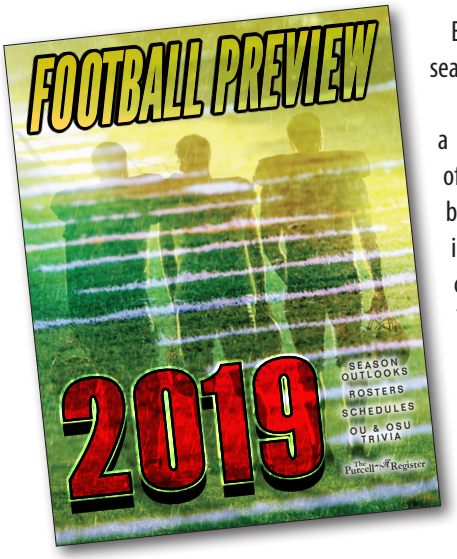
ABOUT THE COVER



Every high school football season starts out with dreams.

Players dream about lifting a gold ball in the last game of the year while surrounded by coaches and teammates in a big-time stadium and celebrating in exuberance. They dream of a day when the weather is a far cry from the 100 degree days they saw only a few months earlier and the game is watched by people who may have never set foot in their hometowns.

While others dream about playing well enough to earn a football scholarship and to compete at the next level; getting college paid for and having the luxury to continue playing the sport they've loved since elementary school.

Dreams don't always come true. But this time of year every team is undefeated and everyone has a chance to live their dreams.

Good Luck!

Dragons hope to build off last year

Finished 7-4 in Tracy Scott's maiden voyage

LAST CALL

Purcell went on a five-game win streak to end the regular season last year and leave the old Conger Field with a final talley in the win column. Addison Love (28) and Kody Kroth (6) look to have big years in 2019.

ALL-TIME RECORD AT CONGER FIELD

2018 RECORD

Tracy Scott says his 2019 Dragons will not start off right where they left off in 2018 but he feels good about his new club as long as they can stay healthy.

"We drop off after our ones pretty quickly so we have to stay healthy," the second year Dragon Head Coach said.

Scott credits last year's senior class as the cement that held the team together to finish third in District 3A-2 and make the State Playoff for the 11th straight season.

"They had gone through three or four head coaches heading into me," Scott said of last year's squad. "It took a while to jell and get people in the right spots but we had a good year and it was the seniors that were the glue that held us together.

"Those kids played hard for me," Scott said of the likes of Jake Berrey, Jalyn Shea, Garrett Galyean, Gunner Fink, Tayvian Johnson and Victor Trejo. "They had a lot to do with our success."

Replacing those graduating seniors will be one of the top priorities as the Dragons work their way through fall drills.

Just like any season, remaining healthy is the number one concern and 2019 is no different.

THE OFFENSE

Spread, One Back

"I feel good about this season," the coach continued. "Our depth is scary so we've got to get some younger kids ready to help."

Scott and line coach Kurt Gray will have a good nucleus with which to begin the season with the return of last year's starters Gage Askew, Jaysen Shea, Malachi Parrish and Elijah Fixico.

"We've got to find one more guy to stand up and help us right now," Scott said.

Another good nucleus for the 2019 Dragons is in the backfield with the return of last year's breakout starter at quarterback Kody Kroth.

Kroth will be back for his junior season after taking over the reins against Sulphur in week five.

With Kroth at the controls Purcell's offense picked up and the Dragons reeled off five wins in a row to close out the 2018 season.

Senior Addison Love will anchor the running back slot but will have help from a pair of juniors in Sam Wofford and Gavin Constant.

Purcell has a tall order in replacing their twin tower receivers Berrey and Galyean.

"We're going to have to figure out our receiving corps," Scott said.

Among candidates are senior Nick Albright and juniors Constant and Mojo Browning.

Scott said his offense had a good team camp that hopefully translates to move the ball not only on the ground but through the air as well.

"Last year we could run when we needed to and throw when we needed to. We have to make sure we can do that again this season," the coach said.

there is a solid nucleus in the line.

But just like on offense, coaches are searching for at least one more starter and some depth to fill in the pieces of the puzzle.

Love and Wofford return at inside linebacker.

Outside linebacker is wide open but Scott is counting heavily on the production of seniors Kyan Davis and Rueben Leveridge.

Both safeties, Brendan Ferris and Albright return, packing a full season of experience with them.

Both cornerback positions are open due to graduation.

Sophomore Titus Mason and junior Browning are penciled in to man those slots.

"But we've got to have help from Gavin Constant and Tyler Williams," Scott said. "We've got to have some of our younger kids mature and come on to help us on Friday nights."

> LAST YEAR WE COULD RUN WHEN WE NEEDED TO AND THROW WHEN WE NEEDED TO. WE NEED TO MAKE SURE WE CAN DO THAT AGAIN THIS SEASON.
> TRACY SCOTT, HEAD COACH

Among those the coaches are counting on is Broderick Smith at linebacker and a move in from Norman, Caden Bonham.

"Another move-in that will help us somewhere is Morgan Ashford," the coach said. "We had a good team camp and have gotten stronger in the off-season. We've gotten stronger in the weight room so our strength is up."

The key remains staying healthy and bringing younger players along.

Among those younger players Scott has his eye on are sophomores Creed Smith, Hayden Harp and Nate Willis.

"We're happy they have come back out," the coach concluded.

Dragon schedule looks daunting

LINDSAY
WEEK 1 • SEPT 6 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 30 Lindsay 6

After battling to a 6-6 tie at intermission, Purcell erupted for 24 unanswered points to spoil the opening of the new Burford Field.

"They are going to be better this year," Purcell Head Coach Tracy Scott said. "The big kid they played at quarterback last year has been moved to receiver. He will also play some running back.

"Their quarterback played part time last year and should be pretty good this year. It'll be a tough test for us right out of the gate," Scott said.

WASHINGTON
WEEK 2 • SEPT 13 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 31 Purcell 0

Washington's defense stymied the Dragons while the Warrior offense piled up the points.

The Warriors, who operate out of the veer on offense, seem to never rebuild but always to simply reload.

Same holds true for the 2019 campaign, according to Scott.

"They will get back a few of their linemen but their skilled positions will be strong," Scott said. "They possess good team speed and will simply be reloading."

When the Warriors are on defense expect them to operate out of a 5-2.

LEXINGTON
WEEK 3 • SEPT 20 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 18 Lexington 13

With time running out in their end of the field, Lexington tried a Toby Prevost keeper that was snuffed by Gage Askew and Jayln Shea preserving the 18-13 Dragon victory.

"They have one really good offensive lineman but other than that I don't know what they have in the line," Scott said.

"We didn't see them in team camp this year but losing Toby Prevost is a big loss.

"The coaches over there do a good job and continue to build a program," Scott said.

PLAINVIEW
WEEK 4 • SEPT 27 • 7 PM

2018: Plainview 67 Purcell 0

The Indians, who will begin the season either No. 1 or No. 2 in Class 3A, did pretty much whatever they wanted to do last year against the Dragons.

They return everyone including a Division 1 receiver who is committed to TCU and a Division 1 offensive lineman.

"They are a heck of a ball club and I expect them to go deep into the playoffs," Scott said.

The Indians will base out of a 3-4 on defense and are multiple on offense

SULPHUR
WEEK 5 • OCT 4 • 7 PM

2018: Sulphur 55 Purcell 14

Despite losing their stud linebacker and running back, the Bulldogs will be their usual tougher than a bus stop steak team in 2019.

"They are always well coached and will run the football right at you," Scott said.

On defense the Bulldogs will align in the Okie 5-2 base defense.

DOUGLASS
WEEK 6 • OCT 11 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 44 Douglass 20

Addison Love rushed the pigskin 13 times for 171 yards and five touchdowns while quarterback Kody Kroth tossed a pair of touchdown passes in the district victory.

BETHEL
WEEK 7 • OCT 17 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 34 Bethel 8

Purcell's defense limited the Wildcats to negative 38 yards rushing in the 26 point victory.

"They lost a lot of returning starters," Scott said. "Some of their key receivers are back.

"I look for them to be better," Scott continued. "Coach (Joey) Ginn does a great a job over there.

"We caught them at a great time last year. They were just on the brink last season and couldn't get over the hump."

PAULS VALLEY
WEEK 8 • OCT 25 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 49 Pauls Valley 19

Love had five rushing touchdowns toting the mail 22 times for 204 yards in the victory.

"They lost a good quarterback but still have some pretty good skilled kids coming back," Scott said.

"You only see the wishbone once a year and the formation makes it hard to get off the field (defensively).

"They control the clock and the football," the coach said.

"The Panthers are coached by Roger Raper's cousin Dusty Raper, a Davis protege.

LONE GROVE
WEEK 9 • NOV 11 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 39 Lone Grove 14

In the worst field conditions Tracy Scott had ever seen, Purcell sloshed its way to a 39-14 victory.

"They had some athletes last year and I expect them to be better under coach Brad O'Steen, who is in his second season.

The Dragons prepared for a running team last season only to travel to Carter County and see the Longhorns throw the ball all over the field.

"They kind of duped us last year," Scott said.

Lone Grove will will look similar to the Dragons when they have the ball.

MARLOW
WEEK 10 • NOV 8 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 26 Marlow 22

The Dragons held off the Outlaws giving Conger Field a victory in the send off contest.

Scott said the Outlaws graduated several starters off last year's squad including their quarterback.

"But they have quite a few players coming back. They should be improved," Scott said.

Marlow will operate out of a 5-2 on defense and the spread and some two back on offense.

The Lexington football team is looking stout this year with lots of size on both sides of the football as well as a horde of returning experience.

Plus, for the third year in a row under head coach Dale Berglan, the 'Dawgs have the exact same coaching staff. Continuity in leadership will hopefully spell success for the Lexington squad this season.

"Our entire coaching staff is together again," Berglan said. "This will be our third year as a group. That continuity is fantastic. Kids get used to seeing us and we get used to each other. We work really well with each other and it's a good mix of knowledge, ages, and personalities."

During Berglan's first year at the helm of the 'Dawgs, they went 6-4 but sadly missed the playoffs. Last year, Lexington went 5-5 and made the playoffs for the first time since 2015.

Coalgate beat the 'Dawgs, 57-31, in the first round.

"We're very excited about this year," Berglan said. "We've had two really good back-to-back seasons. We have some returning starters and we also have quite a few kids who have been waiting in the wings for their turn to step up and shine. We're really excited about that."

Lexington's offense will be supplied by a seasoned group of returning starters. Senior wide receivers Jaylen Cottrell (6-foot-3, 180) and Coby Bear (5-foot-11, 150 pounds) are hungry for success.

Seniors Nathan Clegg (5-foot-9, 150) and Josiah Dawley (6-foot-5, 210) are primed for a breakout year as tight ends. Senior Auston McWaters (5-foot-11, 185) brings back his talents as a running back.

"Jaylen Cottrell is just about unmatched on the field, athletically speaking," Berglan said.

"He has tremendous hands and breakaway speed.

LEXINGTON BULLDOGS
SEASON PREVIEW

When you watch him run, he's a glider. He's smooth and you enjoy watching him. We have a bunch of talent returning for us."

But, Lexington is missing Toby Prevost, who graduated last year after running the offense at quarterback.

"Toby was by far our catalyst and the best player in our district," Berglan said. "He was not only a phenomenal athlete but he was an outstanding leader.

"That was the biggest thing about him – his leadership. It didn't matter what the circumstances were. He would always be saying, 'Let's go!' He was always picking the guys up and giving them encouragement."

So, the 2019 season begins with seniors Colton Penner as the starter and Dallan Berglan as the backup at quarterback.

"That's the biggest question mark about our team right now," Berglan said. "Who's going to emerge as our leader? We have a unique situation at quarterback right now. If I were to be a fan in the stands and watching our quarterbacks warm up during pre-game, I'd probably want to fire the head coach," Berglan said, tongue in cheek.

"That's because one is about 6-foot-5 and 230 pounds (Colton Penner) and the other is 6-foot-3 and 250 pounds (Dallan Berglan) – two guys who should be our left guard and left tackle.

"Colton has been our backup quarterback in the past and he's done a fantastic job at tight end. My son, Dallan, was a quarterback in junior high. He's going to be the backup at quarterback and he's very capable of running the offense. He understands everything inside and out."

THE DEFENSE

4-3

Defensively, Lexington should be strong again in the 4-3. Bear, Clegg, and McWaters will be Lex's leading linebackers going into the season opener. Penner looks to be a contributor in the secondary as a defensive back. Dawley and Mayson Dunaway (6-foot, 240) will anchor the defensive line for the 'Dawgs.

LEXINGTON BULLDOGS
2019 SCHEDULE

Berglan optimistic in third season

ANADARKO
WEEK 1 • SEPT 6 • 7 PM

2018: Anadarko 44 Lexington 8

The Warriors are coached by Kent Jackson.

"Anadarko could be a catalyst for our entire season. If we could go out and knock off Anadarko, we would have the chance to gain some early momentum," Berglan said.

"They are well-coached on both sides of the ball. They will play sound, fast, physical defense. Offensively, they will spread you out and make you defend sideline to sideline. They'll run power football. And, I've yet to see a team run counter offense as well as Anadarko."

DIBBLE
WEEK 2 • SEPT 13 • 7 PM

2018: Lexington 4 Dibble 8

The Dibble Demons are coming off a 3-8 season. The Demons are a mystery to the 'Dawgs again this season.

"Dibble is a mystery," Berglan said. "They have a new coach again. Richard Norman from Wynnewood is taking over there at Dibble. He was successful at Wynnewood and they made a deep run in the playoffs a couple of years ago.

"Dibble will have good size and they will be very physical. They always have a good combination of running backs and linebackers."

PURCELL
WEEK 3 • SEPT 20 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 18 Lexington 13

Lexington and Purcell will face off on the Dragons' new field. Purcell, coached by Tracy Scott, went 7-4 last season.

"We would love to be the first team on their turf, in the Battle of the Bridge, and be the first team to go in there and beat them on their beautiful new field," said Berglan.

"Coach Scott at Purcell is a good friend of ours and is a great coach. They will be sound and they always have good linemen. They play hard, physical football. It will be a show in a good, old-fashioned rivalry."

LITTLE AXE
WEEK 4 • SEPT 27 • 7 PM

2018: Lexington 21 Little Axe 0

Lexington beat Little Axe on the road and in the rain last year. The Indians (coached by Matt Lane) went 4-6.

"You can't make a lot of mistakes against Little Axe," Berglan said. "They have some good starters back. They will play good, physical football and try to run it on us. They'll load the box and try to stop our running game. They will be in the game all four quarters.

"In the past, when you could get up on them early, they were done. But, their coaches have done such a good job of getting those guys to pound and pound and pound away. "

STAR SPENCER
WEEK 5 • OCT 4 • 7 PM

2018: Lexington 18 Star Spencer 0

Star Spencer is coached by Kenneth West and went 2-8 a year ago.

"We have three games in Oklahoma City with Star Spencer, Crooked Oak, and Millwood," Berglan said.

"Star Spencer has some really good athletes. The toughest thing about them is their persistent coaching turnover. They don't have a true system that they run year-in and year-out.

"It doesn't give you an idea on how to defend or attack them. They have some good athletes who can make big plays. The key will be to control the ball and don't give up the big play to them."

STRATFORD
WEEK 6 • OCT 11 • 7 PM

2018: Lexington 41 Stratford 27

Stratford was 5-5 last season under head coach Michael Blackburn.

"They have a great tradition," Berglan said. "They're extremely well-coached and we had to pull away from them at the end last year.

"They have been a power offense in the past with a full-house backfield running power and counter. They've begun to add the spread offense into their repertoire. So, they can work both. They can get you caught in the wrong personnel and calling the wrong play."

MILLWOOD
WEEK 7 • OCT 17 • 7 PM

2018: Millwood 80 Lexington 21

The Falcons went 11-1 a year ago with five Division-1 players. Under Darwin Franklin, they came into Lexington and blew the collars off the 'Dawgs.

"They are extremely well-coached and have good athletes," Berglan said.

"They have a reason to be confident. They had five guys recruited and will replace a bunch of their big-time players. Usually Millwood just reloads. They don't worry about grooming a bunch of players; they just plug someone else in there to take over an empty spot. They will be interesting to watch."

CCS
WEEK 8 • OCT 25 • 7 PM

2018: Lexington 36 CCS 15

Coached by Mat McIntosh, CCS lost to the 'Dawgs, 36-15, in an important district matchup last year.

"That was our most pivotal game of last year," Berglan said.

"We knew we were going to be in a dogfight and they were one of the hottest teams in the state. People had a hard time defending their quarterback who was extremely athletic.

"We played one of our best overall games last year against CCS. We'll have to do that again."

CROOKED OAK
WEEK 9 • NOV 1 • 7 PM

2018: Lexington 56 Crooked Oak 14

Crooked Oak went just 1-9 in 2018. This season they have a new coach in Darrin Dean.

"They have a new coach and they will be a mystery," Berglan said.

"I can't say anything definitive about them at this point."

WASHINGTON
WEEK 10 • NOV 8 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 35 Lexington 13

Washington is coming off a 10-3 season.

According to Berglan, Lexington drove the length of the field and Washington made a goal-line stand at the beginning of last year's contest.

"We went scoreless in the first quarter. They scored three touchdowns in about six-minutes right before the half.

"We outplayed them in the second half but when you spot one of the best teams in the state three easy touchdowns, that's hard to overcome. Washington has a great chance at being the best team in Class 2A this year."

Lexington Cheerleaders

Returning starters abound

For 2019 Washington Warriors

TEED UP

Washington returns a host of talent from last year's 10-3 team, including Chase Allison (24), Gavin Grimsey (20) and Justin Simmons (55).

With seven returning starters on offense and nine on defense coach Brad Beller and the Washington Warriors have their sights set on a deep run into the Class 2A State Playoffs in 2019.

The Warriors were eliminated from last year's playoffs in the third round by Metro Christian when their passing game went quiet.

The Warriors rushed for over 4,000 yards in 2018 and passed for about 1,000.

They hope to be far more balanced this season with passing yards compared to rushing yards.

"That's the word from 2001 Warrior grad and head coach Brad Beller who begins his 10th season at the helm of the Warriors.

Washington was 12-3 in 2017 when they were State Runners-up and 10-3 last season.

They will be working without the talents of graduated Trevor Stuever, Marc Turbyfill, Nathan Ladlee, Trestin Miller, Justin McKay and Tyler Beller.

But they return starters in Logan Lile, Justin Simmons and Conner Bruce in the line, Devin Orr at quarterback, Ethan Olson at wide receiver, Gavin Grimsey at fullback and Lance Spaulding at running back.

Spaulding had a huge season last year rushing for 1,750 yards and over 20 touchdowns.

The offense, which will be run by Orr, back for his senior campaign, should be efficient.

Two years ago, Washington rushed for 3,000 yards and threw for 1,500. Then last year it was 4,000 to 1,000.

This year?

"We hope to be more balanced than last year," Beller said. "That'll be the key for us not only offensively but on defense, too. We need to be more balanced and we've got to stay healthy," the Warrior head man said.

Running the spread, the Warriors will also be capable to run a power two-back scheme if they so desire.

"We've got seven guys returning as starters due to our personnel groupings," Beller continued. "But, once again, we have to stay healthy."

"In the past we really have been known primarily as a running team," the coach said. "Not being balanced is what cost us against Metro Christian."

That's when Metro Christian stacked the box and Washington couldn't pull them out with their passing game.

"We've put a lot of time and effort in trying to be good throwing and catching the ball better," Beller continued. "We've got to replace those two linemen but I don't think we will take a dip rushing the ball.

"Devin is the key," Beller said. "He understands passing concepts really well. He's fast and athletic. Most people didn't see him as a threat to run but he did last year.

"He's not the most vocal leader," Beller said. "He's all about moving the ball down the field. He's so quiet people don't realize how competitive he is."

One point of emphasis this season for Beller and his 2019 Warriors will be cutting down on the number of costly holding penalties.

Plain and simple they had too many last year.

> WE HAVE TO BE BETTER AND MORE AGGRESSIVE ON SHORT AND INTERMEDIATE PASSING PLAYS.
> BRAD BELLER, HEAD COACH

"We need to reduce the number of holding penalties," Beller said with emphasis. "We had 162 yards of offense called back in one game last year. If we have an Achilles' Heel that's it and we need to fix it.

"In that game we had three runs of over 20 yards called back. It just kills your momentum," he said. "It's hard to call first and 15 and second and 12. It doesn't allow a team to get into a flow. We have to get better at that."

THE DEFENSE

The only seniors lost to graduation off last year's squad are Nathan Ladlee at cornerback and Trestin Miller at defensive end.

Simmons and Logan Lile at defensive ends, Conner Bruce at defensive tackle, Devin Orr and Ethan Olson at the safeties, Lance Spaulding, Gavin Grimsey and Chase Allison at linebackers and Kobe Scott at cornerback.

Number one on Beller's to do list on defense this season will be stopping the short passing game.

"We have to be better and more aggressive on short and intermediate passing plays," the coach confirmed. "Last year we gave up nine yards a reception on third down. We were too soft in the back end. We have to be more aggressive."

The main reason for so many 7-7 passing leagues this summer was to increase their production there.

Beller said the strength of his defense this year will be the front seven.

"We're going to be deep and good stopping the run with our defensive ends, defensive tackles and linebackers. They are really good and there's a bunch of them.

"It's going to show we play a ton of seniors but we rotated in team camp. We rotated 27 kids mostly on defense. We rotated a ton of sophomores and juniors."

Junior Kaden Dubois returns at kicker for the Warriors and what a weapon he is.

"He's one of the top kickers in the nation," Beller says. "The ball just flies off his foot. He'll handle the place kicking while Kobe Scott will be back at punter. He has a big time leg," the coach confirmed.

Warriors have scores to settle

HOBART
WEEK 1 • SEPT 6 • 7:30 PM

2018: Washington 31 Hobart 0

Head Coach Brad Beller reports former Warrior teammate and life-long friend Colt Allison and the Bearcats have a stable of able bodied running backs.

Hobart also returns three or four linemen off the 2-18 squad so Beller expects the same old Bearcat rushing attack when they visit Reed Field to begin the 2019 campaign.

"That's what they do," Beller says, "run the football."

"The fact they return those linemen and running backs makes them dangerous," Beller reports.

"They have good speed," Beller said.

PURCELL
WEEK 2 • SEPT 13 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 31 Purcell 0

In the first eight quarters of the 2017 season Washington's stingy defense didn't allow a single point.

They whitewashed Purcell 31-0 utilizing a ball control offense that averaged at least 10 plays on every scoring drive.

"I know they made a switch at quarterback about mid-season last year," Beller said. "The (Kody) Kroth kid is a solid player. With him their offense kicked into high gear. He can run and throw," Beller continued. "And, as always with coach Scott, they are well coached especially on defense."

MARLOW
WEEK 3 • SEPT 20 • 7 PM

2018: Marlow 13 Washington 3

The Warriors held a slim 3-0 lead at halftime off the toe of kicker Kade Dubois. His 42-yard field goal on the last play of the first half was the difference.

The Outlaws scored late after having dropped their first two games of the season.

"They have a ton of returning starters," Beller reports. "They were really young last year and had a good group of sophomores and juniors. They will be deep and physical."

Marlow will operate out of the I formation on offense and are multiple on defense.

STAR SPENCER
WEEK 4 • SEPT 27 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 56 Star Spencer 12

Beller swept the bench in the rout.

Washington was led defensively by then junior Gavin Grimsey who had 10 tackles, forced a fumble, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

"They are very, very athletic," Beller reports. "Having another year in the same system and with the same coaching staff and the returning athletes will help them.

"If they improve their offensive line play, they could be a contender in our district," the coach said.

LITTLE AXE
WEEK 5 • OCT 4 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 49 Little Axe 6

Trevor Stuever threw a touchdown pass, caught a touchdown pass from Devin Orr and rushed for two more scores.

"Little Axe is a team built around their offense," Beller said. "They move the ball very well out of their spread offense. They're difficult to be aggressive against. They take advantage of teams that are quick to the ball."

The Indians also love to blitz when they are on defense. They base out of a 4-3.

MILLWOOD
WEEK 6 • OCT 11 • 7 PM

2018: Millwood 22 Washington 17

The Warriors got the ball with 1:16 left in the fourth period and fell just an inch shy of winning on an 80-yard drive when Nathan Ladlee was stopped on a questionable call.

Beller said his team, "Grew up a lot in that game."

It was Millwood's 34th consecutive victory.

"They are always going to be the most athletic team we play. They will have a few new faces from the last couple of years but have had a couple of nice move-ins.

STRATFORD
WEEK 7 • OCT 17 • 7 PM

2018: Purcell 34 Bethel 8

Washington's first team defense held the Bulldogs to one first down the entire first half.

Stratford will go from running a power I formation to a two or three back spread and then back to the power I.

Beller thinks the Bulldogs lost several key linemen off last year's squad.

"But they've been in the system long enough coached by Michael Blackburn that they won't miss a beat," he said.

CROOKED OAK
WEEK 8 • OCT 25 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 46 Crooked Oak 6

A running clock kept the score as close as it was.

"They have a new coaching staff coming in so we don't know what to expect," Beller said. "They lost their star tailback but they had a junior high group that was pretty good coming in. They also had one of their better underclassmen groups they've had in a while."

CCS

WEEK 9 • NOV 1 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 62 CCS 7

The surprise team of the district in 2018, CCS went from a 1-9 team the year before to a playoff team in '18.

The Royals are mainly a spread team offensively with option and a lot of power fullback.

"They like to run down hill," Beller confirmed.

CCS is the only Odd Stack or 3-3 defense the Warriors are likely to face this season.

"They blitz every play from six different angles," Beller said. "It's a defense you have to practice hard for.

LEXINGTON

WEEK 10 • NOV 8 • 7 PM

2018: Washington 35 Lexington 13

Home field advantage was on the line when these two teams met in 2018.

Gone are the likes of Toby Prevost, a mainstay at quarterback for the Bulldogs for the past four years.

"They will have to replace him and most of their line," Beller said. "They are moving their big tight end to quarterback. He's a big, strong kid. He's got a good arm and has good speedy targets at wide receivers.

"They are multiple on defense."

Experience returns

Wayne is seasoned and hungry after a difficult 2018 season

HARD NOSE

Hard nose defense has been a staple of Brandon Sharp's program at Wayne for the last 12 seasons. James Spencer (13) Brannon Lewelling (22) and Austin Box (63) will continue that.

WAYNE TEAM TO MAKE THE PLAYOFFS

2018 RECORD

Wayne made a run into the second round of the Class A State Playoffs last season, losing to eventual State champion Tonkawa 23-14.

They return a young group from that team that is well seasoned entering the 2019 football season.

"We have a lot of guys who have been working out hard this summer," said Wayne Head Coach Brandon Sharp, who is entering his 12th year as top Bulldog. "We have a lot of guys who will give us reps and will help with our depth."

The Bulldogs will have to replace a talented group of graduated play makers from last year. Players like Rodney Gray and Dawson Mantooth accounted for a good portion of Wayne's offensive production last year, not to mention the kicking game and special teams. Wayne also lost a sizable part of their linemen in Lawrence Slawinski, Joseph Gutierrez, Bryce Stocks and Koby Bynum.

Also gone is defensive stopper AJ Sherrill as well as Cash Castle, Dalton Mullins and Ethan Tooley.

THE DEFENSE
4-4

Wayne will again base out of a 4-4 defense. Coach Sammy Sharp will head the defensive unit for the third year and it's a unit the Brothers Sharp hang their hats on. Strong defenses have been a hallmark of Sharp's during his tenure at Wayne.

"I'm a defense guy," Sharp said.

The Bulldogs will have a strong group of linebackers this year led by sophomore Brannon Lewelling. Lewelling won't just be some wide-eyed sophomore when they tee it up with Elmore City later this month after he started the season a year ago.

take two more linebacker spots on the outside and Conner Crawford will be the other inside backer, alongside Lewelling.

Senior James Spencer will lead the back end of the defense for Wayne while he mans his safety position again.

Spencer is a proven leader who the staff will lean on heavily to keep his teammates lined up properly.

"He's one of the best at getting guys lined up," Sharp said. "He recognizes formations and knows what the coaches want. We don't have to scream like maniacs from the sideline to get everyone into position."

Junior Dustin Scoggins will man one side of the field at cornerback as part of the defensive back end.

Scoggins put in work in the weight room and will see dividends from those efforts this fall.

"He got a lot stronger in the offseason and got faster too." Sharp said. "The other spot is wide open and we have kids battling for it," Sharp said.

Jairo Hernandez, a sophomore, is one of the Bulldogs battling for the spot along with Rhett Kennedy.

Austin Box, Andy Lee, Lane Meyer and Maddox Mantooth will play along the defensive line.

MAESTRO

Senior James Spencer is like a coach on the field and will be called upon this year to keep the Wayne defense lined up.

"Maddox will work some at the shade - his motor runs," Sharp said.

Billy Montgomery and Ryan Redus will also get work in on the defensive line.

Sharp said communication will be one of the keys for his defense this fall.

"The defensive line needs to do their job and eat up double teams," he added. "If the defensive line does its job it will allow our inside linebacker to run."

Wayne's offense will start with the run game.

THE OFFENSE
SHOTGUN

After being named a starter for half the season last year, Lewelling will be the feature back from day one in 2019.

"He is a sponge and always wants to learn," Sharp said. "He's a pleaser and just wants to get better."

Ethan Mullins takes over the reins at quarterback and his upside is sky-high for this season.

"He's a gamer and when the lights come on he gets it on," Sharp said. "He has a chance to be a superstar. Since sixth grade he knows the game and is maybe the most advanced sophomore quarterback I've had since Sam Martin."

Mullins had a growth spurt this summer and reported to fall camp several inches taller than he was last season.

He'll have other weapons at his disposal besides Lewelling.

Spencer in the slot and Scoggins on the outside at receiver will add other threats to the offense this year.

"This year we'll be more wide open and dynamic," Sharp said. Ibarra will play both receiver and running back.

The big boys up front spent the summer getting stronger and the unit will be formidable.

Montgomery returns at center and will be a third-year starter. Briar Norman didn't miss a day of summer workouts, according to Sharp, and Redus put in work during the summer.

"Briar should have a great year," he said.

Andy Lee came on strong for the Bulldogs last year during his freshman season and became a starter at tackle.

"I think he'll be a big time player for us," Sharp said.

Lane Meyer and Austin Box will also be contributors up front.

"Lane Meyer has all the tools to be a great lineman," Sharp said. "Austin made big gains in the off season and will be ready to go. We need to be physical and tenacious this season."

Best of luck to all!

WAYNE BULLDOGS
2019 SCHEDULE

Wayne's District remains difficult

ECP
WEEK 0 • AUG 30 • 7 PM

2018: Wayne 21 ECP 7

Elmore City-Pernell is in their second season under head coach Larry Lewis. He returns a young group of players who received significant playing time a year ago.

"They will be big up front and have good skilled kids to go along with the line," Wayne Head Coach Brandon Sharp said. "

The Badgers will operate out of the shotgun and pistol formations.

"They will run the football at you," Sharp said.

ECP will line up in a 4-4 front like they have in years past.

"It will be a tough opener and a good game to start off with."

APACHE
WEEK 1 • SEPT 6 • 7 PM

2018: Did Not Play

Veteran Apache Head CoachLarry McDaniel has his program running at a consistantly high level as he enters his 23rd year at the helm.

"He's been there a while and does a good job," Sharp said. "They are always talented and always fought Ringling tough for the District championship."

The Warriors will look to spread the field and throw the football around.

"I don't know a lot about them as far as who is back but the offense will revolve around their quarterback," Sharp said.

Apache was 7-3 last season.

STRATFORD
WEEK 3 • SEPT 20 • 7 PM

2018: Stratford 27 Wayne 14

Stratford will be a challanging non-District game for Wayne.

They are a class larger than Wayne and return a highly talented running back from a year ago.

"Their tailback will be one of the best we see, if not the best we'll see," Sharp said. "We'll have to slow him down."

Sharp was talking about senior running back Gus Smith and said Stratford's quarterback can play a lick as well.

"Coach (Michael) Blackburn and his staff have been doing a great job for a while and Stratford is always tough," Sharp said.

STROUD
WEEK 4 • SEPT 27 • 7 PM

2018: Stroud 44 Wayne 0

Stroud won Class A D-7 last year with a 7-0 district record and they return plenty of talent this season.

In their second year from dropping down from Class 2A, they are a force.

"They'll just reload," Sharp said. "You wish you had a few District games under your belt before you hook horns with them but it's their first game too."

Stroud returns their quarterback and a set of talented wideouts. Their running back is a fast, homerun threat.

"Coach (Chris) Elerick has them fired up again," Sharp said.

MOUNDS
WEEK 5 • OCT 4 • 7 PM

2018: Wayne 27 Mounds 8

The Eagles went 4-6 last year amid a tough season in a brutal District.

"They're getting better every year and are much improved," Sharp said. "We knew Stroud was at the top but everyone thought they could be one of the top four teams last year."

They will return a group of seasoned young players who saw significant playing time last season.

Wayne better gas up the yellow dog because it's a nearly a 300-mile round trip.

WEWOKA
WEEK 6 • OCT 11 • 7 PM

2018: Wayne 48 Wewoka 12

The Tigers went 2-8 last season but also return a young cast of players with experience from last year.

"They have speed and talent all over the field," Sharp said. "They are not always big up front but they're fast and get guys to the football."

Wewoka's returning starting quarterback may have transferred out of town, which would be a big loss for them.

But the Tigers get a shot at Wayne on their home turf, as Wayne will travel to Seminole County.

WYNNEWOOD
WEEK 7 • OCT 17 • 7 PM

2018: Wayne 41 Wynnewood 32

Wynnewood is breaking in a new coach in Lucas Aslin while also reeling from the loss of several key players to transfer.

Aslin was previously the D coordinator.

The Savages finished third in the district with a 7-4 overall record last season.

"They'll be good as usual," Sharp said. "They continually have talent everywhere and won't drop off much."

Their running back will be the primary workhorse in the offense.

LIBERTY
WEEK 8 • OCT 25 • 7 PM

2018: Wayne 61 Liberty 0

Liberty is another team that was exceptionally young last season and forced to play a lot of underclassmen the majority of the season.

"They will be improved from last year and their coach is working hard to keep kids out for football," Sharp said. "They are ready to get wins under their belts."

Liberty finished 0-10 last season but Sharp said his team isn't overlooking anyone.

"We can't take anybody lightly and we will be prepared."

WAYNE BULLDOGS
2019 SCHEDULE

KONAWA
WEEK 9 • NOV 1 • 7 PM

2018: Wayne 28 Konawa 14

Konawa is another District foe with a new coach for the 2019 campaign.

Brian McCalip comes in this season from Dibble to lead the Tigers.

Konawa was a team last year that barely missed the playoffs after a 5-5 season.

"They are always scrappy," Sharp said. "Last year they had a good group and were on the cusp of making the playoffs."

Konawa returns Silas Isaacs, who quarterbacked the Tigers a season ago. Isaacs is a talented player with a high football IQ. They will spread the field offensively.

ALLEN
WEEK 10 • NOV 8 • 7 PM

2018: Wayne 43 Allen 7

Allen had no problem transitioning to Class A last year from playing eight-man football as they made the playoffs in the fourth spot of Class A D-7.

They finished the season 4-3 in District play and 5-5 overall after losing to Hulbert in the first round of the playoffs.

"Last year they had 50 kids out," Sharp said. "They have lots of kids and lots of talent. I expect them to be better than they were last year."

A berth to the Playoffs could hang on the line when they square off late in the season.

Another team with a new coach.
