Ron Fishburn

John D. Montgomery The Purcell Register

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Purcell civic leader and war hero Ron Fishburn.

Fishburn, 86, served three tours of duty flying helicopters in Vietnam earning seven medals including the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Legion of Merit.

Fishburn rose to the rank of Lt. Colonel

After his military career ended he moved back to Purcell with his wife Pat and their family.

Fishburn turned to selling real estate after he moved back home, where he graduated from high Fishburn served 18 years on the Purcell City Council and served as Mayor several times. He was also very active in his church where he served as Bishop of the Noble Ward in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Serving in the church prompted his interest in Boy Scouts where he volunteered for over 20 years eventually acquiring the prestigious Silver Beaver Award.

He was influential in the implementation of the Rotary Youth Leadership Awards for southwest Oklahoma attending the summer camp for many years.

He served as Purcell Rotary Club President and eventually was elected to a term as Rotary District Governor for southwest Oklahoma.

He attended Mississippi State University where he earned a bachelor's degree in animal husbandry in 1962. It was his local veterinarian back in Mississippi who encouraged Tom to continue his education by becoming a vet.

"I will back you anyway I can," Dr. Andy Crawford, a Kansas State alum, told him.

At the time there were only 19 veterinary schools in all of the United States and Canada. Tom wrote to nine of them. Eight responded that he was too late to be considered for the incoming class. K-

Christmas 1944

AUTHOR'SNOTE: I started a little Christmas tradition in 2018, sharing this tale from Christmas 1944 and vowing to myself to reshare it every year for all the years I have left.

I hope you enjoy it and find in it the true meaning of this season.

I suppose everyone has a favorite Christmas story.

Mine was told to me years ago by my Dad.

I share it with others when Christmas rolls around because it exemplifies such a sense of good will to men at a time and place there'd been precious little good will to anyone.

It was December 1944. The Allies had prevailed in the Battle of the Bulge, holding ground against the Nazis' last offensive push and setting up what would be the final months for Hitler's 1,000-year reich.

It turned out they were billeted near a sizeable Catholic convent.

The nuns, like many in recently liberated areas, had few food stores after the Nazis requisitioned most everything edible for themselves.

In fact, the convent was facing a grim Christmas.

What they did have, however, was a large kitchen and many willing hands.

So when they were approached by the Americans, a deal was struck. The terms were simple.

Would the sisters be willing to cook a traditional Christmas meal for the troops and themselves if the food was made available?

They quickly agreed and on Christmas Day served a sumptuous feast.

Christmas is upon us. And be- by law enforcement and the yond spending time with family and friends or celebrating the birth of Jesus, many people choose to spend the holiday at the movies. And what better time of year with such a variety of new releases. Sadly, with the way deadlines

Until then though, there's still movies to talk about from last weekend, including the second sequel to "Jumanji," a holiday slasher set on a college campus, and the true story of a heroic man falsely maligned

Let's get to the reviews.

Enforcing the law

Dear Editor:

I have a question for the elected officials of the city – county and State of Oklahoma. In short who is responsible for the enforcement of laws when a member of "law enforcement" is the one breaking the law? Nearly every day I see some member of law-enforcement speeding, making illegal turns, driving in the "fast lane" "speeding" "loitering" for miles at a time, and doing the very thing they give us citizens a ticket for. I see them hurrying to get through traffic. Running red lights (turn on emergency lights just to get through intersection, turn them off as soon as clear of intersection) and texting while driving and using their computers while driving. The other day I saw a highway patrol car running at least 70 or more in the construction zone on I 35 at Ladd Road and he got off at Johnson Road and turned under the underpass and stopped under the overpass for a "pit" stop and then drove on. That would have been a ticket for several things if it were anyone else.

If they are on a "call" they should have either the emergency light and/or siren on: or drive the speed limit.

I am not referring to just going a mile or two over the limit as this can happen to anyone and car speedometers are not that accurate any way. I have been told that sometimes they have to hurry to get to a call but do not want "others" to hear the siren or see the lights.

That is about as wrong as can be. You are putting your life and the life of every citizen in danger, as without the lights flashing there is a greater chance of not being seen and for an individual to think there is time to pull out when there is not, especially at night and on country or poorly lit roads.

It is harder to judge distance and speed then. They can turn off lights and siren a block or two early then drive up with caution.

I am a big supporter of law enforcement in general and believe most of them are great. But it seems that Oklahoma, McClain County, Purcell and other officers coming through here have a lot who think no one is watching. I assure you there are a lot of people trying to get by with the same thing "just because if a "cop" did it and I can too." And this can be the cause of car crashes and many other problems. Law officers should be setting the example for younger drivers

I ask again who is enforcing the law, on the law?

Supporting our common defense

Congressman Tom Cole

For nearly 60 years, lawmakers in both chambers and on both sides of the aisle have affirmed their bipartisan commitment to providing for our it in good conscience. common defense.

Through passage of the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) in the House last week and swift consideration expected in the Senate, I am proud that lawmakers are once again coming together to authorize funding for the programs and resources needed to keep our nation safe while advocating for and supporting the individuals who make every mission possible.

Getting to this point was more challenging than it has been in past years. While writing such a comprehensive piece of legislation is always a massive undertaking, the versions passed by the House and Senate some months back were drastically different.

In fact, the House version of at 3.1 percent. NDAA advanced in July was piece of legislation due to its substance and the process by which it was brought up by House Democrats. As a result, no Republicans could vote for their full benefits.

Fortunately, the hard work and negotiations of House and Senate conferees led to a bipartisan product that both chambers can now support. This would not have been possible without the leadership of Oklahoma's own Senator Jim Inhofe, who as Chairman of the Senate Armed Service Committee fiercely fought for the interests and needs of the nation's active duty service members, military families, retirees and civilian workers.

Rightly so, the NDAA conference report supports key quality-of-life initiatives and improvements for military and civilian workers and their families. That includes delivering the largest pay increase in a decade for service members

Moreover, it finally sets in Following outrageous reports of families suffering from poor conditions in privatized on-base military housing, I am relieved that the conference report takes strong action to protect tenants and prevent contractor mismanagement in the future.

This includes reforms to the Privatized Military Housing Initiative and a new Tenant Bill of Rights. Unfortunately, many families at Tinker Air Force Base in the Fourth District of Oklahoma are all too familiar with Balfour Beatty's mismanagement, which has resulted in unsafe and unhealthy conditions in numerous housing units built by the contractor. parts unknown and unexplored, from the arid deserts to snowy mountains, in order to escape the world's most dangerous

You know, back in 2017 I wouldn't have expected a very late sequel to 1995's "Jumanji" to be a breakout holiday hit. Especially considering how crowded its release date was.

Looking back on it, I reviewed eight other films the same week "Jumanji: Welcome to the Jungle" came out. And let me tell ya, that's not an experience I care to repeat anytime soon.

It's a minor miracle any of those movies ended up making a profit. Yet this follow-up to "Jumanji" ended up grossing nearly a billion dollars worldwide. It's little wonder why Sony got to work on a 3rd film as quickly as possible, targeting almost the exact same release window only two years later.

I think what really sold the 2017 film, beyond it featuring charismatic performances from Dwayne Johnson and Kevin Hart, was how well the movie took the concept of "Jumanji" and turned it into a familiar, yet incredibly novel

Like the original, the core goal of the game of Jumanji is simply to survive. But instead of it just being a board game where you roll the dice and hope you don't get murdered by heaven knows what, it's a video game with multiple levels, a clear goal, and characters that actually feel like they're capable of determining their own survival.

Making Jumanji into a video game was a brilliant decision. It let the story feel fresh and allowed it to explore new concepts, while still feeling very similar due to the characters' mortal danger.

So what did the filmmakers do this time around to keep the idea of Jumanji novel?

Well they threw in a couple old men in the form of Danny DeVito and Danny Glover. Plus they made Dwayne Johnson talk like a crotchety New England grandpa.

Which is fun, don't get me wrong, but it's not exactly a game changer.

All the characters still get they have to learn to use their strengths and work together to retrieve a stolen magic jewel, which I guess is slightly different than taking an already retrieved magical jewel and returning it to a giant statue.

To be fair, there is a bit more variety in the location this time around. Instead of solely being set in the jungle, this film also throws our heroes into the desert and snow covered mountains.

Which is also fine. It's all fine. It just feels the same is all.

While Johnson and Hart are the avatars for two very different characters this time around, they're both still the central source of conflict for the film. Again, it's two guys who have to learn to get along despite some hurt feelings.

Granted, they both talk like they're straight out of the local senior citizens center, which does make for quite a few fun moments. It's just not exactly a seismic shift.

And to keep piling on, sadly most of the film's best gags were spoiled by the trailers.

While the movie is a fun didn't find myself laughing nearly as much during this one as I did the last one. Part of that may be due to having less funny moments than the previous film, but it definitely didn't help that I knew almost exactly when every joke was

Also, I kinda felt like there was a steep loss of reverence for the game of Jumanji itself

In the last movie, there was so much emphasis on the players' lives and how any false move could lead to a permanent and horrifying end.

Here it seemed like they were throwing away lives for nothing. It's like the writers knew they wanted everyone on their last life for the action packed finale, so they just came up with a few stupid comedy bits for everyone to lose a few lives beforehand.

But despite my complaints, I'd be lying if I didn't say I liked this movie.

As far as family friendly action fare goes, this film is perfectly serviceable. It's fun, if incredibly familiar, and I imagine most people coming out of the movie will have a positive experience.

Just don't expect anything groundbreaking

"Jumanji: The Next Level" is rated PG-13.

Next up "Black Christmas."

Hawthorne College is quieting down for the holidays. But as Riley Stone (Imogen Poots) and her sorority sisters (Lily Donoghue, Aleyse Shannon, Brittany O'Grady) prepare to deck the halls with a series of seasonal parties, a black-masked stalker begins killing sorority women one by one.

As the body count rises, Riley and her squad start to question whether they can trust any man. Whoever the killer is, he's about to discover that this generation's young women aren't about to be anybody's

Well I guess if you're lookthrown into the game, each ing for horror combined with with only three lives. And a heavy handed message about rape culture on college campuses, you've come to the right place.

I can't speak to how this version of "Black Christmas" compares to the original 1974 slasher or the 2006 remake. Mostly because I'm painfully ignorant when it comes to many classic horror movies, and I didn't even know they existed before going into this film.

From what I gathered from others though, it seems this movie nothing like its predecessors beyond sharing the same title and a similar basic premise. But even though I can't say for sure how similar or dissimilar this film is to versions which came before it, I can say one thing with absolute confidence.

absolutely terrible film.

Even ignoring the painfully obvious messaging here, this is just a bad horror movie through and through.

First of all, it's a PG-13 rated slasher. Which means anytime a character is in mortal danger, the camera has to quickly cut family action movie, I simply away to avoid showing any-exactly what most people are looking for when they buy a ticket to a slasher movie.

Then there's the way this movie was filmed, which I also hated. There were so many times where it felt like the cameraman was determined to focus on anything but the actual characters talking in the scene, especially early on.

Then of course there's the story. And boy is it a doozy any way you look at it.

First of all let me say I do think sexual assault, including rape, is a major issue on many college campuses, and there is a culture of victim blaming, among other elements, that leads to this kind of criminal behavor being swept under

It's a problem, and I applaud those who have dedicated their lives to fight for change.

Sadly, this movie is far too blunt in its attempt to address such a delicate issue.

The film has the subtlety of a sledgehammer. It's like the writers grabbed a handful of modern controversies and hit

Not only is this particular college campus filled to the brim with rapists, but there's also a lovely racist element to everything as well.

This particular university was founded by a notorious misogynist who also owned slaves for good measure. And much like the controversies surrounding Confederate monuments today, there was a bust of the said founder which was removed from public view due to protests.

This becomes important later on, because apparently this statue makes all men near it into raging jerks, or 'alphas' as the main rapist supporting fraternity calls them.

Which is a pretty awful implication if you think about it. In this movie it's not the men's fault they're a bunch of murderous rapists. Instead of taking responsibility for their actions, they can just say it's the statue making them act the way they do.

Even worse, you can take this movie, cut off the very final scene, and you basically have a snuff film for rapists and abusers.

The large majority of this movie is nothing but these awful men stalking and murdering anyone who dares oppose them, all without recourse.

Personally, I felt disgusted watching it all unfold. More so than seeing the deaths featured in other horror movies because of the constant references to real life events. It makes all the casual killings here feel disrespectful to actual victims who have faced a similar fate.

Again, not exactly what most people are looking for when they go to see a slasher horror film.

Then there's all these topical lines of dialogue thrown at random like "boys will be boys," or "your body, your choice." Heck, they even have one of the guys blurt out "I like beer" 2019's "Black Christmas" an Court Justice Brett Kavana- on a Paris bound train.

thing remotely horrific. Not ugh's testimony in front of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

I think I audibly groaned in resignation at that last one.

Instead of a skewering of rape culture, as the filmmakers behind this movie so obviously were attempting, this film ends up feeling more like a haphazard bludging that constantly misses the mark.

Even ignoring the painfully obvious commentary, it's a poorly made horror movie no matter which way you cut it.

I know week after week I've been saying this is the best time of the year for movies usually, but that doesn't mean there still isn't room for the occasional dud.

favorite horror film of 2019, and I don't see anything coming to steal its crown.

Congratulations "Black Christmas," you've made your mark on society. Though probably not in the way your creators would have hoped.

"Black Christmas" is rated PG-13.

Last this week i s "Richard Jewell."

area until the incendiary device

It really is incredible how quickly Clint Eastwood has been pumping out movies these days.

It's only been a year since his last film, "The Mule," premiered in theaters, and he only just started "Richard Jewell" back in June of this year.

That's a remarkable turnaround for any filmmaker, much less a man quickly approaching 90 years of age. Regardless of what you think of his movies, you have to admire how quickly he ships them out.

Which I suppose leads into my own opinion of his filmography.

I definitely admire Eastwood's ability as an actor through the decades and the man has certainly shown what he can accomplish in the director's chair with many critically acclaimed films like "Million Dollar Baby" and "Letters from Iwo Jima.'

But then there's some of his most recent work. And frankly, at times, it almost seems like from an entirely different filmmaker.

Eastwood actually directed two films in 2018. One, of course, was "The Mule," which I mentioned earlier. The other was "The 15:17 to Paris," based on the true story of the heroes in reference to now Supreme who stopped a terrorist attack

Both of which I didn't particularly care for, though "The 15:17 to Paris" was decidedly the worst of the two due to Eastwood's bizarre desire to cast the actual real life people as themselves. While they're all definitely heroes, it sadly didn't make them good actors.

But I'm getting sidetracked. Point is, 2018 didn't exactly feature the Clint's best work.

Thankfully though, Eastwood has managed to right the ship, and with "Richard Jewell" he's released his best movie since "Sully" in 2016. This opinion does come with one giant caveat, but let me get to the good first.

First of all, the performances This is officially my least from most of the characters are really good. Which sadly isn't always a given with all of Eastwood's filmography. For better or worse, the man's known for often only giving actors one or two takes, and it definitely shows sometimes.

I really liked Sam Rockwell here. He plays Richard Jewell's no nonsense lawyer quite well. He really brought a lot of passion to the role, and his character felt like a sanity check in this insane story every time he showed up on screen.

I also thought Kathy Bates was quite good as well. She plays the role of Richard's long suffering mother, who has to deal with her son thrown under the magnifying glass by both the FBI and the subsequent media firestorm that followed their investigation.

Which I suppose does bring me to the elephant in the room. That of the reporter who broke the story on the FBI's investigation into Richard Jewell. Former journalist for the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, Kathy Scruggs, played by Olivia Wilde.

To say this movie throws Kathy under the bus in its portrayal of her is a wild understatement. They might as well show her twirling a mustache as she personally ties Richard Jewell to a set of train tracks while laughing maniacally.

The movie makes a very concerted effort to introduce Kathy as a contemptible person who will do anything for a scoop. Then it shows her at a bar, heavily flirting with an FBI agent, played by Jon Hamm, for information. And in the end of their interaction she offers sex in exchange for information on who the FBI is investigating.

This would all be fine if this was actually how the real life story played out. But it isn't.

There's zero evidence that this is how Kathy Scruggs got her information. It was completely fabricated.

Now to be frank, I normally don't mind when movies based on true stories don't strictly stick to the facts. Heck, "A Beautiful Day in the Neighborhood," a movie about a journalist's life changing interview with Mister Rogers, released just last month featured a narrative which was almost entirely made up.

But despite being largely fiction, that story stayed true to the real life people who inspired these characters. Well, beyond the journalist himself, but at least the filmmakers had the tact to change the man's name in that movie.

And plus they didn't perform an outright smear job on thet reporter, unlike what they did to Kathy here.

The worst part is Kathy Scruggs isn't able to defend herself from this kind of treatment because she died back in 2001. I cannot fathom how Eastwood thought it'd be okay to change her character in this way. It completely undermines the message of his film.

He definitely didn't need to paint her as a cartoonish villain to show how Richard Jewell was defamed and harassed by a host of media outlets. He was, and it was reprehensible how he was unfairly maligned by everyone from tabloids to late night television hosts nationwide.

Luckily the movie does better at portraying Jewell's treatment by the FBI, even if they make Jon Hamm's character a comically one-dimensional remorseless villain.

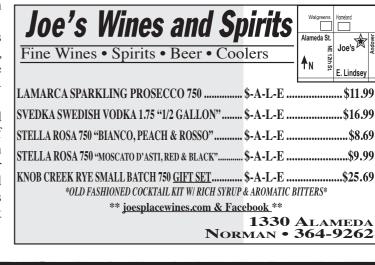

If nothing else this film does a good job in showing why you should never ever trust law enforcement if you think you're suspected of a crime. Even if you're completely innocent, the cops, or in this case the FBI, can ruin your day and possibly your entire life.

Honestly, if it weren't for the portrayal of Kathy Scruggs here, I wouldn't have any reservations in recommending this film.

Beyond that one major issue, it's very true to actual events. Plus, it's an engaging, well told story with solid pacing and really good performances. Again with the notable exception of Olivia Wilde's character.

I don't know. The movie is probably worth renting when it comes out on video. The story of Richard Jewell is definitely one that deserves to be heard. Just remember the portrayal of Kathy Scruggs here is largely fictional.

"Richard Jewell" is rated R.

Historical Christmas II

Christmas is the time of year when everyone seems a little happier and are a little nicer to each other. It is when we look forward to spending time with family and friends enjoying all of our favorite Christmas traditions.

Yet, historically speaking, this was not always the case. Especially in America, we did not celebrate Christmas until the 1820s with the publication of a couple of important novels.

What was originally called the Feast of the Nativity reached England in the sixth century and began being called Christmas. Don't think of it as the same holiday as we celebrate today. It was more a drunken party similar to Mardi Gras or Halloween than Christmas. It was gangs of poor going door-to-door de-

Think of some early Christmas carols. In "Here We Come A-Wassaling" there is the line, "We are not daily beggars that beg from door to door; but we are neighbours' children, whom you have seen before." In "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," we sing about going house to house basically demanding food.

This debauchery at Christmas played a part in America's founding. The radical religious sect known as the Puritans wanted to rid the Church of England of all things Catholic, including the pagan practices that had crept into the Church. One of those practices was Christmas. There is no mention of Christmas in the Bible and no set date for the birth of Jesus.

The Catholic Church had set Christmas during the winter solstice to help convert the Germanic tribes by claiming their religious feasts. The practice of Christmas was one of many doctrinally differences that led the Puritans to the New World to set up their "City on the Hill."

With Puritanism being one of the most influential institutions in American culture, Christmas was not practiced in the colonies. During and after the Revolutionary War, many British practices, including Christmas, were seen as taboo. In fact, Christmas does not become an official American holiday until 1870.

Christmas as we know it comes in the 1820s because of two important works of fiction (reading really does change the world). America's first great author was Washington Irving. We had many writers at that point, but they mimicked British writing.

Irving was the first to write something uniquely American. In 1819 he wrote "The Sketchbook of Geoffrey Crayon, Gent" that includes some of his most famous stories such as "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" and "Rip Van Winkle." The one entitled "Christmas" showed an English squire inviting peasants into his home for Christmas.

Irving believed Christmas should be a peaceful time where all classes could live in harmony. In his story he invented ancient customs such as family members returning from far away "once more to assemble about the paternal hearth, that rallying-place of affections."

The second book, of course, was "The Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens. This 1843 novel, even more than Irving, shaped our current idea of Christmas. The message of charity and good will to all struck a chord in America. I don't have room to discuss this here, but childhood had only recently become a thing. Before, children were just small adults. Now with childhood, parents had a day to lavish their children with gifts without appearing to spoil them.

Reading these stories, Americans came to assume this is how Christmas was supposed to be. Christmas quickly became seen as a family holiday, with peace towards all firmly part of the Christmas celebrations.

Being my last article of the year, I want to express my appreciation to everyone who makes Historically Speaking possible. I appreciate my wife Melissa Finck and Dr. JC Casey who edit all my stories. I could not do this without them. I now have a student assistant who does all the distribution. So, appreciation goes to Chris Wilson. I appreciate the editors who run these stories and all the readers, especially those who have sent me positive feedback. I put a great deal of time into these stories and it makes it worth it knowing so many of you enjoy them.

I hope this season does bring you the happiness that Ebenezer Scrooge and Irving's English squire found in their lives. From my family to yours, we wish you a Merry Christmas.

In addition to authorizing funding to support our service members, military retirees, civilian personnel and their families, the NDAA importantly authorizes programs in line with the National Defense Strategy that improve readiness, capability and operations.

Building on past efforts to restore readiness and promote modernization, the NDAA conference report ensures our military are equipped with the necessary equipment and training to counter threats and adversaries - old and new around the world today.

Certainly, Congress took a vital step toward delivering on the resources, reforms and benefits contained in the NDAA conference report.

However, even after the Senate passes the report and the president signs it into law, half the job remains.

To actually fund the critical programs and polices outlined in the NDAA, lawmakers must also come together to pass the defense appropriations bill for fiscal year 2020.

Considering the progress made recently on full-year funding bills for the government, I am hopeful that we will soon be able to do just that.

Christmas - Hold tight

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

Make a mental decision that Christmas is going to be great. Our world exists in the space between our ears known as our brains. We can dread or hate something or just decide it's going to be wonderful.

Faking it is not always easy. We can fool people some of the back. time but we can't fool everyone all the time. The hardest person you actually have to fool is yourself.

Sometimes we can fool ourselves for awhile and it's never fun fooling ourselves for a long period of time.

Sometimes it's necessary to fool ourselves briefly if we need to convince ourselves of something in order to survive.

For example if you are going to be in a big gathering for Christmas there is probably going to be one or two obnoxious or ridiculous people in the crowd.

You may already dread seeing them. Just convince yourselfit is okay and that people are different and no one is perfect.

Just decide to let ungratefulness, weird or negative comments roll off your back.

You can override stupidity with Christmas cheer for a day. Just remember this is only for cially Christmas.

a day or two.

Also, this Christmas will not bring back any past Christmases. There will be an empty chair or maybe several empty chairs.

It may be tough and depressing when we think about how Christmas was a few years

Christmas will never be the same for those of us missing loved ones and tears often come. Go ahead and cry but determine you won't spend all Christmas day crying.

As you remember the past remember what it is about that person or Christmas you miss and hold tight to that joyful remembrance.

Keep in mind that this Christmas is still special because you are here in the world to celebrate the occasion.

Whoever the people are in your life today hold them close and be merry together.

From the Old Testament the people of God were instructed by Joshua to "Hold tight to God, your God, just as you've done up to now." (Joshua 23:8)

For all of us holding tight to our faith, our family, our friends and our life's focus is important any day and espe-

Make the most of eligible tax breaks for 2019

Brenda Hill Extension Educator

The year is quickly coming to a close, so do not get all wrapped up in holiday planning and miss out on some end-ofyear tax breaks.

One place to start is with charitable contributions. You can donate cash and/or property, including household items and clothing. Just be sure to get a receipt.

Homeowners can get a tax break for prepaying next year's state and local property taxes and income taxes, as long as you itemize deductions. However, do not prepay taxes if you expect to be subject to the Alternative Minimum Tax because no deduction for taxes is allowed for the AMT.

It is important to review your investment portfolio and sell investments for optimum tax results this year. Consider mutual fund shares that have lost value. This will offset your realized capital gains.

excess of gains can be deducted from ordinary income. Any additional losses can be carried forward to future years.

Did you have medical expenses in 2019? If you have enough unreimbursed medical expenses, you may be able to deduct them.

This year, consumers can deduct only 10 percent of their adjusted gross income. While this tax break may be out of reach for many people, if you had extraordinarily high medical bills this year, you may qualify.

Maximize your retirement. This is a great way to reduce your taxable income while building your nest egg. Make a contribution to your retirement savings account. Whether you contribute to a 401(k) or an IRA, you can reduce your taxable income and also save for the future.

If you're self-employed and contribute to a SEP IRA, you can contribute up to 25 percent selling some stocks, bonds and of your net self-employment are eligible. income up to $56,000 per year.

If you are the parent or grandparent or a college student, you may be able to lower your 2019 tax bill by prepaying the first quarter tuition bill. And even more good news? You do not need to itemize to claim this

The American Opportunity Tax Credit, which you can take for students who are in their first four years of undergraduate study, is worth up to $2,500 for each qualifying student.

Another tax break is to contribute to a 529 college savings plan. While this won't reduce your federal tax bill, it could lower your state tax tab.

Purcell Register Obituaries

Terrie Ann Corley

A Celebration of Life Memorial Service for Terrie Ann Corley, 50, of Purcell will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday, December 19, 2019 at the Lighthouse Worship Center in Purcell. Services will be under the direction of the Wilson-

Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Ms. Corley passed away Saturday, December 14, 2019 at Norman Regional Terrie was born March 12, 1969 in Oklahoma City, the fourth of five children born to Bob and Glenda Corley. She was raised in Purcell and began school there, later graduating from Goodwell High School in 1987

Terrie married young to David Shea, and together they raised two children; daughter, Chasie and son, Nicholas.

Terrie worked a variety of odd jobs throughout the years. She earned her coding certification and spent her last years working at the Women's Health Center in Norman in medical billing.

Her greatest joy was being a mother and grandmother, and she cherished her family and friends. Terrie was a woman of great faith and stayed active in her church, the Lighthouse Worship Center in Purcell. She never met a stranger and always looked after the needs of others. She will be truly missed!

She was preceded in death by her father, Bob Corley and her sister, Tammy Weston.

Terrie is survived by her daughter, Chasie Colburn and husband, Jonathan, of Billings, Mont.; her son, Nicholas Shea and wife-to-be, Karen Barne, of Wichita Falls, Texas; her mother, Glenda Lewis of Enid, Okla.; two sisters, Vicky Francis and husband, Kenny, of Newalla and Sheila Carlton and husband, David, of Newalla; her brother, Mike Downs and wife, Sonja, of Norman; eight grandchildren, Rheanna, Anna Leia, Luke, Henry, River, Finley, Benaiah and Zayden and a host of other family and friends, with a special love for all of her nieces and nephews.

walking into their summer garden collecting blossoms to create a bouquet or arrangement for their summer parties. Winter should be no exception.

Start by gathering some greens. The fan-like sprays of arborvitae, blue-green sprigs of juniper and stems of other evergreens like yews, boxwood, pines, and spruces provide all the greenery you'll need.

Now look for items with interesting color or shapes. Red and yellow twig dogwoods, curly willow, contorted filbert and fantail willow provide interesting color and form.

Next, gather cones, berries and fruits such as rose hips, the blue berry-like cones of junipers, sweet gum seedpods, alder's cone-like fruit, and of course evergreen cones as substitutes for summer blooms.

Don't overlook purple coneflower, black berry lily, penstemon and other seed heads and pods. Fluffy seed heads of ornamental and native grasses make nice fillers.

All these make beautiful additions to any arrangement and can be painted or glittered for some added glitz. And don't be afraid to add a few shiny ornaments for a bit of holiday flare.

Look for decorating possibilities that your indoor garden can provide. Dress up small plants to create a centerpiece and larger plants to provide a bit of seasonal color and decor. rooms in your home.

Use silk flowers, glittery spikes and decorative ornaments to add a splash of color and sparkle to your indoor garden as needed.

Exchange these for red, pink and white hearts on Valentine's Day, colorful Easter eggs, or UN faux fall leaves as the seasons change.

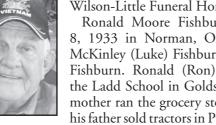

Once you've created your first arrangement, you'll be looking for additional opportunities to create more.

And as you plan this year's garden, consider growing more plants that can be used to dress up your dinner table and other

Ronald Moore Fishburn

Funeral services for Ronald Moore Fishburn, 86, of Purcell were held at Tuesday, December 17, 2019 at The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Norman. Interment was at Hillside Cemetery in Purcell under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Ronald Moore Fishburn was born July 8, 1933 in Norman, Oklahoma to Lewis McKinley (Luke) Fishburn and Ora Pulliam Fishburn. Ronald (Ron) started school at the Ladd School in Goldsby, at this time his mother ran the grocery store in Goldsby and his father sold tractors in Purcell. They moved to Purcell in 1947 so he and his younger brother Rod could attend High School.

Ron became involved in the FFA program and was inspired by his FFA teacher to go to college. After graduating High School, Ronald attended Oklahoma A&M College in Stillwater studying Soil Science. Upon graduation, he received a commission as an Officer in the United States Army through the Oklahoma State University ROTC program. He then attended Officer Basic Course in Ft. Benning, Georgia, becoming a Reserve Officer.

He was offered and accepted a job with the U.S. Geological office mapping soils in the Oklahoma Panhandle near Boise City. This is where he met his wife Patricia Robinson. After they married they decided to move back to Purcell. Ron then worked in Motor Freight for his father and was drilling as a Lieutenant in the Oklahoma National Guard.

As the Vietnam War was just beginning, he applied and was accepted into flight school for helicopters. He was awarded his Wings becoming a U.S. Army aviator on active duty. This job took him and his growing family all over the country including assignments in Texas, Alabama, North Carolina, Kentucky, Colorado, Arizona, Kansas and Utah.

Ron served three year-long tours in Vietnam in 1963, 1967 and 1972. He was highly decorated throughout his military career and achieved the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He received numerous awards, including several air medals, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Legion of Merit.

In 1963 he and his wife became members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Membership in the church introduced to him to the Boy Scouts of America as he became a Scout Master, a lifelong passion. He was involved with the Boy Scouts for over 50 years.

Tragedy stuck in 1979 when his third oldest son, Lorne, was killed in an automobile accident in Kentucky. After retiring from the military in 1980, he returned to his hometown of Purcell to continue raising his children and to begin a second career. Ronald became a realtor and began serving in the local church and the community.

Ronald ran for Purcell City Council, won and continued to serve on city council for 18 years, serving as mayor several times. His time as mayor and city council oversaw many structural and key developments that are still noticeable today. He also joined the Rotary Club in Purcell, eventually becoming the Rotary Club President and serving a term as Rotary District Governor for southwest Oklahoma.

He served as Bishop for the Noble Ward in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints for 10 years. Ron and Patricia served together as temple workers for the Oklahoma City Temple for many years. He cherished working in the temple with his wife. Ron's service wasn't limited to serving in organizations; he would help anyone and everyone. He helped those in need, especially ones down on their luck. The stories of him helping and giving to others would fill volumes.

Ron loved the youth. He attended Boy Scout Summer Camp at Slippery Falls, near Tishomingo for over 20 years. He attended Girls Summer Camp for the church for many years. He also helped in the implementation of the Rotary Youth Leadership Awards for southwest Oklahoma, attending this camp for many years.

Tragedy struck again in 2007 when his wife, Patricia, married for nearly 49 years, succumbed to cancer. Heartbroken but undeterred, he continued to help others. He remarried to Nita Fields a little over a year later. Ron's children and grandchildren were his highest priority. He sacrificed to help them achieve and took great pride in all their accomplishments.

All six of his living children obtained college degrees. Five of his six children served in the military and the sixth served as a military spouse for 20 years. His children's personal and professional accomplishments include; electrical engineer, career executive in oil and gas, architect, lawyer, pilot, retail management, two combat veterans, four military officers, four LDS returned missionaries, 22 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Ron continued flying after retirement from the Army. He loved flying his antique Taylorcraft and Cessna 150. He taught numerous people how to fly and encouraged several others that became aviators. Ronald would often fly over and photograph properties, events and even assisted with search and rescue. He was a patriot, pilot, realtor, Combat Veteran, counselor, bishop, father, husband, son, brother, and most of all a friend.

He loved all, didn't hold grudges, dedicated his life to the service of God and country. He's now resting, reunited with his sweet wife, son, father and mother and many others who passed on before him. When he departed this life and was greeted by his Savior, he most certainly was met with "Well done thou good and faithful servant." From all that was fortunate enough to know you, thank you for your life of service to others, you made this world a better place.

He was preceded in death by his son, Lorne Fishburn; his wife, Patricia Ruth Fishburn and his parents, Lewis and Ora Fishburn.

Ron is survived by his wife, Nita (Fields) Fishburn; two 19-OMM-4 Marathon OPA-EW, 3-08-44 indd daughters, Leah Fishburn and Mike Rios of Anchorage, Alaska, and Ronda Evans and husband, Matt, of Huntington Beach, Calif.; four sons, Tol Fishburn and wife, Cathryn, of Eagle River, Alaska, Brett Fishburn and wife, Kris, of Midland, Texas, Tate Fishburn and wife, Margaret, of Corrales, N.M. and Graham Fishburn of Purcell; brother, Rodney Fishburn of Layton, Utah; 22 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren and a host of other family and friends.

At the time, veterinary students were seated alphabetically so Martin and Minter got to know one another.

Tom and another veterinary student even roomed in Minter's basement.

"We did a lot of studying in that basement," he said.

Both men graduated as veterinarians in 1966. Minter, who was from McClain County, moved to Purcell to open a practice.

Tom and Pat married and then he enlisted in the Army.

The Vietnam War was ramping up, but Tom didn't deploy. He became ill and spent 30 days at Brooke Army Medical Center at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

After he recovered, the Army sent him to Ft. Sill where he was assigned as a post veterinarian.

On weekends and holidays, Tom would drive to Purcell and help Minter.

He and Pat also began at-

The Martins adopted Purcell as their home and became increasingly active in the community.

Not long after moving here, Tom attended a high school football game. The father of one of the players approached him and asked which Dragon was his son.

And seemed surprised when Tom told him his son was just 2.

"He asked me, 'Why are you here?' 'I just like football," Tom replied.

Raising the fowl was a big business in the area at the time, Tom said, and the breeders shipped birds all over the world. Blood tests were required before the breeders could get the health papers necessary for these transactions.

One day a man Tom didn't know came in with a game cock and requested a blood test.

The procedure called for someone to hold the rooster's legs while Tom lifted a wing and drew blood.

The man assured him that he could hold the legs.

But when Tom stuck the needle in, the rooster kicked free from the man's grip and sliced a gash across Tom's forehead with his spurs.

Pin for Autism program generating donations

Lexington High School wrestling is off to a good start for the 2019-2020

Head coach Jared Garrett said the Bulldogs knocked off Millwood 52-18 and Pauls Valley 42-36, while losing to Comanche.

Lexington competed in the Blanchard tournament with Dalton Matthews bringing home fourth place at 170 pounds and Brady Rillema was fourth at 182 pounds

"Both wrestlers are competing well so far this season," Garrett said.

The Bulldogs' next competition will be at Chickasha tonight (Thursday) and then to Weatherford Friday and Saturday for the Max Dippel Tourna-

This year is the first year the OSSAA is testing out an all girls division.

The junior high girls went to the Kingfisher tournament and brought home some hardware.

"It is exciting to be apart of a new sport for girls,' Garrett said. "Girls have been able to wrestle in the past in Oklahoma, but they had to compete against boys. It's great to see them have a chance to go out and compete.'

Placers at Kingfisher included Aubrey Ramos, Bailie Forbes, Izzy Pack, McKenzie Collins and Hope Grove.

Ramos, Forbes and Pack finished second while Collins and Grove turned in third place performances.

"Also this year we are doing something different," the coach continued. "We had Pin for Autism singlets made and the wrestlers are going out and getting sponsors to donate for every pin each wrestler gets.

"Toward the end of the season on February 5 the wrestlers will collect. All the money will be donated to the JD McCarty Center.

If you have any questions or wanted to come by and do more about the Pin for Autism to help out the cause that would be great," Garrett concluded.

Lexington splits Lindsay

Lady 'Dawgs continue streak, Bulldogs fall to Leopards

ToddNewville

The Purcell Register

The Lexington girls continued their stellar start after beating the Lindsay Leopards, 68-40, last Tuesday at home.

It was never really a contest. The Lady 'Dawgs took control early and kept the pedal to the metal. Lexington led 23-9 after the first quarter to take a commanding early advantage.

At halftime, the score was 34-23 as Lindsay tried to ease back into the game.

However, the Lady 'Dawgs came out of their locker room with a huge bite and outscored Lindsay, 30-4, in the third quarter to bring the score to 64-27.

Lexington pulled its foot off the pedal in the fourth period from the edge, chipping in 17 points. Amanda Graddy was also a potent weapon from outside as she scored 10 points.

"We have been playing well, no doubt," said Lexington head coach Derek Clark. "Before the season, we made one of our goals to go unbeaten by the time January rolls around."

The Lady 'Dawgs had the chance to do just that on Tuesday night. They hosted the Davis Wolves at 6:30 p.m. in their last game of 2019.

Boys

The 'Dawgs are now 1-3 on the year after losing to the Lindsay Leopards, 43-41, last Tuesday on a last-minute shot.

"Man, it's been tough," said but still coasted to the win. Se- head coach J.D. Beck. "We'll go on to the next op-

After the first quarter, Lexington led Lindsay, 10-7, thanks to a couple of key threepointers from Jaylen Cottrell. At the half, the score was 18-11 in favor of the 'Dawgs.

Things were looking good for Lexington at that point.

But, Lindsay fought its way back into the contest. After three quarters, the score was 30-25 in favor of the 'Dawgs.

In the fourth quarter, Lindsay outscored Lexington 18-11, thanks to some fancy outside shooting. The Leopards made Cottrell led Lexington with 12 points on the night. Teagin Pruitt had 10 points.

Josiah Dawley had eight points for Lexington while big man Colton Penner chipped in seven points in the paint.

Lexington hoped to get back on the winning track on Tuesday. The 'Dawgs hosted Davis (1-2) at 8 p.m.

Success in Conference tourney

Wayne boys get third, girls get Consolation

EmilyMontgomery The Purcell Register

Josh Trent and his Wayne Bulldogs had a full week of basketball action. Last Tuesday they were on the road for a win over ECP. Then, they traveled to Stratford for the Big 8 Conference tournament Thursday through Saturday.

Wayne had a win over Maud like I thought on Thursday to kick off the they would be all tournament.

Led by Kris Welch with 22 points, the Bulldogs pulled off the 12 point, 62-40 victory.

Also with double digits were Brannon Lewelling with 16 and Ethan Mullins with 11.

Holding a lead from the first quarter, Wayne outscored the Tigers in all four stanzas. Trent was pleased with his team's win.

"The boys played pretty well, but I know they have more in Wayne 54 them," Trent said.

In game two of the tournament, Wayne fell to Stratford 54-32.

Lewelling singed the nets for 17 points to lead the team.

"Not our best game by far, but we had some bright spots to build on as we go," Trent said.

The loss to Stratford set up the third place game with Dibble.

Wayne held the lead through three quarters, but gave up 16 points in the final stanza to force overtime.

The Bulldogs outscored the Demons 5-2 in overtime to pull Maud 38 off the win and earn third place in the tournament.

Once again, Brannon Lewelling led the Bulldogs in scoring with 18 points in the win.

James Spencer added 11. Last Tuesday Wayne notched a 52-48 win over the Badgers of ECP.

Lewelling and Mullins led all scorers with 21 and 15.

Similar to the Dibble game during the tournament, Wayne outscored ECP through the first three quarters then gave up 21 points in the final stanza.

But, it wasn't enough to overcome the lead Wayne had away with the win.

"The boys played hard and got a really good win. Brannon and Ethan led us in scoring but it was a hard fought win from everyone.

James Spencer's leadership and good basketball play have been a big key for our early success, Trent said.

Girls

The Lady Bulldogs faced the Lady Tigers of Maud in their first game of the Big 8 Conference tournament.

According to Trent, his girls played hard but struggled offensively in the one point, 38-37 loss.

McKenzie Fisher and Shyleigh Mantooth led the team with 10 and eight points, respectively. Haiden Parker added seven.

In their second game of the tournament, Wayne handled the Pauls Valley JV in a 42-33 win.

Kora Keith led the scoring in the 46-21 victory over Holdenville for the consolation trophy. Baker had a baker's dozen in the contest.

"I was extremely proud of my girls," Sikes said.

"We were down two starters (Chelsea Spain and Sandra Del Toro) due to illness. Even though we were short handed we were able to limit them to seven points in the second half. The biggest improvement so far this year over last year is our turnovers.

"I attribute it to maturity," Sikes continued. "We have cut our turnovers in half compared to last season."

Davis

Junior Mojo Browning and sophomore Nate Willis combined for 57 points taking up the slack for the injured senior point guard Gavin Nation in a 72-65 Dragon victory.

"Great win against Davis as we had two young players score 31 and 26 points," Raper said. "Mojo Browning and Nate Willis had big games for us.

"We were without senior and starting point guard Gavin Nation and those two really picked up the slack in scoring.'

Misael Duque added 10 points for the third player in double figures.

Nation will be out for an extended amount of time due to injury so it is important that each player step up their play during his absence," Raper concluded.

After a quick Dragon start, Davis drew within 19-17 at the end of the first quarter. The Wolves eventually led 31-20 at intermission but Purcell pulled away in the final half.

For the girls, Alicia Baker and Kora Keith both cut the cords for 17 points apiece. Chelsea Spain joined them in double digits with 10.

Baker had a double-double grabbing 14 rebounds.

Purcell was hot right out of the starting blocks ripping the strings for 23 first quarter points and eventually taking a 31-18 lead into the halftime locker room.

The two teams played almost even in the second half.

Purcell will close out the preholiday portion of the 2019-20 cage season tonight (Thursday) when they host Pauls Valley.

opportunity to create a unique piece of art about the importance of not littering and to be potentially selected for the 2021 Trash Poster Calendar.

The annual statewide calendar features student's antilitter posters, which remind Oklahomans to keep our land grand by not littering. The 2020 Trash Poster Calendar, which exhibits the winning entries, is available to the public for free while supplies last.

Now is the time for students to submit their art for the 2021 Trash Poster Calendar starting Dec. 1, 2019. One poster from the 2021 contest will be selected as the state Promotional Poster of the Year and printed in large format for the public to use in displays, newsletters and promotions, spreading the ful to our state.

Another poster is also selected and used on every entry form. The Department of Transportation spends nearly $6 million in taxpayer money annually to clean up litter across the state.

That total does not include the hundreds of volunteer hours put toward the cause.

The deadline for submissions to the 2021 contest is January 31 and students enrolled in Kindergarten through 12th grade are encouraged to show their creative talents by entering.

Entries must be received at the local county Department of Environmental Quality Office by Jan. 31, 2020.

The Wednesday night authe 11th chapter of Second Corinthians where the apostle Paul was warning Christians in Corinth not to be deceived by false teachers.

The Sunday morning adult ditorium class studied from Bible class looked at the fifth, sixth and seventh chapters of Revelation where John revealed the prophecies found in six of the seven seals on a scroll he saw in his vision.

During the Sunday morning assembly Keith Shackleford considered what the Lord has to offer after referencing a number of articles he had seen recently on how many young people were turning away from religion. Among the things the Lord has to offer are truth, stability and a high standard of ethics.

The Sunday evening lesson was a discussion of how God supplies all of man's needs, beginning with the reading of Revelation 7:13 and the sixth and 13th verses of Matthew six.

to participate in daily devotions or can be as simple as showing a seasonal picture or giving a piece of candy or other treat each day. The first printed Advent calendar was created in 1908 by a German named Gerhard Lang and was based on a tradition in his family.

The Advent wreath was originally made from a wagon wheel and first appeared in Germany in 1839. The Advent wreath evolved into a circular wreath that is covered with seasonal greenery, such as fir or pine boughs, holly berries, ivy, and pinecones with four or five candles nestled inside the circle.

The evergreens represent everlasting life, the circle reminds us of God's unending love, and the holly berries point to Jesus's sacrifice and death. There are different traditions about the colors of the candles, but we will use purple, pink, and white, although blue is sometimes used instead of purple.

Four candles are placed inside the circle with the white candle in the middle, which is optional. Three purple candles and one pink candle are lit for each of the first four Sundays of Advent, with the final center white candle being lit on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. Some families have an advent wreath in their homes and light the candles daily as part of their prayers and devotions or at meals.

There are different meanings or remembrances assigned to each of the candles. We will use the more common ones.

The candle for the third Sunday is pink and symbolizes joy. It is called the "Shepherd's Candle." To the shepherd's great joy, the angels announced that Jesus came for even the humble, unimportant people like them.

The candle for the fourth Sunday is purple and represents peace. It is called the "Angel's Candle." The angels announced that Jesus came to bring peace to all people, bringing them close to God and to each other again.

The fifth (white) candle in the center represents light and purity and is called "Christ's candle." It is lit on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day, symbolizing Jesus as the Light of the

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Foundation

Congratulations to our Veteran of the Week, Alvin Harbert. Mr. Harbert served our country as a member of the United States Marines. He makes his home in Warr Acres.

We will be closed all next week December 23-December 27 to enable our volunteers to spend time with their families. We will be open regular hours during the week of New Year's.

We are continuing to increase the number of volunteers who are available to assist the veterans and surviving spous visit us for assistance.

We have also started recruiting some of them to start working at 10 a.m. so that those who started at 4 a.m. can shorten their days.

We have signed the lease on the building next door, which will allow us to add more workstations. Hopefully, by the first of January, we will be able to increase the number of veterans we can accommodate each day.

Currently, we stop accepting Wednesdays — Evening them each Tuesday and Thursday morning when we reach 150. We appreciate each one of you for your patience and Senior Lunch, 4th Tuesday at understanding as we work to Noon; Men's Breakfast, 1st accommodate all of the veterans who need our assistance.

Last week 36 veterans were awarded 100 percent ratings for their service-connected disabilities. This group of veterans will receive a combined annual $ 1,451,312. Sixty-eight veterans received disability ratings between 10-90 percent and will receive a yearly combined $1,199,075.

As of December 12 we hit our 2019 goal and assisted 1,200 veterans achieving a VA Rating of 100 percent this year. Congratulations to each one of you. We are blessed to have been able to help you and your families.

We are a 501-3-C Non-Profit, which means our services are free to everyone who we assist with our services. We operate on donations from individuals, businesses, or grants we receive.

Our budget each month to provide services such as rents, utilities, transportation, and medical expenses for the men and women we assist is over $25,000. This equates to over $300,000 per year in services to veterans and their families.

For those of you who want to help us help others, please consider becoming a donor. Your gifts should be tax-deductible. You can donate directly on our website or mail to PO Box 592, Washington, OK 73093.

We have four transportation vans we use to transport veterans to their VA appointments. Our pantry also has food sacks big enough to feed a family for a week at a time. These are available to those in our community who are doing without. We want to do everything possible to make a difference in the lives of the men and women who served our country.

Counselors from the Vet Centers are here each session, and a Legal Aid representative is here on Thursdays. We look forward to your visit and thank you for trusting us to help you with your VA matters.

We are available every Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 1268 North Interstate Drive, Norman, OK 73072. We open the doors by 5:30 a.m., and we begin working as soon as volunteers have their computers ready.

Visit our website at dalekgrahamveteransfoundation.org for more information. There you will find a section on Frequently Asked Questions. You may also contact us at (405) 550-8806 for information or to schedule transportation.

Romantic reading

Brandi Castle's freshman class has been reading Romeo and Juliet. Their project was to create a mask using three different materials. The materials had to be a representation of a character. The students then wrote on who the character was and why the material portrayed their character.

Veteran of the Week

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Foundation Veteran of the Week is Alvin Harbert, a United States Marines Veteran. He got to ring the bell last week to commemorate his 100 percent rating decision after navigating the VA forms and processes with the Foundation throughout the past year. We appreciate Mr. Harbert for his service.

Holli Brewer's eighth grade science classes are studying ecosystems. Pictured is one of five classes that visited the on-campus, Box Turtle Bottom Camp to find each item on an ecosystem scavenger hunt list. Each class found every item on the list. A big note of appreciation goes to former science teacher, Mr. Anderson, and students, for building this wonderful place to have outside classrooms.
