

The candidates SPEAK

Who they are, where they stand, what they'll do

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

The Purcell Register reached out to the area's state and county candidates with questions on issues facing each office.

The only incumbent among them is Pam Irwin, Democrat candidate for county assessor.

Candidates are listed in alphabetical order in their respective races. Their responses follow:

State House District 20

SHERRIE CONLEY, Republican:

How can the State of Oklahoma better fund state government?

Oklahoma can better fund our state by diversification of our revenue streams. We need to attract new businesses by providing a strong workforce. This will require us investing in our education system.

What issues specific to your district will you address when the Legislature convenes?

I will address class sizes, training of emergency certified teachers, attracting more people into education, prison reform and rural health care.

What new ideas will you bring if elected?

I would like to look at possibly reforming the options for high school students for those who are choosing not to go to college through earlier career tech opportunities and internships while in high school.

Loosen up!

Delayed festival opens Saturday

Re-scheduled and rain-delayed, Loose Caboose is back on tap Saturday in downtown Purcell.

If the forecast holds, it will be ideal festival weather – mostly clear skies, a soft southerly breeze and a high of 67.

The popular street festival features vendors selling everything from fashions and antiques to goat milk products and jewelry.

And of course, food.

The festival will open at 9 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m.

Raising the roof

A roof truss for a new church is raised by hand by Purcell volunteers who went on a mission trip to a remote village along the Amazon River in Brazil.

Where the Lord sends you

Seventeen Purcell missionaries back from Brazil

Jeanne Grimes
The Purcell Register

It's a world – and a life – far removed from Purcell, Oklahoma.

And yet the Rev. Duane Elmore and his 16-member missionary team from Memorial Assembly of God were welcomed as friends and treated like family.

A special service at 6 p.m. Sunday will include testimony by team members, as well as one of the young men who served as an interpreter on the trip.

"We will share photos and video," Elmore said.

The service, which is open to the public, will be followed by a fellowship meal of baked potatoes in the church gymnasium.

The group included Fred Green, Dr. Rick Schmidt, Lennie Stanfield, Tristan Pounds, David Elmore, Sarah Elmore, Dillon Gardner, Scott and Cristal Hosek, Stephanie Gentry, Kathy Wollenberg, Pam Vaughn, Penny Massey, Randy Idleman and Bruce Clark.

The group left Oklahoma on September 17 and returned on September 23.

In the intervening days, they built a church, distributed 85 water filters, operated a medical clinic, offered a vacation Bible school and left people better off than they found them in the remote reaches of the Amazon River in Brazil.

From the city of Manaus, the group boarded the boat that would be their home for the remainder of their stay in Brazil and motored

Tick tock

Time to turn back those clocks

Daylight lovers, do not despair.

Yes, 2 a.m. Sunday is when the government messes with your circadian rhythms by returning the nation to standard time.

That means at 2 a.m. Sunday, the time will magically reset to 1 a.m. and we'll all have an hour to relive.

Not unlike the time loop in "Groundhog Day," except we will only get do-overs for 60 minutes and not a whole 24 hours.

If you plan to sleep through the time change, you may want to turn your timepieces back an hour before you go to bed Saturday night.

And like we already pointed out. Don't despair, because daylight savings returns on March 10, 2019.

Tax statement time

Deputy McClain County Treasurers Judy Taber, left, and Michelle Williams run 26,657 property tax statements through the postage machine at the courthouse on Monday. The 2018 statements are due on December 31. Property owners also have the option of paying half of their tax bill on December 31 and the balance on April 1. If no payment is received by January 15, interest will accrue at the rate of 1.5 percent per month.

Home destroyed by fire

Four area fire departments responded to a structure fire 10 miles east of Lexington last Monday morning.

Lexington Assistant Fire Chief Max Punneo reported that units from Lexington, Purcell, Cedar County and Slaughterville responded to a house fire but the structure was a total loss.

Punneo said fire was shooting out of the roof when firefighters arrived.

The home, owned by Brock Vinson, was 10 miles east and 2 1/2 miles south of SH 39.

Punneo said no one was at home at the time of the blaze. The Oklahoma State Fire Marshal's office was investigating the fire Tuesday.

The fire was reported at 11:35 a.m. at 18850 S. Flat Armadillo Road.

The 3,000 sq. ft. home was a complete loss, Punneo said.

Fall weather pattern

This fall like weather pattern will be continuing for the next week. Rain chances are possible for Thursday due to the cold front which moved through Wednesday. By the weekend however conditions will dry up and we will have sunny skies and temperatures in the 60s. Another front will move through Monday which again will bring rain chances and temperatures in the 50s.

PTO Turkey Trot set for November 9

The Purcell Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) is sponsoring the Annual Turkey Trot Fun Run on Friday, November 9.

The PTO is an active part of the Purcell school system, consisting of staff and parents with students in Pre-K through fifth grade.

PTO organizes the annual Turkey Trot at the school and various other fundraisers.

With the money raised in the past, the group bought the libraries $10,000 of new books, a new floor for the elementary school gym, 200+ iPads and cases for classrooms, a music system for the intermediate school, Smart Boards for classrooms along with other items. The PTO is a great way for parents to be involved with their children's education.

This year's Turkey Trot will be held at the Purcell Track.

Children and teachers are looking for sponsorships of any amount. They will walk, run, jog or skip around the track for one class period.

You can also sponsor a teacher for $50 or an administrator for $250.

Anyone interested in donating to the PTO can send a check to the Purcell PTO, 809 N. Ninth, Purcell OK 73080.

Time for smoke detector check and fall maintenance

Brenda Hill Extension Educator

Maybe age is just a number when it comes to living your best life, but it definitely matters when you are talking about smoke alarms protecting your home and family.

Smoke alarms should be replaced 10 years from their manufacture date. Look on the back of each smoke alarm in your house to locate the date of manufacture.

While you should test the smoke alarm every month, the upcoming fall Daylight Saving Time on November 4 provides the perfect reminder to also check those dates of manufacture.

Use the annual task of turning the clock back as a reminder to also complete other routine, but important home maintenance around the house. Changing the batteries in all the smoke detectors and carbon monoxide detectors should be near the top of your fall Daylight Savings Time to-do list.

Another crucial fall home maintenance activity involves checking light bulbs and light fixtures paying close attention to the areas at the top and bottom of staircases.

It is easier to move around in a well-lit house and it cuts the risk of you or a family member tripping or falling. This is especially important for older adults to consider.

You also should make sure

Cottage cheese to the rescue

Anyone who has ever cooked or eaten a chicken pot pie knows it takes forever.

Back in the 1960s my sister and I would be starving by the time our mother would pull the pies out of the oven.

We were so hungry but as you know, the chicken pot pie comes out of the oven piping hot.

They come out too hot to handle or eat.

So one time our mom had the idea to put some cottage cheese fresh out of the fridge in the pot pie to cool it down.

It worked like a charm.

The other night Gracie had popped a couple of pot pies in the oven.

When she served up the tasty dish she said, "I've got cottage cheese."

So I plucked the cottage

Editor's Notebook

cheese out of the ice box and slapped some in my chicken pot pie.

Just like the old days, it cooled the pie off like a charm.

The odd thing is you really can't taste the cottage cheese.

Only the pot pie.

That's a good thing since I think cottage cheese is dreadful to eat.

East coast folks slay me sometimes and Tuesday's weather report by Al Roker on the Today Show was a classic example.

Roker had the weather map up showing where there would be widespread and heavy rain as Tuesday unfolded.

The rain was from Little Rock, Ark., through Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and up to Pittsburgh, PA.

Roker called that "the central part of the country".

I probably wasn't an A student in geography but you've got to be kidding to say that is the middle of the country.

If the Appalachian Mountains are in the middle of the country where is Kansas?

Cuddling cows & mistletoe

My get-rich-quick schemes have never panned out

WANTED: One cow. Gentle nature and kind disposition a must. Must like people. Prefer a Jersey, but will consider a British White (I've heard really good things about their demeanor). Prefer to rent, but willing to buy the right cow.

I composed the above ad while scrolling through Facebook last week.

It popped up out of the blue as one of those items that Facebook is so sure you want to see on your news feed instead of, you know, actual posts and photos from people you know and count as your friends.

It seems there's this farm in New York that offers city dwellers a "Horse & Cow Experience."

Said experience involves fleecing the rubes, er, offering customers the opportunity to

MUCH ADO

Jeanne Grimes

cuddle a cow and horse for just $3.33 per minute. Ninety minute sessions are available for a paltry $300.

If you don't want the full ride, cows are available for cuddling at the bargain rate of $75 for 60 minutes of bovine bliss.

The article was pretty sketchy on what is offered with the horses. Riding them wasn't mentioned.

No worry there. I have two "pasture ornaments" and if someone wants to catch one of them and bring it to the barn, I will let that person groom it.

In the heart of horse and cow country, those prices may be a tad high. There are just not enough city-dwelling yankees in these parts.

So I think 30 minutes each of horse catching/grooming and cow cuddling for $59.95 is a fair price.

I'm sure it will be just a matter of time before I'm awash in greenbacks.

Why, I haven't felt this level

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

Responsibly preserving mandatory programs

Congressman Tom Cole

Following the recently ended fiscal year, it was reported that the federal government's budget deficit increased significantly compared to the previous year. While this is certainly discouraging news, the existence of a deficit is not surprising or unusual.

Critics are, of course, quick to blame the implementation of tax reform as the chief contributor to the recent deficit. However, the reality is that another factor has for years been driving deficits and as a result, adding to the national debt.

To provide some context, federal spending falls into a couple of general categories: discretionary and mandatory. During the annual budget and appropriations process, lawmakers address only the discretionary side of the budget.

Mandatory spending, on the other hand, is essentially left as is unless lawmakers offer solutions for reform to various programs.

The problem is that the mandatory side of the budget – including interest on the national debt – is by far the largest category and rapidly growing.

According to the Congressional Budget Office (CBO), mandatory represented 34 percent of all government spending in 1965; today, that figure has risen dramatically to reflect more than two-thirds of all spending in 2018. By 2028, mandatory is on track to cover at least 77 percent of all spending.

Mandatory is mostly comprised of safety net programs like Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid. These programs, which serve many vulnerable Americans, are structured in a way that requires the government to automatically pay out benefits to those eligible and enrolled.

Despite claims to the contrary, Republican lawmakers are not pushing to eliminate mandatory programs or to senselessly cut the benefits promised to program participants. But if nothing is done at all to preserve the long-term existence of benefits, lawmakers recognize a nearing and far worse reality.

Without thoughtful reform, mandatory programs will eventually fail to deliver.

In fact, CBO projected that the federal trust funds connected to Medicare and Social Security are quickly nearing insolvency.

On the current path, Social Security as a whole is expected to become insolvent by 2030 – with the Social Security Disability Insurance Trust Fund unable to pay out full benefits as early as 2025.

Medicare also faces an indefinite future; CBO recently projected that the Hospital Insurance Trust Fund could be insolvent by 2026.

In response to these warning signs, Republican lawmakers have consistently and responsibly responded with solutions to save and sustain the programs.

For example, the House Budget Committee on which I sit this summer advanced a budget which calls for lawmakers to find at least $302 billion in deficit reduction over the next 10 years.

It is important to mention that solutions are not limited to the Republican side of the aisle. Along with my Democrat House colleague John Delaney, I was proud to again introduce legislation this Congress that

Our Views

MOVIES WITH DAVE

By David Stull

Only a couple movies this week to close out the month of October.

Soon there will be a ton of family movies vying to earn the top spot this Thanksgiving. Not to mention a host of awards contenders sure to release in the following months.

But until then we have these two movies. One of which features Jonah Hill in his directorial debut, while the other is another Gerard Butler action flick.

Let's get right to the reviews.

***

First up is "Mid90s."

This film follows Stevie (Sunny Suljic), a thirteen-year-old in 90s-era Los Angeles who spends his summer navigating between his troubled home life and a group of new friends he meets at a skate shop.

Here we are again with another debut of a first time director. This time it's Jonah Hill's turn.

Best known for comedic roles in movies like "Superbad" and "21 Jump Street," Hill has more recently been showing the depth of his acting ability with excellent dramatic performances in films like "The Wolf of Wall Street" and "Moneyball," the latter of which earned him an Oscar nod.

This time not only is Hill in the director's chair, but he's also the film's screenwriter. And I must say, for his first time, Hill ended up making a pretty solid debut.

Storywise there isn't all that much to this movie. It basically just follows this one 13-year-old kid living his life, trying his best to fit in with this hodgepodge of older teens he looks up to.

Throughout the movie Stevie ends up smoking, drinking, taking drugs, basically running the gamut of things teenagers shouldn't do, but end up doing

Expand medicaid

Dear Editor:

Over the last five years, six rural Oklahoma hospitals including Pauls Valley have been forced to close their doors.

Several others have survived by increasing their funding support by their communities increasing sales taxes. Concerned citizens are very much appreciated.

Meanwhile, for many years our metro based state leaders have not allowed expansion of medicaid which would allow 200,000 working adults and children to have covered medical care. This expansion will cost Oklahoma about $100 million but will bring back about $900 million that has left Oklahoma and gone to Washington D.C. Incredibly our tax dollars are then allocated to other states where they pay for health care for their citizens.

I have yet to meet anyone that would not "buy one get nine more back". This $1 billion dollars will go directly back to the doctors and hospitals to help cover the cost of these working Oklahomans.

Realize this, hospitals must treat everyone and they currently receive no funds for the 200,000 people. These costs are then transferred as increased costs or the hospital closes. How many uninsured patients can a hospital serve and still survive? That is the question.

Thirty-three states have expanded medicaid services and have more dollars circulating through their economy. Three more are voting this week to expand services. As a person recently said, "if a company was bringing a $900 million payroll to the state we would put up a million bucks for "incentives" and host a parade.

The medicaid expansion also covers addiction treatment in addition to the newly passed first wave of emergency money to target the U.S. opioid crisis. This will slow the growth rate of our overcrowded prisons thus saving more limited resources. Tell your soon to be elected state officials to bring our tax dollars home.

Expand medicaid.

Sincerely,
Glenn A. Mead, D.D.S

anyway. Surprisingly though, this movie doesn't end up being a cautionary tale about how falling in with the wrong crowd can ruin your life. Nor is it an exhibition on the devastating effects drugs and alcohol can have on a young adolescent mind.

In fact, there isn't really a message here at all, at least none that I took away from the film.

And that's probably the weakest aspect of this movie. It doesn't really seem like it's trying to say or build up to anything.

It's just a slice of life during the 90s. That's all.

Despite lack of compelling narrative I still found the movie pretty engaging though. And that's mostly due to a very likable main character.

Sunny Suljic is fantastic here. It's such a huge contrast to his performance as Tarby in "The House with a Clock in Its Walls" it's not even funny. All the younger actors were terrible in that movie though, so I put very little blame on him. When all the performances are bad, that's a problem with the director, not the actors.

It's hard not to relate to someone in Stevie's position. Desperately wanting to fit in with his new found friends, not wanting to say or do anything that would alienate himself from them.

But again, this movie doesn't have all that much of a story, or character growth for that matter, and things just generally work out well for Stevie.

Sure, he gets in fights with his mother (Katherine Waterston), brother (Lucas Hedges), and even some of his friends, but none of the confrontations end up amounting to all that much. That's not to say Stevie has an easy carefree life, his jerk of a brother makes sure of that, but by the end of the film no one seems to have grown or changed as people.

Stevie makes mistakes, but doesn't learn anything from them. His friends don't change. His brother is still a jerk. I guess Stevie's mom changes a little as she begins to tolerate Stevie's friends by the end of the film, but she's not exactly the movie's main character.

I think the main appeal for this film has to be the 90s aesthetic, and that's definitely where this movie shines.

It has everything you'd expect. Stevie wears nothing but branded shirts featuring the likes of "Street Fighter," "Ren and Stimpy," and "Beavis and Butthead," not to mention a "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles" comforter set.

Plus the soundtrack is chock full of various 90s hits and the general way the movie was filmed gives a 90s feel to everything.

Jonah Hill was clearly banking on nostalgia selling this movie. Unfortunately it didn't do much for me considering I wasn't Stevie's age until the early 2000s.

I still enjoyed the overall look and feel to the film, it just wasn't the least bit nostalgic to me.

Despite my complaints about the lack of a narrative and weak character development, I still did enjoy this movie. Sure the characters don't change all that much, but they're likeable and fun to be around regardless.

Jonah Hill did pretty well for his first time in the director's chair. "Mid90s" isn't something I'd rush out to see, but if your a person who yearns for the days when Seal was number one on the charts with "Kiss From A Rose," this might just be the film for you.

"Mid90s" is rated R.

The other movie this week is "Hunter Killer."

Deep under the Arctic Ocean, American submarine

Captain Joe Glass (Gerard Butler) is on the hunt for a U.S. sub in distress when he discovers a secret Russian coup is in the works, threatening to decimate world stability.

Gerard Butler certainly knows how to pick 'em.

I swear it seems like it's been years since I've seen the man in a good movie.

"Olympus Has Fallen" was probably his best film in the last five years, and that's extremely faint praise.

Especially when he's starred in the likes of "Gods Of Egypt," "Den of Thieves," "London Has Fallen," and "Geostorm."

At this point whenever I see Butler's face in a trailer, I automatically assume the movie is going to be terrible.

And this film does absolutely nothing to change that expectation.

"Hunter Killer" is just another empty, chest-beating, hooyah shouting, bravado fest. There isn't all that much too it.

The story plays out exactly how you expect with zero surprises.

The characters have little to no depth and amount to nothing more than shallow military caricatures.

Not only all that, but the camera work for this movie is downright atrocious.

For the most part, the film is trying its best to imitate the look of a Michael Bay movie, which is far from a positive in my book.

And then there's the shaky cam.

For the life of me I can't figure out why filmmakers keep shaking the camera around like a dang tamborine, especially while nothing action related is even going on.

It was so bizarre. One scene, during a crowded meeting, the camera moved around so much that it repeatedly showed the back of random people's heads, blocking the person were actually supposed to focus on.

How can you purposely film your movie this poorly? I don't understand it.

All that said though, despite its incredibly shallow nature, I could definitely see a fair amount of people enjoying this movie.

After all, it is a Gerard Butler film. Anyone who didn't turn off their brain before sitting down and watching this movie probably should know better.

This is exactly the type of film my dad would find channel surfing, maybe on a channel like TNT or TBS, and would promptly fall asleep to. The perfect kind of background noise for taking a nap.

There's no way I'd recommend seeing this movie in theaters, but it might be worth a cheap rental if you're someone who enjoys easy to watch military action movies.

Those searching for any kind of substance should point their rudders elsewhere.

"Hunter Killer" is rated R.

of confidence in a business opportunity since the year I almost cornered the mistletoe market.

Long, long ago during the holidays, I visited my sister who lived in Columbus, Ohio.

Her home was tastefully decorated for the season. One of the items was what can only be described as a nosegay of mistletoe – a couple of small stems, five or six leaves and maybe three berries. All bundled up and tied with a penny's length of red ribbon.

"Where did you get this?"

"I bought it at a craft show."

"If you don't mind my asking, what did it cost you?"

"Five dollars."

In 1969, that was FIVE DOLLARS.

Hmmm, the entrepreneurial wheels were turning in my head.

Back in Oklahoma, my parents owned land covered with timber and most of the trees were hosting healthy growths of mistletoe.

We were rich beyond our dreams and didn't know it.

I returned to Oklahoma and though I can't recall how I managed given my fear of heights and distrust of tall ladders, I harvested several grocery sacks full of mistletoe.

With such a bountiful harvest, I was on the cusp of financial independence.

Alas, that is when I learned first-hand all about supply and demand. As in I had way too much supply and zero demand.

My fellow Oklahomans were unwilling to pay for a parasitic twig, even when said twig was the official state flower.

Sure, those gullible Buckeyes might buy my mistletoe. But the transportation costs? Pffft, there went any profits I hoped to make.

And I realized after storing my harvest a few days in grocery sacks that mistletoe is perishable with a short shelf life.

Supply and demand. Maybe I won't run that ad after all.

Don't delay anymore, get that flu shot today

By Bob Moos/Southwest public affairs officer for the U.S. Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services

It's not too late to get a flu shot.

Even though the flu season usually begins about now, the vaccine will protect you within about two weeks. The season typically peaks in January or February and runs through May.

The flu hospitalized and killed more Americans last winter than any seasonal influenza in decades. More than 900,000 people landed in the hospital, double the number of many seasons. More than 80,000 people died, far exceeding the previous high of 56,000 for a flu season over the past 30 years.

The hospitalizations and deaths were mainly among people 65 and older. As people age, their immune system typically weakens and their ability to ward off diseases declines. Moreover, the flu virus can cause complications for those already struggling with chronic health problems.

Last year's heavy toll underscores the importance of getting a flu vaccine as soon as possible. The shot can prevent infections and reduce the severity of complications from the disease.

If you're enrolled in Medicare Part B, your flu shot won't cost you anything, as long as your doctor, health clinic or pharmacy agrees not to charge you more than Medicare pays. There's no deductible or co-payment.

If you were vaccinated last year, you'll still need another shot this year, since your immunity to flu viruses wanes after a year. Also, the types of viruses usually change from season to season, so new vaccines are made each year to fight what scientists believe will be the season's most common strains.

You have many flu shot options. Besides the traditional flu vaccines that help protect against three strains of the virus, there are now "quadrivalent" vaccines that help protect against four strains. There's also a high-dose vaccine approved for people 65 and older.

If you have any questions about which is best for you, talk to your doctor or other health care professional.

Despite the risk that flu and its complications pose, the

Okeyha Mothers Club Holiday Home Tour set for December 2

The annual Okeyha Mothers Club Holiday Home Tour is scheduled for Sunday, December 2, from 2 to 5 p.m.

This year's tour will include six Heart of Oklahoma area homes.

Holiday Home Tour patrons will have the opportunity to view the homes of Greg and Andrea Nesbitt, Brian and Kim Bacon, Kristy and Rick Brock, Cari and Joe Torres, Greg and Andrea Nesbitt, Chris and Amber Cook and Pam and Al Dodson.

The home of Pam and Al Dodson will be featured in this issue of The Purcell Register.

The Dodson's home is located a 826 N. 4th in Purcell.

The home was built in the 50s and the couple purchased it in 2012.

"We love the lot, the long front porch and all the mature trees," Mrs. Dodson said, "and we especially love the original hardwood floors in the house." "The remodeled kitchen is a special feature in our home," she said. "When we purchased the home we gutted the kitchen and bath and had them redone."

The three bedroom home is decorated in reds, gold and green.

A Country Kitchen will be stocked with home-baked goods available for sale at the home of Rick and Kristi Brock, 18534 Johnson Ave., in Purcell.

The Holiday Home Tour is a yearly fundraiser for the Okeyha Mothers Club. The club uses funds raised to support community projects and give a scholarship to a graduating senior.

Tickets can be purchased in advance for $10 from any Okeyha Mothers Club member or at the Purcell Vision Clinic or may be purchased at the door for $12.

Mothers Entwined Club Goldsby Country Christmas Home Tour

Mark your calendars for the Mothers Entwined 2018 Christmas Home Tour which is scheduled for Sunday, December 9, from 1-3:30 p.m.

The home highlighted this week for the Mothers Entwined 2017 Goldsby Country Christmas Home Tour is the home of Lonny and Patty Dorman.

The Dorman's home is located at 23809 Reece Lake Road in Goldsby.

The Dormans have lived in their home 15 years. They purchased their home new in 2003 and added an in-ground pool in 2004. They completely remodeled the home in 2009 and added 900 square feet with an enclosed patio in 2010.

"The style of our home is ranch," Mrs. Dorman said. "It is decorated in neutral colors."

This is only one of the four fabulous homes and two special bonus locations on the Mothers Entwined 2018 Goldsby Country Christmas Home Tour.

You can purchase your tickets for $15 from any Mothers Entwined Club member, Goldsby Town Hall, the office of Roger Cudd, Marcum's Nursery, at the home tour or online at <https://mothersentwined1.ticketleap.com> and there is a link on the club's Facebook page.

Beulah Bromley celebrates 80th birthday

By Harley Bromley

Beulah Bromley reached another milestone Oct. 25, 2018. Eighty years ago at Berwyn, Okla., she was born as the third child of the Floyd Brooks Family. Three years later the town's name was changed to Gene Autry.

On October 25 Beulah and her "sidekick" Harley Bromley found Gene Autry and visited the Gene Autry Museum. Continuing their vacation to Ardmore Thursday evening everything was going great.

Friday morning in the motel, Beulah fell, bumped her head, sprained her wrist and fractured her upper arm. Her "sidekick" knew instantly that something was wrong because she was not hungry and had not even snacked before breakfast.

Harley call 911 and an ambulance picked her up and took her to Mercy Hospital in Ardmore where tests and x-rays were taken.

She was released in Harley's custody and he took her back to the motel, where they rested until Sunday.

Beulah and her "sidekick" are still going, but mostly for health care visits.

This slow-cooker recipe is so easy and really good.

Easy Crockpot Chicken Enchilada Chili

10 oz. can red enchilada sauce
14.5 oz. can petite diced tomatoes with green chilis
15 oz. can chili beans in mild chili sauce

15 oz. can black beans, drained and rinsed
1.5 can corn, drained
1 and 1/2 pounds boneless skinless chicken breasts ~ 2-3 large breasts

2 cups chicken stock or chicken broth
8 oz. pkg. cream cheese, very soft

Seasonings
1/2 tsp. ground cumin
3/4 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. seasoned salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 and 1/2 tablespoons chili powder

In a large crockpot, add in the enchilada sauce, undrained tomatoes, undrained chili beans, drained and rinsed black beans, drained corn, and uncooked chicken breasts.

I like to cut each chicken breasts into 2-3 pieces after removing the fat only if I'm cooking this on high (cooks faster/more evenly in my crockpot).

Add in the chicken stock and all of the seasonings. Stir well. Cover and place on high for 3-5 hours (or until chicken will easily shred) or low for 5-8 hours (again, until chicken will shred easily)

Remove the chicken from the crockpot and shred in another bowl using two forks.

Meanwhile, cube the cream cheese into small cubes, it should be very softened, and put them in the crockpot. Stir well and cover. Change temperature to high. Let it sit for a few minutes and then using a large whisk, briskly whisk the cream cheese to melt.

Add the shredded chicken back into the crockpot. Stir and cover. Cook on high until all the cream cheese is completely melted. Stir.

Purcell Senior Citizens

By Fredda Perry

Oh what beautiful days we have had this Monday and Tuesday. We will have to wait and see what the rest of the week brings us. We can hope for good weather for Wednesday and Thursday even though some of the weathermen are not predicting good weather.

We have one regular season football game and then playoff games for the high schools. So, that means Game Day is still on. At the present, the Sooners and the Dragons are ahead as far as the winning teams. Don't forget to wear your shirts. Remember there is a surprise for the winning team.

Our number is holding and we are so glad. We have been having a good number for lunch. We have had six or seven new people visiting with us this week. We are so glad to have Bennie and Virginia Boyston and Joyce Rinehart eating lunch with us this week. We are going to try to enjoy Halloween on Thursday at the center.

Remember, if you are planning to eat with the seniors, it is necessary to call and make a reservation by 8 a.m. that day or the afternoon before. The cooks need to be able to get a correct count for lunch. Call Evelyn or John at 527-9462.

The senior garage sale for this week will be Thursday, November 1, and Friday, November 2. It will start at 8 a.m. and last until 3 p.m. Come by and check out the items in the garage sale building. New items are added every week. There is a nice baby bed and the ladies have been getting the Christmas decorations out. If you need Christmas decor, come by and check the goods. The prices will be very good.

Kody Gober with MCM Insurance will be joining us for bingo last week. He also furnished the birthday cake for this month's birthday celebration.

Thursday is bingo day every week. Bingo starts promptly at 10 a.m. Everyone needs to be in their chair at 10 a.m. so the games can begin on time. Everyone is a winner before we are finished.

If you know someone who needs help with their noon meal at their home, call the Delta Nutrition Center at 527-9462 and ask for John, the site manager.

If you need a place for a special celebration, birthday party, family reunion or any type of class, check out the senior center. Call the center at 527-5070 and ask for Fredda or Hester.

Menu for the week of November 5-9:

Monday—Grilled cheese sandwich, vegetable beef soup, tossed salad with dressing, crackers, chocolate sheet cake.

Tuesday—Macaroni and cheese with ham, broccoli, Harvard beets, hot roll or cornbread, margarine, fruit salad.

Wednesday—Chicken and dumplings, peas, carrots, sliced bread or roll, margarine, pumpkin pie.

Thursday—Southwest stew, coleslaw, spiced applesauce, cornbread, margarine, sugar cookies.

Friday—Meatloaf with ketchup topping, mashed potatoes with gravy, green beans, roll, margarine, gelatin with topping.

Thought for the Week: Be kind, for everyone you meet is fighting a battle you know nothing about.

Flu:

vaccination rate remains much lower than it should be. Even during last year's horrible season, less than half of the U.S. population was vaccinated.

Why? Some people don't understand that the flu can be serious and life-threatening, so they don't think a flu shot is worth their time and effort. Others resist annual vaccination because they believe it's risky, even though decades of experience have shown flu shots to be safe.

If you're concerned about a serious allergic reaction or some other medical condition that may make the flu vaccine unsafe for you, you should consult your doctor before a vaccination. Otherwise, it's important to remember that you can't get the flu from the flu shot.

Side effects are rare. Most people notice nothing after their vaccination. A few may have a slight fever or some soreness where the shot was given. But those side effects usually last just a day or two.

As flu season begins, you'll want to wash your hands and stay away from sick people to reduce the spread of germs. But as useful as those steps are, an annual vaccination remains the best way to protect yourself and those around you. By avoiding the flu, you'll avoid giving it to family and friends.

We appreciate your business!

Vote to Re-Elect Pam Irwin on November 6th

My name is Pam Irwin and I have been the McClain County Assessor for the past eight years. Upon being sworn in, I took an oath of office that said I would assess all property as provided by law. That means that although I listen to every taxpayer who has a concern, I am not at liberty to adjust values to simply lower property taxes. The assessor's responsibility is to value and assess real estate and personal property located within the county. Contrary to popular misconceptions, the assessor does not set the tax rate or determine the amount of taxes. There is no policy made within the assessor's office, so it can neither be called conservative nor liberal.

My opponent is indicating that somehow, she will determine the correct understanding of how the valuation of property is supposed to work. That would mean, in her opinion, the Tax Commission, Governor, State Board of Equalization, Attorney General, along with the other 76 county assessors and their district attorneys somehow have it all wrong, too. Someone can argue otherwise, but the Supreme Court has ruled that an assessor is required to follow the statutes and not make their own interpretations of the constitution.

You, as a taxpayer have a time frame provided each year in which you can dispute the value placed on your property. During my time as assessor, there has never been a protest filed according to the guidelines set forth in the Oklahoma Statutes that has not been heard and responded to. Records in the assessor's office are available for review at any time, provided they are not privileged or otherwise exempt from disclosure. I have a staff in place that is always ready to assist our taxpayers in any and every way and always with respect.

My husband and I have both been McClain County residents since we were children. Our kids were both raised here. I served on the Purcell School Board for thirteen years and am currently a member of the Purcell Public Schools Foundation. Our church home is First Baptist Purcell. My heart is here, and I will continue to serve you with honor and integrity.

Valuation fairness and equity for all taxpayers is the ultimate goal. I take my job seriously and strive at all times to uphold the Constitution and the Statutes, while at the same time providing the highest level of service, fairness, equity and accuracy for the taxpayers of McClain County. You need a knowledgeable assessor who understands this system, not someone who seeks to incorrectly reinvent it according to her own understanding of things.

I am asking that you carefully consider your choice for assessor on November 6th. My opponent's inexperience could come at the expense of the taxpayers. Our schools, career techs, libraries, seniors and health department all depend on you and me.

Respectfully,
Pam Irwin

Many opioid addicts shut out of sober-living homes

Whitney Bryen
Oklahoma Watch

Addiction-recovery homes across Oklahoma are turning away people who are trying to escape opioid addiction by taking medications considered highly effective for recovery.

Oxford House, one of the state's largest networks of recovery homes for drug and alcohol addiction, is trying to convince more of its residences to accept applicants who are taking prescription drugs that curb cravings and withdrawal symptoms, like Suboxone or methadone. But resistance is strong.

Each of the 110 Oxford Houses in the state, there are 2,400 nationally, is autonomous, and residents vote on whether to allow applicants to live there.

Because Oxford Houses are sober-living homes, meaning they discourage the use of any addictive drugs or alcohol, many residents oppose letting in newcomers who are taking drugs like Suboxone designed to help transition them out of opioid addiction.

Residents are concerned that presence of Suboxone and methadone, which also can be addictive, will jeopardize their sobriety.

Among 835 residents in Oxford Houses across the state, about 40, or less than 5 percent, are on medication-assisted treatment involving Suboxone or methadone, according to Dan Hahn, who coordinates state-wide outreach for the nonprofit. This is up from zero 11 months ago.

The Oklahoma Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services obtained a $7.3 million federal grant last year to address the state's opioid crisis, which has led to hundreds of fatal overdoses each year. (In 2016, opioids were responsible for 444 deaths, the National Institute on Drug Abuse reports.) A small portion of the grant, $140,000, went to Oxford House to help educate residents about the value of medication-assisted treatment.

"One of the greatest strengths of Oxford House is also one of its weaknesses," the grant application states. "Oxford House functions as a true democracy and new members are voted in (and sometimes out) of a house with an 80 percent majority vote." But "the stigma and lack of clear understanding ... usually results in a 'no' vote for a (medication-assisted recovery) person." The application, however, noted there are signs of change.

Jeff Dismukes, a spokesman for the mental health department, said sober-living conditions are crucial to a successful recovery. "Going back to an environment where people are using isn't conducive to recovery. It's not an option," he said.

Some Residents Concerned
Wendy Knapp has spent decades in and out of recovery programs for drug and alcohol addiction. Today, the 56-year-old fast-food worker is three years sober and living in Oxford House Boomer in Norman. She is confident that this time her recovery will stick.

After each relapse, Knapp quit cold turkey, relying on abstinence, sober-living homes and peer-support groups to stay clean. So when a woman who was using prescribed medication to treat her opioid addiction applied to join the house this summer, Knapp voted against her, and the woman was turned away.

"We don't want that here," Knapp said. "We talked about it, and we just don't agree with that in this house."

The feeling is similar at Oxford House Amina in Ardmore, which is dealing with the dilemma. Resident Natasha Knight said recently that the house was about to interview an applicant who was on medication assistance and that she likely would be rejected.

"For some people in the house, yes, it's a problem," Knight said. "I went to a seminar about a month ago that opened my eyes, but before that I was completely against it. She'll probably get voted down because of that."

The resistance to admitting people who are using medication-assisted treatment for opioid dependence is rooted in a culture of total abstinence, found in many peer-support programs like Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous.

On its national website, Oxford House says, "In its simplest form, an Oxford House is a democratically run, self-supporting and drug-free home." Residents pay rent and expenses, and typical homes contain anywhere from six to 16 residents, which means in smaller houses one vote is enough to block an applicant from moving in.

In 2010, Oxford House updated its policy from a prohibition on medication-assisted treatment to allowing residents to make the call.

"We're trying to maintain the integrity of our model, but also be progressive because we know things are changing," Hahn said. Mixed Messages

Much of the controversy surrounds the growing use of Suboxone, which addiction specialists say is effective when combined with counseling and, eventually, peer-support programs. Suboxone is a combination of the opioid buprenorphine and the drug naloxone, which blocks the effects of other opioids and deters abuse of the prescription.

Oklahoma doctors have written more than 169,000 prescriptions for medications containing buprenorphine so far this year, according to data from the Oklahoma Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs Control. That's up from roughly 145,000 in 2014.

Dr. Layne Subera is one of more than 250 practitioners in Oklahoma certified to prescribe buprenorphine. Physicians must seek a waiver from the Drug Enforcement Administration and have a cap on the number of patients they can treat with the drug. Subera, a family physician in Skiatook, just north of Tulsa, said it is challenging to find residential programs for his 140 patients on medication-assisted treatment.

Many sober-living homes, mental health facilities and peer-support groups across the state reject patients on these medications because they don't understand the treatment's value, he said.

"A lot of people don't like the idea that we're fighting an opioid addiction with opioids, but I like to think of it more like fighting fire with fire," Subera said. "It's not perfect, but it's the best we have right now."

Hahn, of Oxford House, said he is working to educate residents about medication-assisted treatment and promote "multiple pathways to recovery." He said these efforts are helping sway opinions in many urban-area houses, but perceptions are harder to shift in rural locations.

Since late 2017, the majority of patients on medication-assisted treatment who have applied to Oxford House have been accepted, Hahn said. But residents said many don't even apply to get into a house because of the homes' reputation for turning people away.

Hahn said people using medication for treatment are not a good fit for every home. They should be redirected from homes where residents — about 100 of them now — are in recovery from Suboxone abuse, he said.

New houses, those with high turnover or transitioning leadership should also be ruled out. Residents on medications put more responsibility on house leaders such as forcing them to perform daily pill counts, he said.

Tulsa's Oxford House Green Country was one of the first in Oklahoma to accept someone on Suboxone. Resident Shannon Kelly, who has lived in the house for 10 months, said two women on medication assistance have moved in and fit in well.

Taylyr Williams, 27, was not on medication in January when she applied to Norman's Oxford House Elmhurst. Williams had abused opioids on and off for about eight years, starting with Oxycontin and graduating to heroin. She tried to pull herself out of the cycle, but without any treatment programs or support groups to rely on, she relapsed repeatedly. She even relapsed once after moving into an Oxford House. She decided to seek additional help.

"I watched my sister who was even worse off than I was, and then she went on Suboxone and it was successful for her," Williams said. "I used to be against it, too, but that changed my entire outlook on it."

Williams waited two months for an appointment at a Norman clinic, where she was eventually put on a treatment plan that included Suboxone. Since Williams was already living in an Oxford House, she was required to get approval from her housemates to bring her daily dose into the house.

She spoke to them during a house meeting and they approved her request. Williams said her house is very open-minded and accepting.

"The meds help with the cravings so I don't really even think about it that much anymore," Williams said. "They made a huge difference for me in staying sober this time."

Despite testimonials like those, suspicions persist.

Troy Rouse, who lives in Oxford House Rockford in Ardmore, said he is weary of anyone taking medication after watching his sister abuse her Suboxone prescription. Rouse said he doesn't think prescription treatment is a good idea for any addict, and "if someone came to the house, I'd let them know that pills like those wouldn't be good for any addict."

November is National Hospice Month

November is National Hospice Month, when hospices raise awareness in their communities, honor and support their patients and families, and recognize the contributions of professionals and volunteers who provide hospice care.

Hospice by Loving Care will sponsor community events throughout the month of November and December across central Oklahoma.

Five hospice memorial services will be held for those who have recently experienced the death of a loved one.

The program includes a complimentary meal, candle lighting ceremony, and helpful resources for those who have experienced loss.

Services will be held on: Thursday, November 1, from 12 to 1:30 p.m. in Noble at 128 South Main;

Thursday, November 8, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in Purcell at 301 West Main;

Friday, November 9, from 12 to 1:30 p.m. in Purcell at 301 West Main;

Tuesday, November 13, from 12 to 1:30 p.m. in Lindsay at 301 East Cherokee, Suite A; Wednesday, December 5, from 12 to 2 p.m. in Shawnee at Harvest Creek, 10165 N Harrison Ave.

Bereavement support groups are also offered throughout the year either monthly or quarterly.

Please call the Loving Care offices at 872-7393 for Noble; 527-3756 for Purcell or Lindsay; or 395-9300 for Shawnee if you are interested in attending either the Memorial Luncheon or a Bereavement Support Group in your community.

Coping with a serious or life-limiting illness can be overwhelming. Working with doctors and hospitals, navigating the maze of care needs, figuring out insurance coverage, all in addition to taking care of your family is never easy.

Loving Care Hospice wants the community to know that there is help available. Hospice care providers take the time to talk with you and help you understand your illness and what care options might be possible.

They make your wishes a priority and assist you in receiving the care you want and deserve.

Senators thank ODOT for addressing dangerous intersection

Senators Rob Standridge and Paul Scott recently reached out to the Oklahoma Department of Transportation after receiving numerous inquiries from residents in Norman and the surrounding area about the I-35/SH-9W intersection.

"This is a particularly dangerous intersection. Drivers' confusion has led to several near misses and I'm pleased that ODOT is addressing the problem before anyone is seriously hurt. ODOT has confirmed that they'll be fixing the intersection on Thursday," said Standridge, R-Norman.

"I want to thank ODOT for their diligence in always working to make our roads and highways safer and more efficient as traffic increases in certain areas like the I-35/SH-9W intersection."

ODOT will be placing around 300 feet of channelizing devices to separate the southbound to westbound turn lane from the SH-9W through traffic on November 1. Work will be completed that night to minimize traffic interruptions.

"It's so important that our roads and highways are continually being updated to account for local economic and population growth," said Scott, R-Duncan.

"The I-35/SH-9W intersection is a great example of those continual changes but it's also important that roadways remain safe throughout that growing process. ODOT has done a great job in quickly addressing the problems with this particular intersection."

Fall Cattle Conference set for November 14

Garvin, Cleveland and McClain County Cattle Producer Associations, in cooperation with the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service and Mid America Technology Center, will host a Fall Cattle Conference Wednesday, November 14, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The conference will be held in the Health Sciences Building on the Mid-America Technology Center campus, 27438 State Highway 59, in Wayne.

Specialists from Oklahoma State University and the cattle industry will provide their expertise on issues that affect producers.

Topics to be featured at the conference include Breeding Soundness Exams, Internal/External Parasite Control, Fall/Winter Forage Management, Matching Supplementation to Forage Quality in your Cow Herd, Low Stress Cattle Handling, Agriculture Market Update, and Farm Policy Updates.

Sponsors for the conference meal are Farm Credit of Western Oklahoma, First National Bank of Lindsay, McClain Bank of Purcell and Pauls Valley National Bank.

The program is open to the public. There is no charge, however individuals interested in attending are asked to R.S.V.P. no later than November 7 by calling the McClain County Cooperative Extension Service at 527-2174 or email mcclain.oces@okstate.edu so that adequate meal preparations can be made.

TEACHERS

Stitt will not return the GPT, TAX an OIL COMPANY PAYS OKLAHOMA FOR 1 BARREL OF OIL to 7% (the lowest of any state at 7%). because he has taken huge donations from Big Oil.

He will not take the 900 million Medicaid Expansion, which could reopen the Pauls Valley hospital, and will not rescind the huge tax breaks Fallin and Republicans voted in for the rich.

Not only did Stitt say he would have voted against the raise, he will save money with "distance" learning one teacher videoed into classrooms, like college classes! Imagine 2nd grade.

So, not only will he refuse a living wage for teachers, he will TAKE YOUR JOB AWAY!

He home schools his kids. If he saw actual problems in classes, he would FOR SURE NOT WANT DISTANCE LEARNING.

I am disturbed this election is "SO CLOSE", because it shows he has the teacher vote, to many of us, if Stitt wins, everything we gained at the WALKOUT, will be GONE.

Remember what teachers said, "we will REMEMBER IN NOVEMBER". IF YOU ARE IN EDUCATION, please DO NOT VOTE FOR STITT. If you do, IT SHOWS WE REMEMBERED IN NOVEMBER AND VOTED AGAINST OUR BEST INTERESTS.

THIS WILL SEND THE MESSAGE: TREAT TEACHERS BADLY AND YOU WILL STILL GET THEIR VOTE. Vote Stitt and forget ever having it better as a teacher in Oklahoma!

Nova Merle Henderson Cox

Nova Merle Henderson Cox was born March 15, 1935 to Leroy and Fleda (Smith) Henderson at their ranch home in the Saddle Mountain community south of Mountain View, Oklahoma. She graduated from Cooperton High School in 1953, and from Oklahoma A & M, where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, with a degree in Elementary education in May 1957. She completed additional course work at the University of Central Oklahoma.

Nova passed from this life to eternity on October 27, 2018 at the Purcell Municipal Hospital where she had recently been a patient. Nova's health had declined over the past six months following a stroke which had led to her residing at the Sunset Estates Nursing Home in Purcell until her most recent illness.

After graduation from college, Nova taught in Ft. Worth, Texas, and in Oklahoma City, Okla., before marrying Charles Richard Cox of Meers, Okla., on May 31, 1959. The newlyweds planned to make their home in Saddle Mountain but moved to Edmond after their second son, Doug, was born. The hope was to find better medical care and opportunities for Doug in the Oklahoma City area. This passion and desire would lead to her involvement with the EARC (The Edmond Association of Retarded Citizens). The establishment of The Exceptional Child Learning Center, two Thrift stores, a vocational and prevocational center, and eventually The Meadows, a facility that provides opportunities for those with special needs to learn job skills so they can be contributing members of their community.

In 1988, the Nova Centre was built where Doug and 19 other young men and women took residency. This facility provided immediate care to individuals with more severe developmental or physical disabilities. Nova's love for Doug inspired many other programs that have been established for Oklahoma citizens with physical and developmental challenges.

Because of the time needed to care for Doug, Nova worked extra hard to make sure her first born son, Thad, was not neglected of her time and commitment. Nova and Dick encouraged and supported Thad in his passion for horses. The family spent many hours on the road as Thad showed his horses, showed sheep in FFA and later the establishment of a cattle and horse ranch in Purcell.

Because of her many selfless hours in raising money and creating opportunities for those with disabilities, Nova was the recipient of many awards and recognition, including being featured in the 1989, 4th grade Oklahoma History book. She also was honored as Oklahoma Women of the Year. However, as much as she loved her sons and her life's work, she was overjoyed when Thad and his wife Theresa gave her the title of "Nana." Nova loved watching Heath and Hailey grow up, both graduating from college and beginning their own careers.

Preceding Nova in death are her husband, Charles Richard "Dick" Cox; son, Randall Douglas Cox; parents, Leroy and Fleda Henderson; sister, Fleda Lee Jennings and brother, William Edgar "Bill" Henderson.

Nova leaves her son, Richard Thad Cox and his wife, Theresa, of Purcell; grandson, Heath Cox of Comanche, Texas; granddaughter, Hailey Cox of Weatherford, Texas, and sister-in-law, Mary Ruth Henderson of Saddle Mountain, along with numerous nieces, nephews and other relatives and friends.

Her Funeral Service was held Tuesday, Oct. 30, 2018, at Union Hill Baptist Church in Purcell, Okla. Interment followed at the Hillside Cemetery in Purcell. Donations can be made in her honor to the Nova Centre, 330 W. Danforth Road, Edmond, OK 73003.

Alyene Tomlinson

Services for Alyene Tomlinson of Coalgate were held Wednesday, October 31, 2018 at Brown's Funeral Home Chapel. Brother Rusty Canoy officiated. Burial followed at Coalgate Cemetery.

Mrs. Tomlinson died October 27, 2018 at Lexington. She was born at Lula, Oklahoma, to Joseph Lee Johnston and Dona "Doney" Gore Johnston on October 19, 1918.

She married Ulyesess Tomlinson on November 12, 1938 at Coalgate. They were married 68 years before his passing.

She attended grade school at Rocky Point, north of Centrahoma, and Tupelo High School. She was not only a housewife, but also worked on the family farm doing whatever was needed. In 1958 she began working at Blue Bell/Wrangler and later Vanity Fare for 33 years, retiring in 1991.

Mrs. Tomlinson lived life for her family. She loved her children and all of her many grandchildren. She enjoyed the grands and great-grands birthday parties and liked watching them play baseball or any sport they were involved in. She liked to sew and was an avid reader. She was a very sweet and precious lady that will be missed dearly by her family and friends. She was of the Baptist faith.

Recently Mrs. Tomlinson celebrated her 100th birthday and was inducted as the 2251st person honored by Centennarians of Oklahoma since their inception in 1991.

Survivors include two sons, Donald Tomlinson and wife, Nell, of Claremore and Wayne Tomlinson and wife, Linda, of Coalgate; two daughters, Ulene Mowdy of Lexington and Lawana Dansby and husband, Ronald, of Ada; nine grandchildren, Annette Hamm and husband, Jerry, and Tony Mowdy and wife, Buffy, all of Lexington, Tammi Stephens and husband, Harold, of Atoka, Michael Tomlinson and wife, Lynn of Tulsa, WaLinda Harbour and husband, Robbie, of Atoka, Joann Flowers of Coalgate, Daniel Tomlinson and wife, Amanda, of Pauls Valley, Darin Dansby of Ada and Justin Dansby and wife, Ashley, of Ada; grandson-in-law, Mack Buchanan of Wanette, Okla.; 28 great-grandchildren; 18 great-great-grandchildren with two more on the way; one brother, Clement Johnston of Anza, California, and five nieces.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Ulyesess Tomlinson; her parents, Joe and Doney Johnston; granddaughter, Janet Mowdy Buchanan; son-in-law, Glenn Mowdy; three brothers, Norris Johnston, Howard Johnston and Art Johnston and one sister, Jewel Roach.

Bearers were Mrs. Tomlinson's nine grandchildren.

Honorary bearers were her son-in-law and daughters-in-law as well as the great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Website provides voters information about judges on ballot

Voters wanting to know more about the 12 judges on the statewide judicial retention ballot can find background information for all the judges on one website, www.courtfacts.org.

Created by the Oklahoma Bar Association, the website offers biographies and photos of the judges, plus an explanation of how the merit retention system works.

OBA President Kimberly Hays of Tulsa said, "Our intent is to provide voters accurate, nonbiased information about the appellate judges so on election day Oklahomans can decide if they should be retained in office. We created this website as a community service to ensure a strong legal system."

On the statewide ballot are Supreme Court Justices James Edmondson, Noma Gurich, Yvonne Kauger and Patrick Wyrick, Court of Criminal Appeals Judges Dana Kuehn, David Lewis and Scott Rowland, and Court of Civil Appeals Judges Robert Bell, Kenneth Buettner, Brian Goree, E. Bay Mitchell and Barbara Swinton.

The website also provides links to court opinions authored by those on the ballot and information about Oklahoma's judicial selection process for appellate justices and judges utilizing a nonpartisan 15-member Judicial Nominating Commission and an overview of the state's court system.

The OBA does not endorse any candidate and provides this information as a public service.

The 18,000-member Oklahoma Bar Association, headquartered in Oklahoma City, was created by the Oklahoma Supreme Court to advance the administration of justice and to foster and maintain learning, integrity, competence, public service and high standards of conduct among Oklahoma's legal community.

Washington OHCE

Nine members of Washington's Oklahoma Home & Community Education Club met at the Purcell Farm & Home Building October 29 for the Fall OHCE Council.

Attending were Lavene Jones, Deanna Carter, Gail Webb, Lois Stephens and Stephanie, Phyllis Linker and Karen Olsen and guests Casandra and Stephanie. Beulah fell and so she and Harley were absent.

Phyllis lead the flag salute. Minutes and treasurer's report were read and approved.

The nominating committee met and Tammy Elliot was elected president and Kathy Langley was elected treasurer by acclamation. New officers will plan 2019 activities and dates.

Sew Day for Operation Christmas will be November 5 at 9 a.m. Purcell is in charge of making girls items to go to Haiti.

The county sales tax vote will come up for renewal in February. Members were encouraged to vote to continue to fund the extension office, emergency services, senior services, county fair premiums and facilities funding. It is not a new tax but a renewal of the existing tax.

McClain County volunteer hours were 999 and $23,536 worth of time spent. It is important to turn in your volunteer hour sheets each quarter.

Operation Christmas is December 10-14. Washington club works on Tuesday, December 11, from 1-3 p.m.

Inmates at Joseph Harp Correctional facility are crocheting caps and baby blankets for Operation Christmas. Blanchard will no longer get services from Operation Christmas as they do their own.

Community OHCE Club is disbanding. Washington Club won five of nine door prizes. Tammy Elliot read her daughter Tammy's live story and Gail Webb read her life story essay.

The next lesson "Depression Glass" will be held December 6 at 1:30 p.m.

Brenda Hill of the Cleveland County Extension Office gave an interesting lesson on "Cake Mix" quilts.

Cole OHCE started in 1937 and Blanchard started in 1948. They merged in 2014 to form Community Club.

Community Club served Frito chili pies and ice cream for lunch.

Washington OHCE meets every second Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the Washington Senior Center. Everyone is invited, both men and women. Come visit. You might want to become a member.

Library talking tech in after school series

The Purcell Public Library is connecting children with STEAM (science, technology, engineering, the arts and mathematics) through its weekly Afterschool STEAM series, taking place on each Thursday (except Thanksgiving Day on November 22) during November.

Programs are for school-age children up to age 11 and begin at 3:15 each day. The themes for the months are:

November 1—Maker Mobile: String Climbing Racers;

November 8—We Love Legos (WeDo2);

November 15—Crunchy Slime;

November 29—Native American Fun.

Registration is required separately for each of the activities.

For more information, visit the library, call 527-5546 or go online to www.pioneerlibrary-system.org/purcell.

Make time for play during International Games Week

Take a few hours for some fun and games with the Purcell Public Library and its International Games Week Celebration.

The event will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, November 10.

The library will have a variety of games, or attendees can bring

Holiday Make 'N' Take November 3

The public is invited to attend a Holiday Make 'N' Take craft fair on Saturday, November 3, at the McClain County Farm/Home Building, 1721 Hardcastle Boulevard, in Purcell.

The event, sponsored by Cleveland, Garvin and McClain County Oklahoma Home and Community Education, will give participants the opportunity to participate in three creative workshops and gain ideas for making holiday gifts and decorations.

This day of fun begins with registration from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., followed by the event itself from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The schedule consists of two morning workshops, followed by lunch, then a third workshop.

Seven sessions will be offered during each workshop at time slot. Workshops topics are Button Accessories, Glassware Centerpieces, Shabby Chic Flower/Herb Pots, Paper Gift

Boxes, Button Bouquets, Daisy Delight Painting, and Baked Potato Bags.

Attendees will take home finished products from each workshop.

Lunch will be served, and is included in the price of the ticket. The luncheon speaker will be Courtney Dekalb, Extension Horticulture Educator from Cleveland County. She will talk on Growing and Cooking with Fresh Herbs.

Tickets to the event are $10 if pre-purchased, or $12 at the door. Included in the price will be workshop supplies, lunch and door prizes.

To purchase tickets, or to obtain additional information regarding the Holiday Make 'N' Take, contact Cleveland

County OSU Extension at 321-4774, Garvin County OSU Extension at 238-6681, or McClain County OSU Extension at 527-2174.

Incentives to businesses for investing in statewide education programs and tackling the mental health issues in our schools.

STEVE JARMAN, Democrat:

How can the State of Oklahoma better fund state government?

First, we must stop cutting taxes. We cannot cut taxes and expect to protect core services. Second, we must bring gross production taxes back to the regional average and third, I agree with David Blatt, the director of the Oklahoma Policy Institute. We must revisit State Question 640. As I heard one representative state it, we know that a super majority does not work.

What issues specific to your district will you address when the Legislature convenes?

The state deficit. Since I first entered this campaign I have said that education is the tip of this iceberg. But within the past three months, this iceberg has rolled over. Trying to keep our rural hospitals open has emerged. People are dying because they can't get immediate access to emergency rooms.

What new ideas will you bring if elected?

This is no time for razzle dazzle. We must address the budget deficit. Once this hole in the budget has been filled, then we can entertain new ideas.

State House District 42

LIZ GEORGE, Democrat:

How can the State of Oklahoma better fund state government?

The biggest obstacle facing a well-funded state government is the unwillingness of our politicians to come together to find common sense solutions. It's time to set egos aside and meet in the middle. No more taking sides. No more political games.

No single legislator or party has all the solutions and I'll be the first to admit that I don't have a magic wand to fix the complex problems facing our state. What I do offer is a willingness to listen with an open mind, to work together, to do the tough work of funding our core services like public education, health care, and roads and bridges.

What issue specific to your district will you address when the Legislature convenes?

House District 42 is in the midst of a health care crisis. The recent closure of the Pauls Valley Hospital has left a large area of our district without critical access to emergency care. I have already been told personal stories of lives lost due to the distance to the next closest emergency facility since the closing of the hospital. I have already begun working to build the network of connections needed to find ways to get critical care back in our communities as soon as humanly possible. I will not stop working on this issue until it is solved.

What new ideas will you bring if elected?

I will bring transparency and access to our government. Our Capitol is the People's house. Our people should know what's going on at all times and should have 100 percent of the say in what goes on. I intend to post a tally list on my door at the Capitol that lets people know how many yes/no calls, e-mails, or visits I receive on a bill and if you ever see me vote differently than that tally, you better do your job and vote me out. I am merely a "representative" sent to voice the desires of our people. I hope you'll hold me to that.

CYNTHIA ROE, Republican:

How can the State of Oklahoma better fund state government?

Our state just passed the largest tax package in state history. The last fiscal year our state collected $12.2 billion in gross receipts and that is expected to be much higher with the new tax package this fiscal year.

We need to make sure our money is being used for what is intended so that dollars intended for education, health care, mental health, etc., are utilized appropriately. Audits of state agencies would help us to fulfill that goal.

What issue specific to your district will you address when the Legislature convenes?

Education needs to remain one of our top priorities in this district as in all Oklahoma. We must ensure that we have adequate funding in our classrooms. Adequate education is important so that our future generations will be able to fulfill our jobs and job growth. We need to maintain and improve our roads and infrastructure to continue our present and future economic growth.

What new ideas will you bring if elected?

I would like to develop stronger drug abuse education and prevention programs in our schools. Drug abuse is a big problem in our state. We need also to strengthen our mental health and substance abuse services in our district. We need to also be able to identify those at-risk children – that is children who have poor social and home situations, to screen and intervene for behavioral problems and help them receive the necessary help they may need and family services that may be beneficial.

State Senate District 16

MARY B. BOREN, Democrat:

How can the State of Oklahoma better fund state government?

The State of Oklahoma can better fund state government by eliminating wasteful tax subsidies that do not attract business or grow the economy. The capital gain tax exemption should be eliminated in a way that protects ranching and farming which could add $60 million back into our budget. Oklahoma should accept the ACA Medicaid match that would have kept $14.5 billion in Oklahoma's health care system. Also, we should restore the gross production tax to an equal amount for horizontal and vertical production.

What issue specific to your district will you address when the Legislature convenes?

The specific issues that impact Senate District 16 are to fully fund classrooms without the constant threat of forced consolidation. Oklahoma has a large enough economy to fully fund every classroom. We just need leaders who will support those solutions instead of listening to most wealthy donors. We are also concerned about keeping our hospitals open without the constant worry of a budget crisis. Also, the district has a large concern for rural fire and security funding stabilization. The state budget has also compromised funding drug and mental health courts that could reduce our prison populations. And all need clean water and air and peace of mind to enjoy our land without worry of increased property taxes and exploration without fair compensation.

What new ideas will you bring if elected?

My new ideas will be to advance a culture of civility at the State Capitol. We need to be reminded how to "fight fair" by discussing difficult issues without name calling, giving everyone a fair chance to be heard without harassing opponents by attacking their reputation. As a school counselor it was my job to protect and preserve a positive learning environment to promote problem solving and innovation. I hope to do the same thing as a state senator.

BECKI MALDONADO, Republican:

How can the State of Oklahoma better fund state government?

Oklahoma must diversify the state's economic portfolio by attracting businesses. While Oklahoma is attracting more business, we need to lower the incarceration rate. All prisoners, who fall under SQ 780, need to be released. We need to work on expanding Oklahoma's drug courts. It costs $19,000 to house one inmate in prison. It costs the state $5,000 for a person to go through drug court. The state could save $14,000 per person and the person will receive treatment to help them break free of addiction. Oklahoma also needs to taper off the tax incentives received by corporations.

What issues specific to your district will you address when the Legislature convenes?

I will be addressing criminal justice reform to help alleviate overcrowding in our prisons and alleviate pressure off of the criminal justice budget. I also will be visiting with the teachers in all three school districts in my senate district to ensure the legislation created is meeting their needs. Additionally, it is one of my goals to speak to the people in the rural part of my senate district to see what issues are most pressing to them and how the state government can begin working towards solving the systematic problems.

What new ideas will you bring if elected?

I am a strong believer in bi-partisanship and working together to improve Oklahoma. I look forward to being a voice for the people of Oklahoma. I will bring respect for teachers, health care workers, and others to the Capitol. When elected I will ensure I am supporting legislation that is fair for all and that is in the best interest of my district.

McClain County Assessor

PAM IRWIN, Democrat:

What are your qualifications for this office?

The assessor's office is unique in that there is nothing that can prepare a person for the position other than experience gained through working in the office. I was an employee for almost nine years prior to becoming assessor, giving me time to learn all functions of the office. The past eight years have afforded me the opportunity to put a staff in place that is equipped to handle the unprecedented growth in McClain County. Most importantly, my decisions are always based off fact and law. I pride myself on transparency and fair treatment to all taxpayers.

Are property assessments in the county fair?

Properties are valued using a mass appraisal system, meaning each property is not assessed individually; consequently, some would say no. There are two values for a property – Fair Cash and Taxable. These values aren't always the same due to frequent market changes. There is a constitutional cap in place for the taxpayer's protection that only allows a 3 percent increase per year on homesteaded properties. Therefore, you may see increases in Taxable Value each year as it works to reach the Fair Cash Value. The value generated by the assessor's office is for ad valorem tax purposes only.

What is the biggest issue af- fecting the assessor's office?

I believe one of the biggest hurdles we face is the ever-changing laws. Property tax law can be complicated and difficult to articulate at times. It's so important as an assessor to not only know and understand the law but try and communicate those laws with our taxpayers. My goal as an assessor is to keep myself educated and communicate as much as possible with the public. We use articles in the local newspapers and we have a Facebook page to try and help, but I also encourage anyone with questions to contact me or someone in my office.

KENDAL SACCHIERI, Republican:

What are your qualifications for this office?

I'm a registered voter with my political party and have maintained a current residence with McClain County for more than six months, which are the only requirements to file for the office of assessor. My qualifications are the same as the current assessor's when she initially filed for the office, with the exception that I possess a bachelor's degree, maintain an Oklahoma teacher's certificate and am bi-lingual. When elected, I'll receive training at the state to prepare me for office. Learning the duties of assessor will be a welcome endeavor since it will signify I am helping my fellow citizens.

Are property assessments in the county fair?

As I knock doors throughout McClain County, too many hard-working taxpayers have voiced frustrations of their fair cash value and taxes increasing every year. Yet their home is aging without improvements. Same goes for the small business owners I have met. It is becoming difficult for businesses to afford this drastic increase year after year. These woes were first recorded in The Purcell Register's May 1, 2014, article, "Unwelcome notice." While property taxes are a necessity for important public services, they must always be assessed fairly. My first day as assessor, I'll be working to immediately ensure that is the case.

What is the biggest issue affecting the assessor's office?

My campaign has focused on going to the doors of the people to hear their concerns. One of the biggest issues voiced is lack of positive interaction from the assessor and its office. The assessor is an elected public servant and should be working for the taxpayer, not against them. Everyone deserves the right to be respected and their concerns heard by that office. If elected, I will be honored to be that advocate for the taxpayer. As assessor, I'll be fair and respectful. And my office will go the extra mile on the behalf of all of McClain County.

McClain County Commissioner, District 1 LARRY DAVIS, Democrat:
Do you support a new jail and sheriff's office away from the courthouse? Why or why not?

I do support a new jail and sheriff's office away from the courthouse because there is not existing room to build on the current site. By Oklahoma's Constitution, every county has to have a jail. Currently we are dealing with overcrowding. The sheriff has reported that 100 to 142 inmates are housed daily in a 53-bed facility. McClain County is paying $45 a day to house our excess inmates in Grady County. Putting a band-aid on this problem or hoping our inmate population goes down is not a solution. This is why I would propose a new jail and sheriff's office. To further cut costs, I would utilize today's technology so the majority of arraignments and hearings could be done by video. This would minimize travel and transfer costs. There is no perfect solution for our situation. If there was an easy answer, it would have been made already.

If not, what are your plans to deal with jail overcrowding?

N/A
What issues are voters telling you are their biggest concerns and how will you deal with that?

As road foreman for McClain County District 1, I think the people's biggest concern is control over the county highway system. Most decisions have already been made by state and federal mandates as to how the money is spent. Roads have not grown with the inflation since the oil bust in the 1980s. We need more and better roads to meet the needs of our growing population. With the rising cost of construction, equipment and materials, county roads must be planned and prioritized. All outsourced bids for materials and equipment would have to fall within our budget. I would personally manage the funds needed to keep our roads and bridges safe and up-do-date.

How can the county tighten its belt and where?

I will personally visit each elected official in the courthouse and listen to ideas where we can save money. The commissioners will collectively oversee the budget and made decisions to run each department as efficiently as possible. We have to be able to house our own prisoners versus outsourcing them to other facilities. This is a costly service in that we pay for their housing and transportation costs. We are losing a lot of time and energy on this problem. I think this is the major area we can definitely save money in the long run.

GLEN MURRAY, Republican:

Do you support a new jail and sheriff's office away from the courthouse? Why or why not?

I feel this issue has become a very important problem and it needs to be solved. I believe that a new jail and Sheriff Department in a new location is one idea. However, there are possible solutions such as expanding. There is one thing for certain. This issue has to be researched and brought to the McClain County citizens' attention. There shouldn't be any hasty decisions without further analysis.

If not, what are your plans to deal with jail overcrowding?

To confer with the other commissioners, sheriff's department and the citizens. This issue should be considered with an open mind.

What issues are voters telling you are their biggest concerns and how will you deal with that?

A big concern of the citizens is road maintenance. If elected, I plan to be involved and proactive with the county road department. I plan to have a continuous effort to acquire grants and funds to support maintenance and new construction.

How can the county tighten its belt and where?

Thorough maintenance is always a good preventive for unnecessary spending. Also, it has always been my format to listen and be open minded and be informative to colleagues and the citizens.

Dear Citizens of McClain County

As November 6th quickly approaches, I would appreciate your vote for McClain County Commissioner, District One. I currently serve as road foreman and have been employed by the county for 22 years. My goal as commissioner would be to continue my service to the county and serve honestly and fairly for all. I would strive to efficiently run our county's business, maintain our roads, and improve our bridges and infrastructure.

My wife, Joyce Meyer Davis, is a retired teacher. We have been residents of Wayne, where we have raised our family, for the past 33 years. I am a graduate of Maysville High School and the University of Oklahoma with a bachelor's degree in communications. I spent my early career with Halliburton Services and later attended Rose State College, studying Environmental Science with a focus on Environmental Safety.

In addition to my 22 years with McClain County and my duties as road foreman, I have actively assisted with many of the County's future planning projects and grant applications. This past year I have worked with the Town of Wayne, the Chickasaw Nation, and districts 2 and 3 to repave the city's streets. For the past 12 years, I have served as Vice Chairman of the McClain County Flood Plain Board. I am also an engaged member of the McClain County Emergency Planning Committee, and I have experience in working FEMA declared disasters in our community. My wife and I also own and maintain several investment properties. I feel I would bring that personal experience and the viewpoint of a local business owner to the board.

I am grateful for this opportunity to serve the citizens of McClain County by using the knowledge that I have gained through my years of service. I am truly dedicated to all of you, the taxpayers, and the bright future ahead. I would greatly appreciate your consideration and your vote on November 6th for McClain County Commissioner, District One.

Sincerely,
Larry Davis

nine hours up the Amazon to a remote village, Jaraqui.

"It is very small," Elmore said. "But people are settled up and down the river. Most live off the land. There's no industry, no business in town of any kind."

The extent of the village was a small church and a few simple clapboard houses. A few had tin roofs; others were thatched. Elmore estimated the new church his team erected was about 30-by-50 or possibly 60 – roughly 2-1/2 times the size of the existing church.

The smaller sanctuary became the medical clinic during the team's stay and both villagers and team members sought treatment for a variety of ailments.

Elmore estimates the clinic treated about 100 residents.

The mission team was unaccustomed to the oppressive heat and humidity and it was a struggle to keep everyone hydrated, Elmore said.

Some team members even required IV fluids.

The church construction was hands-on.

A few team members would set out in small boats each morning, accompanied by an interpreter and the village's mayor.

The goal – reach as many remote homes as possible and give those residents water filters.

"The water filters were a great blessing," Elmore said, adding those were purchased through donations here before the group left for Brazil.

The filters "improved the health of 85 families or more," he continued. "We prayed with every family in that area."

In return, the residents shared with the team, furnishing a steady supply of fish and caimans for the group's meals.

The group raised the trusses for the new church's roof and got the brick walls "most of the way up."

Another building served as a school and was closed due to a death in the teacher's family. The group received permission to use the school for a one-day vacation Bible school that was attended by "30 to 40 kids."

Life there versus life here was a study in contrasts, Elmore said.

"They don't have anything, but they are content," he said of the people. "They are pretty self sufficient."

Elmore saw small vegetable gardens, as well as chickens, pigs and ducks.

"Probably fish is their staple," he said. "There's some sort of root they grow and grind. It looks kind of like cornmeal. They don't need a lot of outside resources."

Which is a good thing.

There are no roads. The Amazon and its numerous tributaries are their highways.

A few people had TV's and there was some electricity in the village.

Just not enough to run the welders the team used. Those had to be powered by a generator on the boat.

The mission trip was part of an effort to realize the vision of an Assembly of God missionary to build 100 churches along the Amazon River and its tributaries.

The church in Jaraqui is number 93.

Wayne outpunches Konawa

Playoff picture becoming clearer with chance to host

John Denny Montgomery
The Purcell Register

If Wayne can win Friday night against Allen (4-2, 5-4) they will finish second in their District and host a first round Playoff game.

If they lose they could drop to third in the District.

After being picked to finish next to last in their District in the preseason, the Bulldogs have used the extra motivation to put themselves in their current situation.

"Our kids and our coaches aren't surprised where we are," said Wayne head coach Brandon Sharp. "We're motivated and we want to host a Playoff game."

Konawa

The Bulldogs made it one step closer to second in the District when they knocked off Konawa 28-14 last Friday night in Wayne.

"Konawa is a good team," Sharp said. "They have been tough and have been in games all season. They were in it late against Wynnewood."

Dawson Mantooth started the scoring for Wayne in the first quarter with a 17 yard touchdown run.

Mantooth's night would end early after he injured a hamstring. He finished the night with three carries and 24 yards rushing.

James Spencer came on in relief and rose to the occasion, hauling in a 36-yard touchdown pass from Rodney Gray in the second quarter.

"James Spencer stepped in and did a good job," Sharp said. "We know James is a good player and he's our leader on defense. But he stepped up on offense for us too."

Spencer also had two carries for 23 yards.

The game was knotted 14-14 at halftime and Wayne was about to go to work.

"We took over in the second half and wore them down in the fourth quarter," Sharp said. "Our run game was working and the defense played great and took over. That's the way we want to do it. I'm proud of the guys and the way they came out in the second half."

In the fourth quarter Gray scored on runs of one and eight yards. He also scored on a two point conversion after one of Brian Ibarra's point after attempts was blocked.

Ibarra was 2-3 on PATs on the night.

Gray had 35 carries for 217 yards and two touchdowns and he threw for an additional 76 yards and a touchdown.

"The dude was a man-child Friday night," Sharp said.

Last Friday night, on Crooked Oak's first possession, Toby Prevost stripped the ball and Andre Ibarra returned it to the 38-yard line.

Three Warriors named to fast pitch All-State team

Washington finished the year State runners-up

Brooke Logan, Jillian Blair and Raylee Pogue have been named to the 2018 Fast-Pitch All-State team.

Three players are the most allowed from any school on the All-State team each year.

“Brooke was arguably our best leader all year, she kept us afloat,” said Warrior head coach Jace Brewer. “She was so valuable to us this year with what we went through to move us forward. Her leadership value was far more than her stats value – and she had a good stat year too.”

Brewer said she was a .390 career hitter for the Warriors. Blair joined Logan in the .390 career hitting average.

Normally a slapper, she added a full swing to her repertoire this season.

“She caught fire hitting the ball this season,” Brewer said. “Her hitting really added to her game.”

In the Regional tournament against Comanche this season Blair went off for a seven RBI game.

Pogue, a move in from Ringling High School, hit a flaming .464 this season. She tied for a team-high six home runs and led the team in RBIs.

“She had a good season and did a good job of coming in and making the most of her opportunity,” Brewer said.

As a team, Washington finished the fast-pitch season as State runners-up with a 28-11 record.

“I’m proud of our finish,” Brewer said. “We pushed through some things and made the most of our season. That is what I was proud of in the end.”

The Warriors were defeated 11-1 by Sequoyah-Tahlequah in the finals of the State fast-pitch softball tournament at The Ball Fields at FireLake.

“We gave ourselves a shot in the championship game,” Brewer said. “I was proud of that and those kids for the fact that we kept fighting.”

The team will be honored at halftime of the Warrior’s football game against Lexington this Friday.

Dragons:

receiver that we cannot allow to get behind us," Scott continued. "We can't let him make a big play. And when we are on offense we need to continue to keep executing our offense."

Speaking of offense, the Dragons slogged their way to a 34-14 victory at Lone Grove last Friday night with field conditions the worst Scott has ever seen.

Purcell's forward wall had a huge game against Lone Grove.

"That group has been playing well the last couple of weeks," Scott said.

He was speaking of Jalyn Shea, Gage Askew, Malichi Parrish, Elijah Fixico and Jaysen Shea.

Kody Kroth has become Mr. Steady at quarterback. He was 9-10 passing for 153 yards and three touchdowns and rushed a trio of times for 10 yards.

"He's playing well for us," Scott said.

Kroth found Brendan Farris for a three yard touchdown pass and catch to open the scoring.

Hayden Farley swiped a Longhorn pass right out of thin air and galloped 75 yards for Purcell's third defensive score in the last four outings.

Nick Albright also was a thief with an interception.

Kroth hit Jake Berrey for a 20 yard scoring strike followed by a 64 yard run by Addison Love.

Kroth and Love combined to close out the scoring with Love hauling in a 50 yard aerial off the arm of the signal caller.

On the defensive side of the ball Jalyn Shea and Farris both led the tackling charts with 13 stops apiece.

Farley had a dozen tackles with Love and Sam Wofford both getting praise from the head coach for their work in the defensive backfield.

"The defensive line is playing well," Scott said. "In fact, they are all playing well."

He mentioned the defensive work of Victor Trejo, Gage Askew and Malichi Parrish.

Trejo recovered a fumble. The Dragons have been on the plus side of take aways during their four game winning streak.

"We are playing pretty good and that's good," Scott said.

"I'm proud of how we're playing and the defensive scores are nice," he said with a smile.

Purcell led 20-6 at halftime before forging the final 14 points in the second half.

Lone Grove's two scores came late in the second quarter and late in the fourth period, the latter against Purcell reserves.

Dragon notes:

Purcell Offensive Coordinator Questin Autry nominated Kody Kroth as the Offensive Player of the Week. Kroth was an efficient 9-10 passing for 153 yards and three touchdowns while rushing the ball three times for 10 yards.

Purcell Head Coach Tracy Scott nominated Jalyn Shea and Brendan Farris as the Defensive Players of the Week. Both players finished with 13 tackles against Lone Grove.

Scott nominated Victor Trejo as the Defensive Lineman of the Week. Trejo had eight tackles. Nominated as the Offensive Lineman of the Week was Gage Askew, who graded out at 98%.

Stood up

Jaxon Sanchez (4) stops a CCS ball carrier Friday night during Washington's 62-7 win over the Royals. Washington squares off with Lexington this Friday night for the No. 2 seed in the District.

Warriors:

In their 62-7 shellacking of CCS, Lance Spaulding came off the injured list to rush the ball 12 times for 116 yards and scored four times.

Spaulding scored on runs of seven, seven, 31 and 14 yards.

Trevor Stuever plucked an errant CCS pass out of thin air and returned it 74 yards for a touchdown.

Stuever scored on a 43 yard Devin Orr pass and Stuever tossed a touchdown pass to Logan Lile for 15 yards and six points.

Marc Turbyfill found the end zone after a 28 yard gallop and Jaxon Sanchez scored from five yards out.

"We played pretty good," Beller said. "We scored 21 points in the first quarter and 21 points in the second quarter. When we do that chances are on our side to win a lot of games."

Beller said his team played with more energy than they have since the Millwood game.

"It was a fun game to coach with the attitude and energy we played with all night."

"We need to play like that consistently and be physical," the coach said.

"CCS is a playoff team and they really got our attention. And I think our guys realized it's week nine and they've got to start playing better."

Even though there was a lot of offense, Beller said it was the defense that made the game go the way it went. That group plus the offensive line.

"Our defense played really, really well and in particular the defensive backs," the coach said.

Ethan Olson and Trevor Stuever both had interceptions.

"Every time they threw a pass our DBs were right in their hip pockets. They did an excellent job of breaking on the ball and had no busted coverages," Beller said. "I was also very proud of Devin Orr and Nathan Ladlee. Those were our four primary ones. Jaxon Sanchez came in and played our nickle back and did an excellent job."

"It's always nice to be able to praise those guys. It's always their fault if they miss a tackle or bust a coverage. Linebackers miss tackles all the time but it's up inside and no one can see it. Plus, someone else makes the tackle. There's a lot of stress on those DBs, who are on an island."

Beller said the offensive line's performance was over the top.

"I haven't seen many performances that good. They completely dominated the 32 plays they played. And, CCS blitzed every play with at least six and our offensive line didn't have one busted blitz check."

Beller was speaking of Tyler Beller, Conner Bruce, Justin Simmons, Trestin Miller, Justin McKay and tight end Logan Lile.

"They've been our best unit on the field all year," Beller said. "And, we've been beat up. It's just been the next one up and they step up and play."

"It's been a really fun group to coach," he said.

Warrior notes:

Washington is ranked No. 7 in Class 2A.

Washington Head Coach Brad Beller nominated Justin McKay as the Offensive Lineman of the Week. McKay graded out at 93 percent against CCS.

Beller nominated Lance Spaulding as the Offensive Player of the Week.

Spaulding rushed 12 times for 116 yards and four touchdowns.

Getting the nod as the Defensive Lineman of the Week was Logan Lile, who made four tackles including two for losses.

Ethan Olson was the nominee for Defensive Player of the Week. He made seven tackles and had one pass interception.

Wayne:

on the receiving end of one of Gray's two completions when he hauled in a big 40 yard completion to get Wayne out of the shadows of their own end zone in the second quarter.

Lewelling also had six carries for 48 yards.

As a team, Wayne eclipsed the 300 yard rushing mark again.

"The offense did a good job and the line played pretty well," Sharp said. "We know we can get better and we were a little sloppy with some holding penalties. Konawa was big but we held our own. We were pleased."

D takes over

Defensively, Wayne did a good job defending Konawa's running back, who Sharp called one of the best they've seen.

"We slowed him down," Sharp said. "Besides a couple of big plays we did a good job containing their offense."

AJ Sherrill was a big part of that from his defensive end position where he registered nine tackles, including a sack, and recovered a fumble.

"He had a good game at end," Sharp said.

Spencer and Ibarra both had eight tackles in the game and Bryce Stocks had four tackles and a forced fumble.

Allen

Allen has a huge line, maybe the biggest Wayne will see this season.

"They are big and physical," Sharp said.

Allen, who played eight-man football last season, will base out of the power I formation on offense but have also showed wing sets and twin receiver sets.

"They have good backs and a set of receivers as talented as anybody besides maybe Stroud," Sharp said.

Allen has a 6'6" tight end who they will split out and get into isolation play where they throw to him.

On defense they run a 4-3 base and use their big lineman to slant and blitz linebackers from any spot.

The same talented receivers are also talented defensive backs, according to Sharp.

"We'll get their best shot," Sharp said.

Playoff picture

As things stand now, Stroud will finish first in the District. Wayne, Wynnewood and Allen all follow.

Gore, Central Sallisaw, Hulbert and Talihina are the top four in the District that Wayne will match up with for the Playoffs.

Gore and Central Sallisaw play Friday night for the District title.

Notes

Wayne head coach Brandon Sharp's nominee for Offensive Player of the Week was Rodney Gray.

His nominee for Defensive Player of the Week was James Spencer.

AJ Sherrill was his Defensive Lineman of the Week nominee and Billy Montgomery was his Offensive Lineman of the Week nominee.

Montgomery graded out at 78%.

Wayne will be without the services of Dalton Mullins after he sustained a leg injury last week.

'Dawgs:

"We're excited and things are working well for us," Berglan said. "We're playoff bound and we're ready to roll. We're doing a good job of protecting up front so that we can throw the football and run a little bit at the same time. Our running game is getting better, which is a good sign for us."

"Our 'bend but don't break' defense has done a great job. We've gotten a few turnovers. Our kids are executing and we had a short field all night. We're getting the ball around the 50 to inside the 50, so it makes life a lot easier to call plays that way."

Crooked Oak scored its first touchdown with 7:06 in the third quarter on a 25-yard touchdown play and a two-point conversion, leaving the score 48-8. Lex's Jeremy Spratt returned the kickoff 65 yards and scored the two-point conversion for a 56-8 lead.

In the fourth, Crooked Oak scored with 2:12 left in the game for the final 56-14 tally.

"This was our goal for our starters to be done right around halftime," Prevost said. "We succeeded so we feel good about that. We didn't have any injuries or anything. We knew what we had to do. We didn't do anything special but we're okay with that. We just did what we needed to do and we're not going to go celebrate or anything."

"We did what we had to do. Now, it's on to Washington which will be a huge game for us. We're excited about it. A lot of our guys have a lot of friends on their team. I think both sides are excited about it. It should be a great game."

Jaylen Cottrell was excited about the victory. "Our line was doing well and our blocking was great," Cottrell said. "That helped me score that first touchdown."

"We are just going to practice hard next week and go into the game with the best mindset," Cottrell said. "If we do get the win, it would be great because it would be the first time we have hosted a home playoff game in a long time. We're just going to go into the Washington game like any other."

"This feels great," Berglan said. "Last year at this time, we were sitting 6-3 but a lot of things had to happen to get us into the playoffs. Those didn't happen. But, now we're 6-3 again and we're playing Washington for a home playoff berth. We're going to have to play our best ballgame of the year. They're state runner-ups from last year. They had Millwood beat this season."

"They're a fantastic team. We've got to be able to get some stops. We can't let them run on us at will. And, simply, we've got to score some touchdowns. We've gotten a little better each week up front. Our passing game is really strong for us right now and we're the type of team that's going to throw the football. We like throwing the football and we have a lot of weapons outside.

"When we can throw the football, it will open up the run for us inside. We have Jaylen (Cottrell), Andre (Ibarra), Jordan (Land), Colton (Penner)... all of them are threats to catch the deep ball. When you keep taking your shots, eventually you'll connect on some of those. We'll do our best."

Bulldog notes: Lexington head coach Dale Berglan nominated Toby Prevost for his Offensive Player of the Week. Prevost had three passing touchdowns and 83 yards.

Kyston Wheat was the Defensive Line Player of the Week nominee with a 25-yard interception return for a touchdown as well as another 24-yard return.

Ryan Hailey got the nod as Defensive Player of the Week with eight tackles, two for loss.

Hailey was the Offensive Line Player of the Week nominee grading out at 87-percent.

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Fr. Jim Chamberlain

Thousands of Honduran migrants have been walking north in a caravan. They are walking away from violence and turmoil in their country. They do not want to leave Honduras. But they are leaving so to protect their family, to keep their children safe.

They are leaving in the hopes of finding a place of safety and peace in which to work and raise their families. They walk with only the clothes on their back and their trust in the Lord. They walk with hope.

Does this remind you of another people in the Bible? The Exodus is the story of a people who walked away from oppression and turmoil. They walked and walked and walked with nothing but the clothes on their back and their trust in the Lord. They, too, walked with hope. And the Lord did not forsake them.

In the book of Jeremiah, God consoles his people. They too have been displaced from their homeland. They have been exiled in a land far away from their home. These are the words that God speaks: "They departed in tears, but I will console them and guide them; I will lead them to brooks of water, on a level road, so that none shall stumble." (Jer. 31:7-9) God gives them reason to hope.

Every day, the blind man sat by the road and begged. He begged for food, he begged for mercy, and he begged for healing. He lived with hope of meeting Jesus. And finally his hope was rewarded. (Mark 10:46-52)

We are people of hope. How do we express our Christian hope? Even more than in our words, we express it in our actions, in the things that we do. In his encyclical, "Joy of the Gospel," Pope Francis has written these words: "Jesus wants evangelizers who proclaim the good news not only with words, but above all by a life transfigured by God's presence." (no. 259).

What do we do? We pray and we work. Our prayer is praise and worship with the power of the Holy Spirit. Our prayer is silent and quiet conversation with God. Our prayer also includes singing and dancing, as in dancing for the Feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe. Dancing is a joyful gift of thanks to our God.

Our work is our generosity in service to others. Last week, many men from our church gave their time to replace the roof on the annex office. Their work was an act of Christian hope. It was an act of gratitude to the promises of God. Last week, the ladies cooked tortas and other foods to sell.

We pray and we work. This is how we express our hope, our hope in the promises of God. God will lead us to brooks of water, to places where we will never stumble. Of this, we can be sure. Because of this, we can hope.

Fr. Nerio has returned from his pilgrimage to Israel and to Rome.

The Feast of All Saints, November 1, will be celebrated with a bilingual Mass on Thursday, November 1, at 7 p.m.

Our Mass schedule is Saturday at 5 p.m. (English), Sunday at 11 a.m. (English) and 1 p.m. (Spanish).

For more information, like us on Facebook, or call the church office at 527-3077.

Lexington United Methodist Church

Our church has a few special activities planned for November. Please join us on Wednesday, November 14, at 7 p.m. for a special music program. We will be hosting the Bobby Bowen Family Band. There is no attendance cost, but a "love offering" will be taken. Any other donations will also be welcomed.

Our next Food Bank Give-Away will be on Saturday, November 17, between 12 and 4 p.m. This will be the weekend before Thanksgiving.

Pastor David Cook will be leading Part 2 of our Bible Study on Romans on Tuesday, November 20, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. We will pick up at Chapter 9. A light lunch will be provided, so please join us!

This past Sunday, the Rev. Glenda Skinner-Noble blessed us with a sermon taken from Mark 9:30-37. Here Jesus is walking through Galilee with his disciples. Jesus didn't want anyone to know the group was there since He was teaching the disciples about His own death and rising afterward. The disciples didn't understand what Jesus was trying to tell them, but they were afraid to ask him about it.

After they arrived at a house in Capernaum, Jesus asked them what they had been arguing about during the journey. They didn't respond since they had been debating with each other about who among them was the greatest. Jesus sat down and called the 12 disciples together. He started by telling them that whoever wanted to be the first among them must become the least of all and also become the servant of all.

Jesus then took a little child to himself, embracing the child, saying "Whoever welcomes a child in my name welcomes me, and whoever welcomes me isn't actually welcoming me but rather the One who sent me."

Often we are afraid to ask questions when we don't understand something, just like the disciples in this reading. How would this story have changed if the disciples had answered Jesus directly that they didn't understand what he was trying to tell them? Would they have had the chance to (maybe) learn more from Jesus in a shorter time?

To paraphrase a thought from Rev. Amy Oden, "We hurt only ourselves by not asking questions." We grow in our relationships with God and with each other when we ask. It's okay to question, to be confused, to be angry, to be afraid--God can handle it.

We all have something to learn and to teach. If we let go of pride and confess we need more explanation, we have the chance to truly learn. We pass up opportunities to teach others when we don't give our viewpoint or even when we risk giving a wrong answer.

What if the disciples had been honest and had admitted that they were embarrassed to not have understood what Jesus was telling them? Quoting writer Anne Lamott: "My belief is that when you're telling the truth, you're close to God."

What would have changed if the disciples had asked questions? Better yet: how can our lives change if we ask questions, even of God?

We are a group of recovering sinners who meet weekly to remind ourselves of God's gifts of love and forgiveness. Worship starts at 9:30 a.m. with Sunday school beginning at 10:45 a.m. Our address is 631 East Ash. For more information, please call the church at 527-3506.

Bowman Methodist Church

Greetings to all our friends: It was a wonderful day at our church and the sermon was taken from the Holy Gospel of Mark.

We are to trust in the Lord and to look to Him when troubles arise. It seems that troubles are all around us, but that is when we turn to the Lord for our help. He is there beside us and is our refuge and fortress and how great is that refuge and fortress.

Rest in the Lord and call upon Him when trouble arises. A house built upon the rock will not fall.

Join us for church services at 11 a.m. every Sunday morning. Everyone is welcome. We look forward to meeting our friends and neighbors.

We will be having our annual bake sale at our church this Saturday, November 3. It will start at 10 a.m. Janice's wonderful pecan pies will be available, along with cakes, cinnamon rolls and apple pies all there for you to enjoy. These baked goods could be frozen for the holidays. All you have to do is thaw them out and warm them up and serve to your loved ones for the holidays. Hope to see all you good folk this Saturday. We love you.

Two major events will take place shortly; both are important.

Saturday evening set your clock back one hour. Enjoy an extra hour of sleep before making your way to church on Sunday morning.

Tuesday morning, provided you haven't voted early, make your way to the polling place and cast your important vote on Election Day, Tuesday, November 6.

Please maintain your Christian attitude no matter the outcome.

Special music was provided Sunday morning by Herb Weidman's great-granddaughter, Abygail Mayo. Mark Brown and Gynean Gentry also provided special music.

Scripture text for the Sunday sermon was taken from Luke 10:30-35. In response to questions by an expert on Moses' laws, Jesus told a beautiful story about a Good Samaritan that came to the rescue of a naked, wounded and half dead man at the side of the Jericho Road.

The self righteous religious leaders ignored the robbed and injured man; the non-respected Samaritan taught the world a lesson on compassion and Christ like behavior.

The congregation was asked to remember the greatest days in their life. The greatest day in my life came the day I helped someone.

The greatest days in your life are the days when you helpsomeone.

The greatest day in the life of Jesus came the day he died on the cross and said, "It is finished."

Through His sacrifice of self, Jesus brought help, hope and heaven to this world. In dying Jesus became our Eternal Prince of Peace, Savior of the World and Provider of Heaven.

It was a great day in my life when a young boy called my office on Sunday evening to say his house was on fire.

I rushed down the street to help the little boy. I didn't save the house, but I did come to the rescue of a frantic young boy.

Such events in your life are the best days of your life. What is your attitude for living? Is it the life of the mobster, live I must kill I may?

Is it the life of selfishness, live and let live? Or have you chosen the way of the Good Samaritan, live and help live?

Choose the best say, the Jesus way.

Sermon title for this Sunday is "Individual Attention."

We would like to invite visitors to join our leader Mark Brown in a Wednesday evening study of the "Parables."

The weekly prayer meeting is a one hour time of prayer and Bible study that begins at 6 p.m.

Visitors are always welcome. Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. Morning Worship begins at 11 a.m.

Come eat with us following Sunday morning worship and enjoy the fellowship around the table.

Front-Porch Gospel: 'The Little Book'

Good week to all. Welcome to the "front porch."

Before we start, you may want to turn to the book of Philemon.

I can hear some people say, "I'd be glad to, if I could find it."

I have to smile a little every time I come to this book and stand up before the congregation, and say, "Let's turn to the book of Philemon." You know some are thinking, "Where in the Old Testament is that?"

But we can't blame people, because it is a hard book to find, right along with Hosea and some of those obscure Old Testament books. But, no, Philemon is not in the Old Testament. But it might as well be, as far as finding it, for a couple of reasons.

One, it is a tiny little book hidden away in the middle of the epistles. It is not like 3 John that is fairly easy to find because it is clustered with John's three epistles – or like Jude that comes right before Revelation.

No, Philemon is kind of nestled away between two bigger books, Titus and Hebrews, like a small cabin in the woods.

Another reason it is hard to find is that you do not hear much preaching on it. In fact, I don't know if I have ever heard a sermon on the book. As a younger man I preached it, and then – a quarter of a century later – I re-opened it this past month and taught it again.

Oh, I can't take much credit for being resourceful and going to a book few people seem to go to. I didn't have a choice. I came to it in our journey through the Bible, and I could not overlook it as if it were not there. So, after we finished Titus, we had to pick up Philemon.

We cannot go deeply into the book here, just enough to get you to turn to the book and look over it between now and next week. I want to tell you this, though: Even though this is a little book as far as breadth and length, it is not a little book as far as meaning and impact. Once studied, it will have a profound impact on the mind of a Christian.

In fact, few writings that cover about 500 words say more to us about the Christian spirit than does Paul's little letter to Philemon. Paul not only tells us what the Christian spirit should look like. He shows us.

I want us to take a glance at the book next week. That will give us all time to find it.

God bless all. Thanks for reading us every week.

Green Avenue Church of Christ

The Wednesday evening adult Bible class continued studying the 16th chapter of First Corinthians where Paul discussed his travel plans.

The Sunday morning auditorium class looked at Jesus teaching His apostles during His last days on earth as recorded in the 15th and 16th chapters of John.

During the Sunday morning assembly Keith Shackelford preached a sermon on longing for the second coming of Jesus beginning with the reading of Revelation 22:20.

The Sunday evening sermon showed how God demonstrated that He is our friend rather than just our Master by explaining His requirements rather than just giving us orders beginning with the reading of John 5:20.

Bible classes begin at 9:45 a.m. Sunday morning and 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, with worship at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Bible study correspondence courses are available. You can call the office at 527-4052.

Dale K. Graham Veteran's Foundation

We will be closed on Thursday, November 22, for Thanksgiving.

The Oklahoma Military Hall of Fame 19th Annual Banquet & Induction Ceremony will be held Saturday, November 3, at the Embassy Suites in Norman. Several from our Foundation plan to attend this wonderful event. I am honored to be able to spend an evening honoring some of our Nation's heroes.

Congratulations to our Veteran of the Week Roland Means. Mr. Means served in the United States Army during the 1950s in the Korean War. He makes his home in Enid.

One of the most enjoyable duties I have each Tuesday and Thursday morning is presenting a military cap to the veterans who served in WWII and the Korean War. When they visit us for the first time, we stand them up in front of 150 of their fellow veterans to be recognized. Many of them have said to me that no one has ever recognized them for their military service.

Just like many of you, we set a few goals at the beginning of each year. One of our goals for 2012 was to assist 1,000 veterans in receiving a 100 percent disability rating. As we draw closer to the end of this year, our goal is within sight with less than 200 to go. Many of the veterans and surviving spouses we assist each week tell us they have never been to an organization like ours. Every day veterans tell us for many years they have been trying to obtain VA benefits, and with our help, it was accomplished in only a few months. My response to them is always the same; it is our volunteers that make the difference.

We believe veterans deserve the best help that they can find to assist them with their VA claims and questions. For those of you who have received a denial for VA benefits, please consider visiting us any Tuesday or Thursday morning at 1268 North Interstate Drive in Norman.

When I arrive on site at 4:30 a.m. there will be over 100 people lined up waiting for the doors to open. We will accept the first 150 veterans and surviving spouses who arrive before 7 a.m. Please remember we are a free service to all veterans. We are a 501 (c) (3) non-profit and operate on the donations we receive. Our current budget is $25,000 a month with most of that going to veteran's services. I would like to see our donor base increase to the point where we could do more for veterans and their families.

Currently, only 10-12 percent of the veterans we help will pay it forward to the next group of veterans and their families. For those of you who would like to be one of our donors, we have applications for direct deposit from your financial institution to ours. For more information about donations, please call our main line at (405) 550-8806, extension 103 or contact our Executive Director Lora Malone at (405) 550-8806 Ext. 101. You can also stop by on any Tuesday or Thursday morning at our Norman location.

As we continue to grow, there will be a need for satellite locations in our state and others. For those of you who are interested in helping other veterans and their families, please stop by for a visit with our Executive Director. Over the past 20 plus years that we have been contributing to improve the lives of veterans, there have been many volunteers who have joined our team and then moved on for one reason or another. Some of them moved on because of family or health issues.

The men and women who are now with us now have proven they are only here to change the lives of veterans I appreciate each of our volunteers for being an essential part of what we do each week. Our only goal is to improve the lives of veterans and their families.

Many people talk about what they can do while we make it happen!

Last week we were very busy assisting more than 300 veterans and surviving spouses. Our drivers logged more than 1,200 miles this week. Remember if you need a ride to visit us, please call them at (405) 550-8806 extension 105 and 106.

Several of us also made the trip to the Muskogee VA Regional Office to represent three veterans via a video hearing before a VA Administrative Law Judge in Washington, DC. As a VA Accredited Claims Agent I receive a copy of all the correspondence the VA sends to the veterans and spouses represented. It amounts to at least 500 individual pieces of mail each week. I review each of those to determine if a letter needs to be sent to the veteran or spouse.

In the mail bag this week, 33 veterans received a disability rating of 100 percent. These veterans will receive a combined annual compensation of $1,263,995 per year. Fifty veterans received disability ratings from 10-90 percent and these veterans will receive an annual combined amount of $875,178 per year. We suggest all veterans and surviving spouses return for a follow-up visit no matter what VA decision was made on their application for benefits. There could be other benefits for which the veteran or surviving spouse could be eligible. The veterans who are in receipt of a 100 percent permanent VA disability may be eligible for other benefits.

If you would like to donate to Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation, you can do so at dalegrahamveteransfoundation.org or mail a check to Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation at P.O. Box 592 Washington, Oklahoma 73093. As a 501(c)(3) your gift may be tax deductible. We appreciate your support of our nation's veterans and their families.

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation has food sacks available to those in need. An application for this type of assistance will be available on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. A DD-214 or military discharge will be necessary to apply. Please contact 405-550-8806 Extension 103 to request a food sack.

If you need a ride to and from a VA Medical Appointment, please contact 405-550-8806 to reach Clayton at Extension 105 or Louie at Ext. 106.

We are available every Tuesday and Thursday morning with the doors opening at 5:30 a.m. We begin working as soon as volunteers have their computers ready. We stop taking clients as soon as we reach the quota for the day, and that time varies depending on the number of visitors and the number of available volunteers, which usually occurs around 7 a.m.

Contact us with any questions by email dale@dalegrahamveteransfoundation.org. For telephone assistance, please call (405) 550-8806 to listen to our options. For general information dial extension 101, to schedule transportation dial extension 105 or 106. # STATE QUESTION ANALYSIS

Five state questions will appear on the Nov. 6 general election ballot. Legislative Referendums are placed on the ballot by the Oklahoma Legislature. Initiative Petitions are placed on the ballot by gathering signatures from citizens. Each question is reprinted here as it will appear on the ballot followed by a brief summary.

STATE QUESTION 793

Allow Optometrists & Opticians to Operate in Retail Stores

INITIATIVE PETITION 415

STATE QUESTION 793

This measure adds a new Section 3 to Article 20 of the Oklahoma Constitution. Under the new Section, no law shall infringe on optometrists' or opticians' ability to practice within a retail mercantile establishment, discriminate against optometrists or opticians based on the location of their practice, or require external entrances for optometric offices within retail mercantile establishments. No law shall infringe on retail mercantile establishments' ability to sell prescription optical goods and services. The Section allows the Legislature to restrict optometrists from performing surgeries within retail mercantile establishments, limit the number of locations at which an optometrist may practice, maintain optometric licensing requirements, require optometric offices to be in a separate room of a retail mercantile establishment, and impose health and safety standards. It does not prohibit optometrists and opticians from agreeing with retail mercantile establishments to limit their practice. Laws conflicting with this Section are void. The Section defines "laws," "optometrist," "optician," "optical goods and services," and "retail mercantile establishment."

SHALL THE PROPOSAL BE APPROVED?
FOR THE PROPOSAL — YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL — NO

SUMMARY: This measure, which was placed on the ballot after a successful initiative petition and Supreme Court challenge, amends the state Constitution. It precludes the state from stopping an optometrist or optician's ability to practice within a retail establishment or discriminate against optometrists or opticians based on the location of their practice. External entrances for optometric offices within retail establishments would no longer be required. The Legislature could pass laws to restrict optometrists from performing surgeries within retail establishments, limit the number of locations at which an optometrist may practice and maintain optometric licensing requirements. It also requires optometric offices to be in a separate room of a retail establishment and imposes health and safety standards. Current law bans eye clinics from operating inside retail stores. SUPPORTERS OF THE CHANGE SAY it gives Oklahoma consumers more choices in eye care and the purchase of prescribed glasses and contact lenses. If passed, Oklahoma would join 47 other states that allow optometrists and opticians to work inside stores like Wal-Mart and Costco. OPPONENTS SAY it gives large retailers too much power and will eventually drive smaller, independent optometrists out of the market. That eliminates competition and could raise prices. Also, they say putting retail optometry in the Oklahoma Constitution limits the legislature's ability to make changes quickly if there are unintended consequences from the amendment.

STATE QUESTION 794

Marsy's Law Crime Victim Rights Amendment

LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM 371

STATE QUESTION 794

This measure amends the provisions of the Oklahoma Constitution that guarantees certain rights for crime victims. These rights would now be protected in a manner equal to the defendant's rights. The measure would also make changes to victim's rights, including:

- (1) expanding the court proceedings at which a victim has the right to be heard;
- (2) adding a right to reasonable protection;
- (3) adding a right to proceedings free from unreasonable delay;
- (4) adding a right to talk with the prosecutor; and
- (5) allowing victims to refuse interview requests from the defendant's attorney without a subpoena.

The Oklahoma Constitution currently grants victims' rights to crime victims and their family members. This measure would instead grant these rights to crime victims and those directly harmed by the crime. Victims would no longer have a constitutional right to know the defendant's location following arrest, during prosecution, and while sentenced to confinement or probation, but would have the right to be notified of the defendant's release or escape from custody.

Under this measure, victims would have these rights in both adult and juvenile proceedings. Victims would be able to assert these rights in court, and the court would be required to act promptly.

SHALL THE PROPOSAL BE APPROVED?
FOR THE PROPOSAL — YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL — NO

SUMMARY: The amendment, known as Marsy's Law, requires state courts and prosecutors keep crime victims informed of proceedings on their case. It is often done informally or through victim assistance programs. It adds to several other crime victim rights added to the Constitution in 1996. Lawmakers voted to put the measure to a vote of the people. Six other states — California, Illinois, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Ohio — have similar measures although Montana's law was struck down by its Supreme Court. SUPPORTERS OF THE CHANGE SAY defendants should not have more rights than crime victims. Victims and their families should be heard in matters such as plea bargaining and sentencing, they argue. OPPONENTS FEAR overburdened courts and prosecutors will have to hire additional staff to keep up with cases. In addition, allowing victims and family members to testify at every stage of a court hearing could interfere with a defendant's right to a fair trial or parole hearing. The legal challenge in Montana involved including too many separate issues on a single ballot vote.

STATE QUESTION 798

Governor and Lieutenant Governor Joint Ticket

LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM 372

STATE QUESTION 798

This measure will add a provision to the Oklahoma Constitution to change the manner in which the Governor and Lieutenant Governor are elected. Currently, voters cast one vote for their preferred candidate for Governor and a separate vote for their preferred candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Under this measure, if approved, candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor for the same party will run together on a single ticket and voters will cast one vote for their preferred ticket.

The measure requires the Legislature to establish procedures for the joint nomination and election of candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. If passed, this new election format will be used beginning in the 2026 general election cycle.

SHALL THE PROPOSAL BE APPROVED?
FOR THE PROPOSAL — YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL — NO

SUMMARY: Lawmakers put this issue on the November ballot. Occasionally, the state's Governor and Lieutenant Governor belong to different political parties. That scenario could lead to officials working against each other. Oklahoma would not be alone in such an endeavor to prevent this scenario. The governor and lieutenant governor run on the same ticket in 26 states. Seventeen states have separate votes similar to Oklahoma. The other states do not have a lieutenant governor or the position is designated as a top legislator. If voters approve, it will be up to the legislature to come up with a procedure for the joint nomination and election of the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. Some states hold separate primaries and others require Governors to pick their running mates, much like a President picks a vice presidential running mate. SUPPORTERS SAY it gives the state's top leaders a unified vision and better coordination. Combining the two, they argue, would draw more media attention to the secondary office and better inform voters. OPPONENTS FEAR combining the ticket gives the Governor too much power. In addition, a governor forced out of office, they say, should be replaced by a lieutenant governor more independent of the outgoing administration.

STATE QUESTION 800

New Reserve Fund for Oil and Gas Revenue

LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM 373

STATE QUESTION NO. 800

This measure would create a new fund called "The Oklahoma Vision Fund" in the Oklahoma Constitution. Money could be appropriated to the Fund. Beginning July 1, 2020, five percent (5%) of gross production taxes on both oil and gas would be deposited into the Fund. After that fiscal year, the percentage would increase by two-tenths percentage points each year. Other monies could be deposited into the Fund if provided by law. The State Treasurer would deposit four percent (4%) of the principal amount of the Fund into the State General Revenue Fund each year. The Fund would be subject to an investment standard known as the prudent investor rule. The Fund could be invested in stocks and similar securities. Not more than five percent (5%) of the monies in the Fund could be used for payment of debt obligations issued by the State of Oklahoma, state government entities or local government entities.

SHALL THE PROPOSAL BE APPROVED?
FOR THE PROPOSAL — YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL — NO

SUMMARY: The Oklahoma Vision Fund, put on the ballot by lawmakers, would set aside 5 percent of oil and gas gross production taxes into a trust fund beginning July 1, 2020. That percentage would increase each year by two tenths of a percent. Earnings from the fund's investments and other appropriations directed there by the legislature would also remain part of the fund. Four percent of the average annual amount in the fund over the preceding five years would flow into the state's General Revenue Fund. Up to five percent of the fund's balance could be used to pay state debt or local government debt. If approved, the Oklahoma Vision Fund would be the state's third budget reserve fund, behind the Constitutional Reserve (Rainy Day) fund and the legislature-created Revenue Stabilization fund. No more than five percent of the fund could be used to pay off state or local government debts. SUPPORTERS SAY by creating such a trust fund, the state is preparing for anticipated declines in oil and gas production and helping to meet future budget needs. A well-invested fund will grow over time and create a revenue stream that future legislators can appropriate, they say. OPPONENTS SAY creating yet another trust fund diverts too much state tax money away from Oklahoma's current needs. They also argue the state should not be paying debt obligations that belong to local governments.

STATE QUESTION 801

Allow Building Fund Revenue for School Operations

LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM 374

STATE QUESTION 801

This measure amends Section 10 of Article 10 of the Oklahoma Constitution. It expands the uses permitted for certain ad valorem taxes levied by a school district. Currently, tax revenue is placed in a building fund. The fund is changed to allow use for operations. The operations would be those deemed necessary by a school district.

SHALL THE PROPOSAL BE APPROVED?
FOR THE PROPOSAL — YES
AGAINST THE PROPOSAL — NO

SUMMARY: This question was placed on the ballot by lawmakers. Public school districts in Oklahoma are allowed to use five mills ($5 for every $1,000 of assessed value) of property tax dollars for building funds, which can include such expenses as repairs, maintenance, upkeep and construction on district property. State Question 801 removes that Constitutional restriction and gives individual school districts the authority to use more property tax dollars for day-to-day operations such as teacher salaries or additional employees. It would not increase revenue for schools since all Oklahoma school districts tax at the maximum 44 total mills allowed. SUPPORTERS SAY the change would create more district competition and give them greater spending flexibility. Districts with lower property values could raise teacher salaries to attract highly-qualified teachers. OPPONENTS SAY the proposal could lead to more disparity and inequity among rich and poor districts. They say it does not create any more tax revenue and is merely a way to shift more of the burden of teacher salaries from the state Legislature to local school boards.

Lasagna style bulb planting

Courtney DeKalb Horticulture Educator
The Cleveland County Master Gardener Association will be conducting a class on “Lasagna Style Bulb Planting.” The class will take place on Saturday, November 3, at 10 a.m. in Room “C” at the Cleveland County Fairgrounds. Learn how to layer bulbs “lasagna style” so you have a succession of colorful blooms.

Join Georjana Mauldin, Cleveland County Master Gardener, and a Marcum’s Nursery Garden Expert as they demonstrate this unusual technique of bulb planting in pots. Room C is located at the northwest corner of 601 E. Robinson in Norman. The event is free and open to the public, no reservations are required. For more information, please call 321-4774.

2018 All American Quarter Horse Congress Show Results

2018 All American Quarter Horse Congress Show Results

The world's largest single-breed horse show, The All American Quarter Horse Congress held in Columbus, Ohio, and presented by the Ohio Quarter Horse Association, completed over three weeks of competitions on Sunday, October 28.

For 52 years, this show has hosted more than 650,000 visitors each October, including over 7,500 horses. This year they had just over 24,500 horse show entries. These three weeks generates $382 million for the central Ohio economy. More than $3 million is awarded in cash and prizes for competitors.

Four special events are offered at the Congress show: the World Series of Cutting, Professional Bull Riders, Freestyle Reining and the Congress Masters in Western Pleasure and Hunter Under Saddle.

Aside from the show ring, attendees can shop one of the largest equine trade shows in the world. The seven acre trade area had over 250 vendors selling products ranging from jewelry to equine products to farm equipment.

Other attractions included horse-related lectures and demonstrations, a collegiate and youth equine judging contest, as well as an array of fair food.

Following are all the results from the Halter classes and about half the results for Western Pleasure classes. As always, our area Equine Industry is very well represented.

STATE QUESTION 793 IS BAD FOR OKLAHOMANS' HEALTH

WALMART is attempting to write themselves into OUR CONSTITUTION.

THEY WANT TO OWN THE DOCTORS, control what they sell and diagnose, control the insurance, and keep you waiting for glasses so you shop for groceries.

WALMART IS ATTACKING OUR STATE LAWS, taking a first step toward a model of medical service that answers to no one but Walmart executives.

SQ 793 WOULD ALLOW WALMART TO MANDATE that optometrists NOT check patients for vision-destroying or even life-threatening diseases, and grant them IMMUNITY for offering substandard care.

DON'T ALLOW SQ 793 TO GIVE WALMART CONTROL OVER YOUR HEALTH CARE.

NURSES FROM HOUSE DISTRICT 42 AND ACROSS OKLAHOMA SUPPORT CINDY ROE FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

✓ Cindy Roe lives in our district, providing health care to our own families, friends and neighbors, right here where we live. As one of us, she is THE candidate that understands our healthcare needs best.

✓ Cindy Roe is the candidate with the most relevant experience. She is a nurse practitioner and co-owns the Valley Family Clinic with two physicians.

✓ As a nurse practitioner, Cindy Roe has been providing quality healthcare to Oklahomans for many years. She understands firsthand how to navigate the healthcare system on behalf of her patients.

✓ Cindy is our best advocate for rural hospitals and long-term care facilities and programs. She will effectively and tirelessly fight to protect and sustain them. She is our best advocate for helping to reopen those that have closed.

Not authorized by any candidate or candidate committee. Authorized and paid for by the Oklahoma Nurses Association. 6608 N. Western, Oklahoma City, OK. 73116 Phone (405)840-3476
